FARM BUREAU SCORES CHANDLER REMARKS

Rescoe Stone, of Hickman, Retires
As Director of Kentucky
Farm Bureau

Purchase Farm Bureau leaders lashed out with severe criticism of Senator Chandler in a resolution adopted at the annual district Farm Bureau meeting at Arlington Friday night. The resolution declared Kentuckians have been embarrassed by recent activities and statements made by Senator Chandler because he was elected by Kentucky voters and is supposed to represent them.

It criticized his round-the-world trip by plane, his frequent absences from Washington and charged he has created ill feeling between this Nation and its Allies through criticism of the conduct of the war, questioning good faith of Great Britain and Russia.

The resolution concluded with a request that Senator Chandler stay in Washington and attend to his legislative duties and that he consult with his constituents and learn their wishes. The McCracken county delegation offered the resolution and it was adopted with shouts of approval from representatives of other Purchase counties. More than 275 Farm Bureau members attended.

The organization took a stand against the payment of subsidies to farmers instead of raising prices on commodities on which higher prices are needed in order to enable farmers to continue production. A resolution asked for a survey of "middlemen costs" and that steps be taken to reduce them if it is found they are excessive. The resolution charges that consumers have a mistaken idea that prices to the farmers have been increased greatly, whereas the truth is that in many instances the prices they receive have not been raised.

Rescoe Stone of Hickman declined re-election, and J. Harve Martin of Paducah was elected as director of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation for the Purchase area.

Bulldogs Play Mayfield Here Friday

Friday afternoon will mark the last of the football games for the season this year with the Fulton Bulldogs playing the Mayfield Cardinals on the local field. The boys have really been practicing this week for they really would like to upset the Cardinals in this closing game. An upset over Mayfield would make the season a glorious success, and the boys have been working hard with this end in view.

PULPWOOD DRIVE VITALLY IMPORTANT TO WAR EFFORT

Farmers and Citizens Are Urged To "Cut A Cord For Every Local Boy In Service"

Pulpwood is just as important now as scrap metals and the purchase of war bonds. All are vital to the war effort, and will hasten the day of victory, as well as save the lives of American boys on the battle fronts. The following telegram from National Headquarters is a challenge to farmers and citizens of this vicinity:

"Victory Pulpwood Drive making good progress in practically all communities, but War Production Board and top government officials are asking for increased efforts as the pulpwood shortage is still serious.

"The drive CUT A CORD FOR EVERY LOCAL BOY IN SERVICE should put us over the top, therefore you and your pulpwood committee, civic clubs, and farmers, are urged to do everything possible to make this drive a success.

"Secretary Knox has issued a statement for publication on Armistice Day along with a message from the Commander of the American Legion urging all Legionnaires to enlist in the local campaign.

"Let's not let our boys down. The newspapers in the pulpwood areas have been challenged to do the job, but I am sure they will accept it and put this drive over as they did with scrap metal and with war bonds.

Methodist To Hold Session At Murray

The Memphis Annual Conference of the Methodist Church, shortened to three days this year, because of wartime restrictions, convened Wednesday through Friday afternoon at First Methodist Church, Murray, Ky., in its 105th annual session. Appointments of ministers will be announced Friday afternoon.

More than 400 clerical and lay delegates are expected to attend the conference at which both clergy and lay elect delegates to the General Conference which meets next year. A feature of the sessions will be recognition of the ministers who have left their pulpits to enter the chaplaincy, some of whom will attend the conference.

Bishop J. Lloyd Decell, presiding bishop of this area, was ill, and Bishop U. V. W. Darlington presides over the conference. Bishop Decell, during the Louisville conference, filled in for Bishop Darlington, who had just lost a son in service.

The Fulton pastorate, which is in the Paris district, like other churches in the conference, will be subject to change, as will Cayce, Martin, Dresden, Sharon, Greenfield, Gleason and others.

Crash At Union City Fatal To Otha Moore

Otha Moore, former manager of the Black & White Store in Union City, was killed Wednesday noon when the primary training plane in which he was making a solo flight crashed near Embury-Riddle Air Field at Union City. He came to Union City three years ago from Dyersburg.

Mr. Moore held a private pilot's license and several months ago resigned his position with Black & White store to take a war training service course at the University of Tennessee Junior College at Martin. Two weeks ago he started taking a refresher course at Embury-Riddle Field, an Army primary training field, preparatory to becoming an instructor.

He and Paul Bushart, editor of The News, formerly owned a private plane together hanged at Martin, and was well known among local aviation enthusiasts.

WFA ANNOUNCES DAIRY PROGRAM

In step to restore dairy feed costs to the September 1942 level without disturbing the prices of milk or other dairy products, and in an effort to maintain an increase in the production of whole milk and butter fat, the War Food Administrator has announced a dairy payment program, effective until December 31, 1943.

In Kentucky, the rate of pay for whole milk delivered will be 35 cents per hundred weight. When butterfat rather than whole milk is delivered, the rate of payment will be 4 cents per pound.

The Fulton County ACP Committee is urging all dairy producers to keep accurate records of their sales of milk and butterfat and of their purchases of dairy feeds, including hay, as of October 1, 1943, the beginning date of the payment program. When payments are made directly to the producer, this record of sales and purchases and the supporting evidence will be filed with the County AAA office.

The time for filing applications for payment will be announced at a later date after the necessary forms and instructions are made available.

PLANS READY FOR WAR FUND DRIVE IN FULTON

Plans have been completed, and all is in readiness for the beginning of the solicitation for contributions next Tuesday for the War Fund Drive. Foad Homra, county chairman of the east end of Fulton county, has picked workers to assist him in the campaign, with the support of the Elks Club.

A goal of $3,500 has been set for the drive here. Of that total 15 per cent will remain here to be used by the Service Club and the Community Chest, while the rest will go to the National War Fund.

Seventeen organizations will profit through contributions to the War Fund. They are: United Service Organizations, United Seamen's Service, War Prisoners Aid, Russian War Relief, United China Relief, British War Relief Society, Greek War Relief Association, Polish War Relief, French Relief Fund, Belgian War Relief Society, United Czechoslovak Relief Fund, Queen Wilhelmina Fund, Norwegian Relief, Refugees Relief Trustees, U. S. Committee for the Care of European Children, and the Community Chest.

The needs that these organizations meet are great, and this War Fund offers the opportunity to give in one lump sum to a worthy cause.

