THE LISTENING POST

● In World War I there was one naval engagement which lacked but little of going all-out for results. In this battle the Germans and British threw everything they had against each other for the greater part of a day and in point of losses it was a sort of German victory. But the Germans could not afford the losses they had to take, although they inflicted heavier losses on the British, and so Jutland was decisive. The German high seas fleet never came out again after that engagement except on that bitter day when it steamed to Scapa Flow to surrender and scuttle itself. The British fought the Germans at Jutland that day with every type of fighting ship and the Germans answered in kind. Many capital ships were sunk that day, but the British had the ships to spare and had the Germans not broken off the engagement and fled back to port would have destroyed the fleet which the Kaiser had built up during the preceding twenty or thirty years.

● That battle, while decisive in its results, was not as complete as some other battles fought by fleets, and perhaps not as decisive as one that I believe to be shaping up in the Pacific, and which may come at any time. Nelson destroyed enemy fleets, and the Armada of Spain was also almost completely wrecked by the British many years ago, and it seems probable to me that such a decisive fight may be shaping up between the Allied fleets and the Japanese in Pacific waters. That is, if the Japanese care to test their strength. It is something which must come sooner or later, and it seems to me that if the Japs are to fight at all they must fight soon, lest they have to fight under worse circumstances a little later.

● Two things have conspired to bring about this condition. First is the greatly accelerated pace of building warships in this country. No nation has ever built ships as swiftly as we have been turning them out since Pearl Harbor, and the chances are that the record made by American ship builders in this two-year period has never been remotely approached. No one except those in authority can say how many ships of war have been added to the United States fleet, but piecing together different items one can get a general idea that we now have the most formidable fleet a Nation ever had. It is an overall fleet, too; meaning that it is well balanced, with battleships, carriers, cruisers, destroyers, big ships, little ships, auxiliary ships and all the vessels which a fighting force must have. Next is the ousting of the Japs from the Aleutians. This freed a vast number of ships which had been held there to protect the flank of American fighting forces in the Pacific. Coupled with this was the clearing up of the Mediterranean area, thus freeing some more naval power of the British. This, however, has not been shifted, in all probability to the area policed and patrolled by United States naval units. Most of this, if it has been moved, will likely bob up in the Indian Ocean to spearhead and support a drive down through Burma by the British Indian army.

● In any event, developments of the past few weeks clearly show that United States task forces are practically going where they please when they please. Carriers and battleships rake Jap-held islands at will almost and planes from the many of the new carriers make life miserable for the Japanese on many an island base. Openly United States forces challenge the Japs to a showdown fight, anywhere, any time, and the chances are that when the Japs think they can meet the challenge they will do so. Naturally we cannot expect to win such a fight without heavy losses, for the Jap fleet is still a formidable force. When it collides with out fleet we can expect heavy losses—but I should say also that we can confidently expect victory.

New Landing Is Effected By Marines

Progress Is Made On Two Other Isles In Pacific

U. S. Marines have landed on Abemama atoll, eighty miles southeast of Tarawa in the northern Gilberts, and have improved their position in both Tarawa and Makin atolls.

This was disclosed yesterday in a communique from Admiral Chester W. Nimitz at Pearl Harbor as the public anxiously awaited news of progress of assaulting forces engaged in bitter fighting against Japanese artillery, machine guns and pill boxes on Tarawa.

The communique from the commander-in-chief of the Pacific was encouraging but brief on this phase. It stated only that "Our troops have improved their position on Tarawa and Makin atolls, but are still encountering considerable ground resistance."

Opposition Believed Light

The Abemama (Apamama) assault was confined to one sentence: "We have landed on Apamama atoll."

This atoll was believed to be lightly defended and the fact no mention was made of opposition was seen as encouraging.

Simultaneously Admiral Nimitz disclosed that Vice Admiral Raymond A. Spruance of Indianapolis is directing Central Pacific operations and Rear Admiral Richmond K. Turner is in command of amphibious forces.

RECEPTION TONIGHT

There will be a reception tonight at the First Methodist Church honoring the new pastor, Rev. Walter E. Mischke, and his family, and all church members and friends of the church are cordially invited to be present. The reception begins at 7:30 and continues until 9:30.

Food Czar Cry Is Heard As Debate Ends On Food Subsidy

Washington.—New pressure for appointment of a food czar, with control over prices as well as production, was exerted today as the House weighed the pros and cons of measure outlawing consumer subsidies.

