Breathitt Urges Leaders To Work For Growing Victory

Fulton County was well represented in Louisville last Saturday to hear Edward T. "Ned" Breathitt, in a fiery speech that rang with enthusiasm and confidence. Staking a claim to the lead in the race for Democratic nomination for governor in the May 28 primary "Ned" said, "Of our victory, I have no doubt."

ous that the crowd had come for but one purpose — to see and hear Breathitt.

And Breathitt, a Hopkinsville attorney, responded with his most aggressive speech of the campaign as the huge crowd roared its approval. They interrupted him more than 30 times during the 25-minute talk to cheer and applaud — with an occasional "pour-it on him" thrown in.

In-laying claim to the lead in his race for the gubernatorial nomination, Breathitt said:

"It is a measure of our almost

Like man, like sumbody 'round heah don't like nobody or nuttin'. Like some skinny cats 'roun heah been sleeping on hard pads for three and half years, and they're wanting off the floor, man. Like they're wanting in, man. Like they're wanting 'em, sick, sick, sick! They're wanting 'in' cats, and don't make much care how.

Some skinny cat 'round writes ad for local print sheet, man. Says Combs ain't done nuttin' for nobody. Skinny cat, scoutin' 'round for fat cat status, been so hungry, man, he done gone blind. Skinny cat, puts hep-talk in ad said: "Combs ain't built no schools 'roun heah." Man, what they're sayin'. Superintendent of Fulton Schools, feller with the gun aimed at 'im if he don't do right, says like what 'bout Milton School? It's brand new, man, but new. Built last year. Like mos' money come from State, man, handed out c-o-o-o-l like from sales tax ... man, oh, man, what you know 'bout that.

Skinny cats say big washing goin' on. Like not at laundrette, neither. Like in teacher's haid, scrubbin them brains like crazy! Skinny cats doing little washin', too, better believe it, fatso. Ain't using no soap, no water, no nuttin' but green stuff, man, but green. Fat Cat kid, said to skinny cat kid last Saturday: "Like man, what you swingin' them Happy stickers to everybody that passes." "Like for folding stuff, fatso, what else, man?"

Ole gone-cat J. B. Wells come to Fulton. Like he was swinging them words 'roun like crazy. "Man, he said, there's gonna be fat-cat killing come May." Lil ole print sheet on Commercial say, "Man like who's fat cats. Like somebody must be getting green-backs under some other handle, eh cats?" Like Wells, he ain't no flannel-mouth, man. He ain't gonna squeal, you better know it. Not now, no how. He's gonna wait til Christmas to say "Hi Cats" if ole Hap gets in there. They call ole J. B., Jingle Bells. Like man he came out swinging somebody else's money box, and sent EVERYBODY, but EVERYBODY, a Christmas card, whether no was hep to them or not. "Look that time ole J. B. was 'bout for the loot that comes from the lootin'-governor's office."

Jingle Bell Wells is a real c-o-o-o-l cat. He's like Houdini, man. Like he can build wide open roads, under cool cover, til some hep Judge says: "Like you better put them 67,000 wheels back on the pad, man, it belongs to the taxpayers." Like man, he must be some tom-cat, 'cous if anybody can fat-cat talk it's like that "Jingle Bells" Wells.

Like we wanna find ole Duck Smith. He's a real cool cop. Like he's got a cop cruiser what rides 'roun lookin' for things and fat cats walking, flying or crawling. If ole Duck got time, like man, he'll show you that new Milton School them skinny cats say ain't here, and ain't new. Man, it's a cool school! Like it's off the highway, where cop-cats don't always cruise, man. But man it's there and even ole Jingle Bells can't hide it even if he wants to play that fat cat game.

The occasion was the "Bucks for Breathitt Fun Fair," attended by some 11,000-12,000 persons at Louisville's Freedom Hall. Actually, the rally took on the atmosphere of a national convention, with delegates from all of the state's 120 counties proudly displaying their signs as they paraded in front of the platform to wave to their chosen candidate while the band played "Hey, Look Me Over."

The attendance estimate was made by Jim Browitt, executive director of the State Fairgrounds. Gov. Bert Combs was also on the platform, where he occasionally patted a yellow cat wearing a ribbon marked "Happy." Just before the governor introduced Breathitt, he presented "Mr. Cheslie Cat," as an aide held the animal aloft for the huge crowd to see.

But despite the box lunch and all the entertainment, it was unbelievable success than in five short months we have moved ahead to the point where our danger is not defeatism but over-confidence.

Nevertheless, Breathitt urged his campaign workers to gather efforts.

Breathitt asserted the campaign of former Gov. A. B. "Happy" Chandler "is disintegrating — while ours grows stronger with each passing day."

"Nothing has pointed more clearly to the confusion and unhappiness in the camp of the opposition than the strange conduct of my opponent himself during the past few days," Breathitt said.

"How else do we explain the sudden cancellation of speaking schedules, the frantic journey to New York, the feast at the 21 Club, the hurried trip to the White House, the angry scowls at the Lexington press conference, the rough language directed at President Kennedy's staff?"

Breathitt said Chandler has refused to face him in a television debate because "he fears the truth."

At Breathitt Fun Fair!

Washington Is Place Where The World Meets The People, Vice Versa

I hated to leave you right on the doorstep of Senator and Mrs. John Sherman Cooper's lovely home last week while I told of my fabulously interesting 24-hour recent Washington visit. Copy was piled knee-deep in the back shop, so I, of necessity, had to stop while the linotype operator was on speaking terms with me. But continuing the story of my visit, this week renews the pleasure of the Coopers' hospitality and the excitement of going through the lovely three-story home in world-famous Georgetown.

On entering the foyer of the Cooper home it seemed to me that I had been there before. Lorraine has written so warmly of the home and its contents in her letter to Kentucky newspapers that I seemed to be familiar with the beautiful antique furniture, the lovely fur couch-covers that I imagined came from India, and the tremendously unusual art work that hung in the living-room that faced the front of the house.

Chandler Forces Open Office To Assist Voters

Formal opening of the A. B. Chandler for Governor and Harry Lee Waterfield for Lieutenant-governor headquarters will be held in the near future, a spokesman for the candidates said today.

The headquarters is located in the old Rose Room at the former location of Smith's Cafe.

A phone has been installed and someone will be on duty at all times to pass out bumper stickers, buttons, and furnish information.