SOLDIER LETTERS

Somewhere in Brazil
Dear Mother and All:

In my last letter I told you of my hunting experience in the jungle—that is, hunting for the waterfalls. Now I'll tell about the fiesta last night (Sunday) in one of the villages about five miles up the river.

On our first day of arrival here we received invitations to attend of course, we did not know nor have any idea what sort of blow-out it was to be. Personally I had not thought too much about it since, but was planning to go. Saturday night some of we fellows went down to a trading post six miles down river. A friend of mine, Francis Burch, suggested we take an early start Sunday morning and go to the village and spend the day and stay over for the dance, or fiesta Sunday night.

As our laundry girl was going home that morning, it was decided that we would walk with her up the trail which goes up the side of the river to about a half mile of the village. There the trail ends and her mother and sister were waiting for us in a canoe. This was about 8:30 a.m., so we rowed in to the village about 9 a.m., of course, they invited us to have dinner and supper with them and we accepted the invitation gladly as we were staying over for the night and were glad to have a place to eat. We parked our pistols at their hut, then set out to walk about the village and see it.

As the stores were open we bought a stalk of bananas (for fifteen cents) and some soft drinks and took them to our hosts house so as to show some appreciation for their hospitality. We just walked about and talked with the natives all morning. The settlement stretches for about a half mile along the river. There are a few houses of frame or puncheons loosely constructed, but the majority of them are sun-baked mud or large palm leaves. It was quite an experience within itself, just to

PAIR HELD FOR TRIAL IN DEATH NEAR DUKEDOM

J. C. Westmoreland, of near Latham, and Will O'Connor, of Riceville, suburb of Fulton, were held without bail to the December Grand Jury in Weakley County, Tenn., Monday on murder charges. The pair is charged with the murder of Elbert Moore, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moore, Dukedom, on the Kentucky-Tennessee State Line.

Moore was found unconscious and severely beaten on State Line Highway 94, a mile west of Dukedom, the night of October 26, and died before he could be taken to a hospital. In a preliminary hearing at Fulton two days after the alleged crime, Westmoreland told officials of Graves and Fulton counties, in Kentucky, and Weakley county, Tennessee, authorities that O'Connor and Moore fought after O'Connor, a Fulton truck driver, had demanded $150 fare for driving Moore from Fulton to near Dukedom. O'Connor told the investigators that he left Westmoreland and Moore quarreling over who should pay the $150 fare.

Moore had just returned from Charleston, Mo., where he had been at work, and O'Connor testified that all three of the men involved had been drinking.

Coal Situation Is Tight Here

A survey of the coal situation here revealed that most Fulton homes are warm, that hotels, theatres and other institutions are well supplied, and the supply should be ample until more coal can be obtained.

The national situation is severe, and the local situation is tight, but delivery of more coal should be forthcoming now that the strike situation is apparently settled. Meanwhile, everyone is urged to use fuel sparingly, and buy in small quantities when necessary so that the present supply may be spread to as many families as possible.

Mayfield Band To Perform At Game This Afternoon

Mayfield's High School Band of 60 pieces and the High School Drill Corps of 37 pieces will perform at the Fulton-Mayfield game at Fairfield this afternoon. The band and drill corps will parade down town before the game and at the half-time will present a program.

A show entitled "Travelogue" will be presented. This review of traveling means will remind the timer of the audience of the "Old Gray Mare" and the long ago wood burner locomotive. Also, the ancient, giant wheeled bicycle will turn again, and the modern airplane will be seen on the field.

EUGENE SPEIGHT MANAGER OF MONTGOMERY PLANT

Mr. Speight has been an employee of Swift and Company for the past thirteen years, having served all of that time at the Fulton plant except for a short while spent at Mt. Vernon, Ill. Mrs. Speight and son Douglas will join him later.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl King and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Calvin Hutchens in Pearl Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Nanney and children visited Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Carl King.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weeks of McConnell have bought a house and lot here in town.

EDITORIAL*GIVE THEM RECOGNITION

Nearly everyone is familiar with the Army-Navy "E" and the Maritime "M" production awards in recognition of outstanding production records in interest of the war effort. Now comes the "A" award to encourage the development of war food production.

But there is one vital branch of our national enterprises, which has been overlooked and should obtain recognition by the awarding of a "badge of honor" for meritorious service in interest of the war effort. We are speaking of the power and utility companies, the communications companies and the railroads.

For instance, the electric light and power industry has shown an increase of 73 per cent in its kilowatt hour output since 1939; American railroads in 1942 increased the ton miles moved as compared with 1939 by 92 per cent and the passenger miles by 135 per cent in the same period. Then, the various service industries—like the telephone companies have done a great war job. All these deserve recognition in the form of public awards.

LABOR SEES THE DANGER

The Yakima, Washington, Herald, in an editorial which is a classic in clear thinking, discusses a principle which affects the citizens of every state. It says:

"The United States has the best form of government yet devised by man, and every loyal citizen is moved by its guarantees of freedom and equality of opportunity to support and revere it; but when the government's power is used by designing men to influence the lives of its citizens in activities other than those appropriately connected with national defense, it is the duty of the individual to protest, even to resist by every lawful means.

"This is the thought behind the decision of the Central Labor Council of Bellingham, which has been endorsed by nine local unions, to oppose the attempt within this state to clothe public utility districts with the power to acquire and administer private power companies. The unions frankly assert that the proposed law, which will be on the ballot in the general election of 1944 under the title of Referendum 25, tends to place control of the power industry in the hands of Federal bureaucrats and thereby endangers the rights of labor as well as those of industry.

"The future of all Americans, regardless of their economic or political status, will be happy only as the people themselves control the acts of their government. When the people for any reason whatever permit government to govern the economic processes of the nation, they subject themselves to governmental control; then government becomes the master and not the servant of the people.

"The present trend within our government is one that discloses to intelligent and observing citizens the encroachment of a governmental system that is different in no important respect from the one now holding large segments of European peoples in economic and political bondage. A nation in economic thrall cannot be politically free."

FREEDOM OF SPEECH FOR ALL

It took a Supreme Court refusal to review a Court of Appeals decision, in order to sustain an employer's right of free speech.

The Second Circuit Court of Appeals in the NLRB vs. American Tube Bending Co. case ruled that an employer can express his opinions to his employees concerning unions and unionization. All the employer had done in this case was to address a letter to his workers several days prior to a NLRB election, explaining the mechanism of the election, urging him to vote, and stressing their freedom of selection. The letter further said that the unions had made no demands on the company, discussed the high wages paid by the company, asked the employees to consider seriously the kind of leadership they wanted, and asserted that the company would continue to play fair. The employer made no secret of his preference for no union.

