NUMBER FIFTEEN

Rev. Turnbow

Addresses Seniors

Rev. L. P. Turnbow, pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church delivered the Baccalaureate sermon to the Senior class of South Fulton High School Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Turnbow brought a stirring message on "The Master Builders," emphasizing the futility of careless builders, who failed to count the cost, and the foolish builders who built on the sand. He exhorted youth to emulate the wise man who built on the rock. His message was well received and appreciated by a large and colorful congregation.

Elder Charles L. Hoover, of the Church of Christ assisted Rev. Turnbow. The Methodist choir rendered several musical numbers and Mrs. J. T. Fowlkes was presented in a solo number.

Commencement will close with the annual address by J. A. Baridale, principal of the Groves High School at Paris, Tenn.

Diplomas will be awarded to the graduates by Milton Hamilton, superintendent of the Fulton County schools, and R. A. Fowlkes will present the Awards for Citizenship, Athletics and Scholarship.

PARIS DISTRICT CONFERENCE

TO MEET IN DRESDEN

The Paris District Conference of the Methodist Church will convene in its Annual Session in the Methodist Church at Dresden, Tenn., Tuesday morning, May 11th at 9:00 o'clock with Rev. Robt. A. Clark, District Superintendent Presiding.

There will be delegates from all of the 112 churches in the district. All pastors, charge lay leaders, district stewards, Sunday School superintendents of the district are members of the District Conference and a certain number of elected delegates. There are 275 members of the District Conference.

The pastors will make their reports and all interests of the church will be considered.

One feature of the District Conference will be a special service "With our boys in Service." Each pastor will tell how many boys from his charge are in some branch of the service, patriotic songs will be sung and special recognition given to our boys.

The layman's address at the District Conference will be given by R. C. Clark of Oklahoma City, Lay leader of the Oklahoma City District and brother of the District Superintendent.

The ladies of the Dresden Church will serve lunch at the noon hour.

The conference will be closed in the afternoon with a Communion and consecration service.

QUALITY CLEANERS

NOW DOING BUSINESS

Fulton's newest cleaning plant, the Quality Cleaners, owned and operated by H. J. Easley and Bill Looney, and located on the corner of Carr street and State line in the old King Motor Company building, is now open and doing business.

Mr. Looney informs us that they will operate on a cash and carry basis with the quickest service possible at the lowest possible prices.

The Quality Cleaners will specialize on dresses and coats with Mr. Looney, well known here for years, in charge of the cleaning department.

Both Mr. Looney and Mr. Easley are well known in business circles here and are confident that their cleaning establishment will enjoy a good business.

FULTON HOSPITAL

Mrs. Curtis Murphy is improving. Henry Thomas was carried to Memphis Tuesday, but returned to the hospital here.

Mrs. H. B. Gibson and baby are doing nicely.

Mrs. C. F. Watherspoon is doing alright.

H. C. Carlisle is better.

Ed Wade remains a patient.

Mrs. Rupert Browder is improving.

Louis Pickle was dismissed Monday.

STUDENT LEADERSHIP GROUP AT U. K. NAMES FACULTY COMMITTEE

An active chapter of faculty members, to take over all the activities of the organization for the duration of the war, has been named by Omicron Delta Kappa, senior men's leadership fraternity at the University of Kentucky.

This group, composed of members of the faculty who are also members of ODK, will have as its most important function the reorganization of the fraternity after the war.

DEATHS

SALUTE—AMERICAN STYLE

No industry is doing a better advertising job than are the railroads. Individual companies and the railroads as a group are carrying in the newspapers and magazines of territories served, advertising that builds pride in our institutions and confidence in our ability to produce and deliver the goods.

Not only is the wording of the copy inspirational in its nature, but the illustrations stir one's blood as they picture the tremendous sweep of this country and the motive power that links it from coast to coast and border to border.

Here is advertising which impresses on our people the mighty resources of our land, and the ability of the greatest railroad system in the world to handle them.

A paragraph from one advertisement paints the American railroad picture when it says: "A friendly wave—that's the traditional salute between the farmers and the men who run the trains. Together they are learning from the heartaches and hardships of war, how necessary they are to each other—and to the preservation of their precious privilege as free men to salute each other American style, with a friendly wave of the hand."

HARD TO DIGEST

In testifying before the Truman Committee which is seeking information on the possible coal strike and the problem of hiding down wages, John Lewis said: "One way to get cooperation is to give the workers of this country enough to eat."

With coal miner's wages around $1 an hour, it is hard to digest such a statement. In the best-fed country in the world, the public would not want to see any group of persons going hungry, but it would like to see more proof that a hunger condition exists with men who are being paid $1 or more an hour.

If these men are going hungry, a large percentage of the people of the United States are also going hungry, for it is probable that a majority of them do not make average monthly wage of the coal miner.

