FIRE—An early morning fire Thursday caused considerable damage in four practice studios on the second floor of the Fine Arts Annex building at Murray State University. The fire was believed to have started in an electrical fixture in one of the studios. The fire was discovered at 6:50 a.m. by a custodian, Mrs. Mabel Yearry, who turned in the alarm. Within an hour the blaze had been extinguished. Although an estimate of the damage has not been made, Dr. Thomas B. Hogancamp, vice president for administration and finance at the university, said the loss could reach several thousands of dollars. One piano was destroyed, two others heavily damaged and considerable smoke and water damage was estimated.

KWW Directors Discuss Long And Short Term Goals Of Area

Long and short term goals and directions were the subject of discussion at the monthly Board meeting of Kentucky's Western Waterland Monday night. The meeting, held at Port O' Call restaurant in Cadiz, centered around clarifying the purposes of the 8-county tourist promotion organization, and determining what future directions the organization should take.

Karen Cissell, KWW executive secretary, presented to the Board of Directors a 5-page summary of suggested long and short-term goals. A decision was made by the Board to include these suggestions in the next newsletter to the membership, and to explore the goals further at another

Much of the discussion centered upon implementing recommendations contained in KWW's recently released MRI Report, a research study of development alternatives in the Kentucky and Barkley Lakes region, Sam Steger, MRI committee chairman, also presented to the Board an outline of problems that must be dealt with by KWW in carrying out a suggested by the MRI Report. His recommendations included organizing a task force of local personnel with expertise in all phases of tourism development. This group can then go to prospective tourism developers with complete information that the potential investor might need about the western Kentucky Lakes area.

Other discussion during the meeting included reference to a committment by Governor Julian Carroll at the recent KWW Annual Meeting that Interstate-24 would be completed during his term of office. Smith Broadbent, Annual Meeting chairman, reported to the Board that the Annual Meeting had been very successful, with the largest attendance ever.

Newly elected KWW directors were introduced at the meeting. Beginning their two-year term were Pat Fightmaster from Marshall County, and William Bostock from Christian County.

Other business conducted at the meeting included, a report on the organizational meeting of a statewide marina owners association, and a vote by the KWW Board to sponsor the Kenlake Folk Festival on Labor Day weekend.

A nominating committee to name KWW officers for the coming year was also appointed.

Christopher To Be Honored At Dinner

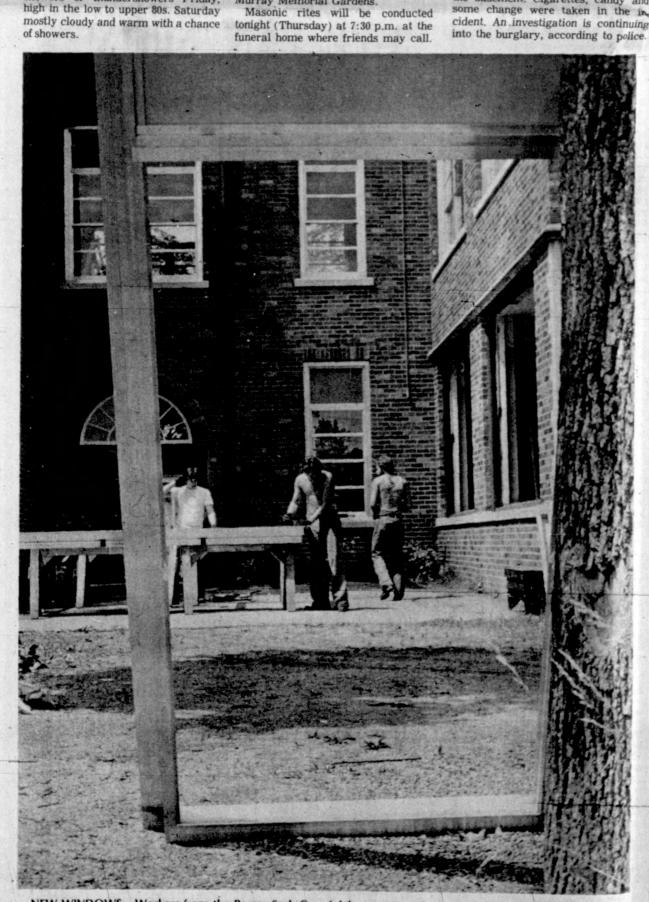

A retirement dinner, honoring Maurice P. Christopher, for 19 years as associate professor of chemistry at Murray State University, has been set for 7 p.m., Saturday, June 26, in Winslow Cafeteria at the University.

