Council Again Votes To Have Parking Meters

Meters Get Nod By 5 To 1 Vote Over Protests

STREETS DISCUSSED

The city council decided by a five-to-one vote last night to proceed with plans to install parking meters in Fulton on a trial basis. Dr. J. L. Jones cast the only dissenting vote.

Selection of streets upon which meters will be placed will be made at the regular council meeting December 2, after which the ordinance prepared by City Attorney James Warren will be read.

The city council first voted favorably on installing parking meters on October 7, and the ordinance was ordered to prepare the ordinance and a contract with a meter company. At the November meeting a group of business and professional men presented a petition asking that the meters not be installed, but no vote was taken since the meeting was closed due to Mayor T. T. Boas' absence. Representatives of some 15 or 20 Fulton businesses attended last night's council session to repeat protests against the meters.

Chief arguments advanced against parking meters are:

1. Many customers of Fulton stores might be lost to South Fulton merchants, since there will be no meters across the state line.
2. Farmers and residents of nearby towns who now trade in Fulton might not continue to do so if forced to pay fees for parking their cars and trucks.
3. Those who favor the meters believe that their installation would improve crowded traffic conditions in downtown Fulton, and provide considerable added revenue for the city.

The council last night also voted to favor repairing the bridge on Collins street, and discussed making one-way streets of Commercial, College and Second.

The group passed a franchise ordinance which orders the sale of a five-year franchise for operation of motor buses within the city. Competitive bids will be received by the council in the near future, probably on or about November 30.

The city ordinance regulating the sale and discharge of firecrackers and fireworks will not be enforced during December except in the downtown business and hospital areas, the council ruled. This action was taken because many merchants have stocks of fireworks on hand, and would suffer financial loss if unable to sell them.

The ordinance will be enforced rigidly throughout the city after January 1, 1947, city officials said.

Under terms of the ordinance, the sale or use of fireworks is a misdemeanor punishable by fine.

Forrest Picked For UK Tryout

Bulldog Quarterback To Seek Spot On 'Cat Squad; Meacham Also Is Invited

Billy Joe Forrest, senior Fulton Bulldog quarterback who won fame and games with his accurate forward passing during the past season, has accepted an invitation to try out for a berth on next year's University of Kentucky football team.

The try-out probably will be held at Lexington in June.

His agreement with U-K stipulates that he must be released by the Wildcats before being eligible to seek a football scholarship at any other school in the Southeastern Conference.

Dick Meacham, hard-driving senior fullback on this year's Bulldog team, also was given an opportunity to try out with U-K next year by Ernie Allen, member of the Wildcat scouting staff.

Meacham declined, however, since he has not yet decided whether he wants to play college ball.

Forrest, Meacham, Coaches J. B. Goranilo and Jack Carter, Paul Durbin and Supt. W. L. Holland will be guests of the University at the Kentucky-Tennessee game at Knoxville this Saturday. They plan to leave Fulton late Friday afternoon.

Fulton Hunters Get Deer, Coon

Ellis Beggs, Jack Graves Return From Hunting Trip In North Michigan

Two Fulton sportsmen—Ellis Beggs and Jack Graves—returned from a hunting trip in northern Michigan today with two fine deer and a 25-pound coon. The larger deer weighed 165 pounds and the smaller 130 pounds.

The raccoon, shot squarely through the head, was bagged after he climbed upon a stump and "posed" for the hunters.

Mr. Beggs and Mr. Graves left Fulton last Wednesday. Both are Kitty League umpires, and also operate a barber shop on Lake street.

Porter Against Higher Rents

OPA Official Reports Administrator Opposes Basic Rent Changes

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—A high OPA official said today that Paul Porter has taken a strong stand against any general rent ceiling increase at this time or any "basic change" in present standards for permitting rent adjustments.

This official said the price administrator is "strongly opposed" to any such changes and has informed representatives of the real estate business that OPA intends to hold the present rent line.

Porter advised the business spokesmen further, the official said, that any major changes will have to be made by Congress.

At the same time, however, it was disclosed that OPA is considering a plan to take rent ceilings off transient hotel rooms and may act "very soon" if a workable definition of transient rooms can be established. Any such definition, this informant said, must provide for rental of rent ceilings on rooms held by permanent hotel guests.