The phone number at the headquarters is No. 75. The public is cordially invited to drop by the newly opened headquarters.

We're So Sorry!

The best laid plans of newspaper editors often go for naught. We took such pains to have the very best engraving we could to make Miss Susan Bushart's engagement photograph be a clipping to cherish. We arranged our society page to give her and other brides the best print and the best position. But all for nothing! Our society section was printed when we caught the error. Dr. and Mrs. Ward Bushart are today announcing the engagement of their daughter Susan to Mr. Richard Cardwell, not Frank Cardwell as we had in our headline to the story.

How we do regret the error. The headline went through at least four hands and nobody noticed it; including this editor.

We hope that when Susan and Richard celebrate their many happy years of marriage they can look back on this error with understanding. Right now we know it's difficult to do. Such a terrible error, could not have happened to nicer people, on a more important occasion. Forgive us, if you can.

Swift & Co. Completes Its Remodeling Job

Remodeling and enlarging of the ice cream manufacturing and hardening facilities have been completed at Swift & Company's plant at Fulton, according to A. B. Thacker, manager.

Newly-installed equipment will enable the plant to substantially increase ice cream volume and assure uniform, high standards in product and packaging, the manager explained.

The hardening system incorporates modern, specialized equipment for fast freezing. New tile brick floors in the manufacturing department were included in the project.

Thacker said that the increasing demand for Swift's ice cream prompted the decision to carry out the modernization program.

Airwaves Poet Guest Speaker At Woman's Club

Sam Holly, WFUL's "Poet of the Airwaves," will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Drama and Literature Department of the Woman's Club on Thursday, April 18. The meeting has been changed to that day from the usual meeting date of April 16.

Program leader for the meeting is Mrs. Lawson Roper. Hostesses are Mrs. Virgil Barker, Mrs. Robert Rudolph, Mrs. Paul Westpheling and Mrs. Ollie Wood. Meeting time is 7:30 p. m.

Mr. Holly will autograph copies of his "Scrapbook" at the meeting. Copies will be on hand for sale at the time.

"Little Red House" Holds Open House

The "Little Red House" on Broadway Street in South Fulton will have an "open house" Saturday and Sunday of this week, owner Doron Colley announced today.

The "Little Red House" features paintings, drapery and upholstery material, building accessories and furniture refinishing. Many handsome antiques are on display.

National Guard Unit To Return To Hickman

Directors of the Hickman Chamber of Commerce have begun making plans for a gala celebration here April 18 in honor of the return of a National Guard unit to Hickman.

Planning to date indicates the event may turn out to be the most lavish since Elvis Stahr Day was observed here in July, 1961. And it was Mr. Stahr, former Secretary of the Army and now president of Indiana university, who gave Hickman the first official word that Hickman was to get another Guard unit to replace the one taken from there back in 1959. The information came to the university president in a letter from Maj. Gen. D. W. McDowan, chief of the National Guard bureau.

The new unit, Company D, 123rd Medical Tank Battalion, 123rd Armored Division, will be authorized to maintain a strength of five officers and 79 enlisted men. Some 60 men are reported ready for immediate enlistment in the unit.

The original unit at Hickman, a field artillery battery, was formed in October, 1956. It was rated the best in the battalion in the

I needed no introduction to Pat and Maurice Henry, Vic Portman and George Joplin, III, who were already there when we arrived. I was glad to see Margaret Ikenberry (Maurice's sister) again, since we enjoyed dinner with her the night before. Margaret lives in Chevy Chase near the circle and her husband is a very prominent lawyer in Washington. She's one of those rare, people who puts a person at ease the minute you say "hello." After that the conversation rolls on as though you had known her forever.

While Lorraine was busy herself making introductions and seeing that her guests were comfortable I seemed to recognize a familiar face. After contemplating the situation for a moment I dismissed the "I think I know you" attitude. You know in a big city, when you ride cabs, buses and stand on street corners for any length of time everybody you see gives you the impression that you've met them before.

But with Deddie Blair, whom Lorraine introduced to me very shortly, I was not wrong. Deddie

State Projects Set Up For Extensive Work On Highway 51 In Fulton County

In its first three calendar years through December 31, 1962, the Combs Administration spent a total of $1,346,377.97 in Fulton County to build and maintain roads. Fulton County's allocation for rural secondary roads and rural highways for the 1962-63 fiscal year is $136,665.05.

Of major economic benefit to the people of Fulton County is the modernization of US 51 throughout Kentucky. In Fulton County 5.9 miles of this major improvement has been undertaken by the Combs Administration, as well as a similar project in Ballard County. Both jobs include widening the roadway by two feet on each side, and complete resurfacing. In addition, five miles of this major north-south travel artery have been resurfaced in Carlisle County. Plans also call for widening the shoulders and widening bridges along the way so that US 51 will be a truly modern highway in Ballard, Carlisle, Hickman and Fulton Counties. These improvements will complement those being undertaken by other states along the route.

Following its stated policy of developing a system of highways to serve all sections of the state, the Combs Administration is upgrading existing highways that serve Fulton County. Chief among these is US 45, which has been resurfaced for 13 miles between Mayfield and Fulton.

Fulton County is profiting also from improvements made by the Combs Administration to key link in the network of roads that serve the county. Of principal interest are the rebuilding of a section of the Murcherson-Kirby Road near Crutchfield and putting new surfaces on 3.1 miles of the Naylor Road, 2.1 miles of the Pewitt Road, 1.9 miles of the Shuff Road, 2 miles of the Mount Carmel-Tennessee State Line Road and 2 miles of the Lake Road.

Distribution of rural secondary road funds (2-7 of the 7-cent gasoline tax) is now determined by the Rural Secondary Formula, which was adopted by the Combs Administration in 1961 and then enacted into law by the 1962 General Assembly. This impartial Formula guarantees every county a fair share of such funds. Fulton County's 1962-63 allotment under this Formula is $104,996.04. In addition, the State will spend $31,669.01 this year in Fulton County under the rural highway program.

Under the past administration $50,204.03 was spent in Fulton County for rural secondary roads and rural highways in fiscal year 1961-62.

There are evidences of this new program in the work that is being carried out by the Department of Highways or planned in this county. These have been supplemented by many projects that have been constructed by state crews, by other improvements that have been made by the Department of Highways itself, and, of course by counties with use of State funds through the Rural Secondary and Rural Highway Programs.

