Mrs. Dean Harwood Killed When Cars Collide on East State Line Tuesday

Mrs. Helen Nelson Harwood, 39, wife of Dean Harwood and Fulton scout leader for many years, was fatally injured in a two-car collision near the Fulton Country Club here Tuesday night at 9:10. Mrs. Harwood, who suffered from internal injuries and never regained consciousness, died at 12:15 a. m. Wednesday at Hillview Hospital.

Mrs. Harwood's 12-year-old daughter, Faye, who was riding in the car with her mother at the time of the accident, was seriously injured. She was transferred early Wednesday morning to Baptist Hospital in Memphis. She regained consciousness upon arriving at the Memphis hospital and doctors there reported Wednesday morning at 6 that they believe that she will live.

The child has a badly fractured leg and possible internal injuries.

Also, injured in the same accident was Kenneth Stanley, 22, assistant cashier of the Fulton Bank. He is a patient at Hillview Hospital, suffering a severe laceration of the right leg. He also has other minor lacerations of the face and legs.

At the time of the accident Mr. Stanley was returning to his home east of town after attending a board of directors meeting at the Fulton Bank. He is married and has a small child.

Mrs. Harwood was driving west on State Line Road toward Fulton. Mr. Stanley told a reporter that he went to the shoulder of the road to try to avoid a collision, but that the cars still hit almost head-on. Both cars were demolished. Mr. Stanley said that Mrs. Harwood was driving in the center of the highway and appeared not to see his car approaching. Kentucky State Police investigated the accident.

Mrs. Harwood was employed at the Merit Clothing Company at Martin, Tenn. She was a member of the Oak Grove Church of Christ. Her husband is employed in Chicago.

Besides her husband and her daughter, Faye, she leaves two sons, Tommie Harwood, 16, of Fulton and Norman, a student at Auburn University, Auburn, Ala.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Nelson of Fulton; a sister, Mrs. Nell Pettit of Memphis; an aunt, Mrs. Leonard Allen of Fulton; and four uncles, Curtis Nelson of Fulton, Doran Colley of Fulton, Newell Colley of Nashville and Doyle Colley of Nashville.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete. The body is at Whitnel Funeral Home here. Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Oak Grove Church of Christ. Bro. Olan Hicks of Henderson, Tenn., will officiate. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Couple Slightly Injured In Wreck

Mrs. Martha Moss of Fulton and Peter Cook of Paducah were injured, although not seriously in a pick-up truck accident near Wingo Tuesday night about 8:30.

Mrs. Moss who was driving the car lost control and the vehicle left the highway, according to Mr. Cook, a passenger and owner of the truck.

Mrs. Moss was admitted to Hillview Hospital for treatment. Mr. Cook had only minor cuts and bruises and was not admitted.

"JOHNNY REB" GETS A NEW SUIT OF CLOTHES: When Hugh and Ann Fly, who maintain a lifelike statue of "Johnny Reb" beside a cannon out at the Derby Restaurant, wanted to get a new suit of clothes for their tourist-stopper, they didn't order it from a stylish eastern firm. Instead, they brought Johnny down on Commercial Avenue in Fulton, and the S. P. Moore Company fitted him out in something just as well-tailored, but in a more durable, waterproof awning cloth. (Above:) Johnny in his new outfit leaves S. P. Moore Company this week accompanied by James Hazelwood, Mrs. Grace Parton and Betty Bondurant. The trio of workers were assisted by Sebra Evans, Johnny's "creator".

Mrs. Norma Glynn Ainley, 24, wife of Rubert Ainley, a guard at Ferry-Morse Seed Company in Fulton, was electrocuted Wednesday morning at 10, while she and her husband were attempting to remove a TV antenna from the top of their house.

LAST CHAPTER WRITTEN FOR STRANGER WHO DIED HERE
By Ouida Jewell
The last chapter was written Monday in the case of a stranger, who died in Fulton two months ago and was abandoned by her husband three hours after her death.

The last rites of Mrs. Virginia M. Provost were held Monday afternoon at 1 in Fairview Cemetery, with Whitnel Funeral Home in charge of arrangements. The Rev. Oakley Woodside, minister of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, officiated at the graveside service, which was attended by only eight persons, including the minister, the funeral home attendants, two reporters and the cemetery employees.

For the past two months, Mrs. Provost's body has rested in the mausoleum at the local cemetery. Following the service Monday afternoon a group of Fultonians chipped in and purchased flowers for her grave.

Mrs. Provost, whose age was given as 49, was ill at the time, and after a few days was admitted to Jones Hospital. Two weeks later she died early one morning of uremic poisoning. Three hours later Mr. Provost, who appeared to be in his sixties, left by car for Tulsa to get insurance papers.

City Attorney Reverses Opinion of Creek Tax Legality; Another Reversal Possible

City Attorney Rodney Miller advised the Mayor and City Commissioners last Friday that the tax levy to defray the cost of building five dams in the Fulton area was "illegal." Mr. Miller's advice to the new commission and Mayor is a reversal of his statement to the News last August when he said: "The City Fathers levied the tax" and indicated that the legality of the tax levy could be determined by a taxpayer's suit. He added last August, that the tax was levied in anticipation of floating another bond issue to defray the costs of the dams. He did not know if and when such an issue would be activated, he said at the time.

Actually, the commission's legal consultant may have to reverse himself again, if the off the record opinion of one of Kentucky's Attorneys General is to be considered.

Here's the story:

The City of Fulton generally makes its tax levies shortly after the assessment of local property is completed. Last year the levy was made in April, at which time the city owed a final payment of $1,000 of the $41,000 bond issue to defray the cost of dredging and maintaining Harris Fork Creek.

Originally, the bond issue was set up to be paid in 20 years, however it was paid in eleven years with the last payment and the bond could not have been paid off and the tax levy would have had to continue its full one year course.

The "illegality" is perhaps brought about, the News was advised, by the fact that the city failed to institute the proper legal requirements with which to pay for the dams.

