THE LISTENING POST

● Barring an unexpectedly early ending of the war it seems quite probable that we are now seeing the end of the sports program as it has been in past years. The New Year football games, for example, appear to be slated for the discard after coming games, and as a matter of cold hard fact, I rather suspect that some of the bowl promoters wish they were safely out of the woods for the coming games.

● The Sugar Bowl in New Orleans is one New Year game which might cost the promoters some money unless New Orleans people rally around in large numbers. At the present moment the Sugar Bowl has a block of 32,000 unsold tickets and no customers except those living in New Orleans and adjacent territory. Following the usual custom a large number of tickets went to the two schools whose teams will compete in the New Year game, and then Mr. Eastman, who keeps a watchful eye on the traveling habits of the American people "requested" that those tickets be returned to New Orleans. A "request" from such a source is much on the order of an order, and the two schools at once sent those tickets back to New Orleans.

● So, with the game almost at hand, and at a time when such tickets are worth scalper's prices, the New Orleans folks are in a predicament that can only be solved if their home people will take up the slack. New Orleans, while a big town, is not big enough to supply a crowd of around 90,000 spectators, and this is about what must be secured if the Sugar Bowl is to be a sugar bowl in reality. Next year it seems likely that the Sugar Bowl folks will think at least three times before getting very far out on a limb on the annual football game. True, the Sugar Bowl folks promote a full week of sports climaxing with the football game, but the travel restrictions seem almost certain to cut into their business quite deeply.

● It is not likely that the travel restrictions will hurt the Rose Bowl so much. In California the folks have been accustomed to supplying most of their crowd, for California is too far away to draw many spectators from the East. A crowd of around 80,000 or 90,000 is quite common out there, and in the game last week which decided the Western opponent for Georgia it was reported a crowd of 87,000 attended. In other words, Los Angeles and the nearby communities can furnish enough crowd to put over the Rose Bowl game.

● As a matter of fact, the general public is not as much interested in these bowl games as in past years. We have a far more serious job on hand, and too many of our boys are fighting and dying on the many battlefronts of the world to allow us to think as much of football as we did even a year ago. A year ago we were just starting; this New Year will find us with a million fighting men scattered all over the world, and perhaps another million doing their fighting with naval units. While we have had a habit of paying high tribute

Henderson Resigns Post As OPA Director, Stating Health Demands That He Take A Rest

Prentiss Brown, Michigan Senator, May Succeed Henderson

WHALE TALE IS PROVED AS CARCASS IS FOUND

Selem, N. J., —Friends of three muskrat trappers were convinced today that the whale story told by the trio was not so much blubber.

Listeners raised eyebrows when Frank Griscom, Thomas Dickeson and Frank Simpkins emerged from the marshes near Patty's Ford with the yarn that their outboard motorboat was grounded by a whale.

They said the whale, which had maneuvered five miles inland, moved down the creek after they fired thirty-six shots into the mammal's hide.

The trio had the last laugh when another trapper found the carcass of a sixteen-foot whale washed ashore, two miles from where the shots were fired.

The whale was riddled with shotgun pellets.

CARL E. BONDURANT STATIONED AT NORFOLK

Carl E. Bondurant, who was recently called to report for duty in the U. S. Navy Air Corps as an apprentice, is now stationed at Norfolk, Virginia for training. He was visiting his mother, Mrs. Ed Bondurant, in Highlands when he received his orders to report December 15 for service. He volunteered in November. Prior to his enlistment he was employed in New York City.

WOMEN COOPERATE IN CHEESE MAKING

A cheese making cooperative effort on the part of farm women in Trigg county is reported by Eleanor Whittinghill, county home demonstration agent. After saving surplus milk Mrs. Oscar Mitchell, Mrs. Burnett Mitchell and Mrs. Oscar Grisby joined forces and made 55 pounds of cream cheese.

Patterson Asks Army Continue Control Of Military Production

Washington. —Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson said today that the United States might lose the war if the Army is deprived of its control over military production. At the same time, he decried charges that the Army endeavored to obtain control over the civilian economy.

Patterson expressed his views in a statement to the Senate committee investigating the national defense program. Civilian agencies, he said, must have charge of providing materials, of directing their flow to the proper places, and of seeing that enough is saved out for civilian use, leaving actual military production to the military.

