NUMBER FORTY-NINE

FORMER FULTON BOY WRITES HOME

Earle Stephens, son of Mrs. Etta Stephens of Water Valley, who is now in Washington, D. C., attending Gallaudet College, and was formerly employed at the Fulton County News, writes the following interesting letter about Washington as Japan attacked Hawaii.

"Things have been happening in Washington at such a tremendous rate that I have had little time to write. The unexpected war has set Washington on a 100 per cent basis. I shall try to recall all that I witnessed in Washington since Saturday evening.

"My roommate and I went for a short drive which took us past the Capitol, down Pennsylvania Avenue by the White House, the Washington Monument, and Lincoln Memorial to Arlington, Va. There was nothing unusual about the crowd of sightseers, including soldiers, sailors, marines and civilians. On Sunday morning, December 7, things were very quiet, and in the afternoon members of varsity basketball squads were summoned to the gymnasium for a secret drill in preparation for our opening game. At close to 3 o'clock a student entered and announced that Japan had bombed Hawaii. The drill was over. We rushed to the shower and then to the radios to listen to the latest broadcasts.

"There was much excitement over the bombing, and as soon as I located my roommate several hours later we drove down Massachusetts Avenue to the Japanese embassy where a crowd of apparently 500 people had gathered to be the members. The FBI, secret police and metropolitan police, were keeping the crowd back from the gates. A few minutes after we reached the embassy a taxi drove up and three men got out and commenced to throw bottles at the windows. But the police acted quickly and they were removed.

"We then drove to the White House, but nobody was permitted within two hundred feet of the place. People were gathered everywhere, listening to the latest news and discussing the situation. Around midnight we and several more students again drove past the Capitol, and Lincoln Memorial, and imagine our surprise at discovering bayoneted guards (Marines) on duty. Machine guns were posted all along the bridges, and on and around the Capitol.

"No lessons were prepared for Monday, and most of the afternoon classes were dismissed while the faculty and students alike listened to President Roosevelt's message to Congress demanding war. The Capitol is only thirteen blocks from Gallaudet and several of us who have passes to the House and Senate decided to attend the meeting. However, special passes were required and we could not get within two blocks of the Capitol for armed soldiers had "fenced" the building off. We returned in time to listen to it over the Radio.

"We are now being drilled in what to do in case of an air raid, for Washington got a good scare when a false alarm sounded that bombers had been sighted off New York. We have not yet had a blackout, but all lights are dimmed. Airplanes are circling over Washington at all hours. Soldiers are guarding all important Government property.

"This war will probably have much to do with Gallaudet for the students come from nearly every state, and during the last war the enrollment fell off forty per cent. Many of the students have brothers in the army. Now that war has been declared there is nothing left for us to do except unite in one body to do all we can to win."

ROSCOE STONE RETIRES FROM STATE BOARD

Roscoe Stone, who has been on the State Agriculture Board in some capacity since 1935, announces that with the expiration of his present term on January 1, he will retire from the position. Such appointments are made bi-annually by the Secretary of Agriculture and Mr. Stone has asked not to be re-appointed, due to the fact that the long trips and the time required for the work keep him away from his private business entirely too much. Mr. Stone stated that he thought seven years enough for one man and that he is ready to let somebody else take over.

Mr. Stone is also president of the State Farm Bureau.

ONLY $200 NEEDED IN RED CROSS FUND

The Red Cross War Chest fund had reached a total of $1815.91 on Tuesday morning, lacking only $184.09 reaching the $2000 goal set for Fulton. Joe D. Davis, chairman of the drive, stated that the people had cooperated in a splendid way but urged that those who had not made any donation would do so at once.

It is hoped that the remainder of the fund will be given by Christmas Eve.

FULTON BOY WRITES FROM FLORIDA

The following letter was written by James R. Sellars, formerly of Fulton, who is now in training in Camp Blanding, Fla.:

"I wish to take time out for a few minutes, to tell all my friends who remember me as a young boy going to school in Fulton—back in 1931 at South Fulton high school.

"I want you all to know that I wish you a very merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year.

