FULTON, KY., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1943.

NUMBER TWENTY-FOUR.

K. U. COMPANY ASKS ITS CUSTOMERS TO AVOID WASTE OF ELECTRICITY

Complying with a U. S. War Production Board request, Kentucky Utilities Company has started a program among more than 100,000 of its customers to prevent wasteful use of electricity in factories, shops, stores and homes.

This action promptly meets the Board's call upon the Office of Defense Transportation, the Petroleum Administration for War, the Solid Fuel Administration for War, and the Office of War Utilities to start a program to conserve manpower, transportation, fuel, equipment and critical materials.

Kentucky Utilities officials said customers will be advised how they can cooperate in this program through newspaper and radio advertising, folders, etc.

The Office of War Utilities has asked all electric companies to join the program to save power wherever possible in order to reduce directly and indirectly civilian demands for materials, fuel, transportation and manpower.

J. A. Krug, Director of Office of War Utilities, stated there is "ample" electrical generating and distributing facilities "to meet all foreseeable electric needs," in his letter proposing the program.

Company officials attributed this situation to the industry's policy of anticipating customer service requirements, and building facilities to meet them two or three years ahead. Thus the industry was not "caught short" when war came, they said.

Local representatives of the company said stores will be able to tie in with the program by reducing the use of electric signs, eliminating ornamental lighting, and using less light in show windows and display cases.

It was explained domestic customers should continue to use refrigerators, ranges, washers, vacuum cleaners, radios, and other health protecting, morale building, and labor saving devices, and lighting required for reading, sewing, or other close use of the eyes. But domestic customers can tie in with the program, they said, by turning off lights not actually needed, and by using and caring for their appliances properly.

FULTON COUNTY BOY WRITES LETTER AND SENDS MANY SOUVENIRS

Perhaps one of the most interesting displays of souvenirs coming out of the South Pacific, where United States armed forces are battling the wily Japs, is the one to be found in the window of P. H. Weeks' Sons here. These souvenirs were sent home by Sgt. Major Roper Henry, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Henry of near Cayce, Ky.

Among the souvenirs are watches, a Japanese Bible, purse, chop sticks, two Jap flags, a shell that saved Sgt. Henry's life, Jap dog tags, bars from dead Jap soldiers, fabric from an enemy plane, a Jap compass, handkerchiefs, maps and a few letters written in Japanese and pictures.

Young Henry was in the battle of Guadalcanal, and is now somewhere in the South Pacific. He joined the Marines in 1938. He is a graduate from the Cayce school, and is a brother of Mrs. Murrell Williams of Fulton.

WAR NEWS FLASHES

Soviet troops have captured the great rail junction of Nezhin, main gateway of Kiev, after a bloody battle in which more than 3,000 Germans were killed. Russians reports indicate the whole German front east of the middle and lower Dnieper River had entered the final stages of collapse.

Allied forces have crashed through the main core of resistance west of the Japanese air base at Lae, New Guinea. Bombers are taking enemy positions and strafing with bullets.

Supported by the strongest air attacks ever launched in front of an Allied Army and by naval bombardment, American and British troops beat off the most violent German counter attacks yet mounted in Italy after again yielding small bits of their 27-mile bridgehead in the week-old seesaw battle of Salerno. In other sectors, however, the Fifth Army made fresh gains and quickly dug into new positions.

Up to Wednesday, Flying Fortresses based in England, have struck at 14 targets this month—four of them were aircraft plants and nine Nazi airfields. The other target was Stuttgart, industrial center in Southwest Germany.

Mystery of the whereabouts of the British Ninth Army, coupled with the reported success of Yugoslav Patriot Forces apparently fighting along a prepared plan, hints that a strategic thrust is in the making. Reports emanating out of Turkey declares that the Dodecanese Island of Lero and the Greek Aegean Island of Samos were occupied by invading Allied forces approximately three days ago. Lero has a valuable naval base. Samos is the site of one of the best airdromes in the Aegean area.

