GRAND JURY PICKED FOR JANUARY TERM

On battle fronts every day risk their lives to discover the location and strength of the military units of the enemy. Yet at home, too many of us are presenting the enemy with information of the same military value, the Office of Censorship says in a statement.

This is the information which newspapers and individuals are asked not to tell the enemy.

Do not tell the names of ships upon which sailors serve.

Do not tell the troop units in which soldiers serve overseas.

There is no objection to revealing that Pvt. John Jones is in Australia or that Seaman Tom Brown saw action in the Atlantic, but there is military information which endangers the lives of American fighting men in stating that Pvt. John Jones, "Company C, 60th Infantry" is in Australia, or Seaman Tom Brown, "Aboard the U. S. S. Wisconsin," is in the Atlantic.

The Office of Censorship says: We ask editors not to publish these troop identifications, and we ask parents and relatives not to reveal them. Don't give the enemy anything that may lengthen the war.

MOBILIZATION DAY DRAWS NEAR

Kentucky farmers are now making plans for the great food production program in the history of our Nation.

The 1933 food goals, which the food goals of 1932, are reaching all crops. Probably the greatest increase for Kentucky will be in the growing of hemp for fiber and hemp for seed.

The 1933 goals ask Kentucky to grow 550,000 acres of hemp for seed and 45,000 acres of hemp for fiber. This 50,000 acres of hemp is the other 41 states the individual crop increases, Illinois and Minnesota are second in the proposed 1933 production of hemp with each, suggesting, covering goal requirements of 60,000 acres each.

The deadline for all food production will be Production Day, Tuesday, January 12.

On that day farmers through the USDA Agencies to discuss the plan the nation will meet with various food goals.

Throughout January AAA Community Committees will contact every farmer in Kentucky in the signing of 1933 production goals.

This Mobilization period will be the greatest food production activity for farmers part in the all-out war effort.

angles to the line of sight if you want to read it most easily. So, advises Dr. Matthew Luckiech, of the University of Illinois, Laboratory of the General Electric Company.

In the new book, "Reading As a Visual Problem," which was written in collaboration with Frank K. Moss, Dr. Luckiech explains that the practice of laying a book or newspaper flat on a table and reading it at an angle may reduce the visibility of the type by as much as a third. This is an effect of the foreshortening of the angle of the reader is not looking at it squarely.

"Assuming that the visibility of a given 10-point type is 100 when the paper is held perpendicular to the line of sight, he says, its visibility would be reduced to 70 percent when the printed matter is held at an angle of 125 degrees with the line of sight. In other words, 7-point type in the normal position is as visible as 10-point type in the position of 125 degrees with the line of sight. If the posture of the reader remains unchanged, the latter condition will place the printed matter in a lessened flat on the desk.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR FREEDOM

As free American citizens we have found we can meet the test of war. We have the ability to get things done. We have courage and daring. Our men have shown in stark heroism that on the military front we are not soft. We can fight with the tricks our forefathers learned from the Indians, and we can fight with machines. Guadalcanal and North Africa have proven that. In brief, we can win the war.

But there is more than the military front. There is the home front. And here, except for the production miracle of industry, there is evidence of softness, of confusion of ideals. Group bickering has put the attainment of personal comfort and security ahead of the national welfare. In many quarters a desire to eliminate human want at one stroke is being voiced. An agency of government has even prepared a new bill of rights, the basic tenet of which is economic security. This new bill is proposed as a supplement to the old bill defining our liberties at the time the United States Constitution was adopted.

It puts security on a par with freedom, on the theory that the American people will abandon freedom if they are not guaranteed three square meals a day. It implies that the American people, bitter from the "great depression" and fearful of post-war uncertainty, do not propose to go hungry; that if they cannot have their freedom with full stomachs, they will do without freedom.

If such is true, we have drifted far from the ideals the Pilgrims carried ashore at Plymouth Rock. Even as our men on the battlefields are now dying, the Pilgrims died and suffered hardship for just one reason: to preserve a spot on this globe where the individual could be free. And they got that freedom. They got it because they were tough. Their ideals came first, their stomachs second. Our men are winning battles now because they are tough. They are thinking of freedom.

