The eight men, all large, including three life termers, were regarded as dangerous, but apparently unarmed when they left the prison.

Meanwhile, state troopers blocked all roads leading from Reidsville and, with the aid of a posse and bloodhounds, made a systematic search of the area.

Sedans Collide By High School

Bobby Lee Fulcher Is Slightly Injured In Accident; Cars Damaged

Two Chevrolet sedans collided this morning at the corner of Second and Pearl streets near Fulton high school. Bobby Lee Fulcher, a passenger in one of the automobiles, was taken to Fulton hospital where he was examined and retained for treatment for shock. His condition is not serious and it is expected that he will be discharged soon. No one else involved in the wreck was injured.

One of the cars, owned by Luke Fulcher of near Fulton and driven by his son, J. B. Fulcher, with Bobby Lee Fulcher as the only passenger, was going south on Pearl street. Witnesses report that this car failed to stop at the traffic sign and moved into the path of the automobile owned by V. L. Craven, 103 Jefferson street, and driven by his son, Curtis Craven. The Craven car struck the Fulcher car and drove it across the intersection against a telephone pole on the corner. The pole was snapped in two approximately in the middle. Both cars were damaged considerably.

Other passengers in the Craven car were Harlan Craven, Gerald Tyler, Kenneth Tyler and Jane Huffman.

City police were at the scene to investigate the accident and a wrecker was called to clear the intersection.

Negro Admits Killing Two

Farmhand Confesses He Shot Georgia Paper Man And Married Companion

Atlanta, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Georgia state police today said a newspaper carrier and his married companion has been solved with the written confession from a negro farmhand, authorities said today.

City Police Capt. Lan W. Seabrook said Quillian Daniel, 35-year-old negro, had admitted killing W. A. Carnes, 48, father of three children, and Mrs. Walter S. Webb, 35, mother of a 14-year-old daughter, last Thursday night on a lonely side road near Royston.

The officer said the statement had been held for safekeeping since his arrest a few hours after the victims' bodies were found in Mrs. Webb's car.

Sheriff Tom W. Andrews of Franklin county had formally charged Daniel with the slaying on the latter's arrest.

Seabrook quoted Daniel as saying he went to the scene of the slaying at Carnes' request and that he shot the white man after the latter had cursed and threatened him. The negro claimed Mrs. Webb was unintentionally shot as she sat in the car, Seabrook said.

Daniel said Carnes had previously warned him against saying anything about seeing the couple together on an earlier occasion, the officer added.

Mrs. Webb was the wife of a farmer for whom Daniel worked.

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation today ordered a 25 percent reduction in railroad passenger service performed by coal-burning locomotives effective at 11:59 p. m., next Sunday.

ODT said the order was issued "because of the threatened stoppage of production of bituminous coal."

The agency warned further that a continued stoppage of bituminous mining operations "would result in the curtailment of freight, parcel post, mail and railway express shipments and all export traffic except food, clothing and medicine."

Two Killed In Ashland Fire

18 Families Homeless When Four Buildings Are Destroyed In Blaze

Ashland, Ky., Nov. 18.—(AP)—A Red Cross case worker was expected here today from Alexandria, Va., to assist 18 families made homeless yesterday by a fire which caused the death of two persons and destroyed two apartment buildings and two nearby houses.

Housing and feeding was being provided temporarily in the Salvation Army headquarters for the 71 persons displaced by the flames, the Ashland Red Cross announced.

Fire Chief Burris Hendley identified the dead as Arthur Henry Bolton, 67, a house painter, and Mrs. Hilma Hall Boggs, 39. George S. Kimbelen, owner of one of the two-story frame apartment buildings, said Bolton and Mrs. Boggs apparently were trapped by their father from the second floor of the Kimbelen apartment which broke out before dawn from an undetermined origin. They occupied first-floor apartments.

A five-month-old baby girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Johnson, was tossed to safety by her father from the second floor of the Kimbelen apartment into the arms of Ed Johnson, her uncle, who occupied another apartment in the building. The Andrew Johnsons then saved themselves by jumping to a low roof and climbing to the ground.