"I am serving in the U. S. Army and I am ready, willing and able to do my part in the war which is now at hand. I was inducted into the National Service on November 25, 1940 and since have been promoted to rank of corporal. I will continue to serve to the best of my ability, as I have done for the past year and help my country as best I can so help me God. I would love to hear from all my friends who care to write and promise an answer to all letters.

"My name and address is as follows: Corporal James R. Sellars, HQ Btry. 56th F. A. Brig., 31st Inf. Division APO 31, Camp Blanding, Fla."

To Our Friends

In a typical rural American community like ours, that immortal Christmas message—"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"—finds its truest meaning and its sincerest applications.

For it is here that the individual really counts. Nowhere else are people so willing to lend a helping hand to a fellow man. No cry of distress remains unanswered, no plea for help ignored. Not only at Christmas time, but throughout the year, every day activities of our friends and neighbors are guided by a sense of brotherly love.

Even our friends and relatives of the large cities realize and admit that Christmas "back home" is the finest Christmas of all. And "back home" they'll come, every year, every one of them, if they can.

Ordinary times these facts might be considered unimportant. But in a stricken world that must come to adopt as its cardinal objective that same message of Christmas—"Peace on Earth, Good Will Toward Men"—the significance of the part we must play in shaping the future of mankind stands out in sharp relief. In so much of the world the individual counts for little. In communities such as ours in America every human being retains the rights and freedom of the individual.

If we epitomize the true Christmas spirit, we represent the truest of democratic ideals. And thus each of us has a sacred, yet simple, duty to perform. We must reaffirm our will to continue being a peaceful neighbor and a faithful friend. If we do this and do it in the divine spirit of Christmas, the world can continue to look to us as the bulwark of high ideals.

His newspaper realizes that as a member of this community we have our obligation to fulfill. We have tried to be a "good neighbor and true friend" to all of you. We will continue to be. And we know that in turn you have the same feeling toward us.

With this faith uppermost in our hearts we wish for you an abundance of all the blessings that will bring you—A Merry Christmas.

Modern Toys Offer Children Varied Appeal

Gather in the parlor, folks, and have a skeet shoot.

Or, if you're militarily inclined, become a chair strategist with new games "suggested by air and naval warfare and army maneuvers."

You can do either or both and much else, too, according to Santa Claus, whose bag contents reveal just such a variety of toys for Christmas, 1941.

"The desire of adults to forget wartime jitters in relaxing fun at home is reflected in an increased demand for easy-to-play games," say toy manufacturers. "Parlor versions of bowling, skeet shooting and skeeball are being featured on Christmas toy lists everywhere."

You also can shoot darts with rubber-band guns, build model airplanes, or, if you're the kind that would, swipe junior's miniature submarines and watch them dive in the bathtub.

The main point, says Santa Claus, is that "the American toy industry is geared to give children their full quota of happy play hours in 1941, unshadowed by war."

That wasn't so in 1914 when Germany was the world's greatest toy-producing country. American-made toys were a poor substitute. But all that is changed. For the past 20 years virtually all new designs and improvements have been initiated in the United States' toy shops.

Patriotic and national defense themes are carried out in this year's toys. The latter includes coast defense guns and the like, all "scientifically tested," in the interests of society.

There will be the usual scientific toys, dolls, and things-on-wheels, but with improvements. In the first category is a microscope using a polaroid light; in the second, China maidens with "Hollywood glamour set encoiffure"; and in the third, motorized army equipment of the "latest designs."

Defense isn't the only government function reflected in toy designs. The FHA's influence is apparent in a new double-decker bunk calculated "to eliminate crowding in doll houses."

St. Francis Started Use of Yule Crib

It was St. Francis of Assisi who gave the Crib the tangible form in which we know it today. In 1223 he visited Rome and told Pope Honorius III his plans of making a scenic representation of the place of the Nativity. The Pope gave his sanction and on Christmas eve, St. Francis constructed a crib and grouped round it the figures of the blessed Virgin and St. Joseph, the ass and ox, and the shepherds. He used live animals in a real stable.

