THE LISTENING POST

● This is the time of year when a fellow who writes a daily column begins to feel rather hopeless. Somehow, in looking down the long stretch of days and weeks and months which are ahead in 1943 it seems more than hopeless to be confronted with the task of writing 312 columns before another January rolls around. Naturally some critics will rise up and ask me why this should be necessary. It isn't necessary, but when a guy gets into a certain habit and kids himself into believing that this habit is a sort of duty, he likes to carry on if at all possible. I am reminded of an anecdote which appeared in the first big hit made by Booth Tarkington, and this book, I have always believed to be the best he ever wrote. The book was the "Gentleman From Indiana," and was the story of a small-town newspaperman.

● The young fellow took over the job of running a small-town newspaper in Indiana, and was making rather poor headway of the new job. The work did not interest him greatly, nor was he skilled in it to any great degree. On one occasion he went out for lunch and intended remaining away a bit longer than usual. So he placed a card in the door, reading "Back at two o'clock." When he came back at two o'clock some town wag has written underneath the notice "Why?"

● As I remember the yarn, this ironical question so fired the young man's determination that he proceeded to jump on his job with more determination and in succeeding months answered in a satisfactory manner that taunting question. So if anybody asks me "why" I must keep on at this job it may fire me with similar zeal—although I gravely doubt it. I do not have a great deal of fire and zeal and determination left in stock just now while wrestling with one of my all-out colds, coupled with the feeling mentioned at the beginning of this column: i. e., the fact that the new year stretches so far ahead, with a feeling of helplessness to keep the daily columns rolling along for 312 more issues.

● This column is now starting its sixteenth year, although it was not originally under this heading. For several years I wrote another column and this first page column was not born until about 1933. I consolidated my column and this one in 1938. I saw something in Allan Trout's column in the Courier-Journal a few days ago which quite aptly described this one, as well as some others which need not be mentioned. Said Allan: "This column is now five years old. Five years ago my boss asked me if I could write a second-class column for third-rate pay, and I thought I could. Since then I have been writing a third-grade column for second-rate pay, but the boss kindly refrains from saying anything about the matter. This column, is pretty bad most days, and on other days it is worse."

● After a column has been running a number of years the writer reaches the place where he often wonders if he is not writing the same thing he wrote one year or ten years ago. The columns have a tendency to fall into a pattern, and many of these patterns are quite similar. Many times as I finished up a column for a certain day I have had the feeling of having written the same thing at some other time. This has happened so

Japs Are Almost Cleaned Out Of Buna Area As Allied Troops Continue To Smash Fortifications

Action Is Now Limited To Sporadic Air Attacks In Districts

THREE MUSKETEERS CAUSE MOTHERS TO CONDUCT SEARCH

The Three Musketeers, otherwise Don Wright, Rice Owen and Bailey Binford, caused their respective mothers a lot of worry a few days ago and almost brought the FBI into action as all indications pointed to either a kidnapping or a mysterious disappearance. When interviewed on the subject, Don was inclined to shrug the entire matter off as a piece of adult foolishness.

The three boys, all in the neighborhood of six years of age, were going to the Owen farm on State Line and then take a hike over the farm. They were instructed to notify Mrs. Owen when they arrived there, but in some manner decided to make no report. So they just started on the hike, and after an hour or so one of the mothers telephoned to be sure they were all right. She was told nothing was known of the Musketeers; they had not been seen. Things began to happen then. The mothers started a search over the farm and the search failed to reveal the boys. They looked high and they looked low, but no boys. They disappeared.

Finally as the search centered about a huge straw stack in one of the fields the searchers thought they saw a mysterious movement in the straw and a little gentle prodding brought the sound of smothered laughter. Digging in earnest the mothers soon uncovered the Three Musketeers, and all were quite happy in putting one over on the mothers.

FORMER CHINESE ENVOYS TAKE ACADEMIC JOB

Washington — Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to the United States, has accepted appointment as research associate and consultant of the American Council of Learned Societies, it was announced last night.

The director of the council Dr. Waldo G. Leland, said Dr. Hu planned to continue his research in the history of Chinese thought, on which he was engaged before his appointment as ambassador. He is scheduled to remain in the United States at least another year.

Allied Headquarters in Australia, Tuesday. —With the Japanese pretty well cleared out of the Buna area of New Guinea, warfare in the South-West Pacific area Monday was confined largely to sporadic air attacks.

Medium bombers (B-26's) dropped 300-pound bombs on Lae air-drome, 160 miles up the coast from Buna, destroyed three grounded enemy planes, and demolished another Jap plane that had been damaged earlier. The area around the air-drome also was strafed by light attack bombers. The combined attacks started a number of fires. A B-24 heavy bomber, on a reconnaissance flight, strafed a freight-laden Japanese supply boat which was entering Finisshafen harbor. Another Allied reconnaissance unit machine gunned an enemy schooner in Jacquinot Bay on the southeast coast of New Britain.

Hit Gasmata Air-drome
Heavy bombers dropped thousand-pound bombs on Gasmata air-drome, New Britain, early Monday, inflicting considerable damage.

