Fists Fly At Georgia Trial Of Columbians

State Attorney Floors President Of "White" Group Rements "INSULT"

ASHLAND, Nov. 23—(AP)—Assistant Attorney General Dan Duke floored with his fist President Emory C. Burke of the anti-negro anti-Jewish Columbians, Inc. today in the Fulton county court house after they engaged in a verbal altercation.

Burke sustained a gash over his eye in the clash which occurred after he and his attorney had been conferring with two judges over a suit being handled for the state by Duke to revoke the charter of the Columbians.

"Dad blame it, I've taken all I can from you," Duke shouted and landed the single blow that dropped Burke, dazed and his face covered with blood, to the floor. Bailiffs a moment before had made an unsuccessful effort to separate the two as they argued.

Later Duke said that his blow landed on Burke's head and that he struck after Burke made a remark "which I interpreted as intended to imply that I was not an Anglo-Saxon American."

The assistant attorney general said he regretted the incident and that he had told court attendants he would pay the hospital bill.

The clash came just after Superior Judge E. E. Pomeroy had granted Burke and his attorney another extension of six days in which to answer the state's attack on the Columbian charter.

Recovering a second after he hit the floor, Burke rested on a sofa and then suddenly shook a long, bony finger at Duke and his attorney. Duke, who said his attorney quieted him with a reminder that they still were in court.

Judge Pomeroy said he "was considering" action against both Duke and Burke.

"There was no immediate action by the judge, however, and Duke and Burke left the courtroom. Before leaving Duke made his offer to pay medical expenses for Burke."

Burke and his lawyer went to a washroom and then were accompanied out of the building by a bailiff.

Mayfield Lady Badly Burned

Gas Fumes Explode When Match Is Struck By Oil Heater; House Damaged

MAYFIELD, Ky.—Mrs. Raymond Andrus, Jr., was severely burned at 8 o'clock yesterday morning when gas fumes believed spread by a leaky hot water heater exploded at her home as she lighted a match to ignite an oil heater.

Mrs. Andrus suffered severe burns about the hands, legs, arms, face and neck, and her hair was burned, according to a report at Mayfield Hospital, where she was taken for treatment.

Mrs. Ethel Cashion, a neighbor, heard the explosion and saw a blinding flash. She rushed to the porch of the Andrus home and met Mrs. Andrus running from the house, her hair and clothing aflame. "Stalemate" Between GOP Congress, Demo President Not New

The impending "stalemate" between the Republican-dominated 80th Congress and President Truman will be no novelty in American politics, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Within the last 60 years, five presidents, Grover Cleveland (D), Benjamin Harrison (R), William Howard Taft (R), Woodrow Wilson (D) and Herbert Hoover (R) have served a portion of their terms as chief executive without a supporting party majority in the House. President Truman, third Democratic president since 1893 to find himself opposed by a Republican House, balances the three Republican presidents who have faced a

60 Rescuers Reach Scene Of Wrecked C-53 In Swiss Alps

Meiringen, Switzerland, Nov. 23—(AP)—Sixty members of a rescue contingent of Swiss Alpinists and military personnel reached the scene of the C-53 crash-landing high in the Swiss Alps today after ploughing through heavy snow drifts across a treacherous glacier.

Preparations were underway to bring the 11 marooned Americans down from the 8,000-foot Glacial Bowl, with Brig. Gen. Ralph Snively directing the dramatic rescue operations for the U. S. army.

Brig. Gen. Ralph Tate said he talked by radio with his son, Ralph Tate, Jr., pilot of the C-53, who told him all 11 persons had survived their four-day ordeal. The captain said eight were either sick or injured.

Snively's headquarters in Vienna Wednesday listed 15 persons as having been aboard the plane.

Tate said chieftains of the stranded plane were firing rockets into the skies to guide their rescuers, who, roped together, were scaling a treacherous 30-degree slope of the Rosenlaui Glacier.

The rockets were dropped over the scene yesterday by search planes after the ship was found nose up against a mountaintop 10,000 feet high.

Snively said the identities of the injured were not known. The passenger list included both Mr. Snively and Mrs. Tate, mother of the pilot.

"We know there are four survivors—I actually saw them with my own eyes," he said.

New Discovery Sends Phone Conversation On Power Line

An important step in activities to expand telephone service in rural areas was taken recently when telephone service transmission over electric power wires became a reality for eight subscribers near Aiken, S. C.

