Local Citizens Subscribe Membership to Drama

Tom Nelson, director of the planning division of the Department of Parks met with Lee Potter Smith at Kentucky Dam Village Wednesday to make final plans for the construction of an amphitheater at Kenlake Hotel. Nelson told Mrs. Paul Westpheling of Fulton that bids for the construction of the amphitheater will be asked in about two weeks. Construction with ground-breaking ceremonies, is planned for early in September, Mrs. Westpheling said.

Meanwhile, a limited number of charter memberships are being secured to finalize plans for a permanent organization to direct the activities of West Kentucky Production Associations Inc., a non-profit organization chartered to promote outdoor entertainment in the amphitheater.

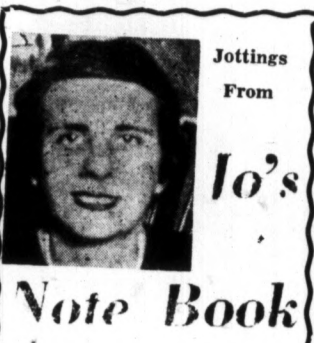

Among local citizens who have already subscribed charter memberships are: John Simrell, Dr. Ward Bushart, Mrs. Fred Stokes, Jr., R. H. (Bob) White, Fred Stokes, Jr., Mrs. Nelle Lowe, Mrs.

Paul Westpheling and Hugh Fly. Temporary officers of the corporation are Max Hurt, Kirksey, president, Mrs. Westpheling, vice-chairman, Bill Powell of Paducah, also a vice-chairman, Dr. Raymond Roof of Paducah, secretary, and Bob Long of Benton, treasurer.

A charter membership may be secured by sending a check for $25.00 to any of the officers. Deadline for securing these memberships is August 30.

Mrs. Westpheling, who has served as organizing director for the amphitheater group has been in contact with Paul Green and Dr. Kermit Hunter, nationally known playwrights, to write an outdoor play.

There are lots of ways for people to assure others that their word is their bond, but the illustration given us by T. D. Morris Tuesday takes the cake. Said T. D. when asked if he would not fail to move a limb from our yard: "When I tell you that a chicken dips snuff, you can look under the wing for the box." If he doesn't move that limb by Thursday afternoon he'll have to find us some snuff-dipping chickens, I'll tell you that's for sure.

The Lord willing and the creeks don't rise, as Gene Gardner would say, we're off this week-end for the Gulf Coast for what the children term a "family vacation." And that small statement is a story in itself. Because it just might not happen!

Last year when the weather was balmy and the scenery was beautiful and all of us felt brisk and energetic we took our annual visit to St. Joseph, Missouri. The four of us had a wonderful time on our way home after getting all that super-relaxing treatment from Paul's mother and father. Mrs. Westpheling has to rest up for a month after we leave. She does everything in the world so we can rest and forget the cares of the world.

Well, after the rest and on our way home I made the fatal mistake of saying "next summer, let's pack up as few things as we can and take off to see America in this merry Thunderbird." Paul perked up and said okay, let's go to Canada, Niagara Falls, New York, Washington, Asheville, N. C. and come back to Kentucky by Bardonia to see the "Stephen Foster Story." As I said, I was rested and that sounded fine. The more we travelled home, the more ideas came forward from Mary Jo and R. Paul. By the time we reached Fulton, we were all mad at each other because a big league baseball game wasn't included; a concert was; a tour of the White House was included; a play in New York ruled out. Mary Jo cried, Paul stopped the car to change positions so certain people wouldn't be sitting next to each other, and the travel games stopped dead. But peace, oh how I loved it while everybody was mad and wouldn't talk.

When the Spring burst its pretty little head into view somehow we got on that trip again. Again I opened my big, fat mouth and told Paul to see if he couldn't find passage on some tramp steamer going to Europe. I figured the four of us could live as cheaply as one, sub-tourist class, along the by-ways of the European glamour route. Then we could fulfill that dream of seeing the Europe Paul saw during the war. Off popped the steam again. Mary Jo wanted to spend all the time in Paris to see the fashions. (On our money she could see fancier styles in a bargain basement in Harlem.) R. Paul wanted to spend all the time in Rome, because he thinks it's the center of world history and he wants to see it first hand. Paul thought a long stay in Germany was right to find Westphalia and the birthplace of his forbears. Well, by the time that argument

City's Water Loss Is Greater Than Sales; Dee McNeill Is Month-to-Month Attorney

A five-month check of water pumping and consumption in the city of Fulton earlier this year revealed that the city is losing more water than it is selling, the City Commission was told last Monday night by Commissioner Rice.

In the five months from January through May, 1962 the master meter at the Fulton pumping station indicated that the city had pumped 82,291,000 gallons of water into the mains; water billings accounted for 36,780,000, leaving a net loss—as yet unaccounted for—of some 44,500,000, Rice stated.

"It's a mystery," Rice stated, pointing out that previous engineering experts called in had made no headway in solving this problem existing during the last few years. The Mayor and Commissioners elected to spend $400 on a "leak detector" and to run a check on the 14-year-old master meter to see if it is still accurate.

