Campbell, Thomas, Ross Head Breathitt Campaign

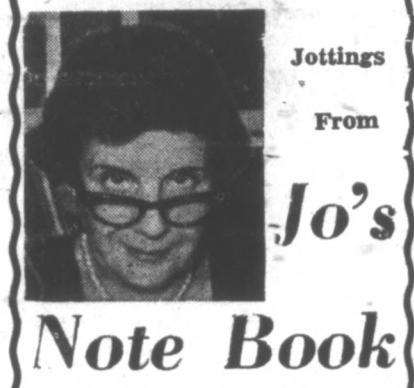

Fulton County Sheriff Joe Campbell, Carr Elementary School Principal Charlie Thomas and Fulton County Elementary School Principal Joe Ross will head up the county's gubernatorial campaign for Edward T. (Ned) Breathitt, Foster Ockerman, State Campaign Chairman announced today. Mr. Campbell will serve as chairman, while the two school leaders will serve as co-chairmen in their respective areas. In connection with the announcement Mr. Breathitt said: "The willingness of these fine leaders to serve in my campaign for governor is an important step on the road to victory in the May Primary. We are getting highly reliable and responsible people for all of our county organizations."

Mr. Campbell, one of the most popular officials ever to serve in this county is from the Cayce area. In making his first bid for political office in May, 1961 Campbell won over two former sheriffs, John Rose and Turney Davie. Mr. Davie has been named county campaign manager for the Chandler-Waterfield ticket for governor and lieutenant-governor, respectively. Mr. Campbell, a farmer and the father of three children, said that interested Fulton Countyans are expected to join the Breathitt campaign in positions of leadership.

The naming of two prominent school leaders such as Thomas and Ross, is an indication of the interest in educational circles to support the campaign of Mr. Breathitt to maintain the present tax structure of Kentucky to continue the progress being made in the school program of the State.

Thomas, a former football coach, is active in school and sports circles in Western Kentucky. Mr. Ross is similarly engaged in all phases of school activities in this section of the State.

Joe's
Note Book

Sometimes when you get the urge to go into the editor's office and commit mayhem . . . stop, look and listen! THINK, TOO! Think of what it would mean to be without a newspaper, even one like the News, for weeks and weeks, just as New Yorkers are having to do without their newspapers during the hazardous strike now in progress.

This could happen to you, without your favorite newspaper.

At breakfast you read the cereal box.

On the way to work you memorize the car cards. One elderly gentleman, stockbroker type, was recently observed on the subway thumbing through a copy of Shakespeare's "Mac Beth" with a look of quiet disapproval.

The hunger for print is so strong that people will read practically anything. But nothing fills the gap.

"I feel like I'm living in a void," complained my wife.

That's the way several millions of New Yorkers have felt ever since a strike shut down the people's university, the press, last December.

You never know how much you miss a thing until it is no longer there. And people who have taken their newspaper for granted are surprised in how many ways they miss it now that they can no longer buy it.

No other instrument of civilization fills so many various roles as does a newspaper. Nothing else serves so many wants, satisfies so many curiosities, circulates so many kinds of information.

Other mass media, particularly radio and television stations, have moved massively here in an attempt to satisfy the people's right to know.

But the job is simply too vast for them. It is one thing to watch a television announcer read a news bulletin to you. It is quite another thing to pick up a newspaper yourself and read through its almost infinite variety as you choose.

The bare bones of big political events can be given adequately over the air. But people are interested in small events, too, and other kinds of information only newspapers carry in detail.

Housewives miss the food ads and the recipes and articles on child rearing they like to clip and save. The businessman misses the announcement of promotions in other firms, and the news of fresh products.

And everybody from teenagers to pensioners misses the advice to the lovelorn, the interviews with sports and entertainment notables, the Hollywood love squabbles, the medical advice columns.

Most big newspapers carry all these things. But the strike has demonstrated that just any newspaper might do.

Many thousands of newspapers, including some of the best in America, have been shipped in and sold during the last two months. But they haven't filled the gap either.

Billy Hagan Resigns Post; No Replacement For Now

William W. (Billy) Hagan has resigned his elected position as constable of the first magisterial district of Fulton County, effective upon your receipt hereof, and the office is, therefore, vacant upon your receipt of this letter, but in no event no later than midnight, February 8, 1963. William W. Hagan.

Judge Bondurant told the News on Wednesday that he has no replacement for Hagan in mind at this time. Of the five magisterial districts in the county, only two of them now have constables. They are John Lettiss in the Hickman area, and Bobby Curlin in the Cayce area. The office is operated on a fee basis.

In submitting his letter of resignation to County Judge John C. Bondurant, Mr. Hagan said:

"Dear Judge Bondurant: I hereby submit my resignation as

Industry Seeking Needs Unity, Citizen's Committee Reports; Meeting Monday

DELEGATE!

