Combs Proclaims New Amphitheatre Asset To Tourist Industry

By Bill Powell, Sun-Democrat News Editor

KENLAKE HOTEL, Nov. 12—The Kenlake amphitheater for spectacular outdoor drama "will be a great investment in the recreational future of this area," Gov. Bert T. Combs said here yesterday.

In a brief speech before ceremoniously breaking ground for the $75,000 state amphitheater, Gov. Combs said the people of this section "haven't started to realize the potential of the area."

Gov. Combs said the amphitheater will be used to "attract more tourists and make our visitors stay longer."

The outdoor theater, which will have room for 1,100 seats overlooking a lakeside stage, will be one of a "chain" across Kentucky. "This chain," said Gov. Combs, "is expected to draw tourists and to take them all the way across the state."

Combs was introduced by Mrs. Paul Westpheling, who is credited with originating the project which will bring outdoor drama to the park area of Western Kentucky.

Combs also announced during the talk that the state plans to go ahead with a $75,000 ice-skating rink at Kentucky Dam State Park in a move to attract more winter visitors.

Gov. Combs said he believed that good recreational and park facilities is the surest way to attract industry to Kentucky. He pointed out that his administration has spent or is spending $19 million on park developments and that he had "no apology to make."

He said the Kentucky tourist trade volume rose four per cent last year compared with a national rise of only two per cent.

Gov. Combs, who flew to Kenlake and left immediately after the ceremony, briefly reviewed progress of his administration in schools, highways, health and welfare and other fields.

"We have made progress in parks and recreation, too, and nothing is more important than recreation," he said.

Combs even joked mildly about the state of politics in the wake of defeat of Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt for the United States Senate—a defeat blamed on Combs by former governor A. B. (Happy) Chandler and on Chandler by Combs.

"Wilson, by request of the voters of Kentucky, is going to remain in the state a while," he said with a faint smile.

"And I promise you," he said, "that we are going to be the

South Fulton 4-H Members Get Honors; Linda Thorpe Named Most Outstanding

Linda Thorpe has added another jewel to her expanding crown of achievements. Active in every phase of school and civic life, the lovely South Fulton High School senior was named one of Obion County's most outstanding 4-H Club members for 1962. Named with her in similar recognition was Jim Sowell of Woodland Mills. The awards were made at the annual dinner held this year on Monday night at the South Fulton School.

The event marked the highlight of the banquet which saw over a hundred medals, ribbons trophies and cash awards presented.

Named as the most outstanding junior 4-H girl and boy were Mary Dee Garrigan of Woodland and Gene Cannon of South Fulton.

The "I Dare You" award went to Jenny Lou Hardy of South Fulton and John Wayne Wakefield of Elbridge.

Two "Friend of 4-H" awards are also given each year to further recognize persons who have contributed much to the 4-H program over the past years. This year the Obion County 4-Hers named Mrs. Mac Burrow of South Fulton and Jack Hudgens of Union City as their choices.

Linda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thorpe, has been active in 4-H work for a number of years and has done a great deal of work in clothing, dairy, foods and home improvement projects. She has been a county winner in all these projects and was district runner-up in clothing, dairy foods and home improvement. She is a member of the 4-H Honor club and is currently president of the South Fulton Senior 4-H club. She is a member of the poultry judging team which recently won state honors and will soon compete on a national level.

Jim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Sowell.

Master of ceremonies for the event was John Burrow, 4-H Honor club president. The Rev. W. L. Cottrell, pastor of the Union Cumberland Presbyterian church, gave the invocation and Principal Lester Betty welcomed guests.

"It's Governor, Nothing Less," Breathitt Says; Hits At Chandler's Election Role

Room 743 of the Sheraton Hotel in Louisville has a new tenant.

With scarcely enough time for the hotel to freshen up the premises after the last occupants move out, Edward T. "Ned" Breathitt opened the doors to his campaign offices for Governor of Kentucky in next year's May primary. Up until last week the three-room suite was the headquarters for Wilson W. Wyatt for Senate. Wyatt was defeated by Thruston Morton. Breathitt, the Combs Administration's candidate for Governor has been campaigning for nearly a year, and previously occupied temporary headquarters in Frankfort. With the personal endorsement of Governor Bert Combs, the youthful candidate made it known that no matter who tries to "dump" him, he's in the race to stay. Early reports indicated that Highway Commissioner Henry Ward was to resign his post a few days after the general election to be Breathitt's running mate for lieutenant governor. There have been no recent developments on this report.

Breathitt's comments were viewed as a reply to recent claims by Chandler, also a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, that the Administration of Governor Bert Combs would withdraw its support of Breathitt, a former member of the State Public Service Commission.

The 37-year-old Hopkinsville attorney informally opened his state campaign headquarters in the Sheraton Hotel, announced the appointment of Miss Katharine Peden as his state campaign chairwoman and once again accused former Governor A. B. Chandler of betraying the Democratic Party in Kentucky.

And he announced that William T. Beam, II, 27-year-old Louisville advertising man, will be one of his principal campaign aides. Breathitt told a press conference at his headquarters that he would "absolutely not under any circumstances" seek a lesser office than governor in next spring's primary.

Travel-Bound Mrs. Doran In Three-Club Meeting Next Monday

Mrs. Adron Doran, State President of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, continues to follow her traveling road map this week on a trip that will bring her to Fulton, Monday, November 19, to be the guest speaker at an inter-club meeting at the Woman's Club House at 2:30 P. M. The Drama and Literature Department will be hosts. Clinton and Hickman clubs will be guests.

Mrs. Doran, who has traveled seventeen thousand miles since June between her home and clubs, would find it impossible to visit each of the 257 organizations that comprise the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. By inaugurating the inter-club gatherings she has the opportunity of talking to every club in the state during her two-year term. She feels the clubs will gain from the fraternizing and exchange of ideas.

Her many speeches have one subject - the goals of the federation and further enlarging the pattern of its activities and programs.