Mrs. Katherine Bostic, 18-year-old sister of Mrs. Johnson and wife of a Navy man in service, was bruised and cut in jumping to the ground.

South Expected To Rival West In Beef Production

Atlanta, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Robert C. Robeling of Savannah, director of the Southeastern Aberdeen Angus Breeders' Association, said today that raising of beef cattle in the south eventually will rival livestock production in the west.

"It is significant that more and more farmers in Dixie are turning to livestock production as an important part of their agricultural operations," Robeling said. "Year-round grazing made possible by ideal climatic conditions enables the southern farmer to raise beef cattle more economically compared with many other parts of the country."

The association's cattle show and sale opens here tomorrow with entries from Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

State Miners Still At Work

Survey Of Kentucky Pits Today Shows Production Is About Up To Normal

A survey of Kentucky coal fields today showed they were operating at near normal capacity, with two more days remaining for work before the Wednesday midnight deadline set by United Workers Chief John L. Lewis for expiration of the union contract.

A report from Garrett, Floyd county, said one mine of the Consolidation Coal Company was idle today when the men refused to go into the pits after reporting for work. The mine employs normally about 150 men and officials of the Big Sandy Elkhorn Coal Operators Association said the men gave no reason for their refusal to work.

Reports from the Hazard and Harlan fields in Eastern Kentucky and the Western Kentucky field said the mines were operating normally.

Sam Caddy of Lexington, president of District 30, UMW, said he had heard of only the one mine in the Big Sandy field being idle today.

About half a dozen small mines were down in Muhlenberg and Webster counties in Western Kentucky but they had been idle several days for other causes.

The Graham and Skidoo mines in Muhlenberg, employing about 400 men, have been closed several weeks because of a shortage of coal cars and another one in Webster county was closed by mechanical difficulties.

Mine operators have received notices from the Federal government that the pits are to continue in operation and the notices were being posted today.

There was no indication from UMW sources what was planned after the Wednesday midnight deadline set by Lewis.

Marcantonio Before Jury

Told To Testify About Death Of Republican Election Worker Nov. 11

New York, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Rep. Vito Marcantonio (AL-D) of the 18th congressional district will be served with a subpoena to appear tomorrow before a grand jury investigating the election by fatal beating of Joseph Scaterregio, Republican election worker, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said today.

Hogan said the subpoena would be served this afternoon on Marcantonio, who won reelection over Frederick Van Pelt Bryan, Republican, Scaterregio, 38, was a campaign worker for Bryan. He was beaten as he walked from his home to the polling place, and died last Monday.

Hogan declined to say what phases of the case Marcantonio would be questioned about.

The district attorney's announcement was the first indication that a grand jury already was investigating the death of the election worker.

Asked whether Scaterregio's death could be called a political murder, Hogan said: "everything that has been obtained points exclusively to that motivation, but we are not excluding other possibilities."

Meanwhile Joey Rao, 45, and Michael (Trigger Mike) Coppola, 46, ex-convicts, were in city prison in lieu of $250,000 bail each, as material witnesses in the case.

Action Is Taken After Thousands Of Miners Strike

SIGNED AT 12:50 P. M.

Washington, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Justice Department announced today Federal Judge Allen Goldsborough has signed a temporary order designed to restrain a walkout by John L. Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners.

The department said the restraining order bars Lewis from terminating at Wednesday midnight his working contract with the government.

Goldsborough's order, the department said, expires November 27 at 3 p. m., unless "before such time the order for good cause shown is extended, or unless the defendants consent that it may be extended for a longer period."

A hearing on the Justice Department's request for a preliminary injunction to bar breach of contract was set for hearing November 27 at 10:00 a. m.

The court action was taken as thousands of miners quit work curtailing bituminous production in advance of the termination deadline given by Lewis.

