FULTON, KY., FRIDAY MAY 28, 1943

NUMBER NINETEEN

Donaldson Opens

Campaign June 1

J. Lyter Donaldson, Democratic candidate for governor, will open his campaign in a radio address to be delivered from his home in Carrollton at 8:00 P.M. Central War Time Tuesday, June 1st. The address will be carried by WHAS Louisville, and a State-wide hook-up of all other Kentucky radio stations.

In his initial speech to Kentuckians, Donaldson will confine his audience to radio listeners since there will be no one present in his home at the time except members of his immediate family circle. He will discuss fully the whole field of State issues in his opening address and will announce the measures he will advocate as a candidate for governor.

In announcing his plans, the Carroll county candidate said that his decision to open his campaign from his home is in keeping with the spirit of the times and that, as a family man, he desires to address other Kentucky families upon the problems of government which confront them today.

Donaldson resigned as Commissioner of Highways April 1st, after serving in that capacity since January 1, 1940. Shortly afterward he announced his intention to become a candidate for governor. Since relinquishing his post as Commissioner of Highways he has spent much of his time at his State headquarters at Frankfort in a factual study of the various departments of the State government.

VICTORY COMMUNITY CLUB

A demonstration on flower arrangement to make bouquets most attractive was given by Mrs. John Dawes and assisted by Mrs. Thompson at the May meeting of the Victory Community Club, which was held in the home of Mrs. Connie Goodwin. So many lovely spring flowers were brought in to work with.

Mrs. Taylor, president of the club presided and opened the meeting with a one minute silent prayer followed by all repeating the "Lord's Prayer."

The monthly poem was read by Mrs. John Dawes, the vice-president, Mrs. Jim Dawes being absent. After roll call, which was answered by each member was "adding beauty to their home," the reading of the minutes by the secretary was read and approved. In the business part, a report on district meeting was given to the club by Mrs. Dean Collier. In June a canning demonstration will be given on war time methods of canning, also a demonstration on preservation of foods by dehydration, etc., this will be a special lesson. The regular club meeting will consist of election of officers and plans will be made also in June for the International day, which is to be had in July. Mrs. Roberts gave her usual paper on landscaping and one of the high points of this is to cut plants out when thinning them rather than pull them up as pulling loosens the dirt around plants left and slows the growth some times causing them to die.

A very interesting talk was given by Mrs. Thompson on the present "Black Market" situation.

Also encouraging the farm women to learn the wild greens that are good for eating, she stressed that the women pay more attention to textiles and care of clothes and wear more simple clothes than they have in the past. Also a few rules were given by which to test the solutions used in car radiator products were put out this past year that was very harmful to the car and if you follow these rules you will know when the antifreeze is good or not. After refreshments were served the meeting adjourned to meet in June with Mrs. Ernest Carver.

DEATHS

H. A. L. EULEN

A familiar figure to Fulton passed away Friday when H. A. L. Eulen (Louis) died at the Fulton Hospital after a brief illness. Mr. Eulen, native born German, was 82 years of age and had been a resident of Fulton for 38 years. Funeral and burial took place Friday afternoon at Liberty Church, the scene of Mr. Eulen's early days in Fulton County. Rev. E. B. Rucker conducted the service, which was held at six o'clock. Hornbeak Funeral Home in charge.

The aged German, who spent the greater part of his long life in this country, was born in Oldenburg, Germany, and came to this country in 1885 after his grandmother had located in the United States in 1857. The grandmother first lived in New Orleans, later traveled up the Mississippi River and bought a farm in Illinois. Later she moved south again and located in Mississippi.

Mr. Eulen, born March 1, 1861, came to the United States when 24 years of age. He had worked as a bookbinder in Germany and when he reached New York he decided to visit a cousin who lived in Chicago. There he worked at his trade for a period of two years and then decided to visit his grandmother in Mississippi. Reaching Fulton he had insufficient funds to continue his journey and so began working here. One of his first jobs was working as a gardener for the late Henry Knight, early hotel operator here.

Later Mr. Eulen was married to Joanna Shepherd and one child was born to them. This child died in infancy and Mrs. Eulen died a few years ago. During these years Mr. Eulen worked as a carpenter and paperhanger for many people in Fulton and also did a good deal of bookbinding when called on by various people. He was a member of the First Baptist Church here for many years.

