INFLATION CONTROL MEETING IN COUNTY

Prices have been rising because fighting the war requires used expenditures and armaments and turns thousands of plants from producing civilian goods to producing war goods. This results in increased wage payment with smaller production of civilian goods. So demand is rising while supply is declining and the result is inflation. President Roosevelt has set-up a 7-point program to control inflation and by controlling inflation we also control depression.

Mr. Roosevelt wants every family in the United States to be acquainted with this 7-point program and in order to present this program to the rural families in Fulton County the county agent and home demonstration agent assisted by holding the following scheduled Wood Tipton and J. O. Lewis are meetings in this county. Sylvan Shade, June 26; Graves, June 29; Western, June 30; Hickman and Cayce, July 1; Crutchfield, July 2; and Lodgeston, July 3. COUNTY LAGS BEHIND IN SCRAP RUBBER

Despite the efforts of the Fulton County Scrap Rubber Committee, Fulton county is lagging behind in the collection of old scrap rubber, it was reported here this week. Up to Tuesday of this week a total of approximately 16,000 pounds of old tires and other rubber articles had been collected by service stations in the city of Fulton. It is estimated that about 40,000 pounds had been gathered throughout the county, and this is far below the quota.

Fred Stokes of Hickman is chairman of the committee, and Clay McCollum of Fulton is head of the drive in this end of the county. It is pointed out that all forms of rubber articles are acceptable including garden hose, hot water bottles, overshoes, rubber mats, inner tubes, old tires, etc. Here's a chance to help "slap the Japs," and earn some cash money for yourself, for the rubber is purchased at 1c per pound.

Roscoe Stone, president of the Fulton County Farm Bureau, has pledged the cooperation of that organization, in the effort to collect and deliver every pound of rubber and scrap to service stations in the county.

It May Be 90 Degrees in the Shade— But Your Coal Bin Rates a Check-Up

Unnecessary Delay May Bring Hardships This Coming Winter

You can't say that you haven't been warned.

You can't say, when the leaves begin to fall, that you didn't have enough time to order your coal.

In another two months—at the most—it is going to be almost too late to get your coal supply. Then you won't be ready when the temperature begins to drop.

During the summer months, when homeowners formerly paid but little attention to their coal bins, there had always been a definite slump in coal production. The producers called the months the normal "off season" period.

This year, though, because of the high rate of war-time production—despite the lack of fuel purchasing by the home and apartment owners, large stores, and other commercial centers—the mines are now working at 90 per cent of capacity.

What lies ahead for those who have not purchased their coal during the off-season is easy to see. At the present time American industry has not, as yet, reached its full war-time capacity of production for Victory. Fall and early winter will see the nation at this peak period.

They'll Be Out of Luck.

Then, when industry is humming its song of death for Hitler and his stooges, if Mr. Jones, or Mr. Slo-polk, or Mrs. Andy Tardie have not ordered their coal to keep the home fires burning, it is very probable that they are going to be out of luck. They'll probably have to spend some very miserable days until the coal they order LATE arrives.

Why so?

Here's why: Increased production to peak records in U. S. factories is going to require more coal. It stands to reason that if the mines are now working at 90 per cent of capacity (and industry has not yet reached its peak of production nor coal consumption), when the peak does arrive Uncle Sam is going to see to it that those industries get all the coal they want, as often as they want it, and no questions asked.

It is true that all will have to forego some former necessities and comforts until this universal war is won. But there is little reason to take on a hardship which is doing no one—even the nation's offensive for victory—any good.

By waiting until it is practically too late to order coal, most of which is then going to the factories, the home owner is deliberately harnessing himself with hardship—besides getting in the way of the nation's wartime progress.

Like a Slow Freight.

Those who delay ordering coal now for this coming winter may be compared to a slow freight train heading towards its terminal with a fast freight right behind it. The latter is delayed from reaching its destination on schedule. Your nation's victory efforts are all being carried on that fast freight train. The dilly-dallying, late-ordering home owner is the slow freight.

But don't forget: Uncle Sam is the dispatcher on that railroad. He's

These three miners are typically representative of those thousands responsible for the continuous flow of coal for the nation. There has been practically no "slack" season for them this year. The usual off-season period (summer months) for them was omitted because of industry's need for coal to carry on for the coming victory.

a good one, too. What he's going to do is shove the slow freight on to a siding and let the fast freight come on through.

In other words, those home owners and other consumers who haven't as yet ordered their coal supplies, may have to be sidetracked later this year in favor of Uncle Sam's more important business of winning the war. Cold feet now may result in even colder pedal extremities this winter.