HARRY RICHARD WINSTONER OF GOLF CUP

Harry Richard won the championship of the Fulton County Club over Harry L. Bushart Sunday in the 36-hole match between the two. In only one round did Richards slip to any extent, shooting 40 on his second round. He was right at par on his other rounds at all time. His four-round average was 37.1-2 strokes per round. He shot 36-40-36-37, and might have had a third par hit on the final drive had not hit a tree and cost him a lost ball and stroke. His total for the 36 holes was 150, and he led Bushart nine up at the beginning of the final round. He won the match on the first hole of this round but both players agreed to finish out the 36 holes.

Richards will be the fourth name engraved on the handsome trophy given the club. Buren Rogers had his name on the trophy first in 1940, followed by Hugh McClellan in 1941. Jack Moore won the honor in 1942 and Richards name goes on for this year.

FDR SAID TO BE OPPOSED TO BILL DEFERRING FATHERS

Congressional agitation for exempting fathers from the draft was tempered this week by military reverses in Italy and reports that President Roosevelt is preparing to oppose any such legislation. Chairman of Military Affairs Reynolds declared Congress and the people are entitled to complete justification for drafting family heads. He said:

"We have sent some 2,000,000 men abroad, and we have 7,000,000 in uniform in this country. What are we going to do with 7,000,000 more men over there? How are we going to get them across? How would we feed them?"

Action on the Wheeler no-father draft bill likely will be delayed at least until next week.

The Unity of Nations

By RUTH TAYLOR

Some people today are disturbed by the phrase United Nations, feeling that it is a union in which we will do all the giving and none of the getting, that it is an alliance which is definitely entangling and which will be a handicap once the war is over.

They overlook the fact that the United Nations were not united by the plots of dreamy-eyed internationalists, but by knife thrusts of the Axis realists. It was the attack upon the nations that united them. And, whether we like it or not, we must remember that no one nation could have survived alone against the powers arrayed against us. We would have put up a good fight alone, but it could only have been a struggle against hopeless odds.

England would have gone down fighting had our isolationists and "party liners" been able to stop the flow of supplies from here. Then the Nazis would have had air bases from which to destroy our cities at ease. They would have brought the war home to the Mississippi.

It was common danger that brought the United Nations together. If we do not stay together, our fight will have been in vain. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind.

The unity we have learned is an intangible thing, difficult to comprehend in its larger sphere. Enforced cooperation in the common fight has brought us nearer to understanding each other. In our personal relations it is easier of comprehension. Men from different nations, from different backgrounds, of different speech, of different faiths have teamed together, worked together, fought together and learned that they all have one thing in common—the desire to protect their homes and families and their way of life.

We must keep this unity of nations intact in peace as well as in war. Raymond Clapper after his trip to the war and neutral fronts made this stirring observation, "This time peace is going to take the same qualities that war demands. Peace will not be the opposite of war but a continuation of it. Peace this time must consist of disarming the enemy, of keeping him disarmed and our side armed. The Allies must stand together after the fighting or the will be defeated one by one as they almost were in the war." Peace will require the same aggressive, confident, realistic collaboration that has meant the self-preservation of each of us in this war.

WE MUST STAND TOGETHER in a common cause, but that does not and must not mean accepting their way of life as ours. We will not compromise our own ideals, but we will work together toward a common goal—the permanent peace of a world of free men.

BASIC RULES MAKE

FOR BETTER MEALS

Whenever a group of women gather these days, the most talked about subjects is food. Why we must follow the basic-seven rules comes up for discussion, too. Mrs. Pearl Haak, food specialist at the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Eco., reminds homemakers that it isn't necessary to eat foods from all the groups in one meal. Eat some for breakfast, some for dinner and the others for supper or lunch. Keeping in mind why this certain variety is essential gives reason for well-planned meals.

From (1) green and yellow vegetables, (2) tomatoes, oranges or grapefruit and (3) potatoes and other vegetables and fruits, come calcium for bones and teeth, iron for healthy blood, sugar for energy vitamins for health and vigor, and minerals.

(4) Milk and cheese provide calcium, protein for growth and muscle repair and sugar and vitamins.

(5) Meat, fish, poultry and eggs give protein, iron and minerals.

(6) Bread, flour and cereals are sources of sugar and starch for energy, in addition to iron, protein and vitamins.

