KENTUCKY:—Generally fair and colder Saturday.

ESTABLISHED—1898.

THE LISTENING POST

● Strictly speaking, this should be a news story, but for various reasons I am making it into a column. I thus kill two birds with one stone, saving myself wear and tear and nervous energy, and I believe also making a better column than I might write. In order that Brother Hartman may save himself time by not looking for a news story of his address to the Lions Club yesterday, this explanation offered.

● The good Methodist pastor talked to the Lions Club yesterday and when he gave out his subject I resigned myself to spending at least seven hours in the Rainbow Room, and also listening to gloomy predictions of the end of the world. Personally I am looking for the Judgment Day almost every morning, but I don't like to talk about it, and when Bishop Hartman said that his subject was "The End of an Epoch, and the Beginning of a New Era," I began to think of the Millennium and the Thousand Years Reign on Earth which I have heard preachers talk of many times. As a little shaver I have heard these sermons many times and I used to shiver and shake for three or four days after hearing about the earth going up in flames and the coming to judge the quick and the dead. Somehow I always figured that I belonged to the quick and the dead, although to this day I have no idea what the phrase means.

● But Bishop Hartman did none of these things. Rather he gave a thoughtful and appreciative sermon on present conditions, giving his ideas of what brought about these conditions and gave a hopeful and inspiring prediction of what is in store for the peoples of this earth in coming years. He did not predict the end of the world; rather, he visioned a newer and better world in every way. After a steady diet of gloomy thoughts and gloomier reading and even gloomier radio reports, his talk was as welcome as grass and flowers would be right now.

● The old epoch we know is dying in agony," Brother Hartman said. "But a new era will come forth. Out of the agony of the dying epoch and the birth pangs of the new era will come a world which is founded in collective security instead of selfish national security. The day will come when the nations of the earth can sit down around a table and discuss their problems and reach some solution which will satisfy all without the world going to arms. I do not believe that we will have to fight wars every generation. I do not believe that the present conflict will end with complete wreckage of the peoples of the earth."

● The local pastor drew a sharp distinction between history and prophecy. "What history has always called a revolution," he remarked, "is always called by the prophets a judgment. In later years the prophets who write of this present age will not call it a world revolution. Rather, they will tell of the entire world being called before the judgment bar of God and tell also how the Almighty rendered his judgment and set the world back on the proper road."

● The world took the wrong road, Pastor Hartman said, after the last world war. Indeed, this nation took the wrong road. Instead of being willing to work for a better age, the United States

American Liner Is Sunk By Jap Plane—Vessel Destroyed, But All Save 1 Crew Member Saved

MacArthur Steels Forces To Face Greatest Jap Assault

Enemy Submarine Reported Off Coast Of New England

Washington, —The Navy announced tonight the destruction of an American ship by an enemy plane in Far Eastern waters, while the nation awaited word of a renewed attack upon the gallant defenders of the Philippines.

The vessel was the Ruth Alexander of the American Presidents Lines. She was formerly owned by the Pacific Steamship Company and was once in regular passenger service between Los Angeles and Seattle.

One member of the crew was killed and four were injured. The remainder of the ship's personnel was said to be safe. The air attack apparently did not sink the vessel but inflicted such damage that she had to be abandoned as a total loss.

Making this announcement, the Navy added that operations against enemy submarines in the Central Pacific were continuing, and that off the west coast the activities of undersea raiders had been reduced. An investigation of reports of an enemy submarine off the New England coast had produced nothing definite.

Communicate Text
The text of the "communiqué," the Navy's No. 26.

"Far East: The S. S. Ruth Alexander, attacked by an enemy plane in Netherlands East Indies waters, has been abandoned and declared a total loss. One of the crew was killed and four were injured. The balance of the survivors are safe in a friendly port. The Ruth Alexander of the American President's Line was a vessel of 8,000 gross tons.

"Central Pacific: Operations continue against enemy submarines. The Hawaiian area is quiet.