A year ago there was a grave question in the minds of millions as to whether we could arm fast enough to stem the tide of aggression. There was an equally grave question of whether we could do it without destroying free enterprise and representative government.

THE POCKETBOOK OF KNOWLEDGE

There were those who believe it would take total dictatorship to beat the dictators. The challenge fell on industry. The machines had to be built by industry. Our natural resources and our factories had to be mobilized for war on a scale that wrought shattering changes in technique and precedent. Industry knew that the crack-box agitators were waiting to pounce upon the country with revolutionary schemes at the slightest sign of failure.

It is to the credit of thinking government officials that revolutionary changes in government and industry were not forced before free enterprise had a chance to show what it could do to prove that our democracy was not a failure. Our factories did a magnificent job. In a matter of months, they underwent retooling and conversion. Today tanks, planes, guns, ships, are rolling off the assembly lines by the scores of thousands. Our war production has caught and passed the dictator enemy who spent years producing for war under an elaborate "economic security" program which by its very completeness had destroyed individual freedom—the same years that our industries continued to produce for America's unremitted, peaceful millions. Back of the manufacturers stand American farm producers and distributors, together with the metal and coal mines, the oil, the power and transportation industries. They feed our war workers and keep the materials moving into the assembly lines.

The end of the war may be distant still, yet it is in sight. Again free enterprise faces a challenge. And again it faces it against a backdrop of threats. Those threats are cloaked in the prevalent idea that a full stomach is an inalien-

WAY TO WIN
Government expenditures have become so fabulous that an inclination has grown on the part of many people to avoid the subject on the ground that the war comes first. Ostrich-like, they ignore a couple of important facts: Before battles can be won, the machines to win them must be built. That takes money. Secondly, the all-important matter of how the money is raised to build these machines may finally determine who wins the peace.

During the coming year the government will have to borrow upward of 60 billions of dollars, over and above the amount it collects in taxes. It must borrow the bulk of money directly from the people in one manner or another. Treasury experts know and the local banker knows that the banks cannot absorb too much public debt without undermining the institution of private banking which is the foundation of the economic system, as well as bringing about disastrous inflation. Borrowing directly from the people is the hard, sure way of winning the war—and the peace. And that is the way we must do it.

able right. Far-sighted leaders know that the challenge of the post-war world will be the toughest of all. It will be far tougher than the facts justify because of demagogic attempts to soften our people with illusory social dreams of total "economic security."

But industry is making its plans. These plans will have to be daring. Industry must go on the offensive. It must show that unprecedented production under a system of free enterprise is the only sure way to build a lasting peace under the banner of individual freedom. It must lay the groundwork for this production now. And it must have the wholehearted cooperation of all the Americans on the home front. There is no room for the labor racketeer any more than for the exploiting capitalist or the faithless politician.

We on the home front must do a lot of clear thinking. We must now be hardened by a determination that above all else we must save the right of the individual to be free. We must realize now and in the peace to come that individual freedom is more important than individual comfort. Bitter experience has demonstrated that without freedom there can be neither comfort nor security. We must reaffirm our belief in our Constitutional government.

Apples are a welcome food in wartime meals because they are easy on the sugar ration and when served fresh, need no sweetening at all.

Of every seven and one-half dozen eggs produced in the United States this year, at least one dozen will be dried to supply lease-lend requirements.

Now that fertilizer materials are being rationed every method of manure preservation should be used to prevent leaching and loss of this most valuable farm-produced fertilizing material.

Janey
Janey closed the bedroom door and locked it. Alone at last! She threw back her head and heaved a deep sigh. Then she peeked out of the corner of her eye at the mirror to see whether she really did look like Hedy Lamarr. Quite a lot, she decided.

And now to business. She drew forth from the bottom of her top bureau drawer the sheet of pink writing-paper and the envelope that she had been saving for this day. She sat down at the table by the window and dipped the pen into the bottle of green ink that her sister Rose was such a pig about. She wrote, with beautiful arabesques, "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," and held her head back to admire this effort of the best pupil in penmanship class.