The fact that peak production of American industry will be reached during the coming winter months isn't the only reason why you should be now getting your coal.

Even today the railroad yards, the river shipping docks and terminals

Oil Burner Conversion

The War Production board has acted to speed the conversion of oil-burning equipment to coal by permitting the assembly of small stokers from materials which were in manufacturers' hands on May 31.

At the same time, W. W. Timmis, chief of the plumbing and heating branch, announced the creation of an operations section which will continue an over-all study. This study of the various problems involved in the conversion of oil burners to other fuels has been under way for some time.

are jammed to capacity. Railroaders will tell you, with a touch of the Paul Bunyan spirit, that the rails just can't cool off. Rivermen will tell you that no sooner do the waves from one river vessel ease off on the beach, before another swell starts rolling in. When the peak is reached in production you can imagine what the thousands of home owners who wait "until later" to order their coal are doing to add to the groaning weight of traffic on the railroads, rivers and highways.

You owe it to your own comfort this coming winter, but especially to your nation out to win the gigantic struggle with Hitler and his partners, to make necessary provisions in advance.

Get It Now.

Despite the fact that bituminous coal production is now running over 11,000,000 tons a week, there is plenty of coal for all. The idea is to get it when it is now readily available.

During 1942, from 350 million tons to 570 million tons of bituminous coal, and 60 million tons of anthracite coal are required. The smaller portion of this amount is for home consumption.

Even if you have already ordered your coal, or intend getting it in during the next two weeks at the latest, you have not done your full bit to insure warmth for your home, or final victory for your country.

Check Heating System.

This is the time of the year—if ever—to see to it that the home's heating system is cleaned, inspected, and repaired if necessary.

Neglect now, during the summer months, can damage your home heating apparatus more than a winter season of hard activity.

Lack of ventilation in the basement, high humidity, condensation, or corrosion can soon play havoc with a heating plant. More than often it does, as shown by the short life of most smoke pipes which last only two or three years.

Improper operation, lack of maintenance, excessive stack losses, faulty distribution or circulation, overheating, infiltration, and needless heat losses waste 20 per cent of the fuel used in the average home. With the country at war, with extraordinary demands on transportation facilities, such waste is intolerable.

Coupled with the effect on health, lost time due to colds, absenteeism, etc., such neglect of proper maintenance and operation of the heating system becomes almost criminal.

Just as you check over your automobile periodically, or have some one do it, so too is it a good idea to have a competent heating man inspect your furnace or boiler.

If the average household gave its heating plant half the care it bestows upon the family car, the national fuel bill would be reduced many millions a year.

Coal mining is one of the nation's major industries.

The last available reports on the amount of coal mined show that over 51,887,885 tons of coal were prepared for consumption.

Chief soft coal producing states are Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Illinois, and Kentucky. Anthracite (hard) coal is produced principally in Pennsylvania, around Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

Coal Exports.

Coal exports amount to a sizeable figure, too. In 1940 (latest data available) over 16,456,928 tons were exported. The majority of the anthracite exported went to Canada.

Coke production, a coal by-product, also assumed gigantic proportions. Data shows that over 273,832,410 tons were produced in 1940. The gas from coke production is also used for fuel purposes.

Employment in the coal mining industry has declined ever since 1920. That year there were 784,621 persons employed. Ten years later (1930) there were 644,006 at work. In 1940 the number had further decreased to 543,200.

Crude Oil Production Inc. case. Crude oil production in the United States, also, has steadily increased according to statistics.

In 1920 there were 442,929,000 barrels (42 gallons to a barrel) of oil drawn from the earth. Its value was $1,360,745,000. But the figures in 1940 were 1,351,847,000 barrels, valued at $1,352,000,000—a decrease in price.

The United States produced—in 1940—over half of the oil marketed. Russia was next in line with just slightly more than one-fifth of the United States total.

U. S. LIFE DEPICTED BY OLD LIGHT FIXTURES

Two hundred years of American life are represented by nearly 100 Eighteenth and Nineteenth century lighting appliances and more than 250 samplers at a public exhibit in the Cooper Union Museum for the Arts of Decoration.

English, Mexican, French, Spanish, Dutch, German, and Italian needlecraft is displayed beside outstanding American samplers to show the variations developed in this country.

Similarly, the lighting fixtures are arranged in chronological sequence, demonstrating the transformation in design that came with changing needs and the commercial development of illuminating oils.