"Eastern Pacific: Coastal defense plans have resulted in a narrowing of enemy submarine operations off the west coast.

"Atlantic area: A report that an enemy submarine was operating in England waters has been thoroughly investigated. The area has been searched without tangible results. Otherwise, Atlantic operations have been without incident."

(A Dutch communiqué on Jan. 1 reported that an American freighter was attacked and set afire by Japanese planes in East Indies waters and that a Dutch naval flying boat rescued 48 of its crew. It said one crewman remained missing.

(The Navy said tonight it did not know whether this ship and the Ruth Alexander was the same, but added that from available information this was assumed to be the case.)

Prepare For Attack

Meanwhile, the weary fighting men of General Douglas MacArthur were steeling themselves to withstand another savage Japanese effort to drive them off their rocky, grimly held peninsula and into the sea.

The enemy obviously was gathering his strength and forces for a major attack, moving fresh troops and equipment into the areas of direct assault.

Meanwhile, the actual fighting had reduced itself to sporadic jungle skirmishes, the apparent result of chance encounters between advanced patrols. The interim at least gave the American and Filipino defenders an opportunity for the thing which in addition to air-planes and ground reinforcements, they needed most—rest.

At home meanwhile officials scoffed at a hastily broadcast Tokyo claim that Japanese troops would eventually land on American soil and find it a "simple matter" to sweep everything before them. The statements were made in the Japan Times and Advertiser.

For Home Consumption

Officials here, not the least bit apprehensive, said such claims were for home consumption and pointed out that before any such enterprise could be attempted, Japan would have to be supreme in the Far East, destroy the United States fleet, reduce Pearl Harbor and neutralize Alaska.

United States forces on the west coast are on the alert but their concern has been guarding against sneak air raids, rather than any mass invasion effort.

Board To Consider Wages Of Women In Hotel, Restaurants

Frankfort, Ky. —Nominations for a special board to consider minimum wages for women and minors working in Kentucky hotels and restaurants were asked by Gov. Keen Johnson today.

The workers now come under the state's general wage law covering women and minors and State Industrial Relations Commissioner W. C. Burrow said many of them were "clamoring for increased pay due to the increased cost of living."

Overtime Pay Given
Burrow added he requested the law, after making a survey last month. He said the question of tips also might be considered by the special board.

The state's general law covering only women and minors employed in intra-state industry now provides 25 cents an hour for a forty-eight-hour week in the larger Kentucky communities; 22 1-2 cents an hour for fifty hours a week in a middle group and 20 cents and fifty-two hours in small er communities.

Time and a half pay is required in each zone for work exceeding the maximum working hours in a week.

9 To Be On Board

Under the present tipping regulations, half of a worker's wages may be in tips. As Burrow explained it, if a waitress' wages is $2 a day and she receives as much as $1 a day in tips, her employer may pay her $1 a day actual wages and take her receipt for the full $2.

The special board would be composed of three actual operators of hotels or restaurants, three actual workers in those industries and three persons representing the public. No nominations for the latter are required, but the governor asked employers and employees each to nominate six persons for places on the board.

Those to whom the governor sent letters today, asking the operators to nominate at least six persons and the workers to name an equal number by January 15.

Sales Tax Is Gaining Much Support Among House Members

Washington, —Sentiment for a general sales tax to help finance the vast war program appeared to be increasing among House Ways and Means Committee members Thursday.

Although the committee still was awaiting specific suggestions from the Treasury Department, several members who previously had been noncommittal said privately that that method apparently would be "the most painless."

Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.), said Wednesday he had no idea of how much new revenue could be obtained or from what sources, but he expressed the opinion that an outspoken statement by President Roosevelt would be needed to pass

HULL PREDICTS STRONGER TIES FOR AMERICAS

Delegation Leaves For Parley In Rio

Washington, —An expression of solidarity and co-operative effort among nations of the Western Hemisphere was couched by Secretary Hull today with a prediction that these ties would be strengthened by the forthcoming conference at Rio de Janeiro.