For the first time in weeks, the Buna area was not mentioned in daily communiques. Mopping up is in progress in that area but so far as actual warfare is concerned, the Buna area is done with.

While the Allies regrouped their troops preparatory to attacking the remaining Japanese on Sanananda Point northwest of Buna, medium bombers dropped 300-pound missiles from a low altitude upon enemy machine gun nests and started fires in that area. Light attack bombers made a dozen strafing runs along the Sanananda track.

Fifty more Japs were killed in the intermittent fighting in the Buna area. Approximately 700 Japs have been killed and many captured in that sector.

END OF MILITARY RULE OF HAWAII IMMINENT

Washington — Informed officials here said they expect President Roosevelt soon would issue a proclamation terminating Hawaii's total military government, which replaced civil authority December 7, 1941.

The officials said negotiations among the War, Navy, Justice and Interior Departments center on termination of activities to be carried on by the military under a form of martial law and those to be restored to civil authorities.

Price Curbs Saved Nation 31 Billion, Henderson Says

Washington, —Leon Henderson, retiring price administrator, claimed today saving to the public and Government of $31,000,000,000 as a result of price controls.

Henderson, who has resigned but not actually left his job yet, said in a statement which appeared to be a reply to critics:

"The question is not whether we like rationing or price control or rent control and all the related disciplines we must impose upon ourselves. The question is, will we continue to make them work?"

Confident of Future

"I believe we will. I have been confident that the majority of citizens understands these problems much better than many who do a lot more talking than the majority."

Recalling how prices rose in America in the World War, Henderson estimated that his regulations so far had saved family budgets more than $5,000,000,000 and the Government more than $25,000,000,000 on construction and munitions contracts.

"Looking at the cost of living generally, we find that it has been held within reasonable bounds up to the present, particularly when compared with the same period during the last war," he said.

Coincidentally, the Office of War Information issued an explanatory pamphlet on inflation in which it declared, "If we lose the battle of inflation we gravely handicap the war abroad and expose people at home to high prices, want and misery."

Both the pamphlet and Henderson's statement explained that the dangers of inflation in this country arises from the fact that people have more and more money to spend while the factories, which are busy with war work, are producing less and less goods which the general public can buy.

Draft Board Is Amazed When Negro Midget Signs For Draft

Tampa, Fla. —Just about everybody thought "Little Joe," who stands three feet eleven inches in the magnificence of his zoot suit and has been picking up a neat bit of change dancing in night spots, was 7 or 8 years old at most—until he registered for the draft.

The diminutive Negro startled clerks in the draft board office. "You want to change your father's address, son?" asked a clerk. "No, Ma'am, I want to register," he replied.

"To register?" gasped the clerk. "How old are you?" "Eighteen," he said. "I'm a midget."

FORMER FULTON BOY IS POLICE CHIEF

Curtis Hollingsworth, former resident of Oblon county, was recently named Chief of Police of Willits, Calif., having been appointed at a special meeting of the council last Friday. He has been a member of the Willits police force two years.

Hollingsworth is well known here and has many friends in Fulton who will be interested to learn of his promotion. He is a brother of Mrs. George Carter, Fairview avenue, and Carl Hollingsworth, Fulton, Route 6.

USE OF CELLOPHANE FURTHER REDUCED

Washington — Because the armed services need more cellophane and more of the chemicals from which cellophane is made the War Production Board today reduced further the civilian use of the transparent film.

Cellophane may no longer be used on milk bottles, candy boxes, insecticides, tea, spices, condiments, sugar, flour, unshelled nuts and may not be used as a second covering for many types of dried food already packed in paper. The tobacco and baking industries were ordered to cut their use another 10 per cent.

So Little Joe was entered in the Selective Service records as Joseph Lee Sheard.

He used to shine shoes but picked up dancing a few years ago and has been at it ever since.

Thus, he explained, he was able to support his mother and buy himself specially tailored zoot suits, besides. He also has a soldier suit, bought for him by admiring MacDill Field soldiers who took him under their wing because they liked to watch and listen to the rhythm of his feet.

When does he expect to be called into the Army? "I don't know, but I've got my uniform already."

W. F. B. BANS MAKING OF PRINTING MACHINERY

Washington. —The War Production Board today ordered that after January 30 no new printing machinery may be manufactured for anyone except armed forces operating outside the United States.

The order, which revised previous orders designed to conserve steel, copper and aluminum used in the printing industry, also prescribed regulations on the manufacture of supplies and replacement parts.

HOW TO OBTAIN EXTRA GASOLINE, GET HELD UP

Pueblo, Col. —John Smalley, an escaped convict from Colorado Penitentiary, held up Thurman Crouse and asked for a lift to Denver. Since Smalley had a gun, Crouse agreed.

It worked out satisfactorily for Crouse, though. The fugitive later was captured on Crouse's tip to Denver officers, and a Pueblo ration board member said there was a provision which would make Crouse eligible for gasoline used on his unplanned, 230-mile trip. The provision: unusual circumstances.