In other business last Monday night, the Mayor and Commissioners:

—Refused to okay the minutes of a special called meeting July 23 in which a Mayfield attorney was engaged to defend the city in a lawsuit being brought by the Meadowview subdivision owners. One Commissioner, out of town at the time, was given no notice, making the meeting illegal. The minutes of this meeting were rescinded by a vote of 3-2.

—Accepted an agreement by attorney Dee McNeill of Hickman to represent the City on a month-to-month basis at the regular salary of $300 per month as city attorney following the resignation of Rodney Miller, which was accepted.

Hoyt Barnett Still Playing Cat and Mouse With State Job and Alleged Representation

The Hickman County Gazette did a character analysis of Representative Hoyt Barnett last week. We disagree with the barbs hurled at the State Administration's merit system in the Gazette editorial for we believe that the job protection offered State employees has a great deal of merit . . . if an employee has merit.

It is doubtful that the high level position cleared for Mr. Barnett will be covered by the merit system for more reasons than one. Meanwhile Mr. Barnett reports to the press that he will "have a statement in a few days about his new position and will not resign until he learns whether or not a special session will be called" to reapportion the State's district.

The time will come, in the not too distant future, when the glib, name-dropping Mr. Barnett will have a lot more explaining to do about his activities while a representative than a hurried-up call to Frankfort can cover up.

But that's later here's the Gazette's editorial

"If we have shown little concern over reports that Hoyt Barnett, representative for Hickman and Fulton counties in the general assembly, is considering resigning his elective office—may even have resigned by the time this editorial is in print—to accept a state job, it is simply because we could not care less whether he resigns or remains in office. The sad truth of the matter is, few of us, if any, will be able to tell the difference whether he is in office or out. He has failed miserably in his duty to represent these two counties in the state legislature.

"We are concerned, however, when we realize that if and when he accepts state employment, whatever amount of money is given him in salary will be just that much of the taxpayers' money wasted. We cannot recall one single solitary thing he has done for Hickman county while supposedly serving this county in the legislature. He is the kind of "politician" the people of Kentucky might well study for future identification of the species. He smiles and talks a lot—with a lot of misplaced modifiers, and some sentences that just don't make any sense. He sounds like a high school debater who forgot his subject for debate, but mimics a few high-sounding words anyway. He pretends a deep concern for the problems of the district and the state of Kentucky, but is nothing more than an opportunist in everything he does, making use of associations and positions—most of us consider as obligations on our part—to serve others for his own selfish benefit.

"It makes little difference to us whether he resigns or not—as long as he stays out of Frankfort while he is our duly elected representative. His "playboy" maneuvers are well known to those who observe the carrying-ons of "country boys come to town" in the state capital. If he must be in Frankfort, we much prefer that he represent the Combs administration in such activities rather than the good people of Hickman and Fulton counties.

"If redistricting is considered by a special session of the general assembly, we prefer to have no representative rather than Mr. Barnett. With him as our representative in such a matter, we might well find ourselves a part of the state of Missouri across the Mississippi rather than a part of Kentucky.

"We must admit that we are curious just what talents Mr. Barnett possesses that qualify him for employment by the state. About the only qualification we can recall now is that he served the Combs administration as a "yes" man in whatever they told him to do. About the best thing we can be sure of on his employment by the state is that it will be for only a bit more than a year—unless he qualifies under the Combs "merit" system—and he is well qualified for such, for all of us know by now such qualification is merely a matter of "my friends have merits but yours don't."

"As a footnote to this, we might add that we are pleased that the Combs-Wyatt administration has finally come around to agreeing with Mrs. Thelma Stovall, who as state treasurer refused to pay one of their friends as a senator after he had accepted employment as a deputy sheriff.

"Is it little reason that we are concerned about the character of the men who are serving in the Kentucky senate and legislature? Certainly there are good men in both houses, but deliver us from men who place more value on a job for themselves than they do for representation for their district!"

Stahr and McNamara Part With Good Understanding

Elvis J. Stahr, former Secretary of the Army, recently resigned to become President of Indiana University. Reports coming from the Defense Department had indicated that Mr. Stahr and Secretary of Defense McNamara had recently drifted apart in views.

If there were serious differences between the Defense Department head and Stahr, they cannot be determined by the interview which he gave after resigning his job. He stated that he left the Secretary of Army's post because, as President of Indiana University, he had a once in a lifetime opportunity. He criticized McNamara in some respects, but stated he did not want it interpreted as a parting blast.

He called the Secretary of the Defense the greatest man that we have ever had in that post and said that he was "certainly the ablest man I have ever been closely associated with." We have little concern for the Secretary of the Defense's ability. Certainly as head of one of the country's largest industries he displayed the talents of one of America's ablest business men. This is in harmony with what Mr. Stahr felt about his former Defense Chief.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission.

By JOE JORDAN

(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week Brig. Gen. Jerry T. Boyle of the Union Army military governor of Kentucky, appointed as provost marshal general for the whole state Col. Henry Dent of Louisville. The county provost marshals were to be subject to his orders. It was mainly through this organization that the military governor acted to suppress opposition to the Federal Government by civilians.