Highway monies spent in this county, and the projects on which the money was spent is as follows:

Murcherson - Kirby Road, U 51 near Crutchfield, Hickman County Line, 0.384, $5,292.20.

No Identification of "Fat Cats" Yet; News Again Challenges Wells To Name Ten People Referred To!

To no one's surprise, Kentucky's gubernatorial race is living up to advance billing that it would supercede all others in bitterness. The 1963 campaign started out, months ago, with candidates airing their campaign platforms. When voters appeared disinterested in specific issues, a fair amount of mud-slinging started, with each side ready to defend the accusations, while throwing in a few more as an offensive maneuver.

Usually the mud-slinging starts on a state-wide basis. Soon the pattern of character assassination sifts down to the local level, with opposing forces vilifying their friends and neighbors in an attempt to chalk up a winning majority, for their side, in their respective areas.

Last week J. B. Wells, speaking in Fulton for the Chandler-Waterfield ticket said that there are ten local people drawing "as much as $1000 a month without being on the State payroll." He termed these ten people "Fat Cats" and added that Chandler would cut out such goings-on if he (Chandler) is elected.

The News has challenged Wells to name these "fat cats," but as yet no identification has come from the former rural highway commissioner or his local friends. The News again issues that challenge today, while it reads advertisements asking if local newspaper readers are playing "the fat cat game." The advertisement says that anyone can play, because it's lots of fun.

We think it only fair that the rules of the game be made public. It doesn't seem cricket to confine the enjoyment to just ten people, if such people really exist, does it?

We assume that the advertisement was bought and paid for by forces opposing Edward T. Breathitt, since it is intended to focus attention on the "fat cat" accusation without bothering to heed the challenge made by the News.

We're not surprised that neither Wells, nor his local friends, have answered the challenge. There is no answer. But the "fat cat" play follows the pattern of other campaigns in other years. You remember the $20,000.00 r-r-r-u-u-u-g-g-g incident? The candidate admitted that his charge against former Governor Lawrence Wetherby was false, but said he: "people like to hear the story."

As so it goes with the fat cats! There is one encouraging aspect of the local campaign to seek votes for the Chandler-Waterfield forces. A good many of those partisans are fair-minded, honorable and sincere people seeking to gain victory for the candidates of their choice. Many of them have told us that such vile, baseless and damaging accusations widen the breach in the Democratic party that will lead surely and without fail to the election of a Republican Governor come this Fall.

It is one thing to debate the issues in a campaign based on the constitutional freedoms. It is quite another thing to assassinate the character of local people, when those very hatchet-men know full well they cannot substantiate their charges with facts and figures.

Only devious, self-seeking ruffians resort to such tactics. It is a pity that we have a few of them in our midst. We regret that they're spending money to smear their neighbors. They can get the truth, for free, if they really want it.

No Matter Who Wins Gubernatorial Race, Cost Of State Government Will Continue To Grow

The question of financing the state government and its increased cost, for all practical purposes, might just as well be eliminated from the campaigns for the nomination for governor.

Regardless of the outcome of the Democratic primary election and the general election this fall, the cost of maintaining the state government will continue at its present level and possibly will exceed that level during the next administration.

In the field of education alone, the necessity for more money can readily be seen. Enrollment in State-supported colleges is increasing rapidly year after year. The new University of Kentucky Medical School, now in its infancy, will require more and more money. In addition, the Kentucky Education Association's legislative program is calling for further salary increases for teachers.

Administration of the veterans' bonus, collection of the state sales tax, an expanded parks program, and expansion in other programs have required additional state personnel.

Though A. B. Chandler has been pointing out in his gubernatorial campaign speeches throughout the state that the state payroll is $50 million more than the last year he was governor and is promising "economies," he has never stated that he will need no additional taxes if the sales tax on food, clothing and medicine, as he advocates, is removed.

Any change in the present tax structure will necessarily and surely bring about an increase in the income tax and perhaps in the property tax. These are the only broad bases of tax revenue. Taxpayers may decide what kind of tax they prefer, but they have little or no control over the cost of government, which their taxes must support.

Under the able direction of Mr. Brown, the group has progressed a great deal and a large group from the elementary grades will be joining the band next year.

Members of the Fulton City School Band have never failed in their efforts to enhance the effectiveness of local events by generously giving of their time and talents to make personal appearances. We know that they have often felt rather shabby in their eleven-year-old uniforms, but they gave all they had to the event anyway. It's time now for all of us to show some measure of appreciation for that cooperation by "sprucing up" their appearances with new uniforms.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission.

By JOE JORDAN

Complaints by slaveholders about the impressment of slaves to dig trenches and perform other manual labor for the Union Army drew a rejoinder, 100 years ago this week, in the form of an order published by the Federal commander at Lexington, who warned that some of those complaining "may think themselves fortunate if they themselves are not forced to work in the trenches."

The commander was Col. S. A. Gilbert of the 44th Ohio Infantry, who when he was in command at Frankfort in February had broken up an attempt by Democrats to hold a convention to nominate candidates for state offices. In the order issued at Lexington he said, "The Union men of Kentucky are expected to contribute towards the defense of this state and we do not think it becomes them to endeavor to have their Negroes exempted from the labor necessary to the defense of this city." Then came the statement that "neutrals and secession sympathizers" might consider themselves lucky if they did not have to do the digging themselves.

"Men who will not defend their country, or sympathizers with those who wish to destroy it," Gilbert said, "have no rights that we are bound to respect."

The Emancipation Proclamation which President Lincoln had issued January 1 stated explicitly that it conferred freedom only upon slaves in the states "now in rebellion." Hence it did not apply in Kentucky, and in March the Kentucky legislature had enacted a law forbidding those freed elsewhere by the proclamation to enter Kentucky. Apparently there was a belief in this state that slavery would continue indefinitely in Kentucky, if one may judge by the prices that were being paid for slaves in April of 1863. The Louisville Journal reported that at a slave sale at Owensboro five men were sold for $950, $922, $911, $900 and $846, that three girls brought $921, $900 and $880, and "a boy and girl together," $1,800. "These sales were for cash," it said.