BRITISH TO POOL MANUFACTURE OF CIGARETTES

Hope To Effect Big Saving On This Plan

London. —Five of the largest British cigarette manufacturers have come to a voluntary agreement by which proprietary brands of cigarettes bearing the name of any one of them may now be manufactured by and other firm of the group.

The plan will economize on transport by making it possible to manufacture all the various brands in each region of distribution. It is hoped that the zoning arrangement will save about 46 per cent of all rail transport at present given up to the needs of the cigarette trade—an economy of 12,000,000 ton-miles a year.

The five firms, who between them produce over four-fifths of the British output of cigarettes, are the Imperial Tobacco Company, Carreras, Gallaghers, Godfrey Phillips and J. Wix and Sons.

A. H. Maxwell, the tobacco controller, has just paid tribute to their public spirit. It was only three weeks ago, he said, that they were asked by the Ministry of War Transport to propose a scheme on their own to effect rail transport economies, with this prompt result. At official request, they are sharing the manufacturing secrets they have guarded for years.

Barley growers in Adair county found the Ceresan treatment of seed for smut so successful that they are using it again this fall.

Washington. —Chairman George (D-Ga.), of the Senate finance committee said today he believed Congress would write into law "some adaptation of the so-called Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan," by "either writing off a year's individual income taxes or postponing one year's payments."

A bill embracing the Ruml plan was prepared by Rep. Carlson (R-Kas.), member of the House ways and means committee, for introduction Wednesday, the opening day of the new Congress.

Under the proposal by Barkley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, taxes on a previous year's income would be wiped out and payments made on the current year's taxes through weekly or monthly deductions from an individual's income. Special provisions would be made for business men and others whose incomes are not in the form of regular salary checks.

"I am not sure that my thoughts are entirely crystallized," George said. "But I am inclined to favor the plan in some modified form. Because of the tremendous burden of wartime taxes it might be necessary to postpone one year's income taxes to some post-war period, when it would be possible for the taxpayers to amortize this obligation to the government over a number of years without great inconvenience."

He did not commit himself to wiping out one year's taxes absolutely, as proposed by Ruml, saying "I have made no final decision."

Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.), of the House ways and means committee, which will be first to consider tax matters in the new Congress, favors putting income taxes on a pay-as-you-go basis but expressed opposition to wiping out one year's levies to achieve this.

The Ruml plan was proposed as a part of the huge tax bill written last year, but was discarded when the Treasury Department objected to forgetting 1942 taxes.

War Drain On U. S. Oil Is Just Getting Fully Started

Washington. —Explaining that the war effort "is only well started in its demand upon our oil supplies," a congressional committee warned the Nation today not to expect any relief from the current pinch until after the war.

The warning was based on two years of investigations by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Subcommittee, and on the assumption that the war would continue for two more years.

Heavy drains for war needs, coupled with failure to encourage the discovery and development of new oil fields, the committee said, have resulted in crude oil demands exceeding production and a decline, during the last eight months, of 60,000,000 barrels in stored supplies of crude and petroleum products. Projected demands for 1943, the committee added, are "greatly in excess of estimated production."

The committee recommended that the Government encourage increased production, that higher ceiling prices be allowed for petroleum and its products, that greater incentives be given to discovery and exploration of new sources of supply, that existing supplies be conserved through rationing, and that the public co-operate by cutting down on the use of petroleum and its products.

Cost factors and lack of facilities, the committee said, have led to abandonment of substantial underground reserves. It suggested legislation to permit producers to require "equitable compliance with a co-operative plan" for the conservation and production of oil from underground reserves.

PASTOR PREPARES INTERESTING NEW YEAR MESSAGE

"New Paths For Old--A Bargain." is the Methodist pastor's theme Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. He will say, "We are learning in grief what happens to a world that strays too far from its moral purpose. All men desire life, and a social order without morality fails to sustain life. Every screaming headline of a screaming world testifies to the fact that the lights have gone out all over the world. We flipantly sing the hit-parade favorite, 'When the Lights Come On Again All Over the World,' but the lights will never come on again by the magic of pulling some gigantic switch. To me, the most hopeful thing just now is that hundreds are beginning to see that if we can organize for global death we can organize for

LEGISLATORS IN ARMY TO GET SEPARATION

Washington, --Secretary of War Stimson said today that no Army

The department, however, will permit a man to be "honorably separated from the service to attend to his legislative duties," he added.

Stimson explained there had been a long-time policy against issuing extended furloughs for any reason except an emergency. In wartime, he said, this policy must be adhered to.

THE LISTENING POST

● This is the time of year when a fellow who writes a daily column begins to feel rather hopeless. Somehow, in looking down the long stretch of days and weeks and months which are ahead in 1943 it seems more than hopeless to be confronted with the task of writing 312 columns before another January rolls around. Naturally some critics will rise up and ask me why this should be necessary. It isn't necessary, but when a guy gets into a certain habit and kids himself into believing that this habit is a sort of duty, he likes to carry on if at all possible. I am reminded of an anecdote which appeared in the first big hit made by Booth Tarkington, and this book, I have always believed to be the best he ever wrote. The book was the "Gentleman From Indiana," and was the story of a small-town newspaperman.