During the excitement caused by the July raid which Col. John Hunt Morgan and his Confederate cavalry had made through Central Kentucky, the mayor of Cincinnati, in response to a telegraphic appeal from Gen. Boyle, had dispatched 112 Cincinnati policemen to defend Lexington and sixteen members of the fire department to Cincinnati, the latter with a brass twelve pounder and four fire-engine horses to pull the big gun.

Basil Duke, Morgan's second in command, has testified in his "History of Morgan's Cavalry" that the single piece of artillery which the enemy had at Cincinnati was "kept busily employed all the time" and caused the Confederates a great deal of trouble, for it commanded the Licking River bridge over which the raiders first tried to cross and from which they were several times driven back. Eventually, however, the Rebels took the gun and the sleek Cincinnati Fire Department horses as well. Now Col. Leonidas Metcalfe of the Union Army was collecting money from persons believed to be Southern sympathizers, in order to reimburse the City of Cincinnati for its losses. He was acting under a general order by Gen. Boyle which in part provided: "When damage shall be done to the person or property of loyal citizens by marauding bands of guerrillas, the disloyal of the neighborhood or county will be held responsible, and a military commission appointed to assess damages and enforce compensation."

Morgan's troops were not guerrillas, a term applied to irregulars, especially predatory bands, but were regularly commissioned and enlisted members of the Confederate States Army. However, the civilians against whom cash levies were assessed were scarcely in a position to argue fine points. According to Collins' "History of Kentucky," the military men simply told them, "your money, or Camp Chase." That was a prison camp near Columbus, Ohio, in which a good many Kentuckians were already being held. During the following week Col. Metcalfe would give the mayor of Cincinnati a check on the Paris Deposit Bank for $800 in payment for "horses and harness captured by Morgan's men at Cincinnati."

Some members of the Kentucky legislature were in Frankfort 100 years ago this week, and others were on their way to the state capital, in response to a proclamation by Gov. Beriah Magoffin calling them into special session. "I am without a soldier or a dollar to protect the lives, property and liberties of the people, or to enforce the laws," the governor said.

Grants Made To State Colleges And University

Five state colleges and the University of Kentucky will receive $1,217,000 from the State's Capital Construction Fund to meet immediate construction needs, Gov. Bert Combs has announced.

The amount of the grant was agreed upon in a conference among Governor Combs, State Finance Commissioner Robert Matthews and presidents of the various colleges.

"This money has been made available to help the colleges with their building programs," the Governor said, "and especially to take care of their current problems. This means that the schools will also be better able to finance future planning and construction."

Each institution will share on tax assessment. How are you getting on with my homework?"

by their representatives on the Council on Public Higher Education. The formula is based upon the number of credit hours of student enrollment at each school.

Under the enrollment formula, the largest single share goes to the University of Kentucky, which will receive $467,635 for accelerating building programs already under way.

The five colleges supported by the State will receive a total of $750,165, to be distributed as follows:

Eastern Kentucky State College, Richmond, $193,630; Kentucky State College, Frankfort, $36,534; Morehead State College, Morehead, $129,088; Murray State College, Murray, $179,016; and Western Kentucky State College, Bowling Green, $211,897.

The Capital Construction Fund is used to finance State Government building improvements and additions.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

Well Judy Moore is now Mrs. John Carl Jones; the big three-day golf tournament is over; the Fancy Farm picnic is a matter of history and all signs point to the fact that the dog days of August are upon us. The heat has been almost unbearable, but if it's caused any postponement of activities around town we haven't heard about it. The Ken-Tenn Fair is coming off next week and we imagine that nearly everybody will be on the go from morn til night. The very active Jaycees have left no stone unturned to have something interesting for everybody to enjoy and we hope all of you will be around to share the gay time every day of the fair. It starts on Monday, August 13 and ends in a blaze of glory, and we hope a big crowd on Saturday, August 18.

Laverne and Norman Terry seem to get as much pleasure out of their children and grandchildren as anybody we know. This week Laverne brought us a copy of the POINTER VIEW, the official publication of the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York. The publication contained an interesting article about Susan Ivey, the lovely young daughter of Colonel and Mrs. R. H. Ivey. We are as proud as they to pass it along to you.

Here's what the POINTER VIEW said:

Council's 'K-Det'. Patrol taking part in the activity.

"More than 10,000 girls are part of the Roundup. Its site, Button Bay, has been transformed from a placid country landscape nestled in the valley between Adirondack and Green Mountains to a humming metropolitan area. When the Roundup is at full strength, the 'community' will rank sixth in the state of Vermont.

"The bus-loads of adventurous Girl Scouts were met at the gate to Button Bay by an MP from First U. S. Army. Buses drove down roads provided by the U. S. Corps of Engineers and passed rows of tents provided by the Army's Quartermaster Corps.

"First Army units have been providing support for this national activity, and using the opportunity to train under realistic conditions.

"Groundwork for the township of Button Bay was laid by men from the 20th Engineers, Fort Devens, Mass., who have been on site since May 23rd.

"The girls from the Newburgh unit, after being recommended by their leaders, were interviewed, tested and chosen by the Council. The eight 'K-Dets', including Miss Ivey, acted out a 'Cadet Drill' depicting a day in the life of a West Point cadet. Their costumes consisted of cadet uniforms."