Representative Jenkins (R., Ohio), chairman of a special Republican food supply committee, said he would suggest to his colleagues Monday the advisability of offering the food czar idea as an amendment to a bill extending the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which includes the subsidy ban.

The strategy grew out of two days' debates over the administration's system of financing price rollbacks with subsidies. Representative Ramspeck (D., Ga.), the Democratic whip, said he thought the House would reach a decision on the subsidy issue late Monday and advanced the belief the anti-subsidy group is "even stronger" than it was last July.

GO TO CHURCH, THANKS DAY PLEA TO STATE

Frankfort, Ky.—Governor Johnson proclaimed Thursday, November 25, Thanksgiving Day in Kentucky today.

"In this critical year, as we join with other liberty-loving nations in a war for the preservation of our cherished rights," the Governor's proclamation read, "we are thankful that the Nation is meeting the test of war with courage."

"As we look upon a world where freedom and justice have perished from many lands, we are deeply grateful to the founding fathers of this mighty republic and are mindful of their devotion to the cause of liberty and democracy."

Observance of the day, the Governor said, should include "a visit to a house of worship as well as appropriate display of the American flag."

Deferment Bill Sent To President

Senate Votes National Pool As McNutt Protests

Washington.—Legislation to put prewar fathers at the bottom of the draft list won final Congressional approval today, in the face of an assertion by Chairman Paul V. McNutt of the War Manpower Commission that it is "sabotage of sound administration" of the manpower program.

The bill, sent to the White House by the Senate, places fathers of children born before September 15, 1942, in a national pool, and declares that none of them shall be inducted if a nonfather is available for call by any local draft board anywhere in the country.

That's One 'Catch' In It

Senator Johnson (D., Cal.), a member of the Senate House conference committee which drew up the legislation in final form, estimated that the net effect would be to postpone the drafting of some fathers for "two or three months."

Some Senators questioned that it would have any practical effect on the drafting of fathers, however, because of an "escape clause" written into the measure at the request of Selective Service officials.

POLICE COURT

Three were fined yesterday in Fulton Police Court by Judge Lon Adams. Enloe West was fined $10 and costs for being drunk in a public place; Pope Binford, colored, was fined $10 and costs on the same charge. Thomas James colored, was fined $7.50 and costs on a speeding charge.

Shift Of U-Boat War To Indian And Pacific Oceans Is Seen As Possible

Washington.—The Germans still may have some tricks up their sleeves in U-boat warfare, even though their fight is desperate and doomed.

Among Naval experts here there is some belief that in the months ahead the Nazis may attempt to expand their undersea offensive from the Atlantic into the Indian Ocean and perhaps the Pacific. It may be that in co-operation with the Japanese they already have prepared bases.

This would amount to a major change in enemy submarine warfare and would call for consequent changes in strategy by Allied forces defending global supply lines. Until the defensive strategy could be perfected the Germans might hold a temporary advantage and send upward the curve of Allied ship sinkings, which for months has been extremely low.

The aim would be, of course to force dispersal of the Allied forces which have crushed the U-Boat offensive in the Atlantic. The Germans and Japanese could hope at least to delay the hour of final decision.

The Germans, in the last few months, have been losing submarines at the rate of thirty a month—faster than they are believed able to build them—and they have not been sinking Allied ships in great numbers.

Rear Admiral Francis Low, chief of staff for the Tenth Fleet, the American anti-submarine force, says, however, that Germany still has "a great many submarines left and they have a great deal potential power."

LEONARD CONNER DIES YESTERDAY AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Funeral Services Being Held This Afternoon At Hornbeak Funeral Home

Leonard Conner, 71 Fulton resident for many years, passed away yesterday morning about 9:30, following an illness of several months. He died at his home at 110 West State Line.

Funeral services are being held at 2 o'clock this afternoon by Rev. Houston Southard, pastor of the Little Bethel church near Wingo. Burial will be at Little Bethel cemetery in charge of the Hornbeak Funeral Home. The body will lie in state at the funeral home until service time.

Mr. Conner, a native Fulton citizen, is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ada Bell Pittman Conner; a daughter, Mrs. Hannibal West of Crutcherfield; two brothers, Walter and J. D. Conner of Fulton, his step-mother, Mrs. Lula Conner of Crutcherfield; a stepdaughter, Mrs. J. N. Wrather of Paducah; a granddaughter, Miss Julia Wrather; 3 grandsons, T. L. Wrather of Fulton, Sgt. Wilbur Lee Wrather of Hawaii and Paul Wrather; four step-brothers, Finis Conner of St. Louis, Pfc. Cletus Conner of New Jersey, Floyd and Cloys Conner of Crutcherfield; four half sisters, Mrs. Goldie Arant of Missouri; Mrs. Truman Doughty of McConnell; Mrs. Onice Jackson of Crutcherfield; and Lois Conner of Crutcherfield.