The question of the creek tax's legality was revealed on Friday night at an adjourned meeting of the Fulton Commission when the City Clerk made it known that a property owner in the affected area refused to pay the tax because the city had no legal basis on which to collect the tax since the last payment had been made on the bond issue setting forth the Harris Fork Creek drainage district, for which the tax was imposed.

Some informed sources said that unless the commission designates, by ordinance, the legal requirements for collecting the tax it cannot be levied, or collected again, after April or whenever the tax assessor completes his assessments.

In order to defray, the city's cost of the dams the City of Fulton borrowed $6000 on short term notes. Fifteen hundred dollars has

Reporters, Public, Barred From Session When South Fulton Names Employees

The third annual spaghetti supper sponsored by the parishioners of St. Edwards' Catholic Church in Fulton will be held Monday March 5th at the Fulton Woman's Club.

The public is cordially invited to attend. A bountiful supper will be served throughout the evening, beginning around 5:30 p. m. in a gay Italian atmosphere with appropriate music.

Baseball Meeting Is Tuesday February 20

The initial meeting of the boys' baseball program for the 1962 season in Fulton will be held next Tuesday February 20th at the KU auditorium at 7:15 p. m.

All fathers of boys participating, or planning to participate, in the summer baseball program should be present, as very important matters pertaining to the coming season will be discussed and decided.

Charles Pawlukiewicz, President, will preside.

The meeting includes all leagues in all parks of Fulton and South Fulton and adjacent territory. All students in the schools of the twin cities, regardless of their county of residence, are eligible to play, the News was advised by a program spokesman this week.

Vet Representative To Be In Fulton

B. D. Nisbet, a contact representative of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Services Men's Board will be present on Feb. 16, at the American Legion Hall in Fulton, to assist veterans and their dependents with claims for benefits due them as a result of their military service.

He will be present from 9 a. m. until 3 p. m.

"No Admittance" to the press and the taxpayers was the sign that hung outside the meeting of the South Fulton City Council Monday night. While two local newspaper reporters and an interesting gathering of South Fulton citizens cooled their heels outside the "executive chamber" of the South Fulton officials, for nearly two hours, certain city employees were hired, fired, promoted and demoted without a word of protest permitted from the taxpayers to hinder the decisions of the six councilmen and the Mayor. It was the first time in the history of the South Fulton City Council that the doors were closed to the press and the public while the elected officials of the Tennessee city transacted the people's business in seclusion.

City Attorney Charles Fields told this reporter that the meeting could not be called illegal since the officials termed their action an "executive session."

At the same time a "get-acquainted" meeting is planned by the Mayor and City Commission of Fulton, Ky. and the Mayor and City Council of South Fulton to discuss the sewage-disposal project of the twin cities. Kentucky Statutes prohibit official meetings from being closed to the press and the public.

Gilbert DeMyer told the News today that as long as he is Mayor all official meetings of the Fulton City Commission will be open to the press and the public and that he will make every attempt to keep his constituents informed of the affairs of city government.

No reason was given for the closed door session, but the South Fulton Mayor and Council did transact business that perhaps may be called legal.

All employees were rehired. The council voted to transfer Rich Gardner, superintendent of the Street and Garbage departments, to the labor pool and add to the duties of Jones Dickerson, Superintendent of the Gas and Water departments, those of the Garbage department. John Cruise, Superintendent of the Water Department, would take on the Street Department. Cruise and Dickerson were both given $25 raises. Mr. Gardner's present salary is $275.

Truckload of Surplus Adult Clothing Sent to Western State Hospital

A big truckload of adult-size clothing from the Fulton-Obion Counties' Clothes Bank depot in Fulton was donated to Western State Hospital in Hopkinsville this week, and met with grateful acknowledgement from that institution.

The clothing—all surplus to the needs of this area according to Clothes Bank officials—included over two thousand pairs of men's trousers, dozens of miscellaneous dresses, men's and ladies' suits, shoes and hats. This shipment will be cleaned, repaired and processed by the Hospital and issued to patients therein who are unable to purchase their own clothing and who normally are clothed from State funds.

Mrs. Charlotte Blackwell, Director of Volunteers for Western State Hospital, accompanied the hospital truck to Fulton and received the shipment from C. H. McDaniel and Glenn Walker. Tuesday afternoon at the clothes bank depot in the old Pierce-Cequin building in South Fulton.

Mrs. Blackwell, expressing the gratitude of the Hospital staff for the generous gift from residents of this area, stated that the money normally required to be spent for clothing for the patients could now be used for other areas in their comfort and upkeep at the hospital. Tuesday's shipment was the second to the Hopkinsville institution, the first having been made in December of last year.

The Clothes Bank in recent months has been "long" on adult garments and maintains a constant inflow of them from private sources as well as generous factory sources throughout this area. Anticipating another inflow of factory garments soon, McDaniel and Walker told The News Tuesday that the shipment to Hopkinsville helped ease crowded storage facilities here, without draining the adequate supply of adult garments that the Clothes Bank keeps on hand for needy persons at all times.

The Clothes Bank, however, is always "short" on garments of all kinds for children, and none in this group have been contributed to sources outside this area simply

The Citizens have a "right to know" what goes on

We are a bit disappointed in the city council of South Fulton declaring its meeting on Monday of this week a "closed meeting" and barring reporters and the general public from the chamber. We had thought that the quality of the gentlemen on the council was such that they were above this sort of thing.

In charity to those concerned, let us say that probably the decision to bar outsiders from the closed meeting, or "executive session" or whatever it was chose to be called, stemmed from ignorance and not from deliberate planning.

In this connection, we would like to mention these points to the South Fulton Councilmen:

1). The people of South Fulton have a right to know everything that goes on in every official proceeding of the government of South Fulton, either through being personally present to learn these things themselves, or through the Press and Radio that they depend on to advise them of said business.

