Brown, Cooper Differ Sharply On OPA Merits

Brown Warns Against GOP "Boom, Bust" INFLATION IS FEARED

By Associated Press
The National Government was both defended and criticized by candidates for the U. S. Senate speaking in different sections of Kentucky last night.

John Young Brown, Lexington Democrat, speaking at Brooksville, defended President Truman's policy of keeping price controls on meat, declaring that a Republican program of "boom and bust," or a Democratic program which assures the producer a steady continuing market are the alternatives the farmers face in the November election.

Speaking at Paducah, John Sherman Cooper of Somerset, the Republican nominee, urged that "the unsound fiscal policy of the government at Washington as a third factor is charges is responsible for widespread shortages and continued inflationary trends."

In previous speeches Cooper has blamed these ills on the peacetime continuance of OPA and other price controls and the government's "lack of courage" in handling strikes and labor disputes.

Brown told his audience that "inflationary prices brought on by the elimination of controls would hurt the farmer by destroying his market."

Philip P. Ardery, Frankfort attorney, and Blakey Helm, attorney of Louisville, who were defeated by Brown in the August primary, voiced appeals for Brown's support in talks tonight over radio station WHAS, Louisville.

Ardery declared "the campaign is far enough along now so that if the Republicans have any real program on a scale reasonably calculated to match the Democratic program it would have made its appearance, but none is in sight."

Helm pointed out that the most important legislative matters in Washington for the next few weeks will be on foreign policy, based upon the past experience of this country, we find that the party which has arranged to procure international cooperation and understanding has been the Democratic party," he added.

Students Must Abolish Wars

U-K Head Calls This Major Task Of College Generation In Speech

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 2.—(AP)—University of Kentucky students were told yesterday that the abolition of war has become the major concern of this generation's college students.

The speaker was Dr. H. L. Donovan, president of the University, who said "the greatest challenge to those who are college students today is to ring out the war and ring in a thousand years of peace."

"Learn the ways of peace that you may discover how to destroy war," he told the students.

Listing communism and democracy as the two major forms of government contending for loyalties of the peoples of the earth, Dr. Donovan said:

"I had thought there was room enough in this world for two totally different types of government to live side by side and prosper with each other, but now I have grave doubts about this possibility."

Ailing Hull Tells Need Of World Unity

Warns Big Five Peace Depends On Cooperation

TALKS FROM HOSPITAL

Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Gravelly ill Cordell Hull counseled the big five powers on his 75th birthday today that they must replace "dangerous" differences with mutual confidence or face "incalculable disaster."

The frail former Secretary of State offered his advice even as he carried on a personal struggle for time and health to make a final contribution to world peace.

Hull suffered a stroke Monday at the U. S. Naval hospital where he has been resting from the task of compiling his experiences in public life—a work he hopes will not only shed light on the past but furnish lessons for the future.

It was upon those experiences that he drew for his birthday statement citing the difficulties in the path of international unity, yet expressing confidence the objective can be attained if the big powers will only cooperate.

"Only if each nation is united within itself behind policies designed to these common interests, and only as the nations continuously cooperate with each other in support of those interests, can we assure—for ourselves and for those who come after us—enduring peace and free institutions," Hull declared.

"Only thus," he added, "can we have a world order ruled by enlightened reason and just law rather than by stark terror and brute force."

Notes Great Strains
The white-haired former cabinet officer, once acclaimed by President Roosevelt as "the father of the United Nations," grimly noted the "great strains" which have developed in the wartime unity among the Allies at "one of the most perilous junctures in history."

"Points of difference among nations," Hull maintained, "have tended to loom far larger than the incomparably broader areas of their common interest."

"These are dangerous conditions and tendencies," he cautioned. "If unchecked, they would undermine the international unity and cooperation so essential to the restoration and maintenance of world peace and security and to the advancement of human welfare. Yet their existence is no reason for any one to have hesitation or doubt as to the true course to peace and security."

