THE CLANCY KIDS

It May Be a Howling Success.

By PERCY L. CROSSBERRY

The Clancy brothers are going to try their hand at a new kind of business. They have decided to open a small dairy farm and produce their own milk.

The brothers have been planning this for some time, and they are excited about the prospect. They have been living in the city for many years, and they are eager to get back to nature and live a simpler life.

The dairy farm will be located on the outskirts of town, and they have already built a small house and a barn for the animals. They have also purchased some of the necessary equipment, such as milking machines and a refrigeration unit.

The Clancy brothers are confident that they can succeed in their new venture. They are knowledgeable about dairy farming, and they have a strong work ethic.

Despite the challenges, the brothers are looking forward to the future. They hope to eventually expand their dairy farm and start producing other dairy products, such as cheese and butter.

The Clancy brothers are grateful for the support of their family and friends, who have been encouraging them throughout this journey. They are excited to share their success with everyone who believes in their dream.

The Clancy brothers are confident that their hard work and dedication will lead to success, and they are ready to face any challenges that come their way.

The Clancy brothers are committed to providing high-quality dairy products and being good stewards of the land. They are looking forward to a bright future and are ready to take on the challenge of running their own dairy farm.

The Clancy brothers are grateful for the opportunity to pursue their passion and are excited about the possibilities that lie ahead.

"And this be our motto:"

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble. Therefore will we not fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea; though the waters Witnesses rush strong, we will not fear. Though the foundations be moved inward by the torrent, and though the mountains be removed into the midst of the sea, we will not fear." (Psalm 46:1-3)

"This la our truth, Americanism, a civil by religion, what learn relais:stility, ad supremacy?"

"Watchmen are not of the night, ministers of God, servants of the day. Therefore let us not sleep, as do other men, but let us watch and be sober. For they that sleep sleep in the night; and they that be drunken are drunken in the night. But let us, who are awake, be sober; and let us watch unto prayer. For they that sleep know not what they do. But as concerning them which be in the flesh, I have said before, that they which run in a good race set their mind on things above, not on things which are on the earth. For our conversation is not here, but now: for we look for that city which is to come, the city of God, New Jerusalem, lying ready made of heaven, and not built by hands, the habitation of our Lord Jesus Christ." (Colossians 3:1-4)

"Look at America not Aryan America, that is corrupt here, correcting what are things collo' on to mankind."

"We shall go mai way purifying with rennon, fashioned nobly."

"Brothers and sisters, do we not know that it is the good news and the Gospel of the Kingdom that is the power of God? For through it the wrath of the Lord is manifested from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who perish in unrighteousness, because they suppress the truth." (Romans 1:16-18)

"We must proclaim our truth. Like a bright flame in a dark night, deny, tires and strength America despairs!"

IT'S TIME YOU KNEW—by Lawrence F. Sessions

This is a story of a boy named James, who lived in a small town. His family was poor, and he worked long hours to help support them. One day, while he was working in the fields, he saw a plane fly overhead. It was a military plane, and it was carrying bombs. James was terrified, but he knew he had to stay calm. He ran home to tell his family what had happened.

Later that day, the town was visited by a group of soldiers. They were there to train for the war. James was fascinated by them, and he spent all his free time learning about airplanes and weapons. He dreamed of flying in the war.

Years later, in World War II, James joined the Navy. He trained as a pilot and was sent to fly in a bomber. He was part of a team that dropped bombs on enemy targets.

On one mission, his plane was shot down. James was the last to bail out, and he was captured by the enemy. He was held for several years, but he never gave up hope. He knew that someday he would return home.

Finally, after the war, James was released and returned to his town. He was greeted with a hero's welcome. He had done his part to help win the war, and he was proud of what he had accomplished.

Though war was a time of horror and destruction, it was also a time of hope and determination. It's a story that reminds us of the bravery and sacrifice of those who fought in World War II. And it's a reminder that, no matter what happens, we must always hold on to our dreams and never give up.
