Loan Cooperative Plans Meeting

Farmers and their families who attend the annual meeting of the First Fulton County and Second Fulton County National Farm Loan Association at 406 Lake Street in Fulton, Ky., on Feb. 4, 1943, will hear J. C. Hamlett, secretary-treasurer of the cooperative credit group, outline the association's progress during the past year and will take part in a discussion on ways the group can render expanded service to other farmers in the future.

J. P. Williams and E. A. Thompson, association president, reported, "Our members are recognizing more and more the advantage they have gained by securing Federal Land Bank loans through our cooperative. We know these members will be on hand for the annual meeting discussions because they'll want to talk about how we can tell their folks who need mortgage credit on their farms and about of credit that has worked out to the kind well for the farmers who already belong to the association."

Other features during the annual meeting, scheduled to start at 10:00 a. m., include the guest speaker will be R. V. Robinson, Regional Manager of the Federal Land Bank of Louisville, the 25-year-old unit of the Farm Credit Administration serving 433 national farm loan associations in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee. Mr. Robinson is scheduled to talk on "Farm- ing for Freedom and the Future."

Board members for the cooperative credit association are J. P. Williams, T. E. Williams, R. B. Mobley, P. F. King, H. M. Peck, T. H. McMurry, J. M. Hepler, J. P. Threlkeld and Mack A. Mabry.

MARITIME SERVICE

RESUMES RECRUITING

The go-ahead signal for enlistment into the United States Maritime Service was given today by Lieutenant Gerard W. Cross, Regional Director of recruiting activities for the tri-state area of Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

After a 48-day halt in recruiting activities due to the President's Order of December 5th which stopped enlistments of all services, the Maritime Service has been authorized to resume acceptance of applicants for Merchant Marine training.

"The increased number of merchant ships needed to win this war is demanding that sufficient personnel be trained for this vital service," Lieutenant Cross said. "Already four ships a day are coming down the ways," he added, "and our job is to recruit and train the men who'll sail them."

Applicants must be American citizens between the ages of 17 and 35 months to 35, who are not restricted by War Relocation Commission regulations governing job-freezing.

Three to five months of intensive training at a Maritime Service training station prepares recruits for important positions aboard the new cargo ships of the American Merchant Marine. After fourteen months of sea experience, officer training is available for Maritime Service graduates. At the present time American Merchant Seamen earn the highest wages ever paid for sea-going work.

Applications are being accepted at the United States Maritime Service Office Training Building in Cincinnati.

FARM JOBS TO DO NOW

TO SPEED PRODUCTION WHEN SPRING COMES

Plant an early garden and encourage your neighbor to do likewise.

Start a farm record for 1943 and keep it up to date through the year.

Prune and spray farm orchards and vineyards before sap begins to rise.

Get baby chicks early in order to have pullets laying late next summer and fall.

Enroll in the Home Food Supply program and produce ample amounts of food for 1943.

Plan work as far in advance as possible in order to save time and accomplish the greatest results.

Prepare a statement of farm receipts and expenses in 1942 for use in the filing of income tax returns.

Farmers will find it very profitable to make special efforts to save as many pigs and lambs as possible this spring.

Buy or order repair parts for farm machinery, or baling wire, nails, staples, etc., at an early date in order that such materials may be on hand when needed.

Do as much winter plowing, spreading manure, repair work and other farm jobs as possible during the winter months. Such work will assist the farmer in getting a "running start" in the production of essential farm products in 1943.

"SING UNTO THE LORD,

O YE PEOPLE"

By RUTH TAYLOR

The songs of a nation are symbolic of the spirit of a nation. We, as Americans, sing proudly of the "Star Spangled Banner," of "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean," of "America, the Beautiful" and most reverently, of "My Country, 'Tis of Thee." All of them are stirring, heart-touching songs that breathe of patriotism.

But one thing more is needed. We have learned in this war of travail and in this time of trouble, that not only are we not isolated from the rest of the world, but that we are all one people, no matter from what shores we have come, nor to what faith we owe allegiance. We have learned that being an American is not a mere accident of birth, but a state of mind, that to be truly American is to offer a devotion, religious in character, to the cause of democracy, to accept wholeheartedly the credo that all men are created equal.

Dr. Henry Harold Horne, Professor of Religious Education at New York University, sensing the yearning for an expression of the brotherhood that is democracy, the faith that has brought about the United Nations, has written a new verse for "America"—one which does not detract from pride of country, but which gives it farther, broader meaning.

"Father of Every Race,
Giver of Every Grace,
Hear us we pray!
Let every land be free,
May all men brothers be,
All nations honor Thee,
Now and for aye."

Dr. Spence Miller, Jr., State Highway Commissioner of New Jersey, and long a leader in workers' education, has made a suggestion to the school board of his state, which should be made by each and every one of us in our own communities—namely that this verse be added to "America" and be sung as the final stanza on all occasions.

Join in singing this new song in your own community. Make this expressive verse your theme song of faith in victory, not merely of the but of the peace to come, when the spirit of brotherhood shall find practical application in the lives all mankind.

FANTASTIC

The better brains of the country have been drawn into the war administration. Politics has to be forgotten when a burgher has a gun at your head.

Domestic problems have been largely sidetracked in the public mind, as they have seemed superficial compared with the war.

