Tornado Trims Bulldogs 12-6 At Union City

Touchdown Pass, Forrest To Bone, Stopped Shutout

PLAY MARTIN NEXT

A 24-yard touchdown pass from Forrest to Bone thrown with about two minutes left in the last quarter prevented the Union City Golden Tornado from blanking the Fulton Bulldogs at Union City last night. The Tornado previously had scored in the second and third quarters to take the game 12-0.

It was the third loss in five games for Fulton, and their first defeat of the year by a Tennessee team. Their next opponent is Martin there October 25.

The first Union City touchdown came in the second quarter on the third play after Meacham's punt was blocked and the Tornado took over on the ball on the Fulton 22. Pete Daniels passed to Cas Jefferson for a six-yard gain, failed to find a receiver for a second, then tossed the touchdown flier to Jefferson. Daniels' kick was wide. Fulton had time enough for a kickoff return and an incomplete pass before the half ended.

The Tornado took charge of the game again in the third quarter as Daniels, Shewey Tisher, and Arch Dickerson moved the ball down to the Fulton 30 from the 41. Dickerson then took a sweep around right end that netted him 30 yards and the last score of the evening for the home team. Daniels again failed to make the placement.

Fulton Scores

With minutes to go in the last period, Daniels punted out on the Fulton 40 yard-line and Fulton took over for their last sustained drive. Billy Joe Forrest picked up 15 yards around right end before being stopped on the Union City 45. The Bulldogs were penalized back to their own 40, and Forrest passed to Billy Mac Bone on the Union City 43 for a net gain of two yards. After Meacham drove down to the 37, Forrest slipped another one to Bone, who was downed on the Tornado 24. After two attempted passes had been batted down by Union City, Bone took Forrest's forward on the 5-yard line and carried the ball and three or four Union City lads across the goal. Bone's try for the extra was blocked.

Started Strong

The Tornado started the game like a house afire, throwing the Bulldogs for two successive losses and stopping the next two plays at the line of scrimmage. Meacham punted to the Union City 48 and the Bulldogs showed that they could hold the line, too, forcing the Tornado to punt back to the Fulton 20 after failing to gain on two smashes at the center of the line.

Fulton's first first down resulted from Forrest's 20-yard pass to Meacham on the Union City 45, and after Danny Baird had gained three yards Forrest picked up nice interference and moved down to the 22. The Bulldog offense bogged down on the Tornado 20, however, and they lost the ball on downs to end their scoring threat.

The fumble-filled second quarter found Fulton picking up three first downs to none for

Buy's Jeep Body With Cigarettes

Nuernberg—(AP)—One American civilian here found the solution to the local wood shortage when he wanted a local body maker to construct a station wagon body for his newly-acquired jeep.

He went out and bought a tree.

The body maker was willing to make the body and install comfortable leather seats—with payment to be made in cigarettes, candy, chocolate, coffee and fruit juice but he had no number.

The American found the tree he wanted and bought it with ten packs of cigarettes. Then he had it carted to the mill for another package of cigarettes and his jeep is now being wintered.

Cooper Makes Strong Plea For Defeat Of Rep. Andrew J. May

By The Associated Press
Kentucky's senatorial race warmed up a bit last night as Republican John Sherman Cooper told a Seventh District political rally at Salsersville he had "too much respect for you" to suggest returning Rep. A. J. May to congress.

"I have too much confidence in you, too much respect for you, to give you the advice recently offered you. Because of my respect and confidence for you, I say instead, send Howes Meade to congress," Cooper said.

Meade, whose home is in Paintsville, is seeking to unseat May in the Nov. 5 election. (Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.) in a recent address at Salsersville urged the re-election of May, whose name has been connected with a congressional investigation of a midwest munitions combine.)

At Bardonia, John Young Brown, the Democratic senatorial nominee, told an audience the fundamental question facing veterans is to make sure their sons will not have to fight a war 20 years hence.

This issue, Brown continued, overshadows the question of benefits provided for veterans. In deciding how they will vote, he said, veterans must make up their minds which party is most likely to follow a foreign policy calculated to keep the peace.