N N Wants New Organization The Senate small business committee meanwhile received from Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. a letter calling again for the creation of an Office of War Mobilization, a civilian body to control war production and "cut through the quagmire of vested interests." He charged that U. S. Steel and Republic Steel had wasted nickel and said the former's projected new armor plate plant at Gary, Ind., would eliminate many small steel companies from the war effort.

Earlier, Ferdinand Eberstadt, vice chairman of the War Production Board, reported the beginnings of success in adjusting civilian and military demand to the available

Washington. —Belligerent Leon Henderson, target of irate congressional criticism for his handling of the touchy price-fixing and rationing problems, resigned as price administrator tonight, "principally" on the grounds of ill health.

President Roosevelt, in accepting the resignation, effective "upon the appointment and qualification of your successor," did not indicate who that would be but it was generally expected that he would appoint President M. Brown, Democratic Senator from Michigan who was defeated for reelection.

The portly Henderson has long suffered from a back ailment. But his explanation to Mr. Roosevelt that his departure was dictated principally x x x by a recent physical disability and a rather bad impairment of my eyesight" indicated that other factors also figured in his decision.

There has been considerable dissatisfaction in Congress over his policies in the office of price administration, which he has headed since its creation, and some Senators and Representatives have threatened to curtail OPA appropriations if he continued at the helm.

In this connection Henderson told the President that he would be on call to help his successor and would be "readily available and eager to explain any, and all OPA actions for which I have had responsibility." In his last days in office, Henderson said, he would work on "stabilization" of the fuel oil and gasoline rationing "so that these may be no more special burdens to my successor than the others which have had such excellent community acceptance."

HOMEMAKERS EQUIP MEDICINE CABINETS

648 Newspapers Hike Prices During Year As Costs Soar

New York. —Rising costs have caused more than half the daily newspapers in the United States to raise at least some portion of their circulation rate structure since the start of the war in 1939. Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, said today.

The A. N. P. A. is conducting a survey of daily newspapers on circulation rate changes in 1942.

JOBLESS FUND CHECKS DUE

Pay By December 31 Urged To Get Reductions

Frankfort, Ky., —Contributions to the state unemployment insurance fund must be paid by December 31 in order to obtain possible reductions in rates for 1943. V. E. Barnes, executive director of the Unemployment Compensation Commission warned employers today.

"Employers have until January 31, 1943, to pay their last quarter, 1942, contributions without incurring a penalty and all 1942 contributions paid by that date may be used as credit against the federal unemployment excise tax," Barnes continued, "but contributions paid after December 31 cannot be added to an employer's reserve account to determine his 1943 rate."

Estimates Sufficient

Barnes suggested that since it usually was impossible for employers to determine the exact amount of contributions due for the fourth quarter in time to pay by December 31, that they estimate the amount due and submit a tentative return. Later when the exact amount is known, he added, an employer may submit an amended return and adjust under or over payment.

The director added any employer may make a voluntary contribution to increase his reserve account and thereby lower his 1943 rate. But, he emphasized, such voluntary payments must also be made by December 31 and even though they prove insufficient to qualify the account for a rate reduction, they are not refundable.

CENSUS LIST SHOWS 2 MILLION

List Of Eighteen And Nineteen-Year Olds Large

Washington. —The Census Bureau estimated today there are 2,479,000 18 and 19-year-old youths in the country subject to military service under recent draft legislation. Of this number about 2,210,000 are white and 269,000 non-white. Many of these of course are physically unfit or already have enlisted.

Because of a declining birth rate in the past, the bureau said the number of males attaining the age of 18 each year in the next few years will be less than this year's total.

However, the bureau said in another report, the birthrate is on the increase now and America has the lowest infant death rate of any of the large nations—47 for each 1,000 live births.

Only six nations have a lower infant mortality rate—Norway, Sweden, The Netherlands, Australia and New Zealand, all of which have rates ranging from 37 to 39, and Switzerland, with a rate of 46.

The mortality rates were based on 1940 statistics, which showed that 110,984 infants under one year of age died in the United States that year.

The mortality rate in Germany in 1940 was 105, in Italy 104 and in Japan 112. The Japanese figures covering the period from 1936 to 1938.