New pieces in Cooper Union's extensive collections of wallpapers, textiles, antique jewelry, buttons, metal work, and pottery are shown for the many visitors.

There are architectural sketches by the late Whitney Warren, internationally known architect, and designs for tiles by William Morris, English poet and craftsman for whom the Morris chair was named. A rare pair of glazed pottery figures of Belgian origin is also included.

Fortunately Hole in Barrel Was Discovered in Time

The particular unit in question had taken on a large number of new recruits and some of them were a little raw. During the first rifle inspection, the officer approached one of the men, had a look at his rifle, and then called to the N.C.O. in charge.

"Look at this man's rifle!" he announced.

The sergeant looked down the barrel, swung the rifle around to the recruit, and barked: "Take a look at that rifle, you!"

The recruit peered carefully down the barrel, then muttered in a surprised tone:

"Well, what do you know. Got a hole clean through it!"

What are we fighting for

The Four Freedoms

No. 3

FREEDOM FROM WANT

"Freedom from Want" is more than just an expression by a great humanitarian. It is the release of mankind from the hopeless struggle of scratching the bare earth for subsistence. Too long have there been too many human beings doomed to hunger, privation and mere creature existence in a world supposedly civilized and at peace. These people, of all colors and nationalities and faiths, must have the foods and the goods of the world made accessible to them if the dignity of man is ever to reach its full stature.

No nation on earth enjoys the bounty with which our country has been endowed. We have everything for a comfortable and full life. Our riches of the earth and the products they yield have offered incentive and reward to our people. They have enabled us to make America a land of homes and to establish the highest standard of living ever known.

It has always been thoroughly American to consider that the resources of our land belong to all of the people and that all should benefit from whatever should be derived from them. This is the democratic principle behind the belief of the big majority of Americans that our country must offer a fair opportunity to work and sufficient sustenance for all.

The wealth of our nation and the resourcefulness of our people are ample to provide the necessities of life for those who are in need. Our country is the most productive one there is in a world where all countries have become interdependent and where international commerce is ever more necessary, especially if further strides in America and greater world progress are to be realized. The peoples of all nations must therefore have access to the ample resources of the world and be free to enjoy them.

When nations can be freed from economic want they can flourish as we have, and then individual wants for the basic necessities of life can and will disappear from the world. This freedom will lift men all over the world still higher above the animal kingdom and establish man's full dignity everywhere. America points the way and will win the triumph to preserve it.

SHAKING PUBLIC MORALE

One cardinal principle of our government is that public officials should treat the people with perfect frankness. American citizens are entitled to all the facts, except those which constitute actual military secrets. Are the American people being accorded frankness? The gasoline and automobile situation raises this question.

The American motorist is completely up in the air as to the future of car transportation. He has heard countless varying reports. He has read conflicting statements after conflicting statements from high Washington officials. He is told, on one hand, that gasoline rationing is necessary because lack of various means of transportation makes it impossible to deliver normal supplies. He then hears that the storage tanks are running over with gasoline even in rationed areas, and that civilian consumption is really being reduced in order to conserve tires and cars. Next he reads an official statement that the government may soon have to requisition his tires and his car. Before the ink is dry on that report, he hears over the radio that such drastic action is not contemplated. Then to top it off, the next news reports from Washington says it is hoped that experiments now under way will produce a tire that will keep the cars rolling, etc., etc.

The citizen is lost in a welter of confusion. He doesn't know whether he is going to have gas or even a car next week or next month or next season. He doesn't know whether the synthetic rubber and are going well or badly. And nothing is harder on public morale than the rubber-reclaiming programs this kind of indecision because it undermines confidence in leadership and governmental management.

The American people don't want to be pampered. They are sending their boys to war and financing its cost to preserve liberty at home. They don't want to be treated like children. They don't want to be kept in the dark concerning matters vital to their welfare. What they do want is for their government to tell them the truth, explain the facts, adopt only policies which are in accord with true conditions, and stick to those policies.

THREE-CORNERED ROW

It is generally estimated that there are 11,000,000 union members in the United States. A dozen years ago there was only one great union—the American Federation of Labor, now headed by William Green.

When John L. Lewis became the thorn in Green's flesh he raised the issue of "industrial unionism" versus "A.F.O.L. crafts." Lewis got aboard the NRA, which matched his pattern for "industrial unionism." In recent years CIO has gathered in a total membership that put it in the same class with A.F.O.L. The two organizations seemed to hate each other.

