Rev. Armond Calvert, Pastor

WILLIAM H. MAY
FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR

William H. May, present Commissioner of Agriculture and a candidate for Lieutenant Governor, today announced that he will not submit a detailed platform in behalf of his candidacy, since the administration of State Government depends largely upon the Governor and all candidates for Governor have submitted to the voters platforms upon which their candidacy is based.

In a prepared statement for the press Mr. May made the following comments with regard to proposed platforms by candidates for Lieutenant Governor.

"It has been the custom in the past for candidates for the office of Lieutenant Governor to announce detailed platforms. In reality, the Lieutenant Governor as Chief Legislative Officer of the State has little opportunity to put into effect a platform of his own, he must, rather, rely upon the intelligence of the voters in selecting a gubernatorial nominee with a sound administrative and legislative platform. The Lieutenant Governor should then pledge himself to support that platform and to carry through with the wishes of the voters as indicated by the gubernatorial selection. In addition, the Lieutenant Governor must serve from time to time as acting Governor and it would be folly for an acting Governor to disrupt a well ordered program by attempting to put into effect his own platform, thus discrediting the efforts of the Governor selected by the voters.

"With this thought in mind I pledge myself to support to the fullest extent the platform of the gubernatorial nominee chosen by the voters of Kentucky at the Democratic Primary on August 7th."

SINGING TO BE HELD HERE FRIDAY NIGHT

Beginning Friday night, June 18, a series of community singings will be held here at the Riceville Methodist church. The program will begin at 8:15 each Friday evening.

Featuring the opening program will be the Kentuckians Quartet, heard regularly over WPAD, Paducah. Visitors from surrounding communities are also expected to attend.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Weakley County Soldier Writes To His Aunt

Pvt. Charles E. Morris, 2490 Q.M.I., R. Co. 31st Air Depot Group, Hill Field, Ogden, Utah, writes his aunt Mrs. Forrest House.

Dear Aunt and Family:

Will write you a line. I hope you are all well. This leaves me in a awful mood. I am out on bivouac or camping. We are in pup tents. We are at the edge of the Rocky Mountains and on the Salt Lake. We are on maneuvers and are getting a plane out of the salt lake that crashed Easter Sunday. There was five killed and we have four of the bodies already and we have part of the plane on rafts coming in. We think the other body is in it. There is so much mud we can't tell yet. I am in the mater pool and we are pulling the boats in with winch trucks. We have one wrecker that is 24 tons and a trailer on it 60 foot long.

They have killed 11 rattle snakes out here and I stepped on a big snake last night.

I wish you could see all of these mountains. You can drive for 50 miles and still be in mountains. There is a desert between us and a city. We have to go 40 miles for our water. Even if we are right on the Salt Lake. I was out in the Lake for about two hours and when you dry you have salt all over you. All of us are going without shirts and pants and are sunburned. Some of them are as black as negroes.

I have my steel helmet. We use them to wash in. They don't make us wear them all time.

How is uncle and mama. I bet uncle will know what I am talking about. For I bet he slept on the ground just like I am now. I sure will be glad when I can come home to stay. I am going to buy me the best inter-spring mattress there is.

I haven't heard from Opal since I have been here. I sure do get lonely some for her and the baby.

I haven't heard from Neal in a long time. I wrote him last.

I will close and write more when I have time.

Love to all the family and mama.

CHARLES E. MORRIS

REGARDLESS OF WHERE AN ACCIDENT occurs, the home, the highway, or any other location, the war production effort suffers.

Falls on stairways are the most frequent type of home accidents. Here are four questions you might check into carefully in regard to the condition of the stairways in your home.

1. Are the stairs in your home well lighted?

2. Are they in good repair?

3. Is there a strong handrail on at least one side.

4. Are they kept clear of toys, maps, pails, and other articles which should be put away?

Do not answer yes until you have carefully made a check of each item in every stairway in your home.

Accidents are costly no matter where they happen.

ON THE TROUBLED WATERS

Kentucky Girls Remodel Old Clothes For Victory

That's what hundreds of thousands of 4-H Clothing Club girls throughout the nation are doing to help win the war. In short, the girls are remodeling or patching up not only their own clothes, but those of their fathers, mothers, sisters and brothers, so that new cloth will be saved for our boys in the armed forces.

And that they will do a masterful job "Make and Mend for Victory" is reflected in last year's records of roughly 500,000 participants in the National 4-H Clothing Achievement Activity, which disclosed that these rural girls had remodeled or repaired more than 11-2 million garments and other articles!