Members of Jackson Homemakers' club in Bourbon county are sending gift packages to boys in service instead of having their usual gift exchange.

and while still far from complete, returns thus far show 648 papers have announced advances.

Earlier this year—before many of the increases were made—a survey to which 1,777 newspapers replied, showed the largest number, 806, were receiving 5 cents a copy at retail. A year earlier 794 out of 1,821 replies, were receiving 5 cents.

Increases, replies explained, reflected rising costs in wartime.

G. O. P. CHIEF TELLS HOPES

Spangler Is High On Outlook For 1944

Washington. —Expressing confidence in Republican prospects in 1944 "if we can keep our mistakes few and minor," Harrison E. Spangler, the party's new national chairman, paid a hurried visit to Republican headquarters today to begin a reorganization of campaign personnel.

"Things are looking up for us for 1944," said Spangler, citing not only the recent election gains by his party but also what he called three party threats within Democratic ranks in the West and South.

"From what I can hear," said the 63-year-old Cedar Rapids, Iowa, attorney, who was chosen Republican National Chairman at St. Louis December 7, "many Southern States are seething with distrust of the New Deal."

"Oklahoma," he added, "is a perfect example of it. A Democrat there (E. H. Moore), ran as a Republican and defeated Senator Lee in a State we hadn't carried since 1928."

Commenting on the recent speech by Gov. Frank M. Dixon of Alabama accusing the Democratic Party of "dynamiting" the social structure of the South and saying suggestions were "rife" for formation of a "Southern Democratic Party," Spangler said:

"They tell me the people in the South are much interested in forming a new party or defeating the New Deal."

GOTHAM GETS NEWS BY EAR

All-Night Session Fails To End Press Strike

New York. —New Yorkers had to fall back almost entirely on the radio to keep up with the global war and other events as the newspaper deliverers' strike continued today.

Local stations gave increased attention to newscasts. The Daily News and Times, which long have had news periods on the air, added to the length of these broadcasts, while the World-Telegram read some of its regular columns into the microphone in addition to sending out local news.

Department store advertisers also stepped into the radio picture by calling attention to their Christmas offerings. Some of the movie houses turned to the air to keep their prospective audiences informed.

The Newspaper and Mail Deliverers Union and the Publishers Association of New York ended separate all-night meetings early today, failing to effect a settlement of the strike which has kept the city's newspapers out of general circulation since Sunday evening.

Representatives said further conferences would be held today. Dr. Fred C. Croxson of the U. S. Conciliation Service, serving with Chairman Arthur S. Meyer of the State Mediation Board as mediator, carried proposals and counter-proposals between the meetings.

Close of the sessions brought no formal statements.

Holds Out Hope

Meyer had declared last night, however, that "today, for the first time, definite proposals and counter-proposals to settle the matter through arbitration have been made, and although no definite solution has yet been reached, progress has been made."

CHILD INVALID ASKS TEACHER FOR CHRISTMAS

Chicago. —Nine-year-old Phyllis Sondej has been ill since babyhood and must remain indoors constantly. Asked by her mother what she wanted for Christmas, she replied:

"All I want for Christmas is a teacher. I'm 9 years old and I've never been to school. I can't read or write and I do so want to learn."

The United Charities has appealed for a teacher who can spend some time at the Sondej home.

BATTERIES PROMISED FOR HEARING AIDS

Washington. —The War Production Board said today it hoped "within two or three months" to relieve the shortage of batteries for hearing devices.

The board said it had ordered standardize into a few types the cells used to operate devices to help the hard of hearing.

The standardization, officials said, will increase the supply of batteries and relieve the shortage. Some devices, however, will have to be altered slightly in order to make the standardized batteries fit.

MAN NAVY REJECTED NOW BUILDS SHIPS

Bayonne, N. J., —Once rejected by the Navy because of a slight physical imperfection, Gregory Ferend turned to building ships instead. Between August and December, Ferend built the yards of the Marine Maintenance Corporation in Bayonne and simultaneously built four coastwise tankers.

A native of Cefalonis, Ionian Island, Ferend came to United States in 1916 at 19, worked at odd jobs, and in 1931 began operating the Sword Steamship Line—with one vessel. In addition to his shipbuilding company, he still operates the Sword line (now with six ships) and acts as agent for the War Shipping Administration.