Mrs. Doran, the former Miss Mignon McClain of Sedalia, Kentucky, is a graduate of Murray State College and is the wife of the president of Morehead State College. Mrs. Doran's administration theme is "Expanding Horizons Through Quality and Service." An outstanding pianist, she presents programs to various organizations and in addition to her other activities is a member of the Crippled Children's Easter Seal Drive. Breathitt Is In The Race To Stay, He Says; 'Outs' Wanting In; Some 'Inners' Wanting Out

Elsewhere in this issue we are publishing a story quoting A. B. "Happy" Chandler as predicting that Governor Bert Combs will "dump" Edward T. Breathitt as the Administration's candidate for Governor in next May's primary. At the same time Breathitt has opened his headquarters in the Sheraton Hotel recently vacated by Wyatt for Senate forces, proclaiming that he is in the race to stay. Said Breathitt: "Absolutely not under any circumstances" would he seek a lesser office than governor next year.

It is no secret that some of the "old political pros" in the Combs palace guard are urging him to take a second look at next year's line up. They contend that Breathitt, a 37-year old Hopkinsville attorney is not well enough known; that he is no match for the hard slugging that Chandler will inflict upon him on the campaign trail; that Breathitt in second place with either Wilson Wyatt or Highway Commissioner Henry Ward on the top spot would be a much stronger ticket.

Though we have no concrete evidence, we can say without any fear of contradiction that Breathitt will be on the ballot come next May as a candidate for Governor, with the same blessing from Governor Combs he received three days before the Kentucky Derby this year. Governor Combs staked his political influence in the senatorial race for Wyatt, and judging by past performances he will stake his political future on the governor's race next year, solidly behind the Hopkinsville attorney.

Regardless of the pressure brought to bear it would be a serious "loss of face" for Combs to "scratch" his early entry. It would tend to indicate that perhaps Combs was saddling his supporters with a weak candidate last May, and that in the light of Wyatt's sound defeat, there are more qualified and stronger people in Kentucky who could beat the Chandler forces, and thereby uphold the prestige of the Combs-Wyatt Administration. It is our guess that Breathitt is as right as rain, that he is in the race as a candidate for Governor and what's more he is the Administration candidate.

Meanwhile, anybody, but anybody who has ever been involved in the frenzied political arena of Kentucky has an idea of how Breathitt's campaign should be run. That seemingly simple observation is an indication that Governor Combs and his advisors should make every effort to get an organization steam rolling before the holidays. Most so-called political bosses are all prepared to make the best deal with the faction who gets there "fastest with the mostest."

We'll admit that the "ins" have a little more to offer than the "outs," but the real problem comes because there are so many "outers" who felt that they should have been "inners" under the Combs Administration that they are joining with the "outers" to beat the living daylight out of the "inners." It ain't easy, and Breathitt is going to find that out pretty soon.

What Beat Wilson Wyatt Will Be Interesting Topic For Long Time; What About ADA Charge?

What DID beat Wilson Wyatt? Historians will differ. Everybody has a different view. HUMAN EVENTS, a Washington report has this to say:

"ADA Defeated: While President Kennedy has stocked influential positions within his Administration with ADA members, the people in the state of Kentucky proved in the election they have no use for this ultra-liberal organization. The voters in the Blue Grass State polished off Senate candidate Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt, a co-founder of ADA and its first national chairman. Wyatt fought a stiff campaign against incumbent Thruston B. Morton, of whose defeat the Democrats had been confident.

"By repudiating Wyatt, the Kentucky voters clearly repudiated the ADA, the group which provides the philosophical underpinnings of the Kennedy Administration. Wyatt's ADA connections, it is widely believed, were clearly the reason for his defeat. No other explanation is offered for his fall. Wyatt had a well-financed, well-run campaign (to which UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson chipped in $500). As Lieutenant Governor, he carefully built up his support, politicking back home while Morton was in Washington. The highly influential Louisville Courier-Journal, of which Wyatt himself is a director, vigorously supported Wyatt during the campaign.

"Despite all the obvious factors going against him, Morton pulled through with at least a 40,000-vote majority after making the ADA his chief target. Wyatt, it is also noted, attacked Morton for supporting Benson's farm program and failing to endorse Medicare."

"God Confronts Man in Christ"

We hear a good deal today about confronting men with Christ and man's response to that confrontation.

These are but new religious terms being handed about and they don't present anything new. They mean about the same as some of our well-worn terms such as "what will you do with Jesus," and "conversion."

The fundamental idea remains unchanged: Every man must make a personal decision on Christ. God in His grace and mercy takes the initial tive; like a good shepherd He goes in search of the lost. But He never forces man to make a decision against his own will. Man is left free.

God is forever saying to us, "Come, now, let us reason together," and "What think you of Christ," and "If I be lifted up I will draw all men unto men." The emphasis is on the word draw. He does not compel.

In my earlier ministry I served a downtown church in Chicago, in one of those changed and problem communities. There were many racial groups; many religious beliefs, and mostly, no religion. A gang of atheists threatened, "Keep out of Sedgewick street community, or you will be beat up." The threat was never carried out.

In one area, one block wide and two long, ten thousand men were crowded, fed and slept by public charity. These men were down and out, without jobs, men who had failed in life's struggle. Pride and self-confidence were gone.

In all these things God is saying to us: "Your life can be better than what it is. You can be a child of destiny. It has not entered your heart what I have in store for you. Why will you die in defeat? I call you to repentance and faith. There is hope."

KNOW YOUR STATE GOVERNMENT

Mental Health in Kentucky By Dr. H. L. McPheeters Commissioner of Mental Health

We are often asked how a person in adult life can go about achieving good mental health.

This may be relatively easy or it may be quite difficult. In many cases we find people becoming more mature and more mentally healthy as their life situation changes, for they either must or are strongly encouraged to react in a more grown-up way. Thus, a young person may grow up quickly and take on more healthy reaction patterns when he goes into service, or away to college, to a job or moves away. Also, the responsibilities of marriage may help to mature and change some unhealthy emotional patterns, although there is also a danger that the faulty emotional patterns of one partner will overtax the marriage to the point where it cannot survive.