This the National Labor Relations Board termed as unfair labor practice, and it ordered the company not to interfere with or coerce its employees in their right to bargain collectively.

Fortunately, the Circuit Court ruling established that this was not coercion or interference. Free speech, which we in this country are so anxious to bring to all the world, must belong to all groups here before we can claim it as our own and recommend it to others. The freedom of an employer to tell his employees how he feels about an issue close to the concern is part and parcel of national freedom of speech. Without it, as without any other aspect of it, there can be no real freedom of speech.

THE PUBLIC THINKS

The war record of industry and the labor it employs being more than satisfactory, the problem the public now faces is how it will all shape up after the war.

In a recently published summary of the views of the American war worker, based on studies by the American Institute of Public Opinion, we have some very reassuring information on the nature of the average war worker's attitude.

The majority of war workers are taking a realistic view of the post-war era, saving money now because they think they may have to accept a weekly pay cut. They are satisfied with the way management is running things. They are fair and will not rush to defend fellow workers whom they believe are at fault. And although the majority believe in labor unions they are not blind to the shortcomings of unions.

This is a picture of level-headed group—an important one which includes millions of men and women and which constitutes one of the largest opinion groups in the country today. And members of the government would do well to consider this when financial schemes are being hatched in Washington.

HOW NOT TO GROW RICH

Although corporation profits in the United States this year before deduction of taxes will be two-and-one-half times as large as they were in 1929, Federal taxes alone will take 66 cents of each dollar, compared with 13 cents taken in 1929, according to the Cleveland Trust Company's current Business Bulletin. This corroborates the recent testimony of industrial spokesmen in Washington.

SILLO SIMPKINS SAYS

Starving livestock pay no bills. In the book of successful farming there are many legume leaves. Put your farm machinery away this winter, more rusts out than wears out.

With increased wartime demand for all foods, particularly meat substitutes, it is more desirable than ever that walnuts be saved.

Forest fires destroyed enough timber in the United States during 1942 to build 20,000 Liberty ships or 2,000,000 Army truck bodies.

"Nothing, in my opinion, would contribute more to the welfare of the States than the proper management of lands," George Washington.

A survey of five terminal markets in Tennessee reflected a decrease in cattle marketing of 28 per cent during July, August and September as compared to the same period in 1942.

If green cotton stalks are destroyed as soon as cotton is picked, boll weevils will starve before they go into hibernation, or will be so weak they will not survive the winter.

Tidbits of Kentucky FolkloreBY Gordon Wilson Ph.D.
WESTERN KENTUCKY
TEACHERS COLLEGE
BOWLING GREEN, KY."IN THE SWEAT OF THY FACE"

Since the war has begun, I have been reminded almost daily of the older times. We are being told to lengthen our working hours; few of us work as we did before Pearl Harbor. All this reminds me of the days when work was regarded as good in itself, whether we accomplished anything or not. We were told at home, at school, at church, and in our social groups that idleness was fatal, that industry was the greatest blessing. We almost believed that work itself was the only way out. This doctrine so permeated our lives that thousands of people whom we knew worked themselves to death or into bad health and incompetence. Never did I hear any one question whether the work was necessary to be done, whether it advanced any one's interests or the good of the body politic.

It was this philosophy that got people up in the dark hours before dawn to start another sacrifice to the god of Labor. Women whom I knew were rapidly working themselves into early graves because they were never rested when another day started several hours too early. Washing dishes until long into the night and then rising early to have breakfast ready long before sunup drove hosts of them into wretched health or the grave itself. To have breakfast by lamplight in the longest summer days was supposed to add something fine to people's lives; I forget what. To save my neck, I cannot see what was accomplished by all this burning the candle at both ends. Being of an experimental nature, I often measured the work of our neighbors who felt it disgraceful not to be out in the fields before sunrise with what my brother and I did, and I can assure you I never plowed a furrow before sunrise or after sunset in my farm life. We found by checking up that we two got more done than any other two hands around us, and we got some sleep, too.

If we had need, as in war time, to do these long extra hours of labor, I would not cavil today. But there was no thought of keeping the wolf from the door; work was supposed to bring its own reward. Consequently, we did many things that were not only unnecessary but actually harmful, in order to keep busy. All of this was a part of the doctrine of work, a doctrine that was usually blind and deaf and dumb. "Six days shalt thou labor," we were told; "An idle brain is the devil's workshop."

DOWN OUR ALLEY

For the first time in 25 years, Kentucky went Republican in the vote cast at the general election held Nov. 2. Among the rural districts of the nation there is a definite trend against the New Deal, and unless the Democrats bring out another man for President in 1944, they stand a good chance of losing in the national election that year.

Party lines have become less distinct in recent years since the inauguration of the New Deal, with the division now being between those who hold with New Deal practices and policies, (in both parties,) and those conservatives, both Democrats and Republicans, who are opposed to the riot of governmental spending and introduction of so-called social changes in our government. The vote at the polls of Kentucky was partly an expression of dissatisfaction on the part of voters with New Dealism, and the lack of a strong labor policy by our national government. It is our prediction, that the people will vote for anything for a change for they are fed up on the present type of administration in Washington.

Barkley, Chandler and even the President are threatened with political revolt in Kentucky, as is the case in many other sections of the nation. The will of the people will be heard in the end . . . and it is this will of the majority that will safeguard the interests of our country.

Uniform vehicle laws and reciprocal agreements between States will likely be one of the early reforms of post-war days. New opportunities will be opened to the operation of motor transport for individuals who will secure an important place in this field of business now controlled to a large extent by big bus and truck line concerns.

In short, great improvement in transportation may be expected in highway motor service, and in the development of airplane travel. Trans-oceanic travel may diminish, as airplane service is faster. The great production of ships, due to one given the European bullys. Every thoughtful citizen knows the importance of maintaining the solvency of our country and the industries that furnish jobs and payrolls which create prosperity. But he also knows that the necessity of taxing income until it hurts should not mean taxation to the point of destruction. At last governmental economies to offset new tax demands seem unavoidable in order that the tax-earning ability of the nation, and therefore its solvency, may be preserved. This is the problem that now faces Congress, and it will take wise and non-partisan statesmanship to handle our country's financial problems from now on if the earning ability of the nation for post-war readjustments and job-making activities is to be preserved.