According to the Justice Department, Goldsborough's order today restrained Lewis and the United Mine Workers from "breaching any of their obligations under" the Krug-Lewis agreement, and "from coercing, inducing, instigating, encouraging the mine workers at the bituminous coal mines in the government's possession, or any of them or any person, to interfere by strike, slowdown, walkout, cessation of work or otherwise, with the operation of said mines by continuing in effect the aforesaid notice or by issuing any notice of termination of agreement or through any other means or device; and from interfering with or obstructing the exercise by the Secretary of the Interior of his functions under Executive Order 9728; and from taking any action which would interfere with this court's jurisdiction, or which would impair, obstruct, or render fruitless, the determination of this case by the court."

Executive Order 9728 is the order of President Truman selling the 3,300 bituminous coal mines during last spring's strike, May 22.

Goldsborough is a justice of the Federal District Court here and long served in Congress as Democratic representative from Maryland.

The order was signed by Justice Goldsborough at 12:50 p. m. today.

Hours before he acted on the government's complaint, miners by the thousands were quitting their jobs in advance of the Wednesday deadline set by Lewis' order.

President Truman had called for a showdown fight with Lewis over the threat of another nationwide soft coal strike.

Mr. Truman was vacationing in Florida but intimates said he had left orders for subordinates in the capital to either smash Lewis' leadership of the miners or bring him to terms on a deal to keep mines going.

Lewis, rejecting a government proposal for a truce, has "terminated" the miners' wage contract effective Wednesday midnight—a signal for a complete shutdown in the mine fields. The government insists the contract still is effective.

Give Us A Sign!

This is a request for a sign. Two signs. One at the end of Commercial Avenue where it enters Lake street, to read, "ONE-WAY-DO NOT ENTER"—the other at the end of the same street where it enters Carr Street to read, "ONE-WAY" with an arrow pointing the way.

This is no project such as the taming of "Hurricane" Harris Fork creek. It calls for no solving of legal technicalities; no outlay of a considerable sum of money; no weeks and months of construction; no petitions and counter-petitions. All we ask is a sign.

The daily designated representatives of the people of Fulton meet tonight. By a simple vote it is within their power to render this service to the motorists of this town. The streets of Fulton belong to all the people of Fulton. The people of Fulton have entrusted the care and safety of those streets into the hands of their city officials. Commercial Avenue is not safe. It is obvious that the street is not wide enough to carry the traffic that slowly strangles it all the days of the week and garrotes it on Saturdays. It must be converted into a one-way street to be safe and convenient. Two "g" signs are needed to make it as safe as a modern traffic thoroughfare can be. Perhaps two more signs which read "caution" crosses over it also would be needed.

Give us these signs! That's all we ask. (And that is not merely an editorial "we". Many people have expressed themselves as favoring this. One lady went so far as to offer to pay for the sign!)

Give us the signs, and see if they work. After they DO work we'll ask for the same thing for Second Street between Lake and Carr—only with traffic running the other way. Then, perhaps, we can take the parked cars out of the middle of Lake Street.

All this can be done with little or no expense. Traffic on the streets of downtown Fulton is unsafe. We believe the ultimate relief must be in parking meters, but until that "operation" can be performed, let's give "these signs" to the motorists of Fulton with a sign.

Hold That Tiger!

Sydney, (AP)—A two and one-half year old Bengal tiger walker past his keeper and out of his cage at Tarnagora Park zoo in Sydney today, causing a near panic among zoo visitors before officials shot it dead.

Loudspeakers blared the warning "a tiger is on the loose" and visitors hustled into the next enclosure and zoo buildings.

Says American Women Should French Expect Lead Anti-Fascist Movement Better Yule

By Adelaide Kerr
 AP Newswriter
 Senora Ana Rosa Schiller de Martinez Guerrero, leading Argentine feminist, says the women of the United States should lead the united women of the world in a drive against Fascism and dictatorships.

"Democracy won on the battlefield, but there is still an active group with the same ideas as the Nazis," said the beautiful wife of Guillermo de Martinez Guerrero, rich rancher and member of the Argentine Chamber of Deputies. "It doesn't matter what you call them—Fascists, Francists, Hispanists—they all think alike, against freedom of the individual. The Hispanists are the ones who talk all over the South American republic about Spanish cultural influence, granding the propaganda that North America and South America do not have the same culture, language or spirit and could never be one friendly unit. They are trying to divide North and South America."

