NUMBER THIRTY-NINE

YMBC DINNER MEETING HELD IN RAINBOW ROOM TUESDAY EVENING

Club To Canvass County
Sunday, Oct. 18 To Locate Scrap

The Young Men's Business Club met its regular dinner meeting at the Rainbow Room on Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock, with Robert Burrow presiding.

During the business session, many of the Club's current projects were reported upon and discussed. The most important project to be discussed was the Scrap Drive. It was reported that about 30 tons of scrap have been collected to date, but that drive has just begun. Plans were made to contact all the surrounding farms and communities in order to locate scrap that has not been reported. This drive will be made Sunday October 18th, and will begin at 1 o'clock at the Gulf Station at Carr and East St. Line. Everyone is urged to give this drive his most active support. All the scrap that is located on this drive will be collected on the following Sunday, October 25th. Everyone having a truck which may be used in this effort please report to Len Ashew for instructions. The territory to be covered has been mapped out and each truck will be assigned a route on which to collect. Everyone is urged to contribute his support in order to make this most important project a huge success.

N. L. Parker reported that the U. S. O. Center, at the Legion Casino, is rapidly nearing completion and the sponsors hope to have the formal opening Monday Oct. 19th. The exact time will be published later, and a large number of people are expected to attend.

The Club is making every effort to bring the names on the Lake St. Service Sign up to date, and any family in the Fulton Community, which hasn't reported the names of its members, who are in the Armed Services, is asked to do so as soon as possible.

The semi-annual awarded, for outstanding service to the Club and community, was presented to William Holloway. Mr. Holloway has served on various committees for the Club, and has been active in civic affairs. He has contributed much to the success of the Lake St. Service Sign. Mr. Holloway is to be congratulated upon receiving this award.

The meeting was attended by 38 members and all lent their enthusiastic support to the Clubs discussion and plans for successful completion of current projects.

FORMER 4-H MEMBER GIVEN MEDAL FOR HEROISM

A United States airman, who is also a former Tennessee 4-H Club boy, rode a Japanese bicycle to get back into action after he had lost his plane and was honored by General MacArthur for heroism in air combat. He is Second Lieut. Frank E. Adkins of Clarksville, Tennessee, one of the three United States Army Air Force officers awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism in action.

Lieutenant Adkins' plane was shot down March 1 over Java when he and others of his squadron were attacking enemy landing barges. His plane struck the water but he regained control and continued his attack until the plane caught fire. Then he headed for land and parachuted safely to earth within sight of hostile ground forces.

Commandeering a bicycle and its Japanese rider, he rode the handlebars while the Japanese pedaled. But that proved to be too slow so the officer took over the bicycle and pedaled himself back to his base.

Lieutenant Adkins, was formerly president of the Sunnyview 4-H Club in Montgomery County and a member for four years, according to G. C. Wright, special district agent for the U-T Agricultural Extension Service.

FULTON CITY SCHOOLS TO OPEN LATER BEGINNING OCT. 19

Supt. J. O. Lewis Makes
Announcement This Week

Supt. J. O. Lewis announced this that the Fulton City schools, effective Monday, October 19, would open the morning sessions fifty minutes later, opening at 8:40 and would end the day's work at 2:50, the regular time. This change is being made because of the fact that war time brings children to school before full daylight during the next few months, and it was deemed best by school officials to correct this.

The high school and junior high will not stay in session and longer but the elementary school will stay in session longer, with a classes ending at 2:15 in the afternoon.

THE EDITOR'S NOTEBOOK

THE SCRAP IS HERE

If you haven't been by the I. C. Park on Lake Street and seen the tons of scrap that have been brought in this week by the scrap drive committees, you have missed a wonderful sight. This just goes to prove that what we have been writing in this column has been true. There are tons upon tons of old scrap lying around the countryside, unused, unwanted. All this can be made into shells and guns that will, pray God, soon blow the Rising Sun back into oblivion.

Even though there have been tons of scrap metal brought in, we have only just begun. There is still more scattered around the countryside, and we know that it will be brought in and dumped here with the other. Our nation is depending on YOU.

SENSE AND NONSENSE

Don't live in hope with arms folded. Fortune smiles on those who roll up their sleeves and put their shoulders to the wheel.

What are the two things on earth for which a man is never prepared? Death Taxes? No, twins

Nietzsche, a German philosopher, once said, "Insanity in individuals is something rare—but in groups, parties, nations, and epochs, it is the rule."

A good way to keep the kids out of the cookie jar is to lock it up in the pantry and hide the key under the soap in the bath room.

You might as well ask for a divorce as ask your wife to cut down on the money she spends at the hairdresser.

SOUTH FULTON TEACHER RESIGNS

Miss Bess McNamee, commercial teacher at South Fulton High School, has resigned that position and has accepted to teach at Ridgely High School.

She is succeeded at South Fulton by Dorothy Holman.

CIVIL SERVICE POSITIONS

Mr. Mitchell Burns U. S. Civil Service Representative will be in Martin, Tenn. Saturday Oct. 17th, 1942 to interview applicants for Federal Positions.

At the present time there is an urgent call for Classified Laborers at Pearl Harbor. These men will be paid 70 cents an hour to start, and all transportation expenses will be paid by the Government.

Also needed are electricians and machinists. Other types of positions are available and applicants should see Mr. Burns at the Martin, Tenn. postoffice on this date.

Mrs. J. C. Hancock and children, Louise and Jimmy, have returned from Indianapolis, Ind., where they visited their husband and father Capt. J. C. Hancock, who is in the medical corps.

Mrs. Frank Hall and Mrs. H. D. Calton of Martin, Tenn., were week end guests of Mrs. Richard McNeely.

Mrs. T. H. Irby, Mrs. H. H. Pierce and Toke Perce spent Wednesday in Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Chapman Jennings of St. Louis, Mo., has returned to her home after spending a few days with Mrs. Thomas Chapman.

Mrs. Wrenn Coulter left for her home in Centralia, Ill., Wednesday after visiting relatives here.

James Robert McClain returned to Detroit, Mich., Sunday morning after spending a few days with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert McClain and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. Felix Branch, Mrs. Harry Drewry, Mrs. James Warren and Miss Doris Branch spent Monday in Paducah, Ky.