The official conceded that present OPA policy on rents could be reversed by the White House or by the head of a proposed new agency which will take over the functions of OPA the civilian production administration and one or two smaller agencies, perhaps within the next week.

Farmers Will Elect Nov. 29

Will Pick Committees To Administer National Programs In Community

Kentucky farmers will go to the polls November 29 to elect committees to administer national farm programs in their communities.

In each of the State's 1400 farm communities, a committee of three local farmers and two alternates will be elected. At the same time, a delegate to the county convention will be chosen, who, with the delegates from other communities will elect a three-member County Agricultural Conservation (AAA) committee.

Any person who is participating in the 1946 Agricultural Conservation Program or any person who has a contract with the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, is eligible to vote in the election. This includes owners, operators, tenants, and sharecroppers on farms where the conservation program is being carried out.

Royce urged farmers throughout the state to watch closely for announcement of election meeting places in their communities.

"Peace did not automatically end farm problems. It only changed, and may even intensify the problems which farmers must face," he said.

I. C. To Add New Streamliner On Louisville - To - Fulton Run

The Illinois Central System will operate a modern streamliner train between Louisville and Fulton starting within the next three months, W. A. Johnston, president of the system, announced last night after inspecting the Paducah I. C. shops and visiting Kentucky Dam.

Johnston said the locomotive already has been built, and that coaches now are being constructed.

The system has a 34-day supply of coal on hand, the president said. "We will start conserving coal as soon as it becomes necessary in case of a strike," he said, and added that the railroad would make every effort to reduce operations immediately should the mines close.

Johnston and 21 officials, including seven other directors, left special cars at the Paducah union station at 8:45 a. m. yesterday and went to the Paducah shops. They saw a large locomotive winched onto the shop's big scales for weighing. Outside the building they mounted prepared steps and inspected the cab of another locomotive, where its operation was explained to them. Later they inspected other parts of the railroad shops.

Commenting on the inspection, President Johnston said:

"We are pleased to find the property of the railroad generally in such good condition, considering the long years and wear and tear of war traffic. If we get the increase in freight rates for which the railroads as a whole are asking, there should be no question about the continued adequacy of maintenance of the property. x x x The consensus (of directors) is that the outlook for business stability is better than it has been, and we feel confident the Illinois Central will be able to meet all future traffic tests with credit to the entire railway family."

Besides Mr. Johnston, the following directors made the tour:

R. E. Connelly, I. C. vice president, M. W. Foster, I. C. vice president and general counsel; Gen. C. W. Gaylord, president, Gaylord Container Corporation; S. Y. Hord, Brown Brothers Harriman and Company; J. W. Rath, chairman of the board, Rath Packing Company; and E. W. Stetson, chairman executive committee.

Cleveland Hotel Fire Kills One, Injures Eleven

Cleveland, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Fire that flashed through the 72-room, residential Hotel Belden on Cleveland's east side left one woman dead today, 11 others injured, five of them seriously, and nearly 80 occupants temporarily homeless.

Assistant Fire Chief James Nimmo estimated damage at $30,000 and said the blaze apparently had a good start before it was reported.

Origin was undetermined, but firemen expressed the opinion it started either from the first floor incinerator of the four-story brick structure of the basement boiler.

While most of the occupants were reading, listening to their radios or otherwise occupied last night, flames swept up the stairwell, cutting off that means of escape to many top floor residents. Neighbors heroically led or helped a score or more frightened occupants to safety before fire companies arrived.

68,000 Miners Defy U. S. Court Order By Leaving Pits Today; Walkout Is Expected To Grow

State Feels Strike Pinch

Several Eastern Mines Close Down Today; Coal Dealers Curtail Delivery

By The Associated Press

Kentuckians today felt the pinch of government regulations invoked over the Nation in anticipation of a strike by soft-coal miners in defiance of government injunction designed to halt the walkout.

A sprinkling of coal mines in Eastern Kentucky were reported idle in advance of the prospective termination of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers' contract with the government tomorrow at midnight.

At Louisville, coal dealers said they were accepting orders only from customers having less than a 10-day coal supply, in compliance with a solid fuels administration order. The same situation prevailed throughout the commonwealth, as it did throughout the country. Industrial consumers with 10-day stockpiles likewise were refused additional coal.

