Veteran Given Auto Through V. A. Program

Jacob C. Alfred, Wounded in Italy, Gets New Olds 66

WAS IN ARTILLERY

Jacob C. Alfred, 110 Church street, Fulton, has received a new Oldsmobile "66" under the Veterans Administration program which allows certain disabled veterans an automobile. It was announced today by Wilson L. Gunn, VA representative.

Paul Manner of Kentucky Motors Co., local Oldsmobile dealer, delivered the car to Alfred. Manner has delivered more new Oldsmobiles under this program than any other local dealer of any make automobile, Gunn said.

While in the service, Alfred was with the 77th Field Artillery Battalion, Battery "F", consisting of 155 howitzers, as No. 5 crewman. His duty was to choose the proper type shell as ordered and provide the proper number of powder bags according to the range desired to reach the target.

When he was wounded near Cassino, Italy he had just completed a tour of guard duty and had to retire to his fox hole for the remainder of the night due to enemy shellfire barrage. He had dug his fox hole in a garden plot, and during a barrage of five hours' duration one shell hit a cornstalk over his fox hole and the resulting air burst hit him in the right leg. Eventually he was returned to this country and discharged.

Alfred returned to his former position with the Standard Fruit and Steamship Co., and is a resident here at the company's headquarters. He is better known around the city as "the banana man."

Drive Will Begin Early In December; Club Also Seeks New City Industry

The Young Men's Business Club voted unanimously last night to sponsor the local sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals and appointed the following committee to be in charge: Joe Hall, chairman, Robert Burrow and Clifford Shields.

This committee will meet at 7:30 Monday night at the Kentucky Utilities Office to designate routes and salesmen in the business district. All members of the club will be asked to cooperate. The seals were to be brought to Fulton today and the sale will start early in December.

The club went on record in favor of establishing a new industry or industries here, preferably to employ men. The secretary and the civic committee will contact several industrial firms and chambers of commerce in other cities to secure information in this connection.

It was decided to have a barbecue supper in the clubroom at the December 10 evening meeting. New members approved last night were J. D. King, Dan Henry, J. C. Weatherspoon, Al McDade, and C. E. Benedict, Jr. This brings the total club membership to 62.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 27.—(AP)—M. D. Royce, state director of the production and marketing administration, announced yesterday that loan rates on the 1946 corn crop in Kentucky will vary from $1.21 to $1.33 per bushel. He added that the loan would be available to farmers at county agricultural conservation offices from Dec. 1 to March 31. Royce said the Kentucky rate represents an increase of approximately 20 cents a bushel over the $1.07 rate in effect on the 1945 crop. The national average on the 1946 crop is $1.15. Rates for: Ballard, Carlisle, Ottenden, Fulton, Henderson, Hickman, Livingston, McCracken and Union counties are $1.21 per bushel.

Only one house reported on sales at Madisonville and reports on sales at Franklin also were incomplete. The farmer's cooperative warehouse at Madisonville sold 63,000 pounds for

Atomic Discussion

U. S., Red Atomic Proposals

Lake Success, New York.—Two major proposals for the control of mankind's newest and most destructive force—atomic energy—are now being studied by the United Nations or, more specifically, but its 12-Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

The first of these plans was proposed some time ago by the United States; the only country known to be in possession of all the technical and scientific information necessary for the manufacture of atomic bombs for military purposes. It is commonly referred to as the "Baruch Plan," after its sponsor, the chief U. S. representative on the Commission, Bernard M. Baruch.

The heart of the Baruch Plan is that the United Nations should create as soon as possible an International Atomic Development Authority, with power to control all phases of atomic development from the mining of dangerous ores to final release of the energy contained in them. The authority would have the right of inspection and, in the case of the more dangerous operations, ownership and management of atomic energy installations, and the right to punish those who attempted to misuse atomic energy for other than peaceful purposes.

It would control all stockpiles of dangerous "fissionable" materials, would aid research and release quantities of "denatured," or relatively harmless, atomic raw materials for use in the development of peacetime power. Once an effective control system had been set up and the use of the bomb renounced, the United States would then release information now in its possession about atomic energy production, would stop the manufacture of atomic bombs for military purposes and would destroy any bombs already in its possession.

No other nation, of course, would be permitted to manufacture bombs after that.

The second, alternative plan, submitted by the U. S. S. R., differs from the U. S. proposal in several important respects. The Soviet plan would begin by concluding an international convention, outlawing the production and use of atomic weapons and calling for the destruction of all atomic weapons now in existence within three months of the convention's ratification by half of the nations who sign it, including all the Permanent Members of the U. N. Security Council—that is, China, France, the U. S. S. R., the United Kingdom and the United States of America. It would not, however, set up a new international authority, nor establish international inspection of atomic energy plants by a special body. It would provide for the punishment of offenders against the pact by each of the nations concerned.