Rev. William O. Beard, pastor of the First Christian Church, will attend The Delegate Council of Christian Churches in the President's Room, Forer Hall, Transylvania College, on February 13. Delegates will study reports and resolutions to be acted upon for presentation to the general assembly, which meets in Richmond, Ky., in April.

The first "highway" into Kentucky was the Wilderness Road blazed by Daniel Boone in 1775.

The twin cities' efforts to procure industry needs the unanimous support of all citizens and all groups, members of the Citizen's Advisory Committee of Fulton reported following the regular monthly meeting at the City Hall Tuesday night. Reviewing the fact that the City of South Fulton has underway plans to join the Weakley County Chamber of Commerce in the effort to seek industry for the area and that other groups in Fulton are also formed to seek industry, the committee voted to hold a mass meeting on Monday night, February 18, to discuss the situation with the view toward putting all efforts behind the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for industry in the twin cities.

The Citizen's Advisory Committee was organized under the auspices of the Kentucky Department of Commerce and acts as a clearing house for all community projects and programs. "It is a watchdog committee," Mrs. Lorene Harding, chairman of the committee, said, "to suggest and advise with all phases of activity for the progress and development of the community." She added that the committee does not seek to infringe on the efforts of any particular group, but to coordinate those efforts for greater results. Representatives of cultural, civic, religious and fraternal groups are members of the committee, representing all phases of community life.

South Fulton Mayor Milton Counce said that he believed that if all efforts could be thrown behind one central group, properly financed and planned, "it would go a long way towards uniting industry-seeking efforts of both Fulton and South Fulton." The Mayor said that his city would be represented at the meeting Monday night.

Presently, the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Fulton is seeking to establish an industrial park as a project of their organization.

The local Chamber of Commerce, organized to serve both Fulton and South Fulton, is composed of members from both cities.

The Twin City Industrial Corporation, a Tennessee corporation, was formed to serve both cities. The group went on record as voting to hold the meeting to review the industry seeking efforts of both cities and to enlist the services of all interested citizens to put the communities in a highly competitive position to bring industry here.

The time and place of the meeting will be announced later.

IN MEMPHIS!

On Monday, February 11, Whittell's ambulance took Clarence Pillow to Campbell's Clinic in Memphis, and returned Hubert Lowe from the Baptist Hospital in Paducah to the home of Mrs. Larry Latham in Highlands.

Nationally Known Author To Speak To Woman's Club

Dr. Kermit Hunter, nationally known playwright and author of "Unto These Hills" and other long-running outdoor dramas, will be guest speaker at the Fulton Woman's Club on Friday, March 1. Mrs. Ernest Cardwell, chairman of the Drama and Literature Department of the club, announced today. Dr. Hunter has completed the second draft of "Stars in My Crown", an entertaining and historical drama of West Kentucky, which will be presented at the new amphitheater at Kenlake Hotel this summer.

Dr. Hunter is also the author of "Honey in The Rock", in its fifth year at Beckley, West Virginia, and other highly successful outdoor dramas. A professor of dramatic arts at Hollins College in Roanoke, Virginia, he has written the West Kentucky story around a fictional family who lived in the area known as the "between the lakes" region. The story highlights the careers of former Vice-President Alben Barkley, Irvin S. Cobb, Nathan B. Stubblefield and other famous West Kentuckians. Burnett Hobgood, whose father was a one-time Methodist minister in Mayfield, will direct the play. Other outstanding personalities in the dramatic field will assist Dr. Hunter and Mr. Hobgood in staging the first outdoor production ever presented in this area.

Mrs. Paul Westpheling, vice-president of the drama group that will present the play, has charge of the program for the regular monthly meeting of the club.

IMPROVING!

Ted Roach, Water Superintendent for the City of Fulton, received serious, but not painful, injuries in an accident about 10:30 AM, February 12. According to city officials, Roach had stooped down to read a water meter, when a car driven by Harlan Craven backed out of a driveway, across Kentucky Avenue, and struck Roach.

Murray Debating Team Resolves Bold Question

A debating team from Murray State College was at Fulton High School the morning of February 13. On the affirmative side were Ronald Morgan of Paducah and George Steele of St. Louis. On the negative side were Bill Myers of Charleston, Mo., and Glenn Brown of Hardin, Ky.

The subject of the debate was "Resolved, Should the Non-Communist Countries of the World Form an Economic Committee." At the conclusion, the negative side was judged the winner.