A pamphlet called "Post-War Planning" has been issued by the National Resources Planning Board in Washington. It tells us that when the time comes for the demobilization of war industry that our total war effort will loom much larger in the national economy than it did in 1918. The men and machines making tanks and jeeps and bombs are going to be almost as "out of a job" as the soldiers and sailors when victory comes. The future of our men in military and civilian positions will present many of the same problems, and their sudden dismissal, in the effect on the labor market and on the volume of consumer-purchasing power, will unquestionably aggravate the dangers to our national economy.

Post-war planning is described as a task of governments, and the opportunity and the responsibility of private enterprise. How to shift from the war expenditure of some 70 billions dollars to a peace economy without upsetting the national recovery is a job that will require the joint cooperative efforts of industry and government, of labor and of agriculture. An official statement observes: "It cannot be too strongly stated, or too often, that government alone can no more win the peace than it can win the war alone."

Inquiries and reports from business groups indicate wide study of the problems which industries will face at the close of the war. For some industries the road to be taken will undoubtedly be a return to just what they were doing before conversion to war products. There will be a tremendous number of private cars after the war—and radios—and washing machines, and any number of articles which are a part of the American way of living. There will be improvements, no doubt, and new models—as we were not at the end of the motor age or the electrical age when the war started.

The pamphlet discusses the field of postwar public works, urban conservation and development, rural works and land use, water resources and industrial development, transportation, labor policies, services and other related subjects.

WHAT ABOUT GOVERNMENT MAN POWER?

The nation's shortage of faulty distribution of man power, more than any other one thing has made it difficult for industry to attain what President Roosevelt has described as but little more than 50 per cent of the maximum possible war production and that its maximum capacity could be reached "only by stripping our civilian economy to the bone."

How to find the necessary man power to reach our maximum war production capacity is the nation's most troublesome question. Many ways have been tried to solve this problem such as freezing jobs, hiring women, training new workers and scores of others. One fruitful field of man power has been overlooked—the federal government payroll.

At the end of the eighth month of World War II it has over 2,300,000 civil servants, as compared with the 917,000 federal government employees at the end of World War I. Today's list is growing by the thousands every day. Many of these men & women could help the war effort more by filling war jobs in the factories or the farms than they possibly can in the government jobs they fill. This applies particularly to the thousands of new public servants, now in the process of being hired by three separate government departments to re-negotiate

The services of these men will not be needed if the government sets up the right machinery for recapturing excess war profits. They will not be needed, if the law is amended, because then the Internal Revenue Bureau's trained staff could do the job quicker, better, at far less cost and with infinitely less confusion than could the new bureaucrats. In the second place their information demands of industry, under the provisions of public law No. 528 which created their jobs, will force industry to hire an estimated 300,000 additional men to apply this information.

None of this waste, expense and confusion will be necessary if this law is amended to provide a percentage limit on sales after taxes, instead of before taxes as it now does, because the Treasury Department's regulations and procedures will be applied by its present staff.

Unamended, this law will siphon an estimated half million men and women out of war production work and put them at work which inevitably will hinder the war effort. This seems foolish and it is foolish. The only reason it could happen, is happening, is that the millions of fathers, and mothers, sons, sisters, yelled their heads off at the government in out-raged protest over its own waste of the nation's man power, which is our most precious war asset, our most limited raw material that cannot be replaced quickly.

These 500,000 more or less men and women who may be siphoned off from production can be kept on their productive job of collecting excess war profits, after taxes, is given to the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

By Ruth Taylor

As the fortunes of war wax and wane all over the globe, there is one battlefield that is under constant fire. Our minds are always in the front line of attack. The poison gas of conflicting, disruptive rumors are daily let loose over our heads. Enemy sappers are constantly attempting to tunnel through from all directions to undermine our courage and staying power. Our morale is under an enfilade from all angles.

Of course when we stop to analyze what we hear we can usually recognize divisive propaganda. We know from whence stem the stories that tend to make us distrust our leaders and criticize the policies of our government. That tend to make us look upon our fellow citizens as greedy, avaricious men, intent only on their own profit—(be they workers, farmers, or industrialists). That tend to make us assume our neighbors have alien sympathies or ulterior motives depending upon how pronounced their participation in the war effort seems to be.

We can recognize these things as enemy propaganda when we stop to think. Unfortunately there are occasions (and they will be more frequent as the war continues) when we are so tired and disturbed by the press of things, that we won't take time to analyze what we hear—when we will listen with our ears and not with our minds, and when the constant repetition of divisive charges, of slurring remarks, of accusations, of half-truths will find us believing in spite of ourselves. If that happens to enough of us at the same time—it will mean a dangerous break in the line of public morale.

There is one sure way in which we can successfully fight this danger—that is by administering the truth consistently and constantly. We must go directly to the point. We must face each charge as it is made and earn what are the facts. This is only way in which we can quench fear—because we will be quenching half lies in favor of the truth.

We must guard our speech. Let every thought of divisiveness end with us. Let us have no defeatism, even in talk at home. We must be our own "Rumor Clinic," searching out the "why" of every statement.

We as a nation cannot govern ourselves by deceptions and frauds—we must know the truth—and if we know we are hearing the whole truth we can take it—because we can believe what we are told—not fear something worse. Only the truth can make men free from fear.

FARMERS CONSERVE TIME AND LABOR

Kentucky farmers are learning tricks to save time and labor, during this critical period of manpower shortage, according to the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

One man found that he could fill his 32-foot tobacco barn with one extra hand and a device quickly made on the farm. He nailed three light boards together to make a triangle, then fastened two 10-inch long pegs to two corners. To the third corner he tied a 65-foot hay rope, running it over a pulley fastened to a board across the top tier. From five to seven sticks of tobacco were placed on the device by the man in the wagon who elevated the tobacco to the man in the top of the barn.

Another farmer will save time and labor by shucking his shocked corn into tobacco baskets which hold two and one-half to three bushels. Bang boards on a wagon box will permit another farmer to husk from shock to wagon.

A 12-foot hay frame made a self-feeder for feeding ear corn frappe with the ends boxed in with to the hogs on another farm. The scrap lumber, was fastened at an angle to the side of a building. The lower edge of the frame was 6 inches from the feeding platform and 2 feet from the building.

A measure spreader, loaded with ear corn, provided a quick way for a farmer to spread ears on sod land for his hogs.

SUGAR AND COFFEE

THE SELF-SUFFICIENT NEIGHBORHOOD

It is hard to convince children in our age or rapid transit how self sufficient the old-time neighborhood could be. Even the delicacies have found their way into remote places. Baker's bread is no longer a novelty; ice cream can be bought at remote country stores. I doubt whether many pairs of cottonade or jeans pants have been made in the state within the last year. And just imagine having to depend on the home for the manufacture of carpets, blankets, soap, and many another staple article!