Another interesting injection into the political picture was a statement by Sam Caddy, president of United Mine Workers District 30, at Lexington that UMW workers in "large numbers" are signing pledge cards not to support May in the November election.

May has overcome UMW opposition to win his last two elections.

Caddy said 10,000 to 20,000 cards had been distributed by UMW locals in May's district and that they were being signed "by the hundreds."

He said the movement did not mean necessarily that the UMW was supporting May's Republican opponent, Meade.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for May's family said he would act on the advice of his physician and not attend a fish fry at Fish Trap, Ky., tomorrow.

Sponsors of the event had invited May and Brown.

Dr. John Archer, the physician, told the senate war investigating committee last month the representative had sufficient recovered to make a long delayed appearance to answer questions about a midwest munitions combine, but warned that the questions must be limited to brief periods due to May's health.

May has not made a public appearance since he was stricken with a heart ailment last July.

Won't Sell His Lock-Picker

Says Device Would Be Threat To All Of Civilization If Abused

Chattanooga, Tenn.—(AP)—A Chattanooga locksmith says he has perfected a portable electric lock-picker that could be a menace to civilization.

William McKill says his device will open the average door lock in a matter of seconds and would be a potential bonanza for house-breakers and car thieves.

But, he added, it will never be put on sale—he's a locksmith and it's to his interest to preserve locks rather than undermine them.

The device, the result of 18 years experimentation, consists of a long steel needle connected to some coils which cause the needle to vibrate when electric current is applied.

All McKill has to do is insert the needle and a tension tool into the lock and press the trigger. The needle vibrates and, aided by the tension tool, forces the lock tumbler up and the door opens.

The only noise connected with the operation is a gentle humming audible only within 10 feet.

The machine is easily portable. A dry cell fits in one back pocket and the coils and needle in another.

Caldwell county Utopia club members will send three carloads of calves to the Louisville fat cattle show and sale, and the 4-H clubs, one carload.

Ga. Candidate Said Demented

Atlanta Officials Take Aurelius Scott To Mental Institution

Atlanta, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Aurelius S. Scott, Negro candidate for coroner, was taken to a mental institution today for transfer to a Nashville, Tenn., "mental institution," Police Chief M. A. Hornsby reported.

The chief quoted a report of Capt. E. T. Jenkins that Scott "was still very violent" when a brother and two other Negroes came for him at 12:45 A. M. after he had been held several hours at the request of members of his family.

The 45-year-old Scott last night was "booked to hold on charges" of disorderly conduct and demented," Hornsby said.

These developments indicated that the former Negro educator would not appear Monday to answer disqualification charges brought against him by George M. Kirkland, one of 23 white candidates for the Fulton county (Atlanta) coroner's job.

County ordinary (clerk) Eugene Gunby had not met required requirements of two years residence in Georgia.

Scott's entry into the race created a stir in local political circles. The county democratic committee had asked him to withdraw, then expunged its action in fear of possible federal prosecution on a civil liberties count.

Chief Hornsby said the police had been "in contact" with Scott for two or three days, "cooperating with members of his family in an effort to keep him quiet." Answering a call last night, he reported, radio patrolmen went to Scott's home and found that he had "smashed door and window glass with his wrist."

Force was required, Hornsby said, to take Scott to the city jail.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Newspapers are not required to publish names of those responsible for political advertising, the attorney general's office said today. A paper's private records would show who had the advertising done but the publication need not reveal the names, the opinion said.

Russell Scofield, advertising manager of the Lexington Herald-Leader, made the inquiry.

New Hopes For End Of Strikes Found Today

Shipping Tieup, Pittsburgh Row Talks Resumed

TRUCK STRIKE EASES

(By The Associated Press)
The labor picture turned brighter today when new efforts were started to settle the nationwide shipping tieup and Pittsburgh power strike and New York was promised some relief from a strangling trucking strike.

In the first effort to settle their dispute in more than a week, the CIO Marine engineers and Atlantic and Gulf Ship operators resumed negotiations in New York. Government sponsored talks aimed at breaking the 19 day old shipping tieup on all coasts bogged down in Washington Thursday.