● The young fellow took over the job of running a small-town newspaper in Indiana, and was making rather poor headway of the new job. The work did not interest him greatly, nor was he skilled in it to any great degree. On one occasion he went out for lunch and intended remaining away a bit longer than usual. So he placed a card in the door, reading "Back at two o'clock." When he came back at two o'clock some town wag has written underneath the notice "Why?"

● As I remember the yarn, this ironical question so fired the young man's determination that he proceeded to jump on his job with more determination and in succeeding months answered in a satisfactory manner that taunting question. So if anybody asks me "why" I must keep on at this job it may fire me with similar zeal—although I gravely doubt it. I do not have a great deal of fire and zeal and determination left in stock just now while wrestling with one of my all-out colds, coupled with the feeling mentioned at the beginning of this column: i. e., the fact that the new year stretches so far ahead, with a feeling of helplessness to keep the daily columns rolling along for 312 more issues.

● This column is now starting its sixteenth year, although it was not originally under this heading. For several years I wrote another column and this first page column was not born until about 1933. I consolidated my column and this one in 1938. I saw something in Allan Trout's column in the Courier-Journal a few days ago which quite aptly described this one, as well as some others which need not be mentioned. Said Allan: "This column is now five years old. Five years ago my boss asked me if I could write a second-class column for third-rate pay, and I thought I could. Since then I have been writing a third-grade column for second-rate pay, but the boss kindly refrains from saying anything about the matter. This column, is pretty bad most days, and on other days it is worse."

● After a column has been running a number of years the writer reaches the place where he often wonders if he is not writing the same thing he wrote one year or ten years ago. The columns have a tendency to fall into a pattern, and many of these patterns are quite similar. Many times as I finished up a column for a certain day I have had the feeling of having written the same thing at some other time. This has happened so

Action Is Now Limited To Sporadic Air Attacks In Districts

THREE MUSKETEERS CAUSE MOTHERS TO CONDUCT SEARCH

The Three Musketeers, otherwise Don Wright, Rice Owen and Bailey Binford, caused their respective mothers a lot of worry a few days ago and almost brought the FBI into action as all indications pointed to either a kidnapping or a mysterious disappearance. When interviewed on the subject, Don was inclined to shrug the entire matter off as a piece of adult foolishness.

The three boys, all in the neighborhood of six years of age, were going to the Owen farm on State Line and then take a hike over the farm. They were instructed to notify Mrs. Owen when they arrived there, but in some manner decided to make no report. So they just started on the hike, and after an hour or so one of the mothers telephoned to be sure they were all right. She was told nothing was known of the Musketeers; they had not been seen. Things began to happen then. The mothers started a search over the farm and the search failed to reveal the boys. They looked high and they looked low, but no boys. They had disappeared.

Finally as the search centered about a huge straw stack in one of the fields the searchers thought they saw a mysterious movement in the straw and a little gentle prodding brought the sound of smothered laughter. Digging in earnest the mothers soon uncovered the Three Musketeers, and all were quite happy in putting one over on the mothers.

FORMER CHINESE ENVOYS TAKE ACADEMIC JOB

Washington — Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to the United States, has accepted appointment as research associate and consultant of the American Council of Learned Societies, it was announced last night.

The director of the council Dr. Waldo G. Leland, said Dr. Hu planned to continue his research in the history of Chinese thought, on which he was engaged before his appointment as ambassador. He is scheduled to remain in the United States at least another year.

Allied Headquarters in Australia, Tuesday. —With the Japanese pretty well cleared out of the Buna area of New Guinea, warfare in the South-West Pacific area Monday was confined largely to sporadic air attacks.

Medium bombers (B-26's) dropped 300-pound bombs on Lae air-drome, 160 miles up the coast from Buna, destroyed three grounded enemy planes, and demolished another Jap plane that had been damaged earlier. The area around the air-drome also was strafed by light attack bombers. The combined attacks started a number of fires. A B-24 heavy bomber, on a reconnaissance flight, strafed a freight-laden Japanese supply boat which was entering Finschhafen harbor. Another Allied reconnaissance unit machine gunned an enemy schooner in Jacquot Bay on the southeast coast of New Britain.

Hit Gasmata Air-drome Heavy bombers dropped thousand-pound bombs on Gasmata air-drome, New Britain, early Monday, inflicting considerable damage.

For the first time in weeks, the Buna area was not mentioned in daily communiques. Mopping up is in progress in that area but so far actual warfare is concerned, the Buna area is done with.

While the Allies regrouped their troops preparatory to attacking the remaining Japanese on Sanananda Point northwest of Buna, medium bombers dropped 300-pound missiles from a low altitude upon enemy machine gun nests and started fires in that area. Light attack bombers made a dozen strafing runs along the Sanananda track.

Fifty more Japs were killed in the intermittent fighting in the Buna area. Approximately 700 Japs have been killed and many captured in that sector.

END OF MILITARY RULE OF HAWAII IMMINENT

Washington — Informed officials here said they expect President Roosevelt soon would issue a proclamation terminating Hawaii's total military government, which replaced civil authority December 7, 1941.