The secretary of state's remarks were occasioned by the departure of the conference of foreign ministers to begin in the Brazilian capital January 15.

He told his press conference that he thought there had been gratifying demonstrations of hemispheric solidarity since the Japanese attack on the United States and the declarations of war by Germany and Italy.

a General Sales Tax Bill.

There was no indication that such a statement would be forthcoming. In fact, the President only this week expressed opposition to a general sales tax at this juncture, although he added that future events might lead him to change his mind.

He did favor, however, immediate imposition of special taxes on a large number of consumer articles, especially luxuries.

The Treasury is expected to present to Congress on Jan. 15 its specific suggestions for raising the $7,000,000,000 new taxes proposed by Mr. Roosevelt.

In addition to this $7,000,000,000, the President has asked $2,000,000,000 in new Social Security levies.

EDEN ASSERTS NAZI LOSSES GREATER THAN NAPOLEON'S

Declares British Retreats In Malaya Deliberate

London. —The House of Commons, critical and uneasy over Allied setbacks by the Japanese, was told today by Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden that the most formidable Axis partner, Germany, was suffering reverses "far more remarkable" than those the Russians inflicted on Napoleon's army in 1812.

As for the yielding defense lines in Malaya, Eden said the government assumed full responsibility. But he rejected suggestions that the government had been derelict there.

"If we were wrong," he declared, "it was a deliberate decision, and not one based on neglect."

Some Not Satisfied

But these explanations did not satisfy some members.

"Neither the United States nor ourselves can stem the tide of Japanese victory in the Far East unless we hold Singapore," declared Commander Sir Archibald Southby.

Nazi Armies Now Facing Grave Peril As Red Forces Roll On Against German Held Positions

Even German Press Admits That Situation Is Grave

Claims Hitler Will Know How To Deal With Situation

The German armies in Russia of recent days which have contained a regularly increasing worried tone, at utter variance with customary Nazi war announcements.

From official Russian reports it appeared that the German arch-enemy was about to lose his key positions before Leningrad, as he already had lost them before Moscow, and was in growing peril in the Crimea in the far south.

Germany was reported by the Russian army newspaper Red Star yesterday to be rushing reinforcements by airplane from Western Europe in an effort to stop the Russian counter-offensive.

One hundred German officers were brought from France late last month to the Kalinin front, but most of them now are dead, the newspaper said.

Retreat Not Ended
The authoritative Berlin commentary Dienst Aus Deutschland, which often speaks for the German foreign office, warned the country that Hitler's retreat in Russia was far from ended and that the Nazi forces of the east had been forced to "the unaccustomed task of a stiff defense, withstanding the storming Soviet masses and giving way step by step while covering preparations made for a winter combat line."

Where this line was to be was of course not indicated, but it was made plain that it was to the west and beyond any area in which the Germans now are struggling.

In this same somber mood, the German high command in its regular communiqué reported: "In the central and northern sectors of the eastern front bitter (German) defensive fighting continues."

Railroads Are Reported Ready To Meet All Demands Of War

Buffalo, N. Y. —The nation's railroads and other agencies are ready to meet military and civilian transportation demands, regardless of the war's duration, if assured of adequate materials for maintenance and for new equipment as needed, a railroad executive said tonight.

WAVELL

(From The Chicago News)

In naming Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell as commander in chief of land, sea and air forces in the Far East, the Allies chose the only leader now available to them who has demonstrated, both in theory and practice, a comprehension of the varied weapons of modern war.

Three years ago, in lectures at Cambridge, Wavell unwittingly forecast his future role, in considering the qualifications of "the commander with the imagination—the genius, in fact—to use the new forces," and pointed out that "on the ground he will have to handle forces moving at a speed and ranging at a distance far exceeding those of the most mobile cavalry of the past: a study of naval strategy and tactics as well as those of cavalry will be essential to him. Some ideas on his position in battle and the speed may be derived from Jutland. . . . Needless to say, he must be able to handle air forces with the same knowledge as forces on land."