A native of Somerset, where he taught high school chemistry, physics, biology and mathematics for 23 years, Christopher retired at Murray State May 31.

Tickets for the dinner are $5 each and reservations should be made by calling the office of Dr. Harry Conley, 762-2584, in the College of Environmental Sciences before noon June 25.

One of four children born into the home of a railroad electrician at Somerset, Christopher is married to the former Juletta Eaker of Cairo, Ill. They have three children: Mrs. Camille C. Little, a registered nurse who teaches nursing in the vocational school at Northeast Missouri State College, Kirksville; Ron Christopher, Commonwealth attorney of Calloway and Marshall counties; and Julie Cathryn Christopher, who is doing her internship in medical technology at Baptist Hospital, Nashville. They live at 1504 Johnson Blvd. in Murray.

Christopher received his undergraduate degree at Murray State in 1934 and his master's degree at the University of Kentucky in 1957. He is a member of the American Chemical Society, the Kentucky Academy of Science and is a past president of the Murray Kiwanis Club. Honored by the club one year as its "Man of the Year," he also served one term as a division lieutenant governor of Kiwanis International.

NEW WINDOWS-Workers from the Perma-Sash Co. of Atlanta are nearing completion of new windows at the Murray Middle School building. All the windows in the building are being replaced with the exception of the gymnasium. The windows are aluminum replacement units, with insulated panels and trim, and are expected to cut heating bills for the school, as well as enhance the appearance of the building. Cost of the new windows is expected to be $58,826, according to the bid submitted by Perma-Sash.

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly energetic and en-thusiastic individual, always optimistic and, if living at your best, a born achiever. But you are restless and, changeable, too. When you get a new idea which is frequently - you act upon it immediately and zestfully, but may drop the whole thing as soon as your interest wanes. This is the Geminian's besetting sin. Try to curb! You are extremely versatile; could excel at writing, music, science, the law, politics, the theater or, in the commercial world, as a banker — in which case, you would probably take up one of the arts as an avocation. whose marriage to Nelson Ray Gardner will take place July 24, was the honoree at a formal tea on June 12 from three to five p.m. at the Murray Woman's Club House. Hostesses for this lovely occasion were Mrs. A. W. Russell, Mrs. James W. Harris and Mrs. Michael

The bride-elect chose from her trousseau a floor length green and white floral voile gown, accented by a double white ruffle around the scooped neckline and green velvet matching ribbon. Her hostesses' gift corsage was a purple orchid. The honoree's mother, Mrs. George Truett Lilly, wore a formal gown of multicolored flora print voile on a black background. Her corsage was a white cymbidium orchid. The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Russell, and directed to the register, kept by the bride-elect's sister, Thomas · Aaron McKenzie, III. of Nashville, Tn. Mrs. McKenzie was attired in an ankle length blue floral gown and a hostess corsage of white daisies. The table for the bride's book was draped with an embroidered linen cloth similar to the one used on the tea table, with an arrangement of tropicana roses. Receiving the guests were the honoree, her mother, and Mrs. Carl Brooks Gardner, of Williamsport, Tn., the groom-elect's sister-in-law.

Mrs. J. T. Hosick and Mrs. W. P. Russell invited the guests to the beautifully appointed tea table covered with an imported Madiera cut work and emboridered linen cloth furnished by Mrs. Hosick. It was centered with a striking multi-color arrangement of roses in a silver bowl flanked by a pair of rose encircled silver candlesticks and burning white tapers. Uncover green vegetables

When cooking celery do remember the basic rule for cooking all green vegetables. Start the chunks or ribs in salted boiling water and let the celery cook vigorously, uncovered, for three or four minutes. This drives off a natural acid gas given off by green vegetables. It's harmless, but this gas dulls the attractive green color. Or, cover the saucepan and raise the lid several times during the first minutes of cooking.

Cook celery briefly-after all, it is as good raw as cooked. If you want to sauce your celery, make a white sauce with chopped peanuts or minced parsley in it. Or dilute canned condensed Cheddar cheese or condensed cream of chicken soup slightly and use as

Mom Haunted by Death of Twin

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This problem is driving me crazy, and I've got to get to the bottom of it to have some peace of

I was married at 17 and had a pair of twin girls at 18. I've been married now for 34 years, but I still have a big question nagging at me.

gave birth to the twins in a New York City hospital, which I still live near. My doctor didn't know I was going to have twins until I was giving birth. After one baby came, thinking it was all over, I heard the doctor say, "Wait, there's another one coming!" (I was conscious the whole

I said, "I don't want it!" The doctor calmed me by saying, "Don't worry, I'll take it."