The project, through which six farm families, a rural store and a school in the Talaha community are receiving telephone service, marks the first time in the South that electric power wires have been utilized to expand rural telephone service on a regular commercial basis.

The Southern Bell Telephone Company and the Aiken Electric Co-operative of the Rural Electrification Administration are cooperating in the project. The electric power line which serves the eight subscribers is an REA line.

The first local call inaugurating service over the new line was made by Mrs. J. E. Hankinson to T. W. Henderson, superintendent of the Aiken REA group, who was at his office several miles away. The first long distance call was made by Governor-Elect Strom Thurmond.

The development known as "power line carrier" involves the use of electric power wires simultaneously for power service and telephone service. It is accomplished by the use of high-frequency currents which are popularly described as "carrying" the telephone conversations. "Couplers" and other specialized facilities perform the job of getting the telephone currents onto and off the wire at the subscribers' premises. Such equipment does not permit the electric power current to pass.

The telephone instrument itself is much like a conventional telephone instrument. The subscriber uses the telephone as he would any other.

The project is one of seven planned in the nation this fall. One of the seven projects involves a group of prospective subscribers at Nashville, N. C., where the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Company and the Carolina Power and Light Company will participate. Service will be started on this line shortly. This project is an experimental one by the two companies involved. The other five projects scheduled for this fall are at Manakin, Va.; Italy, Tex.; Lamesa, Tex.; Oak Creek, Colo.; and Cle Elum, Wash.

The development of the rural power line carrier system is being furthered in connection with telephone companies' activities to improve and expand telephone service in rural areas, making full use of a variety of methods, of which regular "land line" construction and power line carrier system are two of the significant methods.

Air Show At Martin Sunday

Navy Reserve Squadron Will Roar Over City In Salute To Amer. Legion

A navy reserve squadron will roar over Martin, Tenn., Sunday afternoon in a colorful salute to the American Legion as part of the giant air show staged by Gill-Dove Airways of Martin.

The aircraft will be flown by Memphis navy and marine reserve aviators in a 30-minute serial performance.

The famed Corsair and Helcat fighters will lead the squadron followed by the Curtiss "Helldiver" and Grumman "Avenger" torpedo bombers. The group will approach the field from an altitude of 10,000 feet and stream out of the blue in a simulated air attack on the field. The planes will rendezvous over the field and the Corsair fighters will withdraw and stage a demonstration in tactical maneuvers and aerobatics. The Helcat fighter division will climb for altitude and stage attacks on the bomber force to demonstrate the skill a bomber pilot must develop in evasive maneuvers.

The aviators who will stage the demonstration are former combat navy and marine pilots who are now on inactive duty and are members of the Organized Air Group at the Naval Air Station, Memphis. These pilots are part of the Naval Air Reserve Training Program that has been activated to keep up the efficiency of former fleet personnel as organized units should another emergency arise.

License Required For Motor-Bikes, Police Chief Says

Dimout Ordered In 21 States And Capital District

By Norman Walker
Washington, Nov. 23—(AP)—Amid drastic government moves to ease lightening soft coal shortages, President Truman headed back from Florida today to resume personal command of his "finish fight" with John L. Lewis.

Government officials reported the big and little inch pipelines, wartime conveyors of oil, may be put to work carrying natural gas from Texas to the east for emergency fuel.

A broad dimout was ordered which will halt unnecessary use of electricity—even Christmas tree lightings—in 21 states and the District of Columbia.

Meanwhile attorneys for the Justice Department and the United Mine Workers marshaled their arguments for the court contempt proceedings Monday which might put Lewis behind bars.

Neither side showed any disposition to compromise.

The government contends Lewis is in contempt of U. S. District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough, who ordered him to call off his contract "termination" which led 400,000 workers to leave the 3,300 government-held mines. Lewis has said nothing since the injunction was issued Monday.

Due Back Today
Mr. Truman was due back at the White House in mid-afternoon along with his labor advisor, Reconversion Director John R. Steelman, who flew down for conferences during the president's week-long vacation at Key West.

In the President's absence, government agencies were urged to plan to "soften" the impact of the coal stoppage.

The Civilian Production Administration issued effective Monday a dimout order more far-reaching than those of wartime.