We are face to face with the question of when this nation will call a halt to the constant inflation of war wages. Inequities may remain that need correction in particular cases. But the day of the grand hold-up on threat of strike must end or we might as well kiss any check on living costs goodbye.

A GOOD EXAMPLE

Recognizing the many new fire hazards that rapidly expanded war industries have created in the United States, the National Board of Fire Underwriters has been exerting itself to bring the seriousness of the situation to the attention of the citizens and public officials in all parts of the country. Already hundreds of lives have been snuffed out by preventable fires in war congested areas. That such fire prevention efforts are bearing fruit, is indicated by the action of the commissioner of public works in Portland, Oregon, who has filed a formal protest with the Housing Authority of Portland against fire hazards that have been permitted in the war industry housing projects of that city. The mayor of Portland and the fire marshal have joined with the commissioner in seeking to bring about corrections.

Fire hazards must be removed. The action Portland has taken should be duplicated by every city with war housing and factory conditions which endanger life and property.

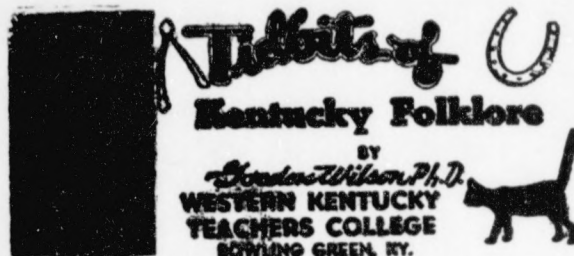

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

American flyers with the RAF are raining demolition bombs on Nazi cities today. These instruments of destruction so important in razing Nazi war plants, interrupting railroad transportation, and other war objectives, range now unto several tons.

The 500-pound demolition Bomb is one of the lighter ones. Bombs are attached to facilitate handling and the fins are not attached until the Bomb reaches the airfield, because bending would injure accuracy. They cost up to $500. Your purchase of War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan will help provide Bombs for our airmen. Let's "Top that Ten Percent."

HOT TIME IN THE OLD TOWN

In the tragic first days after Pearl Harbor, when our soldiers were trying to delay Japanese until help could arrive in the Philippines, I lived again the days of 1898, when Manila was in the headlines of our St. Louis Republic much as it was in all headlines in late 1941 and early 1942. I was just a small lad then, still under nine, when the Spanish-American War occupied for a few brief months the attention of the world. So these have people become with daily papers and radio newscasts that few can know the thrills we had then with our week-old news. Pictures of Admiral Dewey soon were found in the poorest country homes. We took out a broken piece of mirror from a mahogany frame and put Dewey's picture there; I am willing to gamble that it is still there, just as was in 1898, though the frame may be stored away somewhere in my sister's belongings. We even knew some soldiers who were in the Cuban part of the war; one boy of a family that we always claimed kin with was a victim of disease during the struggle. And by and by came the stirring strains of "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight," the theme song, you might say, of Dewey's capture of Manila. The local fiddlers learned to play it; my sister wrote the words down in the composition book where she kept such things long before sheet music drifted into our area. The tune meant that and nothing else to me until I went away as a junior to a big university and heard it played as a rallying song just before a big football game. When I heard its strains up the street toward the university, I knew that a street full of gay youngsters would soon be coming by, enthusiastically stopping all traffic for the time being and carrying on as only American college youth can.

Six years after the Spanish-American War Japan and Russia joined in fearful conflict. Unpronounceable names appeared in our papers and stumped even the wise-acres, who seemed ordinarily to know everything. How many times lately I have seen some of those same names in print! Some of us, who studied geography as a sort of fairy-tale book about strange lands and peoples loved to mention, somewhat casually, Vladivostok and Mukden and Yokohama, as if they were places in the next county.

Sandwiched in between these two conflicts and engaging our attention was the Boer War in South Africa. Johannesburg and Bloemfontein did not daunt us; our vocabulary was forever widening. And we learned about Cecil Rhodes and other famous people who figured in the dis-

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

CONTROL CAN DO WHAT PROHIBITION CAN'T!

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, I didn't realize till the other night when I ran across an article in the paper what a whale of a lot of industrial alcohol the government needs for the war."

"I should say it does, Chat. I understand the beverage distillers around the country are producing about 240,000,000 gallons of industrial alcohol this year for ammunition, tires, and other things. I'd say it's mighty fortunate these distilleries are available to do the job. Otherwise, if we still had prohibition, the government would have had to spend millions of dollars and use up a lot of critical materials to build plants... to say nothing of all the time it would take. It might have been just another case of 'too little, too late'."

GOOD EGGS WILL HELP WIN THE WAR

Getting every egg produced to the consumer in good condition is important this year. Good eggs will help win the war. Unusable eggs cost Kentucky poultry raisers a million dollars a year and much of this loss is due to roosters running with the flock in the summer.