2). Monday night's Council meeting was an official meeting and so stated beforehand, and could hardly be labeled anything else;

3). If the South Fulton councilmen want to hold a private discussion on anything they should in the future do so before any official meeting convenes, separate and apart from any official meeting.

4). Our reason for making these points at this time is in the interest of protecting the people's "right to know" everything that their elected officials do in official sessions of the South Fulton (or Fulton) city government. This "right to know" has been upheld in the courts of all states time and time again, and is not one that can be treated lightly when the time comes to test it.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Can you work as hard as the Communist?

Hard work—not for its own sake but for a higher purpose—is an absolute necessity if the limitless era ahead is to find man free and not enslaved.

Those who burn with determination to turn the world into a godless concentration camp throw themselves wholeheartedly into their task. They are not ashamed to work.

General Walker Bedell Smith, former U. S. Ambassador to the U. S. S. R., referred to the extraordinary sense of mission he encountered there during his tour of duty.

The Divine Remedy for Soviet Hatred Doctrine

Popular songs have been enlisted by the regime in Communist East Germany to subvert the minds and hearts of young people.

New and hate-filled lyrics have

In his book, "My Three years in Moscow", he wrote: "These men (of the Kremlin) are, in every sense of the word, dedicated men. They are without exception intelligent, able, disciplined and indefatigable. I doubt if any statesmen in the world work half as hard as do those of the Soviet Union."

Do you snatch every hour you can spare during the day, at night, on weekends, to do your bit for any one of a hundred good causes that are striving against great odds and widespread apathy to protect the God-given rights of all?

been given to the familiar tunes. One stanza goes like this:

"Hatred! . . . Scream it into every home . . . Carry it into quiet streets . . . Teach the flowers to hate . . . take revenge."

If the enemies of God and humanity "run into the streets" with hatred, those who profess to follow Him had better beat them there with love.

Carry it into the factory, into the office, into the home, the school, the meeting. In the words of a great spiritual writer, "Put love where there is no love, and you will find love."

If your underlying motivation is a deep love for people, you will be powered by the divine fire that warms but does not destroy. And you will come to a better understanding of St. John's words: "Perfect love casts out fear." (1 John 4:18).

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of THE CIVIL WAR DAY-BY-DAY (Material is from publication of exactly one hundred years ago; original wording from references in the Library of Congress, Washington. Reporting in the papers was usually very one-sided; we seek to be fair in coverage and preserve a national balance . . . ED).

BY WILLIAM H. McHENRY

Third Week in February, 1862

Fort Donaldson surrendered to Grant on February 16, 1862. The Union men had invested the fort with fewer men than were inside the lines, but reinforcements had brought the army under Grant to about 27,000. The North lost 824 killed and missing, 2,108 wounded. The South lost about 2,000 killed and wounded with 14,623 missing and captured. Probably four thousand of the Confederates had escaped from the fort and had gone to Nashville with the two Generals, Pillow and Floyd.

In the East there had been a clear policy for exchanging prisoners. The Confederates at Ft. Donaldson were paroled. There was no prison camp to keep them, and within two months many of the men had simply walked South and had rejoined the Southern army. Four officers captured at Donaldson, Colonels Helman, Hanson, Brown and Baldwin were made brigadier-generals by the Confederate government.

Within just a few days the South had lost the important battles of Mill Springs, Roanoke Island, Ft. Henry, and now Ft. Donaldson. At Roanoke Island, it was reported by a Richmond paper, only 2,500 Confederates defended the island against "150 ships, both sail and smokestack, with 18,000 men." The Confederate garrison had simply been overwhelmed, and everyone had been captured. Capt. Henry A. Wise, Jr., son of the former Governor of Virginia, was killed. His body was sent home to Richmond by the Yankees.

One of the famous (they proudly exist even today) outfits which surrendered at Roanoke Island was the Richmond - Lt. Infantry Blues. As the Richmond ENQUIRER said: "They were the elite of Richmond, made up of F. F. V. S." (First Families of Virginia.) At Roanoke Island the Union won 3,500 stand of small arms, all the cannon, and undisputed control of Albemarle Sound. The move was to help force the evacuation of Norfolk within a few weeks.

Richmond, Va., Feb. 21, 1862: The Richmond ENQUIRER said, in a bitter editorial on the loss of Roanoke Island, and Ft. Donaldson: "Sooner than surrender unconditionally, they should fight to the last man, and sell their lives as dearly as possible. Such capitulations as that at Roanoke Island and at Donaldson will never do . . .

"Far better for our cause, far better for our fame, that this war should furnish its Thermopylae . . . Donaldson had quick repercussions. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston could not hold Nashville. Bowling Green, Ky., was evacuated by the Confederates February 14, Nashville February 25.

Grant's army was moving up the Cumberland River from Donaldson. Over on the Tennessee, where that river flows north across Tennessee, a small flotilla of gunboats calmly steamed unopposed all the way up the river to the upper borders of Alabama and Mississippi. A New Jersey soldier on one of the gunboats wrote home of his surprise to find that spring had come to the upper Tennessee even though it was wintertime back along the Ohio. The same letter spoke of the friendliness of the people, and said that numbers of men had enlisted in the Union army "of their own accord."

Nashville, which fell to the Union army was rich in army stores. The Confederates had time to remove only a small part of the supplies, and to offer to citizens what they needed. Gov. Harris moved his office to Murfreesboro, and then to Memphis.

In their haste to capture Fts. Henry and Donaldson, the Yankee soldiers had marched forward in the winter weather without their tents. In Nashville they found plenty of tents . . . bales of them, and over half a million pounds of bacon with great stores of flour and even bread already baked.

Halleck, Grant's superior officer, was back in St. Louis trying to get the credit for Grant's victories. Halleck asked Lincoln to give him complete charge of the West. The only man promoted at that time was Grant. He had been a mere Brigadier-general, but on February 16, the day of the fall of Donaldson, the promotion came through.