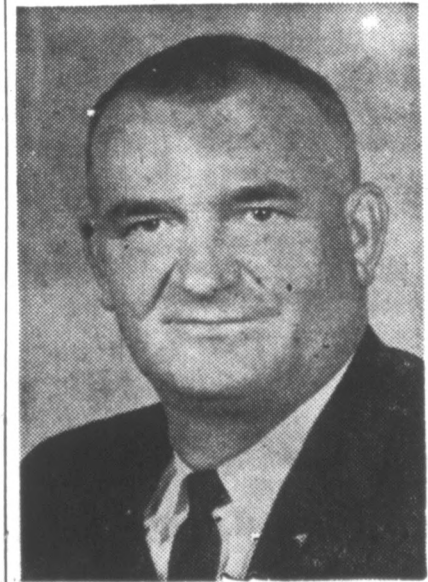

Benton Native Opposes Brand For Senate Post

When Crosslon Miller begins his campaigning in the local area he will be among a lot of kinfolks and friends. Mrs. Miller is the former Miss Ludy McNeely of Hickman County. Her father was the late John McNeely. Mrs. McNeely lives with the Millers in Benton.

Mr. Miller is well known in Fulton, too. A graduate instructor of the Dale Carnegie School, he visited often here last summer when a course was in progress here.

Miller, 52, a resident of the Graves County community of Symsonia, formally announced his candidacy today for the seat in the Kentucky State Senate presently held by Sen. George Brand of Mayfield.

Farm Families May Get Loans For Development

The Farmers Home Administration, under the provisions of the Consolidated Farmers Home Administration Act of 1961, makes loans to farm families to buy, enlarge, develop and operate farms. This act was amended by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962 to permit the use of loan funds to finance recreational enterprises. These loans are made to farmers who personally manage and operate not larger than family farms.

Funds for recreational enterprises may be used to develop land and water, construct buildings, purchase land, equipment, livestock and other related recreational items. Recreational enterprises which may be financed on family farms include camping grounds, swimming facilities, tennis courts, riding stables, vacation cottages, lakes and ponds for boating and fishing, and picnic grounds.

These loans aid in rural area development in that they permit the farm families to acquire the resources they need to adjust their farm production, improve their operations, raise their standard of living, increase their income and participate in new enterprises. This assistance in turn stimulates activity throughout the community.

For additional information, interested farm families may contact the Farmers Home Administration office in the courthouse in Mayfield, Kentucky. The office serves Calloway, Carlisle, Fulton, Graves, Hickman and Marshall Counties and is open daily Monday through Friday from 8:00 A. M. until 5:00 P. M.

GOOD SCOUT!

At the First Methodist Church last Sunday, when the Boy Scouts attended in a body, the God and Country Award was presented to Barry Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Adams. Barry holds Eagle Scout rank. His award was presented by Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor of the church.

THE LEADER!

Mrs. David Phelps will be in charge of the program at the Founders Day meeting of the South Fulton PTA. The meeting will be at 3:00 PM, February 14, and will be preceded by an executive meeting at 2:30 PM.

At Last, Someone Speaks For Poor Car Owner--It's Governor Combs

Governor Combs probably surprised a lot of people, including Insurance Commissioner L. D. Cassidy, when he fired Mr. Cassidy for refusing to rescind a raise in car insurance rates until a hearing on the raise could be completed. Insurance Commissioners, as a rule, are a pretty independent bunch, and they have been dealing out rate raises for years without having anyone challenge the way they do business.

And though we have nothing against Mr. Cassidy, it was good to see someone stand up for the car owner for a change. If the Governor made some enemies among the ranks of the insurance firms—and he probably did—he didn't lose any friends among the unrepresented and often-ignored men behind the wheel.

It's about time someone spoke up in defense of the car owner. He bears the brunt of higher wages and steel prices by paying higher prices for his car. He bears the inflated costs of highways with higher gas and oil taxes. His willingness to buy and spend and travel sparks our booming prosperity. Unfortunately, he also smashes into his fellow drivers on the crowded highways at such a gory clip that it costs more every year to insure him.

That, at least, was the reason given by the insurance companies this year when they hiked car insurance rates for Kentucky car owners, and the poor owner didn't have enough facts at hand to argue, either with the companies or with Commissioner Cassidy, who granted the rate raises without any apparent reluctance, and without holding any public hearings.

This was probably a mistake. He apparently made another when, after public protests grew to a roar, he granted a hearing, but refused to revoke the raises until the hearing could be completed.

Certainly no sizable raise in insurance rates, such as was granted this year, should be granted without first hearing from the paying public. Perhaps the fact that Mr. Cassidy was fired will lend caution to future Commissioners. But this alone will not be enough to protect the car owner. As the Governor said when he showed

Mr. Cassidy the gate, the insurance laws of the state are designed to protect the insurance companies, not the customer. They were written by insurance men for insurance men. They are invariably enforced by Commissioners who were insurance men before taking office and who return to jobs with insurance firms when they leave.

Small wonder that the car owner is often the last man to be considered.