Certainly it is possible for a person to avoid some of the situations which he knows upset him, just as a person can avoid certain foods which give him indigestion. Most people can probably avoid going to a top of a mountain if they fear high places, but it is not easy or practical to avoid generalized problems, such as fear of meeting people.

To change a faulty emotional reaction usually requires a more intensive effort than just changing one's life situation or avoiding the stressful situation. First, the person must become aware that he has a problem and then want to do something about it. Since most faulty reactions occur naturally; that is, without the person thinking it out or intending to do it, it may be difficult for a person to realize that he has a problem. Once he develops conscious awareness of the problem, he can plan his approach to overcoming it.

The next step may be figuring out why the faulty emotional patterns developed in the first place. This may be easy to do, as in the case of a man who can see that his dependency results from his over-protective mother's attitudes. However, it may be that the cause is less easy to discover, or it may actually be hidden from the person himself because the basic anxiety or insecurity which caused the pattern is uncomfortable to face. If this is the situation it is helpful to go to someone who is specially trained in uncovering such problems, such as psychiatrists, counselors, social workers and psychologists.

In many cases it is not necessary to have such "insight" or conscious awareness of the underlying causes of the problem. In all events, the most important step is practicing the emotionally-healthy pattern which must be repeated many times over a period of several months or years before it becomes an unconscious reaction. At first, each aspect of the new action must be consciously and painstakingly thought out and intended, like learning any other skill such as driving a car or swimming. But with repetition and practice, it soon becomes natural and easy to do. Thus, practicing to accustom oneself to new patterns is essential in overcoming faulty emotional habits and in establishing good mental health.

Health Tax Is Passed To Help Hickman County

Hickman County voters approved recently a tax to help operate the county Health Department. The vote was 892 in favor of the tax to 720 against it. The vote gives approval to a tax of up to 14 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. It will enable the department to qualify for increased state aid so that it can expand its program in the county.

Until now the only local support for the Health Department's work came from contributions by the county Fiscal Court, the Board of Education and the city of Clinton, a total of $3,400. The tax will produce local revenue at first of about $8,000, officials say. After the department has built up a reserve fund for maintenance and improvement and a sinking fund, the rate may be reduced to produce revenue for the operating budget.

Few Days Left To Take Free Diabetes Tests

"Only a few more days are left in which Kentuckians can take advantage of the free urine sugar tests being offered by physicians, hospitals and laboratories in Kentucky," Robert S. Tillett, M. D., Louisville, Chairman of the Kentucky State Medical Association's Diabetes Committee, said today.

In cooperation with the American Diabetes Association, the KSMA is sponsoring for the twelfth year a Diabetes Detection and Education Week in Kentucky, during which time a concerted effort is being made to find as many as possible of the estimated 15,000 Kentuckians who unknowingly have diabetes.

The week of November 11, 1962 has been designated as "National Diabetes Detection and Education Week." The Fulton Health Department will hold diabetes clinic on November 14, 15 and 16. The county health nurse, Mrs. Braswell urges all to have a diabetic test made at this time.

These people in the following category are especially urged to take the test.

1. Persons over forty.
2. Persons who are overweight.
3. Persons who have known diabetes in the family.
4. Mothers of overweight babies.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

At our house we have a 'how-did-you-get-along-to-day' report at the evening meal and each of us gives a resume of the day's activities. The children seem to have so many various items to recount that the adults scarcely have time to get a word in anyway at all! It was at family report time that we learned about a little known, but interesting event that happens each fourth week at Fulton High School's study hall. At that time a "program" occurs that just might make the big time. It's called "Sing Along With Lois." Now it is entirely possible that popular and beloved, Mrs. Lois Haws, a teacher in the school is unaware that the students have named her study hall duty this delightful title, but they have.

Mrs. Haws, besides being adept at most everything she does, is also a talented musician. She has fostered the love for music in many students and adults around the area. At the moment she has captured the interest of many boys and girls to enjoy group singing. During her study hall period around the noon hour, Mrs. Haws sits at the piano and plays many old time favorites and urges the young people to join in singing those songs. They sit at their desks, though we imagine some also stand, and sing away to their heart's content. One of the young people who enjoys the respite from the school routine says: "It gives you a real lift, and keeps you humming the rest of the day." Some of the these times we are going to join in singing along with Lois, and with so many others in the chorus, it's possible that our off-key soprano may improve a little bit.

On the school scene we might also add that Mrs. Clarence Reed kept her audience spell-bound on Wednesday during the Fulton Christmas benefit for the organi-

High assembly period when she told of the fascinating highlights of her 16-month stay on the European continent, with dozens of side trips in between. Having enjoyed her travels to the maximum degree, she is able to relate them with the same enthusiasm. That makes for good listening in any audience.

Ethel and Mae McDaniel have returned from another interesting trip, this time to South Bend to enjoy a football game and to visit with Susan (McDaniel) and Chuck Eves. Before going on to South Bend they went to St. Louis to get their youngest daughter Terry, to make a sort of family reunion for the Indiana trip. Terry will be home until after the Thanksgiving holidays.

The Scholarship Fund of the Fulton County Medical Auxiliary will be richer if you attend the Luncheon and style show to be held on December 5 at the Park Terrace. The event is the annual Wednesday during the Fulton Christmas benefit for the organization and "show time" is at 12:30. All proceeds go to the scholarship fund that the Auxiliary supports. This scholarship is offered to persons interested in nursing or fields relating to the study of medicine. At the present time the scholarship is going to a second year student of medical technology. Tickets are now on sale and anyone desiring a ticket is asked to call any member of the Auxiliary.

For the first time since here we been, we've missed seeing the Lion's Club Minstrel. From all reports we understand that it was bigger and better than ever, and that makes us even sadder. A little light flashed in our brain the other day as we sat at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the new amphitheater at Kenlake... why not arrange for a showing of the minstrel at the amphitheater before the outdoor drama is presented there on June 23, 1963. You see, it's like this. It is hoped that just as soon as the amphitheatre is finished, (sometimes in May, we hope) there will be a period there when the weather is good and up until the show opens that many area productions can be presented there. The vacation season gets into full swing right after Memorial Day, so there's almost a month's lapse until show time. The Board of Trustees has given much thought to make the amphitheater a focal point for the presentation of area productions and from the "rave notices" the Lion's Club Minstrel has received it bids well to appear anywhere with large audiences.