Mr. Conner was a member of the Baptist church and for the past seven years has served as engineer of the City Water Works.

AILING MOSELY FREED DESPITE MANY PROTESTS

London.—Britain's pre-war Fascist leader, Sir Oswald Mosley, and his wife were released secretly from Holloway Prison before dawn today and were whisked into seclusion as a nation-wide protest increased in tempo.

The Mosleys were reported to be in an Oxfordshire hamlet tonight, protected from the hue and cry against the government's decision to free them on the grounds of Sir Oswald's general debility and phlebitis.

Orators at street-corner rallies demanded bitterly today: "What are we fighting against—phlebitis or fascism?"

Described as "Very Sick"

The former Blackshirts leader, whose second wedding in 1936 was attended by Adolf Hitler, was described by Baroness Ravensdale, sister of his first wife, as a "very sick man" and depressed by his imprisonment since May, 1940. She said she thought the workers' protests were "extremely unfair."

Major Haden Guest, a Laborite, announced, however, that he would ask the Home Secretary, Herbert Morrison, in Parliament "Why, as medical and nursing services provided in Holloway Prison are adequate for prisoners confined there, it is necessary for medical reasons to remove Sir Oswald and Lady Mosley from detention in that institution?"

FOOTBALL BANQUET TO BE HELD TONIGHT BY ROTARY CLUB

F. H. S. Bulldogs To Be Honored At Annual Banquet

Coach Jimmy Baker and his 1943 Bulldogs will be the guests of honor at the annual Football Banquet, sponsored by the local Rotary club, tonight at 7 o'clock at the cafeteria of the new school building. Rev. R. D. Martin, pastor of the First Baptist church, will be the speaker at the affair.

Others guests at the banquet will include, Miss Betty Lou McClellan, football queen, and a cheerleader.

Men In The Service

Altus Army Air Field, Altus, Okla.—Aviation Cadet Lane E. Spence, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rice M. Spence, Route 4, has arrived at the Altus Army Air Field to begin the final nine-week phase of his military pilot training. After flying approximately 70 hours in two-engine training planes and taking 70 lecture-hours of combat subjects in ground school, Spence will be awarded the silver wings of Army Air Forces' pilot and appointed a flight officer or commissioned a second lieutenant.

Spence attended the University of Kentucky from September, 1942, until he began pilot training last March. At Fulton High School he was a member of the football, basketball and track teams for three years. He captained his basketball team for two years and participated in the Kentucky State Track meet in 1942.

Other Kentucky men beginning their training at Altus are Matt R. Williams, Jr., Ft. Thomas, Robert L. Stiles, Louisville, Joseph L. Vanfleet, Jr., Louisville, and Louis G. Starks, Murray.

Morgan Omar, Jr., Fireman 1c in the U. S. Navy, who has been in active service in Mediterranean Sea for sometime, was in New York City for five days recently, and called his sister, Mrs. Ben Davis, here. He said he was getting along fine, but had seen lots of action.

His address is: Morgan Omar, Jr., F. 1c, U. S. S. Nicholson; 442, Care Fleet Postoffice, New York, N. Y.

Chattanooga, Ten.—Perhaps they aren't down on the O. P. A. ration list, but freshmen are mighty scarce these days.

The Chattanooga College of Laws enters a new term soon without a single first-year student for the first time in its forty-five years of operation.

DIVORCE TO WIFE PROVED FAITHFUL BY LIE DETECTOR

Chicago.—A lie detector test today convinced Patrick Lyons that his wife has been faithful, so he agreed not to contest her divorce suit.

Mrs. Lyons, 25, offered to take the test during a hearing before Judge Joseph Sabath, saying, "Every since somebody patted my shoulder at a dance three years ago he's been accusing me of being unfaithful."

After his wife passed the test Lyons agreed to pay her $50 a week alimony from the $100 he earns weekly as a pie truck driver. The money will go for the support of their two small sons.

Kentucky's Spence New Committeemen

Heads Up Powerful Banking Committee In House

Washington.—A Kentucky supporter of President Roosevelt's program of consumer subsidies as a method of combatting inflation became chairman today of the Banking and Currency Committee on the eve of a showdown in the House fight to enact legislation forbidding the payment of such subsidies.