Wavell demonstrated his ability to handle land, sea and air forces in his first Libyan campaign. The attack on Sidi Barrani was a triumph of careful preparation: the subsequent conquest that virtually eliminated Italy from the war was due to unrelenting pursuit, a lesson he had learned from Allenby, under whom he had served. Wavell's subsequent defeat was not unexpected because of the small forces at his disposal. However, he has admitted that he was surprised by the speed of the German advance, an admission that certainly puts him in a unique niche among generals!

In Libya, and in other Near East campaigns, he has demonstrated an ability to get along with troops of varied nationalities, and to weld them to a common purpose—an ability that will be of the utmost value to him in the Far East.

"The situation may become worse before the tide turns," he warned, in taking over command after Hongkong and Manila had fallen, and with Singapore seriously threatened. His task is difficult, but the peoples of 26 nations join with him in believing that "turn it will, with inexorable strength, when the time comes."

CAN EXPECT NO BETTER

Secretary of State Hull's description of Japanese treatment of white noncombatants in Manila as being "monstrous" will be echoed in the hearts of all peoples of civilized nations, yet, after all, could anything better have been expected?

Mr. Hull's condemnation was inspired by a Japanese occupation order for all whites to remain indoors on penalty of being shot on sight. That is quite in keeping for an enemy who has been first to use gas warfare in the present conflict and whose atrocities in China beggar description and condemnation.

for their own human values are not likely to have any higher regard for others of another race or nationality. Too, Japanese brutality, as exhibited in recent years, may be attributed in no small measure to consciousness of inferiority expressing itself through sadism.

In their conflict with the Chinese they have violated ever the rudiments of accepted rules for warfare, and they will, no doubt, continue those violations with any foe against whom they are opposed.

The peoples of Western nations are always adjured to conduct their war efforts with a minimum of hatred, but such idealistic pleas put great strain on human capabilities. Japan's treachery at Pearl Harbor sowed the seeds of American hatred and contempt, and the growth is now being nurtured by excesses at Manila. Hatred so inspired will not be subdued by the admonitions of the "love thy neighbor type." They will last for centuries and they will be satisfied only through extermination of those whose acts inspired them. It is a terrible whirlwind. Indeed, which Japan will one day reap.—Commercial Appeal.

JAP'S WILD CLAIMS IRK BUT AMUSE SINGAPORE PEOPLE

Singapore — Radio Tokio's wild exaggeration of the air bombing of Singapore has irritated and amused residents. Typical was one night when there were three alarms. The planes flew high and dropped few bombs. The only damage was that some huts in the outskirts of the city were set on fire. There has been no military damage and casualties can be counted on the fingers of two hands.

If the Japanese are testing Singapore's air defenses they must be satisfied that they are good, because they never come lower than 12,000 feet and never have stayed very long on their raids.

NO IMMEDIATE PROSPECT OF GASOLINE SHORTAGE

Ickes Suggests Nation Speed Limit Of 40 Miles Per Hour

Washington.—Interior Secretary Ickes, the petroleum coordinator, today assured the nation there was "no immediate prospect" of gasoline rationing as a war measure.

He suggested at his press conference, however, that great savings in rubber, gasoline and automotive equipment could be accomplished through setting of a national speed limit at 40 miles an hour, and he announced such a limit was being established at once in all the national parks under his jurisdiction.

The rubber shortage, Ickes said, would postpone or obviate any need for gasoline rationing. His aides have estimated that tire rationing would result in a 35 per cent reduction in civilian gasoline consumption in 1942.

Ickes disclosed that his office was exploring the possibilities of making large quantities of synthetic rubber from petroleum, and also was consulting the War and Navy Department on increasing the output of 100-octane aviation gasoline far above the goal of 150,000 barrels daily by next January 1.