The custom spread from Italy to Spain, Portugal, France, the Netherlands and Germany, and from these countries it has spread to all corners of the earth.

Museums throughout the world possess very ancient cribs. The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, has a group which dates from before 1478.

The custom of placing cribs out of doors as Christmas decorations in the yard has become popular the past few years.

Huge Christmas Feasts Served in Old Castles

Christmas dinners served in medieval castles were in reality "feasts." The meal lasted usually from three in the afternoon until midnight.

One of the dishes always on the table was meat pie. In delving into history we find that Sir Henry Grey in England ordered one baked that was nine feet in circumference. It weighed 165 pounds and was served from a four-wheel cart built for the purpose.

Here's the recipe:
2 bushels flour 6 snipes
20 pounds butter 4 partridges
4 geese 2 neat's tongues
2 rabbits 2 curlews
4 wild ducks 6 pigeons and
2 woodcocks 7 blackbirds

Making a Doll Buggy
The amateur carpenter of the family can make a doll carriage easily and cheaply. A jumbo grape basket may be fastened on wooden axles for wooden wheels. Handles can be made from discarded yardsticks or window-shade sticks, with a piece of broomstick for a hand rest. Paint any desired color, and mother, aunt or sister will be glad to make a pad for the inside. It makes a dandy Christmas gift for any little girl.

ORDERS TO THE LETTER

Mather Field public relations officers of Sacramento, released only part of the story.

A commissioned officer presented his pass to the sentry at the gates and drove in, but there was no salute from the guard.

The officer returned, brusquely asked why.

"Sir," came the reply, "the tenth general order taken from the soldier's basic field manual instructed me to 'salute all officers and all colors and standards no cased.' You had the glass rolled up on your car, so I supposed you were cased."

The officer's response was not released.

MAN OF ACTION

Dr. Francis L. Patton, one-time president of Princeton, wore side-whiskers. Frequently he suggested to his family that he shave them off, but there existed a difference of opinion in the matter and he was therefore unable to obtain a clear-cut decision.

One morning Dr. Patton came into his wife's dressing room, razor in hand, with his right cheek shaved smooth.

"How do you like it, my dear?" he inquired. "If you think it looks well, I will shave the other side, too."

Accidents Offer Grave Threat To Yule Gaiety

Nothing can spoil the festive gaiety of a Christmas celebration more completely than a fire or accident in the home. There are several essential precautions which will help to assure a truly Merry Christmas.

- ❖ Don't risk using frayed cords and broken plugs.
- ❖ Don't handle electrical appliances with wet hands.
- ❖ Don't yank at cords or run them under rugs.
- ❖ Don't forget to have insulated staples on hand for stringing cords around.
- ❖ Don't overload your house circuit. Usually 1,000 watts is as much as any one circuit will stand.
- ❖ Don't neglect providing plenty of extra lamp bulbs of the various sizes and colors you're using for Christmas cheer, so you can replace burned-out ones.
- ❖ Don't put pennies in a blown-out fuse. A blown fuse is a warning!
- ❖ Don't have high wattage lamp bulbs near fancy inflammable ornaments, synthetic materials, paper or cotton. Watch out about using candles too near draperies, wall paper or woodwork.
- ❖ Don't plan to have a row of candles too close to a mirror or the heat may crack it.

And above all, don't burn real candles on your Christmas tree unless it has first been thoroughly fireproofed.

Antituberculosis Seals Sold in Forty Nations

Besides the United States, more than 40 different countries throughout the world now have, or have had, Christmas seals or stamps that are sold wholly or partially for tuberculosis work. Little did Einar Holboell realize, when he conceived that first Danish Christmas seal, launched in 1904, that his simple idea would in a generation circle the globe.

Claiming the honor of having originated the Christmas seal sale, Denmark has, with its neighboring country, Sweden, held seal sales annually since 1904. In the United States, seal sales began in 1907.

Up to 1934, the sale of Christmas seals in the United States alone totaled $75,000,000, all of which has been devoted to the control of tuberculosis.

GREETINGS TO ALL

MAY this Christmas usher in a year filled with every joy and every happiness for you and yours. Our Christmas really would not be complete unless we extended greetings of the season, and wished you every success in the coming year.