Rep. McCormack Hits Those Using War To Play Politics

Washington. —Representative McCormack of Massachusetts, the House majority leader, issued a session-end statement Tuesday exhorting "those who are using the war to play contemptible partisan politics," and declaring that "politics as usual should be put on the shelf until victory is won."

"There have been a lot of unfair statements by a few members of Congress, as well as cheap sniping at the conduct of the war by our great commander-in-chief, President Roosevelt, and by our military and naval leaders," he said.

"Such tactics and utterances only tend to create division among our people. Any person engaged in such a policy, no matter what his motive may be, is adopting a course that is contrary to the best interests of our country."

Discussing recent Congressional events, McCormack cited the pignobling of Mr. Roosevelt's request for authority to suspend tariff laws when they interfere with the free movement of property or information essential to the war effort, and accused the Republicans of playing partisan politics with this measure. "There are some people," he continued, "who tried to make political

Washington. —In order to fill expanding war needs, government food authorities issued orders today reducing the per capita supply of meat available for civilians from the present limit of 40 ounces to 35 ounces a week during the first three months of 1943.

The civilian supply of pork, veal, lamb, and mutton was ordered cut about 13 per cent. Beef supplies will continue to be restricted at the present levels. There is no compulsory rationing of meat at present, but consumers are being asked to limit themselves to 40 ounces a week. After the first of the year this voluntary ration will be cut to 35 ounces.

The orders were issued by Price Administrator Leon Henderson on the recommendation of Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, the country's new food boss.

Would Relieve Shortages

These officials moved also to relieve local meat shortages over the Christmas holiday season. Meat slaughterers will be allowed to distribute 10 per cent of their quotas for the first quarter of 1943 during the last 12 days of December.

Meanwhile new maximum prices went into effect tonight on wholesale sales of poultry, and the Office of Price Administration said the action will be followed soon with new and slightly higher retail prices.

The wholesale order took the place of a temporary order which had fixed prices at the highest level between September 28 and October 2. Under that order, each wholesaler had his own maximum, according to what he charged in the September 28-October 2 period. Under the new order, uniform prices were fixed for wholesalers throughout the country, based on five "basing point" cities plus freight. For the eastern half of the country the basing point is New York. In the west, there are four basing point cities, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Portland, at each of which prices will be the same.

Twelve new laying houses and 48 brooder houses were built in Todd county this year, and 40 laying houses were remodeled.

capital—cheap political capital—out of the arrangements made before the invasion of Africa. The best evidence of the cheapness and danger of their statements is the fact that in today's papers there appears the story that Dakar lines up with the Allies.

"If it were not for the fine work done in advance by our diplomats, and our military leaders, under the leadership, guidance and instructions of President Roosevelt, tens of thousands of our American boys would have been killed or wounded before we could have accomplished in Africa what has been done to date."

Dwelling at length on the African developments, he continued: "The dividers scoffed; they engaged in cheap politics, and if their biased judgment had been followed, the results would have been the loss of thousands of our fine American youths."

"Dakar is lined up with us, as the result of a diplomatic victory. Even in its weakened position it was estimated that it would cost 50,000 lives to capture that fortress. The leadership of Roosevelt, and through him of our military leaders and diplomats, have saved those lives."

REGULATION—HOW FAR?

The United States Supreme Court has rendered a unanimous decision upholding the govern- ment's power to regulate wheat production, even when the crop is to be consumed on the farm. An Ohio farmer who planted 23 acres of wheat was fined $117.11 for raising 12 more acres than his allotment of 11 acres under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

Granting that the decision is in accordance with the letter of the law, the reasoning of Justice Jackson, who wrote the decision, has far-reaching effect on every American citizen. He said that wheat, even if grown for home consumption, could be considered within the scope of Congressional regulation if it "exerts a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce."

To emphasize this point, he went further and said that even if such wheat was never marketed, it is subject to regulation because "it supplies a need of the man who grew it which would otherwise be reflected by purchases in the open market," and, therefore, it "competes with wheat in commerce."

This is worth thinking over. Under similar legislation and court rulings, almost every productive act of American citizens could be construed to "exert a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce," and therefore be subject to Federal jurisdiction.