"Here are my stamps for a bond. $18.75. I started last Christmas when I got $3.00. Not counting 50 cents, I have earned all the rest, working one or more days a week at a local grocery store, and I'm quite proud to say I worked hard to get it."

Janey stared out of the window at Peterson's house and beyond at the big yard where the kids were playing football. She held her pen elegantly in air.

"Sitting here looking out the window, I see a peaceful little town, and I wonder how the world can be in such a turmoil and the people of this world can have such hate for their fellow men. So I'm proud to send these stamps because I know I'm helping to make the whole world peaceful again like our little town."

She signed her name with an important flourish, not forgetting a conspicuous "Miss" in front of the "Janey." After she had sealed the letter she went on staring out of the window. It really was awfully peaceful. Overhead she heard a plane go humming by through the sunny afternoon air.

Then the voice of her best friend, Betty, called from outside—"Janey!" In an instant Janey was on her feet and tearing downstairs and out. She was not Hedy Lamarr nor a deep philosopher any more, but exactly twelve years old.

"THE SPIRIT AND MORALE IN THE RAILROAD INDUSTRY ARE NEAR THE 100 PER CENT LEVEL"

—JOSEPH B. EASTMAN, DIRECTOR
Office of Defense Transportation

A YEAR has passed since the United States entered the war. Now it is no longer a matter of speculation how the railroads will perform. It is a matter of record.

The workers who man the railroads have proved equal to the tremendous task. They have transported the men and equipment, the armament and supplies, that are needed to wage war. So far they have handled every assignment efficiently and well.

Now we face 1943 with the certainty of increased demands for war transportation. The task of railroad workers will be greater than ever before. From the man on the train to the man in the shops there is renewed determination.

Working together in the common cause, they must and will carry on.

In pointing to the fine spirit and splendid morale in the railroad industry, Director Eastman spoke both of and for all railroaders. They have fought a good fight, and they face the future with confidence. A new and glowing chapter in railroad history is about to be written.

The more than 40,000 workers of the Illinois Central Railroad are among those who serve on the transportation front. Our work is an essential part of the war effort. That victory may be certain, we have dedicated ourselves to the efficient performance of every task.

A LOOK AT THE BOOK

By DR. BOB JONES, JR.

The enthusiasm with which people welcome the New Year is always rather surprising. They are a year older than they were last New Year. A year of life has slipped away, but they seem glad of it and with ringing of bells and blowing of whistles and the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" the new year is welcomed in. Their attitude seems to say, "This year will be better than last. The year that has just gone by was full of mistakes and sorrows and disappointments. There will not be any in the new year."

Perhaps the carousal and the song, the whistles and the bells, are an effort to cover up the sadness of their hearts and to bolster up their courage as they face an unknown future. The child of God needs no such demonstration. We can face the future serene and secure. He serves the Lord who is the "Ancient of Days" and the "same yesterday, today, and forever," the One who "knows the end from the beginning." God assures him, "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee" (Hebrews 13:5). His God is the Lord who promises "as thy days, so shall thy strength" be" (Deuteronomy 33:25). He has trusted in Him who said, "Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in Him; and He will bring it to pass" (Psalm 37:5). He faces a year which may bring joy or sorrow, abundance or poverty, sickness or health, assured that "all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to His purpose" (Romans 8:28).

The Christian can forget the mistakes and sins of the old year, having confessed them to Him who "is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9). Knowing that they are forgiven he is able to say with Paul, "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 3:14). It is a glorious privilege to begin the New Year with the God of Ages as companion and guide, but it is a privilege which any one may enjoy who will in simple trusting faith accept Christ as his own personal Saviour.

Ev'rybody Ev'ry Pay Day

6,000,000 Women Enrolled in War Savings Payroll Plan.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Women At War Week, opening Nov. 22, during which women will seek to sell the greatest single week's volume of War Bonds and Stamps will serve to put the spotlight on the mighty contribution women generally are making toward financing the war.