PEACE ON EARTH

BY THE RIGHT REVEREND HENRY HOBSON
Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Southern Ohio and National Chairman of The Fight for Freedom Committee

To many who read and hear the Christmas story this year "Peace on Earth" will be words without meaning. There is no peace on earth.

There was no peace when these words were first sung by the Angels on the night that the Child of Bethlehem was born. The crowds which jammed the inn, and filled each house in the village, until only a stable manger offered refuge for a new born babe, were evidence of the oppressive tyranny which robbed a people of their peace. A decree from the dictator had gone out.

There has been no peace on earth since that first Christmas for always through the years that same hand of oppression has rested heavily upon countless millions of men made by God to be free.

The Angels proclaimed not a fact but a hope—a hope to be realized on earth only as all men everywhere are able to live not as slaves but as children of God. For Christ's peace is not just for the United States, or for people of white skins, or for those with education in their minds, food in their stomachs, or money in their pockets. It is for all men on earth, and he who would find peace for himself must be striving to insure it for others. Those who seek to live in a peace of isolationism, while others are in turmoil of body and soul, will never share in realizing the hope of peace on earth. God doesn't answer the prayer "Peace for me."

Peace is that state in which man, no matter what his race or nation or color, can freely live with an equal opportunity to use his talents and abilities as a child of God. When this right is denied to men anywhere there can be no peace on earth.

As Christians we are called today to face the fact that the forces of oppression are robbing man of his right to peace. The people of England can have no peace as long as shelters must be their refuge from destructive bombs, and while their coasts are threatened by invasion. The people of France can have no peace as long as the Hitler appointed appeasers force a hated collaboration with the conquerors who have made them slaves. The peoples of Holland and Belgium—violated, impoverished—can have no peace while they suffer under the tyrants heel. The people of Poland—the tragic country of broken homes and divided families, deprived of leaders by mass slaughter—can have no peace while systematic ravishing destroys life and land. The people of Norway—betrayed by men who as children they had nurtured—can have no peace while they shiver through bitter cold nights robbed of food stripped from their land. The millions of China—wandering, starving, history's supreme sufferers—can have no peace while bombs fall like rain to wreck their bodies and blast their homes. The people of Greece—where courage never faltered and vision was never dimmed by appeasement—will never know peace while forced labor makes slaves of their bodies and while the invader defiles the beauties of their land. The people of Germany—the older people distraught and in terror, the younger ones poisoned from infancy by falsehood—can never have peace while the concentration camp closes its brutal jaws on every free spirit, and Hitlerism prostitutes truth and justice to make right appear wrong and wrong appear right.

People ask me how I can give allegiance to the Prince of Peace and at the same time urge that our country take up arms against the aggressors of our day. My answer is that there can be no peace on earth in a Hitler dominated world, and that we face a moment in history when the use of force is the only effective means of halting the onrush of those evil powers which, because they despise true peace, are seeking to enslave mankind under a brutal war system for centuries to come. There are times, and this Christmas 1941 is one such time, when our desire for peace is determined not by a refusal to take sides in a conflict which is raging, but by our willingness to sacrifice and suffer as we courageously fight against the enemy who seeks to destroy all peace. By action not evasion we have our chance to share in the fulfillment of that hope which the Angels held before all mankind—Peace on Earth.

MRS. EDWARDS HOSTESS TO DINNER

Mrs. Howard Edwards was hostess to the annual Christmas party for her contract bridge club last Thursday night. A four-course dinner was served to nine members of the club at the Coffee Shop. Decorations, place cards and favors carried out the holiday motif.

The group then went to the home of Mrs. Edwards on Carr-st and games of bridge were enjoyed.

Mrs. Homer Wilson held high score and received the prize. Gifts were then exchanged from the Christmas tree. Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Simple Decorations Provide Originality To Christmas Table

To the homemaker who is worried about the expense of Christmas decorations, here are a few new and inexpensive ways of adding originality to the Christmas table:

Try red or blue cellophane over a white table cloth. Cellophane will not discolor the cloth as will some colored papers.