Furthermore, Kentucky sheriffs were zealously picking up Negroes who could not show passes from their owners, locking them up, and advertising them as runaway slaves. Each advertisement, after describing the captive, related what he had to say about where he was from and who his owner was then ended with the stock announcement: "The owner can come forward, prove property and pay charges, or he (or 'she,' referring to the prisoner) will be dealt with as the law requires." A single issue of the Frankfort Tri-Weekly Commonwealth in April of 1863 carried 136 such advertisements.

What the law required if nobody came forward, proved proper and paid charges was shown in another advertisement in the same issue. The sheriff of Franklin County announced that at a certain time and place he would sell at auction a man held as a runaway slave, who had not been claimed. He said the slave for one year after the sale would be subject to redemption if his owner appeared and paid the charges.

Awaits the sun and gently stirs
As, winding up the hill, in slow
Procession come the worshipers;
Now etched against the lightening sky
A shadowed Cross appears on high.

Each heart in silence seeks the Lord:
Then suddenly the dawn is flame,
And voices swell with one accord
In praises to His holy name.

THE STEAK HOUSE

"FOR EATING PLEASURE"

People from all over this part of the state, the tourists and visitors, all with acclaim, have pronounced The Steak House as outstanding for food and one of the finest in this section.

Located with parking accommodations close at hand, it makes a popular center for autoists who are in town for the day.

It is attractively furnished which makes it a most cheerful place and here, amidst comfortable surroundings, one of the most courteous services is afforded the public. At The Steak House you will find all the satisfaction of good service plus a very high quality of food that will please the most particular appetite. Good food is a watchword with this concern and the management is so careful in supplying high quality continually that it is a place you may go and be absolutely sure of a good meal.

In addition to always providing the better grade of food the policy of the management includes serving it at the lowest possible price. The large amount of business which they enjoy enables this restaurant to carry out the "best food" policy even with the greater cost which is necessarily incurred in using better grades. The Steak House is located in Mayfield on Fulton Rd. Phone 247-9170.

Betrothal Of Miss Susan Bushart And Mr. Frank Cardwell Made Known

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Ward Bushart of Fulton announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Susan Callahan Bushart, to Mr. Richard Lewis Cardwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest B. Cardwell, also of Fulton.

The wedding is planned for August 3, at the First Methodist Church, Fulton.

Miss Bushart was graduated from Fulton High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society, and in her senior year, she received the Citizenship Award.

The bride-elect will be graduated in June from the University of Kentucky where she is a member of the Chi Omega sorority.

Mr. Cardwell was graduated from Fulton High School. He was president of the Senior Class. He attended the University of Mississippi where he was a pledge of Sigma Pi fraternity. He is now attending Murray State College, Murray.

Miss Bushart is the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Bushart, and the late Mr. Lynn Thomas Callahan and Mrs. L. H. Howard.

Mr. Cardwell is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Thompson, and the late Mr. James Riley Cardwell and Mrs. Hattie G. Cardwell.

Poet's Daughter To Speak At Murray Lecture

Miss Helga Sandburg, daughter of the poet, Carl Sandburg, will be the first speaker in a series of spring lectures sponsored by the Student Organization at Murray State College.

Miss Sandburg, who is a novelist, poet, and prize-winning short-story writer will speak in the Auditorium April 24.

Miss Sandburg's topic will be "Four Giants of American Poetry." She will discuss Carl Sandburg, Robert Frost, Ezra Pound, and Amy Lowell and will read from the works of each.

She made her literary debut in 1958 with the novel, "The Wheel of Earth," and a short story which won the Emily Clark Balch prize.

She is the author of "The Owl's Roost" and "Measure My Love." She has contributed to The New Yorker, Harper's, Saturday Review, New York Herald Tribune Books, Chicago Tribune Magazine, McCall's, Seventeen and London Magazine.

Miss Sandburg has completed work on a new book of American folk-songs, many of which she sings with self-accompaniment on the guitar.

Mrs. Harry Murphy Program Leader For Department Meeting On Gardens

Garden spots to visit on your vacation was the program presented when the Woman's Club general meeting was held last Friday with a large attendance and one visitor, Mrs. H. B. Houston. The Home and Garden Department were hosts with Mrs. Harry Murphy, program leader. Mrs. Murphy gave brief interesting descriptions of several gardens.

Williamsburg Gardens in Virginia is greatly steeped in English tradition. In 1917 restoration was started so that the past could be learned in the future. Gatlinburg Gardens, Tennessee, is a marvel of botany. The Wild Flower pilgrimage is held the last week of April with 1500 species. The University of Tennessee sponsors these tours to the extent that they send zoologist and botanist and botanist professors to guide them. The Missouri Botanical Gardens, St. Louis, was started by Henry Shaw and was opened to the public in 1859. Bellingrath Gardens in Mobile, Alabama is a charm spot of the deep South. It has beauty every day of the year. Middleton Gardens, Charleston, S. C., was designed by Henry Middleton, first president of Continental Congress, in 1741. His son, Arthur, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, brought the first camellia to the United States.

The beauty of Longwood Gardens in Pennsylvania was described by Mrs. W. C. Graham. Since 1921 more than four million visitors have seen this beautiful garden designed by the late Pierre S. du Pont. It has a historical background. Mrs. Murphy, assisted by Mrs. Gene Hatfield, showed beautiful color slides of the Gatlinburg, Middleton, Augusta, Ga., Missouri Botanical and the Cypress, Florida, Gardens.

The refreshment table was lovely with its lace tablecloth and centerpiece floral arrangement of lavender lilac and daffodils. Punch and cookies were served with Mrs. William Stokes pouring. Hostesses were Mrs. Rob Fowlkes, chairman, Mrs. Jack Allen, Mrs. W. L. Carter, Mrs. W. T. Barnes, Mrs. Wm. Stokes, Mrs. E. E. Pittman and Mrs. Hunter Whitesell.

The meeting was opened with the Collect given by Mrs. W. S. Atkins. Mrs. Vyron Mitchell, president, conducted the business session assisted by Mrs. Charles Pawlukiewicz, secretary. The club will give a donation to both the Fulton and South Fulton Cancer Crusade which it sponsors. It was announced that the Ways and Means Committee would hold a "Taster's Tea" on Friday, May 3. The hat sale project that was planned for later in the year has been cancelled. The next general meeting will be Monday, May 6, when the Music Department will be the hosts and will present the annual Evening of Music.