(7) Butter and fortified margarine supply fat for energy to work and play, and vitamins for health and vigor.

That it isn't necessary to eat all of these foods in their original form is further suggested by the foods specialist. For example, a pint of milk per day for each adult might be eaten in the form of soups, gravies, custards, ice cream or milk drinks. Likewise the recommended three or four eggs a week for each person might be served in combination with other foods.

It is convenient to know that when one is short of a certain food in any of the groups, its alternate, may be served instead. When ration points prohibit the use of meat which is equivalent in food value then eggs, fish, poultry, dried beans or peas, or cheese may substitute. The same rule applies to the fruit and vegetable groups. Of course, in addition to one food from each of the basic-seven, as many other foods may be eaten as desired.

FOR....

KENTUCKY UTILITIES Company and all other power companies are co-operating with the War Production Board in a nationwide program to prevent the waste and non-essential use of electricity, gas, and water—thereby conserving manpower, transportation, fuel, equipment and critical materials such as copper, steel, tungsten and many others.

We feel sure that you, our customers, will be glad to co-operate in this great national program so as to hasten the day of Victory.

Detailed information and suggestions, telling how you can tie in with the program in your stores, shops, offices and homes, will be given in our show windows, in other advertisements, in radio announcements and in two publications, "Kentucky Utilities

News" and "Business Front," included with your residential and commercial bills.

In the meantime, avoid waste of electricity in your home by turning off all lights you do not need; and by properly using and caring for your electric appliances.

In your business places, you can co-operate by curtailing the use of lighting for indoor and outdoor advertising, for promotional and display purposes, for decorative and ornamental effects, for show windows, for outdoor establishments, for marquees, for show cases, and by moderation of air conditioning.

The national conservation program has not been set up to save electricity as such—but to conserve the fuel, transportation, materials and manpower that go into producing electric current.

A Tax Paying Utility Under Federal and State Regulation

Bureaucracy Indicted

By BURTON RASCOE

Henry M. Wriston, president of Brown University, has delivered his own ringing 'J'accuse' against bureaucracy in words as measured, specific, analytical and formidable as those of Zola when he burst the conspiracy against Dreyfus wide open and awakened France to the corruptions within the army and the state. Dr. Wriston's blast is entitled 'Challenge to Freedom' and has just been published by Harper & Bros.

"The time is ripe for the resurgence of faith in public opinion," says Dr. Wriston. "The world is sick of the brutalities of power politics. The people are weary of the arrogance of bureaucracy. They are tired to death of the multiplication of pronouncements and orders and the confusion of documents and reports. . . . Government must simplify its structure, shorten its proceedings, limit its regulations. The people must resist centralization with bitter determination. Invasion and abrogation of the citizen's right to be left alone has been the primary aim and achievement of the New Deal, according to Dr. Wriston — an aim and achievement implemented by a vast bureaucracy, under the direction of an Executive who continually seeks to by-pass Congress, destroy the checks and balances established under the Constitution, arrogate unto himself functions properly the sphere of the judiciary and the legislature, invade the rights of the states and destroy the framework of democracy."

What Dr. Wriston calls the "termites of bureaucracy" are, he says, undermining the foundations of freedom and representative government. If the people do not rise up and demand a whitening down of at least half of the existing personnel of the present federal administrative agencies and call a halt to the creation of new such agencies our democracy is done for, our productive capacity will be ruined, our nation will be bankrupted, the war debt will never be liquidated, the Four Freedoms will become a hollow mockery and a Fascist dictatorship will rule over the ruins of an impoverished nation.

The New Deal, he says, has aggravated nearly every ill it set out to cure. The President's record is a constant series of broken promises. The New Deal set out to break up monopolies; it has progressed by driving small businesses out and concentrating production and distribution in the hands of fewer and bigger monopolies. In 1933 the President complained that "our economic life was dominated by some 600-odd corporations, who controlled two-thirds of American activity," but, says Dr. Wriston, "at the end of a year of war 70 per cent of the dollar volume of contracts was in the hands of 100 corporations." And the biggest corporation monopolist of all is that of the government itself.