When Gilbertsville Dam is completed and the great Kentucky lake covers hundreds of acres in Kentucky and Tennessee, one of the landmarks to disappear beneath the waters will be Brandon's Mill, built in the eighteen-twenties, just after the Purchase became a real part of the state of Kentucky. That old mill in its palmy days, a little before my time, did just about everything that a water mill could do: it sawed lumber, it ground corn into meal or grits, it ginned cotton, it made flour. Blood River, on which it was located, was and is a small stream but perpetual. Its waters were sufficient to furnish power for all these things, when other sources of supplies were far away. Before I could remember, the cotton gin and the flour mill ceased to operate, but the old machinery was there for us to wonder at when we took our turns of corn to be ground on Saturdays, when the sawmill ceased for the day and all the power was used on the other side of the river. This is only one of the institutions that made Fidelity neighborhood self-sufficient.

KENTUCKY COWS HIGH PRODUCERS

Dairy herd improvement association reports received at the Kentucky College of Agriculture show that there are many high producing cows in the state. In two associations, 69 cows have records of 400 pounds or more of butterfat in 305 days.

Berea College has 29 cows with some over the 400-pound mark, herd produced 715 pounds of butterfat in 305 days, and 14 cows produced over 500 pounds each, 400-pound records. One cow in this Eastern State Teachers College at Richmond has six cows that have Spindletop Farms in Fayette county has seven with records of 403 to 390 pounds in 305 days.

Farmers owning cows with records of 400 pounds or more include E. P. Eastin, Lexington; W. F. McMurry, Paducah; E. F. Warren, Hickory; and H. M. Holloway, L. L. Thompson, Dr. J. C. Melvin, S. S. Andrus and R. W. Maddox of Mayfield.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK
By DR. BOB JONES, JR.
PRESIDENT OF BOB JONES COLLEGE

We sometimes as we study the life of the Saviour overlook the sorrows which His friends must have caused Him. The disciples were so slow to understand the truths He sought to teach them. They were greedy for preferment and place. They were such poor representatives of His perfection and love. They protested so much and did so little. In the hour of His betrayal and suffering they forsake Him or followed afar off.

One of the saddest examples of the disciples' lack of sympathy and understanding of the Saviour is recorded in the tenth chapter of Mark (vs. 32-45). There we are told, "He took again the twelve, and began to tell them what things should happen unto Him." He wanted them to understand that in Jerusalem, to which they were now going, He would be delivered unto His enemies, condemned to death, crucified. Just as Christ finished describing the anguish and sorrow which lay ahead of Him, James and John spoke up asking for the positions of highest importance and greatest glory in His kingdom. Those two disciples had their minds so occupied with their own greedy ambitions that they seem not to have heard at all the words of the Lord. In the very moment when He was describing the suffering which He must endure they were asking for honor and glory. With this attitude of heart and with minds so preoccupied, it is no wonder that the disciples failed to understand the truths Christ spoke concerning Himself and His redemptive work. It is no wonder that the death of Christ on the cross left them feeling that everything was at an end. It is no wonder that the resurrection seemed to take them by surprise. They listened so half-heartedly, so absent-mindedly to the Words of the Saviour as He showed them the suffering and the cross and the open tomb which lay ahead. Their minds were on the kingdom and power for themselves. Their selfish dreams and ambitions shut from their consciousness the necessity of the cross. Even Peter, who seems at least to have listened when the Lord foretold His death, cried out, "Be it far from Thee, Lord" (Matthew 16:22). The disciples had not learned the lesson that suffering must come before glory and that through the low gateway of anguish and death leads the path to a throne.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Encourage members of your family to eat a hearty breakfast, for it gives them starting power for the days work, or play.

Workers in industry, women who keep the home fires burning and school children, all need a hearty breakfast. Fruit juice or fruit, a hot whole grain cereal and some enriched bread, or an egg dish, meat or combination eggs and milk, all can be used.

Coffee is almost always one of the most important features of the breakfast of American men and women. With the shipping shortage we all must learn to ration ourselves. The first step in rationing is non-wasting.

It is better to buy coffee fresh by the pound as you need it, as you would other perishables. Measure both coffee and water carefully. Don't guess.

Use only fresh, cold water and bring to a galloping boil. Make only as much coffee at a time as is needed. If any coffee is left over, place in covered jars and store in refrigerator. Use for flavoring desserts. Keep coffee-maker and all parts of equipment very clean.

WOMEN AND WAR

Strange as it may seem many of the official statements from the government indicate that the mobilizing of women for war is full of strange problems and difficulties immersed in fogs of confusion.

The aircraft industry is training thousands of women and placing them in positions where they have proved that they have plenty of individual initiative and competent understanding of their jobs.

The country mobilized women to drive motor vehicles 25 years ago; and today the majority of women know how to operate passenger cars, and heavier motor vehicles.

The War Manpower Commission estimates that 4,400,000 women will be employed in the war industry by the end of this year. Mr. McNutt seems to take it for granted that the war will not be over by the end of 1943, and he predicts that about 6 million women will be in war industries by that time. Chairman McNutt expresses confidence that women can do as good a job as men.

The proportion of women in clerical and office positions in Washington is likely about two to every man; and no one will be unfair enough to say that they aren't as well qualified as men as for the duties in the Department of Government.

In the manufacturing industries women are already employed fabricating and forming sheet metal, operating machines in shops; doing detailed and precision assembly in electrical radio, instrument, tubing and cubic plants; building up controlled surfaces for wings, fuselage, assembly and welding; and working with plywood, fabrics and soundproofing.

Right here in the National Capital young women are carrying most of the burden as messengers for the telegraph and other companies. And they are in every branch of the Red Cross, and civilian defense

Over 24,000 Tennessee boys and girls raised approximately a million chicks in 4H projects this year. This was the largest 4H Poultry Club enrollment in the history of the State.

A Violent Indisposition

By IRVIN S. COBB

A COLORED man, on appearing for work one morning wore a countenance so battered that almost one might have been pardoned for assuming that its owner had made a more or less successful effort to run it through a meat chopper. The white man for whom the man was employed, and who had been looking at that disfigured face, threw up both hands in horror and sympathy.