When the vote comes tomorrow, Representative Brent Spence, Fort Thomas Democrat, will be chairman of the committee which brought out the bill extending the life of the Commodity Credit Corporation. He succeeds the late Representative Henry B. Steagall, of Alabama, who largely was responsible for writing into the measure a provision bringing subsidies to an end January 1. Although Spence joined with a group of committee members a few weeks ago in a minority report which defended subsidies, it is not likely that the change in chairmanship will affect the course of the legislation.

In Congress Since 1931

Spence, who is 68, has been a member of the House since 1931 and a member of the Banking and Currency Committee for ten years. Chairmanships go to the member of the majority party who has served longest on the committee. The Kentuckian became ranking member of his committee when Representative Clyde Williams of Missouri was defeated in the 1942 election.

EMPLOYMENT TOTAL IS SET AT 64 MILLION

New York.—Total employment, including men in the armed forces, rose to a record peak of 64,700,000 persons in September, the National Industrial Conference Board estimated today.

The private research organization said employment rose 820,000 during the month, but that the number of workers in private industry, excluding agriculture, continued to decline, dropping 300,000 below the total for September last year. Employment in manufacturing industries dipped for the first time since May, the survey said.

Government Will Free Supply Of Certain Canned Food To Civilians

Washington.—The War Food Administration announced today it will release soon for civilian use part of the supplies of canned pineapple, asparagus, corn, pumpkins, spinach and figs owned and held by canners but set aside for government purchase.

"Known quantities of these canned foods that will reach grocers' shelves are 540,000 cases of pineapple and 77,000 cases of figs," W. F. A. said.

"It is not possible to estimate at present exact quantities of the vari-

Nazis Call Up All Possible Manpower

Prepare For Fifth Winter Of Conflict

Stockholm.—Germany is preparing for her fifth winter of war by mobilizing all possible manpower for military service, in some cases using 50-year-old men on the battle fronts, dispatches from Swedish correspondents in Berlin said today.

"Every German man who can carry a weapon must perform military service," said the Dagens Nyheter correspondent. New labor mobilization checks are being prepared in order to eliminate all nonessential work.

An editorial in the Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung warned Germans the winter will be hard, but "no one can take our courage from us."

This Berlin newspaper expressed belief that the Germans did not have to fear another front in western Europe this year, and that apparently because of weather the Allied bombings already had reached a climax for this year.

Journal)

Diabolically ingenious reaction working overtime could not have contrived a more effective snear of organized labor than was achieved by those coal miners who took Armistice Day off because the Government would not pay them at the holiday time-and-a-half rate. How that news sounded to an overwhelming majority of Americans, how it sounded to the man in the armed forces, is apparently beyond the imaginations of the men under John L. Lewis' spell. But the fact remains it sounded in a way that is ominous for the labor movement and also, incidentally, in a way that set at rest no misgivings about Secretary Icke's capacity for firmness as the Government's operator of the mines.

The Associated Press' Armistice Day survey indicated that 90,000 miners were idle for one reason or another, principally the objection to straight pay instead of holiday pay. This is fewer than a fifth of all coal miners—a fact which labor-baiters can be depended upon not to overemphasize—but the minority acting so inopportunely has succeeded in supplying a disproportionate amount of fuel for the wrath that is rising not only against the mine union but against all unions.

It's no use belaboring the individual miners. They live generally in the coal towns off to themselves, and there are many reasons in the history of labor-management relationships in the mines, a history of frequent fierce and cruel opposition to labor organization, why John L. Lewis so colors their view of the world that this view leaves out of account even their own sons and brothers at the battle fronts. But it's no use blaming Mr. Lewis by himself, either.

Mr. Lewis' misleadership of the miners, his bringing them to a state of mind where the events of the last eight months have culminated in Armistice Day slackness by many of them, has been designed for the sole purpose of breaking down the Government's wage stabilization program as represented in the Little Steel formula. At first covertly, now openly, the whole

Fifteen Years Ago

Fulton County is back in the Democratic column. W. H. Hampton was sworn in today as County Judge, succeeding Judge Henry McMullen, Republican, who was appointed to the office by Governor Campson following the death of Judge Chas. D. Nugent. Judge Hampton's term will last until the end of next year and the office will be open for a full four year term.

South Fulton's football team, coached by W. L. Holland, will meet Mayfield Friday afternoon. The South Fulton eleven, with green material, has made a good record this year.

