SOLDIERS AT FRONT CANT WAIT

One of the most perplexing problems confronting the United States War Department is the problem of supplying the troops in the field with the necessary supplies.

It is a problem that involves the use of every man, every machine, every factory, and every point of the country.

The situation is such that it requires the close cooperation of all segments of society to be solved.

The War Department is working diligently to ensure that the troops have everything they need to be successful in their mission.

In conclusion, providing supplies to the troops at the front is a complex and challenging task that requires the efforts of everyone involved.

The War Department is committed to doing everything in its power to ensure the success of the troops.