J. G. Metcalfe, transportation superintendent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, said at Louisville he was preparing to lift 4,000 daily passenger miles from L. & N. schedules in accordance with a Office of Defense Transportation decree for a 25 per cent cut in passenger service of coal-burning railroads, effective Sunday night.

Metcalfe said he was undecided where he would pare passenger schedules.

John T. Dent, L. & N. coal-traffic manager, said the road has about a 30-day coal supply.

W. A. Johnston, president of the Illinois Central System, said at Paducah, his line has a 34-day supply of coal.

Bilbo Faces Second Probe

Senator's Relations With War Contractors' Group Is Subject Of Inquiry

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), already under scrutiny by one senate committee for his utterances and tactics in last summer's Mississippi primary, faces a new investigation tomorrow by another.

The inquiry, authorized late yesterday by the senate war investigating committee, will be concerned solely with Bilbo's relations with a group of war contractors who built a number of southern air fields for the Army.

The other investigation, which will be conducted by the special senate campaign investigating committee in Mississippi beginning Dec. 2, will go into sworn charges that Bilbo tried to prevent negroes from voting in the primary.

The war investigating committee has had investigators in Mississippi since last June looking into reports which—Committee Counsel Francis D. Flanagan said—alleged that Bilbo received $25,000 from contractors, and that the money was spent trying to elect Will Dosey to the senate in 1932. Dosey now is senate sergeant-at-arms.

Statutes prohibit war contractors from contributing to political campaigns.

Flanagan said the investigators also looked into another reported $8,750 contribution to Bilbo, and into the construction of his "dream house No. 2" near Poplarville, Miss. The building at the home was reported also to have been an air-field contractor.

Bilbo has declared he has "done no wrong."

Committee Chairman Kilgore (D-W. Va.), emphasized to reporters that the newly ordered investigation will center entirely on the subject of any relations between Bilbo and war contractors, and will not attempt to pass on his eligibility for a seat in the senate.

No Formal Reason Given By Union For Early Strike

ALL SUPPORT LEWIS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19.—(AP)—More thousands of miners left the pits today in scattered work stoppages which began yesterday in the soft coal fields.

Approximately 68,000 men were reported out today in contrast with 38,000 yesterday.

The stoppages spread despite a Federal Court order issued in Washington against a strike.

The score of idle miners in the large producing states stood: Alabama 16,000; Illinois 17,000; Pennsylvania 10,000; West Virginia 14,200; Virginia 1,800; Kentucky 3,000; Indiana 4,700; Ohio, 2,500.

Most of those who left their jobs this morning were in Alabama, where 16,000 of the state's 20,000 miners were idle, suspending 60 out of 84 Alabama mines. Yesterday only 3,000 stopped work in that state.

As in the case of idleness at pits in several other states, there was no formal reason given by the union or the operators for the walkouts.

John L. Lewis, president of the AFL-United Mine Workers, has notified the government that the union's contract with the government expires Wednesday midnight.

Among the mines closed today were two captive pits of the U. S. Steel Corporation. A company spokesman reported these were the Bridgeport Mine, near Brownsville, Pa., with more than 800 workers, and the Hazel Mine at Canonsburg, Pa., with 111 workers.

Some unknown producer of a complete shutdown would occur Thursday if the miners follow their traditional "no contract, no work" contention.

Even as the shaggy mine chieftain faced a possible jail sentence if the disregarded a court order designed to prevent a walkout, it appears the miners would follow their time-honored maxim, "no contract, no work."

"We'll see you in five weeks," was the ominous word of miners at the Montour 10, Library, Pa., as they filed out of an afternoon shift yesterday.

James Casper, a track layer at the Westland, Pa., mine, summed up the miners' reaction to the strike injunction with:

"They can't do anything to a man for not coming to work when he doesn't want to. Not in this country, they can't."

A spokesman for the big 1,300-member Robena mine local in Greene County, Pa., declared:

"We are coming out at midnight Wednesday, strike or no strike, unless a contract is signed before then." He added darkly, "and we don't expect a contract to be signed before then."

A West Virginia UMW official in the Williamson Field, where miners walked out when the government-UMW talks started Nov. 1 but later returned, said:

"The men are in a disturbed frame of mind."

