FAIR ASSESSMENT NEEDED

We have been hearing a lot of the word "assessment" in our local and state newspapers. The term "assessment" comes from the Latin word "assess," which means "to evaluate." It is used to refer to the process of determining the value of property for tax purposes. The purpose of assessment is to ensure that everyone pays their fair share of taxes. If property is under-assessed, it means that the owner is paying less in taxes than they should be, and it can lead to an unfair distribution of tax responsibilities.

It is a false but true observation that "taxation without representation is tyranny." This is because property owners have no say in how their property is assessed. If the assessment is low, the owner is paying less taxes, and if the assessment is high, the owner is paying more taxes. This can result in an unfair distribution of tax responsibilities.

Investigation Likely

H. J. Holcomb, Jr., chairman of the Fulton County Assessment Board, has announced that an investigation into the assessment of property in Fulton County is likely. The purpose of the investigation is to ensure that property is assessed fairly and accurately. This will involve reviewing the assessments of property in Fulton County to see if they are fair and accurate.

The investigation will likely be conducted by a team of assessors who will review the assessments of property in Fulton County. They will look at the valuations of property and compare them to similar property in the area. They will also look at the assessment of property in other counties to see if Fulton County's assessments are fair and accurate.

If the investigation finds that property is under-assessed, it will likely result in an increase in taxes for the property owner. This is because the property owner will be required to pay more taxes to make up for the under-assessment. If the investigation finds that property is over-assessed, it will likely result in a decrease in taxes for the property owner. This is because the property owner will be required to pay less taxes.

The investigation is likely to take several months to complete. During this time, property owners will be able to see if their property is assessed fairly and accurately. If they believe that their property is under-assessed, they can file a complaint with the Fulton County Assessment Board. If they believe that their property is over-assessed, they can also file a complaint with the Fulton County Assessment Board.

The Fulton County Assessment Board will review the complaints and make a decision on whether to increase or decrease the assessment of the property. If they decide to increase the assessment, the property owner will be required to pay more taxes. If they decide to decrease the assessment, the property owner will be required to pay less taxes.

The investigation is likely to result in a more fair and accurate assessment of property in Fulton County. This will ensure that property is assessed fairly and accurately, and that everyone pays their fair share of taxes.
For the next few weeks, baseball fans will be able to relax on the bleachers and watch their favorite teams from city to city. The American League and the National League play this week and next to decide which clubs will be in the World Series. The Chicago White Sox lead the American League at 78-24, 11½ games in front of the New York Yankees. The Yankees are second at 73-27, and the Boston Red Sox are third at 69-32. The Washington Senators are leading the National League at 73-28, 12 games in front of the New York Giants and 13 games in front of the Brooklyn Dodgers. The Giants are second at 61-40, and the Dodgers are third at 56-42.

The American League will play the World Series against the National League. The American League has won the last three Series, and there is no indication that this year will be any different. The American League has a better record than the National League this season, and it is expected to win the Series.

The World Series will start on the 26th of October at Wrigley Field in Chicago. The Series will be played in three parks: Wrigley Field, Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, and Yankee Stadium in New York. The American League will play the first two games at Wrigley Field, and the National League will play the last two games at Yankee Stadium. The fifth game, if necessary, will be played in Ebbets Field.

The Series is expected to last no more than five games. The American League has the edge in pitching, and it is expected to win the Series. The American League has a better record than the National League this season, and it is expected to win the Series.