Questions and Answers
Q—My husband, a veteran of World War II, died recently. Am I, or are my children, eligible for a GI home loan?

A—If your husband died of a service-connected disability and you have not remarried you are eligible, but children of deceased veterans are not eligible for GI loans.

State, Local Leaders To Talk Industrial Program

April 18 is Industrial Day of the Clean Up-Paint Up - Fix Up campaign in the twin cities. On that day an Industrial-Community Development Action Program will be given with State and local sponsorship. Under the auspices of the Twin Cities Development Association of the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Development Division of the Kentucky Department of Commerce, the program will be held at Park Terrace Restaurant.

The program, to start with a luncheon, will include 20 short talks by state-agency representatives, industrial leaders, and officials of civic and development organizations. Officials of five industries will detail their companies' reasons for selecting plant locations in the area.

Speakers from out of town will be: James H. Nutter, Jr., commissioner, Kentucky Department of Commerce; Robert G. Worden, director of the state agency's Community Development Division; Thomas M. Watkins, director of research and industrial development for the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce; Glover Gary, of the Texas Gas Transmission Corporation, Owensboro; Charles Catlett, Illinois Central Railroad, Chicago; Thomas N. Watkins, Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Louisville; Richard L. Houpe, Kentucky Industrial Development Finance Authority, Frankfort; Thomas K. Irwin, Citizens Fidelity Bank & Trust Company, Louisville; Donald M. Draper, Department of Commerce, Frankfort; and Jerry Chapman, Kentucky Department of Commerce, Hopkinsville.

Speaking on a local level will be: Merce, Frankfort; Jerry Chapman, Kentucky Department of Commerce, Hopkinsville; and William B. Stratton, assistant director of Community Development Division, Frankfort.

Fulton's Mayor Gilbert DeMyer; Sam Siegel, President, Siegel Company; William Scott, President, Chamber of Commerce; James Robey, City Manager; Randall Burcham, Chairman, Industrial Development Committee; Charles Pawlukiewicz, Plant Manager, Ferry-Morse Seed Company; W. P. Burnett, Plant Manager, Pure Milk Company; A. B. Thacker, Manager, Swift & Company; John Simrell, owner, Jiffy Steamer Company; and Charles Thomas, Principal, Carr Elementary School.

Members of various local organizations have been invited to attend this action program meeting, which will end with a tour of the city park.

Miss Peden Tells B&PW Members Of Foreign Visits

Miss Katherine Peden, past national president of the Business and Professional Women's Club brought the world in close proximity to Fulton last Friday when she was guest speaker for the fourth birthday anniversary of the local club. Telling her audience of her trips in many far off lands, Miss Peden, who is serving as international membership chairman told of her sojourn behind the Iron Curtain.

She told members from Mayfield, Paducah, Union City and Fulton and guests of the courage and determination of women in foreign lands to gain status and equal rights in business and the professions.

Program leader for the impressive meeting was Mrs. Bertie Pigue. Mrs. Kellena Durbin, president of the club presided and conducted a short business meeting at the Park Terrace dinner.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. Paul Westpheling. Miss Peden was the honoree at a small reception at the Westpheling home before the dinner.

How Old?

Q—What is the oldest group of veterans now that Civil War veterans are all gone?

A—There are 26 surviving veterans of the Indian Wars and most are in their nineties.

County Chairman Was There!

BREATHITT CAMPAIGN CHAIRMAN — Sheriff Joe Campbell, Ned Breathitt's Fulton County campaign chairman, talks to a fellow Breathitt supporter at the "Bucks for Breathitt Fun Fair" in Louisville Saturday night. The man with his back to the camera, is Bill Johnstone, Breathitt's State Farm Chairman.

he fears the issues, he fears the voters — he even fears me."

Breathitt praised Combs as a "great governor because he had a great problem — and the courage to fight. But he also has been a great governor because he told the people the truth — and because he refused to connive at dis-honor."

The reference to Combs drew an outburst of applause and cheers from the big crowd — and the governor reluctantly took a short bow and waved.

After Breathitt's talk, the program was delayed more than a half-hour as well-wishers paraded forward to shake his hand — and it was only after he had left the floor that the show could be resumed.

NATIONAL GUARD—

1958 summer encampment and the following year was rated the best National Guard unit in Kentucky. The city council earlier this week voted unanimously to provide a suitable five-acre site for the erection of an Armory. Mr. Stahr has been invited and is expected to attend the April 18 ceremonies, to be staged at Fulton County High school. Gov. Bert Combs, Adj. Gen. A. Y. Lloyd and other state officials also are expected for the program. Plans at this time call for a dinner from 5:30 to 7 p. m. in the high school cafeteria, a 30-minute musical program, and then the ceremonies beginning at 7:30.

HOMEMAKERS—

Dr. Hansen's talk, "Open The Door," will concern the importance of continued education for women and of the encouragement of young people to stay in school. Mrs. Braun will discuss "Your Federation," stressing the importance of good organization, well-trained leaders, and contact with new audiences in county programs. Both these speakers are scheduled as part of the morning program. District director Mrs. J. A. Outland, Calloway County will preside at the meeting. Taking part in the program from Fulton County will be Mrs. Roy M. Taylor,

Mrs. Harry Sublett, Jr., songleader and Mrs. Roy D. Taylor, accompanist. Other highlights of the all-day meeting will be a welcome to the group by Dr. Ralph Woods, president of Murray State College; and special music by Mrs. Vernon Shown, accompanied by Mrs. Charles Simons, both of Calloway County.

Youth Group Names Thomas Park Director

Charlie Thomas, principal of Carr Elementary School, has been employed by the City of Fulton to serve as park supervisor this summer. This is a full-time position, newly created. Mr. Thomas will be in full charge of the park and the play area and will supervise all activities.

Jimmy Yates has been employed by Twin Cities Youth, Incorporated, to assist Mr. Thomas. He is a junior in Fulton High School and has been active in the youth program for several years.

The two sites of activities for the summer will be at the City Park in Fulton and the South Fulton athletic field. With six different age leagues and four baseball and softball fields, every child in the community between 8 and 17 years of age can be on a team. There will be activity every day and night except on Wednesdays and Sundays, from June 3 to August 2.

Several other projects are being planned for the boys and girls not interested in athletics, such as square dancing, Little Theater, or a community mixed youth chorus.