Six million women are on War Savings payroll plans. Their monthly deductions total $70,000,000.

The customers of 300,000 newspaper boys who have sold more than $50,000,000 in War Bonds and Stamps are mostly women.

Volunteer saleswomen run nearly all the Bond booths in theatres from Maine to California. They also are sparking the War Bond sales in retail stores.

Ralph G. Engelman, Associate Field Director of the payroll savings section of the War Savings Staff, readily admits that without the support of women the phenomenal record of payroll savings enrollments would not have been achieved. Payroll savings plans are now in operation in 148,000 businesses and factories. Employees of twenty-five thousand of these firms are converting at least 10 percent of gross payrolls into War Bonds every payday.

Associate Field Director Engelman says that women have contributed directly and indirectly toward this record. When a man devoted 10 or more percent of his pay envelope to War Bonds, the woman at home has had a powerful voice in the decision. Her planning, her economies and her cheerfulness play their part in the success of payroll savings.

The Treasury Department is counting upon this woman influence in its current campaign to "top that 10 percent by New Year's." By the first of the year the Treasury hopes to enroll at least 2,000,000 women workers in a payroll savings plan and 5,000,000 more men with total deductions for War Bonds over the 10 percent mark.

"Don't say

PAUL VON HINDENBURG was a professional soldier with little taste for politics—and little love for the upstart paperhanger, Hitler, whom he had to accept as Chancellor.

After the last war, the shrewd old Prussian put his finger on one prime reason for Germany's defeat: "America's brilliant war industry had entered the service of patriotism. . . . They understood war."

Now history is repeating itself for Hindenburg's successor!

America's war industry again is pouring out planes, tanks and guns—meeting production goals that seemed fantastic at first. Back of this fast-growing military power is electric power—far more power than Hitler and all his henchmen have—turning the machines that turn out everything from bullets to battleships.

Behind the great bulk of this power are the electric companies under experienced business management—doing their job and delivering electric power in ever-increasing quantities!

And back of it all, of course, is the American way of life at work—where free men are encouraged to invent, invest, produce, and everybody benefits.

Football Has Not Profit For First Time Since 1931

For the first time in over ten years the Fulton High football season was closed with a profit, according to a report by Supt. J. O. Lewis at the Fulton Board of Education meeting Mon. night at school. With all bills paid the Athletic department had a balance of $55.75 left from the football season, this being the first profit since 1931.

W. W. Evans was re-elected chairman of the Board for the coming year and Roper Fields was elected vice-chairman. The Board instructed Supt. Lewis to prepare a preliminary budget for 1943-44 to be presented at the February meeting.

The Victory Plan of offering courses in high school to train boys for military service and for defense work, has been adopted by the local board. The American Legion will furnish the military instructor.

It has been necessary to substitute a 105 gallon tank in the new school building instead of the 150 used. The W. P. A. has turned over the corner blocks left from the building to the Board, but they will not be disposed of until some future time.

The Board requested the issuance of an emergency certificate for Mrs. Lois Hays, for the remainder of the year.

The Board approved the resolution adopted by the state board of education, that states that any boy who has been in school as much as six weeks of a semester will be given a full semester's credit.

YOUR FEDERAL INCOME TAX No. 1 WHAT IS INCOME TAX?

The Federal income tax is, as the name implies, a tax levied upon incomes, and it is payable in relation to the amount of income. In come, for Federal income tax purposes, means in general any compensation for one's services, whether the compensation be in money or in goods or other services; it includes also the net value received for the product of one's labor, as farm produce in the case of a farmer; income from investments; profit from business operations; and other gains from sales and exchanges of goods and property. Certain limited categories of income are, however, tax exempt, and to the extent of such exemption are excluded in computing the tax.

Because of exemptions from the tax given to persons having less than certain stated amounts of income, as well as because of various deductions and credits allowable, only a small proportion of the number of persons receiving income have until recently been subject to the tax. Thus, of the estimated 55 million persons in this country who received incomes in one form or another during the calendar year 1941 only some 25 million were required to file Federal income tax returns for that year, while of these some 26 million more than 9 million were not taxable due to credits and deductions allowable.