We talked to Mose "Rambling Rose" Mitchell about the matter. We hope that he talks it up with his fellow club members and then let's see what happens when the amphitheater opens.

It's time for pruning and planting shrubs and the ladies of the Garden Department of the Woman's club got first hand information on how the task is accomplished. Last Friday afternoon J. E. McMahon, Professor of Horticulture and Head of the Agriculture Department of the University of Tennessee Martin Branch, gave the ladies all the fine points on how to prune and trim shrubs that grow in this area. Mrs. Arch Huddleston, chairman of the department presided over the meeting. A good crowd attended the meeting, and one new member, Mrs. Wales Austin was welcomed into the group.

EXPECTING YOU!

The Fulton Homemakers' Club will meet Thursday, November 15, at 10:30 a. m. at the home of Mrs. Ernest Brady on Cedar Street.

Mayfield Jaycee Officers Sued For $25,000.00

James S. Carroll has filed suit for $25,000 damages against Verne Adams, Harold Clapp, Edward J. Kelley and Glen Wyatt, individually and as officers and representatives of the Mayfield Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Carroll charges that while attending a dance last April 7 at the Graves County Airport, sponsored by the Jaycees, he was "assaulted, battered bruised and beaten" by Clapp, acting as an agent for the J. C. C.

As a result, Carroll claims his earning power was permanently impaired, and that he lost time from the transaction of his business and incurred hospital and medical expenses.

Carroll demands a trial by jury. Evidence of the alleged altercation was presented to the June grand jury, which failed to return an indictment.

The suit was filed in Graves Circuit Court for Carroll by attorneys Harry H. Boaz of Mayfield and Joseph S. Freeland, Paducah.

Kentucky Leads In Funds Spent On Highway Improvement

Kentucky continues to lead the nation in the improvement of its roads and highways from its own financial resources.

Statistics just released by the U. S. Department of Commerce show Kentucky awarded 795 highway contracts without the use of Federal funds from January through August. The contracts covered work on 1,179 miles of roads at a cost of more than $60 million.

Only four states exceeded Kentucky in the expenditure of non-Federal funds during the eight-month period and only three other states reported more mileage put under contract, according to the Commerce Department statistics.

For the same January-through August period, Kentucky ranked ninth in the nation in the total cost of all types of road work—that is in the use of both Federal and non-Federal funds. Total mileage in this category was 1,323, fifth best in the United States.

Floral Clock Buys Toys For Children In State Agencies

Ponies, playground equipment and toys totaling $1,200 in cost will be purchased for children in four additional State agencies from money tossed by visitors into the pool of the floral clock in the capitol lawn.

Mrs. Robert K. Cullen, Frankfort, trustee of the clock fund for the Garden Clubs of Kentucky, presented the four checks, for $300 each, to superintendents of Kentucky Village, Kentucky Training Home, Central State Hospital and Kentucky School for the Blind.

As of Oct. 15, the floral clock's pool has yielded $4,265.29 in small coins. The clock was dedicated in May 1961. The money has been used to buy recreation equipment for State child-care agencies.

Chandler Predicts Governor Combs Will Drop Breathitt; Wyatt To Finish Term

Former Gov. A. B. Chandler is predicting Edward T. Breathitt Jr. will be dumped as the administration supported candidate for governor.

Chandler said the evidence that Breathitt would be dropped by Combs "is persuasive." He said Combs' advisers have pressured him to get rid of Breathitt, a Hopkinsville attorney and former member of the Public Service Commission.

At the groundbreaking ceremonies Sunday for the new amphitheatre at Kenlake Hotel joshed about the results of the recent election in which Wilson Wyatt was defeated by Thruston Morton for United States Senator. The Governor said: "I am happy to say that Wilson Wyatt has decided to stay in Kentucky and finish the job to which he was elected. Together," he added, "we will be two of the hardest working 'lame duck' officials the State of Kentucky has ever known."

Some political observers are of the opinion that Wyatt, who campaigned on the Kennedy program for medicare and other Administration issues might be offered a top level national post in Washington.

Chandler said that Combs "must now face up to the horrible mess he has made of Kentucky's government. The escape hatch to the federal bench has been closed."

The former governor, who is seeking a third term, indicated that Combs sought a federal judgeship.

U. S. District Judge H. Church Ford is retiring, but Chandler hinted that President Kennedy squelched the idea when he came to Kentucky recently. Combs has had no comment on the possibility he sought the judgeship.

Chandler said Kennedy might consult him on filling the bench vacancy. He pointed out that he supported Kennedy at the 1960 Democratic Convention when the Kentucky delegation, headed by Combs, backed Lyndon Johnson. Chandler said he had no partic-

Kentucky Leads In Percent Of State Tax To Education

Kentucky is leading all the states in the percentage increase of state tax funds allotted to public higher education, Gov. Bert Combs has reported.

Over the two-year period 1960-61 through 1962-63, the State's appropriation has jumped from a little less than $19.7 million to almost $29.6 million, an increase of more than 50 per cent.

The figures were revealed in a nationwide study recently completed by the University of Michigan. States coming closest to Kentucky's gains, Hawaii and Rhode Island, each showed an increase of 46 per cent.

"Naturally, we're pleased with this statistic," Combs stated. "It is significant that these increases have been made possible almost entirely by the sales tax."

Since 1960, when the sales tax went into effect, Kentucky's annual allotment to public higher education has leaped from about $14.9 million to the present $29.6 million—an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

"After scores of years of being grounded," the Governor said, "Kentucky is finally getting the thrust needed to get its educational program into orbit."

The total nationwide allotment by the states for the fiscal year 1962-63 is about $1.8 billion. This is approximately $355 million greater than the 1960-61 total and represents a gain of about 24.5 per cent over the two-year period, the study shows.