Hull laid down that course with these words:

"As I look ahead, it is perfectly clear to me that all nations must, with whole-hearted devotion, continue to base their relations upon the paramount fact that the primary interests of each of them alike lie in the assuring of its security in a world, of the economic and social well-being of its people."

Vets Can Take Part-Time Jobs

Won't Terminate Jobless Benefits, Dr. Babb Announces

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 2.—(AP)—A reminder to veterans that they may interrupt jobless benefit payments by taking temporary work and pick up payments again, should they become unemployed, was issued today by Dr. H. A. Babb, executive director of the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Dr. Babb declared that a prevalent belief among veterans that to accept temporary jobs would cut off from further benefit claims was keeping many from taking short time jobs.

He also suggested that ex-service men leave unclaimed benefits of a few dollars weekly. He explained that such payments reduce by each week they are made the total number of weeks of allowances to which a veteran's service entitles him.

Dr. Babb announced that within a few days the commission will begin mailing direct from Frankfort checks to veterans drawing self-employment benefits. These checks hitherto have been sent from St. Louis, but under the new plan authorized by the veterans administration approximately ten days will be saved.

Fulton Lady Happily Wed

Wins $100 Bond In Contest By Giving Rules For Happiness

Mrs. Allen M. Gillum, formerly of Fulton, recently was presented a $100 war bond in the Memphis Press-Scimitar's contest to find the city's "most happily married couple."

Mr. and Mrs. Gillum, who make their home at 728 Eva, Memphis, explain their happy marriage by saying "There was no room for error. Because of our religion we don't believe in divorce. So we made it work."

Rules for wedded bliss given by Mrs. Gillum were:

1. "Put your marriage first. Treat it as a precious life-long partnership which must succeed. Be willing to give more than you receive. In the end it adds up to equal receiving and equal happiness."

2. "Cultivate and keep a sense of humor. It prevents you from taking yourself and trifles too seriously, and often comes in the nick of time to turn a would be quarrel into an occasion for laughter."

3. "Courtesy. Courtesy acts as a restorer and preserver of romance and glamor in marriage."

4. "Loyalty and trust." (They are twin sentinels guarding the serenity of your marriage against suspicion and jealousy.)

5. "Do things together. When there are children and increased responsibilities, and your opportunity for recreation is limited, make the most of these occasions by sharing them."

Mr. and Mrs. Gillum have three children, aged seven years, three years and 10 months.

Army Reveals Revised Plan For Universal Military Training

Washington, Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Army took the wraps off its revised plan for universal military training today as Secretary of War Patterson asked the American Legion at San Francisco for active backing.

The proposal bore only the approval but about three of every ten men trained would be for the Navy. Hence officials of the sea arm forecast Navy support for the measure before Congress.

The Legion earlier this year sponsored a plan similar in outline.

Principal provisions include: Those affected—At the outset, every male citizen between 17 and 19, inclusive, would be required to register. Thereafter, youths would register upon reaching 17. Training would start as they reached their 18th birthdays or upon graduation from secondary schools, but in either case before age 20.

Numbers—About 1,000,000 men estimated to be available annually, of whom 25,000 would be trained for the Army Ground and Air Forces and the rest for the Navy.

Training Required—One year or its equivalent. The first six months would be in army camps, with eight weeks devoted to basic military training, and the rest of the semester to technical and advanced training. Six hours a week would be earmarked to physical education.

To discharge the obligation of the last half of the required year, a man would have these options: Serve six more months; enlist in any of the regular armed services, the National Guard, or join the organized reserve for duty with a fully organized unit; enter one of the service academies; go to college with government aid, take ROTC training and then serve

Allied Generals To Hear Appeal For The Doomed EXECUTION PLANS LAID

By Thomas A. Reedy
Nurnberg, Germany, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Lawyers for the 11 condemned German war criminals disclosed today they planned to appeal to the Allied Control Council to change the death sentences from hanging to shooting if all other pleas for clemency failed.

The last court of resort for Herman Goering, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and the others from the ignominy of the hangmans rope was formed of the four Allied generals sitting in Berlin as occupation authorities for the four zones of Germany. A twelfth German, Martin Bormann, was sentenced in absentia to be hanged.