As a result of the lowering of exemptions, many more persons are now subject to the Federal income tax than before, and for the calendar year 1942 it is estimated that more than 45 million persons will file Federal income tax returns. To the large number of persons now subject to the Federal income tax, who have never reported income before for Federal tax purposes, an understanding of the law and applicable regulations is of prime importance.

An income tax return is a declaration on the part of the taxpayer of his total taxable income for the year, together with the various deductions, exemptions and credits to which he is entitled. It is in reliance upon voluntary disclosure, and the integrity of taxpayers generally, that the cost of administration of the income tax can be kept at a minimum. Though the return is a voluntary statement, any person who willfully makes a return which he does not believe to be true and correct in every material matter is subject to the penalties provided by law.

The first requirement of the law is the filing of an appropriate return. For individuals generally, this must be done by March 15 following the end of the calendar year. The return must be filed with the appropriate collector of internal revenue for the district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the person making the return.

Under the present law every single person, and every married person not living with husband or wife, having a total income (earnings, together with other income) of $500 or more, and married persons living with husband or wife throughout the taxable year, who have an aggregate income (total earnings of both husband and wife, together with other income) of $1,200 or more, regardless of the amount of net income, must file a return.

FLOODS AND WATER SUPPLIES

The food situation in Kentucky, especially along the Ohio River and in the Cumberland, Kentucky and Green River Valleys, makes it of first importance that the populations in the areas affected, or likely to be infected, be adequately protected against diseases that may be contracted from polluted water supplies. These communities are practically all in counties now having full-time health departments, which promptly set their machinery in motion to anticipate the effects of such a situation on the public health. In these precautionary efforts, they are being assisted by representatives from the State Department of Health, particularly from the Bureau of Sanitary Engineering, the Bureau of County Health Work and the Division of Communicable Diseases. At the same time, the medical profession in the various localities affected are universally and wholeheartedly cooperating.

The people themselves, however, have an indispensable part to play in insuring best results. The State Department of Health, therefore, is urging that all persons whose water supplies are likely to be polluted by flood waters or by surface drainage observe the primary precautionary measures. First, they should apply immediately to their respective family physicians or local health departments for inoculation against typhoid. Second, they should see that springs, wells and cisterns are cleaned out and properly chlorinated. Instructions for proper chlorination will be supplied by local health departments upon application. Pending chlorination, drink only water that has been boiled. Both of these precautionary measures are safeguarding against typhoid fever and the dysenteries.

MARITIME SERVICE OFFICERS NEW COURSE TO EXPERIENCED SEAMEN

The Cleveland Regional Headquarters of the United States Maritime Service, covering the states of Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky announced today that a new class of the Officers School at Ft. Trumbull, New London, Connecticut will commence February 1 and that others will follow at one-month intervals.

The four-month course of instruction is open to qualified seafaring men who have had fourteen months or more experience on the Great Lakes or on Salt water, to prepare them for licenses as Third Assistant Engineers or Third Mates of ocean-going merchant vessels. Candidates must have reached their 19th birthday. There is no maximum age limit for this course.

While training, Officers Candidates earn $126 per month, plus subsistence and quarters. In addition, a clothing bounty is furnished from which candidates purchase the uniforms worn at the Officers School.

Commissions as Ensigns in the United States Maritime Service are awarded to those who complete the course and obtain their respective licenses. Application may be made and information obtained for the Officers School at the United States Maritime Service Office, Tractor Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

There is a "share the meat program" underway whereby civilians are asked to limit their weekly consumption of red meats to 2 1/2 pounds per person. The Army, Navy and United Nations Allies need 1-2 billion pounds, leaving 17 1/2 billion pounds for civilians. That is a normal supply, larger than the 1931-1940 average, but 3 1/2 billion pounds less than the abnormal demand due to the highest buying power ever known.

Most likely to follow in the wake of polluted water supplies—typhoid fever and the dysenteries.

ARE WE ON OUR WAY?