Abby, I really think that doctor gave my second baby away. I saw both babies alive and crying at birth, but the next day I was told the second baby had died. We never were given a birth certificate or a death certificate, and neither my husband nor I ever saw the "dead" baby.

A few weeks ago, someone told me that my baby never died, and I can still look into the matter. I really think she's alive. The doctor is probably dead by now, but I know his name. Would the hospital still have those records? Would they let me see them? Do I need a lawyer? Don't tell me to forget it, I have to know.

I promise not to hurt anyone or sue the hospital.

J.M. IN NYC

DEAR J.M.: You say you "gave birth to twins" some 34 years ago and now you want to know what happened to the second baby? A lawyer could help you search the records and take affidavits from any person present at the event. But another question hangs in the air: Why did you wait for so long? (P.S. If you can establish the fact that you had colorful birds will be at Center twins, and no birth or death certificate was ever filed, the hospital is vulnerable to serious action.)

DEAR MAN: Recycled dentures? You're puttin' me on!

DEAR ABBY: I never cease to be amazed at some of the letters you get, and no less so at some of your answers. Any woman who would stretch herself out on the couch, stark naked, to "surprise" her husband when he came home from work must be crazy.

If I ever pulled a stunt like that, my husband would have kicked me out of the door and thrown my clothes out after me, and that would have been the end of our marriage!

TODAY'S TOPIC: U. N. REALITIES

NASHVILLE, Tenn.-In a speech before the United Nations Forum at Vanderbilt University, attended by 101 representatives of the world assembly, U. N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim called for "a new inernational economic order." However, he didn't spell out what U. N. officials

Mr. Waldheim was careful not to reveal to his Mid-South audience that a team of U. N. experts has recommended that the United Nations provide $432 million in aid to Communist Vietnam.

The Washington Post reported June 3 that the massive aid recommendation has been "kept secret by the United Nations for more than two months" because such an appeal "could upset the already rocky relationship between the United States and the United Nations." Indeed it could.

The aid program envisioned in the report would be used to help the communist regime rebuild its railroad system and resettle eight million South Vietnamese now living in urban areas. The proposal brings to mind the shocking forced relocation of Cambodian anti-communists, who were driven from their homes and forced into the ricefields on orders of their communist overlords-only in Vietnam the members of the U. N., chiefly the United States, would pick up the tab for the forced population transfer.

It is interesting to note that the U. N. team described the war damage in North Vietnam as having resulted from "a savage war of destruction conducted mainly through bombing strikes and artillery barrages." The team didn't mention that North Vietnam waged a war of aggression against South Vietnam.

While the U. N. Secretary General was telling Tennesseans that Americans had an obligation to transfer wealth to Third World countries, the Habitat U. N. Conference on Human Settlements was under way in Vancouver, Canada

The type of program the U. N. sponsored at that meeting may be gauged from the remarks of the speakers. Margaret Mead, the anthropologist, declared, for example, that construction of nuclear power plants creates "a monster that holds us in its grip." It is unclear when or how. Dr. Mead became an expert on nuclear

But that was only the beginning. The U. N. representatives present at the Vancouver meeting issued "recommendations for national action" that, according to The New York Times, included statements favoring public ownership of land, government regulation of land use, expropriation of profits - from land speculation, and public "recapture" of increases in land value attributable to public develop-

The New York Times news report stated: "Such views found ready acceptance with the Soviet Union and other communist countries, whose delegates said they had adopted such principles long ago.

Specifically, the conference adopted the position that "Land, because of the crucial role it plays in human settlements, cannot be treated as an ordinary asset, controlled by individuals and subject to the pressures and inefficiencies of the market." In other words, the U. N. conference came down solidly on the side of a controlled, socialist society.

Many Americans fail to understand the character and direction of the United Nations' programs. They have a vague notion that the world assembly promotes "peace." But they fail to note the specific proposals developed by U. N. agencies and commissions. These proposals are thoroughly anti-capitalist and anti-Western.

The U. N., as presently constituted, is a machine for generating hostility

Here's A Way To Pick Up Unusual Christmas Gifts

By M. C. Garrott

When we lived in St. Louis, a couple of our closest friends and neighbors were Jack and Nora Bass, both native Oklahomans and lovers of all kinds of arts and crafts, expecially the southwestern crafts of the plainsmen and the Invariably, about this time a year, we'll get a note from Jack and Nora asking when the arts and crafts festival will be held over between the lakes. We'll find out, usually by calling someone like Suzanne Doyle, who has been such a promoter of it, and get the word back to them. Sometimes they come down for the festival. Other times they'll head for the Southwest and their beloved Comanche country.