We Salute "Operation Alphabet;" Under Guidance Of Mrs. Doran, Adults May Learn

Mrs. Adron Doran is one of those energetic, enthusiastic, capable persons who assumes a position of leadership with a real sense of duty and dedication to the task at hand. A former West Kentuckian, she is the president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs and the wife of the president of Morehead State College.

She is a busy lady and the image of the remark that says: "When you want a job done, go to a busy person." Under the expert guidance of Mrs. Doran the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs is lending its full support to Operation Alphabet, a series of televised programs geared toward adults with less than a fifth-grade education.

Mrs. Adron Doran said that the statewide women's group is taking an active part in an attempt to reach over 300,000 adults in Kentucky who need to improve their basic reading skills.

She said, "Operation Alphabet, a televised series of twenty weeks, has proven highly successful in other states and we feel certain that it will be equally as successful in Kentucky."

The first two televised series in Kentucky are the northern Kentucky series which is now underway and the eastern Kentucky series beginning on March 18.

Mrs. Doran said the KFWC is cooperating by:

1. conducting surveys of local communities to help promote the program.
2. establishing centers for adults who do not have access to television sets.
3. assisting with the purchase of workbooks for adults not able to afford them.
4. work with other agencies on the local level.
5. secure volunteer teachers to help adults before and after viewing the television lessons.

Mrs. Doran said that the state colleges are cooperating with the KFWC in training volunteer teachers and Louisville clubwomen are planning a literacy workshop in the Spring.

"We feel that this project," she added, "exemplifies the KFWC theme 'Expanding Horizons Through Quality Service Using Education as a Tool.'"

Not that she needs it, but for whatever it's worth, we take our hat off to one of Kentucky's most outstanding women.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission.

By JOE JORDAN

(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week a meeting at Burkesville, Cumberland County seat, at which Col. Frank Wolford was scheduled to speak, broke up in disorder under a sudden and entirely unexpected attack by two companies of Brig. Gen. John Hunt Morgan's Confederate cavalry division.

Wolford, commanding officer of the First Kentucky (Union) Cavalry, was a noted orator; in civilian life he was a lawyer. At that time, as the senior colonel present, he was in command of a brigade stationed at Burkesville. He and Morgan, both veterans of the Mexican War and survivors of the Battle of Buena Vista, were good friends and each had high respect for the other's military competence. Morgan was at his headquarters at McMinnville, Tenn., but his Eleventh Kentucky Cavalry, under Col. D. W. Chenault, was scouting in Clinton and Wayne Counties, Kentucky.

The fact that Col. Wolford was scheduled to speak at the courthouse in Burkesville on February 12 had been published in the newspapers in that part of the state. Confederate scouts obtained copies of the papers and took them to Col. Chenault's headquarters at Albany.

Basil Duke, in his "History of Morgan's Cavalry," quotes from the diary of an unidentified field officer of the Eleventh Kentucky: "I started from Albany with two companies early that morning and, forming my men behind a hill, I watched from the bushes the assembling of the crowd at the courthouse. At 1 o'clock the bell rang . . . and after the speaking commenced I charged on foot to a schoolhouse immediately on the banks of the river and from there dove the pickets, that had dismounted, away from their horses, and also broke up the speaking in tremendous disorder. We killed a number of horses, and the killed and wounded among the Yankees were seven. The boys christened the schoolhouse Fort McCreary, but it did not last long; for the night after we left the Yankees 'crossed the river and burned it.'

Another and much smaller group of Morgan's men had come into Kentucky from Tennessee farther west. This included Capt. T. H. Hines, Lt. J. M. Porter, and thirteen enlisted men, whose mission was to destroy Federal river steamers plying between Bowling Green and Evansville, Indiana. "The night of the 11th, reached the vicinity of Bowling Green," Hines wrote later in his report to Col. William C. P. Breckinridge, "but unfortunately our presence, force and design becoming known to the Federal authorities by the capture of Dr. Samuel Garvin, who had volunteered to accompany us, we were under the necessity of altering materially the plan of operations. We disbanded to meet on the night of the 20th, twelve miles south of Bowling Green."

"Morgan Again Threatens Kentucky," said a headline in the Louisville Journal. It reported inaccurately that Morgan's "main force" was marching toward Lexington.

LOTTERY FOR HOMES

Rio de Janeiro — About 2,200 slum dwellers in Rio took part in a lottery recently to pick the first 400 homeowners in a new suburban development. The homes cost $330 apiece, with 10 years to pay.

LAW

Let reverence for the law be breathed by every mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, seminaries and colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpits and proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in courts of justice.

—Abraham Lincoln.

The Kentucky Derby, America's racing classic, was first run at Churchill Downs in Louisville in 1875.

Kentuckians Should Be Justifiably Proud Of Its Outstanding Road-Building Record

When Highway Commissioner Henry Ward signed the last of several contracts for road construction in December, Kentucky set a new record—the award of almost 157 million dollars for road building within a single year. Contract lettings of 1962 surpassed by more than $35 million the contracts awarded in the previous year, which also set a record.