Many of the current year's participants in this activity will receive donor awards provided by the Spool Cotton Company's Educational Bureau for outstanding records of achievement. These special recognitions, which are based on county, state, and national levels, include medals, National 4-H Club Congress trips, and $200 college scholarship.

Kentucky's state winner in this activity last year was Marjorie Lee Moss of Lawrenceburg, Anderson County.

FISHING REPORTED GOOD IN KENTUCKY STREAMS

Fishing was reported as very good in practically every section of the state for the opening on the 1st of June, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced today.

Fair catches were made in most of the streams where the waters were not muddy and the "take" at Herrington Lake was reported as being the best in 10 years. The lake was clear, and although many cut-bowls churned its waters, the rumble failed to bother fish and fishermen alike. Strings of fish hung from every boat, and for the first time in many years, anglers returned with fish to spare only to find no takers.

Still fisherman, likewise, had good luck, catching black bass, white bass and newlights. Small-mouth bass, an oddity in past years, predominated in certain sections of the lake.

Heavy rains during the past three days have again muddied up streams but they should clear up within a few days if the water ceases to fall.

Mrs. Elwood Harman was in Memphis several days this week visiting.

Victory Production Contest Announced

A special "Farm Victory Production Contest" for all Future Farmers in Kentucky will be sponsored by the Kentucky Chain Stores Council this year, according to an announcement last mailed Vocational Agriculture instructors by Dr. R. R. Woods, State Advisor. Every boy who is a member of a F. F. A. Chapter in this state is eligible to participate in this contest, providing he is successfully undertaking one or more projects involving the production of vital war foods.

"Principal awards will be a $25.00 War Bond to the winning entry in each of the nine districts of the state. Special awards will also be presented to the outstanding entry in each F. F. A. Chapter," Dr. Woods said.

In announcing this special contest jointly with Dr. Woods, Mr. Lewis Cole who is connected with the Steiden Stores at Louisville and also is chairman of the executive committee of the Kentucky Chain Stores Council, said that the object of the offer "is to stimulate desire in the farm youth of Kentucky to study and to put into practice the art of food production during the war, and to help these fine selves. In so doing we can help Victory and secure profit for them; young men create wealth, practice national Agriculture; leaders in their program which is developing community leadership and good citizenship."

Rules of the contest and full information as to basis of awards, data entries must be submitted and other details are available from the local instructor, Dr. Woods said.

SEASON OPENS ON POND, BULL OR JUMBO FROGS

The closed season on pond, bull or jumbo frogs was lifted June 15, S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish, announced several days ago.

With the new Game and Fish Code in effect, a bag limit of 15 frogs per day and not more than two days' bag limit in possession at any one time, has been placed on the frog.

The type of gig used for hunting frogs has been changed to the following sizes and dimensions: The Gig shall not have more than four prongs; no prong shall be longer than two and one-half inches; the prongs shall be made out of not heavier than 14-gauge wire or metal, and shall not have more than one barb on each prong; and the gig shall be attached to a pole which together with the gig will not exceed 5 feet in length.

Wakefield urges all hardware stores and other places of business handling gigs to dispose of all such gigs other than the types listed above and if any person is caught in possession of an illegal sized gig, he or she is liable to arrest.

Bag limit and closed season have been placed on the pond, bull or jumbo frogs, in order to prevent their extermination in Kentucky, Wakefield pointed out.

In order to take, capture or kill frogs the person participating in this sport must be in possession of a hunting license.

INDIA SCIENTIST VISITS KENTUCKY

Kentucky was honored by a visit from P. M. Kharegat of India, after close of the United Nations food conference at Hot Springs, Va., where he was an official delegate of his government. Calling at the Agricultural Experiment Station of the University of Kentucky at Lexington, he took keen interest in the work being done there to improve tobacco production, in soil building and in crops, livestock and general farming.

Although only three-fourths as big as the United States, India has a population three times as numerous. Food is always a problem, Mr. Kharegat said, and industrial development is needed to provide work for the surplus population.

From Lexington Mr. Kharegat went to Knoxville to study the development of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He also planned to study sugar cane growing in Louisiana, and dry-land farming in Kansas and Colorado.

ALTERNATIVE TO CAPITALISM

In condemning "some post-war planners in positions of power" who urge that the United States follow the leadership of Germany by planning to have the government provide jobs for everyone after the war, Eric A. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, warns that: "The economic theory behind the belief that the state must take precedence over the individual stems from the fallacy that the age of American development is a closed chapter and that business has reached its ultimate maturity."