Lewis' grip on the coal diggers was illustrated at the Westland mine Monday when 600 miners reported as usual. But as the men drew their lamps, the query rippled through the crowd:

"Are you or aren't you for Lewis?"

The men turned in their lamps, poured the water from their pails and went home.

"We're 100 percent for Lewis because we know he's doing right," declared veteran miner Otis Wright.

The one miner who dissented, Tom Carter, explained:

"I think it is un-American to strike against the government. After all, nobody's starving here. However, the boys at my mine decided to stay away. That's the majority, so I follow it."

Bilbo Faces Second Probe

Senator's Relations With War Contractors' Group Is Subject Of Inquiry

Washington, Nov. 19.—(AP)—Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.), already under scrutiny by one senate committee for his utterances and tactics in last summer's Mississippi primary, faces a new investigation tomorrow by another.

The inquiry, authorized late yesterday by the senate war investigating committee, will be concerned solely with Bilbo's relations with a group of war contractors who built a number of southern air fields for the Army.

The other investigation, which will be conducted by the special senate campaign investigating committee in Mississippi beginning Dec. 2, will go into sworn charges that Bilbo tried to prevent negroes from voting in the primary.

The war investigating committee has had investigators in Mississippi since last June looking into reports which—Committee Counsel Francis D. Flanagan said—alleged that Bilbo received $25,000 from contractors, and that the money was spent trying to elect Will Dosey to the senate in 1932. Dosey now is senate sergeant-at-arms.

Statutes prohibit war contractors from contributing to political campaigns.

Flanagan said the investigators also looked into another reported $8,750 contribution to Bilbo, and into the construction of his "dream house No. 2" near Poplarville, Miss. The building at the home was reported also to have been an air-field contractor.

Bilbo has declared he has "done no wrong."

Committee Chairman Kilgore (D-W. Va.), emphasized to reporters that the newly ordered investigation will center entirely on the subject of any relations between Bilbo and war contractors, and will not attempt to pass on his eligibility for a seat in the senate.

Highway Safety Group Meets In Frankfort

No Formal Reason Given By Union For Early Strike

ALL SUPPORT LEWIS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 19.—(AP)—More thousands of miners left the pits today in scattered work stoppages which began yesterday in the soft coal fields.

Approximately 68,000 men were reported out today in contrast with 38,000 yesterday.

The stoppages spread despite a Federal Court order issued in Washington against a strike.

The score of idle miners in the large producing states stood: Alabama 16,000; Illinois 17,000; Pennsylvania 10,000; West Virginia 14,200; Virginia 1,800; Kentucky 3,000; Indiana 4,700; Ohio, 2,500.

Most of those who left their jobs this morning were in Alabama, where 16,000 of the state's 20,000 miners were idle, suspending 60 out of 84 Alabama mines. Yesterday only 3,000 stopped work in that state.

As in the case of idleness at pits in several other states, there was no formal reason given by the union or the operators for the walkouts.

John L. Lewis, president of the AFL-United Mine Workers, has notified the government that the union's contract with the government expires Wednesday midnight.

Among the mines closed today were two captive pits of the U. S. Steel Corporation. A company spokesman reported these were the Bridgeport Mine, near Brownsville, Pa., with more than 800 workers, and the Hazel Mine at Canonsburg, Pa., with 111 workers.

Some unknown producer of a complete shutdown would occur Thursday if the miners follow their traditional "no contract, no work" contention.

Even as the shaggy mine chieftain faced a possible jail sentence if the disregarded a court order designed to prevent a walkout, it appears the miners would follow their time-honored maxim, "no contract, no work."

"We'll see you in five weeks," was the ominous word of miners at the Montour 10, Library, Pa., as they filed out of an afternoon shift yesterday.

James Casper, a track layer at the Westland, Pa., mine, summed up the miners' reaction to the strike injunction with:

"They can't do anything to a man for not coming to work when he doesn't want to. Not in this country, they can't."

A spokesman for the big 1,300-member Robena mine local in Greene County, Pa., declared:

"We are coming out at midnight Wednesday, strike or no strike, unless a contract is signed before then." He added darkly, "and we don't expect a contract to be signed before then."