"Great heavens, boy," he cried, "what have you been doing to yourself?"

"Me? I ain't been doin' nothin' to myself," explained the darky. "But somethin' is done been did to me, Mr. Watkins. It's lak dis, sub: Yistiddy evenin' I got into a kind of an argymint wid another nigger an' one word led to another, ez it wid. An' purty soon I up an' hauled off an' hit at him wid my fist."

"Well, seemed lak that irritated him. So he took an' split my lip wide open wid a pair of brass knucks, an' he blacked dis eye of mine clear down to my armpit an' he tore one ear mighty nigh loose from de side of my haid, an' den, to cap all, he knocked me down and stomped up an' down 'pon my stomach wid his feet. Honest to Gawd, Mr. Watkins, I never did get so sick of a nigger in all my life!"

U. K. ENROLLMENT REACHES 2,756; 491 LESS THAN 1941 FALL TERM

A drop in enrollment that totaled 491 fewer students than registered for the fall term of the 1941 school year, was recorded when regular registration period for the fall quarter of the 1942 school year at University of Kentucky closed Wednesday, Sept. 30. The final registration figure for the current quarter was 2,756.

Selective service, volunteer enlistment and war work were listed by University officials as vital reasons for the loss in enrollment, which, however, was not as great as might be expected under existing conditions. Students from 112 from Kentucky's 120 counties are represented in the group enrolled, with 39 of the 48 states besides Kentucky and eight foreign countries represented.

Among those from Fulton County are: Anna Mary De Myer Felix M. M. Gossam, Virginia Ann Mill, Milton Neel Crawford, Mary Laverne Burnette, Myrtle P. Binkley, Glyn Dean Bard, Athlyn Edward Williamson, Treva Whayne, Mary Norma Weatherspoon, William Glenn McAlister, James O. Lewis, Ellen Jane Purcell, Mary Neal Jones, Layne Emerson, all of Fulton; John C. Bondurant, Hickman; and Shely Clay Davis of Murray.

The Telephone is VITAL to the Communication Needs of this War Busy Nation

"You FIRST...Uncle Sam!"

This is the kind of spirit we all must show if we are to keep vital long distance telephone lines clear for urgent war calls. Never before have long distance lines been so busy and played so vital a role in our nation's history.

But war calls are not the only calls. Calls by civilians and non-war businesses—calls that are not always necessary—are also increasing. The result is crowding of long distance lines and equipment, threatening war calls with serious delays.

YOU can help avert this threat to vital war communications by beginning now to voluntarily ration your use of long distance. There is urgent need now for a special effort to avoid making "long haul" calls. The greater the distance you talk the greater the possibility of delaying vital war calls, because the "long haul" lines are the most heavily crowded with war business.

For the first time since 1921, the University of Kentucky freshman football squad will play in scheduled games, according to an announcement from Ralph McRight, new frosh grid mentor at the University.

Eligibility of first-year for varsity competition, due to a new Southeastern Athletic Conference ruling, and a shortage of yearling material, were given as reasons for the decision.

Kentucky's absence from the frosh grid world will be the first in decades. Games carded with Vanderbilt and Tennessee have been cancelled. A tilt scheduled with St. Xavier had been called off previously when the Musketeer team made freshmen eligible for the varsity.

YOU WANT TO HELP OUR BOYS WIN!

So Turn In All Your Scrap Metals Now For the Kentucky Newspapers' Scrap Drive

MANY a young Kentuckian has already written his name on the roll of honor of World War II. Many another will join that heroic group before the Axis goes down in final defeat. But all of us at home must do our part to help win this war.

Capt. George Kiser, the Somerset boy with stings in his wings, has shot down eleven Jap planes since Pearl Harbor. Capt. Tom Spickard of Princeton has been cited for his gallantry in the Philippines. Lieut. Richard Starks of Midway, wounded in action, helped to knock down a flock of German fighter planes with his Flying Fortress. Lieut. Comm. W. O. Burch of Paducah, flying officer on the aircraft carrier Yorktown, helped to sink four Jap carriers at Midway. Sixty-six officers and men of Mercer County's Tank Battalion took a terrible toll of Jap casualties on Batan.

These are only a few of Kentucky's new heroes. They are typical of Kentucky and American fighting men. Give them the "tools" and they will do the job.

Today there is a desperate shortage of scrap metals. And without scrap, American industry cannot supply the "tools"—the guns, tanks, planes, bombs, ships—our forces must have to win.

So get into the all-out statewide scrap metals salvage drive sponsored by Kentucky newspapers. Join your fellow citizens in exceeding the State's quota of 285,000,000 pounds (100 pounds per inhabitant) before October 31. Get busy now!

SAVE KITCHEN FATS AS WARTIME AID

Taking good care of kitchen fats and oils is a wartime "must" for every cook says Miss Maude Guthrie U-T Extension Nutritionist.

Watch out for obvious fat wastes—wastefully big fats of butter, good bacon grease or drippings poured down the sink, left-over fat stored improperly, poorly made products using fats, serving of too many foods that have fat in them or need fat in which to cook them. Measure fats economically. Don't use too much.

Don't spoil fats and foods cooked in fats with too much heat. When fat starts to smoke it starts to break down chemically. Food cooked in smoking fat will be harder to digest, may be irritating to the digestive tract. And once fat reaches the smoking point it gets rancid more quickly when you save it to use again.

Many fats may be saved and reused. Keep bacon fat and drippings for seasoning vegetables. Save the fat used for deep fat frying to use a number of times. Strain it after each use through several thicknesses of cheesecloth or other clean white cloth before you put it away each time.

Store all fats in a closely covered container, in a dark place, and away from strong-flavored foods. Table fats should be kept very cool—in a refrigerator if you have one. Most cooking fats should be stored in a cool place also, although there are some types of hydrogenated fats and compounds on the market that keep well at room temperature. Store left-over fats and drippings as carefully as commercial fats.

NELSON ON PRODUCTION

While American war production has been increased by 350 per cent since Pearl Harbor, the effect of that output has not yet been great enough to turn the tide of battle in favor of the United States, Donald M. Nelson, chair of the War Production Board, declared recently.

"That is a good record, but not good enough," Mr. Nelson said. "In this game there is no second prize; we are playing for keeps."

Of production, he said, it was comparable to the first 13 weeks of a soldier who has completed his basic training. "Production," he said, "is just about ready now to embark upon the real program of producing equipment to be taken into battle by the bravest soldiers and sailors the world ever saw."