The officials said negotiations among the War, Navy, Justice and Interior Departments center on determination of activities to be carried on by the military under a form of martial law and those to be restored to civil authorities.

Draft Board Is Amazed When Negro Midget Signs For Draft

Tampa, Fla. —Just about everybody thought "Little Joe," who stands three feet eleven inches in the magnificence of his zoot suit and has been picking up a neat bit of change dancing in night spots, was 7 or 8 years old at most—until he registered for the draft.

The diminutive Negro startled clerks in the draft board office. "You want to change your father's address, son?" asked a clerk. "No, Ma'am, I want to register," he replied.

"To register?" gasped the clerk. "How old are you?" "Eighteen," he said. "I'm a midget."

FORMER FULTON BOY IS POLICE CHIEF

Curtis Hollingsworth, former resident of Oblon county, was recently named Chief of Police of Willits, Calif., having been appointed at a special meeting of the council last Friday. He has been a member of the Willits police force two years.

Hollingsworth is well known here and has many friends in Fulton who will be interested to learn of his promotion. He is a brother of Mrs. George Carter, Fairview avenue, and Carl Hollingsworth, Fulton, Route 6.

USE OF CELLOPHANE FURTHER REDUCED

Washington — Because the armed services need more cellophane and more of the chemicals from which cellophane is made the War Production Board today reduced further the civilian use of the transparent film.

Cellophane may no longer be used on milk bottles, candy boxes, insecticides, tea, spices, condiments, sugar, flour, unshelled nuts and may not be used as a second covering for many types of dried food already packed in paper.

The tobacco and baking industries were ordered to cut their use another 10 per cent.

So Little Joe was entered in the Selective Service records as Joseph Lee Sheard.

He used to shine shoes but picked up dancing a few years ago and has been at it ever since.

Thus, he explained, he was able to support his mother and buy himself specially tailored zoot suits, besides. He also has a soldier suit, bought for him by admiring Mac-Dill Field soldiers who took him under their wing because they liked to watch and listen to the rhythm of his feet.

When does he expect to be called into the Army? "I don't know, but I've got my uniform already."

MRS. WADE LEATH DIES IN PADUCAH AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

Well Known Fulton Woman Passes Early This Morning

Mrs. Pearl Leath, wife of J. W. Leath, Illinois Central employe in Fulton, died early this morning in the Illinois Central Hospital in Paducah after a brief illness. She was taken to Paducah Sunday following a sudden illness and death came at one o'clock this morning. Funeral arrangements are not yet complete, pending arrival of relatives.

Mrs. Leath was born in Bardwell and was married to Mr. Leath on August 12, 1912, coming to Fulton soon after that time. In addition to the husband, Mrs. Leath is survived by a son, Lieut. James Leath, now serving with the Marines overseas. Two sisters, Mrs. Dora Bush, of Corinth, Miss and Mrs. Cora Bowland of Midnight, Miss., two brothers, Oscar Leath of St. Louis and George Leath, living in Texas, also survive.

Mrs. Leath was an active member of the First Baptist church and gave liberally of her time and talents to church work. She was particularly interested in the work of missionary society of the church and her death is a blow to these many church organizations. She was a kindly neighbor and her untimely passing brings much sorrow to hundreds of friends.

W. F. B. BANS MAKING OF PRINTING MACHINERY

Washington. —The War Production Board today ordered that after January 30 no new printing machinery may be manufactured for anyone except armed forces operating outside the United States.

The order, which revised previous orders designed to conserve steel, copper and aluminum used in the printing industry, also prescribed regulations on the manufacture of supplies and replacement parts.

HOW TO OBTAIN EXTRA GASOLINE, GET HELD UP

Pueblo, Col. —John Smalley, an escaped convict from Colorado Penitentiary, held up Thurman Crouse and asked for a lift to Denver. Since Smalley had a gun, Crouse agreed.

It worked out satisfactorily for Crouse, though. The fugitive later was captured on Crouse's tip to Denver officers, and a Pueblo ration board member said there was a provision which would make Crouse eligible for gasoline used on his unplanned, 230-mile trip. The provision: unusual circumstances.

BRITISH TO POOL MANUFACTURE OF CIGARETTES

Hope To Effect Big Saving On This Plan

London. —Five of the largest British cigarette manufacturers have come to a voluntary agreement by which proprietary brands of cigarettes bearing the name of any one of them may now be manufactured by and other firm of the group.

The plan will economize on transport by making it possible to manufacture all the various brands in each region of distribution. It is hoped that the zoning arrangement will save about 46 per cent. of all rail transport at present given up to the needs of the cigarette trade—an economy of 12,000,000 ton-miles a year.

The five firms, who between them produce over four-fifth of the British output of cigarettes, are the Imperial Tobacco Company, Carreras, Gallaghers, Godfrey Phillips and J. Wix and Sons.

A. H. Maxwell, the tobacco controller, has just paid tribute to their public spirit. It was only three weeks ago, he said, that they were asked by the Ministry of War Transport to propose a scheme on their own to effect rail transport economies, with this prompt result. At official request, they are sharing the manufacturing secrets they have guarded for years.

Barley growers in Adair county found the Ceresan treatment of seed for smut so successful that they are using it again this fall.