KENTUCKY DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

We get so many nice notes and clippings from our friends who keep us informed about events we would not know about otherwise. For instance Nell Martin Bradford sent us a clipping from the Washington (D. C.) Star that shows our mutual friend Hank Fort teaching some folks a new dance called the "board walk." At a mighty fancy party on a 700-acre retreat in the Catocin Mountains Hank was pictured going through the steps of the "board walk" with her host and hostess. Hank not only originated the dance but wrote the catchy tune for the dance, too. Hank's relatives live not too far from Fulton and at the very first opportunity we're going to see if we can't get that fabulous gal here for some kind of a program or another.

Ella Doyle arrived in Fulton Saturday night for a fleeting visit with the home folks and visited with her long-time friend Judy Browning. Judy and Ella took off for Champaign, Illinois Sunday to go apartment hunting. Ella will begin work on her Master's degree at the University of Illinois and hopes to find a place so that her mother, Myrtle Doyle can visit with her during the school year. Ella and Judy were such outstanding students at high school and later in their college days that it would take an encyclopedia to list them all. Judy is still undecided about what she will do this fall, but she has certainly been a welcome addition to the staff of the First Methodist Church this summer. Judy has been working with the young people of the church and it couldn't happen to nicer folks.

Ruby (Mrs. Maxwell) McDade was as calm as all get out as she prepared to take her first plane trip scheduled for Wednesday of this week. Ruby will be flying to Albuquerque, New Mexico to join Ann Holland who has been out there visiting with Read and Cissy Holland and to add a new welcome to the new Holland heir. Ruby and Ann will motor back to Fulton early next week. Ruby is the first person we ever saw who was contemplating that first big air venture with no apprehension at all about the skyways. If we ever told you what happened to us the first time we got in a fast moving vehicle above the clouds you'd wonder how we ever lived to write these words. Since then we've been airborne so much we hate to get behind the wheel of an auto to go on a long trip. That's not all, so does everybody else.

Since we've been off of the airwaves more than five months now you can just know how much we appreciate hearing from a few folks that they miss us. The nicest month's vacation at home with her mother.

These pot luck suppers never cease to amaze us. Last Friday night when we arrived at the Fulton City Park for supper prior to the all-star game we saw as many adults and children as we've seen together in a long time. We put out food on the table, took a good look at the delicious bounty and then took a look at the crowd again and said: "It'll never so around." We were wrong as usual for everybody got served and many went back for seconds. Even then there was food left. The thing that startles me is that, without any prior planning or consultation a balanced meal develops. Except Bertha McLeod told me that one time at a 'homemakers' meeting the folks kept coming in and depositing their food on the table one by one. As each departed they looked sadder and more depressed and eagerly watched the door for the next member and her "covered dish." It was a sad, sad day for the dieters and the guests, too . . . everybody, but everybody brought a pie! It's a true story.

got over, I was afraid to say that I wanted to spend a lot of time in Ireland because the country just somehow fascinates me. It was all settled when we couldn't book passage on a slow boat to Europe.

The more the summer wore on the arguments grew hotter. So did the weather and so did my nerves. Some people think I'm kidding when I say I'm too tired to take a vacation. As of this writing (Tuesday) we're going to the Gulf Coast where we can rest, eat sea food, go deep sea fishing, play golf and get sun-burned to the bone. But if the pattern of planning goes as it has in the past, do come by and visit with me on our little farm on Pea Ridge road. It's the nearest place to nowhere that I know of that I can talk to the buzzards and get a peaceful conversation with no back talk.

Formation of the permanent organization to direct the activities of the association will be completed at a meeting to be held at Kenlake Hotel this month, when the charter members will select five officers and two trustees as permanent officers.

Early construction of the amphitheater and the formation of the permanent organization will be the culmination of a long task on the part of a group of persons to bring outdoor entertainment to the area, patterned after the highly-successful Stephen Foster Drama Association of Bardtown.

The drama organization will stage a concerted drive for private funds with which to finance

AUSTIN SPRINGS

Mrs. Carey Fields

Mrs. Beulah Fagans of Fort Worth, Texas, has arrived on vacation and is houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. LaVerne Windsor near here.

Over at the Donald Hastings farm a brand new cottage is going up to be occupied by his daughter, Mrs. Max Wiggins and Mr. Wiggins. The construction began several days ago and will be a nice addition to that section of District No. 13.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Watts, St. Louis, Missouri, is in our midst visiting relatives while on vacation. Their visits here are always hailed with delight by friends over a wide area. The Watts family formerly lived in this locality.

The entire community was shocked and saddened when news reached here of the tragic death of Mrs. William Bowers, 24, the past Monday in a head-on collision on the Fulton-Martin Highway. Mrs. Bowers' body was at Jackson Brothers Funeral Home until arrival of her husband, William Bowers, who was serving with the armed forces in Korea. Funeral services were conducted at the First Methodist Church in Fulton by Rev. Norman Critchfield with burial in Obion County Memorial Gardens. We extend our heartfelt sympathy to all the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Granville Maun and children and his mother, Mrs. Ola Maun, left for Phoenix, Arizona today (Monday) after spending their vacation here with Mrs. Maud Vincent, M. E. Vincent family, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Westmoreland in Duketown, and Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Brinsidine in Paris, Tennessee. Granville and his brother Jack are doing some conservation work in Arizona and have been in the West for some 20 years.