"I think when the Germans saw they were losing the war they arranged small groups all over the world to break up the unity which won the war. We should remember that Hitler said, 'If I lose the war I shall set fire to the world.'"

"Without the United States the war would have been lost. Are the isolationists who do not want the United States to take part in international affairs, the unwitting victims of Fascist propaganda? Are the Fascists again widening and deepening the wedge between the great countries?"

Senora Guerrero made a striking picture as she leaned forward earnestly, her dark eyes flashing, her silver hair cupped in the sky blue turban she wore with her black dress. She founded and headed both the Argentine suffrage Union of Women and the Anti-Fascist League for Victory, whose membership of 50,000 women collected

No Red Rebellion

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The revolt of the left-wing, labor (socialist) government's foreign policy, which is having an airing today, undoubtedly owes some of its impetus to communist influence, but we shouldn't make the mistake of thinking that this is a red rebellion. British socialism isn't red. Indeed, the labor party has banned communism. There are comparatively few communists in the British Isles, and there are only two in common. However, they're like a handful of yeast in a beer-vat—they cause ferment. In the present instance they are very active, following up the labor's cardinal policy of divide-and-rule, that is, causing a split in a party or organization and then profiting by the division.

What the sixty-odd left-wing socialists profess to fear is that Britain, by paralleling America's foreign policy in many particulars, may become involved in war with Russia. Their supposition is that the capitalist United States is headed for trouble with the Soviet Union. They want John Bull to cut loose from Uncle Sam and, as they put it, proceed along socialist lines tied neither to American "free enterprise" nor Soviet communism.

Well, that's a risky venture, because if there should be another conflict (which heaven forbid) then John Bull is going to be in it up to his neck right from the start, and now is the time to decide on which side his head is buttered. Thus far Prime Minister Attlee has continued to hew steadily to his chosen policy, and it will take more than the present revolt to make him change his mind.

If the left-wingers could insure Britain's neutrality in another major conflict by the expedient of proceeding along lines not tied to the policies of any other great power, then they would indeed have a strong argument for their thesis. But there isn't a break of hope that England could escape involvement. If there's another war between any two great powers, the rest will be in it, for it will develop quickly into a global affair.

It's safe to say that, apart from perhaps a very few radical socialists, the British Isles aren't impelled by love of communism. The English socialist believes in nationalization of industry, but like all other Britons he abhors the idea of totalitarian dictatorship for which the Red is stand. John Bull is a very independent individual.

More Food Available Now In Restaurants, Shops; Shop Windows Filled

By Joseph E. Pyman
 (AP)—Frenchmen will be able to celebrate Christmas this year in something more like the traditional manner, according to current market and food conditions.

Foodstuffs have been relatively plentiful throughout the summer and autumn. Hundreds of restaurants have reopened in the Paris area, many of them serving excellent meals at moderate prices. Even swank black market restaurants which once charged at least 1500 francs a meal are now demanding between 500 and 1000 francs.

Shop windows which at liberation were either empty or filled with makeshift samples are now well stocked with dresses, suits, shirts, children's clothing and toys. Most of the prices are still high, but goods are available at an encouraging advance over last Christmas.

The American military establishment in France is not thinking much about Christmas, at least not yet. According to present plans, all but a very few of them will be out of France by then, some of them home, but most of them transferred into Germany.

Under the present schedule, the Army's western base section will close December first. Remaining installations at Marseille, Rhinings and Le Havre are due to be closed before then. Grave Registration, Air Transport Command, and a few other special units are about all that will remain to observe Christmas here.

"If the women of the world join first in sealing the streets of Fascism and next in fighting it, it cannot live—and we have a real chance of world peace."

Christmas Toys Back Again

Shoppers Who Make Selections Early Will Have The Best Results

AP Newswriter
 New York—The eager Christmas shopper who gets his kiddies list in order early this year will be rewarded with a large selection of toys that haven't been on the counters since the war.