UK Professor Says Reapportionment Will Strengthen System

Reapportionment of state legislative districts in Kentucky would strengthen the two-party system. So states Dr. Malcolm E. Jewell, University of Kentucky associate professor of political science, in a new book which he edited. Titled "The Politics of Reapportionment," the book is published by Atherton Press, a division of Prentice-Hall, Inc.

Reapportionment of Kentucky legislative districts, says Dr. Jewell, would not help the Republican Party where it is strongest, but where it has a strong potential and is likely to run candidates for office—notably in Louisville and Lexington.

Reapportionment should be somewhat easier in Kentucky than elsewhere, he continues, because neither party stands to lose as much or gain as much as in some other states. For this reason, the demand for reapportionment in Kentucky is not particularly strong.

Several proposals for reapportioning Kentucky have been made. Any of the proposals, Dr. Jewell believes, would win approval of the courts.

ular person in mind to recommend, if he should be asked.

Chandler attacked Combs' charges that he was disloyal to the Democratic Party and helped contribute to the defeat of Lt. Gov. Wyatt in the U. S. Senate race.

"If anyone doubts that he is a master of the subject (disloyalty), he should call Morganfield 27. I predict that Breathitt will be dumped."

Morganfield 27 is Clements' telephone number.

Former Gov.-Sen. Earle Clements was highway commissioner for a while under the Combs' administration, but is considered affiliated with the Chandler faction now.

Chandler said he could not be blamed for Woodford County's going Republican in the Senate race.

"If they're going to blame me for Woodford County, they ought to blame Wyatt for Jefferson County, Rep. John Watts for Jessamine County, Shelby Kinkead for Fayette County, Keen Johnson for Madison County and Rep. William Natcher for Warren County."

All of these counties went for Morton and are the respective hometowns of the men.

Johnson is a former governor and Kinkead was Wyatt's campaign manager.

Second Section Of Hunt Season To Begin Soon

The first phases of the dove and squirrel seasons came to a close on October 31, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources announced today, but hunters will have another chance at these two species at later dates this year.

Dove hunting during the months of September and October has been unusually good, hunters report, and the later part of the squirrel season has been above par, reports indicate.

The dove hunters will have another chance in the second phase of the season which opens on December 1 and continues through December 9. The same regulations apply to the second phase as to the first part of the season, with only afternoon shooting permitted. The daily bag limit is 12.

In the western section of the state, the squirrel season will begin on November 15 and continue through November 26 while in the eastern section shooting may be resumed on November 15 and continue through December 7. The bag limit for squirrels is six per day or a possession limit of 12 after two or more days of hunting.

Boating Division Compiling List Of Private Docks

The State Division of Boating is compiling a list of private facilities for boating enthusiasts.

Acting Director E. C. Calman said the list is being compiled in response to the constant stream of requests for available facilities on Kentucky waters. He said prospective visitors make requests about facilities in specific areas and ask what is available in the way of boats, gasoline, lodging and mooring space.

Calman estimated that thousands of persons in other states want to spend time on Kentucky's lakes and streams but hesitate to do so, not knowing what is available. He said giving them the desired information could mean more tourists to Kentucky and more business for those offering services to the boaters. He said any person or company having a facility to serve the boating public in Kentucky, who wishes to be listed, should send the information by post card or letter to the Division of Boating, State Office Building, Frankfort.

Mrs. Nall's Talk Inspires Group At P-TA Meeting

"Home and Parent Education" was the topic chosen by Mrs. Martin Nall for the November meeting of the Terry Norman P-TA. Mrs. Nall, a former teacher in the Fulton City Schools, presented her subject in a manner that brought an inspiring message to her listeners.

Her talk included a history of arithmetic, which told of the beginnings of mathematics in the simplest form used by Chinese merchants in 2000 B. C. and traced it through the Arabs, explaining their simple abacus and on through the Romans and Egyptians, all of which contributed to our present mathematical system.

Mrs. Gene Hatfield reported on the Bake Brunch, sponsored by the P-TA recently, and the group voted to put $100 of the profit into the Educational TV Fund and the remaining $76.16 in the general fund.

A report of the Health Committee chairman, Mrs. Jean Smith, was read. It was also reported that the present membership of the organization was 101 members. There are 67 families represented in the school.

It happened 100 YEARS ago

The oldest incorporated trade association in the country, the United States Brewers Association, was organized in 1862... the same year that

IN KENTUCKY, Confederate troops under General Kirby Smith seized Frankfort on September 3rd and held the Kentucky capitol until October 4th. Governor Robinson escaped to Louisville with the state's valuable archives.

In those days as now, beer was Kentucky's traditional beverage of moderation. Beer still provides enjoyment for Kentucky people, and a good living for many of them—not only for the 20,000 people employed by the brewing industry, but also for farmers and other suppliers of materials brewers use. TODAY, in its centennial year, the United States Brewers Association still works constantly to assure maintenance of high standards of quality and propriety wherever beer and ale are served.

Turkey, Cranberries, Chicken Are Some Of November Plentiful Foods This Year

Turkey and cranberries—traditional Thanksgiving fare—are among the good food buys this month. Other November plentiful foods, listed by Mrs. Letta Jasper, UK Extension specialist in consumer marketing, include pork, frozen orange juice concentrate, apples, grapes, citrus fruits, pears, potatoes, Maine sardines, and vegetable shortening.

This year's production of turkeys is down but a large carry-over of cold storage stocks makes only a 6 percent decline from last year's record-large turkey supplies. Mrs. Jasper points out, Broiler-fryers on this month's market are expected to top last November's supplies by about 10 percent; so both turkeys and chickens will be favorite choices of food shoppers this month. Egg prices are expected to be about the same to a few cents lower, compared to October prices.

You can expect more fresh pork on the market this month—probably at more steady prices than in October. In fact, pork prices probably will average a little lower in November, Mrs. Jasper says. Plenty of beef is expected during the month, at about the same prices as a year ago.

A record crop of cranberries is being harvested, so you can find plenty of cranberries on the market for holiday and everyday meals. Stocks of frozen orange juice concentrate are much larger than a year ago and you will continue to see low prices on this item.