Cocoanut Grove Owner Released

Boston, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Barnet Welansky, owner of a Boston night club where 49 persons perished in a fire four years ago, was released from prison last night expressing the wish that he had died in the holocaust.

Welansky was pardoned by Gov. J. Tobin (D) after a career specialist reported that he would not be surprised if the 50-year-old former operator of Cocoanut Grove night club died within a day or two and that he would be "surprised if he lives nine months." He said Welansky was suffering from cancer of the lung.

Welansky had served a little more than three years of a 12 to 15 year sentence for manslaughter.

Murray Man Is Given Sentence

Former College Janitor Gets Two Years For Death Of Co-Worker Last Year

Murray, Ky., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Dillion Thornton, 42, former janitor at Murray State Teachers College, today was under a two-year prison sentence in connection with the death in August, 1945, of Edd Holland, 38, head janitor at the college.

Thornton, who testified that he acted in self-defense when he fatally struck Holland with a bottle in a building where both worked, was convicted last night by a jury in Calloway circuit court.

The defendant told the jury that Holland attempted to hit him with a bottle following an argument over his (Thornton's) employment status at the college following the V-J Day holidays.

He testified that he dodged the blow, picked up another bottle and hit Holland.

Hospital attendants testified that Holland died a few hours after he was brought to the hospital unconscious from several head wounds.

Weatherman Is Cooperating

Most Of Nation Will Have Plenty Of Sunshine For Tomorrow's Holiday

(By the Associated Press) There was rain, snow and sub-freezing and below zero temperatures on today's weather map but fair weather and plenty of sunshine for most of the nation was forecast for Thanksgiving Day.

A new mass of cold air from Canada spread through the northern plains states and upper Mississippi valley today and temperatures dropped to below zero in northern Minnesota. Four to eight inches of new snow had fallen in South Dakota and spread rapidly eastward across Minnesota and northern Iowa into Wisconsin.

The rain area which extended through the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys, yesterday moved eastward and rain was reported falling from Maine to Georgia, with temperatures dropping as much as 20 degrees in some sections.

Mild weather continued in the extreme southeastern part of the country. Federal forecasters in Chicago said the holiday weather in the Pacific northwest and the northern Rocky Mountain section will be generally cloudy and there will be intermittent rains in the Pacific northwest and some snow in the mountain areas as far east as Wyoming and Montana.

Although forecasters said temperatures tomorrow will be about normal in most sections, colder weather was predicted in the central and northern plains states, the Great Lakes region and most of the Ohio valley. Partly cloudy and "rather cold" weather was forecast for the northern New England area.

Mental Patient Held For Killing Aunt By Scalding

Wilmington, Del., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Neal H. Keough, 33-year-old former inmate of a mental institution, was under a heavy guard today charged with murder in the death of his aged aunt who died of burns inflicted when a bucket of scalding water was poured over her.

Police Inspector James C. Riley said Keough first told police he poured the boiling water over Mrs. Georginna Senn, 86-year-old paralytic, "to put her out of her misery."

Riley said Keough told him in a statement that he had brought his aunt a cup of coffee and that she complained about the coffee. Riley quoted Keough as saying he then went into the kitchen and boiled a bucket of water and returned to his aunt. "She was screaming but I let her have the whole bucketful," Riley quoted Keough as saying.

U. S. Judge Says Lewis, 400,000 Miners Guilty Of Contempt If They Ignored Order Telling Them To Keep Working Pact With Government

4 State Hospital Escapees Killed In Train Wreck

Sweetwater, Tex., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Four men who escaped from Abilene State Hospital yesterday were killed today when a Texas and Pacific freight train derailed and burned near here before dawn.

A fifth was badly injured. No train personnel were hurt. Dr. Bruce Allison, superintendent of the hospital, identified the dead as Clarence Gay, David Rogers, Joseph Cameron and Robert E. Noel.

The fifth man was identified as Jess Beller. He was in a Colorado city hospital.

Twenty-seven cars were derailed and burst into flames, but the locomotive remained on the tracks, it was stated by T. R. Bailey, chief clerk of the T. and P. at Sweetwater. He said many of the derailed cars were oil tankers.

Bryant Announces 10-Year Contract At U. Of Kentucky

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Paul (Bear) Bryant announced today he had signed a new ten-year contract as head football coach at the University of Kentucky.

The new pact, he said, replaces the five-year contract given him when he came to the University a year ago.

Terms of neither contract were announced. He was reported to have been receiving $12,000 a year under the agreement which Thomas' first from the University of Maryland last winter.

The announcement applied a final and definite denial back to the rumor that the young former Alabama star end was headed back to his alma mater to replace the ailing Frank Thomas as head coach of the crimson tide.