A West Virginia UMW official in the Williamson Field, where miners walked out when the government-UMW talks started Nov. 1 but later returned, said:

"The men are in a disturbed frame of mind."

Lewis' grip on the coal diggers was illustrated at the Westland mine Monday when 600 miners reported as usual. But as the men drew their lamps, the query rippled through the crowd:

"Are you or aren't you for Lewis?"

The men turned in their lamps, poured the water from their pails and went home.

"We're 100 percent for Lewis because we know he's doing right," declared veteran miner Otis Wright.

The one miner who dissented, Tom Carter, explained:

"I think it is un-American to strike against the government. After all, nobody's starving here. However, the boys at my mine decided to stay away. That's the majority, so I follow it."

Battle Of Blocs

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The battle in the British House of Commons between left-wing socialists and the labor (socialist) government over foreign policy developed highly interesting though, in some respects, dangerous conclusions.

The debate resolved about the Rebel motion that the government's foreign policy steer a middle course between the United States and Russia. This was based on the promise that the Soviet Union and the United States were headed for war, and that Britain was bound to become involved in it by having to the American line.

H. S. Gosman, leader of the revolt, charged that the formation of "a complete and exclusive Anglo-American tie-up" as urged by Winston Churchill in his Fulton, Missouri, speech early this year—had been followed by a steady, split of the world into American and Russian blocs. He added:

"Go to Paris or any other capital and you will find there is no doubt whatsoever that in the course of the last 18 months Great Britain has tied up on the American side in this well, now, the 'complete' (though not exclusive) 'Anglo-American tie-up' was made."

In the first world conflict, and it has continued ever since. Also we must remember that the end of the recent war found the Russian bloc already firmly established. It was not a post-war development and it's safe to say it would have materialized irrespective of Anglo-American relations. It is true that the wholly different ideological viewpoints between the east and the west have resulted in a widening of the division. By the same token it is equally true that Britain couldn't leave the danger of difficulties with Russia merely by steering clear of American policies.

Prime Minister Attlee in replying to the left-wingers said:

"I think this motion is misconceived, is unfounded and based on a misconception of the facts. This government does not believe in the formation of groups or opposing groups of the east, west or center. We stand for the United Nations. We perhaps are more accustomed to compromise than some of those with whom we have to deal, but compromise is the basis of a peaceful civilization."

Answering the "Rebel" demand that he repudiate Churchill's Fulton speech, Attlee gave the middle-of-the-road reply:

"We are not seeking an exclusive Anglo-American alliance."

Whether the left-wingers were satisfied, the fact remains that the government's foreign policy received a unanimous vote of confidence.

Dead-Eye Dicks

Mereno, Ill.—(AP)—Tommy Flertag and Donald Shearer went pheasant hunting, but the only weapon the two 18 year olds carried was Tommy's air rifle.

At the edge of town, they spotted a pheasant. Donald let fly with a stone and Tommy fired his air rifle. Both scored hits and knocked the birdneck stiff.

They had played two themes in such close proximity that they sounded like the main and contrapuntal theme bell; played together. That, I said to myself, was that. Until the program was over.

I stopped by Larry's dressing room to pick him up and went to a nearby restaurant for a bite. On the way, I brought up the subject of the "simulated" counterpoint. "That's a swell trick," I told Larry. "It sounded like the two themes were being played at once."

"What do you mean 'simulated'?" Larry asked. "The two themes really were being played at once."

This seemingly impossible fact was promptly explained.

Through all the years in which Larry has made himself pre-eminent in the business of blowing a mouth organ, he has managed to defeat a good many musical hurdles by an increasingly resourceful virtuosity. And when he told me how he did it, illustrating by playing a bar or two on the harmonica, I must admit it was a little startling.

Larry plays the two almost opposing themes by the simple—to Larry—trick of blowing at the same time two streams of air from his mouth, his tongue separating them in the middle, and by extremely intricate manipulation of the instrument.

But the counterpoint comes out in a manner which would be unfamiliar—maybe not by James

Achievement Recognized

Cecil Calvin Burnett, Fulton county boy who has been named State 4-H Club Achievement Dairy Winner, is to be highly commended for his excellent record.

He has found that the dairy cattle business is very profitable also, having earned over $2,000 after expenses this year in addition to receiving more than $100 in prize money at the Fulton Dairy Show and the Mayfield Purchase Dairy Show.