The events of the war between the North and the South were not confined to the area commanded by Grant. On February 22 the British told the Northern warships that they could no longer use Bermuda for a coaling station. (The Mason & Slidell affair, or the Trent affair, had so angered the British that they seemed to be almost ready to take sides with the South.)

It was remarked in New York papers that Southern blockade-runners could still coal at the island . . . indeed, the island was a way-station for the lean grey ships which were carrying war-supplies to the south. In Richmond the Confederacy inaugurated Jefferson Davis as the duly-elected President of the new and struggling nation. It was a cold and rainy day, with little cheer in the air.

About Town With Ouida Jewell

I would like to wish "Happy Anniversary" to my good friends over at Clinton, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Berry of Route 3, who celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Sunday, February 4.

The charming couple were married in Union City, Tenn.

They have two daughters, Mrs. Fred Caviness of Bethany, Okla., and Mrs. Wayne Cole of South Gate, Calif., and formerly of Fulton. They also have six grandchildren, Dick, Pam, Beverly and Kelly Caviness of Bethany, and Ronald Langdon and Pamela Cole of South Gate.

On their anniversary the couple enjoyed dinner at Reelfoot Lake. A big celebration is planned for this summer when their children and grandchildren will be at home.

I understand that plans for acquiring voting machines are well advanced in most counties of the First District.

Under state law every county in Kentucky must have voting machines in time for use in the 1963 primary elections.

Larger counties have earlier deadlines.

Counties with populations between 13,000 and 21,000 must have them in time to use them in this year's elections.

Counties with more than 21,000 population were required by law to have machines for last year's general elections.

So far no county in the First District has failed to meet its deadline. Seven, including all of the larger counties, already have voting machines in use in all their precincts.

In Fulton County, officials are in the process of investigating to determine which make of voting machine is the cheapest and best.

County Judge John C. Bondurant said the county should have machines by the 1963 primary. There is a slim chance that they could be purchased in time for the November election this year.

"We've been told about some new type machines that are lighter than the older type and more easily handled and stored," said Judge Bondurant.

In Hickman County, County Judge Elias H. Padgett said, "We will have voting machines in by the primary of 1963."

Mrs. Frank LeMaster, a local registered nurse, is now employed at the Obion County General Hospital in Union City.

We would like to welcome to Fulton a couple of newcomers, Mr. and Mrs. William Pillow of 701 Wells. The Pillows come to Fulton from Detroit, Mich. They are natives of the Beeler community.

Mr. Pillow is retired. Mrs. Pillow says she has been a Cumberland Presbyterian Church member, but now belongs to the Assembly of God Church. They have moved into their newly purchased home here.

The Pillows are a lovely elderly couple, and said that they would look forward to getting The News.

Television's power to inform, even if -the watcher sometimes gets things a bit twisted, was displayed at Paducah in a story told by a post office employee.

An elderly lady asked help in filling out an alien registration form, but when asked where she was born, she said Paducah.

The employee explained that she didn't have to register if she was born in this country. But she said emphatically:

"I know better, I saw on television the other day that everyone was 'allin' was supposed to register . . . and I've been allin' for a long time."

I am so sorry to learn that Arthur Grissom has returned to Kennedy Hospital in Memphis, as a patient. We all hope him a speedy recovery so that he can come home.

There's one policeman in South Fulton who seems not to be afraid of anyone. He's a day policeman.

According to information furnished us by South Fulton city employees, this policeman Monday —on the day the council was to hire new city employees—gave both the mayor and the night fire chief overtime parking tickets. That's playing it fair—I would say.

Seems like Elmer Mansfield had a time the past few days with a con man on his hands. Now the con man has been deposited in the county jail at Union City.

According to information we received, the man—no one is certain what his right name is or where he's from—took money from several local people before he was arrested.

He said he represented certain out-of-town firms and seemed to have everything for sale. He would take an order, get a down payment, pocket the money—and that was it!

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

In one way, at least, St. Valentine's Day 1962 was definitely in orbit. That's because a surprising number of the cards carried space-age symbols and artistry along with the traditional messages of love and devotion.

Some of the messages on these "contemporary" cards were up-to-the-minute, too. For instance, one Valentine that depicted a rocket boosting a satellite into space carried a verse that stated concisely: "A Valentine Hi, to a really great guy." And then there was the circular Valentine, designed as a globe, which bore this old saying on the cover: "Love Makes the World Go Round," and inside: "Care to Go For A Spin?"

However, there were plenty of 1962 Valentines which were just loaded with Victorian charm and are nostalgic reminders of the "Good Old Days." As a matter of fact, copies of antique cards were some of the most popular Valentines this year. One well-known company which pioneered heirloom Valentines, said this type, especially the three-dimensional standups embellished with cupids, hearts, floral trellises and so on—sold like the proverbial hotcakes. And the most intriguing in this group was a gay Victorian Valentine which included a tiny music box which played the familiar, "Sweetheart, Sweetheart," opening refrain of Sigmund Romberg's "Will You Remember?"

Some of the oldtime cards which inspired "hearts and flowers" type are currently on exhibition at the museum of the city of New York. This collection, called a "rhetoric and old lace" display, featured Valentines dating back to the days when a card was considered a proposal. These old-fashioned Valentines date from 1790 to 1885.

The oldest card, dating back to 1790, is a hand-cut paper item painstakingly scissored and lettered.

A group of dainty do-it-yourself cards of the 1840 to 1860 period used the then, newly available, machine-made paper lace and colored cutouts with verses which often were cribbed from printed handbooks of passionate poetry.

The 1840's also marked the beginning of the humorous card. Sometimes the humor was unintentional, as in the case of an 1845 gem whose hand-written, impassioned verse was absent-mindedly addressed "To Mary," with that crossed out and "To Emma" substituted.

day afternoon at the Woman's Club.

The program topic was "Your Hobbies and Ours," and the hobbies, as varied as the interests of the individual members, made a beautiful display and were given brief explanations by those who brought them.