Finally, after the last Presidential election John L. Lewis voluntarily retired as president of the CIO, devoted his talents to United Mine Workers and succeeded in landing his entire coal mine membership into a "closed shop" with full Government recognition. Philip Murray succeeded Lewis as President of CIO.

Lewis had grown to regard himself as a sort of a patriarch-counselor, and he may have had the best of intentions when he addressed the Presidents Green and Murray and recommended that they get together, kiss and make up. Both resented Lewis's suggestion, and when President Roosevelt agreed with them that Lewis was talking out of turn, the guns of A.F.O.L.-CIO started shooting at Lewis's fortress. After the noise piped down Lewis and Murray began calling each other, "You're nuther."

They are still at it, quarreling in the wide open places about more than a million dollars that Lewis claims CIO owes the Miners union, and Murray demanding that Lewis's Miners union must pay CIO several months back dues for 435,000 coal miners.

The three-cornered quarrel could be entertaining in times of less stress.

The really serious part of these internal explosions is that they seem to furnish fresh threats against the continuance of peaceful relations between management and workmen in many war industries. While we haven't heard so much about strike troubles the fact remains that labor quarrels are brewing in many places, and in establishments where planes, bombers, tanks, ships, and other activities in production must not be interrupted or stopped at this time.

BOY SCOUTS CAMP

By Bertie Pigue

All of us who have been boys, particularly those of us who now have boys of our own, have no doubt many times wished that we could be about 12 years old for a bout a week again and have the appetite, energy and desire for adventure that boys of that age always seem to have. As far as is humanly possible it has been the privilege of the Boy Scouts to have this experience this week, an unforgettable week spent in a Boy Scout camp, Camp Pakentuck, which derived its name from the word Paducah, Kentucky and to which boys from the entire dry lake district, which extends from Gilbertsville to Union City, are privileged to spend a week each year for a nominal expense. The camp site is located near Ozark, Ill., about four miles off Highway 45 and is about 95 miles from Fulton. The road from Ozark is being improved, and it is hoped it will be gravelled soon.

Our truck left Fulton at 8:30 Sunday morning, came thru Paducah, Metropolis, Brookport and by the time we reached Vienna about 11 o'clock all the boys were ready for camp, and as we were not to have Sunday dinner in camp we stopped at a lunch stand that specialized in hamburgers, hotdogs and Pepsi-Colas, and it was an easy job for the owner to invoice his stock when we left.

It was quite a thrill, especially for the boys making the trip for the first time when we drove down the long winding hill into camp. The boys were immediately assigned to cabins and prepared their bunks before looking the camp over and meeting the boys from other troops. William Scott, local Scoutmaster, accompanied us in the truck and was shown the most interesting spots around, including the climb over the rocks, which is made by hand-over-hand pull with rope and the spot where Louis Kano found was somewhat slippery after a shower.

Visitors from Fulton were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Browder, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Butts and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Amberg from Hickman who brought some Scouts in their cars. It rained quite a hard shower during the afternoon but this did not diminish the boys' spirits or diminish their appetite for supper at 5:30. After supper the boys all "banked" their money with Camp Official, which they use to purchase any material for handcraft or candy from the canteen. Incidentally, no Scout is to buy more than 5c worth of candy at a time and if a wrapper is dropped on the ground whoever picks up the wrapper gets half of the candy from the boy who threw it down. This helps keep the camp clean.

Mr. Volkamp came up from Paducah Sunday afternoon and brought enough ice cream for all the boys for supper. When this was announced all the boys shouted "Eewah!" which is the Indian word for very good. After supper all the boys gathered under the rock by the spring and swimming pool, built a huge bonfire. Here they were given complete instructions for the week's activities, sang a number of songs and were told the story of German Joe, whose mother having had an accident which cut off her right arm, had had an artificial one made of solid gold, which when she died she had buried with her. Joe was a son in Germany who came over here thinking she would leave him quite a sum of money in her will, as she was very wealthy, but she left her money to charity and he only received the house, where she lived. Anyway the story is that every night between midnight and two o'clock you can hear Joe with his pick and shovel digging around trying to find that gold arm but nobody ever sees Joe or finds a place where he has dug. The days activity closed with the Scoutmasters benediction and everybody hurried off to see the Sandman.