Quite a number of people gathered at the Acree cemetery Saturday, August 4, in their annual meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis have done a very fine job as caretakers this year. At 11:00 a.m. Memorial Services were conducted by Rev. Henry Davis, Buchanan, Tennessee. A basket lunch was spread at noon on long tables, which fairly creaked and groaned under their load of delectable food. The bid was let in the business meeting for upkeep for the year 1962 and Mr. Condon Mitchell was the successful bidder. This has been one of the best kept cemeteries in this section. It is also one of the oldest for many monuments date back to 1829.

Mrs. Inez Vincent and daughter, Mrs. Martha Yates of Pilot Oak are in Chicago where they are visiting with Mrs. Yates daughter. They are having a nice visit in the Wind City.

Rev. James Holt filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church. The evening service was held preceding the BTU which meets at 7 p.m. All around here you will find the housewives supplying freezers and larders and also canning, jelly-making, preserves and etc. There seems to be an abundant supply of fresh vegetables. This writer has never seen so many gardens and the yield from each is keeping everyone busy from early mornings until late evenings.

There has been some fall plowing here and there at the Col. Charlie Burrow farm; one wheat-stubble field has been broken which will get fall seeding. Other farmers are cutting, baling and storing hay. The dry season has slowed down growth, but an ample supply is expected.

Rev. and Mrs. James Holt and children Sandra and Charlie, have recently returned from their vacation in the Northern states. They visited with friends in Minneapolis and Lincoln, Nebraska. They were houseguests of buddies in the armed forces of World War II and report a delightful time in each home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Robinson have gotten their house moved to our village and are now doing the last minute touch-up. They expect to be moving in very soon and all residents welcome the young couple into our midst. Mr. Robinson is employed with his father here in a nice line of fancy and staple groceries, gas station, etc.

Get-well wishes are extended to Mrs. Sam Reed who is a patient in the Baptist Hospital in Memphis. The likable lady has just recently undergone surgery, and is doing nicely according to the last report from her bedside.

Mrs. Aelful McClain continues to improve at the Fulton Hospital and may be able to come home in a few days, of which many friends will be glad to hear.

Rev. James Holt, pastor of New Salem Baptist Church, and Mr. James McClure, Jr., attended the Ordination service at Gearins Chapel Baptist Church this past Sunday.

Mrs. Ed McClain is slowly improved at her home where the matron is confined to her room. We hope to have a better report very soon.

A cheery good morning to everyone!

The house across the street has been lonely looking for a week now. Where are the occupants? On Monday morning of last week, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Engle and two sons Lee and Bob, together with Ernest Roberts, Mrs. Khourie, Mozelle and Edmond all loaded in a car and left for Florida on their vacation. We miss them and are hoping they will have a wonderful vacation and be back soon.

Mrs. Connie Lynch had as her guest last Tuesday night the former Ada Brockwell of Nashville. Mrs. Lynch carried her home on Wednesday of last week and will return Wednesday of this week. We know she is enjoying every minute of her stay in Nashville but we will be glad when she is home again. We miss her.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winter, are in New Orleans getting along fine. Mr. Winter is in the hospital there, just hoping to get built up. Mrs. Winter is in the home of her daughter Kathleen and family. Mr. and Mrs. Winter, it is lonesome to know you are away.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carver and family left for a vacation last Saturday in Panama City, Florida. While in route they stopped over in Birmingham, Alabama and spent Sunday and Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. James Clay Binkley and Julie. We know they had a wonderful time together for where old friends get together they never know when to stop talking.

Mrs. Lena Hutchinson had a wonderful visit with her brother and family, and attended the Jones-Moore wedding. Mrs. Hutchinson's many friends were so happy to see her and have her visit with them and they with her. She left for her home in Memphis last Monday.

I was made very happy last Friday when my sister, Mrs. Ethel Hoy of Union City and her daughter, Mrs. Lillie McCree, her sons L. T. and Bobby, and two grandchildren visited me. They were from California. They had a wonderful time visiting with friends and relatives. They left for her last Sunday morning. Hope you had a good trip here and children, come again.

Mrs. Louis Sensing, Mrs. C. P. Jones, Mrs. Toy Taylor, and Mrs. C. D. Lovelace drove over to Mayfield last Thursday afternoon and visited with Mrs. H. W. McClenahan and family. Mrs. McClenahan was doing nicely.

Another house looks lonely this morning as Mr. and Mrs. Louis Holley left last Friday for a two weeks visit with their daughter Mrs. Homer Ferguson and Mr. Ferguson in Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Taylor were the Sunday afternoon guests of Mrs. Ada Finch of the Walnut Grove community.

Mrs. Susie Hillman has been moved from the Hillview Hospital to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Croft on Walnut Street. We hope Mrs. Hillman will soon be well again.