Actually American development has barely started. Nowhere is this more evident than in the production revolution of the past months. The manufacturing and natural resource industries have achieved miracles. They have overcome a lack of battle equipment that could easily have led to military defeat. And they did it with a degree of dispatch and efficiency that left the swivel chair planners gasping. The miracles they have achieved in war can be multiplied in peace, providing the capitalistic system, under which they must operate, is preserved. Under it the coal and metal mines, the oil, power and transportation industries which have progressed in the future.

Those who promote the idea that "business has reached its ultimate maturity" or that "American development is a closed chapter," do not have faith in the capitalistic system. They would cripple private industry as the prime source of jobs and tax revenue. They would shift the burden of employment to political agencies, and taxes would fall on the shoulders of the workmen hired by those agencies. The party in power, as the sole employer, would eventually demand political allegiance from all. The bargain would be sealed. The people would have jobs and the

SOMEWHERE A BOY HAS A RENDEZVOUS WITH DEATH

Somewhere a Canadian boy has a rendezvous with death tonight.

Whether on a carrier's deck in the Pacific, amid the burning sands of North Africa, or in the tropical forests of New Guinea—whether swift and perilous, or terrible and slow his going—he is giving to his fellow men the greatest gift a man can give.

The years un-lived—the warmth and the laughter and the tears, and—most precious gift of all—his sons that might have been. All these he is giving.

No effort of ours, now, can stay the speeding bullet that has his number on it. What to him, now, are the bonds we buy, or the guns we build?

With nothing that is bought or sold, with nothing that is made of human hands, can we share his sacrifice.

What can we give to match his—what sacrifice can we make? The answer will come from that still small voice within our own hearts.

For no one can tell us how many bonds to buy, how hard to work on the guns and planes and tanks we build, to keep his gallant effort from having been in vain. Yes, we must each decide the measure of our own obligation—the gasoline we do not use, the pint of blood we donate, the food we do without, and all the other appeals we answer—to make the precious gift he made worthwhile.

Not for the boy who is dying tonight, but because he is dying, we can make our sacrifices to the cause of freedom.

SILCO SIMPKINS SAYS

Farmers are the Army that feeds the Army.

The scrub sire is the most expensive farm animal in the herd. Used for livestock becomes food for humans in the form of milk, eggs and meat.

Feed your land before it is hungry, rest it before it is weary, and weed it before it is foul.

In 1943 home canners filled over 3 billion jars, an average of 23 for every man, woman and child in the United States.

"United States farmers plant for Victory; British farmers plant for life or death"—Francis Flood.

According to the latest figures available, average meat consumption per person in this country was 145 pounds annually, including: 68.9 pounds of pork, 61.5 pounds of beef, 7.7 pounds veal and 6.9 pounds of lamb and mutton.

Under most ideal conditions fifteen tomato plants in the back yard should yield enough to make 30 qts. of canned tomatoes, besides some to be eaten fresh. That's equivalent to 840 points, nearly 18 months' worth. Every county agent's office is now a farm labor recruitment and placement center. If you want to work on a farm or need a worker see the county agent. They are located in the Courthouse or Post Office in most county seat towns.

BIG RECORDS MADE BY KENTUCKY COWS

Two registered Holstein-Friesian cows in the dairy herd of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, Lexington, have recently completed official production records of more than 475 pounds of butterfat. The Holstein-Friesian Association of America announces.

The higher producer of the two is Echantress Regis with a record of 515 pounds of butterfat and 12,164 pounds of milk. This is nearly three times the production of the average dairy cow in this nation. The record was made in 365 days on twice-a-day milking and at the age of 5 years 3 months.

The other high producer was Guy-belle Lyons with 477 pounds of butterfat and 14,445 pounds of milk, made in 365 days on twice a day milking and at the age of 5 years 3 months.

Testing was supervised by the University of Kentucky in cooperation with The Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

WILLIAM H. MAY

FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

A Pledge

The Democratic nominee for Governor will be selected by the voters of the Commonwealth on August seventh. Each of the candidates has presented to the voters a detailed platform and on Primary Day a choice must be made between these platforms.

I hereby pledge myself to support to the fullest extent the platform of the Governor chosen by the people. As I see it, no other platform is necessary or desirable on the part of a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

William H. May

Do you WANT Black Markets!

NO!—But what are you doing to stop them?

Sure, it was all right to give Bill those gas coupons you didn't need.

Or was it?

That thick steak you got from an accommodating dealer, without surrendering enough points — the canned foods, or tires, or coffee or sugar you managed to obtain outside the rationing rules —

They didn't amount to anything — or did they?

