RETOONGA A BLESSING, SAYS MINISTER'S WIFE

Why Felt Like: Food Old Interest

By Mrs. J. B. Retonga

Last week came a letter from a very old interest of the Rev. Mrs. J. B. Retonga,

'...the letter contained the following:

'Here is a letter from George Retonga, who has been a valued correspondent, expressing his appreciation for our kindness and hospitality.

'The letter was filled with expressions of gratitude and devotion, and it brought back many pleasant memories of the days when we had the privilege of hosting him in our home. He spoke of the joy he derived from our conversations and the comfort he found in our company.

'His words revealed a deep sense of spirituality and a strong desire to minister to others. He expressed his desire to continue his service and dedication in the Lord's work.

'In conclusion, he thanked us for our friendship and asked us to pray for his continued health and happiness.

'In response, we offered our prayers and expressed our appreciation for his loyal support and encouragement. We assured him of our continued love and affection.'
Louise Gardner, daughter of Mrs. Ted Gardner, to Coy Itutnon of Ign and Mrs. Malcolm Barham of Fullerton, the enure. It was performed at the Prince Theatre, and Mrs. Dorothy Cawthorne of Cilia took place in Detroit, January 23rd. The couple are at the home of the groom.

The Oregon Community Club held its regular monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. C. P. Williams with great attendance of members and guests.

The evening was spent socializing. The program for this meeting included the reading of a book, a short presentation by Mrs. Brown, and a game of musical chairs.