5,500 See Whiz Kids At Practice

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Illinois basketball team, which includes the return from the war of the "Whiz Kids," has created such a stir that 5,500 fans turned out just to see an inter-squad practice game.

Many of the fans who watched Whiz Kid Andy Phillip lead the varsity to a 83-42 victory over the reserves yesterday by scoring 18 points, drove in from out of town. Practices session will be about the only chance "outsiders" have of seeing Illinois in action this season since home games are sell-outs to University students only.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Hardin county judge H. B. Fife's stand that money accumulated in the county's general fund for jail improvement can not be diverted to road and bridge work was upheld in an opinion by attorney general Eldon S. Dummit made public today.

GOP National Committee May O. K. $1,000,000 '47 Budget

Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—The Republican National Committee probably will be asked at its meeting here December 5 to O. K. the spending of nearly a million dollars to keep the G. O. P. ball rolling in campaignless 1947.

Committee officials said they expect a budget ranging from $800,000 to $1,000,000 to be laid before the party group. The idea is to keep intact for the 1948 presidential drive the organization which participated in this year's sweeping Republican congressional victory.

An outlay of this size would permit the group to continue uninterrupted the flow of research material and political information it fed to G. O. P. members of Congress and candidates this year.

Well pleased with the results of this month's balloting, committee members are expected to ask national chairman B. Carroll

GOLDSBOROUGH REMINDS MINE LEADER THAT NOBODY CAN DISOBEY RESTRAINING ORDER, REGARDLESS OF NORRIS-LaGUARDIA MEASURE

State's Miners May Eat Well

Most Have Checks Due, And Game Is Plentiful; Some Seek Jobless Pay

By The Associated Press

Kentucky's 50,000 idle United Mine Workers will enjoy a normal Thanksgiving day, with plenty of food for the holiday meal.

Sam Caddy, president of UMW district 30 in Eastern Kentucky, said most of the miners still have another payday due them, since they are paid at least two weeks behind time.

Other spokesmen said the miners still enjoyed credit at most of the mine company stores.

As for meat, coal miners are considered expert marksmen and the supply of rabbits and other wild game is plentiful.

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 27.—(AP)—Approximately 100 Kentucky miners idled by the current shutdown of the soft coal mines in the state have filed claims for jobless benefits, according to the Kentucky unemployment compensation commission.

The claims are being revived in the regular manner before final determination is made as to whether the present shutdown is officially a strike under Kentucky law, the commission announced.

Kentucky law forbids paying such benefits to strikers, but workmen are entitled to the benefits when they are locked out.

Banker Held In Connection With Linotype Thefts

New York, Nov. 27.—(AP)—A former New York City banker was held in $100,000 bail today as a material witness in the alleged embezzlement of $700,000 from the Mergenthaler Linotype Company.

The banker is Louis S. Lados of Riverside, Conn., who resigned Monday as vice-president of the Hellenic Bank and Trust Company of New York, a post he held for two and a half years.

He was arrested yesterday after four men and an optical company were indicted by a Kings county grand jury on forgery and larceny charges in the alleged fraud.

Assistant district attorney Joseph P. Hooley said Julius Lobel, alias Jimmy Collins, one of those under indictment, met Lados socially and that Lobel obtained an account in the Hellenic bank under the name of A. O. Schumacher and Son. Hooley said Lobel represented himself as Alfred Schumacher and that $178,000 in Mergenthaler checks had been cashed or cleared thru the bank.

Early Walkout By Miners Is Termed 'A Great Mistake'

LEWIS REMAINS SILENT

Washington, Nov. 27.—(AP)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough expressed the informal opinion today that if John L. Lewis and his 400,000 miners ignored a court order not to end their working contact with the government, they "are guilty of contempt of court."

This opinion was voiced after a morning of argument on whether the contempt citation against Lewis and the United Mine Workers should be dismissed without a jury trial. Throughout, Lewis sat silent while his attorneys did the talking.

Two panels of prospective jurors waited outside the court room during the argument. Throughout the country, the nationwide soft coal strike tightened its crippling grip on industry and transportation.

Goldsborough commented often in a low voice. He said that no one can disobey a restraining order, regardless of whether of the Norris La Guardia act applies in the soft coal case. This act, which limits the use of injunctions in labor disputes, was one of the principal arguments advanced by Lewis' lawyers in their effort to have the case dismissed.

Would Have Anarchy. Asserting "We would have anarchy" if restraining orders were disobeyed, Goldsborough added: "If the defendants disregarded the restraining order, then they are guilty of contempt of court whether the Norris La Guardia act applies or does not apply."

"That, in this court's opinion is the law."

AFL general counsel Joseph Padway told the court that Lewis had been advised by his attorneys that he was within his rights in "regarding the court order to withdraw his contract cancellation notice to the government. This notice signalled the soft coal walkout."

"The cemetery is full of people who took the doctor's advice," observed Goldsborough.