"Few people," says Dr. Wriston, "have any conception of the number or size of the (government) corporations. Grouped under the heading 'Government Corporation and Credit Agencies of the United States' 22 are specifically listed in the Treasury's daily statement; several of these have many subsidiaries. In addition there are others unnamed; some are secret, and thus no information is available. . . .

"One of the most striking evidences of the corporations' escape from the limitations of the governmental processes is to be found in their reporting practices. Thirty-two such corporations and agencies, including several if not most of the larger ones, do not render any accounts to the general accounting office. . . . Several publish no reports at all and entirely escape both official and public scrutiny."

In other words, while the government hampers and harasses the securities market and buries private corporations under bales of questionnaires and red tape, government corporations with net assets of over $2 billion dollars and with operating costs "very much larger than ALL costs of government only 10 years ago are now carried on without the scrutiny of Congress or the public."

"There is no place for monopoly either in politics or in economics," contends Dr. Wriston. "What we need is a vast expansion of productive energy through a myriad of new enterprises. If that does not occur the armed forces will be demobilized into some new and greater WPA, debt will multiply, private enterprise will wither and we shall be delivered into the hands of the system we defeated in war. . . . Bureaucracy is static and nonproductive. It consumes wealth; it does not produce it."

RICHARD H. NEWTON RECEIVES WINGS

Richard H. Newton, son of Alvin B. and late Lera Green Newton of Fulton and Washington, D. C., who won his wings in the U. S. Navy Air Corps and received his commission as an Ensign at the Naval Air Base in Pensacola, Fla., was recently made an instructor there.

Ensign Newton attended Fulton High for two years ago and while here made his home with his mother's sister Mrs. Mac McDade and Mr. McDade, and he has a number of friends here who will be interested to learn of his having won his wings.

He is a graduate of McKinley Tech in Washington and later served a year's apprenticeship in the U. S. Naval Torpedo Station in Alexandria, Va. SHOTGUN SHELLS TO BE AVAILABLE FOR COTTON TAIL, QUAIL SEASON

Kentucky hunters who had been wondering whether they were going to be able to buy shotgun shells for the coming rabbit and quail season, have their fears allayed, according to a statement received by S. A. Wakefield, director of the Division of Game and Fish, from the War Production Board.

In an announcement from Washington, the WPB made additional rifle and shotgun ammunition available to farmers for use against predatory animals and game birds now threatening crops and herds in certain parts of the country" and made provision for hunters to buy ammunition after farmers' needs had been filled.

Farmers and ranchers who apply to dealers before Oct. 1 will be allowed 100 rounds of 22 caliber cartridges, 25 rounds of center-fire rifle ammunition and 25 rounds of shotgun shells of any gauge.

Sportsmen hunters will be allowed 50 rounds of 22 cartridges, 20 rounds of center-fire ammunition and 25 rounds of shotgun shells, but they can get them only after farmers and ranchers have been supplied between Oct. 1 and Nov. 15.

This will do Kentucky hunters no good for the squirrel season, which now is on, and the dove season, which opens Sept. 16, Wakefield pointed out.

SAFETYGRAMS

Handrails installed on stairways would prevent many falls in the home. The National Safety Council says there were 30,500 accidental home deaths last year and that about half were caused by falls. The greatest number of falls in the home occur on stairs, many of which could be avoided by installing handrails. The stairways should be inspected very carefully to be sure the stairs are solid, clear of tripping hazards and well lighted. The pads, rugs or carpets on the stairs should be securely fastened down.

Especially nowadays, all people should be extremely careful as all workers are needed on their jobs every day. An accident to a domestic worker can be just as serious and easily at home as it is at the plant.

Stairways can be extremely dangerous, so be sure to watch your step—don't run. Keep your hand on the rail and use a flashlight if the light is out.

WARTIME NEEDS LIFT U. S. BREAD OUTPUT

The average American eats nearly twice his weight in bread each year, the nation's leading baker estimate today.

"Despite the fact that 9,300,000 healthy appetites have gone into the fighting forces, the great army of production at home has been 'passing the bread' to the tune of 12,500,000,000 pounds a year since Pearl Harbor," declared H. W. Gilb, director of the A & P Tea Company's bakeries. "Rationing, wartime lunchboxes, and the exodus of housewives from kitchens to war jobs all tended to boost bread consumption."