Only Texas let more contracts in 1962 than Kentucky on a mileage basis, and that amounted to but about 50 miles. The full results of Kentucky's tremendous roadbuilding program will not be felt until later this year, but upon completion of the last of these contracts many sections of Kentucky will have decent roads into them for the first time. The proposed Central Kentucky Tollroad is necessary, however, to link the Eastern and Western Kentucky Tollroads to provide a decent road from Elizabethtown to Lexington and to help the Eastern and Western Kentucky turnpikes pay out.

Some 2,500 miles of highways—new and improved—were placed under contract during the year. While the bulk of the money allocated this year went to interstate and toll road construction, rural and secondary highways were not neglected. While progress was being made on the super highways, many miles of farm-to-market and federal and state highways were built and contracted for in the period, though certainly many more are to be desired.

Building of major highways and the subsequent flow of traffic certainly will improve the economy of the State.

Highway Commissioner Ward has done an excellent job. He has taken full advantage of the Federal-State matching funds program. In other words, he has used every dollar he could get his hands on to build roads to serve the greatest number of travelers. His record is one in which Kentuckians can share with pride.

SERMONETTE OF THE WEEK

Listen To George Washington

When George Washington took the oath as first President of the United States on April 30, 1789, he spontaneously added this four-word prayer of his own: "So help me God," an invocation still used in official oaths by those taking public office, in courts of justice and in other legal proceedings.

In the first part of his Inaugural Address, immediately following the oath, Washington reverently acknowledged our country's dependence on Almighty God:

"... it would be peculiarly improper to omit in this first official act, my fervent supplications to that Almighty Being who rules over the universe—who presides in the council of nations—and whose providential aids can supply every human defect, that his benediction may consecrate to the liberties and happiness of the people of the United States, a government instituted by themselves for these essential purposes . . ."

What Makes A Church?

NOT soft seats and a subdued light, but strong courageous leadership.

NOT the sweet tones of the organ, but sweet personalities somehow reflecting Jesus.

NOT the tall towers, with chimes and bells, but a lofty vision of its people.

NOT big budgets, but big hearts. NOT the amount of finance received, but the amount of service rendered.

NOT the large membership, but God's presence and direction and Power.

NOT what it has done in the past, but what it is doing now and will do tomorrow.

THE EIGHT POINTS OF LIFE

These eight points of successful living are subscribed to by many sociologists; they may not be as famous as the historical "Fourteen," but they are nevertheless equally important as a war preventive, either international, sociological, or domestic:

1. Don't contradict others, even if you know you are right.
2. Don't be inquisitive about the affairs of even your most intimate friends.
3. Don't underrate anything because you don't possess it.
4. Don't believe that everybody else in the world is happier than you.
5. Don't be rude to your inferiors in social position.
6. Don't repeat gossip, even if it does interest a crowd.
7. Learn to hide your aches and pains under a pleasant smile.
8. Learn to attend to your own business. This is especially important.

GOOD AFTER 200 YEARS

Ben Franklin has lived over 200 years in the hearts of men, women, boys, and girls. With you who treasure his little packages of wisdom, we share these:

- "Many people are lonely because they build walls instead of bridges."
- "Wealth is not his that has it, but his that enjoys it."
- "He who gives promptly, gives twice as much."
- "The happy people are those who are producing something."
- "Money will buy a dog, but it won't buy the wag of his tail."
- "The biggest room in the world is the room for improvement."
- "You can make life a bed of roses, if you put in a lifetime of spade work."
- "It never was giving that emptied the purse."
- "If you want a favor done, ask a busy man."
- "The nation that has the schools has the future."
- "Soft is the music that would charm forever."

A WAY TO A HAPPY NEW YEAR

To leave the old with a burst of song.
To recall the right and forgive the wrong
To forget the thing that binds you fast
To the vain regrets of the year that's past;
To have the strength to let go your hold
Of the not worth while of the days grown old.
To dare go forth with a purpose true,
To the unknown task of the year that's new;
To help your brother along the road
To do this work and lift his load;
To add your gift to the world's good cheer,
Is to have and give a Happy New Year.

IF ALL THE SKIES WERE SUNSHINE

If all the skies were sunshine,
Our faces would be fain
To feel once more upon them
The cooling splash of rain.
If all the world were music,
Our hearts would often long
For one sweet strain of silence
To break the endless song.
If life were always merry
Our souls would seek relief,
And rest from weary laughter
In the quiet arms of grief.