Some of the displays were: oil paintings, crewel embroidery, collections of colorful old glass, miniature glass shoes and pitchers, bird studies, rare books, needlework.

Others were—dresses, aprons, a hand-loomed coverlid and other dorned items, needle-point, petit point, and quilts (cross stitched, and appliqued, an African violet, crocheted afghans and other crocheted items, ceramics, hats, rosebuds and flowers made of feathers, decorated flat iron, genealogical research aids and finds, hand painted china.

Still other hobbies shown on display were: sterling silver, jewelry, textile paints, and a copy of the paper which will publish a history of Owen county, Ky., written by a member.

Mrs. J. O. Lewis announced during the business session, presided over by Mrs. Arch Huddleston, that a talented guest speaker will give the March program on "Selecting for Planting and Dry-of-Flowers for Arrangements."

Nancy Carol O'Mar Becomes Bride of Charles Hailey In Church Ceremony

In a beautiful early evening wedding solemnized at the First Baptist Church at six o'clock, February the tenth, nineteen hundred and sixty-two, Miss Nancy Carol O'Mar, daughter of Mrs. Robert Clyde O'Mar Senior and the late Mr. O'Mar, became the bride of Charles Glenn Hailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carmack Hailey. The Reverend Truett Miller, pastor of the church officiated using an impressive double ring ceremony.

As the guests assembled Mrs. J. U. McKendree, organist gave a program of nuptial music. She used the traditional wedding marches for the processional and the recessional.

The altar of the church was effectively decorated with tall branches candelabra holding tall white candles, jade fern trees, and floor baskets of white gladioli. Centering the wedding scene was a white bridal arch twined with plumosa fern. Directly behind the arch was a fan shaped arrangement of white gladioli. The couple knelt for prayer on a white satin prie-Dieu. Large white satin bows marked the reserved pews.

The lovely young bride was given in marriage by her brother, Robert Clyde O'Mar Junior. She wore a formal bridal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The molded lace bodice was fashioned with a jeweled sabrina neckline and long tapered sleeves. The very bouffant skirt which billowed from a basque waistline was of tulle with a short pointed overskirt of lace. Jeweled motifs were scattered over the tulle skirt which swept back into many ruffles tiers of tulle.

Her melody length veil of hand rolled scalloped edged French illusion was caught to a half crown of iridescent sequins and pearls. Her shower bouquet was of white chrysanthemums centered with a large white orchid. Tiny satin ribbons and puffs of illusion encircled the flowers.

Miss Brenda McKeel attended the bride as maid of honor; her bridesmaid was Miss Priscilla Bone. They wore identical afternoon frocks of pale mint green silk organza poised over matching taffeta. The fitted bodice was designed with a deep portrait neckline and very brief sleeves. Ornamenting the back of the skirts were loose organza panels which were caught up above the hemline with an organza Duchess rose. Another organza rose centered the waistline. They wore clips of organza loops which were beaded with pearls. Circular iridescent tulle veils fell to the eyeline. Their bouquets were of white chrysanthemums and white Dutch iris. The bouquet of the honor attendant was tied with pale yellow and the maid's flowers were tied with orchid. Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Robert Lee Hailey. The ushers were Glynn O'Mar, brother of the bride and Edward Ray Hailey, brother of the groom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. O'Mar chose a stylish sheath dress of turquoise sheer wool. Theself belt was caught with a designer buckle. Her accessories matched her dress. Her veil hat was topped with a matching cluster of flowers. Her corsage was of white Dutch iris tied with white satin.

Mrs. Hailey, mother of the groom wore a dress of jewel blue brocade silk. The crushed belt ended with a double panel drape. She wore a small matching floral hat and her accessories were of a matching color. She also had a white Dutch iris corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony Mrs. O'Mar entertained with a reception in the formal parlor of the church. The bride's table was draped with an imported cutwork cloth. Centering the table was a five branched silver candelabra to which clusters of lilies of the valley had been caught. Tall white candles also burned in single silver candle holders which encircled the candelabra. The tiered wedding cake was topped with a cluster of wedding bells and lilies of the valley. Assisting at the reception were Mrs. William Kekko, sister of the bride, Mrs. Roy Collins, sister of the groom, Mrs. Robert Clyde O'Mar, Junior and Mrs. Glynn O'Mar, sisters-in-law of the bride and Mrs. Robert Lee Hailey and Mrs. Edward Ray Hailey sister-in-law of the groom.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Hailey left for their wedding trip after which they will be at home in Fulton. For travelling Mrs. Hailey chose a two piece wolen suit of green, magenta and black plaid. With the sleeveless jacket she wore a magenta jacket. Her hat was a black velvet circle with brief veil. Her accessories were black and she wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Among the out of town guest attending the wedding were Mrs. Z. H. Powell of Hattiesburg, Mississippi, Mrs. Louis L. Latimer and Mr. and Mrs. Glynn O'Mar of Gulfport, Mississippi, Mrs. Naomi Robey of Clinton, Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collins, Roy Lewis Collins, John Edwin Collins, Terry Lynn Collins, and Miss Mary Sigler of Paducah, Kentucky, Miss Beverly Whitworth and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Wood of Union City, Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clyde O'Mar, Dwain O'Mar and Mike O'Mar of Benton, Kentucky, Mrs. William Kekko, Robin Kekko and Mark Kekko of Garden City, Michigan, Miss Linda Woodard, Miss Joan Donohoo and Miss Louise Dodson of Martin, Tennessee.

Diary

Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Hamlett of Jackson spent the weekend in Fulton with her sister, Mrs. Leiland Jewell and family.

A group of little girls had an enjoyable afternoon on Thursday, Feb. 8th, when Mrs. Thomas Coates entertained her little daughter, Carol Sue, with a birthday party at their new home out in the Walnut Grove community. It was Carol Sue's 10th milestone and most of her little guests were either 9 or 10.

