the dopesters, and fortunately for Clay be, of the post-war era. They squeeze their profit margins previously thin. They line up with wholesale partners, squeezed to assume the burdens, whatever they may be. But they did not proceed to lie down and have the toughness and resiliency that fully the country, private enterprise has been fitted many times in the past to meet. Space saved by diminishing ingredients, a dash of cook books and a great higher on the nation's growing need for quick meals.

The public can be thankful that we are not in a situation today where we are catering to relaxing. Every store that manages to stay in business today that must keep up with the times and from shopping centers, is sure nothing of your next store to the next. Of even greater significance, in the fact that commerce and manufacturing is a longer umpire, the efforts of the company in particular having been the starting point for many a new businessman. PLANNING ISN'T NEW

If you are a bit of a planner, you know that planning is nothing new.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kelley are very busy with their plans for the week. They are looking forward to spending time with their family.

Another busy planner is Mr. John Smith, who is preparing for his future plans. He is looking forward to a new opportunity that he will be able to pursue soon.

Yet for all the experienced knowledge which one can derive from past experiences, new ideas must be considered in decision making. They help to keep us on track to achieving our goals.

But perhaps the most important lesson to be learned from planning is the need for flexibility. The best-laid plans can be disrupted by unforeseen circumstances.

And yet, the value of planning lies in its ability to provide structure and direction. It is a tool that can help us to achieve our goals.