As attorneys drew their petitions, the four power commission representing the Allied Council held an all day session on arrangements and details for the executions Oct. 16 in Nurnberg, the festival city of the Nazi party. They talked also of transporting seven of the war criminals to Berlin to start their prison terms.

A redoubled force of American soldiers surrounded the ancient courthouse and jail where the convicted men were held, and they had orders to shoot to kill on provocation.

Stay in Jail
All three men acquitted in the history-making international trial, which established planning aggressive war as a supreme crime, remained in jail overnight. They had no other place to go immediately. Hjalmar Schacht, the treasurer, former finance minister, planned to remain in jail at least another night, saying he had no money, ration card nor home.

Franz Von Papen asked for a visa to the French zone, in which he has two castles near the Rhine. Hans Fritzsche may have to return to the Russian zone, whence he came for trial as a prisoner of war.

German lawyers for Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, both relegated to the gallows, led the legal staff in making appeals for clemency, and for shooting rather than the rope if mercy is denied.

The doomed militarists were reported making a special request for a firing squad, which they considered a more honorable death for a soldier.

A lawyer for Fritz Sauckel, condemned labor leader, attached to his application for commutation hundreds of letters from Germans. Other attorneys said they were obtaining similar documents to bolster their appeals.

Delegates Meet
Four delegates—representing Britain, France, Russia and the United States, and appointed by the Allied Control Council in Berlin to work out details of the executions—met in secret today in the deserted court room where for 10 months Naziism's leading figures were tried on war crimes charges.

Increased security measures were ordered by the U. S. constabulary and special military police guards for the next two weeks, or until the death sentences imposed yesterday by the international military tribunals are carried out on the gallows. Defense attorneys were busy preparing appeals.

Here in the enclosure of the old courthouse of this city, which stood as a major symbol of Nazi power in the days of Adolf Hitler, the fuhrer's teammates of warmaking days—Hermann Goering, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Ernest Kaltenbrunner, Hans Frank, William Frick, Alfred Rosenberg, Julius Strecher, Fritz Sauckel, Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, and Arthur Seyss-Inquart—will be hanged on Oct. 16, unless the Allied Control Council in Berlin overrules the tribunal.

Birds Of A Feather

Among the unsurprising items in yesterday's news was the announcement that the Justice Department had uncovered evidence linking the Ky Klux Klan and the German-American Bund from 1937 to 1941.

A Bund director said in 1937 that his organization was cooperating with the Klan because the aims of the two groups were similar in many ways. That this was true had long been recognized by all those who had even a superficial acquaintance with the hooded hoods and the pro-Nazi subversive elements that sought to weaken our nation while Hitler was gaining in strength.

The Leader is glad to see that the Justice Department is contemplating an investigation of the Klan in at least seven states to see if it is violating civil rights of citizens.

Kentucky's move to outlaw the Klan was a progressive step that merits repetition.

Postwar investigations by federal agencies have uncovered some strange bedfellows, but the alliance of the Klan and the Bund was not hard to believe. They went together like mosquitoes and malaria.

Soldier Seeking Bride

Downs, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The Army should revise its posters about joining up to see the world and get an education with good pay, says Ralph Douglas of Downs.

Asked by a recruiting officer why he enlisted, Douglas said:

"I just want an English war bride like the girl my brother Jacob brought back with him from Europe."

Grave Error

Decatur, Ill., Oct. 2.—(AP)—The do-gone story wasn't true, and "Inky" proved it was a grave mistake by missing his own funeral.

A friend telephoned Miss Maxine Goveia that her black Scottie dog, "Inky," had been killed by a car, and the friend had taken care of burial and paid the funeral bill at a dog cemetery.

That night, as the two women sat in Miss Goveia's home, "Inky" bounded in and assured them it was an expensive case of mistaken identity.