Well, let's see.

The only reason these things are rationed is because there aren't enough of any of them to go 'round.

Why aren't there enough?

It's because boys fighting on every front and sea need rubber and gas and nourishing foods to keep them fit to fight.

It's because the men and women in the factories need stout shoes to work in, solid food to work on.

It's because you yourself can't get along without these things that they have been rationed—for you.

Suppose you do get a little extra something to which you are not entitled. And a lot of other people get "just a little extra", too.

Then, there isn't enough to meet those coupons.

So, people begin offering bribes to get merchandise. And Black Markets spring up everywhere — in tires and gas, shoes and canned goods, meat and sugar and butter and coffee.

You'd soon find the price-bribes you'd have to pay so exorbitant you couldn't meet them. And you'd find the merchandise so scarce in the legal market that, coupons or no, you couldn't buy anything.

There is only one way to protect your share of the nation's products.

Buy no rationed products without surrendering the proper number of ration points.

Don't take advantage of somebody else's ration points to get things you're not entitled to.

Pay no more than ceiling prices.

TO PROVIDE FARMERS WITH SUPPLIES THEY NEED

The War Production Board has put into operation a program worked out by the Office of Civilian Requirements to provide farmers with supplies they need to increase food production.

It has issued a priorities regulation (No. 10) which provides a simple procedure to enable farmers to get what they need of certain farm supplies and to enable retailers to obtain the farm supplies they need to fill the farmers' orders.

Simultaneous, it issued a general preference order for manufacturers and distributors to make certain farm supplies available. This will be accomplished by directing manufacturers or distributors to produce, schedule, segregate, earmark or deliver listed farm supplies for sale at retail for farm use.

This two-part action is intended to meet both emergency and long-range needs. The M order provides for emergency action by manufacturers and distributors under directions from WPB to get into retail channels without delay adequate telephone courtesy certainly pays extra dividends these days when so many families are sharing lines with their neighbors.

When party line neighbors are considerate of each other, the telephone service of all is improved. And when neighbors avoid tying up their line with lengthy conversations, they help relieve busy central office equipment so that vital war calls can be handled faster. Here are some other friendly suggestions that will mean better service for you, your telephone neighbor and Uncle Sam:

- 1—Answer calls promptly—and before you call, make sure the line is not in use.
- 2—Make fewer calls and when you do call, be as brief as possible.
- 3—Avoid tying up the line by making a series of calls at one time.
- 4—And please be careful to hang up your receiver when you finish talking. When a party line telephone receiver is left off the hook, no one on the line can make or receive calls until the receiver is put back on the hook.

At the front, teamwork wins battles. At home, the same spirit of personal cooperation results in better telephone service—for you, your party line neighbor and your entire community.

quantities of some 66 items most urgently needed by farmers.

The priority regulation grants the farmer a priority to buy not only the 66 items comprising the emergency program but also 78 additional items in the long-range program, making a total of 144. Whenever a farmer orders any of the farm supplies covered by the regulation from a dealer who has them in stock, the dealer must fill the order if the farmer gives him a signed certificate which states—

"I certify to the War Production Board that I am a farmer and that the supplies covered by this order are needed now and will be used for the operation of a farm." It may be furnished by the dealer or written out by the farmer himself.

Such certification will enable the farmer to buy up to $25 worth of any of the items on the list. He may buy more than that if his certificate is approved by his county farm rationing committee.

The program does not include a person who raises food or other agricultural products entirely for his own or family use.

WOULD MAKE IDLENESS UNPOPULAR AS LONG AS FARMERS NEED WORKERS

With farmers needing help, idleness should be unpopular and unpatriotic, says Dean Thomas P. Cooper at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

"With the great need for food to supply our armed forces all over the world, such loafing as has existed in past years around court house squares, corner stores, filling stations and the like, should not exist this year," he declared.

Dean Cooper thinks farm labor problems will be solved locally, in that help will be found in towns and villages and on small farms, for the most part. In the State as a whole, he believes there are enough persons to do the farming, although a shortage of labor may occur in some localities.

"It is important that farmers have help so they can meet their production goals," he stressed. "Aroused public opinion will do much to direct and develop the labor needed in producing food. It should be unpopular as well as unpatriotic to be idle as long as farmers need help."

Farmers in need of help should make their wants known at the office of their county agent. Also, men, women and young people who can work on farms should make that fact known to the county agent.

Cooperating with the College of Agriculture in a program to secure farm labor are the United States Employment Service, the Farm Security Administration, Vocational Agriculture and the Office of Education, the War Manpower Commission, the office of Civilian Defense, and other agencies.