"PASSING THE BUCK"

Strikes or complacency, failure to sacrifice when necessary, "passing the buck"—all these are as much a blow against public safety, against winning the war, as outright sabotage. Until we are all ready to make the necessary sacrifices, we cannot hope to win.

BUY WAR BONDS

DANGER AHEAD!

While buying War Bonds is not a sacrifice, failure to do so is "passing the buck."

FARMERS OBJECT TO BEING THE GOAT

Fred H. Sexauer, president of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, New York, says, "The time is at hand when the farmers must make themselves heard in Washington, both through their organizations and as individuals. For the sake of the country—so that we may be sure of food supplies to win the war—any parity adopted must include cost of labor."

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said that "uncontrolled wages are the most threatening factor in the possibilities for inflation." He cited figures to show that farm prices in June averaged 151 per cent of the 1909-14 base period, while average hourly wages of factory workers were 397 per cent of the base period. "As a result of this situation, factory workers in July were spending a smaller percentage of their income for food than at any time in the last 30 years," he said.

Albert S. Goss, Master of the Grange, said, "The Grange is in sympathy with the effort to control inflation, but believes that the most direct preventative lies in ample production, and cannot support a price program which will strangle production." Mr. Goss then pointed out that such staples as wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye, cotton, etc., are now controlled, that no new legislation is necessary, and that they are all selling below parity.

COMMON DEFENSE

Anti-British Propaganda

There is a kind of Nazi propaganda that misses no opportunity to drive a wedge between and our British allies. It seeks to make us hate the British and to be full of suspicion toward them.

One of the Nazi rumors you hear is that the British have left their allies to fight alone while they themselves have kept their armed forces in England. The people who spread this untruth never give you facts and figures to prove it. But that is for the very excellent reason that they haven't any facts or figures to give. Let us look at this falsehood and expose it. Before the Nazi invasion of France, Britain had promised to send twelve divisions of fully equipped troops to that country. Was that promise kept? It was—to the letter beyond the letter. After Dunkirk the British sent more troops to France in an effort to help in a situation that was becoming hourly more desperate, and many of the British soldiers who went to France after Dunkirk were those who had but a short time before escaped from France. To that to the people who say that the British have failed their allies and have kept their army at home.

Once more, after the fall of France the British were left alone in the Middle West. Their forces numbered only 40,000 men. And contrary to what the Nazi propagandist say, these troops were not all the New Zealanders, or Australia or Canadians. More than one-half of them were from the British Isles. The Italians had 360,000 soldiers in Abyssinia and 260,000 in Libya as against the total number of 40,000 Empire Troops. Yet, despite the British inferiority in numbers, their army—more than one-half of which came from the British Isles—inflicted severe defeats upon the Italians who were driven out of Eritria, Somalia, and Abyssinia with a loss of 250,000 men.

Victory in Libya against the Italians was within the grasp of the British when the Nazis began their invasion of Greece. The Greeks called for help, and who responded? The British again—this time at the cost of calling a halt to the campaign on the Libyan front from which troops were withdrawn to be sent to Greece. And one-third those Empire Troops which fought in Greece were from the British Isles. Tell that to the people who spread the Nazi falsehood that the British have left their allies to fight alone.

And tell them something else. Tell them that in the Battle of Crete nearly one-half of all the British forces engaged were from the British Isles. Tell them that for three years British forces have fought on fronts all over the world and that up to January, 1942, 71% of all the casualties suffered on land by the whole British Empire were men who came from the British Isles. Tell that to people who talk this nonsense about the British keeping their army at home.

Now of all times, we ought to take every precaution to prevent the outbreak of fires which destroy lives and property and in wartime.

Business houses, schools, and city organizations have been closing in some localities for all day "cotton pickings."

Kidneys Must Work Well

For You To Feel Well

24 hours every day, 7 days every week, never stopping, the kidneys filter waste matter from the blood. If more people were aware of how the kidneys must constantly remove surplus fluid, excess acids and other waste matter that cannot stay in the blood without injury to health, there would be better understanding of why the whole system is upset when kidneys fail to function properly.

Burning, stinging or too frequent urination sometimes warns that something is wrong. You may suffer nagging backache, headaches, dizziness, rheumatic pains, getting up at night, swelling.

Why not try Doan's Pills? You will be using a medicine recommended by the country over. Doan's stimulates the function of the kidneys and help them to flush out poisonous waste from the blood. They contain nothing harmful, yet Doan's today. Use with confidence. At all drug stores.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Revised by Western Newspaper Union.)

Lesson for October 18

GROWTH IN CHRIST

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:40-52; II Peter 1:1-8
GOLDEN TEXT—But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ—II Peter 3:18.

Growth is a normal thing. We expect it of the child, and when it fails we know that something is wrong. Just so there is something very decidedly wrong in the life of the Christian who fails to grow in grace. If a child fails to grow we are alarmed, but if a Christian does not grow we hardly notice it, or at most only express our regret. We need a revival.

I. Normal Children Will Grow (Luke 2:40-52)

While Christ was God manifest in the flesh, He was at the same time true man, and as a boy He developed and grew in a normal way.

Unless we meet the tragedy of arrested development we need have no concern about the fact that a child will grow physically, mentally and spiritually. The Lord has placed in the babe in a mother's arms the potential qualities of the man or woman to come. Our chief responsibility is to provide the opportunity for the development of these abilities and qualities which the child has, and of guiding that growth in the right direction.

That is all a parent has to do, to be it enough to call for all the wisdom, judgment, patience and skill of the best of us. Yes, and even that is not enough, we need the wisdom of God and His grace upon our lives to do this vital work as we ought.

The qualities in a boy or girl which will count gloriously for God may be dreadfully effective for Satan if we permit him to get control of our children. May God help us to be alert and skillful in rearing our boys and girls.

While it is true that we can do more for the guidance of physical and mental growth than spiritual (because that is a matter of the grace of God), we can lead the steps of the little child to the house of God; we can teach him to pray and to trust God, and we can set an example of godly living before him. That is all we can do; but again we say, it is enough to demand our best effort and more.

II. Normal Christians Will Grow (II Pet. 1:1-8)

In Christ there are "all things that pertain unto life and godliness." There is no need of some added experience, or some new and striking endorsement, for all the unbelievably great possibilities of Christian grace and growth are in Him. We need only to recognize that fact and yield to Him, and there will be the full development of Christian life and experience.

