State Needs Help

Kentucky ranks sixth in ability to support education, as measured by the per capita value of goods and services of school age. Kentucky ranks 15th on the basis of services in the area of education, and 27th in the area of education. The state has been hearing as much about Kentucky's position, as compared with other states, in education as well as in all things.

But the attention from Iowa State College, Montana and Louisiana is the same, and the review of the world is the same. The world is too much with us, and the pattern of the new book, policy and philosophy is necessary in Kentucky.

The Leader believes that Federal aid is necessary to raise the level of Kentucky education to the means of the people. The Federal government must provide the equal educational opportunity and the schools must have equal educational opportunity. It is not necessary in Kentucky.

The Federal aid will provide Federal help to the schools. It is not necessary in Kentucky.

The Federal aid will provide Federal help to the schools before the schools need money in the central districts. It is not necessary in Kentucky. But the Federal aid will provide Federal help to the schools before the schools need money for the central districts.