No doubt, many others in the area have similar experiences with distant friends interested in arts and crafts. Really, there's no way of actually knowing how many people the festival pulls into the area each year, and this year's 7th annual renewal of the event is not expected to be any exception.

This year's festival will be held Saturday and Sunday, June 26 and 27 at the Conservation Education Center between the lakes. To reach the Center from Murray, go east on 94, pickup 68 at Aurora, cross the lake and then turn left on 453 (The Trace). A few miles north, you'll see a sign on the right directing you to the Center.

From Highway 62, you turn south on 453 just after you cross Kentucky Dam, go on down through Grand Rivers and south along 453 until you see the Center's signs directing you to the left. It's about a 30-minute drive from Murray.

The festival, which includes works from artists and craftsmen from all of our surrounding states, will be held in the northern portion of the outdoor area at the Conservation Education Center. There is no charge, and it will be open to the public from 9 a.m. until dusk each of the two days.

Everything imaginable in the way of arts and crafts will be displayed, and for a price I suppose you might persuade some of the craftsmen or artists to sell you some of their works. The show is sponsored by the Murray Art Guild and the TVA people over in the Land Between the Lakes.

A special highlight of this year's festival will be the Young Actors Company of Louisville and its presentation of "America," a performance billed as a celebration of heroes, lore, humor and conflicts in a youthful Bicentennial salute.

Mary Phyllis Riedley, Louisville Times writer, says of the show: "The program, which lasts about 45 minutes, is a celebration of heroes, lore, humor and conflict via song and poetry...all beautifully done. Jane Marlow Willis, Meade County Messenger, describes it as: "A really rousing and patriotic production..:this is one of those plays that you would feel great about taking the whole family to. The exuberance of the young people is overwhelming." It must be something special we don't want to miss.

At the festival you'll also find exhibits ranging from hand-crafted woodwork, making of stained glass windows, quilting, artists specializing in oils, watercolors, aerylics and pen and ink to all kinds of music. There also will be cornshuck dolls, leatherwork, handcarved toys, candles, photography, handmade jewelry and every kind of needlework ever stuck through a

This year's publicity committee has done a great job of publicizing it across the Midwest and the South, so they will be rolling in here for it.

It'll be worth your while to take it in, and what a unusual way to entertain out-of-town guests, provided, of course, they like that kind of thing.

Humanely Speaking

Written By The Humane Society Of Calloway County

"The Most For Your Money"

Now and then the Society receives a call from an irate citizen who demands that it pick up a stray dog or cat. After all, he points out, isn't that what he pays taxes for?

The Society does indeed perform a number of services for the public which are normally provided entirely by agencies of local government. Among them are picking up injured animals from streets and roads, picking up stray dogs under certain circumstances, providing for humane euthanasia at the dog pound, providing special rations for small puppies at the pound, assisting in cleaning the pound, boarding stray animals and placing them in permanent homes, and investigating cruelty to animals. While these activities supplement the work of local officials and agencies in caring for dogs, the city and county make no provisions for cats and other animals at the local pound. The Society is the sole organization which concerns itself directly with the cat problem.

But while the Society provides public services, it is a private organization which receives no public tax money at

As anyone knows who owns a pet and cares for it properly, feeding and caring for an animal can be quite expensive. Operating on a limited budget, the Society is simply not able to provide adequate care for every unfortunate animal which comes to its attention. During its first year of operation, however, it did manage to care for well over 500 needy animals—care which cost many hundreds of dollars.

Since it receives no tax money, how does the Society raise money to support its services to the citizens of this community?

A good portion of the operating budget of the Society comes from dues of its members and donations from members, the general public, civic groups, and business firms in Murray and in the county. This income is supplemented through such money raising schemes as selling bumper stickers and stationery, bake sales, collection cans placed in businessses in Murray, and garage sales. It is hoped that a large part of each year's budget can be provided by an annual auction in

The first of these auctions is scheduled for 9 a.m. this Saturday, June 19, at the Bel Air Shopping Center in Murray. Members have been busy for weeks canvassing local businesses for donations of new merchandise to be auctioned off, and members and friends of the Society have searched attics, basements, and garages for quality used items to be offered to the highest

The response has been generous, with only a handful of local businesses declining to support the work of the Society. All that remains now is for the public to turn out to take advantage of the bargains, remembering, we hope, that 100 per cent of the money goes directly to the work of relieving suffering of animals in the city and county. And the more money we realize, the more services we can perform next

Let's Stay Well

Cause And Management Of Prickly Heat

By F.J.L. BLASINGAME, M.D.