We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bell to our neighborhood. They moved from the Walnut Grove community to the Walter Voelpel apartment on Norman Street.

Our sympathy and prayers go out to the loved ones of Mrs. William Bowers who was killed in a car wreck last Monday morning. She was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Ralph Smith.

My visitors last week were Mrs. C. D. Lovelace, Mrs. Bob Merrell and Mrs. Louis Sensing. Also, Bro. Jerrell Aldridge.

Hope you are attending the Smith Street Church of Christ revival this week.

All for now. See you next week. Remember, keep smiling.

It has gotten to the point nowadays that unless you toot your own horn nobody else toots it.

'OUT-OF-STATE' RULE

The University of Kentucky does not require that out-of-state students—athletes or otherwise—rank in the upper half of their high school graduating class in order to be admitted, according to Dr. Charles F. Elton, UK dean of admissions. Any out-of-state high school graduate who presents adequate evidence—entrance test scores, principal's recommendation, high school grades—that he can do university-level work may be admitted to UK, Elton said. Elton's statement was made to clarify what he termed a misunderstanding on the part of sports writers and football fans concerning UK admissions standards.

More Airports Are Zoned By State

Frankfort, July — Kentucky Aeronautics Commissioner Philip L. Swift, chairman of the Kentucky Airport Zoning Commission, has announced that 23 more Kentucky airports have been zoned by the commission.

"All but two of the state's public airports have now been zoned," Swift said, "and we're working on them."

Swift explained that zoning of an airport involves the designation of an area above and adjacent to the runway as protected air space and banning erection of structures above a certain height which would penetrate into the air space. The height permitted varies at different airports and also depends on the distance of the structure from the landing strip.

Thirteen other airports have been zoned by previous commission action, Swift said.

Kennedy, Truman, Johnson To Campaign In Kentucky For Democratic Candidates

Former President Harry Truman and Vice President Lyndon Johnson probably will come to Kentucky to help in the fall campaign, the Democratic State Central Executive Committee was told.

Chairman C. W. Maloney of Madisonville said President Kennedy, who also intends to come, has not set a date.

Maloney talked with the White House shortly before the committee met.

"I can say definitely that Truman will be here," Maloney told a reporter. "For Kennedy and Johnson it depends on the international situation."

Gov. Bert Combs and Maloney had hoped to announce when Kennedy would speak on behalf of Democratic candidates for Congress.

Former President Dwight Eisenhower will be in Kentucky to speak for the Republican ticket this fall.

The Democratic committee named Sen. Shelby Kinkead, D-Lexington, as state campaign chairman and Mrs. Phyllis Wood of Williamsburg as state campaign women's chairman.

It reported a balance of $165,219 in cash, including a $128,547 check for the proceeds of the recent Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Louisville.

The opening of the Democratic fall campaign — and the site — remain to be scheduled.

Kinkead fired a verbal barrage at the Republicans.

"Thruston Morton and his John Birch running mate from Louisville, Gene Snyder, have launched a campaign, born of desperation, of vituperation and smear upon one of the outstanding Kentuckians of our time, Wilson Wyatt," Kinkead said.

Snyder said recently he never has been a member of the ultra-conservative society or attended any of its meetings.

"Their campaign has reached an all-time low in mud slinging for this date in July. Bereft of effective campaign issues they have sought to muddy the water with personal slander and abuse."

Morton, the incumbent Republican senator, is opposed in November by Wyatt. Snyder seeks the congressional seat of Frank Burke of Louisville, Democratic incumbent.

Wyatt also read a statement saying in part:

"With increasing frequency, my GOP opponent is finding his way home to Kentucky during these past few weeks. He might just as well get used to it — he's going to be home regularly after Nov. 6th."

Combs emphasized that Kennedy's appearance in Kentucky was not an ironclad pledge.

"He will come provided the international situation does not prevent it," the governor said.

"That's the chance we take." The problem of a permanent headquarters for the executive committee has been postponed. The group now is at a Louisville hotel.

"The possibility of a permanent headquarters has been a pet project of mine," Combs said. "One of these days we will have one."

Educational TV Network Will Be Found In Murray

Nine ultra-high-frequency channels for educational television have been approved for Kentucky by the Federal Communications Commission, the State's Educational Television Authority was told at its first meeting recently in Frankfort.

The nine channels will form Kentucky's educational TV network and will be located in Hazard (channel 19), Ashland (78), Bowling Green (17), Covington (54), Madisonville (26), Morehead (36), Murray (33), Pikeville (14) and Somerset (29). The State has already acquired sites for transmitting stations in the nine cities.

Plans also call for use of existing educational TV facilities in Louisville (channel 15).

Central production and transmitter facilities will be located at the University of Kentucky, Lexington, where professional staffing will be available from the Department of Radio, Television and Films, headed by O. Leonard Press.

Gov. Bert Combs spoke briefly at the meeting and committed $1 million in State capital improvement funds for the TV program. He said that Kentucky is also eligible for Federal funds totaling from $600,000 to $1 million.

Contracts Awarded For East And West Kentucky Turnpikes

Nineteen months after groundbreaking ceremonies, construction contracts have been awarded on all sections of the Eastern and Western Kentucky Turnpikes.