Plaything production in many lines is back at the prewar level, with an overall increase of 35 percent over 1945. Industry spokesmen say, but pent-up demand during the war years is expected to tax even the fullest supplies. In addition, an estimated 5,000,000 children of toy age were added to the population during the war years when the toys they wanted most weren't to be had.

So only the early purchaser will find the plaything this year—and any day before Christmas last-minute shopping is apt to result in run-of-the-mill toys that have been around for years. But back on the available list for smart buyers will be stamped out steel toys—small cars, tanks and other pushable and pullable gadgets dear to the small fry. The first lines of rubber playthings in years will bring back such items as rubber balls, balloons and animals, although more solid rubber toys may still be short.

Increased use of plastics will provide light-weight electric trains that whiz around at a great clip, movable eyes for dolls, and loads of miniature cars, boats and furniture for doll houses. "Just-like-mother's" vacuum cleaner, washing machines and other household appliances also will be available to keep the doll house in proper order. The house of the prefabricated types parents wish they could duplicate in adult sizes.

This Christmas also will mark the first year of real abundance of cardboard and wooden games, chemistry sets, steel construction sets and small wheel toys. Musical instruments of metal and plastic are back in the form of xylophones, pianos and horns. Ordinary noisemakers, scarce in previous years, will be available, and so will metal and plastic puppets.

Still on the critical list will be electric trains, which are being produced and gobbled up almost as fast as they arrive in the stores, dolls with human hair, and large-size wheel toys. Held up by shortages of materials and labor difficulties. Tree lights for the festive season are being turned out in greater volume, but accumulated war-year breakages are expected to polish off the supply very quickly.

State Department Opposes Probe Of Army In Europe

Washington, Nov. 18—(AP)—The state department was reported today to frown on a proposed Senate investigation of the American military government in Germany and Austria.

Senator Brewster (R-Maine) told reporters he understood that is the department's attitude. He predicted the senate was investigating committee nevertheless will approve hearing in Europe although he said some Democratic members "have lost their enthusiasm."

"The kid-gloves boys at the state department should not be afraid," Brewster commented. "The American taxpayers are entitled to know why we are dumping a billion dollars into the American zone alone and why we have 250,000 of our troops tied up there."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Patterson, Jr.
New York, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Carnegie Tech is reviving its Steffen Memorial scholarship fund to give deserving football players a break. New York U. students are agitating for more convenient classroom schedules and other aids for athletes. Oklahoma City U. campaigned for more dough for football with rather gratifying results and now Iowa State College comes up with a student "club" with the aim of improving its athletic stature. The whole situation becomes slightly confusing when conference leaders, athletic directors and faculties are making strenuous efforts to control commercialism and give the ordinary students a chance on the team; and those same students start a movement calling for a member of the athletic staff to supervise scouting trips for a scholarship fund "to be awarded for outstanding achievement in athletics" and similar features. Wonder what's the next move?

Some one spectator was slightly affected by firewater and right behind a girl, bothered by slightly less fiery warmth, sat with her coat on her lap. KIAC Second Spot Is Open

Murray, Morehead Have Chance To Be Runners; Eastern Clinches First

By The Associated Press
Eastern's Maroons, with the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference football crown tucked away, looked down today to see whether the runner-up would be Morehead or Murray.

The Maroons whipped Western Saturday night, 6-0, to end their season with five victories and four defeats. Three of these wins were in the KIAC and gave the Rome Rankin-tutored eleven undisputed possession of the conference lead with half a game to spare.

Morehead's Eagles, who handed the Maroons their only loss in KIAC competition, currently hold second-place but may have to share the spot with Murray's Thoroughbreds, who can tie the Eagles by beating Western Thanksgiving Day.

The Eagles ended their season with a 29-20 non-league victory over Marshall, while Murray's Thoroughbreds, who were defeated by Eastern Illinois, 35-13, in the initial encounter between the two clubs.

In other games, Louisville trounced Union University, 25-0, for its sixth win; Georgetown lost, 41-20, to the University of Kentucky reserves; and Centre was toppled, 52-7, by Sewanee.