Little is known of his relatives in Germany, although until the war came Mr. Eulen did receive some letters from his relatives in the old country. About four years ago he received a letter from a nephew, and Mr. Eulen told of the contents. This nephew, who seemed to occupy a place of prominence in the Nazi government, told his uncle he had six sons all practically grown, and Mr. Eulen added the information that his

JAMES LEON SAMS

WRITES HOME

Word was received here on May 20th by Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sams, grandparents of Private James Leon Sams who is stationed with the Marine Air Corps in San Diego, Calif., of his narrow escape of death there on May 10th when a four motor bomber hit the platoon in which he was stationed. James said it crashed in the building and exploded, and set fire to everything, he said plaster, glass, boards and everything was coming down and there was screams and yells everywhere. The bomber hit about 20 feet from him, knocked him down on the floor and when he came to himself enough to realize what had happened he looked up just in time to see the entire roof falling in on him. Some of the fellows were pinned down under beams and things and there were dead and over 60 casualties (that were seriously hurt). As for him part of the wall hit his leg above the knee and part on ankle. Most of the fellows that were killed were right next to him. Out of his 63 platoon of men 35 were able to walk. James said he certainly was praised for bravery and being so calm. He is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Coston Sams of River Rouge, Mich.

MANY SOLDIERS STOP

AT U. S. O.

Many soldiers stop early at the local U. S. O. center, which has been in operation for the past seven months, and it provides food, recreation, and a place to sleep for the many soldiers who pass through Fulton on the trains and have long lay-overs here. According to the register, there has been an average of about 25 boys each day, many of them having spent the night here. Cots are provided for the soldiers, and the building is open all night.

Recently soldiers from Canada, Cuba and the Solomon Islands, visited the cabin. The largest number to arrive at the same time was 150 soldiers from Pine Camp, N. Y., who were recently enroute to New Orleans. They had not been off the train for two days and nights. Thus the cooperation of R. E. Sanford, cocoa colas were provided for the boys.

There has been a fine spirit of co-operation among the workers and response for work and donations of supplies from many Fulton people has been generous.

This is Fulton's own project, as we have had no outside help—it is something Fulton may well be proud of—and all should wish to have some share in it. Many items are needed to be kept on hand and anyone who will donate any of the following are asked to do so: coffee, tea, canned milk, soaps, paper towels, paper napkins, stationery, postcards (views and plain) current issues of magazines, lawn chairs and benches, doughnuts, cookies, cakes, sandwiches, fruits and tomato juices. The American Legion Auxiliary recently purchased a refrigerator in order that considerable food can be taken care of. Those wishing to donate doughnuts, cookies or sandwiches, will please call 839 or 9187 and we will take names and notify you when same are needed.

Mrs. S. M. DeMyer is the chairman of the center, having succeeded Mrs. Charlotte Smith.

A. A. Nelson Announces For Railroad Com.

A. A. (Pont) Nelson, Benton, Ky., today announced that he has filed as a candidate for the office of Railroad Commissioner from the First Railroad District.

"I believe that I am thoroughly qualified for this position," Mr. Nelson stated today, "and I want to pledge to the people of the First District that I will administer the duties of my office in a manner which will be for the best interest of everyone concerned.

The office of Railroad Commissioner is an important one. The relation of the railroads to the public is one that vitally affects every single citizen. I shall do all within my power to see that the needs of every community and every citizen are recognized and dealt with in a way that will be equitable to all.

I invite you to investigate my record and consider my qualifications and give me an opportunity to serve you."

Mr. Nelson is chairman of the Young Democrats of the First District and for a number of years has been active in political and civic movements throughout Western Kentucky.

MAGNIFICENT EFFORT

Contrary to the expectations of the dopesters, and fortunately for the country, private enterprise has not proceeded to lie down and have its carcass trampled into the dust by total war. It has shown a toughness and resiliency that fully demonstrates its competence to assume the burdens, whatever they may be, of the post-war era.

The retail distribution industry is a perfect example of the capabilities of private enterprise. Early in the war peremptory retail price ceilings which often were out of line with wholesale prices, squeezed profit margins previously thin. They were followed by shortages, and rationing. Presently the merchants became the official dispensers of government mandates as well as food and clothing. If the government decrees one can of beans a month per person, it is up to the merchant to keep consumers content with one can. He must also figure out how to keep his business going with no beans to sell.