George L. Mueller, president of the Independent union on strike for 26 days against the Duquesne Light Co. in Pittsburgh, placed the union's case before Secretary of Labor Schweikert. A general membership strike was set for tomorrow in Pittsburgh at which time it was expected Mueller would report on his Washington conference. Mueller said the union could decide on the question of arbitration if the membership wished to make a decision on this issue.

Restocking of some empty retail food store shelves in New York was under way after contract haulers for 625 food chain stores reached settlements with AFL teamsters who had been on strike for 49 days. Still unsettled, however, were trucking strikes affecting 282 stores in New York and New Jersey. The settlement terms granted drivers a 31 cents an hour wage increase and shorter work week. They had been getting $64 for a 44 hour week.

Tire making was halted at the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company Plants in Akron, O., and Topeka, Kas. Some 2,000 employees quit work in Akron in protest against cutting time allowed for one job. The Topeka workers quit in protest against reduction of the work week.

Negotiations stalled in Washington as the strike of 5,000 AFL service employees in 18 of the city's leading hotels entered its second week. The disputants could not agree on issues to submit to arbitration.

In Pittsburgh, the AFL teamsters union threatened a food embargo on restaurants, hotels and cafes if they continued to sell beer delivered by CIO brewerymen.

Methodists Will 'Go To Church'

Annual Occasion Set For Observance Sunday; Invitation Is Extended

"Go To Church Day" will be observed at the First Methodist Church Sunday, October 20. This is an annual occasion at the Methodist church, and the entire membership will take part in the services of the day, which include Sunday School at 9:45 a. m. and preaching services at 10:55 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. On this day the Methodists invite all their friends in Fulton and the community to worship with them.

This is the third Sunday of the Fall Loyalty Revival, which is observed in October of each year. The first two weeks of the revival have seen records made in attendance at all services. Attendance at Sunday School has averaged 448 for the first and second Sundays as compared to an average of 324 for the same Sunday last year. Attendance at morning services has averaged 480, an increase of 30 over last year's average. Attendance at prayer meeting has averaged 125, an increase over last year. The Woman's Society had the largest attendance for the Week of Prayer Service in many years.

It is hoped that Sunday's congregation for the morning service will exceed 500. Last year, due to rainy weather, the attendance was only 315. This week the entire membership has been contacted and every member urged to be present at services. From the very beginning, this year's Loyalty Revival has been gaining in interest and momentum. The church is having its greatest loyalty program. New members have been added to the church each Sunday.

Sunday, October 27, will be the concluding Sunday of the revival. On this day the membership will make pledges to the church budget for the coming year. The day is designated "Covenant Sunday." On this day the entire membership renews its vows to Christ and the church. This is a fitting close to a month dedicated to renewal of loyalty on the part of the entire congregation.

Following the morning services, there will be an old fashioned dinner on the ground, and every member of the church is invited to take part. The church will provide the barbecue, slaw, bread and drinks. Each member will bring individual potato salad and pie. The morning service will be the only church service on the fourth Sunday.

Williamson Can't Attack Chambers

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 19.—(AP)—Circuit Judge W. B. Ardrey ruled today that Gaines Williamson is ineligible to attack the appointment of J. C. Chambers, Middleboro, as Bell County's democratic election commissioner.

The judge also said arguments on Alec Patterson's intervening petition against Chambers' appointment would be heard at Versailles October 28.

Chambers was named Bell county democratic election commissioner by the state board and a squabble occurred in the county's executive committee over the appointment.

Arrest Head Of Nazi Spy Ring

Argentine Citizen Born In Germany Sought Five Years

New York, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Federal Bureau of Investigation today announced the arrest of a 44-year-old German-born Argentine citizen described by the FBI as the key figure in a notorious German spy ring, was held by federal authorities today on espionage charges, claiming a five year hunt on three continents.

The FBI said last night, in announcing his arrest, that Lau was the paymaster of the Kurt Frederick Ludwig spy ring which the government said repayer sufficient information to Germany before it was uncovered in 1941 to account for the sinking of at least 12 Allied vessels.

Lau was arrested by federal agents Wednesday upon his arrival from Canada—his first visit to the United States since he fled in 1941, at which time he was known to government investigators only as the mysterious "Bill," whose name appeared on captured spy documents written in invisible ink.