Mrs. Joe Gates is improving from a recent illness at her home on Central Avenue.

The Lotus Club was entertained yesterday by Mrs. Smith Atkins and Mrs. Glenn Lane.

AFL, CIO and railway union leadership has joined in the attack and must share directly in the blame for a heedless restlessness among workers of which the Armistice Day news was symptomatic and, what is worse, possibly prophetic in the whole of industry.

BRITAIN AFTER THE WAR

(From The Kansas City Times)

The importance which the British Government attaches to the physical reconstruction of Great Britain is shown by the naming of Lord Woolton as minister in charge of that program, with what is described as unprecedented authority over all aspects of postwar planning.

Lord Woolton is generally considered one of the ablest of Prime Minister Churchill's associates. As minister of food throughout the difficult period of the U-boat blockade, he has not merely created a spectacular success of the British rationing system but achieved a degree of personal popularity perhaps exceeded only by that of Mr. Churchill himself. His new assignment is not even primarily concerned with repairing the damage done by the Luftwaffe. The real object of this reconstruction is to make Great Britain a better place in which to live than it has ever been before.

As a matter of fact, a good deal of the emergency repair work already has been finished. German aerial bombs struck some 2,750,000 houses in England and Wales. Of these, 2,500,000 have been repaired sufficiently to be habitable. The 150,000 houses that were so badly damaged that they had to be demolished have now been almost replaced with new construction. The situation with respect to public and business buildings, of course, is far worse. But the British Government has no intention of simply patching up the bombed areas. It is proceeding on the theory that the blitz was a blessing in disguise.

Tremendous expenditures are involved. The program is expected to help solve Britain's postwar labor problem, and although there are differences of opinion over details, its broad objective seems to have gained virtually unanimous support. British cities and villages may not be as quaint after the war as they once were. But apparently they will be a lot more comfortable.

LISTENING POST

As the British at Jutland could afford to take losses, so can we when the decisive battle of the Pacific is fought. We now have the edge in numbers and recent fighting clearly proves we have the edge in fighting ability.

● That the Japs must fight soon if they are to have any hope of victory must be known to them. At present rate of building the time is coming, and coming swiftly, when we will outnumber them by a very wide margin. We already outnumber them in practically all departments, and this will continue. The Japs are shrewd enough to realize this, and it seems reasonable to all observers that the Jap fleet must soon test its strength against us or face us later when the odds will be so overwhelming that there can be no hope of victory. When this testing time comes we may see a battle in those far-off Pacific waters that will go down as the greatest naval battle of all time.

Telephone Installations
Affected by Wartime Conditions

Because of the shortage of raw materials, it becomes more difficult as the war progresses for the telephone company to fill requests for telephone service. So unless you qualify as an essential user—one who is essential in the discharge of responsibility for public health, welfare or security—you may experience difficulty in getting telephone service.

If you plan to request the installation of new service or if you now have service and plan to move, a reasonable time may be necessary to determine if service can be made available. For further information, please communicate with our business office.

VICTORY COMMUNITY CLUB MEETING FRIDAY

Miss Efficiency scored again over Mrs. John Daves in the November meeting of the Victory Community Club Friday. Miss Efficiency showed that it does pay to have some system in everything, even about the homework too. Seventy-five percent of the members attended the meeting with three visitors. Mrs. Cecil Burnett had charge of the devotional and opened with a song. Mrs. Taylor, the chairman, presided and after roll call a nice collection was started on the hen shower. The time for the November or fall social was discussed and will be held in the home of Mrs. Herman Roberts on December third. Mrs. Burnett, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Roberts are on the committee for planning the party.

Mrs. Roberts gave a Landscape paper and her theme was "Putting the Flowers To Bed." Mrs. John Daves gave the lesson of the major project, "Saving Time and Energy." She gave a good lesson, and put on a little skit on "Efficiency and Inefficiency."

At the noon hour Mrs. Daves served hot coffee and the salad made by Miss Efficiency (Mrs. Clarice Howell) and Miss Inefficiency (Mrs. Herman Roberts).

This was served to the club members and visitors along with their box lunch. The program, conducted by Mrs. Burnett, then introduced a new game, "African Morris," was very interesting.