Paste various-sized stars to the white cloth. Or, paste cutouts of Santa, reindeer, candles, holly sprays, etc. Use a ribbon of gold or silver paper down the center of the table.

When an uneven number of guests are to be seated at the table, you might confine the evergreen and floral arrangement to one end of the table, father at the other, with the guests seated at the sides.

Imagine the charm added by sewing a few tiny bells along the hem of the cloth so that when the guests move there is a sound of tinkling.

Down the center you might arrange a row of candles of different heights.

Various strange figures may be made from fruits, nuts and gum drops. A large prune stuffed with a marshmallow, with a raisin for a head and almonds for feet, makes a penguin.

An attractive Santa may be made from an apple. Use a big red apple for the body, a marshmallow for the head, and cloves for eyes and nose. Two skewers can be used for legs, which are covered with cotton batting. Cotton is also used for a belt, whiskers, hair and for covering short pieces of wire inserted as arms. A little red cap is made from pieces of tissue paper secured to the marshmallow with a pin. A third skewer is inserted at the rear to give Santa a three-point landing.

Amusing gumdrop trees may be made from wire or natural twigs.

Bayberries Contain
Good Candle Wax

Growing in the sandy soil from Alaska to Florida is a shrub known as the Bayberry. The branches are thickly beset with gray, wax-giving berries. In early Colonial days animal fats were rather scarce, so that the children gathered these berries for making candles. Today, the lighting of Bayberry candles on Christmas eve is a custom the country over.

These candles are more brittle and less greasy than those made from tallow. They are translucent green, and when the flame is extinguished, the resulting odor is as sweet and pungent as incense.

In the event that some may want to make their own candles, here are directions:

Cover the berries with water and boil for an hour. The oil comes to the top but it is often soiled with leaves and small twigs, so it should be strained through a cloth. When this wax becomes cold, it will form a cake at the top of the water. It should be heated again, preparatory to molding the candles. If you have candle molds you will, of course, use them, if not, you may fasten several wicks to a piece of wood, which can be dipped into the hot wax, using a tall container of small diameter. Each coat should chill and become hard before dipping again, and the dipping should continue until the desired diameter is obtained.

Celebrations Mark Christmas in China

In China the Christmas festival among Christians is known as Sheng Dan Jieh, the Holy Birth festival. This celebration has gradually penetrated inland.

Various paper decorations and evergreens adorn the churches and homes. Paper chains are made of green, red, yellow and blue and are suspended in interlocking festoons from the ceiling. On the white walls, large posters are hung. On them are elaborate characters meaning peace and joy.

No candles are used, but the trees are decorated with paper flowers, colored paper chains and cotton snowflakes.

There is usually an early service. The church is kept dark except for lanterns carried by the worshipers. Carolers wend their way along the road before dawn, singing the Chinese words to such melodies as "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." The service consists of reading the Christmas message from the Bible, music, dramatization of the manger scene, and an offering for the poor.

Gifts are distributed to the children. The packages contain such things as tangerines, peanuts, pretty picture cards (sometimes used as gifts sent from America), candy and western lead pencils.

BOTH BLUFFING—ONE WAS SINCERE

Rubin Bonier of Philadelphia was ready to turn over his cash to a masked man who entered his store brandishing a gun, until he noticed the weapon was a toy.

"Why, you bum," shouted Bonier, pulling a pistol from beneath the counter, "I'll give you the real thing."

The bandit fled, and the irate Bonier started in pursuit, only to stop, laughing.

He remembered his own gun was not loaded.

BEARS AVOID RAIDS

Officials of the Trailside Museum of Bear Mountain, N. Y., deliberated for some time about what to do with Bear Mountain Park's five bears in event of air raids.

The bears didn't wait for the decision.

They went into hibernation.

NO MONEY, SMACK JAPS

He didn't have his ticket, but Geyne Sun didn't throw at him that old chestnut, "No tickie, no shirtee."