Apples will continue in good supply. Florida grapefruit and orange supplies will increase this month, with the quality improving and the prices becoming lower. You'll probably see more grapefruit, oranges and tangerines but fewer tangos on the market than at this time last year, she predicts. During November, Tokay grape supplies will fade out and the Emperor grape season will come to peak.

Potatoes are an outstanding fall value, with good supplies coming from many producing areas. Sweet potatoes are plentiful and you will begin to see the cured sweets by the end of the month; remember that the uncured ones do not keep well, so buy in amounts that you can use within a few days, Mrs. Jasper suggests. Other vegetables expected in good supply this month include cabbage, carrots, cooking greens, dry onions, head lettuce, lettuce, radishes, rutabagas, and turnips.

Fulton Board Hears Report From Teachers

The regular meeting of the Fulton City Board of Education was held last Monday night with reports of the English Departments of Fulton High School and Carr Institute being presented.

An outline course of study, teaching techniques and progress made and expected in the field was made by Mrs. Mary Hughes Burrow, English department head at Fulton High, and by Mrs. Patricia Steel, librarian; and on behalf of Carr Institute by Mrs. Catherine Bennett and Miss Mary Forsee.

The Board termed the presentations "revealing and constructive" and plans to continue similar presentations from other departments during the remainder of the year. Last month a presentation was made by Physical Education and Health, and next month the Board will hear a similar outline from Math and Science.

The county total for the first nine months of this year stands at two fatalities; none were recorded for the same period last year.

Public Safety Commissioner Glenn A. Lovren pointed out that the state-wide traffic death toll through September stood at 604, 82 ahead of last year's total for the same period. He urged all motorists to be especially careful during heavy weekend traffic and earlier twilight hours.

Candidate Should "Look Before He Leaps" Nowadays

NEW YORK—James B. Donovan, Democratic candidate for senator, campaigned recently at the Dalton School's annual election assembly. One 13-year-old boy asked: "What are the main issues?" Donovan replied, in part, that New York was not being effectively represented by its two Republican senators. Later, Donovan learned that the boy who had asked that question was Josh Javits, son of Donovan's opponent, Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Telephone Talk

by
H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

WHEN THE FIRST TELEPHONE CALL WAS MADE IN 1876, Alexander Graham Bell had the only transmitter in the country. Thomas A. Watson, his assistant, had the only receiver. Today, more than 75,000,000 telephones in the United States carry an average of over 290,000,000 conversations every day. Bell System telephones can be connected to other telephones almost anywhere on earth. Altogether, you can reach 98 per cent of the telephones in the world!

A TELEPHONE OPERATOR answering a call with "Number, Please?" heard a voice reply, "Duston." "What number, Duston?" asked the operator. "No number, just Duston," replied the voice impatiently. "I'm dustin' the telephone."

YOUR VOICE IN PRINT... Scientists are learning that voices may be as distinctive as fingerprints. Several years ago Bell Laboratories scientists discovered a way to take "pictures" of voices. Now they are looking for ways to classify voices so that an unidentified voice can be matched against other voices already on file.

Six voiceprints were made of five voices saying "you." One said it twice. Which are from the same person? (Answer: Upper left and lower right.)

THANKSGIVING IS FAST APPROACHING and we hope you can be with your family on this special day. But if you can't, why not share the joy of the holiday by telephone. The sound of your voice across the miles is the best way to say, "I'm thinking of you. I wish I could be there." If you're one of the lucky ones planning a holiday trip home... call ahead. It's the quickest way to make happy plans. Whatever you do, wherever you are on Thanksgiving Day, your telephone company wishes you all the good things of this happy season.

Covington, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Covington is 6 feet one and weighs 188 pounds. He is one of the best passers in the state and tossed 23 touchdown passes for the Bulldogs this season. He also scored 61 points. During his high school career he has thrown 51 touchdown passes.

Burnette was Fulton's second highest scorer with 92 points. He was topped only by Terry Beadles, who set a new scoring record this year. He was Covington's main target this season and had a great year. He was also the kicker and added many points after touchdown for the Bulldogs. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Burnette.

Don is another of the Burnette boys to make a name for himself in the sports world. His cousin, Geroche, also distinguished himself in the local, area and state sport circles.

Farm News, Meetings, Events

(Ed's note: the following information, supplied THE NEWS by the USDA, ASC, nearby County Agents and agricultural agencies will be of special interest to progressive farmers in the Ken-Tenn area):

'63 LAND USE PROGRAM OFFERS CONTINUED CROP DIVERSION

Farmers taking part in the Conservation Reserve Program whose contracts expire the end of this year were urged not to destroy the protective cover on their land until they become acquainted with provisions of the new 1963 Land Use Adjustment Program authorized by the recently enacted Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

Conservation Reserve contracts covering 1.3 million acres of land on about 19,000 farms expire at the end of this year.

Roy Bard, Chairman, Fulton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said that such farmers will have an opportunity to continue diversion of their land from production of row crops and small grains and keep it in conserving use for another year, under terms and conditions similar to those for the existing contracts.

As under the Conservation Reserve Program, farmers taking part in the 1963 land use program will be required to provide a cover which will protect the land from wind and water erosion. Specific details concerning payment rates and other provisions are now available in the ASCS county office.

Longer-range aspects of the Land Use Adjustment Program are being developed and will be announced later, the Chairman said.

BOSSY PROVES SHE LIKES DRY SILAGE

One suggestion on feeding forage to cows for high milk production is to let the cows drink their water—not "eat" it as forage moisture.

A couple of Wisconsin dairymen have followed this rule and their success is obvious by superior production records and labor efficiency.

One man's 71 contented, cud-chewing Holsteins produced over 14,000 pounds of milk last year per cow with 545 pounds of buttermilk. The other man's cows did as well.

Both say the cows like alfalfa haylage better and there is less waste where the crop is ensiled at 35 to 50 percent moisture.

They like it dry and the more dry matter the cows get, the more milk they give.

Some tips from these dairymen are given in the Winter issue of The Farm Quarterly. Here are a few:

The hay is cut when the first bud shows. Crop drying is aided by crushing.