Administrator John D. Small said that because of greater industrial consumption now the situation confronting the American people today is much more serious than that brought about by the coal strike last spring.

Small warned that fuel shortage restrictions on national economy and the people's comfort are, therefore, "just around the corner."

He added that electric utilities have an average 60-day coal supply, gas utilities "considerably less," and many in both categories already are low on fuel.

States Affected
The states affected by the dimout order are Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin, plus the District of Columbia.

Effective at 5 p. m. (CST) Monday, the order bans use of electricity for lighting store windows or advertising signs and for air conditioning and refrigeration except where essential.

It requires a 25 percent cut in electricity used for street lighting, buildings except homes, and for running passenger elevators and escalators. All Christmas lighted displays are out.

Small ordered even more drastic restrictions in electric utilities' service when their coal dwindles to a 15-day supply and a third state of curtailment when coal stocks reach the 10-day stage.

At the same time, CPA ordered utilities furnishing manufactured and mixed gas to curtail deliveries when their stocks fall to a three-week supply. It directed the electric power companies to make the greatest possible use of water power and fuel other than coal and to pool power supplies with other utilities.

Small appealed to state governors and chairmen of state utility commissions for their "help in enforcing conservation measures."

Strike Cuts Rail Payroll

3750 Railroaders In Kentucky May Lose Jobs Temporarily Next Week

By The Associated Press

Unemployment within a week or less appeared a certainty today for a least 3,750 railway workers in Kentucky because of the coal strike.

A survey showed 1,450 already idle and plans mapped to add 2,300 or more to their ranks as railroads trimmed passenger train schedules to conserve coal supplies for the movement of essential freight.

R. C. Parsons, general manager of the Louisville district of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, said 1,000 of the railway's workers had been laid off and that another 1,000 will be out of work in the next few days.

L. & N. yards at Decoury, near Cincinnati, halted operations yesterday, throwing 200 employes out of work.

The Illinois Central shops at Paducah announced that 1,100 employes will be out of jobs after Monday. Another 200 employed by the road will go on the inactive list tomorrow when two Kentucky passenger trains are dropped from schedules.

A. B. Gloyer, superintendent of L. & N.'s Corbin Division, which embraces the Corbin-to-Norton, W. Va. line and includes the big Harlan coal field, said 250 railroad workers were idled there by reduced operations.

The Southern Railway announced that "several hundred" in the road's Cincinnati division would lose their jobs next week. Effective Monday, the "four" of the "Royal Palm" between Cincinnati and Jacksonville will be cancelled.

Consider The Child

Adron Doran, president of the Kentucky Education Association, is right in saying a five-year-old who has to be fed, dressed and... Mr. Doran's statement would be as true if the child were eight, and many a five-year-old is as ready, eager and able to dress and dress himself three months before his fifth birthday as he is two months later.

The K. E. A. president seems to be considering the teacher's convenience when he proposes to draw the deadline on enrollment of the present year may enter the first grade. Under Mr. Doran's plan, a child who became five this month would lose a whole year.

There are two classes of retarded pupils—those who don't keep up with their grades, and those who are held back by the graded system. The latter have quick minds which cannot be pushed. They should be inducted into the educational process as soon as ready.

The above editorial appeared in the Nov. 23 edition of the Louisville Times, based upon a resolution introduced by Mr. Doran in a legislative group composed of representatives of the 15th District Education Association in Louisville. The point under consideration was whether or not the school program was to take care of the 5-year-olds in the first grade.

We certainly do not "consider the child" when you dump him into the first grade and then demand that he compete with those who are advanced than he. That situation contributes to retardation because he is not kept up with his grade. The opposition to the child entering school at 5, maybe he should enter at 4—but under the present law, the child enters at 5 because of a shortage of teachers, lack of equipment and over crowded classrooms. It is impossible to give proper attention to the 5-year old in the elementary public schools.

It is not going to create a kindergarten system to build it on a scientific basis instead of thinking we have properly "considered" the child when we permit him to enter the first grade in the first grade on July 1 when he will not be 6 years old until Jan. 1. Some sane arrangements to take care of the child on the level of proper entrance until he is 6 years old to compete with those of the same age which he is thrust.