May Aid United Nations

By Dewitt MacKenzie
AF Executive Affairs Analyst

The Nuerberg International military tribunal has formulated what peace-makers for generations have been trying to persuade the world to accept—that aggression to commit aggressive war "is the supreme crime."

It's a notable circumstance that the court which makes this momentous ruling comprises representatives of the big four—America, Russia, Britain and France. They, more than any others, are responsible for world peace.

This verdict should strengthen the hand of the United Nations in dealing with threatened aggression. Perhaps we shall find that the benefit to the U. N. may be mainly psychological for the time being, until the great powers get through scrapping among themselves. As things stand any one of the big four—plus China—could block action against an aggressor by exercising the veto right which Russia has been employing so freely in all sorts of circumstances in the security council. However, the tribunal's verdict that the wages of aggression is death should provide our new peace organization with a potentially powerful weapon.

We all but reached a similar verdict at the end of the first world conflict. The late David Lloyd George, Britain's famous war-time prime minister, cried "hang the Kaiser" so loudly and persistently that he almost persuaded the powers to take action—but not quite. The world wasn't ready for such a step. It took Hitler's bloody attempt to enslave Europe to turn the trick.

Punishment of the individual conspirators is calculated to be a mighty deterrent to future aggression. Of course Germany's fearful beating has been a terrible lesson to the nation as a whole—and to the rest of the world, for that matter—but such blanket punishment is too impersonal. We needed to deal with individuals to bring the thing home. As the verdict said:

"Crimes against international law are committed by men—not by abstract entities—and only by punishing individuals who commit such crimes can provisions of international law be enforced."

The Nuerberg verdict on individuals will be remembered long after Berlin has been rebuilt and folk have forgotten that it was laid in rubble.

ABOUT MEAT

Well, there are two people still in the U. S. Cabinet who should get a telephone call from President Truman asking them to move, and I know Truman is in hot water because the right man has not yet called at his office or telephoned him that it's o. k. to ask these gentlemen (Messrs. Porter and Anderson) to leave.

Go to your meat market, restaurant, hotel or hamburger stand and see if your nose can pick up that familiar and pleasing odor that you would love to smell once more at these places. Not only would the nose be disappointed, but stomachs also would be disappointed, and besides that someone would want to condemn someone else, and another would want to accuse someone of holding out on him, and consequently good customers would go away mad without knowing why they were mad.

Another great fact is that men lack physical strength to earn bread for their families and are quitting their jobs by the thousands. "School-agers" can't play games with the proper enthusiasm. The U. S. Army and Navy which are, materially speaking, the most vital to us as a nation and as individuals, are about to take drastic steps to obtain meat for our soldiers and sailors. Hospitals are pleading with Truman for relief. The heads of meat packing houses of our large cities as well as small city packing houses are preaching their heads off to the ones who are blocking the present flow and curtailing the future production of meat, that the OPA rule has not only failed to stimulate and encourage the meat industry, but has instead created great unnecessary harm within our country. There is not a nation on earth that is more willing to deny herself of needs than this our great America if the cause is legitimate and intelligent, but when a thing like the OPA is destroying rather than maintaining and improving our livelihood and industries just for face-saving and political reasons and our stockholders, then people time to destroy such a rule. Here are the reasons, dear housewife and others, that we don't get meat: The OPA boss, Paul Porter and Secretary of Agriculture Anderson are holding both ends of the rope that is attached to the calf. The animal bucks, kicks, runs and tries its best to get loose (some do), but is tripped and it falls to the ground. But when it gets up and shows a little improvement, it is jerked down again by the OPA cowboys and butchered.

That's a bad way for animals to be treated and farmers don't like it, so they have to a great extent quit and are still quitting the livestock industry. On some animals, especially hogs, farmers have failed to get any dividend on dollars, much less wages for their hard labor and risk involved.

Anderson keeps saying livestock prices are high enough to the farmer, but if that be true we could all say, "Pass the bacon. No, I'll take pork chop. Wait please, I'll take steak."