There were games aplenty furnished and umpired by Carol's sister, Sandra. Then came the moment Carol was looking forward to so anxiously... time to open the gifts. She received many little-girl items, all of great import to her. Next came the event most looked forward to by the little guests... 'cause they were all normal little girls. It was time to eat, and eat and drink they did. There were cup cakes decorated with candy hearts, ice cream cones and pink lemonade. There was even some left over! Favors were given the children and pictures were made.

heard from. He had given a fictitious address, and his car license belonged to an oil company truck in Tulsa.

The only survivor listed, a Chicago lawyer, also proved fictitious.

Following news stories on the mysterious case, it was learned that Mrs. Provost had been a patient in both a clinic and a hospital at Henderson, Ky., and when she checked out her husband gave cold checks to cover the bills.

The Social Security office reported a Virginia M. Provost listed in their records, and that she had been employed briefly by a company in a Western state about eight years ago. A letter to the company proved fruitless.

For over a week after her death, Mrs. Provost's body was viewed by a number of people who were loved ones of missing women. Even Sunday a group of people came to Fulton to look at Mrs. Provost's picture.

A lovely lady, whose contributions to the social, religious and cultural life of Fulton will always stand as a monument to gracious living died in Denver, Colorado Monday, Mrs. G. W. Dimmitt, the mother of Mrs. Hugh Pigue, died at the home of her daughter Mrs. William H. Smith. Mrs. Dimmitt made Fulton her home in 1940 after the death of her husband. She was a faithful and devoted member of the Methodist Church where she served for a time as teacher of the Character Builders Class, was president of the East Fulton Circle and for many years was a member of the Suzanna Wesley Sunday School class.

She was also a member of the Fulton Woman's Club, and was active in the Art, Garden and Music Departments. She also served on the library board for several years.

Mrs. Dimmitt was born in Lincoln County, Missouri, the daughter of Joseph Henry and Julia Ann Palmer. ● AUSTIN SPRINGS Mrs. Carey Fields ●

Mr. Wayne Thomas Puckett remains a patient in Campbell's Clinic, Memphis, where he is improved, after injuries sustained two weeks ago while engaged in cutting timber. His family has been at his bedside.

Mrs. Charlie Vincent is able to be up some at her home near here after several weeks indisposed with declining health, so we hope her improvement will steadily continue.

Mrs. Paul Puckett of Puckett's Florist in Dukedom, has returned home from a Mayfield hospital, where she was hospitalized for several days and we extend many good wishes that she will be very quickly recovered.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cantrell have moved from the B. W. Westbrook farm to their home in this village, while their mother, Mrs. Lottie Cantrell is spending the winter in Nashville, Tenn., with her daughter, Mrs. Johnnie Harris and Mr. Harris.

The Rev. James Holt filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church this past Sunday at 11-a. m. and the evening service at the usual hour. Sunday School is held at 10 a. m. with Howard Harris as Superintendent.

Mr. Cleo Cherry is the leader of the B. T. U. with a fine attendance, meeting at 7:15 p. m. The church and Pastor Holt, invites all who can to worship at each service.

Miss Joy Vincent has re-entered Murray State College, since her return from Kansas City, Mo., where she held a position for the past six months. Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Vincent of Dukedom and her return home is a delight to family and her many friends. Upon entering college she now plans to finish her education.

Mrs. Buddie Johnson is a patient in the Hillview hospital and all her friends wish her a most speedy recovery. She is also a teacher at Welch Elementary school. Mrs. Travis Dacus is substituting her work in the school during her illness. So each of us send Get-Well Wishes to Mrs. Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Griffith have just recovered from deep seige of colds and sore throats.

Miss Anna Lou Vincent is reported on our sick list and has been in bed some of the time.

Mr. B. W. Westbrook of Mayfield, Ky. has been here in our midst, looking after the farm. He and Mrs. Westbrook are now retired and residing in Mayfield, where they purchased their home.

Mr. John Mitchell, owner and operator of the Mitchell Garage and Repair Shop, has been very busy here in our village, doing repairs for a number of the farmers such as tractors, all farm equipment, cars, etc. His place of business is open six days each week, so this area is fortunate to have a repair shop nearby.

CONGRATULATIONS, GENERAL—Senator Thruston B. Morton is shown congratulating Major General Dillman A. Rash, Commanding General of the 100th Division, on the "Century-men's" great accomplishments in fulfilling their national defense mission at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas. General Rash, in Washington on official business recently, called on Senator Morton to brief him on the Kentucky division's progress, progress, and problems. Senator Morton told General Rash that "the high degree of proficiency shown by recruits trained by the Century Division is eloquent testimony to the dedicated effort of every man in your command."

Research Center At UK To Benefit All Kentuckians

The Agricultural Research Center now under construction at the University of Kentucky "will help Kentucky farmers further to increase their efficiency in production and marketing, and the processors of agricultural products in improving their efficiency. This in turn will directly benefit all Kentuckians."

So says Dr. William A. Seay, acting dean of the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

In addition to housing a tobacco research laboratory, the center will provide facilities for research in other field crops, in horticulture, forestry and floriculture, and an expanded program of research in the animal sciences, food technology, dairy manufacturing and management, and agricultural engineering.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on the initial phase of the $7,500,000 center—a complex consisting of three greenhouses, a headhouse and a utility tunnel. Expected to be completed in April at a cost of about $300,000, the greenhouse-headhouse construction is financed in part by a $100,000 appropriation from the Agricultural Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Next step in the center's development will be the taking of bids, probably this month, on a large laboratory-office building expected to cost about $4 million. Construction of this building will get under way soon after bids are received and is slated for completion by next November.

Plans call for the center eventually to have 16 greenhouses, a seed laboratory building, a food-processing and nutrition building, a livestock arena, and an auditorium that will seat 500 persons.