READERS SAY

"Farmers' Friend" Against Meters
The purpose of parking meters in Fulton is purely to increase city revenue. Water meters similarly supplied the bulk of the city's income. A separate meter for water, gas, electric, and other utilities is a waste of money. There is no denying that some measures must be taken to offset this loss. The burden of supporting this deficit should rest upon the shoulders of our own city's population. It is our duty to do this.

Admits War Of Nerves

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst
That was blunt and startling language used by Louis F. Budenz, the former communist leader, when he testified before the house committee on Un-American activities yesterday that the Soviet government "is engaged in a war of nerves against the United States" that "could go to military conflict."

"We are dealing with a conspiracy to establish Soviet dictatorship throughout the world," declared Budenz, and added that Moscow continues to give instructions to the communist party abroad. Moscow certainly may be expected to challenge the statement that the Soviet is "engaged in a war of nerves against the United States," and undoubtedly will take exception to the term "conspiracy."

However, it would be surprising if Russia denied that it was trying to spread communism to the four corners of the globe. There never has been any secret about the Moscow intention to communize the world. The banner of "world revolution" was hung to the breeze even as the Bolsheviks won their rebellion against the Czarist regime. The Comintern, or Third International, was established in Moscow to act as general staff for this mighty drive.

When the Comintern failed, Stalin decided to relegate it to the background for the time being. He inaugurated the policy of making Russia strong industrially and militarily. Finally came the German-Russia non-aggression pact which was a prelude to the invasion of Poland and the second World War. Later the Soviet became one of the allies, and in 1945 Stalin announced the abolishment of the Comintern which had been such a thorn in the side of Britain and America. Washington officialdom was pleased. Elimination of the Comintern was taken as an implied promise that with the defeat of the Axis no attempt would be made to place the coasts of Europe under a communist dictatorship from Moscow.

But Budenz testified that Moscow continues to give instructions to the communist party throughout the world and that "the communist international exists in fact if not in form." He named Gerhard Eisler as "the equivalent of the representative of the communist international in the United States." In any event, Moscow hasn't tried to control its communication program in Europe. Virtually all of Eastern Europe has come under the direction of the Soviet Union, and the campaign is being waged vigorously throughout the rest of Europe. The same can be said of Asia and of the Western Hemisphere.

In short, the communistic drive to convert the world finally is in full swing. It never before had the chance which it has now. The war has plowed much of the globe for communism. Naturally conversion of the United States is one of the prime goals, because Uncle Sam is the paramount representative of the way of life which the Soviet is trying to eradicate.

College Head Salary Probed
Morehead Regents Would Pay New President For Expense Of His Moving
Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 23—(AP)—Dr. W. J. Baird, new president of Morehead State Teachers College, appears to have bumped into Kentucky's $5,000 salary ceiling. F. L. Phillips, acting state budget director, asked the attorney general's office if a state expense could be reimbursed for moving expenses even though the employee is drawing the constitutional maximum. Phillips said Morehead's board of regents agreed to pay Dr. Baird $405.27 for expenses he incurred in moving from Rome, Ga., to Morehead, Ky., to take his new post. The attorney general wrote that the board could pay by prior agreement salary received by the employee plus the expenses do not exceed the salary limit. "Cost of moving the personal effects of a state officer is a personal expense," the opinion said. The state treasurer's office said Dr. Baird's salary is $5,000 a year.

For a Gayer, Merrier Christmas

COLORFUL designs and gayer sentiments brighten this year's first real post-war Christmas cards. The first in several years to be actually produced during peacetime, the 1946 holiday greetings reveal that candles, Santa's, the Nativity, bells and other traditional symbols are still America's favorites. More popular, too, are cards for specific persons, like the one at lower left addressed "To The Boss." And an indication that this may be a light-hearted Yuletide season is seen in the growing number of whimsical cards, such as the one at lower center showing an angel leading a lamb across the top of a cloud.

Fulton, Kentucky sell to the highest and best bidder a 5-year franchise for the operation of a City Bus within the City Limits and under the terms and conditions as shown in the ordinance therefor adopted and approved by the City Council and Mayor November 18, 1946. No bid will be accepted for less than $250.00 and the city reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

At least one hour before the time for the sale each prospective bidder shall deposit cash or a certified check in the sum of $250.00 with the Mayor to be refunded to the unsuccessful bidders, and to be applied on the purchase bid of the successful bidder or retained as liquidated damages for non-payment of the balance of bid.