Hay is chopped short for tight packing, easy automatic handling and cow palatability. Covered wagons are used to prevent leaf loss.

WHEAT ACREAGES UP TO 15 EXEMPTED FROM 1963 QUOTAS

An amendment to the recently enacted Agricultural Act of 1962 in effect makes the provisions of the 1963 wheat quota program relating to wheat acreages of 15 or less the same as the provisions farmers voted on in the quota referendum last August, according to R. O. Wilson, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee.

This means that marketing quotas for 1963-crop wheat will not apply to farmers who plant 15 acres or less of wheat for harvest in 1963. The amendment applies only to the 1963 crop. It does not change quota provisions relating to farms with more than 15 acres of wheat in 1963.

Under a marketing quota program, the Chairman explained, farmers who do not comply with their wheat acreage allotments are subject to marketing quota penalties on their "excess" wheat. The new provision, however, like that in effect at the time of the referendum last August, permits a farmer to plant up to 15 acres of wheat for harvest in 1963 without marketing quota penalties being applied.

Mr. Wilson emphasized that this new provision relates only to wheat marketing quotas for 1963, and differs from the acreage provisions for participation in the 1963 voluntary wheat-diversion (stabilization) program. Specific details about the wheat stabilization program are available at (the) local ASCS county office (s), where the program sign-up for winter-wheat farms is now under way.

MILLION-HEN POULTRY FARM BY '64

One of the biggest poultry farms in the world is being built on a 205-acre tract in Ventura County, California, by Julius Goldman.

As a starter, Mr. Goldman plans to have a million laying hens by 1964. Later he will expand to two million. At present he is maintaining his 300,000-hen operation in Moorpark until the million-bird capacity is reached at his new location called Egg City.

How Mr. Goldman is planning, building and operating Egg City is told in the Winter issue of Farm Quarterly magazine.

One 64,000 - capacity chick brooder house was filled in November 1961. First phase of the plan calls for 3 brooder houses, 12 laying coops, a feed mill with a 1,000-ton capacity per week, a modern egg room with the newest type egg-handling and cooling equipment, an office and several homes for key personnel.

In any case, this is a spectacular undertaking and it is particularly so for Mr. Goldman who came to America only eleven years ago without money or experience in any type of agriculture. He was in the manufacturing business in Germany until Hitler forced him into hiding, first in Poland then in Switzerland.

Mr. Goldman says everybody has opportunity in the United States but not everybody uses it.

BRAVERY

Counsel—Do you want to challenge any of the jury?
Defendant—Well, I think I could lick that little fellow on this end.

Down on the Farm

With JIM PRIOR
Agricultural Agent, Illinois Central Railroad

We sometimes go to a lot of expense and trouble to make a good crop, and then overlook many of the important items that we could do with little expense and trouble. Much loss is experienced each year following the harvest of grain crops by infestation of insects, following storage. It is quite easy to prevent this damage provided we take necessary precautions before crops are stored.

By proper cleaning of bins and cribs previous to storage, almost all of this loss can be prevented. There are a number of chemicals that will do a good job and there are also several methods that can be used.

Before chemical treatment, all old material and debris should be moved and destroyed from storage places. If the old material has practically no value, it is advisable to burn all that is removed. In this way any insect eggs or larvae will be completely destroyed.

Following a thorough cleaning, chemical treatment either by spraying or dusting is satisfactory. In order to thoroughly cover all surfaces and crevices, it is best to spray. In this way no seams in bins are left untreated and the soaking in of the chemical used will no doubt kill all insects, eggs or larvae.

The most satisfactory chemicals as of this date are Malathion and Methoxychlor. If you choose to use Malathion, use a 57 Percent emulsifiable concentrate at the rate of one pint to 3 gallon of water. In case Methoxychlor is used, buy the 50 percent wettable powder and use at the rate of one pound to 2 gallons of water. These amounts should be sprayed on not more than 1000 square feet of area. Either will produce desirable results and neither can cause any harmful effects.

DID YOU KNOW?

There were about 14.8 million people living on farms in the United States in 1961. This is the latest word from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, which adds that about one person in every 12 lives on the farm. And this, by the way, is the smallest farm population of recent record. The number of farm people declined by about 830 thousand from 1960 to 1961 as the movement away from the land more than offset the growth that would have taken place from births. Farm people are defined as those living on places with 10 or more acres of land and selling 50 dollars or more worth of farm products a year. And there are more men on the farms now than there are women. It seems like the girls leave the farm and marry the city boys. In 1961, there were 109 farm males for every 100 females, compared with 97 males for every 100 females in the non-farm population.

Farm Insurance Coverage Adds Tenant Policy

Comprehensive insurance coverage made available to Kentucky farmowners only last May has now been extended to cover farm tenants. The new coverage was approved by the Kentucky Department of Insurance early this month.

Insurance Commissioner L. D. Cassady said the extension provides tenants with the same coverage available in a number of smaller policies, and at a saving of 10 to 25 per cent over the old aggregate rates.

The Kentucky Inspection Bureau, representing most insurance companies licensed to do business in the state, submitted the new plan to the Department of Insurance.

Under the basic policy, the liability limit is $25,000 per occurrence, compared with a limit of $10,000 approved last May. Medical payments have been increased from $250 to $500 per person. The basic policy provides insurance against fire, lightning, windstorm, hail, explosion, aircraft, vehicle, smoke and other extended coverages, plus theft and comprehensive personal liability.

IT'S GOVERNOR—

the Administration's choice for lieutenant governor, Wyatt, loser in last week's senatorial race to Republican incumbent Thruston B. Morton, has declined to discuss any future political plans.

"Women are important in politics," Breathitt said as he announced the appointment of Miss Peden, a Hopkinsville radio-station executive and immediate past president of the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

Miss Peden, who sat beside Breathitt at the press conference, said she had submitted her resignation yesterday morning as a member of the State Personnel Board. She was appointed to the five-member board by Combs in 1960. State law prohibits board members from actively engaging in politics. The body administers the Kentucky merit system for State employees.