The fact that he has won 23 ribbons and a total of $649 in prizes during his nine year club work is ample evidence that he merited the honor bestowed upon him.

Two other Fulton county boys, Wayne Elliott and Philip White, are to be congratulated for winning prizes for dark tobacco exhibits at the Mayfield Tobacco Festival last week.

These three boys and their contemporaries are the farm leaders of the future. Basing our prediction on their records, we foresee an era of unequalled agricultural progress for Fulton county and the Purchase region.

The Park Will Go

The days of Louisville's Lincoln Park are numbered. Its sale to a Newark, N. J., man was announced yesterday.

Most of us who have at one time or another lived in Louisville, or who have been frequent visitors in the city, were saddened by the news of the sale.

Lincoln Park was a welcome bit of greenery that replaced the unsightly old post office building. Almost everyone was glad to see the spot on Louisville's main street that had so long been an eye sore become an attractive plot of grass and shrubbery.

We suppose that this is the price of progress, but we can't help missing the beautiful though short-lived park.

Get The Points?

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—City Engineer Louis Lush believes he has hit upon a scheme that will improve the work of his draftsmen. Lush said that the men were turning out "fuzzy" drawings because they neglected to keep their pencils sharpened.

He bought a new pencil sharpener and surrounded his office with a collection of pin-up pictures.

"Now," said Lush, "the draftsmen's pencils are sharp as needles."

No Dog's Life For Him

Chicago.—(AP)—A mongrel dog who probably got tired of leading a life of a guinea pig, took a runout powder at the University of Chicago laboratories.

The dog, identified as "95," was playing a key role in a series of nutrition experiments carried over several generations to determine the best food for dogs.

He sneaked out of the laboratories when a door was left open.

Three Killed In Traffic Crashes

Richmond, Calif., Nov. 19—(AP)—Two storm-shrouded traffic crashes, only a few hundred feet apart and both within an hour, killed three occupants of one automobile, severely injured a honeymooning couple and sent 21 other persons to hospitals last night.

The worst crash occurred at a curve on U. S. Highway 40 about a mile and one-half north of Richmond, where a sedan and a southbound West Coast Trailways bus collided head-on, killing three persons and hospitalizing 10.

Two of the dead were identified by the state highway patrol as Philip Bernard Spivak, 21, of San Francisco, and Stanley Lloyd Scherzer, 19, of Los Angeles. The driver of the car, burned beyond recognition, had not immediately been identified.

In another highway bus-auto mobile crash only a few hundred feet away an hour later, a young Salem, Ore., couple married only yesterday morning suffered severe injuries and seven bus passengers were hurt badly enough to require hospital treatment.

A third automobile then struck the pileup.

Valparaiso is the most important commercial center on the west coast of South America.

Farmers Urged To Grow Pigs

Should Plan Now For Increase Needed In Spring, 1947, Pigs

Kentucky farmers should plan now for the increase needed in spring pigs for feeding this year's record corn crop, M. D. Royce, state director of the Production and Marketing Administration, advised today.

"With the domestic need for pork expected to continue at a higher level than in pre-war years, hog feeding offers the most effective and profitable way to market our record corn harvest," Royce said. "But unless immediate plans are made to increase spring pig production there may not be enough hogs to consume the bumper crop."

Normally, Royce pointed out, nearly half of the U. S. corn crop is fed to hogs. A national goal of 58 million spring pigs in 1947 has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"The number of sows and gilts available for breeding will be the main limiting factor in getting the needed pig crop increase," Royce said. "With price controls removed," he pointed out, "many farmers may be inclined to feed sows and gilts now rather than keep them to raise a larger pig crop. They should keep in mind that the pig crop this fall will be smaller than last year, which will mean less hogs to sell next summer. Sows and gilts bred this fall can be sold, after farrowing, on next summer's favorable market."