"The average adult is eating about 265 pounds of bread per year, whole and cracked wheats, rye, pumpernickel and the so-called year," Gilb continued, "and a further rise in bread consumption is indicated by our own figures, which show that A & P customers alone purchased 600,000,000 pounds of bread last year, an increase of 12 per cent over the previous year."

Gilb, who directs the operation of 37 bakeries, predicted that there will be an even greater reliance on bread as a "fighting food" as all bakers begin compliance with War Food Administration orders to enrich all bread flour with riboflavin, the B2 anti-pellagra vitamin, as well as the B1 and niacin nutrients already in use in A & P bakery products.

While tastes in bread vary, especially in large metropolitan areas, 80 per cent of all bread consumed in the United States is of the ordinary white variety, said Gilb. The remainder consists of "dark" and specialty loaves.

"As a nation we are learning to offset the pinch of short rations by investigating vitamins and counting calories in ordinary basic foods," he added. "The important protein content of bread, for example, is found to be nine to nine and a half per cent, only three percent age points less than that of beef and on a par with pork."

fense is even greater. Sixty per cent of all soldiers in the service are War Bond buyers, and sales now exceed $21,000,000 a month.

To squander your own time is bad enough, but when you take up the time of someone else too, your offense is even more heinous. Get in step with Uncle Sam—produce and preserve food, buy War Bonds and Stamps.

248 FATHERS IN KY'S OCTOBER DRAFT

State Selective Service headquarters of Kentucky announced this week that only 248 pre-Pearl Harbor fathers will be called up for the draft in the October quota for the state.

It was believed at first that the bulk of the quota would be composed of fathers but reclassification figures were higher than at first expected, officials stated. They added, a new classification formula for fathers has been worked out on a national basis with a revised "key" figure.

Harlan county will send the largest number of fathers in proportion to population, officials said, with four being called from that county.

However, officials said, this is the end of the single men's pool and from now on it will be fathers and 18 year old men if we are to meet Kentucky's future quotas.

15,000,000 AMERICANS MUST FILE TAX RETURNS

Farmers Are Also Required To File A Declaration Of Estimated Income For 1943

Between now and September 15, it is estimated, that 15 million Americans will file a declaration of estimated income for 1943, and make payment on their income tax on that basis under the "Pay-As-You-Go" plan, which became effective July 1, 1943. Many farmers will be among those who will file, except, if they prefer, they may wait until December 15, this year, to make their report, as the bulk of their income is in the fall.

Single persons earning more than $2,700 a year from wages subject to withholding, and all married couples earning more than $3,500 will be required to file declarations. In addition, individuals or couples with an income of $100 or more from sources other than wages are required to file, if their total income is such that they must pay an income tax.

Individuals who were required to file an income tax return for 1942, and whose wages are subject to withholding in 1943 will be less, must also file. Taxpayers who derive 80 percent or more of their gross income from farming, are not required to file until December 15, 1943, at which time the full unpaid balance of the estimated tax must be paid. However, they may file September 15, and pay their estimated tax in two installments—September 15 and December 15.

Doctors and lawyers, and other professional people, must file, and those operating business establishments. People must file the declaration, who have earnings on which there is a liability reaching into the upper surtax brackets, and therefore not wholly covered by withholding. Those with combination incomes, such as wages, on which taxes are withheld, plus interest, dividends or rents, to which withholding does not apply, should correction of the September 15 estimate become necessary, any taxpayers may obtain an amended declaration form and file on or before December 15, and proper adjustments will be made.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT DOMINATE ECON-OMY EXCEPT DURING
EMERGENCY, SYKES SAYS

N. A. M. Postwar Committee Chairman Points to Industry's Ability To Solve Postwar Problems As It Has Met the Vast Need For War Equipment

CITIES READJUSTMENT CON-SIDERATION

Calling attention to the need for a practical approach to postwar adjustment, Wilfred Sykes, National Vice President and Chairman of the Postwar Committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, told the N. M. M. Washington Postwar Conference that "it is not the duty of government to dominate enterprise except in a national emergency."