If a farmer cannot feed his surplus grain to his own cattle because this affects interstate commerce how long will it be before he is told he cannot kill a hog or a beef for his own consumption because "it supplies a need of the man who grew it which would otherwise be reflected by purchases in the open market."

Almost any human activity or free and independent men and women could be brought under the dragnet classification of "exerting a substantial economic effect on interstate commerce." The housewife who makes a dress for herself interferes with such commerce.

And this is happening in the United States the independence of American farmer is one of the most sacred traditions of our nation.—Exchange.

to the skill and courage of football players in past years, it seems a bit tawdry this year to hear a radio announcer praising the courage of some lad who merely runs right hard at another lad and either knocks him down or gets knocked down, depending on how the blocking and running may be done. ## FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

(Dec. 18, 1927)

C. C. Howard is in Troy today on business.

Miss Lotties Ray is visiting friends in Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Smoot Morris spent yesterday in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Glidewell of Dodge City, Kansas, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mullins.

Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Valentine of Shelbyville, Tenn., are here to spend Christmas with home folks.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morse of Tuscola, Ill., are guests of their daughter, Mrs. John Koehn.

James Earl Jones, who is attending school in Shelbyville, Tenn., is spending Christmas with home folks.

Mrs. Cecil Weatherspoon and children, Mary Norma and Glenn, spent yesterday with relatives in Jordan.

Misses Mary Croft and Cordelia Brann are spending the day in Paducah.

Mrs. Sarah Wood died yesterday at her home in Wingo.

The girls basketball team of Fulton High will open the season in Hickman tomorrow night.

Infested seas, deserve all our thoughts.

Next year may bring some drastic changes in the sports picture. Whether the big baseball leagues can finish out the year remains to be seen. They will evidently start, but they may not finish. Player shortages will play havoc with every big league team, is my guess.

SPORT TALK

An Open Letter To The Bulldogs

This is an open letter to those boys who are now working out under Coach Gill for the current basketball team. It is probably more or less advice, and I know that not many boys like advice, but this can't be helped. I want to talk a little about your team and of its chances.

You boys have won one game and lost three thus far. The hardest part of your season will come after Christmas, and right now is a crucial time in your training period. I know there isn't much fun in practicing and keeping in training when no game is just ahead of you. The easiest thing for you now is to practice as little as possible, keep out of training and in general have a good time. But that is not the best thing. The best thing for you to do is to keep on practicing as though a game is to be played the next night. For between now and January 8th, when you play your next game, you can either make or break a team.

I have seen too many basketball seasons and teams not to recognize this. Many times I have seen a team which did not seem to have anything before Christmas come up as a tough outfit indeed at the beginning of the year. Your team has not looked very good in early games, but a team can be built out of the material now available which can extend any of the teams you will play after the season really gets under way.

But you can't do this by taking Over the holiday period you will the easy way. Now and then it happens that there is a boy who seems born to play good basketball and he can violate a lot of rules and still play pretty well. But it never happens that five boys are this way. The only way that a team can be built is for all the boys to give all they have in willingness and determination and fight. When five or seven do this in full measure there is no limit to what they may accomplish.

Every time an individual boy decides he will cut practice one day in order to do something more enjoyable, that boy hurts the team to a certain extent. When a boy secretly breaks training, when he puffs a cigarette, thinking the coach will never know it, he is hurting the team and its chances. The coach may never know it, it is true, but failure to keep in condition will lose a game at some time, and then the boy has hurt other boys who really tried.

I have watched you boys this season and are reasonably certain you can weld together a team which can win some games. Perhaps you won't win the district championship—although that is not impossible if you will really get ready for it—but you can knock off some teams that now seem better than yours. Whether you win these games or lose them is up to you. Between now and the first week in January you will make this decision.

56-DAY PACE IS SET ON LIBERTY SHIPS

Washington. — American shipyards required an average of only fifty-six days from keel-laying to completion in delivering sixty-eight Liberty ships in November, the Maritime Commission announced today.

This was an improvement of test days as compared with October.

Liberty ships, emergency freighters of 10,500 tons deadweight, now are being constructed in one-quarter the time required last January.

West Coast shipyards continued to lead the way in building the ships. Henry J. Kaiser's Oregon Corporation delivered thirteen ships into service in an average of 37.5 days, while another Kaiser yard, Richmond No. 2, delivered ten ships in an average of 43.8 days.