Three clubs are active this week. Murray plays host to Tennessee Poly at Paducah, Centre entertains Arkansas State, and Georgetown closes at home with Hanover.

U-K Gets Feelers To Compete Jan. 1 In A Major Bowl

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 18.—(AP)—The Lexington Herald said in an edition today that the University of Kentucky had received "feeler" concerning a bid to one of the major football bowls New Year's Day, contingent on a wildcard victory over Tennessee next Saturday.

In a story by Sports Editor Babe Kimbrough, the newspaper said that "Although the information which leaked out was meager, it was indicated that UK officials had been contacted concerning either the Orange Bowl (Miami, Fla.) or the Cotton Bowl (Dallas, Tex.)."

Coach Paul Bryant denied the university had received any "feeler."

Kentucky, enjoying the best season since 1912, has won seven games and lost two—to unbeaten Georgia and Alabama.

Kentucky Sports

By The Associated Press
The first phase of Kentucky's football year dealt approached its big test today—the clash with Tennessee at Knoxville next Saturday.

The rivalry between the Wildcats and the Volunteers is one of the strongest in the sport, dating back to 1893. Kentucky, which hasn't beaten Tennessee since 1905, has won 15 games by margin of three to 20 points; Tennessee has won 15 by edges of one to 10 points and has ended in a tie.

Winner of two and loser of seven last year, the Wildcats have reversed that figure in the current campaign. In their first year under Paul (Bear) Bryant, the Kentuckians have traveled a long way.

To be more specific, they have traveled 1,317 miles. In nine games, the Cats have moved 1,317 yards overland and 1,097 yards through the air. Overall that is 673 yards more than opponents have gained.

Kentucky has taken to the air 138 times and completed 69 passes, while its nine foes have tossed 280 passes and completed 83.

But neither usually don't amount to much when Kentucky and Tennessee clash.

Babe Kimbrough, the veteran Morehead College member, likely could qualify as an authority on the subject.

Johnston, who has lost only one game last year—an early season setback at the hands of Murray, but the season went on and with the usual number of surprises, that one defeat cost the Eagles first place in the Kentucky Intercollegiate athletic conference race.

Eastern, with one more league game scheduled, finished a half game ahead of Morehead, and now the Eagles aren't certain of undoubted possession of the runner-up spot. It all depends upon the outcome of the Murray-Western clash Turkey Day.

The 1946 high school basketball tournament, which under the new rules will change, is due for another revision this year.

Winners and runners-up of district tournaments again will advance to the regional meetings, a custom that was followed for many years.

Early this in the past the focus of the sport has gone on to capture the regional—and even the state championship.

Things are different now. Tech's feat of knocking off LSU, something no other club has done this year, Duke, Navy, Mississippi and Tulane, gradually moved the Jackets up the prestige ladder and "handicapped" that game should provide quite a task for the bookies.

Tennessee, LSU and Mississippi State, the other clubs still very much in the running for conference honors and a postseason bowl bid, also kept pace with victories last week. Tennessee spotted Boston College 12 points in the first period and then won 38-12; LSU beat Miami (Fla.), 20-7, and Mississippi State downed Northwestern Louisiana, 27-6.

Georgia added Auburn to its list of victims by a 45-0 count with Charlie Tripp scoring two touchdowns to take the conference lead at 60 points, six more than teammate John Donaldson who failed to register.

Alabama eased by Vanderbilt, 17-7. Kentucky downed West Virginia, 13-0, and Florida lost its seventh game without a victory, losing to Villanova, 27-20. Mississippi was idle.

This week's card features three interconference games, two conference tilts, and three games with Southern conference members. Georgia invades Chattanooga and Vanderbilt is idle.

Georgia Tech Victory Over Tulane Puts Them At Top

By Chick Heech
Atlanta, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Georgia Tech's 35-7 conquest of a highly regarded Tulane eleven boosted the Jackets onto a level with Georgia as the South-eastern conference's chief contender and the meeting of those two at Athens on November 30 begins today to look like the South's "dream game" of the year.