We have, in practice, so far departed from the normal in Christian life that we can hardly believe that the above is true. In place of the normal Christian life according to God's standard, we have established a standard based on the average Christian life. If we equal it we are satisfied, and if perchance we surpass it we count ourselves among the "more spiritual" ones. And all the time the average standard is far below the normal Christian life which God not only expects, but is ready to enable and empower us to live.

Peter tells us in this passage that the great and precious promises of God in Christ are not only to enable us to escape from corruption of this sinful world, but to go on to a place where we will neither "be barren nor unfruitful" Christians. How will this come about? Verses 5-7 tell us.

Faith supplies in itself (rather than "add to," v. 5), if there is "diligence" (that is, true Christian devotion), a number of other splendid qualities. First comes "virtue"—really moral courage, or nobility of character. What a fine step forward! Then comes "knowledge," that is, a discernment which will give practical skill in effective daily living for Christ. Such spiritual discernment will naturally lead to "self-control"—something much needed by most Christians.

The self-controlled one will always have "patience"—that is, the endurance to stand every hardship and trial. We need to be more patient not only with others, but also with ourselves, even in this matter of Christian growth of which we are speaking.

A life like that is a life of "godliness," which will blossom out into real "brotherly kindness." There isn't too much of that in the world today, even among Christians. Let's revive it! Then what? The one who loves his brother will love the whole world (charity, in v. 8, should read "love"). Why not? Are we not all brethren, who know Christ, regardless of race, position or creed?

Let such virtues "abound" (v. 8), and no Christian life will lack in rich fruitfulness for God in Christ. If Christian people would let the new life within them grow, it would surprise us and them what God would do through them for His own glory.

THE POCKETBOOK of KNOWLEDGE

CEREALS GOOD FOOD

Whole cereals, either ground or unground, are especially valuable in the diet because of the vitamins and minerals they contain and the laxative effects they have. The vitamins they contain are principally B-1 and B-2. Vitamin B-1 stimulates the appetite, helps the muscular walls of the intestines in good condition, to build up resistance against infections, and to keep the nervous system stable. Vitamin B-2 prevents pellagra.

A LONG HIGHWAY

The first link of the Alaskan highway from the border of British Columbia to Fairbanks is 1600 miles long, and it will be opened December 1. The plan is to make this Alaska highway a great link that will connect the whole territory of Alaska with the borders of the United States, so that it will join the networks of our national highways.

That's only the half of it. The rest of the story is that highways are now being constructed down through Mexico and Central America to and beyond Panama and into Colombia. When you get to the Andes there are highways that will tap existing national roads into Brazil.

Money Talks

By
Frederick Stamm, Economist
Director of Adult Education
UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

The full meaning of war is rapidly becoming clear in many Americans. Last week the War Production Board ordered drastic curtailment of production of a complete shutdown of a score of industries that up to now have made life more comfortable for the average citizen.

The use of metal in garment hangers, vegetable bins, curtain rods, soap dishes, sink and dish drains, carpet beaters, towel bars, toasters, percolators, flat irons, waffle irons, and electric shavers and fly swatters has been banned after July 1. The production of vacuum cleaners and mechanical refrigerators is to stop April while April 23 puts an end to the production of radios for public use. Lawn mower production for non-farm use stops on June 20, and the output of washing machines for civilian use ended April 15. The sale of bicycles to adults has already been halted. When we add this list to the already large list of commodities which have been banned for general public use (automobiles, tires, etc.) we can readily see that life cannot go on as usual.

Retailers who handle these items are going to be seriously affected. It is estimated that the sales of consumers' durable goods (refrigerators, washing machines, radios, etc.) will drop from high of nearly $5 billion dollars in 1941 to around $2 billion dollars in 1942 or 43 percent. This simply means that some retailers must take on additional lines of goods or be prepared to suffer through a long period of hard times.

What can they do? Well, they might consider adding a line of semi-durable consumer goods (groceries, dry goods, shoes, clothing, etc.) for the estimated sales volume of these articles will jump from about $9 billion dollars in 1941 to nearly $45 billion dollars in 1942 or about 15 percent.

Unusual times call for unusual action. What's wrong with a hardware dealer who has a store room, delivery and store equipment, and sales staff adding a line of groceries, dry goods, shoes or clothing? It may mean the difference between keeping the doors open or closing down a business. Adjustments in business and in life are coming. They will be severe; now is the time to prepare for them.

"NOT A SLACKER IN THE LOT..."

THIS cartoon was first published by the Omaha World-Herald, originator of the "Nebraska Scrap Plan." In three weeks the people of Nebraska collected 136,171,012 pounds of scrap metals for war industries. That was 103.4 pounds per capita for every man, woman and child in the state. (NAME FAPER) believes that the Citizens of (NAME STATE) are equal to Nebraska's challenge. Let's get out the scrap to bury the Axis!

THIS WEEK ON THE HOME FRONT

Acting on the directives of President Roosevelt, Price Administrator Leon Henderson last week spread emergency price ceilings over virtually all food items hitherto exempt from control and acted to bring every dwelling unit in the country, urban and rural, under price control.

By these moves, he increased from about 60 per cent to a full 90 per cent, OPA's control over the average family's food budget.

The 60-day emergency food price ceilings, which became effective Monday, Oct. 5, frozen prices at the highest levels they reached during the five-day period from Sept. 28 through Oct. 2.

The only important food stuffs now free from price control are fresh fruits and vegetables (except potatoes, dry onions and citrus fruits), fresh fish, and peanuts—all items of a more or less seasonal character.

The Administrator made it plain that the emergency price levels are not necessarily those which will be carried into the permanent regulation.

"We are not satisfied with the prices generally prevailing in the five days between Sept. 28 through Oct. 2 on several important food items," Mr. Henderson said. "Prices of some uncontrolled foods have been running wild. We know now, therefore, look into the matter of setting some of them back to a more normal relationship to the rest of the food field."

However, Mr. Henderson warned that some moderate price increases will be necessary in certain limited food groups in the very near future. These will result from issuance within a few days of regulations designed to relieve the price "squeeze," on those food wholesalers and retailers who have been unable to transact business under their present March ceiling levels. The food items involved in these impending increases represent about 15 per cent of a typical grocery store sales.

These adjustments, the Administrator disclosed, will be embodied in three types of regulations—one giving wholesalers and retailers an alternative pricing formula on 11 groups of food products; one permitting specific increases on new pack canned fruits, and retail items; and another covering a small number of highly seasonal items, such as apple cider and maple syrup.