Today, February 14, is St. Valentine's Day. In our country, since the days of the Pilgrims, it has been a day for the romantic exchange of gifts. Now, however, St. Valentine's Day is also recognized as the mid-point in the annual Heart Fund Drive. Since this day has been dedicated to "affairs of the heart", what better gesture can the people in the Twin Cities make than to attend the Heart Fund coffee, given by the Fulton-South Fulton Business and Professional Women's Club today at the Fulton Electric System? Coffee, cake, pie, sandwiches and salads will be served throughout the day, so go down and have dessert, also lunch, and make a contribution to the Heart Fund. This would be a very meaningful tribute to those we love. All money taken in will be equally divided between Obion County and Fulton County.

The program of the Music Department of the Fulton Woman's Club Tuesday night, February 12, was presented by Miss Joan Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carter, of Fulton. Joan is a senior at Murray State College. She was accompanied to Fulton by three other seniors from the Music Department at Murray, who participated in the program.

Chapter No. 41, OES, on Tuesday evening, February 12. Entertainment was furnished by various chapters in this district.

Union City Rotarians had a musical treat last Friday noon at the Biltmore when South Fulton's "Two Aches and A Pain" rendered their comic interpretations of several tunes.

The two aches, Jean Neeley and Teresa Pennington, and the pain, Judy Adams, have won a wide reputation with their comic rendition of "Cotton Fields," the number with which they won the regular meeting of the Fulton City

Famous Playwright To Speak Here

Dr. Kermit Hunter, the nationally known playwright, author of "Unto These Hills" in its fourteen'th year at Cherokee, N. C. will speak to the Woman's Club at the open meeting of the group on March 1. Dr. Hunter is shown here being greeted at the Paducah Airport by Mrs. Paul Westpheling when he visited in West Kentucky recently to discuss the first draft of his play "Stars in My Crown," which will be presented this summer at the new amphitheatre at Kenlake Hotel (Story on Page One) state 4-H talent contest. They were also winners in talent at the Obion County Fair, the Mid-South Fair, and entertained during the Governor's Inauguration in Nashville recently.

Bringing the trio to Union City club was Rotarian Fred Homra of Fulton.

This is National Beauty Salon Week, in case you didn't know it. If any of the members of the local group could see us this week, they would extend the observance for a month to get us looking human. Anyway your favorite beautician observed the week by joining with other members of the profession for a kick-off breakfast Monday morning at the Park Terrace. After swapping some good fellowship and some hair-curling stories the ladies went to the P. H. Weeks Store on Lake Street and decorated a window to remind you that "a woman just out of a beauty shop is a joy forever ... or for at least a week."

Mrs. Frank Henry of Hickman called us Tuesday to give us a most interesting bit of information. Mrs. Henry's sister, Mrs. Joe Taylor of Santa Monica, California, a registered nurse, is attending the bedside of one of the world's most famous entertainers, Bing Crosby. Mrs. Taylor has nursed "der bingle" on previous occasions and says that he is a wonderful patient. The famous crooner was released last week from St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica after an operation for the removal of a kidney stone. He is recuperating at his home where Mrs. Taylor is aiding and abetting his recovery.

On February 11 the local girl scouts began taking orders for Girl Scout cookies, for delivery after March 1. Proceeds from the sale of these cookies help the troops and their camping facilities. Also, a girl selling 75 boxes of cookies is entitled to attend Red Day Camp free and if she sells 150 boxes she will attend Camp Bear Creek on Kentucky Lake for one week free. When these girls call for your order, buy several boxes of cookies. You may be helping one of them attend camp, who otherwise could not. And remember, you are helping many other girls as well.

California reminds us that Ruby and Maxwell McDade are enjoying that sunny climate of the West as this edition goes to press. The McDades took off on a leisurely tour with the advice of Horace Greeley, to "go west" and they are doing just that. Reports reaching home are that they stopped in that fabulous city of Las Vegas, earlier this week and proceeded on to Los Angeles. En route to LA (as the natives call it) Ruby and Maxwell planned to visit with Reed and Cissy Holland in Albuquerque, New Mexico. What fun that must have been seeing the "growing" family of the "younger Hollands."

A trip to make even the most avid "stay-at-homers" envious is being enjoyed by Margaret and Fred Homra at this very minute. The Homras boarded a jet at Nashville Wednesday for Miami and from that sunny city they "jetted" to Rio de Janeiro for an extended vacation. There's one thing for sure ... this world is getting smaller all the time. The jet-set, in this jet-age, can eat breakfast in New York, shop in St. Louis, and attend a Hollywood premiere in California in the evening, all in the span of a few daylight hours. It's no wonder that President Kennedy is trying to slow down this country by reverting to the lost art of walking. We've been trying to urge the children to be patriotic by following the President's wishes and walk to and from school. The eldest in our family looked at us when we suggested such an undertaking much with the same attitude that Pierre Salinger, the White House press secretary reported ... he didn't actually say it, but he looked like he wanted to as he got in the nice warm car ... "I may be plucky, but I'm not stupid." More about this later.