"War has one virtue. It reawakens a people's sense of values. For example, in peace time everyone takes the local newspaper pretty much for granted. Its value to the community and to the ideals of freedom which the editor symbolizes with every opinion he expresses, is almost wholly lost to sight.

"In ordinary times the editor is painfully reminded of the arbitrary value placed on his services. Advertising is hard to obtain. When it is obtained it is strictly on a basis of getting so many customers for so and so's gadget. Any advertising manager who bought space in newspapers with the partial objective of encouraging a free press and free enterprise, would a few years ago, have been looked upon as light-headed by his colleagues. But today circumstances have changed. Our business men, all of us, have observed that in those nations disappearance of personal liberty was accompanied by the disappearance of the virulent free thinking and free speaking editor. After the disappearance of the editor came the iron hand of dictatorship. It is not surprising that we begin to look upon the editor and the free press he represents as something to be preserved at all costs in this country." Thus spoke one of the nation's outstanding men.

The government itself has presented one of the strongest arguments against the ultimate socialization of medical care—or any other kind of socialistic plan whereby bureaucrats in Washington control the activities of free enterprise. Efficient, prompt and competent treatment; are cardinal requisites of a successful medical system. Federal agencies cannot hope to approach private initiative and enterprise in efficient management. Delay and red tape just can't be eliminated in any political organization as gigantic as our Federal government. The record speaks for itself.

The more gift and services people demand of government, the more complex and inefficient it becomes. There are those who think the government should supply everything but eternal life. At the same time, the complain of growing bureaucracy and taxation. They forget that our government is a political organization never intended to manage the personal or business affairs of its citizens. Shifting the responsibility of medical care to government would not simplify the health problems of the individual. It would add to them by the destruction of medical efficiency and further pyramiding of bureaucracy.

FOOD FIGHTS FOR FREEDOM

The month of November has been officially designated as the first "Food for Freedom" month in a continuing campaign to awake the public consciousness to the importance of food in our all-out war effort.

Certain misconceptions about the part of food in this war have become fairly common.

For instance, we hear such talk as this, upon occasion: "Our armed forces get most of the food," and "we're sending too much food to our allies." Besides being entirely untrue, such statements can do real harm to the war effort. Believing and spreading such misconceptions is a form of sabotage.

Misconceptions Dangerous

Actually, we are sending only 10 per cent of our total food supply to our allies. Our armed forces consume 13 per cent. With the 2 per cent that goes to our good neighbors, a total of only 25 per cent goes to war—while 75 per cent stays home to feed our civilian population. Few patriotic civilians would "squawk" if they knew this important fact.

American industry has made marvelous contributions on the "food front" in this war. For instance, we have heard of the new dehydrated and frozen foods and of the new compact soldier rations developed by the food industry in cooperation with the military. But food miracles on the production front alone are not enough.

What Civilians Can Do

Those of us on the home front are asked to make food fight for freedom. There are four principal ways to do this:

1. Produce as much food as possible—on the farm and, wherever possible, in Victory Gardens.

2. Conserve Food—by wasting nothing, preserving, substituting plentiful for scarce foods, serving nutritious food for health and strength.

3. Share Food—by exhibiting an understanding attitude toward the "lend-lease" and toward food for our own fighting men. Military leaders know best how much is needed; trust them.

4. Play Square—by shunning and reporting black markets, buying rationed food only with ration stamps, and paying no more than legal ceiling prices.

Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—take itself—constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backaches, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feel tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning urination are sometimes further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. The Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. Text: Luke 16: 19-31, II Peter 3: 9
HELL, ACCORDING TO BIBLE

I am well aware that we have a most unpleasant subject for discussion. A subject that no one really enjoys discussing, but one that merits our time and consideration due to the place that is given to it in God's word. All of us would enjoy turning aside and thinking on the more pleasant matters, such as Heaven with all its beauty and blessings, but Hell is treated by the Bible with the same importance as Heaven. Therefore, we are strictly Biblical when we devote our time and attention to this subject. It is my opinion that no person in all the ages intended to go to Hell. Nevertheless, teeming thousands have gone there (through the ages). This teaches us that to escape Hell there must be more involved than mere intention, because sin is no respecter of persons. It would willingly and happily send any person to this place of torment. All the world should rejoice to know that there is a way out, that God has provided a way of escape, and that any living person has the glorious privilege of taking God's way out. It is my prayer that many today will be caused to turn from the destruction of Hell toward God and life.

Hell is real. In this subject we are facing facts, not fiction. Hell is as real as this present life that we are living. It is just as real as this visible, tangible, and material world in which we now live. There is no possible means of explaining away the fact and reality of a literal, burning Hell. The Bible tells us that it is real. Forty-four times the Bible mentions Hell as a real place, and surely, if God has stated a fact forty-four times, it should be willingly accepted by all living creatures. It was not necessary for God to establish this truth by so many references to it in His word, for He could have mentioned it one time and that would have been sufficient. But no doubt, He looked down across the ages and saw the doubt that would lurk in many minds and the Satanic propaganda that would be shouted in all nations. Therefore, He gave this subject a large place in His book in order to keep the human race reminded of its reality of Hell the same as it does Heaven with all of its life and beauty. Hell is taught in the same manner as the crucifixion, the resurrection, and the ascension of Christ, which is the heart of our hope of eternal life. It is taught in the same manner as is salvation by grace through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. The Bible teaches the reality of Hell the same as it does the second coming of Christ, when He shall stand victorious over sin, Satan, and the world. This we all love to hear and believe, but, in order to do so, it becomes necessary to accept the Bible from one side to the other; and when we do, we accept the teaching of a literal, fiery, eternal torment. Very few doubt the infallibility of the Bible because it has been vindicated by time and events. Hundreds of years before, God announced the coming of the Messiah through symbols and prophets. More than nineteen hundred years ago, God in Jesus fulfilled every prophecy and promise that was uttered concerning the coming of the Messiah. God in His word promised Abraham the land of Palestine. Four hundred years later under the leadership of Moses and Joshua, God led the Children of Israel from the land of bondage and planted them securely in this place that He had promised Abraham. God's word has said that "Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." This was proven true in the lives of such men as David, Sampson, Solomon, and Judas. We in our brief span of life have seen this part of God's work proven true many times. Jesus announced to His disciples, "Upon this rock I will build my Church and the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it." Throughout the years Isms have arisen and assailed the voice of the Church. Various moves, institutions, and men have endeavored to abolish the Church, but through all ages it has marched from victory unto victory and she stands today stronger than ever before. All of this proves that the word of God is true. This assures that even this subject of Hell as taught by the Bible is infallible.