The 4,000,000 American boys and girls, who must ride school buses, have been promised they will continue to get to their classes this winter. But the ODT warns that stops must be reduced and other savings made.

Wood soles and lasts used in shoe manufacture have been placed under a price ceiling.

Fifteen pounds of steel will be the maximum allowed for a full-sized bed spring after Dec. 1. A single or twin-sized bed spring will be limited to 9 pounds of steel. The full-sized springs normally contain 60 to 100 pounds.

Temporary ceilings on lamb products have been continued indefinitely.

Dried egg prices have been put under a ceiling rule.

Further limitations on export shipments of certain fats and oils have been established.

More than a million farm and small town homes in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana, and Michigan, will be affected by the new fuel oil rationing. There are the users of kerosene, which is still used for lighting and cooking in vast areas of the country not yet serviced by electricity. Every dealer who sells the "coal oil" must register with his local War Price and Rationing Board and every prospective purchaser must then get his rationing allowance from the boards. The registration of consumers is expected to start Oct. 22, and continue for one week. There will be no strict limit on quantities allowed, but the boards will be allowed to use their knowledge of local needs and conditions in determining the rations.

The government would like to have those who eat more than 2½ pounds of meat a week to cut their consumption to that figure and would like to have those who eat less than that to use more meat. The 2½ pound figure is the mark set for voluntary rationing which must serve until full rationing is possible. If you have eat less meat, cereals will help make up the lost iron. The legumes—dry beans, peas, soybeans, and peanuts—will help make up Vitamin B-1. Dairy products will make up the protein, and poultry is almost identical with meat in food values.

The 2½ pound limit for voluntary meat rationing includes the bones. The pup's ration comes out of your own, if you feed him pork, beef, veal, lamb or mutton, and if you eat in a restaurant, that counts just as if you had eaten at home.

Arrangements have been completed for the manufacture and sale of 2,258,000 stirrup pumps for protection against fires started by incendiary bombs. The retail price ceilings range from $3 to $3.80.

American food is getting to Russia in greater quantities. August shipments of grains and cereals brought the delivered total of 187 million pounds.

The only types of footwear rationed are men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes.

Changes in the form of the tire rationing certificate have simplified its issuance and use.

Consumers who exchange used tubes for new metal one at their grocery or drug stores should be sure the turned-in tube is made of metal. Plastic and other types of tubes are not acceptable in trading for metal tubes.

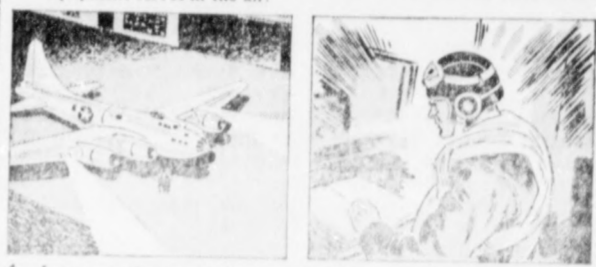

Sugar users have cautioned against letting their purchase certificates lapse.

The facilities of the 3,022 county war boards of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will be used to assist farm track operators in filing out certificates of war time necessity under ODT rules.

Wings of Victory

Electricity helps make America's war planes some of the world's most deadly weapons. Here are a few of the ways in which G-E equipment serves in the air.

1. Lamps are the eyes of the plane at night, ranging in size from cockpit lamps no larger than a pea to landing lamps of more than half-a-million candlepower.

2. Radio combines the voice and the ears of the plane, allowing communication between the pilot and his squadron, and the ground and sea forces.

3. Instruments are the sensitive brain that relays messages to the pilot from all parts of the ship and helps him to control the plane in its flight.

4. Superchargers are the lungs of the plane, pumping extra oxygen to the carburetors, giving our planes the altitude so necessary to modern warfare.

MRS. C. McCRITE ENTERTAINS CLUB

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. C. McCrite entertained her bunco club at her home on Jackson st. with ten members present, with one new member, Mrs. J. M. Watson and two visitors, Mrs. R. J. Parham and Mrs. Malcolm Pafford.

At the end of several games club prizes were presented to Mrs. McCrite, bunco winner; Mrs. Joe Mullins, high scorer; Mrs. Roy Barron, second high scorer; Mrs. Parham, low scorer; Mrs. Carl Fortner, consolation winner; and Mrs. John Morris, winner of traveling bunco. All prizes were War Saving Stamps.

Mrs. McCrite then served light refreshments. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Raymond Williams.

P. T. A. TEA GIVEN IN HOME OF MRS. PIGUE

A prominent event of the fall was the annual tea given Tuesday afternoon by the Parent-teacher's Association of West Fulton at the new home of Mrs. Hugh Pigue on Fourth St., to which the public was invited. The tea was planned as a patriotic affair and each person attending was asked to bring old keys. Approximately one hundred persons called between the hours of three and five o'clock.

The guest were greeted at the door by a receiving line composed of Mrs. Maxwell McDade, president; Mrs. Arch Huddleston, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Gene Speight, secretary; Mrs. Joe Bennett, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. George Alley and Mrs. J. C. Sugg, new teachers; and Mrs. G. W. Dimmitt. Those in the receiving line and all teachers wore pretty shoulder corsages made of war savings stamps.

Guests were then received by the hostess, Mrs. Pigue, and taken to the register where Mrs. Bertie Pigue presided.

In the dining room decorations were arranged in a red, white and blue color scheme, and the loveliness of the interior of the home was accentuated throughout with bouquets of fall flowers. The tea table was covered with a lace cloth, centered with red, white and blue carnations in a crystal bowl and held white tapers in crystal candelabra at each end. The buffet held a central appointment of red verbenas and white tapers in candelabra. The candles were tied with red, white and blue ribbons.

Pouring tea were Mrs. Lawrence Holland, Mrs. Yewell Harrison, Mrs. J. O. Lewis, Mrs. M. C. Payne and Miss Mary Royster and teachers assisting in serving were Miss Fannie Lee Nix, Miss Lee Ella Lowe, Miss Pauline Thompson, Miss Catherine Williamson, Miss Carolyn Beadles, Miss Mary Martin, Mrs. Trevor Wayne and Mrs. G. B. Butterworth.