Say a farmer raises all his feed for his livestock—he still is forced to buy many items such as fence wire, posts, mineral supplements, de-lousing remedies and disinfectants, besides the cost of maintaining buildings and veterinary expenses.

Now the so-called clod-hopper, after matching red and black figures, has decided to grow only the meat needed for home use, thereby relieving himself of an unprofitable venture.

I believe the livestock buyers of Fulton (the Wards, Davis and Latfais) would make more money by renting their barns for living quarters to some of Paul Porter's thousands of detectives than they would otherwise. By so doing these "Porter" men could keep their noses on what they were doing rather than trying to detect by sight, as I doubt their knowing a steer from a Jackass.

Well, if farmers can't raise because there's no pay. Buyers can't buy because there's no dray. And if packers can't grind, cut nor cure. What shall we eat to make life sure?

Dodgers Are In The Hole

Cards Confident
They Can Win Again
To Clinch Playoff

Enroute to Brooklyn, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Howie Polt's heady pitching job against Brooklyn appears to have aroused the sluggish St. Louis Cardinals to a world series pitch that could send them flying past the Dodgers in two straight ball games.
Nobody on the ball club is making predictions about what will happen at Ebbets field when baseball's first three-game play-off series resumes tomorrow, but the Red Birds are a loose, confident ball club after their 4-2 opening win at St. Louis yesterday.

Enos Slaughter's great peg from right field that nipped Bruce Edwards, trying to go from first to third on Howie Schultz' seventh inning single, probably saved the ball game. At least Manager Eddie Dyer of the Red Birds thinks it did.
Three hits by Rookie Catcher Joe Garagiola who drove in Hale, the winning run was another high-important factor in the all-important first game win.

Not since the Cards left Boston Sept. 19 had they cut loose with a hitting attack like they showed the Brooks' five pitchers. Only Stan Musial's seventh-inning triple was for extra bases but there were hits at timely points.
Polt's perfect performance provided the big lift in the Cards' success and must have been discouraging to the Brooks who had taken heart from the news that the Cubs had knocked out the ace southpaw in his last two previous starts.
The psychological effect of the left-hander's return to his mid-season form was even more important than the win itself. It showed the Red Birds that their

Colonels Play Despite Snow

Louisville Team
May Take Field In
Parks And Mittens

Montreal, Oct. 2.—(AP)—Unless the weather changes, Louisville's American Association Colonels will probably appear in the lineup garbed in parkas and mittens for tonight's fourth game for the "Little World Series" with the Montreal Royals.
Three games are scheduled here with the first contest tonight, weather permitting, followed by games Thursday and Friday, if necessary.
The Colonels, used to sunny climates, found the 60-degree temperature of the last game at Louisville definitely on the chilly side. They will find parkas and mittens to their liking, for yesterday's reading here was 33 degrees and an inch of snow blanketed the diamond.
Louisville has a 2-1 edge over the International League champions in the best-of-seven series. Montreal took the first game, 7-5. The Colonels behind the two-hit pitching of Harry Dorish, came back to take the second game and even the series and then went one up by burying the Royals 15-4 in the third contest.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
Princeton, N. J., Oct. 2.—(AP)—Princeton university, in the throes of a bicentennial celebration, starts its 77th intercollegiate football season. Saturday night game at Rutgers, alone and maybe these figures alone are evidence that the Tigers will be playing students. The squad to display yesterday bears the stamp of years of academic leadership more than it shows the heritage of gridiron leadership that began when Princeton and Rutgers played the first intercollegiate game in 1869. That isn't to say that the season will be a total loss because Ivy league football always is full of uncertainties, but Coach Charlie Caldwell doesn't get highly enthusiastic until he starts comparing this year's squad with his 1945 aggregation. . . Fifteen lettermen from last season are on the squad and only four likely will be in Saturday's starting lineup. "We have three Princeton letter winners trying for one position, at guard," Charlie explains, "and a guy from Colgate may beat them all out."