I believe in Hell because sin is not adequately treated in this world. Many are able to escape the result of sin in this life and are privileged to enjoy, health, wealth, and temporary happiness who at the same time have rebelled against God. This reminds us that there must be punishment beyond this life in order for God to be just and that sin will be punished. For if angels were not able to escape the just recompense, of reward, how shall we escape the justice of an infinite, omnipresent Sovereign?

There is a Heaven. This most everyone will accept. Men say that this is easy to believe. But if we are to accept the statement that there is a Heaven, we are compelled to accept the existence of Hell because it would not be proper for Moses and Parah to live in the same place hereafter after having lived in this world in the manner that they did. Moses lived for God sacrificing and suffering much for the cause of right while Parah lived Satan enjoying the luxuries of sin. No sane person can picture these men living in the same place in the world beyond. Does it sound just right to say that Daniel and Belshazzar will live together hereafter? Or that Paul and Silas will inhabit the same city as Amanias in the world beyond? If we pause for one minute and give ourselves to this thought we must agree that if there is a Heaven there must be a Hell, and if the Bible is not true then we are of all people most miserable and hopeless.

Hell was not prepared for men and everyone that goes in is an intruder. The way out is so plain that we are led to believe that it is a man's own choice when he turns in this direction. Furthermore, no man goes because he can't hold out as a Christian because any sinner with the aid of Christ and presence of the Holy Spirit can live a Christian life because Jesus does the holding out. Neither do men go because they have gone too far away from God. Jesus is able to save to the utmost those that cometh unto Him seeing that He ever liveth to make intercessions. The weakest, most trifling, sinner in all the world that has reached the very bottomless depths of sin and corruption can be saved by the power of God from the eternal destiny of Hell. Still, Countless thousands are going to Hell because they reject Jesus as a personal Saviour, leaving Him out of their lives, preferring to keep sin and Satan on the throne of their hearts. Men are going to Hell because they frown on and turn away from the old rugged cross. The Hell-bound sinner has been blinded, weakened, and put to sleep by the power of sin. Satan has become his master holding him in his grip and he is to weak to break away by himself. Men are going to Hell because the lack of morale, courage to step out and take an open, definite stand with and for Jesus Christ. Many are going to Hell because the Church of the Living God is neglecting them by failing to carry to them God's word and urge them to follow Jesus. Woe to the Church that stands idly by today while teeming thousands of crippled, wounded and benighted souls tramp down the road to destruction. It is my prayer that every Church will be awakened to the reality of Hell and will become intensively active in soul winning. Furthermore, there are people who have their names on the Church books of all denominations that are going straight to Hell as a thirsty horse goes to the water pond. The Scriptures say that on the great, notable day of the Lord man will rise up and say, "Lord, didn't we do this and that in your name?" And God's reply to them will be "Depart from me, ye cursed. I never knew you." There are many people in our churches today who only have a head experience, when true salvation comes by an experience of the heart. God sees and examines the heart. The heart is the thing that counts with God. No doubt, I am preaching to people today that will be so unfortunate as to continue their neglect and eventually arrive at this woeful destiny.

Hell is a place of punishment for spiritual criminals. In our society we have jails, penitentiaries, galows, dungeons, and the electric chair as places of punishment and we believe that we have a just system of dealing with criminals. If so, God's system of punishment is far more just than ours. Hell is a worse for punishment than all of the places of the earth combined. There is no torment and torture like unto it because it is a place of punishment away from God, peace, rest, mercy, love to all that are bad and abhorred by the human race. Its horrors are beyond description. I am positive that if I could take this congregation by the hand and lead it around the banks of Hell and allow it to see the horrors of Hell as they are as its flames wrapped themselves around its victims increasing their misery and woe, that we would have a revival here today. No person is able to put his finger in the small flame of the fire that comes from a small candle and leave it there for one minute because the pain would cause that person to withdraw his finger. But in Hell the entire body will be enveloped in flames forever. Literal billows of fire will cover Hell's victims, hotter and hotter, worse than drinking hot lava or melted brass. All of these combined with the sting of sin and conscience will be most horrible and will never fade away. If you are so unfortunate as to go, you will be mixed up with thugs, thieves, criminals, demons, betrayers, critics, gossipers and others that do not come under the blood of the crucified Lamb. Some will be locked up with others that their lives influenced toward Hell. Loose living in the Church influences many in that direction. No inferno of earth can compare with its horrors.

Hell is real fire. I believe that the Bible teaches a fiery Hell and not an imaginary place, nor mere separation from God, nor some other form of punishment. Instead, a person will be separated from God and punished otherwise but these will be in connection with literal fire. In the sixteenth chapter of Luke the rich man said, "I am tormented in these flames," this is enough to convince me that Hell is a place of fire. Naturally this means that Hell is a place of suffering. People suffer many things in this world, but all suffering combined cannot compare with the suffering that one will endure in Hell. Hell is also a place of sorrow. The Scriptures say that there will be weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. One will be sorry for his many mistakes and especially for rejecting Christ as his personal Saviour and will not be able to smile and feel the thrill of being filled with joy, for Hell is a land of sorrow and tears.

Hell is a place of thirst. The rich man in Hell desired water at the hands of Lazarus, but was unable to secure it. My sinner friend, be not deceived, in Hell you will not be served iced tea and cold water, but your thirst will continue day and night throughout the ceaseless ages making Hell more miserable. Do you desire such a place as this? If not, turn to Jesus Christ this day.

Hell is a place of memories. The rich man remembered his brothers that were lost. Just so, every victim of Hell remembers the opportunities that he failed to take advantage of. Every religious service that he has ever attended will haunt him through the halls of Hell. Sinner friend, you will remember this service today and regret your rejection of the Lord Jesus Christ, if you continue in your sins until death transfers you to a devil's Hell. Why not remember today as the time when by the grace of God you were redeemed and started your journey Heavenward?

Hell is a place of sight and sanity. The rich man was able to see Lazarus in Abraham's bosom and it is my opinion that for him to be able to see Lazarus at rest and peace in Abraham's bosom made Hell worse for him and thus it will be with everyone that goes to Hell.

Hell is a land of prayer, but prayer at that time will be worthless because a great gulf is fixed between the redeemed and the doomed and that no one can cross. Therefore, no answer will be sent to those that pray in Hell. It will be too late to pray. Now and here is the place for people to pray. One simple prayer will prevent any man from going to this place. "That is, 'Lord be merciful to me a sinner.'"