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Nov. 19—(AP)—

Those reports from the south that Alabama's Frank Thomas is likely to retire from football coaching before another season seem to have been a bit premature. Thomas, seriously ill at the start of the season, said the other day he felt better than he had in six months and believed a good rest after the season should make him good as new. If he feels that way after losing a few victories, he should effect a complete cure. Army's footballers have been kicking themselves ever since they saw pictures of the Notre Dame game because they found at least six scoring opportunities that were lost. Maybe that's why they kicked Penn around for a change. Still they wouldn't care much for a rematch. Herman Hickman's comment on the suggestion that they play it over in the Sugar Bowl was: "That wouldn't make anybody happy."

What To Beware
Maybe last week's Elmer Ray-Jersey Joe Walcott fight had nothing to do with it, but Dan Morgan has suddenly recalled a fight in old Madison Square Garden when big Carl Morris was arrayed against even bigger Jess Willard. Each weighed about 350 pounds, says Dan, and all they did was swing and lunge into a clinch. After several rounds it began to rain and water dripped onto the canvas from some ventilating windows over the ring. Promoter Tex Rickard was shouting and gesturing to have the windows closed when a voice came down from the gallery: "Don't shut them windows, Tex. Leave 'em open and drown those bums."

One-Minute Sports Page
The Giants' Steve Owen maintains he'd rather have Bill Dudley, who'll play against him for the Steelers next Sunday, than any other back in the National Football League. "He can beat you when you have the ball," Steve says. Add nerves: If Dudley is in line to succeed Andy Kerr as Colgate coach, he wishes someone would tell him about it. In spite of the new ticket sale regulations designed to give Gus Fan a break at Garden basketball, there will be virtually no public sale for the season's third doubleheader Dec. 2—N. Y.

No Restrictions—Or Posts, Paint For Hiway Dep't.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 18—Removal of war restrictions regarding repair and installation of guard rails along Kentucky highways finds the highway department unable to buy posts or paint. J. Stephen Watkins, Commissioner said today. More than 10,000 posts are needed but those who normally provide them are not interested in bidding. The same shortage applies to paint, both for traffic direction signs and the guard rails themselves.

10-Year-Old Boy Escapes From Hospital Third Time
Baltimore, Nov. 19—(AP)—Young Lawrence Minoski was in Johns Hopkins Hospital today, but he didn't like the idea of having his tonsils and adenoids removed.

The 10-year-old boy, clad only in pajamas and slippers, walked out of the hospital last night, and became the object of a city-wide police search. Found early today by two youths several blocks from the hospital, the boy promptly hustled back to the hospital by his mother.

That was the third time he had been taken to Hopkins for the operation.

Murray High To Play Henry Clay In Shrine Game

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 19—(AP)—It's Murray High versus Lexington Henry Clay in the Shrine Charity football game here Thanksgiving day. H. D. Palmore, potentate of Oleka Temple, said an invitation was extended yesterday to unbeaten Murray, which accepted immediately. Henry Clay accepted last week.

Murray has won seven of its eight games to date. The other contest was a 7-1 tie with Russellville. The club meets Paris, Tenn., this week in its final regular season tilt.

Henry Clay lost 12-6 to Covington this season but won the remainder of its games. Covington was the only eleven in the state to end the season undefeated and untied.

The appearance of Coach Fy Holland's Murray club will be the first by a Western Kentucky team in the benefit game.

Three Nations New UN Members

New York, Nov. 19—(AP)—Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden signed articles of accession to the United Nations charter today to increase the membership in the world's peace agency to 54 countries.

The simple ceremony admitting the three newcomers was held in a small, ornate conference room off the massive assembly chamber where the three delegates took seats for the first time.

Wildcats Hope To Drub Vols For First Time Since 1926

By Oscar Thompson
Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 18—(AP)—With high hopes of accomplishing a feat they've never been able to do since Bob Neyland put in his appearance in 1926—beat Tennessee—Kentucky's Wildcats came to town Saturday to renew an ancient grudge with Tennessee's Volunteers.

Three times in the 14 years the two teams have met with Neyland at the Vol helm, the Cats have managed to walk off with a deadlock, but they're still looking for their first victory. They scored only 18 points in those 14 years.

But armed with the success they've enjoyed this fall under the guidance of Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant, the Cats come down out of their Lexington lair Saturday with perhaps the best chance of licking the Vols they've had in the last 20 years. At least, they'll bring along the best record Kentucky has boasted in more than a score of years.