Miss Peden, a Kentucky native, was Hopkinsville's "Woman of the Year" in 1956. She is the first woman to be elected a director of the Hopkinsville-Christian County Chamber of Commerce. She is on the board of First Christian Church in Hopkinsville.

Breathitt and Miss Peden were classmates at Hopkinsville High School in the early 1940's.

Miss Peden and a state campaign chairman, yet to be named, will work to establish Breathitt headquarters in every county in the state, Breathitt said.

Commenting on Democratic factionalism and the reelection of Senator Morton last week, Breathitt said:

"Kentucky has been plagued by dissipation of energy within the Democratic Party." He said he would revitalize the party if elected.

Breathitt then renewed his charges that Chandler conspired with Republicans to bring about Morton's election over Wyatt. Morton has denied the charges. Chandler has said only that he thought the accusation was very interesting.

The Hopkinsvillian said he would document the charges during the campaign, but would not reveal his source of information until after the primary election next May 28. He said the information came to him from "the enemy's camp."

Breathitt charged that Chandler agreed to make no sincere effort to campaign for Wyatt on a promise from Morton and G. O. P. campaign chairman Louie B. Nunn that the Republicans would help Chandler secretly in the 1963 primary race.

Breathitt also described as "fiscally unsound" Chandler's proposal to lift the sales tax from food, clothing and medicine. If elected, Breathitt said he hoped to be in a position to reduce the State income tax.

He listed as the "campaign's real issues" such things as more jobs, better schools, excellent highways, and greater use of the state's natural resources and pledged himself to work for their achievement.

Breathitt's seventh-floor Sheraton headquarters is in the same suits used by Wyatt in his senatorial campaign.

Coach Bell's Red Devils Tie Score, But Win The Victory

The score was tied. Under normal circumstances that means nobody wins. But in the play-off for a highly coveted football title South Fulton won the victory, if not the battle.

Coach Roland Bell's Red Devils are the 1962 co-champions of the Reelfoot Conference, having tied the highly touted Dresden Lions in the conference play-off 13-13 last night at the UTMB field at Martin. Dresden, a heavy favorite to win the play-off, was unbeaten in the regular season, although they had a tie game with Ridgely.

It was a hard-fought contest from the opening kick-off to the final whistle and was about as close as a game can get. South Fulton Red Devils led practically all the way, starting off with a 6-0 lead early in the first quarter, then taking a 13-7 lead at half-time and held it until the final five minutes of the game, when Dresden came charging back with its final score and the game ended in a tie.

The Championship trophies were presented Wednesday night at the Reelfoot Conference Banquet for Coaches and Principals at Blue Bank Restaurant.

hardest-working lame-duck team in history."

Kermitt Hunter, nationally-known playwright who has been awarded a contract to write and help produce the production for the new amphitheater, also appeared on the program which was directed by Max Hurt, president of the West Kentucky Production Association.

Hunter said the production "will be a message about this area."

He cited a need for emphasis of the "patience, hard work, perseverance and courage necessary in the building of a nation."

Hunter wrote the famous "Unto These Hills" presented at Cherokee, N. C.

The pageant has had a long and successful run at the foot of the Great Smoky Mountains.

More than 3,000,000 people have paid to see the work of Hunter, a native of the West Virginia hill country.

Hurt, of Kirksey, was master of ceremonies for the groundbreaking which was held a few feet from the site of the amphitheater.

The site already is being graded and shaped by the Kentucky Department of Highways.

It is a cup-like area with the eastern lip dropping to the water's edge. Theater-goers may look down on a land-stage presentation, or down on one staged on a barge or boat.

The amphitheater will be near the Kentucky Lake State Park bath-house and beach area. The structure faces giant Egner's Ferry Bridge which rises across Kentucky Lake to the north.

Hurt said the main production, written by Hunter, will be presented for the first time in June of 1963. The amphitheater is expected to be completed in May.

A Murray production concerning the life of Nathan B. Stubblefield, credited widely with being the inventor of radio, may inaugurate its shows.

Mayor Holmes Ellis of Murray welcomed the crowd of about 300 which turned out on the sunny but windswept lake shore for the ceremony.

He cited the need for cultural development in the overall development of an area.

"It takes this," he said, "to balance out the assets of an area." Mayor Ellis said developments such as the amphitheater "will make the best better" and "will give us an incentive to do even better."

Ed Fox, commissioner of parks, also spoke briefly.

Henry Ward, commissioner of highways, was supposed to be on the program but couldn't come because of illness. He is in a Louisville hospital.

Mrs. Westpheling credited Ward with putting the amphitheater project in final motion.

"Ward called us together and said, 'get going,' and here we are," said Mrs. Westpheling.

Mrs. Westpheling is vice president of the association and Dr. Raymond Roof of Paducah is secretary. Bob Long of Benton is treasurer.

Elvis Stahr Is 'Long Shot' For UK Presidency

Six men are being discussed as possible successors to Dr. Frank G. Dickey as president of the University of Kentucky.

Heading the list is Dr. A. D. Albright, 49 UK's executive vice president since the position was created in July and previously provost, The Courier-Journal reported.

Others mentioned were Dr. Adron Doran, Morehead State College president; Dr. Robert R. Martin, Eastern Kentucky State College president; Dr. William R. Willard, UK vice president for the Medical Center; Dr. Herman Spivey, former graduate school dean and now a University of Tennessee vice president; and Dr. Elvis Stahr Jr., new president of Indiana University.

The faculty views the latter five as long shots, but the odds and candidates could change, the dispatch from Lexington said.

Dickey has resigned, effective next July 1, to become executive director of the South Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, Atlanta.

Enrollment Shows Slight Decrease At Murray State

Enrollment at Murray State College showed a slight decrease this year from last year, but college officials believe there is a healthy reason for the slump.

Although registration for this fall is 3,606, compared with 3,681 in the fall of 1961, Murray has its largest enrollment of full-time students.

Murray also has its largest class of freshmen—1,494. Last year there were 1,336 freshmen registered.

Murray was more selective this year in admittance of out-of-state students. Borderline or weak applicants from outside Kentucky were rejected at a record rate, according to officials.