Lau was arraigned yesterday before Federal Judge Simon Rifkind on the espionage charges and bond was set at $50,000.

Nine members of the Ludwig spy ring, which planned to send to Germany information on convoy movements, location of armaments and military information, were sentenced in March, 1942 to a total of 132 years in prison. Ludwig himself received 20 years, the maximum allowed by law.

Frankfort—A total of $1,570.26 in back wages was collected for 221 persons during September, L. C. Willis, State Commissioner of Industrial Relations reported. He added that the department's staff made 408 child labor and wage-hour inspections and 604 safety inspections during the month.

Paducah—Circuit Judge Joe I. Price yesterday recommended that commissioners of county and city governments "meet in joint session and agree what each will pay" for charity and hospitalization within the city. He added that "if the joint meeting does not attain the desired end, then the legislature should be called upon to enact a law that will fix clearly the proportionate responsibility of the city and county. The city had asked the court to fix the responsibility."

Australian Wilds Cat-Beast Sought

Sydney.—(AP)—A recent report that a man had shot "two unknown puma-like animals" at Tugun, near Maryborough, Queensland, has set Australian zoologists speculating again about the possibility of the existence of a giant Australian cat.

If one were proved to exist it would be a discovery of first-class scientific importance. Reports persist about "large beasts of the cat-like tribe... the size of a mastiff, with tiger stripes."

Australian zoologists don't write off the possibility of a large Australian marsupial (pouched) cat existing in some of the wilder and little-touched corners of Australia. There's little doubt, for example, that marsupial wolves exist in the wilder and more remote areas of north-western Tasmania. The marsupial wolf once was all over the mainland but has now become extinct there; a few specimens have been preserved. Its last stronghold was Tasmania where it was fairly frequent when the first white settlers came.

Cooperation Will Be Theme Of Our Future Relations

EXPECTS RECIPROCITY

By Alex Singleton
Washington, Oct. 19.—(AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes pointed out the United States along a "patient but firm" foreign policy course with Russia today, declaring that this country will neither yield to all demands of other nations nor expect them to yield to all of ours.

Voicing concern over "the continued if not increasing tension between us and the Soviet Union," Byrnes urged rejection of the thought that "delays in achieving peace 'make armed conflict inevitable.'"

"It is entirely possible," he said in a radio report last night on the Paris conference, "that the failure or inability of the Soviet leaders to rid themselves of that belief lies at the very root of our difficulties."

His address, obviously aimed at Moscow as well as his home audience, acknowledged Byrnes' distress over war talk which is "throttling the economic recovery of Europe," but affirmed his hope that a just peace can be attained without one-sided concessions.

Byrnes said this nation will stand "irrevocably" behind the "right of every people to organize their economic and political destiny through the freest possible expression of their collective will."

"We oppose privilege at home and abroad," he asserted. "We defend freedom everywhere. And in our view human freedom and human progress are inseparable."

He made it plain that his goal is cooperation with the U. S. S. R., but not continued concessions.

"We must be willing to cooperate with one another—veto or no veto—to defend, with force if necessary, the principles and purposes of the charter of the United Nations," he said.

An apparent reference to the debate which stormed up over Henry A. Wallace's criticism was apparent in Byrnes' declaration:

"In following those policies we have been criticized at times for being too 'soft' and at times for being too 'tough.' I dislike both terms. Neither describes our earnest efforts to be patient but firm."

Wallace commented later: "After listening to the speech of the secretary of state I am more certain than ever that we must adopt a real American foreign policy. I am glad that he has progressed since his Stuttgart speech (warning that Germany must be neither 'pawn or partner' in any power struggle between east and west)."

"I sincerely hope that further progress will be made and that the secretary of state will eventually realize that the American people demand just good neighborliness and peace in the world."

Byrnes expressed "bewilderment" at Russian accusations that the United States "enriched itself during the war" and "now seeks 'to enslave Europe economically.'"

"Coming from any state these charges would be regrettable to us," he said.

"They are particularly regrettable when they are made by the Soviet government to whom we advanced more than ten billion dollars of lend lease during the war and with whom we want to be friendly in time of peace."