Cadets Still No. 1 Eleven

Weekly AP Poll Gives Army 50-Point Margin Over Fighting Irish
By Sid Fadar
New York, Nov. 19—(AP)—It was still Army in a photo finish over Notre Dame today for the No. 1 spot among the nation's football outfits, and the homecoming is definitely over for Pennsylvania and Texas.

Balloting in the Associated Press weekly poll, the sports writers of the country left the careerling Cadets from West Point at the head of the parade by the slim margin of 50 points over the Irish, with the unbeaten-until pair of Georgia and University of California at Los Angeles holding third and fourth, respectively.

But the 24-7 pounding Penn absorbed from Army last Saturday, and Texas' second upset setback of the season—this one by Texas Christian—dropped the Quakers and the Longhorns completely out of the select top ten set, with Louisiana State and Southern California moving up to replace them.

Altogether, 110 sports writers from coast to coast and one from Honolulu voted for their leading ten selections after last Saturday's scrambling. Of these, 58 put Army on top all alone, compared to 34 a week ago, and 18 voted the Irish in front. Twenty-three others called it a tie, voting for a two-way tie as a result of the scoreless deadlock the two outfits unfolded the previous week and the 27-0 decision the Irish were taking over Northwestern while the Cadets were clouting the Quakers last Saturday.

The other 13 first-place ballots were split between Georgia and UCLA, the Bulldogs collecting eight, compared to their 12 of last week, and the UCLAs getting five—two less than in the previous poll.

MSC Preps For Tennessee Tech

Murray, Ky.—Victorious twice in a row, Murray State's Thoroughbreds are hard at work prepping for Tennessee Tech's Golden Eagles from Cookeville whom they will play at Paducah Friday afternoon for the 12th time since 1930 when the two colleges first met on the gridiron.

In the 11 games played, Murray has won six while the Eagles have won four. One game was a tie—0-0 in 1932. Coach Overall's Tennesseers have bowled over Western Kentucky, Eastern Kentucky, Georgetown, and Cumberland University. Eagles losses have been to Vanderbilt, Chattanooga, and Eastern Kentucky.

Coach Moore's improved Breds have licked Marshall 19-0 and Eastern Illinois 38-13 after losing five out of their first six games. Including in those losses however, were defeats at the hands of such powerhouses as Mississippi State, Chattanooga, and Ohio U.

Burley Marts Are Swamped Monday

By The Associated Press
An avalanche of golden burley tobacco hit Lexington, the world's largest loose leaf sales center, yesterday along with other Kentucky markets opening their doors for initial deliveries of the 1946 crop.

H. C. Robinson, secretary of the Central District Warehousing Corporation, said at Lexington "they are swamping us. Tobacco is coming in faster than we know what to do with it."

Reports elsewhere indicated similar situations.

At Hopkinsville the first-day's volume was so great that J. E. Harper, sales supervisor, urged that future deliveries to that market be delayed until after the first auctions Dec. 2.

Bow and Arrow Users To Get First Shots At Game In Five-County Deer Hunt

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 19—(AP)—The state game and fish commission, apparently attempting to even things up, announced that users of bows and arrows will be permitted in the field a week ahead of shotgun-users in Dec. 21 to Jan. 2.

The hunt will be staged in Bullitt, Hardin, Meade, Nelson and Spencer counties. Its purpose is to rid Bernheim Forest of deer which are straying to farm lands.

Hunting will be limited from sunrise to sunset. No guides will be furnished, but hunters may bring dogs to aid them. They will be restricted to shotguns using 00 size shot, or slugs.

Game and Fish Director Earl Wallace said only Kentucky hunters will be permitted to participate in the hunt. Those taking part will be required to buy a special permit costing $3 and a tag costing $2.

The commission also appropriated $5,500 to build shelter houses at Dale Hollow, Harrington and Kentucky Lake to accommodate boys of the junior clubs fostered by the commission; decided to build fish rearing ponds at LaGrange Reformatory; approved sale of the Glenn Springs fish hatchery in Lewis county, and deferred action until the next meeting, the third Monday in next February, on plans for purchasing a large fish hatchery.

Devenport reported that he arose early, started fire in two stoves and went back to bed. When he awoke again, the house was on fire. He rushed in to save his daughter.

A bucket brigade of neighbors saved the house and part of the furniture. Loss estimated at $500.