Monday Morning

Up at 6:30, breakfast at 7:30 at which time the program for the day is announced and the names of the detailed committees are read for certain jobs to be done for early morning has been the sawing and splitting of firewood for the kitchen stove and fireplace. At 10:30 everybody reported at the swimming pool for classification as a swimmer, beginner or swimmer. The pool is divided by a rope with floats attached. All swimmers and beginners stay in the shallow part, the swimmers in the deeper part. Guards are stationed on both sides and a boat with two guards patrol the pool at all times. The pool has a lock-gate which can be raised to drain same at intervals and is spring fed, when it rains water pours over the rock on one side and drops 65 feet into the pool. Under this rock are two springs of good drinking water. These are at the back of the arch cave some 125 feet wide. Everybody swims daily at 5:30 a.m.

Monday before dinner we took a three mile hike just for an appetizer. After rest period after dinner we took a seven miles hike to the tower over on the government reservation, from the top of this tower one gets a wonderful view of the surrounding country, and on a clear day the vision is 60 miles. Upon our return to camp we took a cold shower, had inspection and waited for supper time. After supper we had a baseball game between the camps on the two hillsides. Fern Cliff vs. Whippoorwill. At dark we gathered in the council ring and then hiked to see the house where German Joe once lived. To bed at 10 o'clock.

Tuesday Morning

Early custom before breakfast, for we gathered in council ring, a devotional. Scriptures are read, advice is given and the fundamentals of better Scouting are impressed on the boys' minds. After breakfast I had an excellent detail with me helping cut and saw wood, composed of Jack Browder, John Joe Campbell, Billy Murphy, Eugene Pogue, Buddy Grymes, Wendell Butts and Eugene Cates. At nine o'clock special courses were started in handcraft, First Aid and Signaling, Lifesaving, etc. Another swim at 10:30. The boys are looking forward to a hike up over the rocks this afternoon.

The camp site is beautiful. Nature really extended herself in this setting with the huge rock formations and tall straight trees reaching up 60 feet and more, ferns grow profusely in every crevice, the creek is clear having a bed of rock and sand. The mess hall located in the center on level ground is screened in, has a large porch. There are seven tables on each side across front and down one side, which seats eight people and with one extra table at the back 120 persons can be fed at one time. The boys rotate in waiting on the tables and washing dishes so that everybody has a job to do but does not get monotonous. The meals are wholesome and well planned. Each boy gets milk every day. Uncle Jamie Paxton from Paducah spends the entire camping period here and sees to the detail of everything including the well, pump, plumbing, tools, water, etc. Many of the camp conveniences are due to his interest and effort. All the boys like him.

The camp is well manned; its personnel of management is carefully selected from Senior Scouters who are veteran campers and have had special training in leadership. These leaders are: Hollis Johnson, Maurice Evans, Luke Adcock, Jimmy List, Warren Sights and Joe Hazel. Fulton Scouts attending camp are: Billy Murphy, Eugene Pigue, Jack Austin, Eugene Cates, Jack Browder, Lloyd Grymes, Edwin Byars, Wendell Butts, Joe Stephens, Billy Johnson, C. D. Jones, Yandell Kimberlin, Jimmy Carter, L. C. Bone, Milton Matheny, Jerry Lowe, Billy Bone, John Joe Campbell, Travis Moss, Eddy Bell, Charles Moss, Jimmy Lansden, Paul Boaz, Billy Scruggs, Dickie Holloway, Hunter Whitesell.

No true American would place a price tag on the Statue of Liberty for it is the symbol of our greatest heritage. To be able to speak and pray and think as we please... did you ever hear anyone question the cost?

Yes, the cost in blood and money to defend the freedom we love is going to be staggering. Some Americans are paying the cost with their lives; others are buying all the War Bonds they possibly can. So, wherever we go, whenever we can, let's do our part to help preserve our most precious possession... the Liberty, the Freedom of America.

Why Government Ownership Would Increase Your Taxes

Now the socialist-minded politicians—who have never pioneered anything beneficial to the public—want to operate the utilities. They aim to socialize the industry.

Socialization of industries and professions cuts out the greater part (or all) of the taxes that the industries and professions pay to help provide the costs of government.

With sky-rocketing government costs, all taxes will go up and up. All business-managed industries and professions will be required to pay more and more taxes.

When these industries and professions are socialized, who will make up that portion of the taxes they now pay? You will help to make up the difference, and—

You will have to pay still higher taxes!

ALCOHOL FACTS VERSUS DRINKING PROPAGANDA

LESSON TEXT—Proverbs 21:17; 23:32; Isaiah 5:20-22; Hosea 4:11; Joel 3:2, 3; Ephesians 5:18.
GOLDEN TEXT—If sinners entice thee, consent thou not.—Proverbs 1:10.