Mrs. Arch Huddleston, chairman, presided over the business session of the Home and Garden Department of the Woman's Club on February 8. The meeting opened with a moment of silent prayer, a tribute to Mrs. Grace Thacker and Mrs. G. C. Richardson, who passed away recently. A nominating committee, composed of Mrs. Lawson Roper, Mrs. Claude Shelby and Mrs. Hunter Whitesell, was named by Mrs. Huddleston.

Dr. James Howard Peck's book, "Life with Women and How to Survive it", was reviewed by Mrs. H. G. Edmondson of Martin. This book relates many experiences and observations of Dr. Peck, written in a humorous manner.

During the social hour a party plate, carrying out the Valentine theme, was served by the hostesses to members, including two new ones, Mrs. Fred Brady and Mrs. Nathan Gossum, also to three visitors.

Miss Rhea Looney, a sophomore at Memphis State University, was recently named "Miss DeSoto" at the university.

Miss Looney is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Looney of Denver, Colo., formerly of Fulton, and niece of Mrs. Pete Green. She has won many honors in beauty contests, last year being chosen first alternate for Miss Memphis.

The Annie Armstrong Circle of the First Baptist Church met in the home of Mrs. J. D. Simpson in South Fulton at 7:30 Monday night, February 11.

Mrs. Mildred Freeman, chairman, opened the meeting with a prayer, after which Watch Words were repeated. The program was in charge of Mrs. W. A. Jones, whose subject was "Christian Witnesses." Mrs. Leon Hutchens closed the meeting with a prayer.

A dessert plate was served by the hostess to eight members and one visitor, Mrs. J. A. Kelly of Mayfield.

Rabies Still Spell Death Without Preventive Treatment, Barry Says

Without immediate preventive treatment, rabies still spells death. Harry Barry, R.S., Fulton County Health Department Sanitarian, said today. Ever since medical records have been kept, Kentucky has been described as a "Rabies area." During the past ten years rabies appeared and was confirmed in each of Kentucky's 120 counties.

William Brady, M. D., whose syndicated column appears in several newspapers across the country, states that rabies does not exist in human beings; it is unrecognized and hence untreated tetanus which causes the deaths attributable to rabies, Brady claims. However, State Health Department records show that two Kentucky residents died from rabies in 1961. These were laboratory confirmed cases.

Gable Jackson, Route 1, Wingo; Mrs. Lee Duke, Water Valley; Gus Alexander, Route 2, Water Valley; Mrs. Ollie Wylie, Dyersburg; Mrs. Marvin Hill, Mrs. Phillip Brown and daughter, Jess Wray and Mrs. Russell Bachman, Route 1, Fulton; Mrs. James Pruiett, Route 3, Fulton; Mrs. Homer Cruce and Mrs. Herman Roberts, Route 4, Fulton; Mrs. Laura Holder, Mayfield; Mrs. Wm. Rice and daughter, Hickman; W. A. Campbell and Mrs. Turner Purcell of Cayce.

The virus of rabies may infect almost any mammal. The disease usually results from the bite of an infected animal which is shedding high concentrations of the virus in its saliva. Once introduced into a wound, rabies virus eventually reaches the central nervous system, resulting in death. It is estimated that some 1,000

Boy Scouts Were Prepared For Events Marking National Week

National Boy Scout Week was observed in Fulton February 7 through 13, with some activities extending throughout the month.

The Cub Scouts displayed a poster in the window at Weaks Department Store during the entire week, showing things of interest from their viewpoint.

Scout troop 42 erected a pole tower on the bandstand in downtown Fulton and it remained there during the week. This was a phase of their pioneer and physical fitness program, which is being stressed by President Kennedy.

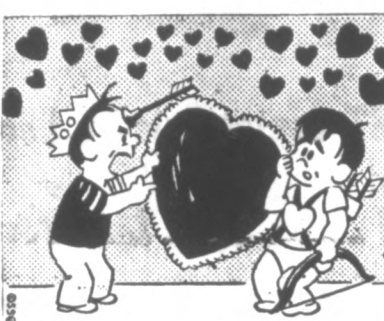

Cub Scout pack 40 and troops 42 and 43, as well as Explorer Post 43, were special guests at the First Methodist Church on Sunday morning, February 10, when the pastor, Rev. W. T. Barnes, preached a sermon especially for them.

The Explorers served as ushers, as collectors and passed out bulletins.

The annual Appreciation Dinner will be held in Paducah. At this dinner scout leaders will be recognized for their work during the year; also, four local scouts will receive recognition - Charles Mark Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Williamham, for earning his eagle and two palms; Gregg Williamson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Williamson, and Stuart Voelpel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Voelpel, for having earned their eagles and one palm.

The climax of this observance will be the annual Gold and Blue banquet at the South Fulton gym. At this banquet, entertainment will be provided by an Indian dance team from Paducah, this team being an Ord. of the Arrow Group.