War Drain On U. S. Oil Is Just Getting Fully Started

Washington. —Explaining that the war effort "is only well started in its demand upon our oil supplies," a congressional committee warned the Nation today not to expect any relief from the current pinch until after the war.

The warning was based on two years of investigations by the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Subcommittee, and on the assumption that the war would continue for two more years.

Heavy drains for war needs, coupled with failure to encourage the discovery and development of new oil fields, the committee said, have resulted in crude oil demands, exceeding production and a decline, during the last eight months, of 60,000,000 barrels in stored supplies of crude and petroleum products. Projected demands for 1943, the committee added, are "greatly in excess of estimated production."

The committee recommended

Washington. —Chairman George (D-Ga.), of the Senate finance committee said today he believed Congress would write into law "some adaptation of the so-called Ruml pay-as-you-go tax plan," by "either writing off a year's individual income taxes or postponing one year's payments."

A bill embracing the Ruml plan was prepared by Rep. Carlson (R-Kas.), member of the House ways and means committee, for introduction Wednesday, the opening day of the new Congress.

Under the proposal by Barkley Ruml, chairman of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, taxes on a previous year's income would be wiped out and payments made on the current year's taxes through weekly or monthly deductions from an individual's income. Special provisions would be made for business men and others whose incomes are not in the form of regular salary checks.

"I am not sure that my thoughts are entirely crystallized," George said. "But I am inclined to favor the plan in some modified form. Because of the tremendous burden of wartime taxes it might be necessary to postpone one year's income taxes to some post-war period, when it would be possible for the taxpayers to amortize this obligation to the government over a number of years without great inconvenience."

He did not commit himself to wiping out one year's taxes absolutely, as proposed by Ruml, saying "I have made no final decision." Chairman Doughton (D-N. C.), of the House ways and means committee, which will be first to consider tax matters in the new Congress, favors putting income taxes on a pay-as-you-go basis but expressed opposition to wiping out of one year's levies to achieve this.

The Ruml plan was proposed as a part of the huge tax bill written last year, but was discarded when the Treasury Department objected to forgetting 1942 taxes.

that the Government encourage increased production, that higher ceiling prices be allowed for petroleum and its products, that greater incentives be given to discovery and exploration of new sources of supply, that existing supplies be conserved through rationing, and that the public co-operate by cutting down on the use of petroleum and its products.

Cost factors and lack of facilities, the committee said, have led to abandonment of substantial underground reserves. It suggested legislation to permit producers to require "equitable compliance with a co-operative plan" for the conservation and production of oil from underground reserves.

WOMEN WHO CAN SHOOT

You may think you've seen everything--women in the Army, the Navy, the Coast Guard, the Ferry Service.

But unless you've seen the women at the Navy's lighter-air base at South Weymouth, Massachusetts, you haven't. Hang on to your hats.

There are twenty-five women at this base manning machine guns, riot guns and anti-aircraft weapons. They're on guard duty, replacing civilian guards and United States Marines.

They've been trained to man ack-ack and machine guns, and can fire riot guns accurately from the hip. They've been found as efficient as men in patrolling outposts and guarding the gates, and seem to weather the cold better than their predecessors.

This is no ordinary assignment.
These women have been entrusted with a grave responsibility. They have been given a task which requires physical stamina and considerable courage, and one that might some day involve actual combat duty.

In England, women have proved themselves equal to such duty. They have seen action in the anti-aircraft units, have kept their heads in the thick of an air raid.

Compared to the hardships and danger faced by our men under arms, these behind-the-lines posts of women may not seem remarkable. The women themselves would be the last to argue that. Yet all this does indicate an increased confidence in the capabilities of women in war service, and there is daily evidence that they are proving themselves worthy of that trust. --Exchange.

RAILROADS DO THE JOB

Most advertising is designed to give information for the purpose of selling something. But in the category of interesting advertising without a sales angle is the series of newspaper advertisements currently sponsored by the nation's railroads.

The railroads do not need to advertise to get business--they're busier than they have ever been.
The purpose of their advertising series is to acquaint the people with what the railroads are doing for the national war effort and to bespeak public cooperation in meeting the unprecedented demand for transportation.

The story American railroads have to tell is one of tremendous achievement. More than a million trained railroadmen are busy night and day keeping 33,000 trains run-

Every day the railroads move 25-000,000 tons of freight. Since Pearl

This war is essentially a war of this feeling of helplessness will pass,

TWO CAGE SQUADS BACK IN ACTION THIS WEEK END

Basketball begins again this week-end after a Christmas lapse for the two local teams. Friday night the South Fulton Red Devils entertain the Martin Panthers on the local floor, while on the same night the Fulton Bulldogs travel to Clinton to face the powerful Reds.
Clinton has lost only one game and the Bulldogs must show more power than they have yet exhibited to really get into the ball game.
South Fulton, unbeaten in the preholiday games, is likely to face strong opposition too, for Martin whaled Union City by ten or twelve points some time ago, while the best the Reds did was to win by one point. In this game girls will also play. Martin having a crack girls' outfit.