Warm weather is the season for humid weather. prickly heat (Miliaria).

Miliaria is an acute condition affecting the sweat glands of the skin. Their openings are temporarily blocked from a mild inflammation so that the sweat cannot escape from the ducts to the skin surface. When a person is exposed to heat, it stimulates excretion by the sweat glands to produce moisture to evaporate on the skin and cool it. When the ducts openings are blocked, the sweat builds up pressure and breaks through the sweat duck walls, causing an additional inflammatory reaction in the skin. These changes result in many small pimples and blisters which burn and itch. Secondary infection may further irritate the skin if heat and moisture persist, especially if the symptoms cause the victim to scratch the irritated, inflamed area.

Prickly heat is a common disease in sections of the country which have hot,

Plump infants and obese persons are more often affected, especially in skin folds or in areas of the body where two skin surfaces are in close contact, as in the groin or under the arms.

Miliaria is not contagious from one person to another.

Treatment consists of keeping the skin clean, cool and dry. The wearing of light clothes, avoidance of excessive exercise and stress to reduce perspiration, and use of air conditioning, fans, and a dusting powder are helpful. If the inflammation persists, professional help should be obtained.

chance of fetal death is greater

Sometimes the blood factors (Rh) may be incompatible between the fetus and the mother. The umbilical cord may become compressed or the placenta may separate prematurely from the mother's uterus. The fetus may have congenital defects of the brain, heart, kidneys or some other organ which cause death. This can be a natural "blessing" rather than survival in an impaired condition.

Your daughter needs to talk over her case carefully with her physician. Fortunately, the next and later pregnancies have a good chance of being normal.

Markets On Upswing

By JOHN CUNNIFF

AP Business Analyst NEW YORK (AP) - Magazines and turnips might seem to be unrelated, except in the sense that one might be food for the body, the other for the mind, but your supermarket manager will tell you differently.

If trends continue, it won't be long before sales of printed materials in these traditional outlets for household products will reach $500 million, providing both publishers and retailers with a tidy profit. "Progressive Grocer" magazine estimates that sales of paperbacks and magazines in "grocery" outlets last year reached $455 million, "a good sized piece of a total market estimated at $2 billion."

Market managers reportedly are enthusiastic about the growth, since most of them feel they are in a profit squeeze on conventional items. And publishers, pressed by rising postal rates, are happy to have alternative

Contracts Promised In Return For Contributions, Testimony Reveals

Former state Democratic party official H.K. Taylor promised state highway right of way appraisal contracts to two appraisers, if they would agree to return a percentage of their fees to the party, the appraisers have testified.

William H. Grissom of Glasgow and William Snyder of Louisville testified in U.S. District Court Wednesday that Taylor, former executive director of the Democratic state Central Committee, arranged meetings with them in October, 1972, for the purpose of soliciting funds for the Democratic party.

Taylor and former state highway commissioner Charles Pryor Jr. were indicted by a federal grand jury at Lexington on Dec. 1, 1975 for conspiracy in an alleged kickback scheme from June 30 to November, 1972.

U.S. government attorneys were expected to continue calling witnesses for the prosecution today, as the trial moved into its fourth day.

The official said the government investigation of the tragedy indicated there was some conflicting testimony. Barrett cited three different versions of wind direction inside the mine at the time of the explosion.

There were 15 miners killed in the first explosion March 9 and 11 others, including three Barrett testified before a federal mine officials, in the joint session of the House and second blast two days later.

Physician Files Counter Suit Against Attorney

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) -A Henderson surgeon has filed suit in Henderson Circuit Court against a Lexington attorney who handled a medical malpractice suit against him last summer.

Dr. Byron Hill is seeking $525,000 in damages in a counter malpractice suit against attorney Robert Willmont of the Lexington law firm of Arnold and Willmont.

The suit was filed June 10. Hill said Wednesday he hopes the suit will serve to "throw some water on these malpractice fires." He said he hopes to "make my point against frivolous suits and to give warning that I personally won't be attacked in a meritless legal action.'

Hill has maintained his practice in Henderson for four vears. He maintains that approximately 75 per cent of all malpractice cases against physicians prove to be meritless and frivolous. In the suit, Hill charges Willmont with professional negligence in taking the case

The couple claimed Hill had made an error in diagnosis that resulted in the plaintiffs' being slandered.

Henderson Circuit Court Judge Carl Melton dismissed the couple's suit in a preliminary hearing on April 26 on the grounds there was no evidence of malpractice.