● AUSTIN SPRINGS By Mrs. Carey Frieleds

Mr. and Mrs. Grover True have just recently installed a new bath room at their home nearby this village.

Reports from the bedside of Mr. Lamey Murrell at his home in Akron, Ohio, are that there isn't any sign of improvement. He is just about holding his own at this writing. We and all of his relatives are looking forward to some better reports very soon.

Rev. James Holt filled his regular appointments at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. All during the winter months the Sunday School has hit a high level in attendance, there being 81 present last Sunday. This is fine encouragement to the Sunday School Superintendent, Mr. Howard Harris, Pastor Holt, their fine teachers who are commended for their efforts.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie McCallum and children, Lionel and Lori of Mayfield, Kentucky, spent Sunday here with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Burnett Lintz.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Doron and daughters Alicia and Lita Ann of Huntsville, Alabama were visitors of their parents Mr. B. L. Doron and Mrs. Doron of Martin, Route 2, over the week end. They left for their home early Sunday morning.

Melody Lee, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Smith, is ill with measles at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cunningham, her grandparents in Dresden, Tenn. where an epidemic is reported.

Brother Charles Wall filled his appointments at Knob Creek Church of Christ Sunday at 11 a. m. where Sunday School was conducted prior to the worship service.

Mrs. Julie Copeland, aged beloved lady, who now resides in Palmersville, suffers quite a bit from arthritis which seems to be her chronic ailment, that keeps her indisposed during the winter months.

Your writer spent the week end with her brother Buton Lassiter and family, and had a nice time. Other visitors in the Lassiter home were Mesdames James McClure and Raymond Cherry.

Redwood Is U. S. Tree

When Christ was born in Bethlehem, the giant redwood tree that is now the U. S. National Christmas Tree had already been growing for 2,000 years.

Located in King's Canyon National Park, Calif., the tree is a "Sequoia gigantea"—a coniferous, evergreen tree—and its age is estimated, from its annual rings of growth, at 4,000 years. Its majestic redwood trunk rises 267 feet.

The U. S. Department of the Interior officially designated this redwood as the National Christmas Tree on April 28, 1926. Earlier, it had been named the General Grant Tree, for the 18th President.

In December, Christmas services are held annually at the base of the tree, climaxing a month-long Christmas Festival.

Last year alone 928,000 died of this disease, but now constant research is making such wonderful progress that three out of four have been able to return to work.

IDEAS

Common speakers have only one set of ideas, and one set of words to clothe them in; and these are always ready at the mouth; so people come faster out of a church that is almost empty, than when a crowd is at the door.

G-o-o-d Cookies, For G-o-o-d Scouts

Mrs. Marvin Lisso, cookie sale chairman and Mrs. Donald Muir, executive director, Bear Creek Girl Scout Council, examining new cookie packages.

It's Girl Scout Cookie Time again and girls from the local troops will be selling cookies from February 11 through March 18. Intermediate Scouts in green uniforms—or Brownie Scouts in brown uniforms—will be authorized to ring doorbells starting on February 11. The Bear Creek Girl Scout Council will be conducting its Annual Cookie Sale during the next few weeks. On February 11th the girls will start taking orders for cookies in person and by telephone. They are not to collect any money at this time. They will ask for orders for cookies which will be delivered after March 1st.

From March 1st through March 18th they will be going from door to door delivering the orders and carrying cookies to sell. The girls can offer an assortment of four different kinds of fresh delicious cookies baked by a company that has been licensed by the Girl Scouts of the U. S. A. The girls will be selling cookies to help both their troops and their camping facilities. Part of the proceeds from the sale remains with their individual troops to buy supplies or have a party—depending on the desires of the girls. The rest of the profits will be used to buy camping equipment to be used by all girls in the Council.

Tents and canoes are expensive—but a lot of fun. Some of the girls will also be working for themselves to earn a trip to camp. If a girl sells 75 boxes of cookies she is entitled to attend Day Camp free—and if she sells 150 boxes she will attend Camp Bear Creek on Kentucky Lake for one week without cost. 10 percent of the Cookie Sale profits is set aside to help older girls attend National encampments such as the Round-ups and even International events if the girl is lucky enough to be chosen.

Cookie Sales are held by almost all Councils throughout the United States and even though much good natured kidding has been done a girl actually learns many things while selling Girl Scout Cookies. When your door bell rings and a young lady says: "I'm selling Girl Scout Cookies" she is helping herself—and a lot of other girls.

Its so good to have Mother home again. Three months is a long time. Now, our house seems like a home again. My sister Sue wrote, "I'm sending you my maid. She's very good and works for nothing, but please call her 'Mother'. It makes her feel important."

But, I'm holding my breath, for fear she will decide to go north again, as there is so much more work for her to do here.