The guy from Colgate is Paul Thompson, who did a fine job for Andy Kerr as a marine trainee last fall.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

What's this story we hear about one of the all-America conference football clubs offering its players a salary slash? The tale, which we can't confirm, is that the management says it just hasn't the dough to keep paying those big wages. . . It isn't true that everybody in Brooklyn is rooting for the Dodgers. If them Bums win the playoff or even carry it to three games, Brooklyn college and New York's U. will have to cancel their Saturday night game at Ebbets Field. Lou Oshins, B. C. coach admits: "The way things are in Brooklyn, I don't think anybody will miss our game." NTU might. The Violets scrimmaged Princeton here last week and their only bright spot was the scare National Deathball Champion Ivy Montsheim ran after he caught a pass. The coaches on both sides agree he's a potentially great football player. Mal Stevens, the football Dodgers' boss, is another who isn't eager to have the Bums win. "We have no place to practice and we won't have a place to play our first home game if they get in the series," he explains.

The log cabin's first appearance in North America was in 1638, when members of the Swedish West India Company set up a trading post and village at Delaware Bay.

Please Read this Notice of Request For Increase in Telephone Rates

Your Telephone Company has found it imperative to file application with the Kentucky Public Service Commission for higher rates on local telephone service and on most long distance calls within the state. This action was taken because telephone earnings are dangerously low and reasonable earnings are required to furnish adequate service. We ask that you read this message carefully so you will understand clearly why increased telephone rates are necessary.

Your telephone rate is low and it is the earnest desire of your Telephone Company to keep it low.

While your rate has remained the same for many years, the total cost of furnishing telephone service has steadily gone up. Since 1939 our expenses for Kentucky operations have increased 118 per cent, while revenue increased only 88 per cent.

Wage Rates Up $2,162,578

Much of the increase in expenses is represented by wages, since wages make up the greater part of the cost of furnishing telephone service. Wages have been raised in keeping with national policies and the general trend throughout the country. These wage increases were necessary to assure, through competent personnel, the provision of an adequate service. Telephone wage rates in Kentucky have been raised during the past 15 months by $2,162,578 on an annual basis.

Since the first of this year, 40,000 new telephones have been installed in Kentucky, but 23,000 people are still waiting for telephones. This demand forces us to build new facilities now, in the face of high costs. The cost of erecting buildings has jumped 75 to 100 per cent; the overall cost of providing telephone facilities has advanced 45 to 60 per cent and the cost of telephone materials has increased 15 to 25 per cent. Despite these high costs, we telephone folks—and there are 4,000 of us in Kentucky—must continue to improve service generally, and to expand it. Our plans call for gross expenditures of approximately $35,000,000 for telephone construction in Kentucky during the next five years.

Pay-Out Is Increasing Faster Than Take-In

With the tremendous increase in the expenses of furnishing telephone service and with rates unchanged for years, we have a difficult time making ends meet. So much so, that today we find ourselves confronted with the lowest earnings in our history in spite of a record volume of business.

No business can long continue to render service when the amount paid out to provide that service is increasing faster than the amount taken in. Therefore, it is our duty, as your public servant, to report this condition to you since it directly affects your telephone service. We must appeal to you for relief through the Kentucky Public Service Commission, which regulates our rates.

The requested rate increase for local service would be on a sliding scale depending on size of locality. Authority is also being asked for an increase of 5 cents on most long distance calls within the state.

Residence Rate Held at Minimum

Today's high costs indicate a need for greater increases than we are asking, but it is hoped the proposed new rates will prove sufficient. In view of this, the increases requested on residential service were held to a minimum. Your Telephone Company feels that it is to the best interest of every business man in Kentucky that residential rates remain as low as possible.

The new rates we are asking represent an increase of 11 per cent of our total revenue in Kentucky. This is small when compared with the increased costs of doing business. In fact, even with the new rates, long-distance charges generally would be lower than they were 21 years ago and local service rates only slightly higher, while service has been considerably extended and its value has been increased many times.

Southern Bell wants rates no higher than necessary to furnish everyone with good service and expand it. The proposed rates are the very minimum increases we can get by on. In face of rising costs, they are very modest.