Byrnes added the United States wants to assist in European reconstruction "because we believe that European prosperity will contribute to world prosperity and world peace."

He concluded that the peace treaties born of the Paris conference were "not written as we would write them if we had a free hand," but said "they are as good as we can hope to get by general agreement how or within any reasonable length of time."

May They Serve Well

Our best wishes go to Richard Maxon Price of Barlow and former Attorney General Hubert Meredith of Greenville, who have been appointed the Democratic members of the Murray State College board of regents. They will hold office with Republican members Charles Ferguson of Smithland and Claude Winslow of Mayfield.

The retiring regents, George Hart of Murray and C. E. Crume of Clinton have served the institution well during the troubled days of war and the drastic changes it has wrought on the campus of Murray and all other institutions of higher learning.

The new regents, we believe, will be at the head of the college at a time when it will make the greatest progress in its history.

Enrollment has set a new record at Murray this semester, and all indications are that the number of students will continue to increase. With this growth in student body have come a number of additions to the faculty, new courses in the curriculum, and plans for overall expansion of the school.

This week the Leader printed a picture of the proposed new science building, which will be constructed as soon as possible. This new facility will greatly increase the service of Murray State to its students and to West Kentucky.

Dr. Ralph Woods, president and outstanding educator and public servant, can be counted on to spare no effort to lead the college onward to new heights. We will be watching the continued progress of the Purchase college with interest and enthusiasm.

A Logical Step

Some concern has been expressed about the view the Vatican will take concerning the cremation of the 11 Nazi war conspirators. The Roman Catholic Church officially is opposed to cremation except in "extraordinary circumstances," and an informed source said yesterday that if the officials who ordered the cremations were Catholics they might be guilty of "a sin of certain gravity."

We confess our ignorance of the official position of the Catholic Church in this matter, but it appears that when all other factors are taken into consideration cremation of the bodies was the logical thing to do.

The Western Allies have been caused enough embarrassment, and the Russians given enough reason to criticize the "decadent degenerates," by Goering's taking his own life in his closely-guarded prison cell just before the noose was to settle around his neck.

If his body were exhumed, as was Mussolini's, by Nazi sympathizers, the ghastly resurrection might prove a stimulus to the myth of Goering's invincibility even in defeat.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Charles L. Houser, Minister
Church of Christ, Fulton.
For October 20, 1946
Fulton, Ky.

Lesson text—Acts 9:10-22;
Gal. 1:17-24; Acts 11:22-26.

It was while he journeyed on the Damascus road, toward that historic city, that Saul was convinced of his own mistakes and of the genuineness of the claims of Christ and the apostles. There he was convicted. There his conversion began, but it was not until three days later to the city (See Acts 9:3; Acts 9:12-16; Acts 9:18). After his conversion, Paul aligned himself with the very ones he had previously sought to persecute. "Then was Saul certain days with the disciples which were at Damascus, and straightway he preached Christ . . . that he is the Son of God."

It is worthy of notice that Paul did not preach Jesus merely as "The Galilean Carpenter," "The Great Teacher," or "The Great Miraculous One," but as "Christ, the Messiah, the Anointed One, the Son of God." The unbelieving Jews would neither have recognized his preaching, nor sought to kill him. That Christ is the Son of God, is the message that Paul preached to the Jews. Paul declared, "Then Philip went down to the city of Samaria, and preached Christ unto them" (Acts 8:5). . . . Paul was present in the spirit, and testified to the Jews that Jesus was the Christ" (Acts 18:5). The results of their preaching were according to the divine pattern, "But when they believed Philip . . .

Reds Cut Military Funds

By J. M. Roberts, Jr., (Subbing for MacKenzie)
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The relationship of the new Russian budget to the international search for peace is more important than all of the official Soviet statements since V-E Day.

It means a reduction of more than 40 per cent in her military establishment, continued maintenance of which has been an ever-present factor in the policies of other powers. It serves to verify the belief of those who have insisted that, regardless of what her efforts to spread communism may lead to in the future, Russia has no intention of taking chances with war now.

It may mean a reduction of the Red Army forces which are living off occupied countries in Europe and the easing by that much of their struggle for economic rehabilitation.