I assure you that you will not see such men as Peter and John in Hell, because their names are written in the Lamb's Book of Life. Of all the sounds that shall echo through the chambers of Hell you will not hear the sound of singing and shouting for all of this will be in Heaven. Neither will you see the tree nor the river of life, because they will be in Heaven. It is bad enough for any person to go to Hell but it is worse to carry others with you. Many parents are influencing their children toward Hell and it is my opinion that Hell will be made more miserable by the cries of children that will condemn parents saying, "Had you been Christians and loyal to the Church of the Living God, I would not be here but would have followed you to Christ." Therefore, if you find yourself influencing someone away from God and toward Hell, stop it now and begin using your life and means for God and truth.

NEWSPAPER PULPWOOD COMMITTEE

NEXT THURSDAY is Armistice Day. In other years that day has been dedicated to the memory of the men who gave their lives in World War I. But this year we believe those honored dead would rather join with us, the living, in paying honor to the men of another generation who have taken up the weapons that fell from their lifeless hands.

This year we in this community are asked to observe Armistice Day not with words but with deeds. This year we have a special responsibility.

This Armistice Day marks the beginning of a new drive to make up the shortage in pulpwood. Everyone who can possibly do so is asked to cut an extra cord in honor of some friend or relative in the service.

There are two good reasons for putting the drive on this basis.

First, it takes nearly a ton of pulpwood to supply each man in the service with the many things he needs.

Second, the present pulpwood shortage, 2½ million cords, is just about equal to the number of service men who come from the pulpwood-producing areas.

So if every one of us in this and other pulpwood-cutting communities cuts an extra cord for our service man, the emergency will be met. No fighting man will lack any of the thousand-and-one war essentials that are made from pulpwood.

No boy shall die because we failed.

SOLDIER LETTER

see the town, but the real attraction we found to be later in the night.

After we had eaten dinner we were walking about when we met a fellow who is a native of Bombay, India, and speaks English quite well, as well as the Portuguese language, so he was eager to string along with us and we were quite glad to have him because he could act as a guide and also an interpreter. Well, the afternoon was just one of visiting, because at every house we would speak to the natives and get into a conversation and without exception they would invite us in for a cup of coffee or sugar cane juice. You see, this other fellow and I were the first American soldiers to ever visit the village, so nothing was too good for us. I often think of the States and of the difference between it and these people in regard to hospitality and friendliness. Indeed they made us feel somewhat like princes or something. We learned, during the course of the afternoon that the fiesta was church sponsored and would last all night and that preceding the dance would be a church auction. We, too, contributed ten mil reis (50c) toward the cause. After visiting about every house and drinking coffee and sugar cane juice (one cannot refuse because that would seem quite the improper thing to do) that we were afraid that one more cup would make it run out our ears, we returned to our friends house for supper. As we were already filled up we could not eat much of the big meal they had prepared.

Soon after supper we heard the bell ringing which was a signal for every one to congregate in front of the church (which is in the center of the settlement) for the auction. When we got there the crowd was gathering and they had brought benches from the church and placed them around the table which had the lamp and all the articles which were to be sold. They had fine wines, fruits, hens, perfume, etc., in that line. Soon the auctioneer started everything going. It was really interesting as everyone were bidding. The only thing we bought was a large pineapple.

After the auction they served coffee and some sort of sandwiches. We had coffee but did not try any of the sandwiches, not knowing what they were or under what conditions they might have been prepared. Then the dance started.

It was held in quite a large shack just next to the church. The orchestra was a fiddle, a guitar and a couple mandolins. Talk about rumba, conga, samba, and those types of South American dances—what they do in the States is a mild American dance as compared with theirs. Yes, it was much like what one sees in the movies. There was one dance in particular I remember—what with such shaking and twisting and acrobatics I've never seen the equal. It was truly an experience I would not have missed for a large price. And it went on all night and we were too amazed to even think of leaving. By that time everyone knew us and we were the center of attraction for the natives, including the kids and the most attractive seniors. There were several girls that were not bad to look at—what with their pretty eyes and white teeth. They were not too dark either, but tan, and their complexion are indeed very smooth looking.

Well, we received several invitations to spend the night at several homes at any time we got tired and wanted to go to sleep. Along about 5:30 or 6:00 a.m. it was about over and people began leaving. So we went to a home and went to bed, in a hammock of course, as that is what they sleep in. We had about an hours sleep then were called up for coffee at 7:30, then started back to camp. The family of our laundry girl were taking her back down the river to the trail and we came back with her, on the way we came almost on a snake in the path as he crawled off I took a shot at him with my automatic, he began coiling up as we walked on up the path. We came on into camp and went to bed and slept almost all day.

What a day and night! I'll never forget. I will go to bed again soon.

Goodnight with love.

must be men whom we can trust—so that we can confidently follow them. There has been too much pleading and not enough leading in government.

Great is the need for leaders. Great is the need for men of vision who can face facts with courage, see things realistically, state truths honestly, accept responsibility humbly—and never lose sight of the unalterable ideal upon which this nation was built—a government of the people, by the people, and for the people.

From where I sit...

by Joe Marsh

"Folks tryin' to pass laws to take legal beer away are usin' our soldiers as an excuse," remarked Jeb Howell recently.

"They don't really give a damn how the soldiers feel about it but they think it's a good opportunity to move in fast now, while the soldiers can't vote."

"That's so," I told him, "I was just readin' a London dispatch about the British Institute of Public Opinion polling our soldiers on that very subject."

"Overwhelmingly our men voted 'no prohibition laws 'til we get back!' Here's the clipping."

The poll showed that 85% of our men would vote against any new dry laws at all. Only 9% would vote for one. And 6% hadn't made up their mind on it.

From where I sit, that beats out everything I've ever heard about soldiers. And when they get back if they want dry laws they'll have the votes to get 'em! But for folks to pass laws in their absence is just another double-cross, like after the last war.

CIVILIAN AWARDS

Testimony to the effect that the stimulus of the Army-Navy "E" and the Maritime "M" production awards has been very great constantly is accumulating. Both management and labor on the home front have been helped to even greater efforts and results by these recognitions and devotion to the great task of turning out the vital materials of war. Now both directors and workers in a category other than those previously recognized are to receive an achievement award for work well done. These are the seasonal processors of food. The fact that they are not year-round operators makes them ineligible for Army-Navy "E" recognition. But if they are to receive the badge of honor they are to receive the award of the War Food Administration's "A" flag. Qualifications considered in selection for the award will include ingenuity in the development of war food products, low food purchase programs, in the various invention and the like.