The entertainment for the afternoon was a musical program, well prepared and presented Miss Lois Jean Hindman, accompanied by Mrs. Walter Voelpel sang three popular melodies. Miss Hindman and Miss Hylda Byars sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Voelpel, and Miss Byars, a solo, accompanied by Mrs. Voelpel. Trumpet selections were given by Miss Anna Frances Graham, accompanied by Miss Virginia Ann Hardy, and Miss LaNelle Bugg gave flute selections.

4-H CLUB LEADERS MEET

The 4-H Club leaders held their regular fall training meeting at the Hickman Homemakers club room Thursday, October 8 with four leaders from three club present. Mrs. Anita B. Davis, field agent in club work, gave the lesson with emphasis on school lunches and a baking project which will be carried by the 4-H Club leaders to the club members of Fulton county this year. Special attention was placed on nutrition work for national defense. Those who attended were, Mrs. Reginald Williamson, Mrs. Lee Buchanan, Mrs. O. L. Sutton, Mrs. Cleo Postum, and Mrs. Catherine Thompson, home agent.

Weddings

MELTON-EDWARDS

Miss Margaret Virginia Melton, daughter of Mrs. Mary Melton, Arch street, became the bride of Pvt. G. T. Edwards, formerly of Martin, from Fort Jackson, S. C. in a ceremony performed by Rev. J. Preston, Methodist minister, in Portageville, Mo., Sunday, Oct. 11.

Their attendants were Miss Shirley Melton, Miss Betty Jean Rawls and Charles Jobe of Water Valley.

The bride is a graduate of Fulton High School in the class of '42, and Mr. Edwards attended school in Martin. Mrs. Edwards is now employed at Western Union here and for the present time will remain at the home of her mother.

HOLMES-O'DANIELS

A wedding of interest here is that of Miss Virginia Holmes of Dyersburg, Tenn., formerly of Fulton, to John Wesley O'Daniels which took place Sunday morning October 11, in Blytheville, Ark., with T. M. Cassidy performing the ceremony. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. John Larkin.

Mrs. O'Daniels was dressed in a Kona-red ensemble and her carriage was of white carnations and tube roses. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Holmes. She is a graduate of Fulton High School and attended Ole Miss University where she was a member of Delta Gamma Sorority. While in Fulton she was a popular member of the younger set.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley O'Daniels, graduated from Dyersburg High School and is now employed with Rosenblooms. The couple will reside in Dyersburg.

Star Dust
STAGE SCREEN RADIO
By VIRGINIA VALE
Released by Western Newspaper Union.

IF YOU happen to be anywhere near where one of the Vox Pop programs is being broadcast, spare no effort to attend it—you'll have a lot of fun, maybe make some money, and see one of our better radio programs in action. Maybe you'll have the pleasure of meeting Parks Johnson, who's a swell guy; you may be lucky enough to meet Mrs. Johnson, who goes along. Before the broadcast Johnson stages slights with members of the audience, and pays them well for participating. Mrs. Johnson buys the gifts for the women on the program, and rounds up good places for the company to eat. As part of the audience, you'll be part of the program, and have a grand time.

Rosalind Russell's sponsoring Janet Blair with a vengeance! First she convinced Columbia Pictures that Janet was perfect for the title role in "My Sister Eileen"; then she waived the exclusive star clause in her contract so that Janet could share star billing. Next she took Janet for a tour of the army camps, with the purpose of interesting her soldier brother, George Russell, in the young actress.

Alan Reed spent two months in Hollywood waiting to make a picture that never was started, though he was paid regularly. He collected a typical Hollywood wardrobe—slacks, sports shirts, Mexican huaraches, silver-trimmed belts. Ezra Stone, till recently of "Henry Aldrich," ran into Reed in his Hollywood togs, in New York. "Gee," said he, "you're not even a civilian!"

Young Russell Hoyt, RKO actor, has been trying to make people forget his striking resemblance to Alan Ladd. Now it's got him a job. RKO used him in bits in "Seven Days' Leave" and "Here We Go Again," then had no role for him, so lent him to Paramount for "Lucky Gordon"—he'll play a Ladd henchman who, because of his resemblance to the star, can create alibis for him.

Claudette Colbert probably set a record recently by being a bridesmaid once and a bride twice, all within 24 hours. It was all for Preston Sturges' "The Palm Beach Story"; Claudette's bridegrooms were Joel McCrea and Rudy Vallee, and her stunt as bridesmaid took place when Joel married someone else. She's working now in "No Time for Love."

In "Somewhere I'll Find You" Keenan Wynn, of the radio's "Shadow" programs, played a soldier who operated a 1918 machine gun which had been blown from its tripod; because of the kickbacks, his shoulder was strapped for two weeks. When he saw the picture in New York, a soldier in front of him said: "Fake! You can't fire a machine gun from that position." Keenan leaned forward and tapped the young man on the shoulder. "Yes you can, brother," said he. "I did it."

When Jack Benny and Mary Livingston first met she was 12, and Jack, calling on her sister, disliked Mary as heartily as she loathed him. He was appearing at a local vaudeville theater, and Mary bribed her pals to maintain complete silence all through his act!

Claudia Morgan, recently signed to play "Andrea Reynolds" on the air serial, "We Love and Learn," couldn't escape the theater; she's the daughter of Ralph Morgan, the niece of Frank, and made her stage debut on Broadway while in her teens. A few years ago she was playing lead roles simultaneously in two Broadway stage hits and in a radio series.

ODDS AND ENDS—Bing Crosby postponed his return to his radio program for a week in order to complete his golfing tour for the benefit of the Red Cross. Metro's released "42nd Street," a one-reeler depicting the work of the Air Training Corps of America, which is training some 500,000 high school boys in the elements of aeromantics. Olivia de Havilland, born in Tokyo, couldn't accompany the "Princess of Pleasure" company to the airport at Lockheed for vacation work; all players had to have their birth certificates, and Olivia's happened to be missing. Her car—ran out of gas and had to be towed a dollar from him to get some.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"John seeth Jesus coming unto him and saith, Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." These words from John comprise the Golden Text to be used Sunday, October 18, 1942, in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon will be "Doctrine of Atonement." Included among the Scriptural selections will be "or other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ" (1 Cor. 3:11).

The following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will also be included: "The supremacy of Spirit was the foundation on which Jesus built. His sublime summary points to the religion of Love" (p. 133).

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams visited in the home of Rev. C. A. Morrison and wife out from Mayfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams motored to Murray Sunday afternoon to visit with her daughter, Nell Bizzle who is in school there.