It may be a verification of the widely-held opinion that Stalin puts the up-building of the Soviet Union at home ahead of ideological warfare, and that the Russians, in their postwar expansion abroad, have merely been making immediate hay out of world unquietness.

The size of standing armies, of course, is not everything. The United States war effort, developed on a base of a tiny military establishment and a tremendous industrial establishment, is a constant reminder of that. Diversion of Russia's money and manpower from the military to the industrial field will not weaken, but rather increase, her ultimate military strength. But in Europe the size of standing armies, and whether they are capable or incapable of quick blows in support of diplomatic policy, always has meant a great deal in the matter of attitude.

If, as the tremendously increased budget for scientific development indicates, Russia is pulling whole hog into the race for atomic power, she is doing no more than others. If atomic fuels for peaceful purposes cannot be produced without at the same time producing materials which can be made into atomic bombs, neither can great industrial establishments be built which cannot be channeled into war production.

The Russians say frankly that the five-year plan is for the purpose of making the Soviet strong economically and militarily.

The result is all a matter of intent. The more Russia reduces her actual military establishment, the less the world will question either her immediate or ultimate motives.

Feather Merchants Note

Sidney, Mont., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The fashion in Indian war bonnets isn't running to the traditional eagle feathers this season, at least not here.

Eugene Little Coyote of Lane Deer, Mont., sounded the fashion whoop for maple feathers. He wrote officials here that he would like to buy 100 of them at "whatever price you ask."

they were baptized, both men and women" (Acts 8:12). . . . and many of the Corinthians hearing believed, and were baptized" (Acts 18:8).

So great was the change wrought in Saul by his conversion, that all who heard him were amazed. If one's conversion to day is genuine and complete, it will also be true of him, that his manner of life has undergone a noticeable change.

In describing his own experiences and activities which we are now studying, Paul wrote . . . "immediately I conferred not with flesh and blood" (Gal. 1:16). Hence, "He did not go to men to learn more, or for counsel" (B. W. Johnson). But the gospel he preached he received . . . by the revelation of Jesus Christ" (Gal. 1:12). After three years he returned to Jerusalem, where he met Peter and James, the Lord's brother (Jesus had other half brothers and sisters. See Mark 6:3), who had become an influential figure in the Jerusalem church.

Paul had been driven from Damascus by his scheming former associates who sought to kill him there. A "military plot" cut his stay in Jerusalem to fifteen days. He then returned to Tarsus, his home town, where he remained until Barnabas, that prince of exhorters, sent for him, that he might assist in the Lord's work that was being done in Antioch of Syria. It was in that place, where Gentiles, as well as Jews, were members of the church, that the followers of Christ were first called Christians (Acts 11:26). In all probability, this was in fulfillment of Isa. 62:2. "And the Gentiles shall see thy righteousness, and all kings thy glory; and thou shalt be called by a new name, which the mouth of the Lord shall name." The supposition adopted by many, that this name was given by the enemies of the faith in derision, is groundless, as is very clear from the consideration that there is nothing in it belittling or contemptuous. It is just such a name as a number of grave and dignified friends of the cause, had they been sitting in council on the subject, may have adopted. For its divine assurance, we need no other assurance than that found in its acceptance by the apostles" (J. W. McGarvey).

"Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed, but let him glorify God in this name" (1 Peter 4:16 R. V.).

Italians Drink Peroxide Milk

New York.—(AP)—A simple method of sterilizing milk by stirring in a small amount of hydrogen peroxide, which is highly antiseptic, is being used in Italy.

The milk is said to taste better than pasteurized milk, an American Chemical Society magazine reports, and sterilization is complete for three days. The idea has been studied before, but an Italian chemical company in Milan, Italy, apparently solved the problems of producing hydrogen peroxide that is high enough in purity, stability and concentration to be used in milk.

Sons Give Father Some New Ideas

Jeffersonville, Ind.—(AP)—Walter E. Prentice, 59-year-old Jeffersonville attorney, believes in keeping up with his sons. Two of them, Robert J. Prentice, 23, and Dixon W. Prentice, 27, decided to take flying lessons. The father followed suit. "They tried to tell me I was too old, but I think I've convinced them you're never too old to learn," said Prentice senior. All three have soloed, preparatory to receiving private pilot licenses. A third son, Dr. Wilson E. Prentice, a Jeffersonville dentist, has been flying for years.