Now that the hatching season is over, poultry raisers should sell their roosters. Hens lay just as well without roosters, and some people think better. Also, roosters eat a lot of feed. And the hens will lay eggs, while the roosters will not.

Infertile eggs—that is, eggs produced without roosters—keep better than fertile eggs. In fact, it is next to impossible to keep fertile eggs in midsummer. They should be taken to town almost every day, while infertile eggs may be kept several days, although they should be sold two or three times a week.

In addition to the fact that roosters are useless after hatching season, and from hen on are just consumers of valuable feed, their sale at this time will help increase the meat supply. Chickens are not rationed, and are commanding a good price because of the scarcity of other meat. Egg buyers know they will have less spoilage among eggs after the roosters are gone. They can pay more for eggs when they are infertile.

Get rid of your roosters now! Save the valuable feed they will eat, and use it to feed the hens better. Hens lay eggs! Roosters eat!

Time Your Travel to Ease the Mid-Summer Rush

Choose the Spring Months for Needed Health and Business Trips

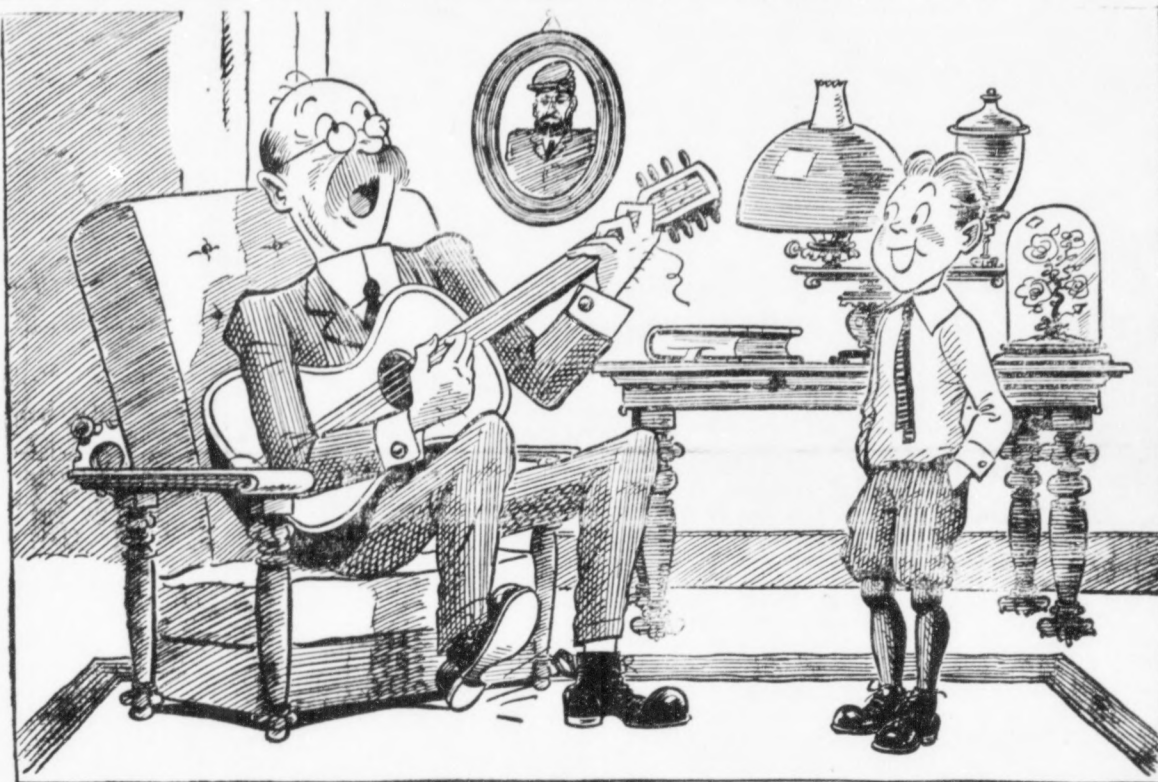

Correct timing takes on new importance these days—particularly when it helps vital wartime transportation. When a trip for well-earned rest or recuperation or for business is necessary, time it right—go before the mid-summer rush when travel is heavily concentrated in a two-month period, or postpone your travel until after this peak season. By helping to even-up travel, you make it possible for every bus seat to work full time on every trip.

Buses will serve you better, also, if you pick mid-week days rather than week-ends—and choose, from the many daily schedules, the buses which usually have more seats available. It's smart to get this and other wartime travel information from Greyhound in advance.

"... and you'll always have tobacco in your old tobacco box!"

WHEN I was a kid my father used to sing a song that ended up with this refrain: "Oh, save up your money and put it in your sox and you'll always have tobacco in your old tobacco box!"