Words of Bible Laud Virtues In 'Giving'

A little research reveals that many of the familiar quotations on the virtues of "giving" have a sound basis in Holy Scripture. Though they were not all made in connection with "giving" at Christmas time, the verses below (all taken from the Bible) provide definite clues to the origin of the many more modern "give" slogans so often heard in the holiday season.

Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over, shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again.

—Luke 6:38.

I have sheared you all things, have that so labouring ye ought to support the weak and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.

—Acts 20:35.

Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity; for God loveth a cheerful giver.

—II Cor. 9:7.

A gift is a precious stone in the eyes of him that hath it; whithersoever it turneth, it prospereth.

—Prov. 17:8.

He that giveth unto the poor shall not lack; but he that hideth his eyes shall have many a curse.

—Prov. 28:27.

But rather give alms of such things as ye have; and, behold, all things are clean unto you.

—Luke 11:41.

And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity.

—I Cor. 13:13.

If thou hast but a little, be not afraid to give according to that little.

—(Apoc.) Tobit 4:8.

Every man shall give as he is able, according to the blessing of the Lord thy God which He hath given thee.

—Deut. 16:17.

Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

—I Cor. 12:4.

Freely ye have received, freely give.

—Matt. 10:8.

Bethlehem, N. H., Is Like Tiny Village of Nativity

BETHLEHEM, N. H.—This peaceful little "Christmas town" nestled in the New Hampshire hills bears a striking resemblance to the Holy Village for which it was named. Its location is similar to that of Bethlehem in Judea, and, strangely enough it is a village of inns and Jewish people, just like the real Bethlehem in the beautiful story of the Christ Child. This similarity exists, however, only in summer when 32 magnificent hotels, taverns and inns, nine of which observe the Jewish dietary laws, are hosts to those who come, year after year, to enjoy the beauty of green fields and purple mountains. At Christmastide the population is less than a thousand souls and most of them are natives whose hardy ancestors built their log cabins along Bethlehem streets where the palatial hotels now stand.

Men in Army, Navy Await Yule Season

For men in the army and navy the Christmas holidays are gala days. Army furlough privileges permit many men to visit their homes while active field training is suspended. Railroads last year cut their rates drastically for the men in uniforms, and it is expected the same will hold true this Christmas season.

For those who remain in the camps special Christmas dinners, religious services and holiday festivities will be arranged. The same arrangement will be made for men in the fleet, few of whom will be able to spend the holidays at home.

The army has also arranged to include relatives and friends of the men in camp in as many activities as possible.

Christmas Observance
At high noon on Christmas day in 1925, the famous General Grant tree, located in the General Grant National park, near Fresno, Calif., was designated as the Nation's Christmas Tree. According to the United States department of the interior, the tree is estimated to be 267 feet high and is one of the so-called Bigtrees.

TELEPHONE CO. ASKS LINES BE KEPT OPEN

Civilians were requested today to cooperate with the nation's war effort by refraining as far as possible from using long distance facilities on Christmas Day and New Year's Day in order that long distance telephone lines can be kept open for government use in this emergency.

The request came from F. H. Riddle, manager of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, who said that war preparations might be seriously hampered if long distance circuits become so crowded with civilian holiday greeting messages as to delay completion of calls necessary to the war program.

He asked all persons contemplating exchanging greetings by long distance telephone to place their calls some time other than Christmas Day and New Year's Day as a contribution toward America's preparations.

In making his appeal, Mr. Riddle said "Long distance facilities have been crowded with calls ever since the United States was attacked on December 7."

"Government long distance telephone requirements, both military and civil, have increased sharply. Industrial plants, stepping up the tempo of production, have started using long distance in an ever-increasing volume.

"In addition, news services of essential and semi-essential nature have found it necessary to increase their use of long distance. Long distance lines also are used to link the stations of the radio networks. On top of this, the heavy volume of civilian calls which we had already anticipated shows signs of increasing beyond the capacity of our facilities, despite our all-out preparation of the past months. Unless there is a sharp reduction in volume of non-essential long distance calls on Christmas and New Year's Day, there might certainly be delays on essential calls.

"None of us wants that to happen, so we appeal to you not to place calls Christmas and New Year's Day unless they are essential."

Good temper oils the wheels of life.