And after the national emergency it is the duty of the government immediately to set enterprise free, Mr. Sykes who is President of the Inland Steel Company, declared.

Public Should Know

"The normal domestic powers of government are police powers. It should set up and force rules for fair competition and free movement of prices for safe investment of savings, for collective bargaining between labor and management based on equal rights and equal responsibilities as corporate entities."

"The government should use its tax power only for the support of government and not to effect round-about social changes. Such changes as any government administration considers desirable should be stated openly and debated and decided by the voting public at the polls. It is essential that the public understand and demand these things in order that the government may be brought to do them," Mr. Sykes said.

American System

"If you will raise your voice in favor of these things to the Congress and to the public, I am convinced you will find a ready echo among the workers who are now fighting for what they recall as the American system. When they get out a uniform and are on their own again, they will not want to be wards of the state."

To justify restoration of the system of free competitive enterprise we have two main arguments, Mr. Sykes contended, one being that "we come into court with clean hands—see our war achievements," and "the other will be the effectiveness of our postwar policies."

"There can be no question of the effectiveness of the managers of free enterprise when the war broke on us and our major competition became Hitler, with Tojo as his subsidiary. The effectiveness with which free competitive enterprise accommodated itself to the situation did not come out of Washington. It was brought to Washington," the speaker said, "by the top-notch private businessmen whom the government called in from their competitive occupations."

War's End Uncertain

Indicating the uncertainty as to the time when hostilities will cease and the fact that reconversion may be spread out, Mr. Sykes said that the problem of reemploying some ten million veterans, in addition to a working population increased by some five million, is still a serious problem.

There is one inescapable difficulty which individual enterprises must face while a plant is being physically reconverted to peace. "It takes time to install new machines, new assembly lines, and new plant layouts; and it takes only a part of the payroll to do it."

"The number of employees involved and the length of the reconversion layoff depends on the degree of mechanization of the individual company and the extent to which it has taken on entirely new lines of goods in its war work."

Transition Employment

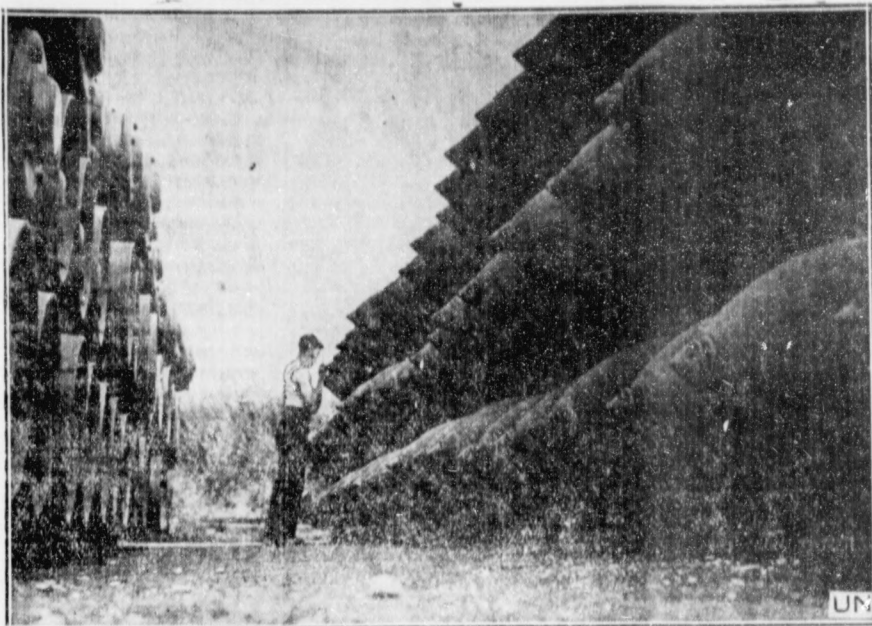

"It seems quite likely that an employee, if laid off—since the procession of war industries back to peacetime operations may well extend over three or four years—at any moment can be given transition employment without recourse to any huge federal program of 'made' public works."