Farm Group To Have Meeting

More than 400 representatives of farmer cooperatives throughout the state are expected to attend the 10th Annual Agricultural Cooperative Conference at the University of Kentucky, February 19-20.

A program entitled "The Latest Development in Cooperatives" will be presented by state and national leaders.

Home News In The News

Farm News, Meetings, Events

(Ed's note: the following information, supplied THE NEWS by the USDA, ASC, nearby County Agents and agricultural agencies will be of special interest to progressive farmers in the Ken-Tenn area):

ADVANCE PAYMENT AVAILABLE UNDER FEED GRAIN PROGRAM:

Producers who participate in the 1962 Feed Grain Program are entitled to payments for diverting acreage from production of corn and grain sorghum, according to Roy Bard, Chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Up to half of the estimated payment to be earned may be paid in advance when the producer signs up under the program.

Chairman Bard said his program provisions should be of substantial benefit to growers who can use some extra ready cash during the spring planting season. Signup for the program runs from Feb. 5 through March 30.

The program offers payments to producers for diversion of feed grain cropland to approved soil conserving uses. The program is voluntary but farmers who cooperate must divert a minimum acreage in order to be eligible for price support on the normal production of their 1962-crop corn and grain sorghum acreage.

Payments under the program will be in the form of a cash advance or a feed grain certificate, whichever the producer chooses. Each county will have two county average rates of payments per acre for corn and two for grain sorghum.

Farm payment rates will vary according to the farm's productivity in relation to the county average productivity and the number of acres diverted.

The minimum acreage for diversion from corn or grain sorghum will be figured from the "farm base" which is determined from the average acreage on the farm used in producing the crop in 1959-60. The minimum reduction is 20-percent of the base. The maximum depends upon the size of the farm base.

Farmers who are interested in participating in the 1962 feed grain program should get in touch with the county ASCS office at their earliest convenience.

Valentine's Day is believed to come from the old Roman festival of Lupercalia, reports World Book Encyclopedia. The festival was held on February 15 in honor of Juno, Roman goddess of women and marriage, and Pan, god of nature.

1961-BEST FARM YEAR AND '62 LOOKS GOOD

All through 1961—promises have been made that farmers would fair well. Many have disputed this fact and many have even made fun of the statement. It is now a reality however, that 1961 will be one of the best if not the best year that farm families have ever enjoyed.

Conservatively speaking, it now looks as though farmers will share 1 billion more net income this year than they did last year. This will make 1961 the highest net income year farmers have ever enjoyed. It is also said by the Economists that next year will be about the same as this year.

The best indications are that gross income from farming this year will amount to almost 40 billion $. This will be up 1 1/2 billion $ from last year. Also from non farm jobs, present indications are that another 8.7 billion $ will be picked up by farmers. It looks as though the record gross income for farmers in 1961 will be a record breaking 48 billion $ plus. In fact almost 49 billion $.

Expenses of farmers have also increased this year to the tune of at least 1-2 billion $, making a total as far as expense is concerned of 26.9 billion $. Farmers then will have a net farm income of 21.7 billion $, which includes money received from all sources. Net farm income per farm unit will hit a new high of $5,564 this year. One reason for this increase is due to fewer farmers to share it.

These facts do not however mean that farmers are doing as well as they should. It simply means that with the new farm programs for 1961, increased price supports for many commodities, plus the feed grain program—that farmers have done much better than in preceding years. We have a long way to go before farmers will be on an even level with others who do not take the chances or make the investments in a business that farmers have.

It is gratifying to know that 1962 looks like it will also be a good year. In fact, it is said by those in power that we will do all right in 1962. Let's hope that this will be true because farm families need it and it will be good for our country. The better farmers fare in the field of economics the better off the country is.

DID YOU KNOW

Farm real estate taxes are about three times as high as they were back in 1942. In fact, the rise in farm real estate taxes has been uninterrupted in the past 18 years. Increases have averaged about seven per cent per year. The Department of Agriculture attributes this rise to the sharply increased cost in local governments, which are financed in rural areas primarily by the property tax. Local government costs jumped fourfold from 1949 to 1959. The depression and the war years left local governments with a backlog of capital requirements and they had to pay higher prices for the things needed to meet them. Population growth and demand for more services added to the problem. Farm real estate taxes in the 48 states—not including Alaska and Hawaii—totaled one billion, 284 million dollars in 1960. They increased in every state except Delaware, where they remained the same as in 1959. Biggest increases were in Florida, California, and New Jersey.

A THIRD FARM IN ITALY

Rome—Although industry has replaced agriculture as the dominant factor in Italy's economy, now accounting for half the national income, farming still contributes about 20 percent and employs one third of the work force.

Fulton County 4-H Youth Gets State Essay Money

A Fulton County 4-H Club member, Harry M. Watts, Hickman, Route 4, has received a $25 cash presentation for his part in a State weed-control essay contest.

James Herron and Joe F. Freeman, UK Ag Experiment Station weed control researchers, and members of the North Central Weed Control Conference, said young Watts received the payment for his essay from the Conference.

The essay, entitled "How We Control Weeds On Our Farm," was entered in the weed control group's annual weed-control-essay contest for youngsters. Watts' essay went on to regional competition (and placed seventh there) with entries from six other states and three Canadian provinces.

Regional winner gets $300 for a scholarship to any college of his choice, the UK staff members said.

Watts will be recognized at the Purchase Area's annual 4-H Club Rally Day.

The contest is an annual one. Details on it will be available in the near future to county agents.

off-the-record information? Obviously they do, but if their opinion of us is so low-brow, there are some times when we can return the compliment, but two-fold.

But all the while these public officials are snubbing the press at important gatherings, they will come to us with the pious, holier-than-thou, community-spirit bit, "to tell this thing to the dear people so the tax bite won't seem too bad." It's happened many times before. We're not so sure we'll be that gullible again.