He pointed out that virtually the same materials were needed to produce 100-octane gasoline and synthetic rubber from oil. He said the high-octane gasoline output already had been stepped-up from 40,000 to 52,000 barrels daily.

BELIEVE NAZIS TO USE ZEPPELINS IN RAIDS ON COAST

Ships Could Carry As Many As Ten Bombers

Washington — Responsible military officials said today it is "definitely in the cards" that Germany may use her zeppelins in token raids on east coast cities of the United States.

The Nazis, these sources believe, still have the two dirigibles which bore the swastika at the war's outbreak—the trans-Atlantic veteran, Graf Zeppelin, and the great LZ-130, sister ship of the Hindenburg, which was destroyed by fire at Lakehurst, N. J., in 1937.

Either dirigible could be fitted to carry up to 10 bombers within easy striking distance of the Atlantic coast and could hover off shore while the planes loosed destruction to the cities, experts here said. Or the zeppelins, themselves, could undertake a suicide mission and do their own bombing.

Attempt To Terrorize President Roosevelt, in his message to Congress yesterday, acknowledged that the enemy might try air attacks on great population centers in an attempt at "terrorizing our people" and undermining morale.

In the east, Navy aircraft experts noted, the tendency was to think of such a possibility in terms of surface aircraft carriers, but they recalled the well-authenticated report that Germany built a dirigible in the first World War for the express purposes of bombing New York.

Pleasure Driving Ban Needed Say Leaders After Full Study Of Critical Rubber Situation

Senate Body Says Rationing Is Absolutely Necessary

HELMET LINING HEARTY MEAL FOR LOST FLIER

Washington, —A chamol skin lining from a flier's helmet and a small canteen of water provided food and drink for Lieutenant Commander John Thomas Blackburn, 30, who floated for sixty hours in a rubber boat off Africa. The Navy disclosed the story today, saying that when rescued from the sea Blackburn told his rescuers that he had been proceeding at about one knot an hour and had expected to reach land in about three more days.

Washington, —The Senate's special defense investigating committee, reporting that nation-wide gasoline rationing is "abundantly justified," today called for elimination of pleasure driving and warned that compulsory conversion of oil burners to coal may be necessary.

The committee, headed by Senator Truman (D. Mo.), reported on its investigation of oil and rubber problems undertaken when western Congressmen complained of gasoline rationing in their areas.

Says Formula Complex The committee charged that the Office of Price Administration's complex formula of fuel oil rationing would render many homes "uninhabitable" in winter weather. It agreed, however, that rationing was "absolutely essential."

The investigators said that instead of cutting allotments on a percentage basis, the O. P. A. decided on a formula for determining the amount of oil needed to heat a given number of square feet in a given county.

This formula, the committee said, ignored not only such factors as

WAVELL

(From The Chicago News)

In naming Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell as commander in chief of land, sea and air forces in the Far East, the Allies chose the only leader now available to them who has demonstrated, both in theory and practice, a comprehension of the varied weapons of modern war.

Three years ago, in lectures at Cambridge, Wavell unwittingly forecast his future role, in considering the qualifications of "the commander with the imagination—the genius, in fact—to use the new forces," and pointed out that "on the ground he will have to handle forces moving at a speed and ranging at a distance far exceeding those of the most mobile cavalry of the past: a study of naval strategy and tactics as well as those of cavalry will be essential to him. Some ideas on his position in battle and the speed may be derived from Jutland. . . . Needless to say, he must be able to handle air forces with the same knowledge as forces on land."

Wavell demonstrated his ability to handle land, sea and air forces in his first Libyan campaign. The attack on Sidi Barrani was a triumph of careful preparation; the subsequent conquest that virtually eliminated Italy from the war was due to unrelenting pursuit, a lesson he had learned from Allenby, under whom he had served. Wavell's subsequent defeat was not unexpected because of the small forces at his disposal. However, he admitted that he was surprised by the speed of the German advance, an admission that certainly puts him in a unique niche among generals!