Hill says there was never any question in his mind that his diagnosis of a communicable disease in the woman was a correct one.

"I proceeded exactly as state law requires when a communicable disease is suspected," he said. "I sent a specimen to the public health department and the diagnosis was actually made there."

He said he has filed suit against the attorney rather than the couple because "I can understand a patient being upset with a physician and wanting to take some kind of

"But what I can't understand is an attorney who would take a case knowing it was without merit." Hill said.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - The Palestinian guerrillas and their leftist Lebanese allies announced the arrest today of a number of persons suspected of killing U.S. Ambassador Francis E. Meloy Jr., his economic counselor and their Lebanese driver. Police sources said Al Fatah Palestinian guerrillas arrested five members of the Lebanese Socialist Revolutionary Organization, an urban guerrilla group that seized the Beirut branch of the Bank of America in 1973, took 56 hostages and killed an American and four Lebanese before police stormed the building. Meloy, 59, Robert Waring, 58, and Zoheir Maghrabi were shot Wednesday while driving through the no-man's land between the Moslem and Christian sectors of Beirut.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - Rioting students in the Soweto black ghetto stoned cars, started fires and clashed with police today in the second day of racial violence. At least 23 persons were killed Wednesday, and 21 of them were black. It was the worst racial violence in South Africa since police killed 69 blacks in the Sharpeville massacre in 1960. About 1,000 police, some of them in armored cars, were patroling the huge black township eight miles south of Johannesburg. But the rioting resumed after a brief lull between 2:30 a.m. and dawn.

MOSCOW (AP) - King Hussein of Jordan arrives today to shop for antiaircraft missiles costing less than the $850million American system Saudi Arabia won't buy for him. Hussein confirmed Wednesday in Vienna that preliminary discussions were under way on adding Soviet air defense batteries to Jordan's Westernequipped armed forces. He said he knew nothing of American threats to cut back aid to Jordan if he buys the Soviet hardware. The visit by Hussein and Queen Alia is his first to the2 soviet Union since 1967.

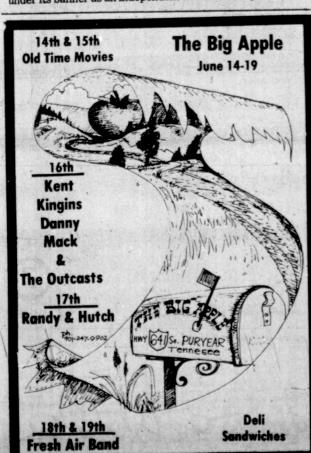

LUANDA, Angola (AP) — The prosecution concluded its case against ten Brit 9h and three American mertenaries Wed asday after introducing only 10 witneysses, and one of thtm was arrested for perjury. The testimony of another witness was contradicted by former British paratrooper Andrew McKenzie, who told the court his passport proved he could not have committed the murders he was accused of since he was in England at the time.

DETROIT (AP) - "It doesn't make sense. They've got too much to lose," said a fellow nurse of Filipina Narciso and Lenora Perez, who face charges of murdering five patients and poisoning 10 others at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor, Mich. The indictment returned Wednesday by a federal grand jury in Detroit also charged them with conspiracy to commit first-degree murder. The FBI said Miss Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, Mich., would be arraigned today in Detroit and Mrs. Perez, 31, of Evanston, Ill., in Chicago.

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter, who apparently has an insurmountable lead in delegates for the Democratic presidential nomination, also leads all presidential candidates on campaign indebtedness - about $1.75 million. Many of the former Georgia governor's top aides met near this coastal resort island, where Carter is vacationing, to prepare for a major strategy session with Carter today. During meetings on Wednesday, his top staff members decided on a series of fundraising activities to collect about $1 million which campaign treasurer Robert Lipshutz said would put the Carter campaign in the black through the Democratic National Convention next month.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) - With many of the trappings of a major-party conclave but considerably less public interest, the American party opens its third national nominating convention today. "This is the first time in modern history there has been a viable third party," said Tom Anderson, national chairman, temporary convention chairman and favorite for the party's presidential nomination. The American party was founded in 1968 by Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, who bolted the Democratic party to run under its banner as an independent candidate for president.

Most Of Hale Irwin's Wins Have Been On Tough Courses

AP Sports Writer

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - Hale Irwin has a history of playing well on tough golf courses, although he's not sure why.

"I don't know if I play harder because the course is tougher or if the field just doesn't play as well as it normally does," Irwin said Wednesday on the eve of the 76th U.S. Open Golf Championship.