GOSSY EXTENDS HUMAN FOOD SUPPLIES

The dairy cow should have first priority on livestock feed supplies. That is the opinion expressed by the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, an organization representing 26,000 cooperatives and 2,300,000 farmer members, which has been studying means of meeting the feed needs of the nation.

"Dairy cows make the most efficient utilization of feeds given them," states E. M. Harmon, Director of Public Relations of the National Dairy Council. "They return much more human food per pound of grain fed than any other kind of livestock. Furthermore they utilize pasture and roughages very effectively, converting feeds which it would be impossible for humans to use otherwise into the best of protective foods. Without livestock and especially dairy cattle, most of the roughage and pasture feed would be wasted. It is essential to the food economy of the nation that roughages be utilized in the production of human foods," continues Mr. Harmon. "Where combined with reasonable amounts of grain, the dairy cow returns far more human food for the same amount of grain and roughage than any other type of livestock."

Studies by the U. S. Department of Agriculture indicate that on an average more than 72 pounds of digestible protein and 712,000 calories of energy per acre of feed are provided when that feed is fed through dairy cows. Hogs, for example, with 23 pounds of protein and 672,000 calories of energy per acre of feed. Other types of livestock return even less. The serious protein shortage which threatens the country points definitely to the soundness of the position taken by the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

FINDS BALBO RYE O. K.

Ben Craft of Letcher county grazed three calves all winter on four and a half acres of Balbo rye, crimson clover and vetch. In February he turned three milk cows, a horse and 130 chickens in the pasture. Two months later he plowed under a first crop for soil according to Farm Agent Hugh Hurst. Mr. Craft says his egg production was increased 50 per cent due to the green feed. He is saving an acre of Balbo rye seed, and this fall plans to sow 12 acres to rye and vetch.

Mrs. Herbert Williams, Paducah, was in Fulton Tuesday enroute home from Chicago.

BUSES ROLLING

Keep Production Rolling

YOU CAN HELP BUS TRANSPORTATION do its full wartime job by timing your travel wisely—going before or after the July and August rush period, departing and returning on mid-week days rather than on week-ends, getting tickets and information in advance, taking less baggage than usual.

● Buses bound for busy war plants are doing one of their most vital jobs—moving the manpower that keeps the assembly lines moving. Taking men and women to their work in factories or on farms, carrying travelers on trips essential to the war effort, transporting selectees and men in uniform—that's how Greyhound is serving the home-front today.

Almost as important as getting war workers to work is getting them away from work when "civilian fur-loughs" are in order—when rest and change are needed to get these men and women back to top efficiency.

WADE-BEADLES

Saturday afternoon, June twelfth at 5 o'clock, the marriage of Florence Wade and Frank T. Beadles was beautifully solemnized at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wade on Carr street.

The banks of greenery and white flowers, candlelight and music made a lovely setting for a quiet, informal, but impressive wedding.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Steve Willey, pianist, played Liszt's "Liebestraume" and Romance by Wagner. Mrs. Elizabeth Snow, sister of Miss Wade, sang "O Promise Me" by Dehaven and "At Dawning" by Cadman. Mendelssohn's Wedding March was used for the entrance of the bride and groom, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. White.

The marriage service was performed before an altar arranged at the living room mantel. Banked with ferns and plumosa, white gladioli and lilies, with white tapes burning in candelabra, the setting was fitting for a ceremony distinguished for its simplicity. The officiating minister was the Rev. T. J. Scott of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Schubert's "Serenade" was played softly during the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a becoming street length model of white jersey, with accessories of white. Her hat was draped with a veil of soft green and her shoulder carriage was a cattleya orchid. She carried a white prayer book.

Mrs. White, her sister's only attendant wore a similar model of pink jersey and blue accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was of Columbia roses and blue corn flowers.

Acolytes were Wade Askew and Jane White, the latter wearing a long frock of rainbow net, with a small corsage of mixed flowers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Wade and for the past few years has been a member of the firm of the Irby Fashion Shop. The groom, a life-long resident of Fulton, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George T. Beadles and is the owner of the Fulton Hardware Company.

After the ceremony, an informal reception followed and the guests were served ice punch and cakes from the dining table, which was draped in a cut-work cloth and held a lovely ly arrangement of lilies and white candles in crystal holders. Serving Barbara Askew, in yellow net, Marilee Beadles in white net, and Betty Frances Weatherford in blue silk, all wearing matching corsages.

That Nagging Backache

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become overtaxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!