Bureaucracy has run wild in Washington. The simplest acts in family life have been made complicated issues. One has but to read the requirements for cutting up a beef in order to comply with price ceilings, to see how confused a local butcher must be. Running a grocery or merchandise store has become a problem so complicated that stores are going out of business by the thousands. Instead of receiving co-operation from government bureaus, everyone is threatened with a $10,000 fine or ten years in jail or both, as the penalty for every failure to comply.

The people are heart and soul for winning the war on the battlefield. Boys from every family are there. We are proud of the results they are accomplishing. The people are also heart and soul for winning the production and distribution problems on the home front to back up our whole war effort. But they are beginning to open their eyes to waste and confusion and politics-as-usual on the home front.

The situation has become fantastic and it is high time that thousands of bureaucrats who never raised a chicken, a hog, or a cow

U. S. Marines Set Sail 167 Years Ago On First Overseas "Commando" Raid

Tun Tavern in Philadelphia, first recruiting place of Continental Marines.

ONE hundred and sixty-seven years ago the United States Marines began their first overseas expedition and under command of their leader, Captain Samuel Nicholas, promptly brought it to a successful finish. It was the 1776 version of a commando raid but ended with the bloodless surrender by a small British garrison in the Bahama Islands of a great store of supplies including 71 cannons, 15 mortars and a quantity of gun powder.

The Continental Congress authorized the recruiting of a force of Marines on November 10, 1775 after it became apparent that defensive warfare by the revolting American colonies was not enough. It was decided to form a small well-trained fighting force for foreign landing operations.

The Marines were recruited at the famous Tun Tavern in Philadelphia during November and December 1775, and Robert Mullan, the doughty innkeeper, was commissioned a Captain and served as Recruiting Officer and as Commander of one of the companies. He was both a famous host and an outstanding patriot and the foaming mugs of beer and ale which he dispensed to wash down the bounteous rations of the recruits quickly filled the ranks of the first force of 269 men who were organized and trained so rapidly that they were ready to go by New Year's Day, 1776.

Book Hopkins, commissioned as the Naval commander, had meanwhile outfitted a squadron of two ships, two brigs, two sloops and two schooners at Philadelphia. The Marines were put aboard and the expedition set forth with secret orders on January 17, 1776.

They were joined by two ships from Baltimore and on March 3rd, eight of the ships arrived at New Providence in the Bahama Islands, fired a few broadsides, loaded all of the marines into the sloop Cabot, and the first commando raid in our history was under way. Captain Nicholas put 220 marines ashore assisted by 60 sailors under Lieutenant Weaver. He offered honorable terms, was invited to a parley, and the surrender was accomplished without bloodshed on the following day. The captured guns and stores were loaded, the Governor and a number of other British officials were taken aboard as captives and the raiding force departed for home on March 17th.

Tun's Tavern remained as a patriotic shrine for many years but eventually was razed. A historical tablet marks its location on old Water Street.

There is no exact record of the first Marines' authorized daily rations, though it is believed they included — when obtainable — a pound of beef or three-fourth pound of pork or one pound of salt fish; one pound of bread or flour; vegetables; milk; beer and cider; butter; vinegar and rice or meal. But when they were in Philadelphia doughty old Robert Mullan always saw to it that they had the best of fare that Tun's Tavern could provide them from its bounteous table — and a foamy draught to wash it down.

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the blood clean and free of all poisons of toxic impurities. The act of living—their life—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure.

When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer aching backaches, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, setting up night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feeling tired, nervous, all worn out.

Present, scanty or burning passages are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. ## Windows On New Worlds

Hair-splitting is no longer a joke with the new electron microscope, which makes visible a whole world that has previously been too small for scientists to study.

1. Using particles of electricity instead of light, the instrument makes a mosquito's stinger 1/1000 the diameter of a hair, look like this.
2. Crystals, dust particles, disease-producing viruses can be enlarged to a million times to examine their nature and structure.
3. Portable, operating from ordinary power lines, it is expected to speed war research in laboratories of colleges and war plants.
4. After the war, it may be useful in many fields—for example, in searching for the cause of such diseases as the common cold.

CRADLE OF AMERICAN LIBERTY

HERE in beautiful old Independence Hall, in a small park in the heart of Philadelphia, the founding fathers of the American Nation—the Continental Congress—gathered in the early summer of 1776. Here they drew up and signed the immortal Declaration of Independence on July Fourth.

Here they pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to the cause of liberty; to the proposition that all men are entitled to live and work and worship as they please. Here the American Way of Life was born. Here our system of free enterprise came into being.

Throughout all the years since then, America has never faltered in her march under the banners of freedom. She has marched to her place in the sun as the most powerful nation in the world's history. She has succeeded because her principles have made it possible for every man to climb to the heights if he has the talents to carry him there, whatever his chosen field of endeavor.

Now, these principles of liberty and freedom of enterprise are threatened again, just as they have been threatened many times before. We are fighting on the home front and on battlefields in foreign lands to preserve these principles.

Your electric company—a product of our democratic system of business management under public regulation—and other electric companies are helping in this fight by supplying the United States more power than Germany, Japan and Italy combined—five times as much as we had ourselves during the last war.

We must maintain these principles which have caused this nation to outproduce any other... these principles born with the Declaration of Independence on July Fourth, 1776.