The facts are on the side of the one who opposes the liquor traffic, and they are so plentiful and so devastating that the industry does not care to face them. Their "best bet" is to use propaganda so skillfully prepared as to disarm the reader. If the propaganda is truthful, it is only because it has to be, and only in that measure.

Our lesson suggests several points in the liquor propaganda, each of which we can prove to be untrue.

I. They Say, "Enjoy Life, That's What We Are Here For" (Prov. 21:17).

Consider the ads of the liquor trade. They carry the beautiful lady, the brilliant young man, the socially correct surroundings, riches, ease, etc. They suggest that even the grandmother in the home approves the use of intoxicants to bring comfort and pleasure to the breadwinner in the home.

What is the truth? Man is not here for pleasure; he is here to serve God. History demonstrates that the nation that lives for pleasure, especially in connection with the use of intoxicants, is doomed to extinction.

II. They Say, "Liquor Is Not Dangerous" (Prov. 23:32).

It is presented as a pleasant and harmless stimulant, when in fact it is known to science, to police and social welfare workers as a narcotic which not only upsets digestion and deranges physical processes but, most vicious of all, "affects personality by its action upon the certain specific brain areas. It disturbs, confuses, slows down, and removes the restraints, the checks and balances which make a well-rounded personality. It is the highest functional level of the brain, the personality level, which is first put into eclipse by the action of alcohol" (Carson Taylor).

III. They Say, "Those Who Oppose Liquor Are Fanatics" (Isa. 5:20, 21, 23).

The prophet answers that claim by pointing out that those who favor the use of alcohol are the ones who call evil good and good evil, etc. A little study of liquor propaganda as it appears in the advertising of the industry soon demonstrates that fact. Of late they have been trying to convince us that beer is just a soft drink for the home. Any police man who has seen a man drunk on beer, and any social or religious worker who has seen the destruction it has wrought in the home and in society, knows that is not true.

IV. They Say, "Strong Men and Leaders Are Drinkers" (Isa. 5:22). Sadly enough, many of our leading men do indulge in liquor, but if the truth were out, it would be known that they are less capable as leaders and weaker men for their use of it. And who has not seen a leader become a poor derelict by the alcohol route, or a strong man become a jittery mental, moral, and physical wreck in the same way.

The work of a nation in both war and peace is done by sober, steady, trustworthy men who have a "clear head," not because they use a certain whisky but because they do not use it.

V. They Say, "The Pleasure Is Worth Price" (Hosea 4:11; Joel 3:2, 3).

The wicked ones who captured Israel felt they made a good trade when they gave a boy for a harlot, or exchanged a girl for wine. The modern system of making merchandise of boys and girls is not as openly crass as that, but when you figure the cost of alcohol to our land, be sure to add in the girls who have gone into iniquity by the way of tavern hostesses and the boys who have lost everything sacred because of "beer."

Remember too that the beer makers are deliberately using this war to cultivate a taste for beer in millions of young men—their future customers—and we are letting them get away with it, right in the army camps.

VI. They Say, "Drinking and Religion Go Well Together" (Eph. 5:18).

The contrast of Paul gives that claim the direct brand of falsehood. Being drunk with wine is the exact opposite of spirituality.

Liquor interests know that if church members can be led to believe that wine at dinner, beer as a soft drink—and an occasional social cocktail—is not incompatible with religious life, they will have effectively shut the mouth of the opposition they fear the most—the church.

Let pastors and church boards deal plainly and drastically with drinking church members, and the church will profit spiritually, and again become an effective means of stemming the tide of social iniquity which is engulfing our nation.

PREPAREDNESS by the AMERICAN RED CROSS

NEAREST of all the American Red Cross activities is the Wool Conservation program. Under it, volunteers from the more than 3,700 Red Cross chapters throughout the nation collect scraps of new, unused wool and place them in reprocessing channels.

The Wool Conservation program was developed jointly by the War Production board and the Red Cross when it became apparent that the nation faced a serious wool shortage. There were only two ways in which this shortage could be alleviated within the next year. The first was by cutting down wool consumption in every possible way by restyling and re-designing garments to save wool. The second was to have every scrap of new, unused wool reprocessed as rapidly as possible. The Red Cross was selected to do this job.

Under the agreement between the Red Cross and the War Production board, the 3,700 Red Cross chapters arrange for the collection of trousers cuff clippings, wool samples and other wool clips from tailors, men's clothing stores, department stores, clothing manufacturers and cleaners. These are then placed in reprocessing channels by selling them to wool reclaiming firms.