A number of vital factors on the home front still lack recognition in the form of public awards. The power and utility companies, the communications companies, and even the enormously busy railroads do not fall within the technical requirements for existing awards. There would seem to be little reason why the powerful incentive which existing awards for merit have supplied should not be extended to such fundamentally important elements as the electric light and power industry, which has shown an increase of 75 per cent in its kilowatt hour output since 1933; or the telephone industry, which last year handled 33 per cent more long-distance calls than in 1939; or the American railroads, which in 1942 increased the ton miles moved as compared with 1939 by 92 per cent and the passenger miles by 135 per cent in the same period. The service industries have done and are doing an outstanding war job. They, too, deserve an accolade.

'Thanks To Retonga I Can Eat Plenty Now'

Mrs. Roberts Went Down Hill Until She Could Hardly Get Through Her Housework, She States. Feels Fine Now.

"I have tried many medicines during the last twenty years, but Retonga is far ahead of anything in my experience," declares Mrs. Wavie Roberts, well known resident of Henderson Rr., Owensboro, Ky., in relating her happy relief through this famous vitaminized gastric tonic.

"I seemed to go down hill steadily for a year or more," continued Mrs. Roberts. "My appetite was very poor, and all food seemed to taste alike. It would take me a long time to get to sleep, and an hour later I would be wide awake again."

I was compelled to use strong laxatives nearly every day. No matter what I tried I scarcely had energy or strength enough to look after my housework.

"Retonga brought me such wonderful relief that my husband has started taking it too. I now eat plenty, I sleep fine, and I don't need harsh laxatives. I feel good all day. I cannot praise Retonga enough for the relief it gave me."

Retonga is a purely herbal gastric tonic combined with liberal quantities of Vitamin B-1 intended to relieve distress when due to Vitamin B-1 deficiency, constipation, insufficient flow of gastric juices in the stomach, and loss of appetite. Thousands praise it. Accept no substitute. Retonga may be obtained at DeMyer Drug Store.—adv.

Invasion Is Costly fighting

Your Boy Gives 100 per cent; How about your bond buying?

THIS cartoon shows you why Private Enterprise cannot compete with Government-in-Business. Government's special advantages are represented by the extra men on its "team," and the electrical industry has the outnumbered "team."

The situation pictured here would be about the same if Government should compete with Private Enterprise in any other business—coal mining, railroads, farming, food stores, clothing stores, lumber yards, hardware stores, medical service, etc.,

Private Enterprise would be crushed.

When Government takes over business you have national socialism. This leads to dictatorship. Ordinary folks lose their rights and privileges. You have seen what happened in Germany and Italy, where the leaders told the masses national socialism would improve their lot.

In America, our wealth, living standards and opportunities, from the very beginning, have been based on the right of every man to labor, dream and dare—and be somebody. That's free enterprise. It includes your right to worship, vote, work, speak, assemble, and go and come as you please—with due respect to the rights of your fellow citizens.

Socialism kills free enterprise. It destroys independence. It makes the common people slaves of the State and pawns of Bureaucracy. It is Government-in-Business. You wouldn't like it!

HELL ACCORDING TO BIBLE

Hell in order to keep you out. God does not want any person to go to Hell for He is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. God sent the Bible into the world as a fence, or a blockade, to hold the teeming multitudes from plunging headlong into Hell. It presents the cross which is God's simple plan of salvation—a free ticket to life eternal—an atonement for our guilt—a pass through the pearly gates and calls upon every man that would come after Jesus to take up his cross and follow Him. Also the Bible presents examples of men being saved such as the disciples, the lepers, the Samaritan woman, Barnim and Zachaeus and many others which enables us to take hold of God, and turn away from the pits of destruction.

A mother's influence and prayers constitute a fence which helps to keep men out of Hell. Her love is kin to the love of God. She had rather suffer than for their loved ones to suffer. Her prayers and loving hands haunt her children to their graves in an effort to lead them to God. Very few men could go wrong in following the advice and love of their mothers.

God sent the Holy Spirit into the world as a means of keeping men out of Hell. God established the Church to blockade the road to Hell. Personal workers and gospel sermons are God's way of trying to keep men from the pits of torment. God conquered the grave, sin, and Satan in an effort to turn men back from the jaws of destruction. There are sins that will break down the fences and plunge its victims headlong into the boiling bowels of torment. The hammer of demons, used by hard-hearted Christ rejecting atheistic sinners, beat down these fences, climb over the blockades and barricades, shove back the love of God, and stagger on to the mouth of Hell. The sin and selfishness and greed will crash through the fences. Self has become the god of many for with most people self is first. They place self before God, the Church, their friends, anything that comes between an individual and God becomes his God. It is better that you were cold in death than to be possessed with the sin of selfishness for selfishness labels you for Hell. The love of God if allowed to have its way in the heart of man will remove selfishness. The sin of pride and doubt will plunge one headlong into Hell. The sin of wealth getting, honor seeking and prize hunting to the extent that God and His cause is abandoned will lead one to Hell. These are only usable here and are non-beneficial at the judgment and in the world beyond. The sin of leisure and worldly lusts will lead toward destruction. The sin of drinking and Satanic amusement, Sabbath and Commandment breaking, hypocrisy, theft, cheating, murdering, and Christ rejecting will carry any person to the bottomless pit of torment. In spite of all that God has done to prevent one from going there, he will do so long as he is unwilling to cooperate with God. These sins influence the minds and keep an individual from thinking of the end of such living. They blind the night, which prevents one from seeing the terrible place toward which he is going. They bind and grow until at last a man becomes totally helpless in their grasp, literally murder countless thousands and plunge them beneath Hell's bellows. All Hell shouted when Satan reported the fall of man. Again all Hell shouted when Satan reported that preachers did not believe and preach the Bible. Throughout all Hell what men think means nothing when their thinking contradicts the word of God and the vast hatred of this subject that exists in the world today does not alter its truth, but merely encourages Satan and his forces to continue their destructive work.

Hell is a natural, inevitable consequence of sin, sin dams just like water drowns and fire burns. Oh, sinner man, you can sneer at God, the Church, and the Bible, but your sins are after you. They are Hell's blood-hounds. They are gathering like a thick storm cloud to swoop down upon and waft you away at death, to Hell.