At least 24 hours before time for sale prospective bidders shall furnish evidence of ability to operate under the franchise.

The balance of purchase price shall be paid within 5 days after sale and purchase.

Immediately upon purchase, purchaser may begin operation or within 60 days thereafter.

This November 20, 1946. T. T. BOAZ, Mayor 278-5tc.

Veterans Corner

This column is published weekly through the cooperation of this paper. Questions should be mailed to the Veterans Employment Representative, United States Employment Service, Mayfield, Kentucky.

Q. When in the Army I signed a statement saying my disability existed prior to enlistment. The disability has become worse now. May I apply for compensation?

A. Yes. Only a Veterans Administration rating board can determine whether you are entitled to compensation or not.

Q. I am attending school full time under the G. I. Bill and draw $90.00 a month as subsistence allowance. How much may I receive from outside work and continue to draw subsistence payment?

A. You may earn up to $110 monthly and still receive $90 monthly as subsistence allowance while going to school. Under new legislation the ceiling is $200 for veterans with dependents. If you earn over $110 a month subsistence will be reduced so that your income does not exceed the $200 ceiling.

Q. I am a self-employed farmer. During the two months of harvesting I am earning more than the $100 per month for which I am eligible. Could I possibly accept day work during these months without hindering my self-employed status?

A. At the end of each month it is required that all veterans registered as self-employed, fill out a monthly financial status. All money derived from any source has to be included together with all expenditures to determine your profits. It may be possible that your position would be endangered due to the fact that you have time to do outside work thus disproving the fact that you are completely self-employed.

Q. Is a veteran who holds a bad conduct discharge entitled to all benefits under the G. I. Bill?

A. Since he holds neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge from the armed services it would be necessary for him to contact his nearest Veterans Administration office for a decision as to whether he was discharged under conditions other than dishonorable, or he may apply to the service concerned for revision of his discharge. Only veterans discharged under conditions other than dishonorable are eligible for benefits under the G. I. Bill.

A Message For Thanksgiving
 By Mrs. Lora Horton 709 E. State Line

Failure to acknowledge gifts and blessings conferred not only grieves the heart of the one who gives but hurts the one who receives.

To be thankful for favors large or small is a mark of refinement and the right kind of upbringing.

Those who are quick to respond to favors received are those who are finest in feeling and are sincere and lovable by very nature. An expression of real deep appreciation is like perfume of civility broken in the rooms of life, and blesses the one who gives as well as the one who receives. When we remember daily the gift that God bestows upon us it serves to make us more conscious of His watchcare over us and of the real value of life.

When as a nation we recognize a day of Thanksgiving, it serves to emphasize our oneness as a people and the richness of our great heritage from God and make us realize our dependence on Him who is the "giver of every good and perfect gift."

As individuals and as a people we have a true consciousness of our part of a great nation and our relationship one to another when we kneel in prayer to acknowledge the many blessings we all receive.

This Thanksgiving Day, causes us to place special emphasis not only on the source of all our blessings, but makes us close to the tie that binds us and makes us know that we are bound together in a great fellowship and that together we stand and divided we fall. It is a demonstrated fact that nothing draws us closer together than a spirit of thankfulness. When we are selfish and full of false pride and confidences we may be tempted to say "My power and the might of my hand has gotten me this wealth," and forget that we are dependent on each other and all of us are dependent on God.

A little boy saw a new red wagon in the store. With shining face he ran home and told his mother about the wonderful wagon and asked her if she would not give it to him. The mother was very limited financially. Seeing the light in his big blue eyes she could not deny his request so she said, "yes son, I will give it to you." Every day he put his arms around her neck and thanked her for the wagon and told her how much he loved it.

She is scheduled to go on trial today in Chicago on a manslaughter charge.

bor and bought the red wagon and give to him.

We remember that in The Book it is written, "If ye then being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children, how much more shall your Father which is in heaven give good things to them that ask him?" And again we are taught, "To be careful for nothing; but in everything by supplication and prayer with THANKSGIVING let your request be made known unto God."

Therefore gratitude is a warrant for blessings and favors yet to be received. Thus the spirit of thankfulness is absolutely necessary to our peace and prosperity and our security.

On this Thanksgiving Day let us bow before Him with humble hearts and recognize His goodness and our dependence on His graciousness, that He may "Let us enter into His gates with thanksgiving and into His courts with praise."