Two contracts totaling $3,981,409 were awarded this month for the last sections of the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike in Morgan and Magoffin counties, Highway Commissioner Henry Ward announced. The contracts were awarded to Greer Brothers and Young, Inc., London, Ky.

All segments of this 76-mile turnpike, which will extend from Winchester to Salyersville, will soon be under construction, with the first 42-mile stretch from Winchester to Campton to be opened this year.

A $3,642,868 contract for the remaining portion of the Western Kentucky Turnpike was recently awarded to Peter Kiewit Sons' Co., Omaha, Neb.

This 6.5-mile project in Muhlenburg County calls for grade, drain and cement concrete paving of the final link of this 127-mile highway extending from Elizabethtown to Princeton.

"Now that contracts have been awarded on all segments of both turnpikes, the day when these highways will be ready to serve the people of Kentucky, visiting tourists and our expanding industries is fast becoming a reality," Ward said.

Convention Hotel Being Planned For Lake Area

A 1,000-room, ten-million dollar convention hotel on Kentucky Lake is in the early planning stages at present. The proposed site of the giant hotel is in Marshall County near Buena Vista, between Moore's Camp and Kentucky Dam.

Marshall County Judge John R. Rayburn was scheduled to leave yesterday (Wednesday) on a flying trip to Ecuador with several unidentified businessmen to try to finalize the plans for the building.

The Ecuadorian president owns a million dollars worth of his government's bonds which he is selling to an Evansville bank, and he is reported to be investing the entire amount in the hotel. Several other individuals are said to be making up the remaining nine million dollars.

Judge Rayburn's part in the Ecuador trip is reported to be to meet with the president of the country and verify and explain certain facts about the county and the lake.

The hotel, if built, will be named the Alben Barkley Convention Hotel. Judge Rayburn said that permission has been obtained from Mrs. Barkley and David Barkley, son of the late vice president, to use his name.

Judge Rayburn said that he flew to Washington, D. C., in April to obtain a paved road to the proposed site. He said that he has been assured by Henry Ward, state highway commissioner, that the road will be built. Rayburn said that engineering crews are in the area now preparing for the road.

Procedures Studied For Auditing Local School Districts

Frankfort, July—A set of recommended procedures for auditing local school districts is being studied by the State Committee for School District Audits.

The State Committee is composed of Finance Commissioner Robert Matthews, chairman; School Superintendent Wendell Butler; and Attorney Gen. John B. Breckinridge.

"The Committee will cooperate with the State Board of Accountancy and work with it and with local school boards in selecting certified public accountants to conduct these normal school district audits required at least once every two years," Matthews said.

The Committee was created by the 1962 General Assembly in House Bill 207. The act names the Governor, or his representative, the superintendent of public instruction and the attorney general as committee members. Governor Combs has named Matthews to act in his place as committee

Southern Bell Launches Era Of World Communications With Telestar Satellite

The United States burst into a new era of world-wide communications when the first trans-Atlantic television signals were beamed between the new world and the old via the Telstar communications satellite.

In a typical American glare of publicity with millions watching on home television sets the first attempt succeeded beyond expectations. It produced the first broadband transmission via an active satellite in space and as a bonus produced the first trans-oceanic television transmission by the same route, as ground stations in both England and France pulled in the Telstar signals.

Two weeks ahead of schedule, television pictures were received in this country from first France and then England.

Telstar is also uniquely American in that it is the first time that a private company has built a satellite and paid for cost of launching with its own funds. The 170-pound metallic sphere crammed with electronic equipment was developed and built by the Bell Telephone system. The telephone company paid the government $3 million for the Delta rocket which launched it.

When the Delta rocket roared from its launching pad at 3:35 a. m. July 10 and placed the world's first active communications satellite into precise orbit, the problem of building a "microwave tower in the sky" was solved.

"Microwaves, which are used for transmission overland, travel in a straight line and have not been practical for transmission over wide bodies of water," H. D. Hayes, Southern Bell's local manager, said.

"A signal sent across the Atlantic, for instance, would soar off into space due to the curvature of the earth," he explained.

So for microwave transmission overseas a very special kind of tower was needed—a tower more than 400 miles high. The Bell System's Telstar satellite is that experimental "tower in the sky."

The experiment proved successful on the satellite's sixth pass when voice and television signals traveled to the satellite and were received back at the ground station in sharp, clear focus. The first pictures were of Vice President Lyndon Johnson and officials of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, whose subsidiary Bell Telephone Laboratories built Telstar.

Then pictures of the Stars and Stripes waving in the breeze and the sounds of the National Anthem reached home television sets and were received by ground stations in France and England.

That breakthrough and the following night's successful reception of television pictures from Europe opened the way for live broadcast across oceans with the use of satellites.

State Applies For Transference Of Outwood Hospital

The State of Kentucky has applied formally for the transfer from Federal to State ownership of the Outwood Hospital, which has been declared surplus by the Veterans Administration. Kentucky Commission of Finance Robert Matthews has announced.

If the transfer is approved by the V. A., the State Department of Mental Health intends to use Outwood to relieve the overcrowded conditions at the Kentucky Training Home, the only State home for the mentally retarded.