It is my opinion that God owes this to the redeemed in that they have sacrificed and labored for Him here manifesting their belief in Christ and endeavoring to lead others to redemption. In order for their lives and works to be vindicated, God must make true His word that there is a Hell. It is for the good of all that God punishes men for their sins. What if our Governor would open the jails and penitentiaries and turn loose the thousands of criminals upon our society? We would say that he was unfair to us and no doubt, we would impeach him from his office because the lawless are not entitled to liberty like others. Thus it is with God. He can not afford to turn loose upon Heaven's society the many criminals that will be confined in Hell. The teaching and the thought of Hell restrain men from sin. Remove all penalty of sin and lawlessness and the world would be a hotbed of crime. The streets would not be safe for women, because men would have no fear for the penalty of their crimes. Therefore, Hell is a logical end of a continued life of sin. Let us be reminded that Hell is eternal. You might say this, but remember that a person is punished for the nature of his crime and not for the duration of his crime. Therefore, this removes the idea of restoration, the theory that says a man will be punished in Hell for a period of time and then be restored is a Hell-hatched lie propagated by Satan and demons for the Bible clearly teaches us that Hell is eternal and no man will be able to return that is so unfortunate as to go there. Therefore, be wise and don't leave this world unprepared to meet God.

It is bad for the poor to go to Hell. The poor have nothing here of any value. Many of them toil from the rising until the setting of the sun. Their path is beset with sorrows and tears. They wear rags, live in huts, endure hardships, undergo trouble and bear many burdens suffering Hell on earth. For these people to so live here and be greeted at the end of life with the flames of Hell, where the sorrows and hardships will be intensified forever, is far worse than for the rich that have enjoyed the luxuries and riches of the earth. God loves the poor everyone of which should be a Christian so as to be able at the end of life's journey to lay down their burdens and horrors and hardships and be escorted by a band of angels to a place of rest and riches where peace is eternal and God is always present.

It is my opinion that Hell is a place where no man really wants to go and actually where no man is wanted. This makes it worse to be in a place where you are not wanted. This world is bad enough. It is a place of deception, a veil of tears, a land of disappointments, an inferno of hatred, where sorrow and night reign. But we must bear the toil and endure the pain for we are just passing this way (and how we pass counts). Let us so pass as to be welcomed at the end of the way by our Saviour into a better land. I thank God that there is a way out and that way is by repentance, belief and reception of Christ as a friend and Saviour. By confessing Him before men, He will confess us before His Father. Now is the time and Christ is the way. Oh, sinner friend, God over the bloody cross of Christ begs you to turn this day from your sin and come to Him for pardon and release from the chains of sin. God pleads with you not to allow yourself to be dragged down the road to Hell but to turn in simple faith toward Christ, while time and opportunity permit. Just like the dying Mother reconciled her husband and son at her death bed over her dying body by taking the father's hand with her left hand and her son's hand with her right hand and bringing them together upon her breast, thus Jesus is reaching down to the very bottomless pits of guilt and corruption striving to clasp your trembling hand that He might lift you up on higher plane of life. Place your hand securely in the hand of God that you might live and escape the penalty of Hell. The matter is entirely in your hands. You may reject Jesus if you wish, which means death in Hell, or receive Him, which means eternal life with God in Heaven. I beg of you to accept Christ and live, for God is not willing that you should perish but come to repentance.

SAFTEYGRAMS

With the hunting season on practically all over the country, there is need to call attention to the care that should be exercised in the operation of firearms.

Always follow the policy that guns are loaded. Guns annually injure thousands of persons; approximately 2,400 of these injured die.

Carry your gun "soldier fashion."

Keep your gun in its case when driving to and from the hunting grounds.

There are many other rules that should be followed in the handling of firearms, but space does not provide for the full instruction course.

There are two rules about firearms in the house that would prevent most, if not all, accidents with them. The first is to keep them unloaded and the second is to keep them locked up.

Be careful!

AT FIRST SIGN OF A COLD USE 666

Here's Word from Bill!

"... and tell my old gang down at the Telephone Company that I'm thinking of them. I see tons of telephone materials every day over here—in the form of tanks, shells and field communications equipment. We need a steady stream of these supplies to win—and being a telephone man, I know that telephone men have to carry many calls affecting production and transportation of fighting equipment. So I hope you homebodies are helping to keep the wires clear for war calls which MUST go through. Love, BILL"

Fellows like Bill Jones—on the fighting front—know what they're talking about when they say that Victory depends upon an unceasing flow of supplies. And at home, those directing the war effort rely on the telephone to keep munitions and men moving forward.

These urgent calls pass through the same local telephone equipment you use. Yet facilities can't be expanded to meet demands fully, because the necessary materials are being made into tanks and guns.

By avoiding unnecessary local calls—and by speaking briefly whenever you talk—you help relieve crowded lines and switchboards for war duty. In that way you help speed vital war calls.

RAILROADS HELP STRETCH PRECIOUS RATION POINTS

YOU have heard a good deal about the Illinois Central's performance in moving men and munitions toward Victory. But all the while this vital military movement is going on, essential "service of supply" to the home front continues uninterrupted.

With so many staple items and fresh meats rationed, the service of railroads in delivering unrationed fresh foods becomes increasingly important in the daily shopping of every housewife. This service helps balance wartime menus, helps stretch precious ration points.

By reason of its fortunate location, the Illinois Central taps not only the Gulf of Mexico, but also a full climatic range of farming regions. It carries unrationed foods from farms and groves, from ports and fishing wharves, to the waiting tables of hungry families all along the line.

Citrus fruits and bananas—coffee, cereals and vegetables—poultry and an extensive variety of seafoods—all are familiar items of Illinois Central traffic.

It is our hope that your Thanksgiving dinner table may be more bountifully laden because of the Illinois Central's part in bringing you these and many other good things.

NO ARMISTICE TODAY

TWENTY-FIVE years ago this world went wild with joy. The world tried "Peace". But there was no peace. There was only a truce.

This time there must be no truce. This time we are grimly determined to see the job through. We will make whatever sacrifice is necessary. We won't let it happen again.

Armistice Day this year marks the beginning of a new call upon our patriotism. A call directed especially to the people of this community.

One of the gravest threats to our all-out war effort is a shortage of pulpwood. We who live in the pulpwood-cutting areas are asked to make good that shortage. We will be paid for our wood, of course. But we are asked to do it as our special part in the war—backing up our own boys in the service.

In whose honor will you cut your cord? A son? A brother? A friend?

Give us his name, and yours, so that both may be entered on the roll of honor. No boy shall die because we failed.
