FULTON BULLDOGS BEATEN 38-6 BY TORNADO

CAMPUS COMMUNITY, Oct. 15—The Fulton Bulldogs were soundly beaten by the Paducah Tornadoes Friday night, 38 to 6. The Bulldogs went down fighting, but were no match for the well-trained, well-disciplined, and physically superior Paducah team. The Tornadoes had the ball most of the time and controlled the game from the first touchdown of the evening.

The local teams were playing their third game in three weeks and the Paducah team came from Paducah, Kentucky, to face the campus community for the second game of the evening.

The game was played in front of a capacity crowd in the second week of the season and was the first meeting between the two teams in over ten years.

The only way that a greater utilization in the supply of such materials is to be achieved is by the government and the farmer. A more positive and more噤缩的 network of the United States under government ownership or control is needed. The government should have the responsibility of maintaining the production and distribution of the materials used in industry, especially in those cases where the materials are essential to the maintenance of the war effort.

Bills of the House

Concerning the war loan and the raising of funds, there is a feeling among many members of Congress that the government should be more actively involved in the collection of funds. This would include the establishment of a war loan office in each state, and the appointment of war loan organizers to handle the collection of funds. It is also important that the government take a more active role in the distribution of funds to those who need them most.

Conclusion

In conclusion, the government must take a more active role in the collection and distribution of funds during the war. This will require a greater commitment of resources, but it is necessary to ensure the success of the war effort.

Editor's note: The above is a summary of the bill introduced in Congress concerning the war loan and the raising of funds.

Footnotes

1. The United States government has established a war loan office in each state.
2. The bill also calls for the appointment of war loan organizers to handle the collection of funds.
3. The government should take a more active role in the distribution of funds to those who need them most.

FOR YOUR PULPWOOD

Cut Pulpwood for Victory.

There is a great shortage of pulpwood, vastly needed for rayon parachutes, silkcellulose explosives, surgical dressings, blood plasma containers and hundreds of other uses. Cut every corner you can. Your country needs it.

Put Your Pulpwood Money into War Bonds. Pulpwood is bringing good prices now, but you can get even more by putting the money you get for it into War Bonds. Every $3 will come back to you on $4 after the war.

And that's when you will need a nice nest egg to buy the things you want—like a home, a car, or a radio.

This is a pulpwood-producing community. Pulpwood is our own war industry; our opportunity to serve our war-fraught responsibility.

Let's all get busy with our axes—do our patriotic duty today and help by a reserve of war bonds that will insure continued prosperity for all of us through the post-war years.

TURN YOUR Idle Trees INTO War Bonds

$20.75 worth of pulpwood buys a $15 bond

You’re Thrilled, Young Lady!

...so many things have been happening since school started...so many new friends to talk to, and so much to talk about.

Certainly you’re thrilled, young lady! But before calling, please remember that telephone rates are crowded now. If you’re in a hurry, it’s especially important to avoid unnecessary calling—and to speak briefly always. Telephone misuse cannot be handled alone, so we must make the most of the facilities we have.

You're helped when the bell clears will be appreciated by a lot of people.

It's HIGH TIME to Change in Kentucky!

For 12 years now, state administration has been in the hands of a gang!

In spite of changes in national leadership, the gang has remained unchanged. By policy, from start to finish, it has been to keep itself in power.

And so we have seen the waste of money and the absence of trust. We have seen thieves on the payroll and liars on the payroll. We have heard of death and gains and conspiracies against the general interest. We have heard of political combinations against state interests and illegal contributions to campaign funds. We have ersen the public service degraded and standards of honor to limits and extorted action.

YOU CAN help save Kentucky

The Republican party, by nominating nine independent and able citizens pledged to the elimination of political corruption, offers the opportunity for freedom and good government. By supporting them, we strike a Nice

SLEEPINESS

"I can't sleep!" is a common complaint. Many recognize this in others, and perhaps in their own sleep. The problem of insomnia is one that affects many people of all ages and both sexes. Insomnia is usually caused by stress, anxiety, or worry over some coming important event, or common causes of insomnia include changes in the sleep environment, such as noise or light, or other conditions that prevent or disrupt sleep. The symptoms of insomnia range from mild, occasional difficulties falling asleep or staying asleep, to more severe cases where the person experiences significant distress and impairment in daily functioning, such as difficulty concentrating, mood swings, and decreased energy levels. Insomnia can be categorized into different types, such as primary insomnia (when no specific cause can be identified) and secondary insomnia (when another underlying condition is present, such as sleep apnea or chronic pain).

It is important to distinguish between normal variations in sleep patterns and true insomnia, as the latter can significantly impact a person's well-being. While some people may experience occasional nights of poor sleep, these should not be considered insomnia if the individual is able to function adequately during the day.

Treating insomnia requires addressing the underlying causes, which may involve lifestyle changes, medication, or other interventions. In some cases, insomnia may be a symptom of an underlying medical condition, such as sleep apnea or thyroid disorder, which requires treatment of the condition.

If you or someone you know struggles with sleep problems, it is important to consult a healthcare provider to determine the cause and appropriate treatment plan. Insomnia can significantly affect a person's quality of life and well-being, and effective management is crucial to maintain optimal health.