Beloved Columbus Couple To Observe Golden Anniversary With Open House

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Roberts

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Roberts, of Columbus, will celebrate their golden wedding on Easter Sunday, April 14, with an open house. The reception will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roberts, Jr., also at Columbus, between the hours of two and five o'clock in the afternoon. Friends and relatives of the couple are invited to attend.

The couple was married April 9, 1913 at the home of Mrs. Mittie Mahan of Clinton. The Rev. G. W. Duncan, then pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. The late Selma Mahan and Frank Pearson attended the couple.

Mrs. Roberts is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. James Milton Peck of Arlington. Mr. Roberts, now retired, is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Roberts of Hickman County.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberts are the parents of two sons, James Peck Roberts (deceased), and Harry W. Roberts, Jr., who is Commonwealth's Attorney for this District. Thomas Dale Roberts is a grandson. One grandchild Milton Fort Roberts, is deceased.

PIERCE STATION By Mrs. Charles Lowe

Mrs. Frank Heflin's many friends will be sorry to hear that she is very ill in the Fulton Hospital and hope she will soon be better. Her daughters, from Detroit, are at her bedside.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Copeland, of Mayfield, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Bud Stem spent Sunday with Mrs. Stem's brother, Leonard Adams, and Mrs. Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roberts have returned from a visit with their daughter and family in Chattanooga, Tenn.

Mrs. Arlene Jones of Fulton is the house guest of Mrs. Myrtle Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Adams, of Martin, are spending today (Monday) with Mrs. C. E. Lowe.

Mrs. Mattie Renfro is improving and able to go to her daughter's near Mayfield for a visit.

Always remember that, with rare exceptions, you do not have to talk.

FARMERS PREFER PRODUCTION CREDIT LOANS

A Special Need for Extra Capital NOW—

Pay for your Fertilizer and get that EXTRA DISCOUNT!

Whether large or small, farmers are finding that Production Credit Associations have the capital and the funds to finance their operations properly.

They like the flexibility of a PCA loan to fit into their farm program with convenience to themselves and a saving in interest costs.

- JOIN the ranks of successful farmers who get PCA loans because:
- 1—Funds are advanced as needed.
 - 2—Repayments are scheduled when crops or livestock will be sold.
 - 3—Simple interest is charged on the daily outstanding balance, reducing interest cost.
 - 4—Up to 7 years to repay on certain types of loans.
 - 5—Credit is available anytime—tight money or not.

AUSTIN SPRINGS By Mrs. Carey Fields

Mr. and Mrs. George Haygood and children, of Elgin, Ill., arrived Saturday for an Easter vacation, visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mathis, this village, and Mr. and Mrs. Haygood on Route 3, Fulton.

Rev. James Holt filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church at 11 a. m. Sunday. A fine attendance was had in Sunday School, which meets at 10 a. m., with Howard Harris as superintendent.

Water lines have been run to the house of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bynum, which will be occupied by Rev. and Mrs. T. T. Harris upon their arrival from Tallahassee, Fla. They contemplate remaining here and all their friends are happy to know they will move into our midst again.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel Mathis and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones and children, have arrived from Akron, Ohio, to spend their Easter vacation here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Mathis.

Miss Janice Donoho, a student of West Tennessee Business College in Jackson, Tenn., spends her week ends here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Donoho, District No. 1.

Get well wishes are extended to Mrs. Bill Melton, who is now a patient in Hillview Hospital. She has recently undergone surgery in Nashville.

The farmers have kept busy in the fields, weather permitting. They are now far ahead with disc-fact that Lorraine Cooper serves some of the most unusual party food in Washington. I agree. Never have I seen, or tasted either, such tempting and delicious dollar-sized tarts, some with huge strawberries and some with prunes in them. Cucumbers sandwiches and rolled ham sandwiches appeared to be the work of a caterer with a gourmet's interest at heart. And yet, I think Lorraine Cooper whipped them up herself.

It was as I reached for one of the delicacies that Madame Alphonse and Lorraine exchanged conversation in French. I mention this, not to think that maybe they were talking about me, but to pass on to you the fact that Lorraine Cooper speaks at least five foreign languages fluently. The Coopers and The Alphand had been dinner guests at the White House the night before in a small group honoring the King of Morocco. Mrs. Alphand had spent the afternoon with Mrs. Kennedy at the White House. She came from there to the Coopers and both couples were going on to another event that night for the same Royal visitor.

You wouldn't believe it, but Madame Alphonse seemed to be enjoying herself talking with us about Kentucky. She was reluctant to leave. As she did she said: "I must not keep the King waiting." She's the only person I ever knew who could say the "King and I" and not be talking about a movie. Having met the wives of two ambassadors I thought I had had enough fairy-land experiences for one day. But not so at the Coopers. Soon a most distinguished couple came in. They were introduced as Mr. and Mrs. John Walker. I must have been standing in the right places at the wrong time, but somehow it became my pleasure to have a nice chat with Mrs. Walker. She and her husband had returned in recent weeks from France where they had accompanied the famous Mona Lisa back to its home. Mr. Walker is chairman of the National Art Gallery in Washington.

Their European tour included a visit with members of their family, who live in London. Don't worry about my conversation with them. I didn't stretch my luck. What I don't know about art would fill an area ten times the National Gallery, so I used the old motto here: "It's better to be thought a fool, than to open your mouth and remove all doubt." I conversed with Mrs. Walker, but it was about the health and well being of their children; the beautiful Washington weather and about "Stars in My Crown." They were most interested in our drama project into these regions.

The hour and a half at the Coopers seemed like two minutes anywhere else. We were somewhat tardy in leaving Washington even at that hour, so we devoted every fascinating moment. We called a cab to take us to the airport and as the Coopers and our group stood on the steps of their home my mind raced to remember everything I could tell to you.

I looked up the street at other handsome homes and learned that nearby was the home vacated not too long ago by a resident who needed larger, but not any more historic quarters. The new address of the former Georgetown residents is 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, but they return often to visit their friends. Yes, President and Mrs. Kennedy visit with the Coopers often. They are close personal friends.

Around the corner from the Coopers live the Teddys Kennedys. Not far from that landmark live the Bobby Kennedys. The area is not quite a Kennedy compound, but it is the heart and the fire-side of people we know only through type and television and radio waves.