The South Fulton team has the following schedule yet to play:
Jan. 8--Martin here.
Jan. 15--Union City here.
Jan. 19--Fulton here.
Jan. 22--Greenfield there.
Jan. 29--Rives here.
Feb. 5--Martin there.

Memphis, Tenn., -- Japanese
evacuees at the Jerome Relocation

Memphis newspaper, reported to-Careless and deliberate waste of he would begin an investigation of

MAYFIELD YOUTH IS SHOT IN ATTEMPTED THEFT. IT IS SAID

Mayfield, Ky. — A Mayfield high school student, Edward Turner, 17, was shot in the right shoulder and three other teen-age youths were arrested when they attempted to break into a cafe operated by F. L. Fuller near the Mayfield high school gymnasium last night, according to Judge W. H. Crowder, Jr. Turner was shot by the cafe keeper who surprised the youths before they could open the door according to officials.

Those taken into custody besides Turner were Reginald Rick and Usher Bruce, also high school students, and another boy named James L. Pritchard, Judge Crowder said.

The three arrested youths were acting as look-outs for Turner while he jammed his shoulder against the cafe door in attempt to break in, according to Judge Crowder.

Turner was taken to Mayfield hospital, where he will recover, physicians said.

The youths, lodged in the county jail, told Judge Crowder they had plotted robbery of the cafe when a man offered them a dollar a carton for all cigarettes taken, the judge said.

CRATED SUB ON DRYDOCK FLOATS DOWN MISSISSIPPI

St. Louis — The $7,500,000 submarine Peto in its floating drydock, looking for all the world like a crated whale docked here today to begin one of the strangest trips ever to be made down the Mississippi river.

The Peto and its crew of 15, hailing from Manitowoc, Wis., where the craft was built, leaves today or tomorrow for the two-day trip to Memphis, Tenn., which will be the first stop on the way to the Gulf of Mexico.

The ship has been en route from Chicago since Dec. 26, but has been tied up at Morris, Ill., for six days because the Illinois river was so high that the smokestack on an escorting Coast Guard tug would not clear a bridge.

Lieut. Commander William T. Nelson heads the crew of 15 in the sleek, heavily armored craft. Besides the tug, which tows it, a Coast Guard cutter with an ice prow led the procession from Chicago. The ice prow wasn't needed, but probably will be used as far south as Memphis in the event of cold weather which might jam the river.

JAPANESE WORKING AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Albuquerque, N. M. —United States prisoners of the Japanese in the Philippines have been put to work, a letter written to an Albuquerque woman from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters in Australia revealed.

The letter, in reply to a request by Mrs. M. L. Bradley of Albuquerque for information about her son, said prisoners have been divided into small groups and are working on the islands.

Mrs. Bradley's son, Lieut. Jack W. Bradley, is one of many New Mexico men who was in the Philippines with the 200th anti-aircraft when the islands fell.

Lieut. Col. Charles H. Morehouse, aide to General MacArthur who wrote the letter, said, "It is my personal belief that all young and healthy men will survive their imprisonment."

WITH THE LOCAL U. S. O.

Our U. S. O. has gained the proportion of quite an organization. We now have a personnel of 100 people (including 98 hostesses—14 of whom serve each day).

The service men seem to appreciate what we are trying to do for them in having a comfortable place where they can read, write or just relax. Sandwiches are made by a different group each day. Coffee and sugar have been donated by our generous public.

Harold Thomas, manager of the Fulton theatre, ran a slide all during Christmas week for the benefit of our local U. S. O. Unfortunately the contributions from the U. S. O. drive last summer mostly went to the national organization for the privilege of opening a center here. Now that we are organized all further donations will be used to pay operating expenses here.

We are grateful for many gifts during the holidays. Our people have been most cooperative. Our most important needs at present are a nickelodeon, stationery and continued donations of coffee and sugar.

We wish to thank our druggists for responding to the demand for medicine for our service men who have had severe colds.

PROSPEROUS
NEW YEAR

We appreciate our friends and the many favors they have done for us in past years. We hope to merit their confidence in future years.

HOARDS' FOOD SUPPLY

Production Peaks, Dips Force
Precedure

Washington. —There's such a thing as patriotic hoarding—but only Uncle Sam can do it.

While asking citizens to limit food purchases to day-to-day needs, Mr. Whiskers, himself finds that he must engage in hoarding practices to assure ample supplies of food for military and lend-lease requirements.

Food authorities explained today that Government purchases of foods may from time to time be greatly in excess of current requirements. To handle the extra supplies, the Army, Navy and the Agriculture Department have rented extensive warehousing and refrigerating facilities.

Called "Stockpiling"

The practice of acquiring supplies in excess of current needs, referred to in official quarters as "stockpiling," is made necessary largely by the nature of food production. In very few items is the rate of production constant. For most products there are seasons of high production and seasons of low production.

Thus, to be sure of supplies, the Government must buy heavily in the seasons of peak production, or else it might be short in the seasons of low production.

Take pork production, for example. In the months of December, January and February hog slaughter is heaviest. Government purchasers of pork and lard during these months will be considerably greater than requirements during the period. The excess purchases will be stored for use next summer when pork production drops to its seasonally low level.