I won't forget the instance of a Fulton City Commissioner who sat in our office at the radio station and at the News more than he sat at home while he was campaigning. He promised us press conferences every week. He promised the taxpayers "beef" sessions to air their differences. He promised so many things that whenever I find a few minutes to read some fraudulent literature I'm going to re-read his promises and his unequivocal endorsement by an organization that never existed except in his own typewriter.

This same fellow has tossed the foulest invectives at members of the press for printing facts that the people should know and he not only does not frequent our offices anymore, I rather imagine he'd burn the places if he had the chance. In totalitarian countries dictators have tried to burn up and throttle the press with torches and flames. It has never worked. And it has a far less chance of being throttled with threats, intimidation and vulgarity here in Fulton.

month. As a laborer he would get $1.15 an hour.

Mayor Milton Counce vetoed this action, until the next regular council meeting.

The salaries of the Chief of Police, Elmer Mansfield, and Fire Chief Neil Clinard, were raised by $25 a month. The policemen and night fire chief got a $10 raise.

Charlie Toon was added to the police department and one man, Kenneth Hutchens was hired as an additional employee on the fire department.

Mayor Counce told the council that the Rev. Hulon Allen, pastor of South Fulton Baptist Church had issued a complaint about some stores staying open certain hours on Sunday. There is a Tennessee State Law and a South Fulton city ordinance dating back to 1918 prohibiting such, but the council after a discussion on the matter chose to "take the matter under advisement."

Mrs. Norris Dame was rehired for two years as City Recorder at $275 a month. Her two assistants, Mrs. Marie Wright, and Mrs. Woodie Lilker were rehired on an hourly basis at $1.25 an hour.

The chief of police was hired on a two year basis at $300 a month; and J. T. Brckwell and James Adams' salaries were raised to $275 a month. Mr. Toon, the new policeman, will receive $250. The patrolmen were hired on a monthly basis.

Fire Chief Clinard was hired on a two year basis at $300 a month, while Malcolm Pruitt will receive $275. He was hired on a monthly basis. Hutchens, the new addition to the fire department will receive $1.15 an hour.

Ira Cloys will continue to pick up garbage under the city supervision until the remainder of the month, pending their further study of the garbage pickup.

Rehired on the labor pool were J. B. Lecornu, Ernest Hill, Alex Stunson, Shirley Hopps and Roland Ray. Mr. Hill and Mr. Ray will receive $1.15 an hour, while the others were hired at a $1.00 an hour.

Prior to the council adjourning to private quarters, a discussion was held on the joint meeting of the Fulton and South Fulton city officials at the Park Terrace on Monday night, Feb. 26. The Fulton commission voted Friday night to invite the South Fulton council to meet with them in closed session to discuss the proposed sewage disposal plant to be built in South Fulton.

Also, a meeting on sewage disposal to be held at Paris, Tenn., which will be attended by both Fulton and South Fulton officials, was discussed.

Left sitting in the city council room, while the council met for over two hours in the police office were reporters, city employees and interested citizens, gathered for the "official" council meeting.

Warren Thompson, Field Agent in Agronomy of the University of Kentucky, will be at the Palestine Community House next Tuesday, February 20th at 9:30 a. m. to discuss improved practices to be used in the pasture and forage crop production.

On Wednesday morning, February 21st at 9:30 a. m., Mr. George Pendergrass, Beef Cattle Specialist, will be at the R. E. A. Building in Hickman to discuss improved practices in beef cattle production.

Everyone is invited to attend these meetings.

CREEK TAX—

been paid on that indebtedness. The Federal government paid for the major portion of the project.

Businessmen in the creek area are generally in favor of the dams and have made it known that they are unopposed to the tax levy to pay for the dams, but feel that perhaps a larger number of property owners should help bear the taxation with which to pay for the project.

Two former members of last year's City Council told the News that Mr. Miller advised them that to continue the tax was legal. One of them said: "We certainly would not have continued to collect a tax that was not legal. We proceeded on the advice of the city attorney. The city is obligated to pay their portion of the dams," he continued, "and we think the city attorney should make the necessary legal arrangements to collect the tax in order to pay for the money that was borrowed to build them."

The post of City Alcoholic Administrator was created by ordinance.

When called upon by Mayor Gilbert DeMyer, Commissioners Bill Rice and Clarence Moline announced that they had turned their business over to the new City Manager.

The commission voted to purchase a new Chevrolet police car, also a tornado siren and a flasher light for the police car at a total of $117.60 for the two items.

The City Manager was asked to look into the request of the Health Department that the city purchase a gas mask to be used by the Water Department.

During the Creek Tax discussion, it was voted to pay $1,500 and interest on a note of $6,000 due at the Fulton Bank, and to renew the note for a six-months period.

The commission voted to purchase covers for the hose on the fire truck.

At the request of Mrs. Harry Hicks, Western Union manager, a five minute parking sign in front of the Western Union office was discussed by the council, but because of a sunken fire hydrant by law this could not be done.

R. E. Baxter, the new City Manager, announced that a number of merchants wanted parking space in front of their businesses and were willing to pay a front fee of approximately $5.00 a month. This space would be used for their own cars or trucks unloading at their businesses. Some of the merchants have no parking space in back of their buildings.

It was decided that this could not be done. A discussion was held on whether or not the Fulton City Schools should pay the full amount for water used at the schools. Some of the commissioners were of the opinion that the schools should pay. The commission voted to purchase meters to put at the different schools.

It was also decided to purchase a smoke mask at $281.00, less two percent, from the Mid-South Co.

An invitation to members of the South Fulton City Council to meet with the Fulton City Commission for the purpose of informal discussion of local sewage disposal problems was decided at the meeting. Date of the proposed joint meeting was not announced, pending a meeting of the South Fulton Council on Monday night.

At the conclusion of the meeting, reports of two engineering firms regarding the sewage disposal question were made.

Estimated costs of one week's food for a family of four, including two children, is $24.10 on the low-cost plan, $32.30 on the moderate-cost estimate, and $36.60 on the liberal plan.