A month ago, Georgia was regarded from two to three touchdowns better than its in-state rival and last week when Coach Wally Butts rated the Tech eleven as one of the league's two best, a lot of observers swallowed that with a grain of salt.

But things are different now. Tech's feat of knocking off LSU, something no other club has done this year, Duke, Navy, Mississippi and Tulane, gradually moved the Jackets up the prestige ladder and "handicapped" that game should provide quite a task for the bookies.

Murray, which has one game remaining, has won seven, lost one and tied one this season. Harlan likewise is unbeaten, having nine victories and one tie.

Can't Get Good Seats With Girls, Harvard Men Say

Cambridge, Mass.—(AP)—Harvard men are complaining that if they take a girl to a football game she is about all they can see.

The Harvard Crimson, student daily, protests that undergraduates who take dates to home games are given tickets behind the goal lines.

"It's a mystery as to who gets the cheering section seats," a Crimson writer said and added: "Most men at Harvard who like football, by coincidence, also like girls who like football."

Kentucky on the March

BY LIVING GALLOWAY
This little essay is about country roads. The first part of it is about a man I knew a long time ago, and it illustrates the difference between patchwork and patchwork. Maintenance of unpaved roads is fifty per cent patchwork, done mainly with shovels. Patchwork is skimping patchwork, and a deplorable waste of public money.

The man in the first part of the story was an auctioneer and village politician named Hart Floyd, undistinguished for sustained physical effort. Henderson county's country road work, such as it was, had been done under a contract system—so much per mile. Once a year the contractors ran one furrow on either side of the dirt roads with two-horse plows, then pulled the loose dirt into the ruts with a horse-drawn grader. If they used shovels at all it was to dig shallow trenches to half bury wooden culverts. Opening trenches to drain low places in the roads or shoveling ditches to let water go through the culverts was seldom thought of. In bad weather most of the roads in our district were all but impassable. That was patchwork.

Country people complained so vigorously to the county judge and fiscal court that these officials abolished the contract system and hired the work done by the day, with a foreman in each magisterial district.

Hart Floyd's political prestige got him the foreman's job in our district. Knowing Floyd's reputation for liking easy jobs up to that time, the folks signed and shook their heads, but he had a surprise in store for them.

Floyd hired a crew, greased on an old grader, sharpened his plow points, bought some long-handled shovels, and went to work. He had his plowmen run two furrows instead of one, and the grader crowned the roads so that the water would run off. He worked with a shovel himself opening all drains to let the water escape. Culverts that had been set too high were lowered, and new ones were buried deep enough to function efficiently. That was patchwork that counted. Not a dollar of the people's money was wasted.

But the contractors brought political pressure to bear and at the end of the year the fiscal court restored the old system. Floyd lost his job, but the effort of his good work lasted five years.

Then for more than forty years there were no more East Florids. Hardly any shoveling. Graders, maintainers were used on gravel roads and dirt lanes, but many drains were left without outlets. Low places in the roads became ponds or mudholes and stayed that way until the beginning of 1946.

Even the poorest counties in the state can profit by Henderson County's experience. They can make every dollar of their road money count.

Murray Attacks Industry Profits As CIO Convenes

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 18—(AP)—President Philip Murray opened the CIO's eighth convention today with a declaration that the "unprecedented profits" of industry constitute the gravest threat ever faced by the American people.

Murray asserted Communism offers a threat to our free economy, but the "staggering profits" of corporations—which he said were running at a $15,000,000,000 rate this year (after taxes)—are "the gravest threat to the maintenance of our system of free enterprise."

Murray told the estimated 600 delegates that the coming wage struggle would be the convention's most important concern. He declared that if Republican leaders think the election results gave them a mandate to "crucify" labor, "they are making a grave mistake."

State Cattle Total Is Up

Washington, Nov. 18—(AP)—Kentucky had a record number of cattle and calves in 1945 as a result of an apparent trend away from some field crops to livestock production.

A Bureau of Census report shows increases during the last 35 years in numbers of cattle and in milk and egg production. Corn, wheat and tobacco production declined during the same period.