After advocating full public ownership of land as well as control of the issue of credit, the Archbishop of Canterbury, according to a London cable in the New York Times, says: "If I view the situation rightly, the question of ownership is becoming steadily less important compared with that of direction and management."

When considering socialization of basic industries "for the common good," there is nothing more basic than farming. Federal socialization of the electric power industry in the United States is now well advanced and is being steadily pushed forward by a small, powerful group of public officials. Electric power, however, is but a minor issue compared to food. It is merely an entering wedge which is being driven into a private enterprise economy before the people are aware of the dangers involved. It builds up to the Archbishop's suggestion.

We in America have felt that the individual ownership of land and business, resting in the hands of the people, developed responsibility and pride in accomplishment which was the strength of the nation. Children in school have been taught that private opportunity in America offered any man or woman with incentive and ambition a chance to rise from the poorest beginnings to the highest places in industry or government. Saving was fostered; the acquisition of property was something to be proud of; the average man strove by hard work and sound management to accumulate some form of inheritance to leave to his family.

We have believed that the sole reason for the existence of government in a democracy was to protect the weak, to see that justice was based on equality and that the needy, the incompetent and the helpless were properly cared for. It has never been our idea that government should compete with its own people in business.

A new world trend toward socialization and the leveling of opportunity is reaching out to engulf us. Hated for the thrifty is being promoted, and accumulated savings are for re-distribution to others. These are hard, cold facts

THINKING STRAIGHT

By RUTH TAYLOR

In our hurry, in our patriotic fervor, in our zeal to be of service at this crucial hour, we must not overlook the fact that there is a need to think as well as act. Just as we drop peace-time luxuries from our lives, just as we concentrate all our efforts on work that will help in winning this war against the powers of darkness—so must we think straight toward our goal, so must we drop fears, prejudices, petty hatreds and personal preferences from our mind.

Now most of all must we learn to think straight. Elmer Davis, the director of War Information, made a statement some time ago which every one of us who fight for democracy, must well remember: Not only does our future, and probably the world's future, depend on our ability to fight straight on through to victory, it depends as well on our ability to think straight through to the end of the war and afterwards.

This is a time of complete re-orientation. We must realize that even history is speeded up these days. The changes that are taking place are rapid and we must be able to keep up with them mentally, and adjust ourselves to the idea that the way we had thought things out may not be the best way to work things through.

We must ruthlessly discard old habits of thought. We must think in broader terms. We must praise the right action—no matter who does it; and we must condemn the wrong, no matter whose it is. We must not devour for selfish motives, whether that selfishness be a selfishness of an individual or a group. We must think straight through toward the high end of victory both of the war and of the peace, and we must recognize the source of all efforts to divide us and create hates and dissension.

We must not be led astray by those who are seeking their own personal gain or the fulfillment of their ambition in this war, or the satisfaction of their grudges and

COUNTY CAN SAVE STEEL FOR 1,316 MACHINE GUNS

Fulton County housewives can save enough steel for 1,316 machine guns simply by replacing one can of fruits or vegetables a week during the coming year with fresh or home-packed produce, a leading food distributor estimated today.

"This substitution, urged by the War Production Board, will not only save steel but also conserve food by using extra supplies of fresh produce made available by increased production, canning restrictions and reduced storage facilities," according to Earl R. French, marketing director of A&P's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company.

A number two "tin can" averages .235 pounds of steel plus a small amount of tin, and a single family can save 12.2 pounds of steel in a year by the can-a-week reduction, French said. Thus Fulton County's 3,750 families can save 45,859 pounds of steel, enough to make 1,310 thirty-calibre machine guns, each requiring 35 pounds of steel for manufacture, he pointed out.

"Reduced buying of canned produce doesn't mean reducing food consumption. Housewives can balance their family diets by serving more fresh produce, and our records show that many families are already doing this. In 1941 American farmers moved 142,572 carlots of fresh fruits and vegetables to consumers through the Atlantic Commission Company, 10 per cent more than in 1940 and an all-time high record," French said.