In Libya, and in other Near East campaigns, he has demonstrated an ability to get along with troops of varied nationalities, and to weld them to a common purpose—an ability that will be of the utmost value to him in the Far East. "The situation may become worse before the tide turns," he warned. In taking over command after Hongkong and Manila had fallen, and with Singapore seriously threatened, his task is difficult, but the peoples of 26 nations join with him in believing that "turn it will, with inexorable strength, when the time comes."

CAN EXPECT NO BETTER

Secretary of State Hull's description of Japanese treatment of white noncombatants in Manila as being "monstrous" will be echoed in the hearts of all peoples of civilized nations, yet, after all, could anything better have been expected?

Mr. Hull's condemnation was inspired by a Japanese occupation order for all whites to remain indoors on penalty of being shot on sight. That is quite in keeping for an enemy who has been first to use gas warfare in the present conflict and whose atrocities in China beggar description and condemnation.

for their own human values are not likely to have any higher regard for others of another race or nationality. Too, Japanese brutality, as exhibited in recent years, may be attributed in no small measure to consciousness of inferiority expressing itself through sadism.

In their conflict with the Chinese they have violated ever the rudiments of accepted rules for warfare, and they will, no doubt, continue those violations with any foe against whom they are opposed. The peoples of Western nations are always adjured to conduct their war efforts with a minimum of hatred, but such idealistic pleas put great strain on human capabilities. Japan's treachery at Pearl Harbor sowed the seeds of American hatred and contempt, and the growth is now being nurtured by excesses at Manila. Hatred so inspired will not be subdued by the admonitions of the "love thy neighbor type." They will last for centuries and they will be satisfied only through extermination of those whose acts inspired them. It is a terrible whirlwind, indeed, which Japan will one day reap.—Commercial Appeal.

Singapore — Radio Tokio's wild exaggeration of the air bombing of Singapore has irritated and amused residents. Typical was one night when there were three alarms. The planes flew high and dropped few bombs. The only damage was that some huts in the outskirts of the city were set on fire. There has been no military damage and casualties can be counted on the fingers of two hands.

If the Japanese are testing Singapore's air defenses they must be satisfied that they are good, because they never come lower than 12,000 feet and never have stayed very long on their raids.

NO IMMEDIATE PROSPECT OF GASOLINE SHORTAGE

Ikkes Suggests Nation Speed Limit Of 40 Miles Per Hour

Washington, —Interior Secretary Ikkes, the petroleum coordinator, today assured the nation there was "no immediate prospect" of gasoline rationing as a war measure.

He suggested at his press conference, however, that great savings in rubber, gasoline and automotive equipment could be accomplished through setting of a national speed limit at 40 miles an hour, and he announced such a limit was being established at once in all the national parks under his jurisdiction.

The rubber shortage, Ikkes said, would postpone or obviate any need for gasoline rationing. His aides have estimated that tire rationing would result in a 35 per cent reduction in civilian gasoline consumption in 1942.

Ikkes disclosed that his office was exploring the possibilities of making large quantities of synthetic rubber from petroleum, and also was consulting the War and Navy Department on increasing the output of 100-octane aviation gasoline far above the goal of 150,000 barrels daily by next January 1. He pointed out that virtually the same materials were needed to produce 100-octane gasoline and synthetic rubber from oil. He said the high-octane gasoline output already had been stepped-up from 40,000 to 52,000 barrels daily.

LONDON RAID SHELTERS

JOHNSON DECLARES KENTUCKIANS WILL MAKE SACRIFICES

Governor Johnson, speaking at a rally in Louisville, Ky., today, declared that Kentuckians will make sacrifices whatever is needed to win the war.