You wouldn't believe it if I told you, but I can write much, much more about my short visit in Washington. Maybe I'm too wordy, but you'll admit that a lot of words can be put together to talk about Washington, D. C.

After a delicious dinner at the airport we pointed our sights homeward. As the roar of the plane ascended to its heavenly heights I gazed at the Washington landmarks until they were tiny specks of memories. Nothing, but nothing, makes you appreciate America like the sight of the Washington monument, the Capitol dome, and the flickering sights of history along the Mall. All that and cherry blossoms, too!

The Music Department of the Woman's Club met April 9 at the club home. The program subject was "Young Musicians", featuring some of the young musicians who have received superior ratings at the music festivals. Leaders of the program were Mrs. Nelson Tripp, Mrs. W. M. Blackstone and Mrs. R. E. Hyland. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Leonora Bushart, Mrs. James Carter, Mrs. Seldon Reed, Mrs. Charles Pawlukiewicz and Mrs. Glenn Walker.

In late April Glenda Sue Witt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Witt of Route 4 Dresden, will be married to Harold Eugene Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Penn Foster, also of Route 4, Dresden. The bride-elect is employed by the Henry I. Siegel Company in Fulton, and Mr. Foster is employed by Dreshu, Inc., in Paris, Tenn.

Sharing honors with Mrs. Nellie McFadden at a dinner on her 50th birthday were Mr. and Mrs. Jim McFadden, who were celebrating their 35th wedding anniversary, and Mr. and Mrs. Ardie Moore, celebrating their 6th wedding anniversary. Congratulations all!

Mrs. Vernon McAlister was the hostess at a lovely luncheon, held in the private dining room at Village Inn at Kentucky Dam Village, honoring Mrs. Eula Nelson of Fulton, Mrs. Ernestine McCollum and Mrs. Isabelle St. John of Paducah. All three of these ladies were celebrating their birthdays. The table was centered with a beautiful birthday cake and other decorations carried out the Easter theme. Others attending were: Mrs. Raymond Boaz, Mrs. Esther Hafebauer, Mrs. John M. Clark, Mrs. L. W. Sandifer, of Paducah; Mrs. Mignon Bard, of Paducah; Mrs. E. H. Knight, Mrs. T. E. Murdaugh, Mrs. J. B. Benson, Mrs. Hattie Wood, Mrs. W. H. McNally, Mrs. C. M. Conley, Mrs. T. J. Smith and Mr. McAlister.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. (Bob) Cannon of Fulton, Route 3, observed their sixtieth wedding anniversary on April 7, with open house from 2:30 to 5 p. m. at their home.

They have four daughters, Mrs. A. E. Clifton of Fulton, Mrs. C. A. Bell of Detroit, Mrs. W. D. Clifton of Detroit and Mrs. E. T. Perry of Fulton, all of whom were present for the occasion.

The Cannons also have eight grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. One grandson, Gene Paul Clifton, was drowned.

The couple was married at Duketown, Tenn., and have lived in this community all of their lives. They are 79. Mr. Cannon is a retired farmer and his wife is the former Minnie Grissom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Grissom of Water Valley. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Cannon.

All of their friends, relatives and neighbors called during the open house.

County Health Workers At State Meet

A number of Fulton Countians are in Louisville this week attending the 15th annual meeting of the Kentucky Public Health Association. The session closes today (April 11) after three days of meetings on subjects concerned with public health.

On the opening day, Tuesday (April 9) a general session was addressed by Russell E. Teague, M. D., commissioner of health, Governor Bert T. Combs, and William R. Willard, M. D., vice president and dean, University of Kentucky Medical School. On Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons there were combined section meetings on various phases of epidemiology—insect and food borne diseases, tuberculosis, chronic illness—as well as on human behavior in society. Section meetings for health officers, nurses, clerks, laboratory personnel, sanitarians, health educators, and those interested in medical care were held Wednesday morning.

Attending from Fulton County were Mrs. Gerrie Braswell, Nurse; Mrs. Mattie Fisher, Nurse; Mrs. Rose Stewart, Clerk; Harry Barry, Sanitarian and Mrs. Gladys Hyland, Clerk.

FROM HEAVEN!

A plane from the White Angel Fleet of the Church of Prophecy will fly over Fulton Friday afternoon, April 12, dropping leaflets.

THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY has designated April as Cancer Control Month. Year round, cancer researchers work hopefully toward prevention, control and eventual cure of this terrible disease. Year by year they come closer to winning the fight against cancer. This month, you—all of us—are urged to support the work of the Cancer Society by giving our time and our dollars to cancer research. One hundred and five thousand deaths from cancer will occur in the working force of the nation this year. There will be over 200,000 new cases. Cancer will cost business and industry nearly 50,000 man-years of productivity. The answer to this problem lies in the work of doctors and researchers, and in the dollars you give to support their work. Give generously to the American Cancer Society.

Three Governors Meet At Village On Lincoln Trail

Governor Bert Combs of Kentucky, Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois and Governor Matthew Welch of Indiana will discuss promotional plans for the newly established Lincoln Heritage Trail through their three states at a public meeting April 16 at Kentucky Dam Village State Park, Gilbertsville Kentucky.

Participating also in the day-long program will be Frank Ikart, former Texas Congressional representative and president of the American Petroleum Institute.

James G. Bennett, American Petroleum Institute Travel Development Coordinator, will outline the Lincoln Trail promotional program. The trail, 1000 miles long, will touch historic sites and communities made famous by Kentucky-born Lincoln.

Bennett has said the trail should increase by 10 to 15 per cent the number of motorists traveling the highways on the trail. "And by late summer the increase should go to 25 per cent," Bennett said.

Governor Combs has said the trail would serve to "give all Americans a greater appreciation of Abraham Lincoln and his role in holding together our nation and laying the foundation for its greatness."

The Kentucky Lincoln Heritage Trail will enter the state at Henderson. The tour includes Owensboro, Lewisport, Hawesville, Cloverport, Hardinsburg, Irvington, Vine Grove, Elizabethtown, Hodgenville, Knob Creek, New Haven, Bardstown, Springfield, Springfield, Danville, Harrodsburg, Lexington, Frankfort, Shelbyville and Louisville.

IN THE SWIM!