"But I like to respond to that challenge on a tough course. I think it's a day-to-day thing, though. The trick is to eliminate the bad errors."

The former University of Colorado football star has recorded most of his seven tour victories on courses considered difficult.

Twice he has captured the Heritage at Hilton Head. He won the 1974 U.S. Open at Winged Foot. He won twice last year on tough layouts the Western Open at Butler National and the Atlanta Classic on the rolling hills of Atlanta Country Club. The Impact Of The Car On Athletics

Most sports fans have seen Dave Kindred's book: "Basketball, the Dream Game in Kentucky."

There was one chapter which wasn't included. The simple fact is basketball, like most of the other sports today, could well be a long-forgotten dream by the next decade.

High school sports are falling by the wayside. High school sports are losing the battle with the automobile. The Carr Creeks and Cubas are gone now. With the exception of Edmonson County this past year, the inner-city schools from Lexington and Louisville have dominated the State Tournament for 15 years. Even with inflation and the high cost of living, American people have never had it so good. Actual income is higher now than ever. And a simple fact is, the more money, the more things there are to do in one's spare time.

Ten years ago, it was sports. It was a status symbol to be a starting member of the basketball team or to be captain of the football team.

Now, the car is the status symbol. For those who do not have an abundance of money in the family, the youngster must work to afford the car, which is now the number one priority with high school boys.

The peer group pressure is unbearable. Forget sports, got to have the car. Sports has always been healthy, mentally and physically. Take away sports and you have more spare time, more time for youngsters to learn about such things as drugs and alcohol.

And slowly but surely, sports is slipping.

Most of the kids in the inner-city schools do not have cars. They can't afford them. They ride school buses and talk about basketball and other sports.

The Black athlete in the city isn't physically different than the White athlete. The simple fact is the Black athlete doesn't have anything else to do with his time, therefore he plays sports.

That can be justified in Bob Gibson's book: "From Ghetto to Glory.

In the future, as the personal income of the Blacks in the cities increase, the Blacks will face the same problems the Whites do now: peer pressure for the car.

As of the present, there is no bond in the road, it's a straight show down the track and it leads to a slow death for high school sports.

But maybe it isn't that bad. Then years ago, I was 14 years old. I never thought of a car or an education. I though only of basketball and track.

I never drove a car to school, I ran two miles to stay in shape. Sports was the only way to go. That attitude is probably why I am a sportswriter today.

The simple fact is most sportswriters are athletes who just couldn't make it on the athletic scene in college. The youth of today have more areas now. They are more broadened and if they give sports a chance and fail, fine. They can succeed in some other area.

Boys today live their lives in more dimensions. And who is to say it's bad?

Marvin Miller once asked of the baseball owners' individual and sometimes conflicting ways: "Who's going to protect the owners from themselves?"

It may be Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Kuhn, wondering if there might be something rotten in his kingdom, called for a hearing in New York today to sale of three of his top players from the Oakland A's, a sale that brought shrill cries of agony from fans and other club owners alike.

But Kuhn did more than just call together the principles involved. He halted the sale of pitcher Vida Blue to the New York Yankees for a reported nesday debating issues with $1.5 million and the sale of John Gaherin, bargaining pitcher Rollie Fingers and agent for the owners. "The Blue-Fingers-Rudi assignments by the Oakland club raises questions that I feel require a hearing," Kuhn said, in a teletyped notice to all major league clubs. "Accordingly, I will hold a hearing...at 2:30 p.m. in this office. The Oakland, New York and Boston clubs and Marvin Miller have been outfielder Joe Rudi to the topic of discussion was The owners and Gaherin have taken the position voiced by Minnesota Twins boss

Calvin Griffith, who said: "I think it's a terrible thing when two clubs go out and start bidding to see who can buy a championship team. I think this shows that what the owners have been saying about the wealthy clubs getting the top players is true.

"It just shows how necessary a reserve system is if we are going to have fair competition."

"I'm puzzled. What's so bad for baseball?" Miller asked. "I don't know what it means that they're concerned about balanced competition.

"The Yankees haven't won a pennant in 12 years and the Red Sox have never won the World Series."

Miller pointed out that the A's have won the American League West the past five years, Baltimore has won the AL East five of the past seven years, Cincinnati has won the National League West four of the past six years, and Pittsburgh has taken the NL East five of the last six years.

"So that's the great balance they're worried about disturbing," Miller said. "Look what's happening to the competitive balance. Apparently, Oakland will not repeat. But the A's chose to sell their players for cash."