"Due to the spread-out end of the war and the spread-out reconversion of industry, we might count on assurance on getting out of the war into full peacetime operations without any abrupt or large unemployment, were it not for certain bottlenecks under government control through which we must pass," Mr. Sykes said.

Bottleneck Billions

These bottlenecks, he pointed out

GRAVES CO-OPERATIVE TOMATO MARKETING PROJECT SEEMS ASSURED OF REAL SUCCESS NOW

The success of the Graves County Farm Bureau Cooperative Marketing Association's tomato project appears to be certain at this time. The history of this project for Graves County involves the services of a great number of agencies. Among these we find the Graves County Farm Bureau who originally sponsored the project and assisted the Marketing Association until such time as it could be incorporated.

Through the services of their capable secretary, W. L. Parr, and the cooperative efforts of the other agencies, six cars of tomatoes have already been packed and sent to market. It is estimated that nearly fifteen cars will be shipped from the territory this year unless much needed rains arrive soon. This would, of course, increase the production of the area and perhaps twenty cars of fruit would move to market.

Among the cooperative agencies who played an important part in the success of the program has been the County Agricultural Extension Service. W. R. Hoover, serving in capacity as county agent, has been a faithful worker and assisted Mr. Parr in many ways in carrying out the work of the campaign. He has been with the program since it was instigated.

The Agricultural Department of the Illinois Central Railroad has also been active rendering services of their field men as well as the assistance of their director, P. R. Farlow, General Agricultural Agent, of Chicago. Civic organiza-only able to plant 118 acres. Harvesting is under way at this time on 110 acres, the remaining eight acres having been destroyed by water and insects.

In a recent speech before the Kiwanis and Lions Club, R. W. Shirer, Agricultural Agent for the Illinois Central System in Kentucky, pointed out that the income ber of Commerce (who has been active in this year's program) adopt a slogan "500 Acres Or Bust." This would mean an income of $75,000 or more in Graves County next year.

George Lirely, Agricultural Agent for the Illinois Central system at Jackson, Miss., who is a veteran of seventeen years service with the railroad, most of this time being spent in Hazlehurst and Crystal Springs tomato producing areas, stated on his recent visit here that he felt the quality of tomatoes being produced in Graves County certainly exceeded those to be found in Hazlehurst and Crystal Springs areas. This perhaps can be attributed to the good quality soil which is to be found in the field of Graves County.

Plans have already been made to encourage farmers of Graves County to plant 500 acres for the 1944 crop. Soil improvement practices are being carried to the farmers by all the cooperating agencies, including the State Extension Service. County Agent Hoover is arranging for a series of meetings throughout the county in the very near future, the purpose of which will be to discuss the value of cover crops in connection with all production as well as tomatoes. Farmers who intend to grow tomatoes for another year should not miss the opportunity of using a green manure crop to increase their total production for 1944.

One of the leading farmers in the Marketing Association has already received over $650.00 from his three acre patch of tomatoes. Not all the farmers in the Association have been this fortunate. Some have not been able to get the production they desired due to a lack of moisture; others perhaps did not utilize the fullest opportunities in cultivation practices. However, these same farmers have learned a great deal about the system which must be followed in the successful production of green wrapped tomatoes.

It now becomes more apparent than ever that the best soil on the farm pays the biggest dividends as far as tomato production is concerned. Mr. Farlow, during his recent visit to Mayfield, suggested that he would offer the services of his agricultural agent in the territory to assist farmers in selecting land for their 1944 crop. The agent will test the soil and assist farmers in determining how much fertilizer will be necessary in order to meet the requirements of the crop.

The Common Defense

SERVING TWO MASTERS

Those who believe in the principles of American democracy must believe in them passionately and wholeheartedly. And they must be clear and forthright in saying so. They must be just as forthright and direct in acting upon these principles. There is no middle ground.

A citizen of this country either believes in the American principle that all men are created equal—or he does not.

He either believes in the American principle of government "of the people, by the people and for the people"—or he does not.

He either believes in free speech, free press and free assembly—or he does not.

He either believes in democratic freedom, human decency and the sacred worth of every living man—or he does not.