Two swimmers from Fulton, Danny Shelton and Judy Burton, both students at Murray State College, will take part in the school's 1963 Water Carnival, to be presented in the Health Building at Murray State College on May 2-4. This year's theme is "Aquatic Holiday". Swimming and diving to music portraying each month will be featured.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our relatives, neighbors and friends for the lovely flowers, the comforting words, and for each act of kindness shown us during the loss of our dear wife and mother. We also appreciate very much the services of Hornbeak Funeral Home. May God bless each of you.

TREE-PLANTING TIME

Kentucky forests today cover approximately 49 percent of the land area. This timber gives full time employment to over 20,000 people and well over 100,000 receive part time work in wood processing. The major problem now is to keep our woodland in desirable species and to replant old eroded land to trees. The slogan goes, "Plant Trees, Grow Jobs".

Now comes the method of planting, and down through the years this has been the main reason for limited planting. Tree planting is still a big job. Planting is very effective by hand, but survival is low where experienced planters haven't demonstrated how the job should be done. This article is not the place for a tree planting demonstration, but I will give you a few points on some problems. Care of trees, depth of planting and the weather are the main causes of trees mortality rate being high. When you receive seedling trees and cannot plant them within five days, trench them out and wet them. It is best to keep sunlight away if the season is late and the weather warm. There are directions in the bundle just how to trench them out. If you will be able to plant within a day or two just store in a cool, dark place and wet the tree roots. Keep the tree roots wet until the trees are planted, this is very important.

When planting time comes around, NEVER LET THE TREE ROOTS DRY! Once the root hairs dry, the tree is dead and will not survive, even though the top still looks green. In planting, make the trench or hole large enough for easy planting and be sure to pack the soil firmly with a sharp kick of the heel. If the root of the tree is too long for the planting tool, simply cut the bottom inch or two in order to insure proper planting. If the tree is planted and the root is too long and turns back or 'J's' as we say in planting terms, it will live maybe a year or I have seen them live two years then die. The tap-root grows to the top of the ground thus a dead tree. Always plant from a bucket of water or wet moss.

In order to correct some of the planting ills and assist farmers in planting trees, the Illinois Central Railroad built a light weight mechanical tree planter. The first machine was built in 1946 and planted an average of 1000 trees per hour. The two man crew plants in one hour the number of trees it would take them all day to plant by hand. The planter cannot plant gullies, so there is still work that has to be carried out by hand. Since 1946 the tree planter has been revised several times. Plans for building this machine are free to anyone who wishes to try his skill at welding, or we have a company that builds them for sale. We have no interest in the company. We do know it is one of the best machines for small plantings.

County Farmers Assign 5400 Acres To Reserve

This year Fulton County farmers have signed up to put about 5,400 acres of corn in the grain reserve. This leaves about 15,000 acres of corn to be grown in the county. Last year our county's average yield per acre was about 56 bushels per acre. This means that the value of our county's corn crop is worth close to one million dollars annually.

Many farmers in this area average producing well over 100 bushels of corn per acre and most Fulton County farmers can produce large yields by following the following program:

1. Select good level land or cultivate rolling land on the contour.
2. Apply the lime and fertilizers

The Fulton County High School F. H. A. Club celebrated "National F. H. A. Week" March 31 through April 6.

The freshman class made two bulletin boards, one showing the F. H. A. symbols, the other telling about F. H. A. purposes.

The F. H. A. officers were heard over WFUL in Fulton on Wednesday, April 3. The girls told about the requirements to join F. H. A., what it believes in, what it works toward, how it is financed, the F. H. A. pin and symbols and the type meeting it holds. Later, the girls went through the opening and closing rituals, led by Judith Morefield, president.

Fire Marshal Warns Residents Of Brush Fires

State Fire Guard G. A. Harrington reminds Fulton Counties of restrictions on burning grass or debris.

"During dry weather certain regulations must be taken to prevent fire losses. It is against the law to set a fire within 200 feet of any timber land except between the hours of 4:30 p. m. and midnight. Fires set during these hours must be under constant observation, and should be set only after all precautions have been taken to keep fire confined," he said.

Fines for violations of these laws range from $10 to $100 and ten days to six months in jail, or both.

Smallpox Needs New Vaccine Every 5 Years

Protection against smallpox has reached a dangerous low in the United States. Discussing this fact at a recent meeting of the Public Health Committee of the Kentucky State Medical Association, the committee urged physicians and the public to reverse the declining immunization level against this serious epidemic.

According to Delmas M. Clardy, M. D., Hopkinsville, chairman of KSMA's Public Health Committee, maintenance of protection against smallpox requires vaccination as five-year intervals. Recent outbreaks in other western nations and a growing amount of international travel emphasize the need for attention to this problem. Smallpox, although one of the easiest diseases to prevent, is highly contagious. The virus can be spread by coughs, sneezes, or even in dust.

In the interest of national safety, the committee urged physicians and their patients, particularly those who may be in contact with possible carriers, to maintain the needed protection against smallpox.

In implementing this proven phase of preventative medicine, the Kentucky State Medical Association is cooperating with the State Department of Health and other organizations in this program.

CHESTNUT GLADE

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughn

Congratulations to Brenda Wheat, who was chosen by the panel of judges furnished by the Humboldt Strawberry Festival Committee to reign as Miss Martin of 1963. Any one of the 53 contestants would have made a lovely queen; however, everyone in this community is very happy that one of our fairest was chosen. The friends in this community who have known Brenda since her early childhood agree that her beauty is not excelled by her very sweet and charming personality. She will, no doubt, perform each obligation this honor presents capably and willingly. She has reigned as a "Queen in the hearts of many friends for some time and all are very happy because of this special honor.

Mrs. Ches Morrison was honored with a belated birthday supper Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Durrell Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Cummings enjoyed this pleasant occasion with the Morrisons.

Vascoe Simpson, Mrs. Orvin Morrison, Mrs. Riley Alexander,

Mrs. Darrell Wright and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan, from this community, were among the 75 Home Demonstration Club members who enjoyed the trip to Goldsmith's in Memphis last Wednesday. The most enjoyable, instructive and interesting program presented by Goldsmith's personnel was apparently thoroughly appreciated by each lady who was privileged to attend.

Mrs. Mary Terrell remains about the same. Roy Nix is still a shut-in.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige, Mr. and Mrs. Buren Smith and Phyllis, J. T. Brundige, Mr. and