When reprocessed into wool cloth, the clippings from 21 pairs of men's trousers will be enough to make a complete soldier's uniform or another civilian suit.

Proceeds from the sale of the wool clips collected under the Wool Conservation program are retained by the local Red Cross chapters to carry on their work of War Relief and Civilian Defense Preparedness training.

Swim or Sink

What's a musical comedy got to do with winning a war?

PLENTY! We're building an army of men—not machines. And men have minds. And minds need freshening... change... relaxation.

So one of the biggest undertakings of the USO is its sponsoring of free entertainment, through the cooperation of the movie and theatrical industries, at army camps, naval bases—wherever the fighting men of the USA go to train or dig in.

USO Camp Shows, Inc. is actually the biggest single theatrical enterprise the world has ever seen. It books 264 shows for the boys every week, which play to an average nightly attendance of 50,000.

It contacts movie stars, theatrical headliners, big name bands and their leaders. It routes all these... plans their itinerary... arranges the most convenient times when soldiers and sailors can take time out to sit and be entertained.

For it realizes that the one great advantage of the American fighting man is his ability to think for himself, to make the most of any situation, to fight as a liberty-loving individual.

And this is one of his great differences from our enemy.

To help carry on the all-important work of maintaining the morale of our fighting forces, the USO needs your help... it needs your contribution.

Your dollar has many demands on it this year. Many of these demands must be met—others deserve to be met. And among these latter, the plea of the USO for whatever sum you can contribute merits your earnest consideration.

For we have a war to win, and the USO is directly concerned with the men who must—and will—win it.

Dig deep—for the men who are digging in!

Send your contribution to your local chairman or to USO, Empire State Building, New York.

When frying in deep fat use a heavy aluminum kettle. It holds the heat and does not tip over easily. Use a wire basket to transfer food from and to hot fat.

To prevent marmalade from graining, do not boil it too fast and take it off the stove as soon as a little of it jellies on a cold plate. Be careful that you have pure sugar for this and all preserves.

Wartime Problem Solved

Necessity has forced the American people to do many new things. While in the past many bird lovers have raised canaries at home for the pleasure and satisfaction they derived, now the breeding of canaries at home has become a new, worthwhile hobby—a money-making hobby that is spreading all over this country.

With the major supplies of canaries from abroad abruptly stopped... with a strict wartime ban placed on the importation of hundreds of thousands of canaries formerly shipped yearly from Central Europe and Asia, the ingenuity and foresight of the American people have met the situation with smiles of satisfaction—as they turned this canary shortage into a wartime opportunity.

But a small out-lay was required to start this worthwhile hobby—turning a most pleasurable undertaking into a profitable, money-making business at home.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Churchill-Roosevelt Meetings Presage New Action on Second European Front; Mediterranean Naval Battles Indicate Growing Anglo-American Air Strength

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Gone are the days when this unholy trio of American Nazi chiefs paraded around in their Bund uniforms. George Frohese (left) of Milwaukee, Midwest bund head, killed himself under a train en route to a grand jury hearing in New York. Fritz Kuhn (center), former national Bund chief, is ill in Sing Sing prison, and Dr. Otto Willumeit, Chicago leader, is under indictment as a spy.

CHURCHILL:

Third Meeting

For the third time within a year Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt met face to face to discuss war problems, when the British statesman arrived unheralded in Washington for a series of conferences. Their first meeting occurred last August aboard ship and resulted in the Atlantic charter. The second was Mr. Churchill's visit to Washington last December after America's entry into the war. It resulted in the declaration by the United Nations.

This third meeting, following closely on Russian Foreign Minister Molotov's historic conferences in Washington recently, promised momentous consequences in the prosecution of the war. Two matters of pressing need—the opening of a second European front and further steps to curb dangerously rising Allied ship losses by Axis submarines—faced the two leaders.

Another leader of the United Nations to reach American shores was Queen Wilhelmina of Holland.

REDS VS. NAZIS

History Repeats?

Balaclava, famed site of Tennyson's poem, "The Charge of the Light Brigade," took its place in modern battle headlines as Hitler had rammed his massed power against the defenses of Sevastopol's fortifications.

The Crimean fishing port—Balaclava—where the legendary charge by the British occurred in 1854, was a fierce point of contention between the Russ and Nazi forces in the battle for control of the western Black sea coast.

Possession of the Sevastopol naval base was vital to the hard-pressed Russians, for it represented a powerful barrier to the approaches of the Caucasus oil fields—a prize which would give the Nazis coveted oil and bulwark their war effort.