LEND-LEASE

RUCKUS IS DUE

But Congress Is Expected To Renew Authority

Washington. —An expected request for renewal of Lend-Lease authority which expires next June 30 may provoke controversy in the new Congress over both expenditures and disbursements made in the huge program to aid American allies.

Criticism of some aspects of the gigantic undertaking has come from bi-partisan sources and Senators Taft (R., Ohio) and Nye (R., N. D.), said they believed Congress ought to investigate all complaints thoroughly before it acts to renew the broad powers now vested in the President.

Prices Are Factor

Some legislators have charged that purchasing programs by which American products are obtained for distribution abroad have placed unnecessary strain on price controls and Senator Ellender (D., La.), called recently for a "full disclosure" by the Treasury of its arrangements with the British covering proceeds from the sale in Great Britain of civilian Lend-Lease goods.

Ellender said Congress ought to be told just how the British Food Ministry, for instance, arranged for sale of the lend-lease goods through ordinary trade channels and where the funds from such sales went.

In his last report to Congress, President Roosevelt said value of goods transferred and services rendered up to November 30 was $7,496,000,000 since the program went into effect in March, 1941.

Pace Much Accelerated

However, spending was accelerated during the final quarter to $2,387,000,000, or at the rate of about $10,000,000 annually.

LITTER OF PIGS

WEIGHS TWO TONS

A litter of pigs weighing over two tons when six months old is a record established by Ben Schneider of Crittenden, Grant county, Kentucky. The sow had 22 pigs, 18 of which lived and weighed 195 to 295 pounds when a half-year old. The total weight was 4,115 pounds.

The four-year old sow has had five litters totaling 86 pigs, 66 of which have been raised to market weight. County Agent Robert Hume says Mr. Schneider has reason to be proud of his record, especially of the litter raised this year. The ration of this year's two-ton litter included shelled corn, middlings, ground wheat and tankage, with pasture. The profit was put at $240.

BRITISH SET UP PLAN TO AVOID BANKRUPTCY

Special Measure Is Passed For Duration Of War

London. —Small business men and private individuals in the United Kingdom do not have to go bankrupt as a result of financial difficulties caused by the war.

The Government has set up machinery to avoid this recourse that is simple, inexpensive and free from publicity.

Under the Liabilities (War-Time Adjustment) Act of 1941, a liabilities assistance officer has been appointed in every city.

Works Out Plans

In the words of the act, "Any person who is in serious financial difficulties owing to war circumstances" may apply "for advice and assistance in enabling him to arrive at an equitable and reasonable scheme of arrangement with his creditors and, in particular, at such a scheme of arrangement as will enable him if he carries on a business, or carry on a business, to preserve that business or to recover it when circumstances permit."

The L. A. O. works out plans and readjustments for the repayments of principal, installments, rents and other liabilities, spreading them over larger periods—always providing that the debtor business is essentially sound and has a real reason to hope for continuation or resumption after the war.

THE YOUNG RICH MAN

The sermon last evening by Rev. Rutherford at the Nazarene church was taken from the incident of the young man who came running, kneeled to Jesus and asked, "what shall I do to inherit eternal life?" He told Jesus he had kept all the commandments from his youth. Jesus answered, that he only lacked one thing. That one thing lacking, he went away sad and there is no record of the young man ever being saved. Emphasis was placed on the fact to be just what Jesus demands, there must be no reservations. Unless we give our all to him we are not acceptable. Today there are thousands choosing to go to hell rather than to give up some little worthless habit or routine of life commonly designated, no harm. Jesus will not accept a divided heart. There is no middle ground. At the close of the sermon two came to the altar and accepted Jesus completely, in His way. Remember the revival continues throughout the entire week each evening 7:30.

CHANGES IN SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Increases in the cost of production make it necessary that we make some changes in subscription rates and these will become effective on—

SATURDAY, JAN. 9, 1943

"The price of $4.00 per year will remain unchanged for the present.

Subscriptions for three months will be $1.25 instead of $1.00 as been the case.

Weekly rate will be 13 cents per week instead of 10 cents per week as has been the case.

The rate for mail subscriptions will remain $3.00 per year in Fulton and adjoining counties. If in any other area the price is $4.00 per year.

We ask that all subscribers take notice of these changes, particularly those who have been paying the carrier boys 10 cents per week. When these boys collect on Saturday, January 9, they will collect 13 cents instead of ten cents.

Any person who wishes to pay in advance will be allowed to do so prior to the date set. This applies mostly to those who have been paying one dollar for three months. After January 9 this price will be $1.25.

"Thanks for being Patient!"

"Seems like everybody wants their clothes Sanitoned these days.

"Our plant is handling more work than ever. But, like everyone else, we've lost men to the Services, and others are working in war plants.

"So those of us who are left are working pretty hard.

"Then there's tires and gas. Uncle Sam has given us strict rules about when and how much we can use our trucks. That means fewer trips.

"However, we're still doing the same fine Sanitone cleaning we always did. And we appreciate your being so patient now that we can't give quite as fast service.