Following The Leader

It seems that almost everybody (except us, that is) can cash in on a get-rich-quick scheme nowadays, and most of the ones who haven't found the business that will retire them to the rocking chair are still looking.

So the parody on the innumerable wildcat enterprises which appeared recently in the Corbin Tribune caught our fancy, and we are passing it along to our readers in the same spirit in which the Tribune published it. Here it is.

We received a communication a few days ago concerning a proposed new "industry." The communication was headed, "Ratscats Corporation, Dealers and Disorganizers." Further identification was made by stating that the "capital stock" of the organization was composed of "1,000,000 rats, surplus 2,000,000 rats and undivided profits $0.000 skins."

Here's the message:

"Hearing that you are always open for an investment in a good live business proposition, we take the liberty of presenting to you what seems to us to be a most excellent offering, in which it is hoped you will take a lively interest. We propose to organize a corporation to operate a large Cat Ranch near Corbin, Ky., where land can be purchased cheap for the purpose.

"To start with we will collect one thousand cats. Each cat will average twelve kittens a year. The skins will sell for ten cents for the white ones to seventy-five cents for the pure black. We will have about twelve million skins to sell each year at an average of about thirty cents apiece, making out revenue about $10,000.00 per day gross.

"A man can skin fifty cats a day; he will charge $2.00 per day for his labor; he will take about one hundred men to operate the ranch, therefore the profit will be about $9,000.00 per day.

"We will need the cats on the rats, and will start a Rat Ranch adjoining the Cat Ranch. The rats will multiply four times as fast as the cats, and if we start with one hundred thousand rats we will have four rats a day for each cat, which is plenty.

"We will feed the cats on rats and in turn feed the rats on the skins of the cats. One fourth of a cat will be seen by those figures that the business will be automatic and self-sustaining. The cats will eat the rats and the rats will eat the cats and we will get the skins.

"We propose to capitalize at one hundred thousand dollars common and one million dollars preferred stock, giving ten shares of preferred stock gratis with each share of common stock bought at par. We can sell all the stock and more right here in Corbin, Ky., to a select few but we offer to let you in only because we think it would be selfish to keep all of such a good thing in a couple of families. Let us know immediately what you want to do about it, for some others are pressing us for all the stock.

"Yours very truly,

"RATSCATS CORPORATION

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Oct. 19—(AP)—College football probably is having its biggest season on record, but there still are some coaches who aren't satisfied with the game that brings in all the dough. . . . The other day Marquette's Frank Murray suggested a requirement of six defensive players on the line to match the seven-man line required for the offense. . . . To this Columbia's Lou Little replies that there's no sense in demanding that a team whose personnel is more suited to the five or seven-man defensive line should use a six. The whole thing was thrashed out in a coaches' rules committee meeting some years ago, he adds. . . . Another suggestion comes from W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech's venerable athletic director. He figures the whole rule book should be rewritten to straighten out all the amendments and exceptions and also figures the free substitution rule will be altered because "some coaches seem to be trying to mastermind the game out of existence."

Sports Before Your Eyes
Word from Texas, possibly inspired by pessimistic coaches, is that "Texas doesn't have a great team." The same source, however, gives rave notices to Bobby Layne and Spot Collins and adds that the Longhorns' clash with Rice, "probably the best-managed team in the entire south" will settle the conference title. We'd still like to see an Army-Texas bowl game and between halves a crying contest could be made an added attraction. . . . Tommy Richardson, Eastern Baseball League president, travels in his own airplane—which explains how Tommy gets around but not how he got round.
Cleaning The Cuff
C. F. (Jack) Baldwin, a member of the Orange Bowl Schedule Committee, has traveled more than 30,000 miles in the past six seasons to look at football games. . . . At Michigan State, Robin Roberts was the most valuable basketball player last season and Robert Robbins is a promising recruit. Both are forwards. . . . Joe Andrejco had a $4,500 pro football offer but preferred to return to Fordham as co-captain. Wonder if St. Mary's will make him w.h. he hadn't?