No citizen of this country can now half-believe in these American principles and half-believe in the oppression of humanity and the degradation of man that mark totalitarian dictatorship; in the regimentation of capital and labor and the suppression of all civil rights that mark them; in the race hatred and religious persecution that mark them; in the stifling of science and art and education that mark them.

For Americans today the choice is either American democracy or some form of totalitarian dictatorship. There is no middle ground. We cannot serve both.

From the words of Christ we take this text and apply it to American life today:—"No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other." The menace of subversive forces to our American way of life, our love of freedom and democracy, is just this—that they try to confuse this issue. They try to cover their designs for dictatorship with the cloak of Americanism.

They appear to be for Americanism and at the same time against it. But no man can serve two masters.

We do not believe in dictatorship of any kind and we loathe tyranny in all its forms. There is a new and better day coming for America. It will be great and brilliant in the degree to which it is free of the elements of tyranny, and true to the principles of democracy.

Good farmers make the soil and the community better where they live.

When the record is written, let it be said farmers did their part and more.

tions of Mayfield and the State Marketing Service have assisted the program from time to time. A goal of 150 acres was set for this year's planting. Due to a shortage of labor, a wet season at planting time and other hardships of wartime and production, farmers were from tomatoes for this year's production would probably net Graves County farmers $15,000. However, in order to make the program successful, he pointed out the need to expand the acreage for another year and suggested that all civic organizations, including the Cham-

Proclamation

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES

Proclamation

RECOGNIZING THE FACT that in carrying the war into enemy territory, we shall need greater amounts of money than any nation has ever asked from its citizens in all history, I, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT, President of the United States of America, do officially proclaim that on Thursday, the ninth of September, 1943, the Third War Loan shall be launched.

As Commander-in-Chief, I hereby invoke every citizen to give all possible aid and support to this Third War Loan drive, not only so that our financial goal may be reached, but to encourage and inspire those of our husbands and fathers and sons who are under fire on a dozen fronts all over the world. It is my earnest hope that every American will realize that in buying War Bonds in this Third War Loan he has an opportunity to express voluntarily and under the guidance of his conscience, the extent to which he will "back the attack."

The American people supported well the first and second War Loan drives and in fact did even more than was asked of them. Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed.

DONE at the City of Washington, this twenty-sixth day of July, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and forty-three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred and sixty-eighth.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

Sam Abernethy always said: "Curiosity may kill a cat—but I'm no cat." Which is Sam's way of saying that when he's curious about something he goes out and gets the facts.

Seems our government feels the same way. After hearing rumors about our soldiers drinking too much government people went after the facts. They got the evidence on what our boys drink... and don't drink.

The government found out our Army's the best behaved in history. More'n half of 'em drink beer—nothing stronger. And the government found that selling 32 beer in Army camps is one reason why our Army is so temperate.

From where I sit, there isn't much cause to worry about our men in the Army. Looks like they can take care of themselves—and take care of the Nazis and the Japs, too.

Keep Fit, Says Nurse

"It's Far Ahead Of Any Medicine I Ever Used, Declares Mrs. Ebaugh, Tells Of Happy Experience."

"I first took Retonga four years ago, and it relieved me so remarkably that since then whenever I feel a little below par I take a bottle or two of Retonga and it has never failed to pick me right up," declares Mrs. J. F. Ebaugh, well known resident of 127-16th Ave., N., Nashville, Tenn. Mrs. Ebaugh continued:

MRS. J. F. EBAUGH

"In 1939 I noticed my nerves seemed to be on edge all the time, and I slept so poorly that I never felt rested. I had no desire for food, and my weight was going down so fast it worried me. For years I had been a victim of constipation, and I seldom felt free of distress from indigestion and gas in my stomach.

"Retonga brought me grand relief. I began to eat ravenously. My nerves settled down, I began to sleep restfully and to regain my 1st weight. The constipation also is relieved. I feel splendid. It is far ahead of any medicine I ever used."

Mrs. Ebaugh had many years experience as a practical nurse. Retonga is intended to relieve such distress when due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, constipation, insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach, and loss of appetite. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Store, adv.