He declared that the war is an issue which concerns Americans individually and collectively, and Kentucky will give generously of her resources to help Hitler crush the pirates of the Pacific.

Sponsored by the Louisville Business Men's Club, the rally also heard Herbert Agar, editor of the Courier-Journal, and Maj. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, chief of the armored force.

Agar said, "We can beat our enemies on the field of battle but it isn't going to be worthwhile to beat them if we're going to forget the spirit of elevation of purpose with which we go into this war.
The eighth great civilization has come to the testing point. It will die unless we enlarge our minds and imaginations and make ourselves better people than we have been in the past."

Now is the time to renew your Leader.

CIVILIAN TRUCK OUTPUT MAY SOON BE STOPPED

Army Demands Must Be Filled
First, Eastman Says

Washington, —Complete stoppage of civilian truck production after March 1 was forecast Thursday by Joseph B. Eastman, new defense transportation director, who commented that "there may be a tendency to forget or failure to realize that civilian transportation is a very essential part of the war mechanism."

Mr. Eastman made this prediction despite the fact that the OPM announced during the day new quotas permitting increased production of trucks and buses in February.

Saying that efficient operation of transportation systems was "just as important to war production as machine tools," Mr. Eastman told a press conference:

"The greatest danger I now foresee is that (motor transport) carriers may not be able to get material for expansion of operations and for maintenance and repair.
There may be grave depletion of our transportation resources."

Mr. Eastman said that present plans called for concentration on production of Army and Navy trucks, to the exclusion of civilian output. The result may be, he said, that added burdens will be thrown on the Nation's railroads and commercial motor freight systems seriously affected.

Donald M. Nelson, OPM priorities director, issued orders permitting a 15 per cent increase in production of heavy or medium motor trucks and a 138 per cent increase in bus production next month compared with the output in February, 1941.

LISTENING POST (Continued from page one) turned its back on efforts made to set up a world court and selfishly decided that it would travel alone and pay no further attention to the problems of other nations. By this one act this nation made possible the present terrible conditions.

"Not again will we do this," Brother Hartman declared. "We shall win this war and we shall win the peace. I believe that President Roosevelt and Winston Churchill have made plans for proper policing of the world after this war has been won. They know it will be cheaper to do this police work than to fight a war every generation. We shall win, too, for the forces of paganism cannot win against the forces of righteousness. It will be remembered that many years ago

two peoples came to the Red Sea.
One people marched into the sea and crossed dry shod to find the Promised Land. The other force, which merely sought slaves, followed them into the sea, but they found only death. That is what will happen in this conflict. Those people which seek only property and slaves will be defeated, and they will find their tomb in some modern counterpart of the Red Sea of old."

OF War POLICY

THREE YEARS AGO, when the world was substantially at peace, this writer issued a declaration of business policy to mark the occasion of his taking office as president of the Illinois Central System.

But veritably a lifetime has been lived in those three short years. Today we are engaged in a world war, a war that endangers the continuation of our nation's freedom and our American way of life. That war now takes precedence over everything else.

So now I restate our policy in terms of the war. To suffer hardships, if those hardships are necessary, will be not a sacrifice but a privilege, as has been so ably revealed.
If the army or the navy or the marine corps or military production needs something the Illinois Central has to offer, that service will be provided in the certain knowledge that our regular customers will understand and gladly yield if temporarily inconvenienced or discommoded.

We must win the war. Yet, to the extent that may be permitted, we hope to provide:

For business and individuals, adequate and dependable transportation, pleasant service, continued improvements, fair and reasonable rates that will stimulate commerce and yet cover our costs.

For our workers, reasonable wages, fair treatment,
good working conditions, modern tools.

For our investors, a return that will maintain credit and attract needed new capital.

For our friends and neighbors, performance that will command—and deserve—their continued confidence and good will.

But all these are as nothing if we lose the war. We must WIN the war. To that end we of the Illinois Central pledge our hearts, our hands, our every effort.

J. H. Beven
President