The meeting was then adjourned to meet in December with Mrs. Burnett and she plans to disperse with the box lunch for the month and have a Christmas dinner. The members will exchange gifts at this meeting.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT GENERAL MEETING OF W. S. C. S. YESTERDAY

The Woman's Society of Christian Service met in general session Monday afternoon at the First Methodist church with approximately 35 members present. The meeting was opened with a song, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The president, Mrs. Clint Reeds extended a hearty welcome to the new pastor's wife, Mrs. W. E. Mischke, into the society, to which Mrs. Mischke responded in a gracious manner. During the business session, it was decided to have the December group and general meeting on the first Monday, which is December 6th. NEW BACTERIA-KILLER CLAIMED BY DOCTOR

Seattle, Wash., —From his crude home laboratory, Dr. Philipp Schonwald says, has come a new bacteria-killer similar to penicillin.

Relating his discovery in a paper read to a medical group, the Seattle doctor said there is one definite difference between penicillin and his new "F-substance."

Dr. Schonwald said he had used his new drug successfully in about seventy-five cases, although he has not been able to make a stable product in his inadequate laboratory. "That is work for someone else," he explained.

You Cannot Build a Home

No, you cannot build a home at present, because of strict regulations during the war period.

But you can buy one. Perhaps you have had your eye on a certain place for a long time and have lacked money to make the deal. If you have a steady position and thrifty habits you need not wait any longer. We can help you with our time-tested loan plan and you can own that place in a relatively short time.

A FINE AMERICAN TRADITION

Of all the holidays the people of this Nation celebrate Thanksgiving is one of the most meaningful. The first Thanksgiving came after a period of stress and strain and worry and represented the real thanks of the Founding Fathers to a God who had blessed them in a stern new country.

This is again a period of stress and strain, and it is well that we again offer thanks to the Almighty who has thus far guided our destinies and who is now guiding us in the direction of victory and peace.

"I told 'em"

by AUNT NAN

How do some people enjoy misery so much even before it catches up with 'em? Mrs. Phipps has been verging on a nervous breakdown because she heard she may not be able to get a turkey for Thanksgiving.

I told her several million people in Europe would be tarnation glad to get a few bacon rinds, right now, and anyhow if any one gets the turkeys this year it should be our boys in the service. She didn't have much to say after that.

There are a lot of women around here who could be doing some essential work and making good money at the same time, if they mean what they say about wanting to help in the war effort.

These women maybe don't know that in many cities the laundry industry has been declared an essential activity by the War Manpower Commission. I wonder if they realize a woman can work either part time or full time in a laundry, at good wages, and not be turned away if she happens to be over forty.

Well, good bye, folks, I'm takin' a pair of chicken broth over to Grandma Pates, who's aillin'.

—Aunt Nan.

OLD CLOTHING AND RAGS WILL BE COLLECTED

The National Collection of Discarded clothing and Rags began Monday, November 22 and will continue through Saturday, December 4. Mrs. W. L. Durbin is the chairman of the women's division of the Salvage committee and is in charge of the drive.

"There is at the present time a great shortage of clothing in the conquered countries of Europe and it is necessary for America to provide relief. Therefore we are asking that all clothing which has already been discarded be donated to the drive. We positively do not want clothing which the owner intends to wear. People must not dispose of clothing which is still wearable and replace it for new clothing," urged Mrs. Durbin. "All cotton garments should be washed and woolen garments should be brushed before the donation is made."

There will be containers placed in the various churches and the clothing may be brought to the churches next Sunday, or to the Woman's club on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons. The containers will be in the lobby.

The committee chairman from the various churches are: Mrs. J. S. Mills, First Baptist; Mrs. C. C. Croft and Mrs. J. L. Hagan, Church of Christ; Mrs. A. C. Wade, Cumberland Presbyterian; Mrs. B. G. Huff, First Christian; Bill Brown, First Methodist; P. H. Shelton, Y. M. B. C., and Mrs. Robert Graham from the Woman's club.

LA GUARDIA DENIES NEW YORK IS LAWLESS

New York, —Mayor F. H. La Guardia said today that "at no time did law and order ever get beyond the control of the police department" in New York City.

He did not refer specifically to Brooklyn, where last week a Kings County grand jury presentment blamed him for an "unusual and deplorable state of lawlessness" in the borough's "Little Harlem," and where subsequently he had ordered 420 policemen to investigate.

OUR BEST WISHES

As another Thanksgiving period comes we are reminded that, despite war and shortages, we still have more to be thankful for than any other nation on the globe. We still have the blessings which our forefathers gave their lives for, and our fighting men on every front of the world are still willing to fight and die for these principles which were set forth in the days of the Revolution.

We are indeed thankful for the many blessings we have and to one and all we extend our best wishes on this Thanksgiving eve.