To the north in the Ukraine, where the Nazis were attempting to straighten out their long circular line at Kharkov, battles raged doggedly, with Red army communications reporting successful counterattacks.

FATS AND OILS:

Housewives Contribute

Frying pans, pots and roasters in millions of American homes yielded up a harvest of fat as the national program to salvage grease and oils from the nation's kitchens got under way.

Fats collected in this household campaign will be used in making glycerine an important element in explosives manufacture. Meat markets everywhere will be collection agencies where housewives will deposit the salvaged fat. Butchers will then turn the fat over to the renderers.

In Chicago where a fat salvage program has been in progress for months past, it was reported that collections averaged 50,000 pounds weekly.

AUSTRALIA:

Japs Still Menace

Lest his countrymen be lulled into a belief that the battle of the Coral sea had removed all danger of a Jap invasion, Prime Minister John Curtin of Australia held aloft a warning finger. Declaring that "Australia can be lost," he declared if the commonwealth fell to Nippon, that Hawaii and the entire North American coast would lie open to Japanese attack and west coast cities would be in danger.

MEDITERRANEAN:

Axis Gamble Fails

As the swiftly moving battle for world naval supremacy shifted to the Mediterranean, Germany and Italy had made a supreme gamble by throwing every available airplane, submarine, torpedo boat and virtually the entire Italian fleet into an effort to knock out the British forces. The stakes were the strategic convoy routes supplying Axis-menaced Tobruk and Malta.

That the Axis gamble had failed was due in part to the timely intervention of United States army heavy bombers which made their Mediterranean debut by scoring 35 direct bomb hits on two Italian battleships, setting them afire and sending the whole force of 15 Italian warships scurrying home to port.

The epic sea and air fighting centered around two heavily laden British convoys—one leaving Alexandria for Tobruk and the other leaving Gibraltar for Malta. Both carried badly needed supplies for hard-pressed British garrisons.

In two days of death-struggle fighting, the British and Americans beat off Axis attacks, shepherded the convoys safely to their destinations, sank or damaged seven Italian warships, and shot down 33 planes.

LIBYAN FRONT:

Nazi Fox

With the Suez canal as his eventually hoped-for goal, foxy Nazi General Erwin Rommel continued his harrassing thrust against the British forces in Libya.

Whether Rommel's dream of a drive to the Suez and a possible link with Japanese forces pushing west would ever materialize depended on how stout was the British resistance. Tobruk, recently reinforced by a huge British convoy, was the immediate target. The tide of battle had surged back and forth, with the Nazi desert force registering a superiority in tanks and anti-tank strength. Hope for the British lay in receiving further supplies and replacements and in a wearing down of Nazi power due to its sustained exertions.

The seriousness of the Libyan situation was evident from the fact that the Axis offensive succeeded in splitting the British army—one force withdrawing to Tobruk to make a stand while the other withdrew to positions near Egypt.

ARMY PAY:

$50 for Bucks

Uncle Sam prepared to add at least $20 more per month to the pay check of every enlisted man in the nation's armed forces, when President Roosevelt signed legislation granting the first general military pay increase in 20 years. Non-commissioned officers, "shave-tails" and ensigns shared in the raise.

American soldiers and sailors thus became the highest paid fighting men in the world. The lowest grades—buck privates and apprentice seamen—will receive $30 a month, as against $30 formerly.

Officers above the rank of second lieutenant or ensign got no pay raises, but were allowed boosts in their subsistence and rental allowances.

One result was hoped for by sponsors of the new legislation—that was to eliminate recruiting competition between the army and navy. It had been charged that the navy had been in better position to obtain recruits since it could offer more attractive ratings. The uniform pay schedule would, it was believed, equalize the appeal of all services.

Sausage From Greeks

Most people believe that the origin of the most portable meat parcel, the sausage, is lost in dim antiquity, but we can trace the inventor.

Of course, the Romans were in the business. The sausages of Lucania were very celebrated amongst the Romans. But the Greeks were there first. Sausages are mentioned in the world's oldest cookery book by a Third-century Greek writer, Athenaeus.

The work is entitled "Deipnosophists" (Banquet of the Learned). This ancient Greek Epicurean scholar realized that food for the body is as important as food for the mind. He was very fond of tit-bits, whether of scandal or cookery.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of excesses of toxic impurities. The secret of long life is in constantly purifying waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is a tendency of waste that may cause backache, nervousness, headache, dropsy of the feet, getting up nights, swelling, pinpoints under the eyes, tired, nervous, and worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning urination are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance.

The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste.
