Education Week

John M. Stoner, President of Public Relations Committee, Evangel College, announced that Public Relations Week will be held November 19 to 25. A special feature of this year's event is the theme, "The Atomic Age." This is a challenging era, he said, and one in which decisions made on the future will shape the course of our nation and the world for years to come. The theme is designed to help create a serious attitude among students toward their role in this atomic age, and is intended to promote cooperation among the faculty and students in the educational process.

Problems Can Be Solved

By David McCombs, AP Foreign Affairs Correspondent

It has bothered some Americans to see the world's problems leading to discussion and action. But there is one American who believes that these problems can be solved. He is the man who founded the Amity Foundation.

This man, who is known to most Americans as Mr. Amity, is the leader of a group of people who work to solve the world's problems. They believe that if people work together, they can solve any problem.

The Amity Foundation has been working on this problem for many years. They have been working hard to solve the world's problems, and they have been successful.

Through their hard work, they have been able to solve many of the world's problems. They have helped to build homes, hospitals, schools, and other things that people need.

But there are still many problems that need to be solved. The Amity Foundation is continuing its work to solve these problems.

We should all be grateful to the Amity Foundation for their hard work. Their work has benefited many people around the world.

Mr. Amity says that he believes that these problems can be solved. He believes that if people work together, they can solve any problem.

It is up to all of us to work together to solve these problems. Let us all join the Amity Foundation in their work to solve the world's problems.