Well, the words stuck with me, but I guess the moral didn't. No matter how hard I tried . . . no matter how many good resolutions I made . . . I always ended up even. If I made more money, I spent more money. Finally, I resigned myself to it—sold myself the idea that I was the kind of fellow who never could save up any money.

But it's all different now! About 10 months ago, I started buying War Bonds on the Pay Roll Savings Plan. Figured it was the least I could do for Uncle Sam . . . to be kicking in my 10 percent every month to help pay for the ways and means of licking the Axis.

That's the only way I thought about it . . . until just recently! Now, all of a sudden, I've discovered that—for the first time in the history of Yours Truly—I'm saving dough. Every month, rain-or-shine, hell-or-high-water, I'm sticking away a War Bond, a bond that'll bring me back $4 for every $3 I put in.

Those Bonds are beginning to mount up now. And I'm going to Keep them mounting up. For I've discovered what a swell feeling it is to be saving money . . . saving it on a plan that's regular as clock-work and twice as sure.

About the time those Bonds start coming due, my kid'll be ready for college. So you can guess what I'm going to do with the money. And maybe I'll sing my father's song to myself . . . only changing it a little:

"Oh, save up your War Bonds and put them in your sox and you'll always have tobacco in your old tobacco box!"

Distress and Torture of Indigestion, Under-nourishment, Weakened, All-In Feeling Made Me Feel Like Giving Up, States Mr. Anderson, Well Known Merchant.

Mr. G. B. Anderson, well known proprietor of the B. & M. Grocery Store, Main St., Olive Hill, Kentucky, gratefully acknowledging his happy relief through Retonga, states:

MR. G. B. ANDERSON

"I suffered torture of indigestion and a rundown, achy, worthless feeling until I feared I would have to give up. Gas sometimes seemed it would cut off my breath, I was down to one hundred pounds and I felt so undernourished I felt unable to stand on my feet to wait on my customers. For four years, I haven't known what a night's rest was like. Constipation forced me to take weakening laxatives and I felt so achy from toxic clogging I didn't know what it was like to feel free of pain. I had tried so many medicines that failed to help me, I told my daughter I need not try any more.

"Retonga is just the medicine I had hoped some day to find. I am relieved of the indigestion, achy sluggishness and toxic clogging. I have gishness and toxic clogging. I have don't believe I have felt better in years. I wouldn't take $500 for the great good Retonga has done me."

Retonga is a purely herbal gastric tonic, combined with Vitamin B-1 for relief of distress of symptoms as described by Mr. Anderson when due to insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach, constipation, and Vitamin B-1 deficiency. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Store.

ANNUAL JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET IS BRILLIANT AFFAIR AT SOUTH FULTON

Modern Warfare was the decorative theme for the annual Junior-Senior Banquet given Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the South Fulton gymnasium, and patriotic color scheme of red, white and blue, was carried out. Five members of the senior class, who are leaving immediately for service in the U. S. Armed Forces, were special honor guests at the banquet. They are: James Yates, W. D. Tegethoff, Austin Connor, James Robert Browder, and Billy Johnston. About 84 students, faculty members and guests attended the banquet.

A delicious 4-course dinner was served by the Parent-Teachers Association and Mrs. Mae Burrow, junior class sponsor was in charge of the banquet arrangements.

Billie Bell, junior class president, served as toastmaster, and welcomed the guests. James Yates, senior president, responded for the seniors. A delightful musical program was presented as follows: Louise Nanney, vocal solo, "Don't Get Around Much Anymore," Kenneth Hutchins, vocal solo, "For Me and My Gal," Tilman Adams in a minstrel number; Girl's Trio, Reba Brown, Louise Nanney, and Mabelle Harwood, vocal selection, "Somebody Else Is Taking Our Place," accompanied by Mary Ethel Landon.

The guest speaker, Rev. R. D. Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church was introduced and gave a most interesting talk, "Would You Employ Yourself." Rev. Martin's speech was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Besides the members of the Junior and Senior classes and faculty members, the following guests were present: Rev. and Mrs. Martin, Milton Hamilton, Obion County Superintendent, and Mrs. Hamilton; W. T. Lattimer, chairman of the County School Board; Rob Fowlkes, member of the County Board, and Mrs. Fowlkes; Miss Mary B. Jones, of Mayfield, a former teacher; Mrs. Ed Miller, Mrs. Jess Haynes, Mac Burrow, Mrs. J. E. Manley, Mary Ethel Landon, Louis Allen, Paul Rhodes, Peggy Scott, James Shelby, Charles Robert Bowen, Lt. Novelle Moss of Nashville, Tenn., James Wright of Nashville, Tenn., and Tilman Adams.

Mrs. Eva Gardner, who has been living in Clinton for the past eleven months has returned to Fulton to make her home. Her address here is 222 College street.