How he manages to do it was recently described by the Wall Street Journal: "Magazine racks are showing up alongside the vegetable bins. Stacks of cook books are piled high on counters, giving housewives new ideas for ration menus. Space saved by diminished supplies of canned goods become a 'drug' department filled with vitamin pills, toothpaste, cosmetics various non-prescription items."

The public can be thankful that the will to live is a dominant characteristic of retailing. Every store that manages to stay in business means just that much less wear and tear on transport facilities caused by consumers getting to and from shopping centers, to say nothing of time saved to the war effort. Of even greater significance, is the fact that in normal times the retail distribution industry is a heavy employer, the chain systems in particular having been the starting point for many a successful merchant. When the war is over, the nation will sorely need every available source of private employment. Preservation of a strong framework upon which to rebuild normal operation, should be the effort of every industry today. The distribution industry is making the effort magnificently.

THE POCKETBOOK of KNOWLEDGEFORMER COACH GETS MAYFIELD POST

Ual Killebrew, coach at Fulton High School for a number of years, was named head coach at Mayfield a few days ago, succeeding Henry Cochran, who has accepted a commission in the United States Navy.

Killebrew, who coached and taught manual training here for thirteen years, was assistant coach in Mayfield last year. He resigned here to take a post with the National Youth Administration and was located in Murray. Last year he accepted the manual training post in Mayfield high school, along with the duties of assistant coach.

With a lot of material available at Mayfield it is likely that Mr. Killebrew will be a success as Cardinal coach. He had good teams here, and was generally liked by all the boys whom he coached. It is said that a vote taken by the boys who will make up the Cardinal football squad next fall was unanimous for the selection of Killebrew for the coach's position.

PLANNING ISN'T NEW

THE way a lot of people are talking these days, you'd think planning is something new.

But anybody who's ever run a farm or a factory knows that if you don't plan, you can't get the most out of what you have to work with.

To plan properly, the farmer has to know about crops, soils, seasons, tools, and stock; and the man operating a factory has to know about machines, markets, science, and engineering.

Yet for all this specialized knowledge which each of these activities requires, the managers of both farm and factory have much in common in their planning. They have the same problems—to mention a few—of employment and taxes, of costs and a fair profit, of setting aside reserves for a "rainy day."

And they have the same objective in their planning—to do everything they can for their country today, and, tomorrow, to make a fair living through greater service to their fellow Americans. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Had any news from George and his family since they moved away, Judge?"

"Yes, I had a letter from him day before yesterday. He's in Kentucky... the family's fine and they all like it there. George says he has a fine job in a beverage distillery. He brought out an interesting point in his letter 'I hadn't thought of before. He said that while the beverage distillers are working 24 hours a day, 7 days a week turning out war alcohol for the government's ammunition, tires, medical supplies and chemicals, they still are able to account for nearly a billion and a half dollars in taxes each year. That's on account of the distillery beverage distillers, though working 24 hours for the government, are still able to supply the public with beverages from the same stockpiles during peacetime."

"Quite an unusual case, isn't it, Judge?"

.... But the American System of Free Enterprise Has Enabled Him To Become One of Our Leading Citizens.

THERE'S a saying in the railroad industry that "Bill Jeffers can get any job done." President Roosevelt must have believed it, too, for he gave medals, hard-earned William M. Jeffers the staggering task of solving America's rubber shortage and bringing order out of the chaos of the founding of the synthetic rubber industry.

And Bill Jeffers is doing the job, just as he always has done it—with a laughing, tough efficiency which is as American as ham and eggs.

Mr. Jeffers was born January 2, 1876, in North Elmore, Nebraska. His father had come to this country from Ireland to work in the Union Pacific Railroad shops, and he was far from being a rich man.

When the future rubber czar was 14 he left school to become a Union Pacific office boy. Hard work and a keen mind lifted him through the ranks until, in 1937, he became president of the great Union Pacific system.

It wasn't luck that Bill Jeffers rose to the heights, except the luck which brought his father to America, where America's system of free enterprise makes it possible for your son and mine, no matter whether we be rich or poor, to succeed in life to the full extent of his own native abilities.

The Kentucky Utilities Company and thousands of other industries under the business management of men like Bill Jeffers, are working day and night to produce the implements of war needed by our glorious sons on the field of battle to defeat the dictators. And we here at home must preserve for them the freedoms for which they fight—THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE.