TORNADO TRIMS BULLDOGS 12-6

Union City, but the visitors couldn't get their ground-gaining trips close together enough to capitalize on them.
The Tornado came out fighting again after the half, moving the ball from their own 38 down to the Fulton 12 with four successive first downs by rushing. Forrest intercepted a pass intended for Jefferson on his own 8 to stop the drive.
The Bulldogs almost got rolling again early in the fourth frame when Forrest and Meacham alternated as ball-carrier to travel from their own 44 to the Union City 19. Meacham's fumble on the next play was recovered by Duncan, Tornado guard, and the ball began moving in the other direction.
The game ended with the Union City boys in possession of the ball on the Fulton 40.
The game was played before an estimated 1800 spectators, one of the largest crowds ever to attend a Union City contest.
On paper, the Bulldogs looked quite a bit better than their opponents, gaining 154 yards rushing to 139; 109 yards passing to 16 and garnering 11 first downs to 6. However, the Tornado charged harder and blocked better, and this paid dividends in the form of two touchdowns.

Unbeaten U-T, 'Bama To Clash

Winner Will Have Small Trouble Taking S. E. C., According To Dopesters

New York, Oct. 19—(AP)—With the baseball season finally completed, football takes over the country's sport pages today with the spotlight shining on the Tennessee-Alabama clash, the Texas-Arkansas meeting and the Army-Columbia battle.
The Crimson Tide and the Volunteers, both unbeaten, meet at Knoxville with the winner anticipating little difficulty the rest of the way in winning the southeastern conference title and a possible bowl invitation.
The West Point Cadets take on Lou Little's unbeaten Lions at Michie Stadium in attempting to stretch their consecutive win streak to 23 games and Coach Earl Blaik's Marauders are 20-point favorites to come out on top. The Texas Longhorns, second to Army in the national ranking, battle the once tied Arkansas Razorbacks at Austin, Tex., in its southwest conference opener.

In the midwest, the center of attraction again is at Ann Arbor, Mich., where the Wolverines tackle the unbeaten Northwestern Wildcats.
On the Pacific coast, the interest is divided between the U. C. L. A. Bruins-California clash and the Oregon-Washington State engagement.
Other attractions are found at Franklin Field, Philadelphia, where the Ivy League powerhouse, Pennsylvania hooks up with once tied Virginia and at Baltimore stadium where Navy vies with a once deadlocked North Carolina eleven that is sparked by "Choo Choo" Justice. Georgia, another undefeated southern squad, will battle a tough Oklahoma A. & M. machine at Athens, Ga.
Notre Dame, which has run roughshod over Illinois, Pittsburgh and Purdue, enjoys a hot-point favorite to come out on

Important Notice To All Leader Subscribers Who Receive Papers From Carrier Boys!

Beginning Monday, October 21, a new method of Carrier

Service will start

THE OLD WAY—

• In the past, it has been the practice of the Leader to leave the delivery of your paper to the discretion of the carrier boys. This has had several peculiar results.

• For instance, there are a few houses in Fulton to which the Leader is delivered solely because the present carriers were told by the boys from whom they obtained the routes that papers should be left there. On the other hand, some folks who should have been receiving the paper have not been on our carriers' lists. Unfortunately, we have had no method of determining positively just where each boy has been leaving the paper.

• We have of necessity been compelled to trust the memory of our carriers, and the word of month instruction passed on by the boys who preceded them. This has made for uncertain delivery of your Leader.

Paducah Firms

Fined For Denying

Pay While Voting

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 19.—(AP)—The way was cleared today for the Court of Appeals to rule on the constitutionality of the Kentucky law allowing workers time off, with pay, to vote.

Circuit Judge Joe L. Price has agreed to pay wages involved in the case if the McCracken

court decision is upheld finally.

In return, Commonwealth Attorney Holland Bryan said the state will dismiss all but the "test" indictment if the company will pay the wages involved.

More than 240 indictments have been returned against the two companies in connection with the charges.

G. C. Graham of Trigg county made about 2,000 gallons of sorghum this year, and seven other farmers along the Cumberland made their home sup-

ed in the case if the McCracken

court decision is upheld finally.

torney Holland Bryan said the