The program would save 8,467,471 pounds of steel if carried out by all of Kentucky's 694,055 families, it was brought out. On a national basis, America's 31,000,000 families could save enough steel to make 5,000 medium tanks or 38 Liberty freight ships, and enough tin for 360,000 75mm. howitzers.

hates. We cannot afford to spend time hating them. We have our job to do—and we must think straight to it.

We have a mental code to guide us. The Four Freedoms are not just a statement of national policy, but a challenge to all of us, a call to the minds of men to think straight through to these goals, and to put them into practical application—not merely at some future date when victory rests on our banners, but here and now in our daily lives.

The war will be won by those who have fought straight through to the victory of the United Nations. The peace will be won by those who have thought straight through to the victory of the Four Freedoms.

THIS MAN Was a Poor FARMER'S SON
Your Boy Has the Same Opportunity That He Had To "Be Somebody." This Tells You Why.

SECRETARY of State Cordell Hull has pulled the Americas together into the strong union of international friendship. Hating war, he struggled to avert it. Loving his country, he is fighting like a tiger on the battlefield of diplomacy to save it and the American principles which made it possible for him to reach his high place in world affairs.

Mr. Hull is a poor farmer's son. He was born in the hills of middle Tennessee on October 2, 1871. He has always been close to the soil—a worker and a dreamer. It took great sacrifice by his family, and greater effort by himself, for Cordell Hull to study law in schools in Tennessee and Ohio. But his climb to fame as Judge, Representative, Senator, and Secretary of State never has been interrupted.

The American system of free enterprise gives your son the opportunity to get ahead unknown anywhere else in the world. There are no limits except his own abilities. Whether he is rich or poor makes little difference. To keep the doors of opportunity wide open for every man's boy we must defeat our enemies who would do away with the free enterprise system and set up a nationwide socialistic dictatorship that would control all business and the lives of individuals. That is not the American Way of Life!

"You know, Martha, we have been talking back and forth on the telephone for years. It is one of the most enjoyable breaks in the day for me. Right now, though, I called to ask you to help me help our best friend—Uncle Sam!

"They tell me that he makes millions of vital war calls every day and all his calls come on top of the calls folks like you and me make every day!

"It never dawned on me until yesterday at our Red Cross meeting, when we were chatting about cutting down on coffee and sugar, that curtailing our non-essential telephone chats would make any difference to the war effort. Here's how it was explained to me: Every call we make must go through the same busy switchboards that handle war calls.

"So you see if we, and everyone else, talk less we will help to keep busy telephone equipment free for prompt handling of the vital business of war. I don't mean for us to stop calling altogether, but just that we not call so often and try not to talk so long when we do call."

With such cooperation your telephone company's problem of serving our Nation at War will become much simpler.

MODERN MOLLY PITCHERS "GO TO WAR"

HARRISON, N. J.—Molly Pitcher

is fighting for American liberty again.

Although she is not loading and firing a cannon at her fallen husband's side, she is in this war beside her husband and is playing a part as vital as the role of her Revolutionary predecessor. For the modern Molly Pitcher is today's woman war worker, and her efforts contribute very largely to final victory.

Symbolizing the rebirth of the spirit of the Revolutionary heroine, the woman war workers of the Hyatt Bearings Division of General Motors have formed a Molly Pitcher Brigade, which, from the outside, is a group of women, bids fair to become a national movement with thousands of members.

A group of 100 women met last summer to form the organization,

on their efforts that they asked the Hyatt plant to set aside its plans for sending Christmas boxes to the men. Then the brigade took over. Through their own efforts they raised $3,500 and sent 250 Christmas boxes to the Hyatt men in service. Each box represented a cost of $3 and contained good things to eat as well as shaving cream, writing materials and other needed items.

It was not many miles from Harrison, at the Battle of Monmouth on June 28, 1775, a very hot day, that Mary Ludwig Hays carried water for the thirsty American patriots during some of the fiercest fighting of the Revolutionary War.

Legend has it that when her husband fell, Molly—then a soldier—had dubbed as Molly Pitcher—manned his cannon and kept the piece firing through the