New Private Schools Must Apply To State Department Of Education

The Kentucky Board of public schools. Education has ruled that new private schools must apply to the state Department of Education for permission to hold classes before a department investigation to determine their accreditation. The plan adopted by the board Wednesday requires new private schools to apply for approval to hold classes 30 days before their planned

The school would then be reviewed for accreditation during the spring of the first

The board rejected a motion to require newly formed private schools to inform parents that accreditation had not been gained and of the possibility that the school might not be accredited.

Instead, it adopted a revised motion stating that the department's authorization of a school opening did not in itself constitute accreditation or approval.

The accreditation issue has arisen particularly in the Louisville area following U.S. District Court Judge James F. Gordon's order last fall to desegregate Louisville and Jefferson County schools by massive busing. Several new private schools were then formed

However, the issue is also a matter of concern in other areas, according to the Rev. Bob Brown of Lexington, the board chairman.

Barbara Mandrell To Appear At Kaintuck

She's pint-size and pert, yet she can belt an up-tempo number or croon a soft country ballad like no other. In between, she can hold her own on the 5-string guitar, steel guitar, bass and saxaphone.

Barbara Mandrell is a country stylist who gives a song, and an audience, just the right mixture of zest and warmth. She will be appearing in western Kentucky at Kaintuck Territory, near Benton, in their new 5,000 seat amphitheatre, Sunday, June 20, at 1:00 p.m. and 5:00 p.m.

As the youngest member of Nashville's Grand Ole Opry, Barbara is unique among country greats. And it's ironic that she should now join the prestigious Opry that is home of the performers Barbara grew up admiring.

Now a successful Columbia Records artist, Barbara's releases include "Midnight Oil." "Treat Him Right," "Holdin' On to The Love I've Got," "Show Me," "Tonight My Baby's Coming Home," "Do Right Woman, Do Right Man," "Playing Around With Love," "I've Been Loving You Too Long To Stop Now," and "This Time I Almost Made

Her latest single, "Standing Room Only," is following the pattern is a top vote-getter on music charts around the country

Born in Texas, raised in California and now residing outside Nashville with husband Ken Dudney, Barbara Mandrell is enjoying great rapport on cross country tours. She appeared as special guest star with the Merle Haggard Show on several top dates this year.

Barbara includes a gospel number in every show, whether in the U.S. or on tour in Europe. 'I ask people to pay close attention to the words because I'm hoping to inspire them in some small way," she Jefferson County school of busing in the merged citysystem.

The information collected by the commission will become part of a national report, scheduled for release in August, which is designed to help other cities facing school desegregation in the future.

On the final day of hearings, the commission heard from Jefferson County School Superintendent Ernest C. Grayson, who said that he is "optimistic about the future"

Answer to Wednesday's county system. That optimistic note was sounded after the commission had heard testimony dealing with first-year problems of busing. Grayson, who testified for nearly two hours, said that the desegregation program had permitted youngsters to make new friends. He admitted, however, that some students did not understand why the program was initiated.

Grayson was questioned extensively about comments made earlier by Joel Henning, assistant superintendent for instructional organization, who had testified that suspensions were running much higher among black pupils than among whites.

Henning said that this information was turned over to the board in December and that, consciously or unconsciously, the matter was left to rest.

Grayson said, however, that he had asked his staff to check out the problem with the high school principals. He also said other staff members visited other cities to see how they handled suspensions.

Grayson said that some schools here developed alternative methods to suspensions and that "I usually like to leave this to the principal because he is the man on the firing line."

Members of the Jefferson County Board of Education told the commission that they worked strenuously to implement the 'desegregation order issued by U.S. District Judge James F. Gordon. Several members said they did so despite their personal opposition to the busing of youngsters from one school to another.

Board members were also asked if they had seen an alternative plan prepared by Jefferson County Judge Todd Hollenbach.

Board Chairman Orville Miller Jr. said the plan was on his desk but he hadn't had time to read it.

Story Hour To Be Held Friday At Ellis Center

A new story hour has been added to the list of programs offered by the Calloway County Public Library. It will be held every Friday morning from 10:00-11:00 beginning June 18 at Ellis Community Center located on Ellis Drive. The directors of the Story Hour will be Gerry Reed and Janet Mattingly, both library staff members.

All children from age 4 through 8 years are invited. Stories, movies, music and games will be especially selected to interest this age group. Puppet shows featuring some of the library's character puppets will be special attractions at some of the story hours. Refreshments will be served at the end of the

There will be a drawing for a free children's book every Friday morning. Every child will register at each story hour so that all children will have a chance to win a book.

"We are looking forward to these children's hours and personally invite every one in this age bracket," said Mrs.