The Outwood Veterans Hospital, which has an estimated replacement value of $10-12 million, is located on Ky. 109 in northern Christian County about four miles from Dawson Springs. The 250-acre tract includes about 49 buildings of various types.

In making application for the transfer, Matthews delegated the necessary authority to negotiate the deed to the commissioner of mental health, Dr. Harold L. McPheeters. The action gives Dr. McPheeters the power to deal directly with the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare on the matter.

State Employee Gets Leave Of Absence

Frankfort, July — William G. Herzl, director of research for the Kentucky Department of Revenue, has been granted a five-month leave of absence to serve as a member of a special group to study the fiscal system of Ecuador.

Herzl's services were requested by the Pan American Union in Washington. He will serve as senior consultant to the group which is to make a survey of Ecuador's fiscal system to provide a factual foundation on which to base recommendations for the reforms envisaged by the Alliance for Progress program.

The Ecuadorian survey is one of a number being undertaken in Latin American countries by the Organization of American States in cooperation with the Inter-American Development Bank and the United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America.

Copying State Police Uniform Warned Against

What he described as "a growing tendency to copy the Kentucky State Police uniform by local and private police officers throughout the state," is reported by Col. David A. Espie, director of State Police.

"While I'm sure there is no actual intent to misrepresent, this similarity of uniforms between the State Police and the local and some industrial policemen can lead only to a confused public," Espie said.

Captain William Mullins, legal officer for the State Police, points out it is illegal to imitate the uniform in any way.

Kentucky law was quoted by Mullins as follows: "No person shall falsely represent himself to be an officer, agent or employee of the Department (division) of Kentucky State Police and in such assumed character, arrest or detain or search in any manner the person or property of anyone, nor shall any person without the authority of the department wear its official uniform or insignia or any uniform or insignia likely to be confused with the official uniform or insignia of the Department (division)."

Espie added, "Of course, we desire voluntary compliance with the statutes; however, if we learn of violations, we will have no alternative but to enforce the law."

Survival Preparations Good In State If Nuclear Emergency

Frankfort, July — Kentucky is well on its way toward survival preparations for nuclear emergencies, members of the Kentucky Women's Civil Defense Council were told at a recent workshop in Frankfort.

Principal speaker at the meeting was Cosmo J. Liberti, regional radiological defense officer from the U. S. Department of Defense. Liberti told the Council that Kentucky now has some 1,500 radiological monitors—persons trained in measuring radioactivity—and about 300 instructors qualified to teach the 10-hour monitoring course.

Liberti coordinates the radiological-monitoring and fallout-shelter programs of eight states, including Kentucky. He stressed the importance of women in civil defense program, noting that wives and mothers are closest to and have the greatest concern for their families.

$57,800 STUDY GRANT

Can an infection which produces abortion in cattle and sheep be transmitted to humans? An investigation of that possibility is being undertaken by a University of Kentucky professor of animal pathology. The study, to be conducted over a period of three years by Dr. John Thomas Bryans, is financed by a $57,800 grant from the National Institutes of Health. It involves a comparison of the abortion-causing organism with seemingly identical organisms isolated from a variety of diseases occurring in both animals and man.

Squirrel Hunting Season To Begin On August 15th

Kentucky's squirrel hunters will take to the fields in a section of the state designated as the "Western" part on August 15 with early reports indicating a good supply of bushytails, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reports.

For those residents of the "Eastern Section" hunting will not be permitted until August 26. The seasons have been divided into two phases in each section of the state with a full 90 days of hunting provided in each area.

After the "kickoff" on August 15 in the western section, the season continues through October 31, reopens on November 15 and continues through November 26. For the eastern section the season opens on August 26 and continues through October 31, reopens on November 15 and continues through December 7. The bag limit is six with a possession limit of 12 after two or more days of hunting.

The area designated as Eastern includes these counties: Lewis, Rowan, Menifee, Powell, Estill, Jackson, Rockcastle, Pulaski and Wayne and all counties lying to the east of this group. Naturally the western section includes all counties lying to the west of this demarcation tier of counties.

According to surveys and bag checks conducted last season by biologists and conservation officers Kentucky hunters bagged 1,672,770 squirrels. The bushytail, as this figure reveals, is one of the heaviest hunted game animals in Kentucky and attracts a large number of hunters in all sections of the state. Rifles or shotguns may be used by the hunter except rifles above .243 caliber are illegal.

HYGIENIC!

A small boy's persistent sniffing annoyed a woman standing next to him on a bus.

"Young man," she said archly, "have you got a handkerchief?" "Yes," replied the lad, "but my mother won't let me loan it to anybody."

NEW TAGS!

A new type deer tag will be used by both archery and gun hunters this fall. Metal tags, in place of the cardboard type used in past seasons, have been ordered. They will have a locking device so that a section may be attached to the downed deer, as required by law, and which will be incapable of being torn off as the deer is dragged to the checking station. The archery season opens on October 1 and continues throughout that month, while the gun season is November 7, 8, 9 and 10. One new county, Morgan, has been added to the 42 of last season, making 43 counties in which deer may be hunted.
