LIVING ON SUFFERING TOOLS

The real miners should heed the words of a Western labor spokesman who said they have yet to organize his union. He earlier said his union is on the question of social justice for the miner. The day they organize, he emphasized, is the day they recognize the miner's fight for a decent living — and that is what they're fighting for.

When it comes to the miners, there is a great deal of sympathy. They're fighting for something that is long overdue and something that is desperately needed. They're fighting for what they need to survive, and they're fighting for what they need to live. They're fighting for what they need to be free, and they're fighting for what they need to be equal.

The miners are fighting for their rights, and they're fighting for what they need to live. They're fighting for what they need to be free, and they're fighting for what they need to be equal. They're fighting for what they need to be human, and they're fighting for what they need to be free.

The miners are fighting for their rights, and they're fighting for what they need to live. They're fighting for what they need to be free, and they're fighting for what they need to be equal. They're fighting for what they need to be human, and they're fighting for what they need to be free.

A LETTER FROM HOME

To: The Dr. Reader, Detroit, Michigan

From: Mr. Harry B. Johnson

DEAR SIR:

We had quite a experience—our daughter had just gone through a tough night, and now Dad and the girls are doing fine. She has had a difficult recovery, and we are so grateful for the help we received during this time. We are both doing well and enjoying the quiet at home.

The papers have been full of news about the war, and we are all praying for a quick and peaceful resolution. We are doing our part by saving money and contributing to the war effort.

I hope to write more soon, and send our best to everyone.

Yours truly,

Mr. Harry B. Johnson

This farm boy stopped bullets intended for you...

Joe Mar:Inez., Colorado farm boy. his battalion down under withering fire from Jap positions on Attu. arose alone and advanced into a hail of bullets to clean out trench after trench a) his battalion could advance. He died with his rifle at his shoulder, pumping lead into the enemy, while his mates were able to move up behind him and successfully take the post. For this, Joe Martinez has been posthumously awarded the Nation’s highest military honor. Let every man who was once a farm boy himself buy an extra War Bond in Joe’s honor... for Joe took the bullets aimed at the heart of America!

The 4th WAR LOAN is your opportunity to do something about it!

It’s Time to Take the Offensive. Your government has the men it needs to do the job in the front lines—great men all! But it doesn’t have the money it needs, by a long way. That’s your job! And the immediate task is the Fourth War Loan—Your chance to take the offensive not only in support of the men who are fighting and dying for you and your loved ones, but also in support of your own future.

What are you going to do about a wornout tractor, about repairing fences and buildings, about replacing depreciated machinery and equipment? Will you be ready with money in the bank when these things are needed?

You will if you buy the offensive now! Put every extra dollar into U. S. War Bonds—the best form of financial reserve ever offered you. Think of it as an investment—not a sacrifice!

When Your Boy Comes Home
Will your boy come back to a farm or ranch with no financial reserves, no future? Or will you greet him at the gate with a bundle of War Savings Bonds—for working capital, new machinery, better buildings? And if your children are going to college, why not be sure they get there by buying today the bonds that will pay the cost.

No need, really, to tell an up-to-date farmer or rancher what he needs financial reserves for. You know more reasons than any one else can enumerate for setting aside extra dollars to meet the future. Now is your chance to do it... and help fight the war too!

Go on the offensive! Buy all the Bonds you can—today!