The report said cattle and calves numbered more than 1,400,000 in 1945, or approximately 260,000 more than the previous record set in 1935.

Milk production in 1944 (the report showed 1945 figures only for cattle) was more than 244,000,000 gallons, or 17 percent greater than the 1939 production.

Kentucky farmers increased the production of eggs between 1939 and 1944 from 45,400,000 dozens to 61,000,000 dozens.

Tobacco was produced in 1944 on 373,900 acres, 41 percent less than the record acreage of 1919. The 1944 harvest of 436,000,000 pounds, however, was only 14 percent less than the 1919 record harvest.

Corn for grain was grown in 1944 on 2,400,000 acres as compared with 3,400,000 acres in 1919.

The acreage from which hay was cut, on the other hand, has increased steadily since 1909 and totaled 1,600,000 in 1944.

Wheat production of about 7,200,000 bushels in 1944 was approximately 3,100,000 bushels less than the record production of 1919.

Dead Hand Holds Controls

Western Air Lines Ship Found Rammed In Peak Of White Mountain

Burbank, Calif., Nov. 18—(AP)—A dead flyer's hand still grips the controls of the Western Air Lines plane which crashed Wednesday with 11 persons aboard, against the snowy peak of White Mountain.

Ventura County Dep. Sheriff Dolney Cummings, leader of a group which yesterday made an unsuccessful effort to recover the bodies reported finding five badly burned corpses inside the wreckage.

Because no attempt was identification on was made, Cummings said, he was unable to determine whether the hand on the controls was that of Capt. Garret Miller, 34, Van Nuys, pilot, or First Officer Ted Mathias, 25, Whittier, copilot.

Cummings said he presumed the other six bodies were buried beneath the debris, which was scattered over a wide area by the impact. His party, he said, lacked facilities for removing the bodies.

The Ventura county party's trek up the mountain followed attempts Friday and Saturday by a group headed by Los Angeles County Sheriff's Lt. Sewell Griggers. Leaders of the two groups will confer today on plans for recovery of the bodies. Los Angeles county officers were called into the search before it was discovered the plane crashed just inside the Ventura county line.

Meantime, Joseph Tautkas, 38, Roscoe, Calif., private flyer who had been reported missing since Friday joining the search for the crashed airliner, was picked up by a motorist near Fillmore, Calif. Tautkas said he had wandered two days and nights after his craft crashed in the mountains near the scene. His jaw was broken and he was suffering from probable rib and collarbone fractures.

Parents Doubt Girl's Story Of Drowning Lad, 8

Kansas City, Nov. 18—(AP)—Seventeen-year-old Frances Wanstreet, Police Lt. L. E. Wyatt reported today, clung to her assertion that she shoved eight-year-old Ross Key, Jr., into a river and watched him drown, but parents of both children expressed disbelief in her story.

The boy, crippled from infantile paralysis, has been missing since Nov. 4. Last Friday the girl told police she pushed the boy in the Blue river because he teased her.

Expressing belief in her daughter's innocence, Mrs. Ivan Wanstreet said:

"I feel like she's had a dream or something so strong that she believes she did it. I hope and pray they find the boy."

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Key, Sr., who watched searchers dragging the river unsuccessfully yesterday said they did not believe the girl's story.

CAMPUS on the MAIN LINE

ILLINOIS CENTRAL RAILROAD

Here, in the making, is an All-American section crew. From a traveling sound screen, they are picking up pointers on railroading, just as a football team takes on championship polish from its coach.

This is one of 800 traveling campus meetings being held along 6,600 miles of Illinois Central Railroad—meetings suggested by the men, themselves, to teach safer, easier, better ways of doing their jobs.

In several states, other Illinois Central workers are attending specially arranged university extension courses.

These "railroad campus" activities, and others, stem from the Illinois Central's conviction that modern railroading demands the finest in men—and women—as well as the best of equipment. Together they are the heart and sinew of the Illinois Central's promise to bring you transportation second to none.

We intend to earn your continued patronage and friendship.