At another point, the judge remarked that Lewis and the UMW made "a very great mistake" in walking out before the courts ruled on their contract dispute.

A Great Mistake. Interrupting opening arguments for dismissal of a contempt of court citation against Lewis Goldsborough said: "The court feels that your action in not waiting for a judicial determination was a very great mistake on your part."

Goldsborough said the real issue which the court hoped to settle was whether Lewis had the right to break off his contract with the government, or whether under the Smith-Connally labor disputes act he was impelled to keep his miners on the job for the duration of government operation.

Lawyers for Lewis argued that operation of the coal mines is not a "sovereign" function of the government, and that the government itself does not regard the miners as government employees. Therefore, they contended, the Smith-Connally Act, which outlaws the instigation of strikes against the government, does not apply.

Lewis' attorneys contended the government was directly responsible for the soft coal walkout.

Count Your Blessings

The Leader urges all who can to attend the community Thanksgiving service at 7:30 this evening at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. The service has been set for tonight in order that those who will be out of the city tomorrow may attend.

It is well for all denominations to meet together at Thanksgiving to give thanks to God for His goodness. All are recipients of God's goodness and loving kindness. All should join in a prayer of thanks for His watchcare over us in the past, and in a prayer of self-dedication and hope for the future.

On this Thanksgiving Day, our thought is best expressed in the words of the beloved old hymn:

"Count your many blessings, name them one by one, And it will surprise you what the Lord has done."

Money Well Spent

News that presidential limitations on expenditures for flood control and navigation projects may be asked somewhat is welcome to all residents of the Mississippi and Ohio river valley areas.

Congressman Noble J. Gregory of the First District has been actively engaged in the fight to secure more funds for work of this kind, recognizing its vital importance.

Those of us who went through the disastrous flood of 1937 and other periods when Old Man River was on a rampage would not like to see a repeat performance. We think money spent for flood control is well spent.

Moving in Disguise

Chicago. (AP)—The dimout in Chicago has not a crumb in one business that is most satisfactory to police.

In the two nights of the dimout, Deputy Chief of Detectives John Warren said, there has been a sharp decrease in burglaries, holdups and other crimes.

Mayor Warren smilingly suggested, the things are afraid of the dark.

Also, he said, the transfer of 300 policemen from the day shift to night duty may be responsible for the curtailed activities of bandits.

OUR READERS SAY

"Farmer's Friend" Back Again

Remember Moore, Pickering, Atkins, Murphy, Gregory and Brady.

It is a fine thing from time to time to let the public in on the extent of city's indebtedness. If the parking meter discussions have been as much as this they have been worthwhile undertakings. Both sides to the meter controversy admit the extent of city indebtedness. The question is just what plan to take to liquidate it.

Therefore when one plan out of three possible is being advocated by the local council we would expect a published article signed by the members to devote some argument as to why the parking meter plan is the one to be proposed. Besides the revenue measure only one reason is advanced and that is that the parking meter can be revised to relieve the present congestion.

Any seventh grader who has never made higher than a "D" can point out the fallacy of this. It is not necessary to install parking meters in order to change our parking system. This can be done at once by council action and should be done by all means.

Food—A Major Weapon

By J. M. Roberts, Jr. (Subbing for MacKenzie).

AP Foreign Affairs Analyst.

The general interpretation of the latest U. S. note to Poland, that Warsaw can expect no further credits if it persists in what Washington considers "disturbing" election preparations, has heightened speculation in United Nations circles as to whether the U. S. intends to make a stab at pulling "Vladimir" and Poland out of the Russian sphere.

Such speculation has been current since the United States came out against continuation of international relief distribution and, instead, that she intended to base allotment of her supplies at least in part on the reciprocal attitudes of needy nations.

Under UNRRA, relief distribution has been handled without regard for politics. The state department hasn't, of course, decided to stand idly by in violation of American tradition while there is mass starvation anywhere. But short of that, the idea from now on is to help our friends first and not to help peoples in countries whose governments work against us.

The realities are that by helping to feed a people and finance their government you strengthen that government in whatever it wants to do, and, conversely, if you wish to change a government, hungry people and straitened finances can be a major weapon. Under an international policy of relief distribution strictly on the basis of need, the U. S. could find itself feeding a people whose government, actually would use the surplus to prepare for war against us.

The United States announcement, plus these realities, have led to gossip at Lake Success that, whether she has definite designs or not, America is in a position to break the Tito government and force a change in Poland.

Actually, however, this would depend on what these countries could obtain elsewhere. And it is not to be forgotten that Russia, not contributing supplies to UNRRA and instead, being helped in the Ukraine and White Russia, sent shipments of grain to France just at a time when it would do the French communists most good in an election. Any application of sanctions against Warsaw and Belgrade undoubtedly would arouse Russia to extreme efforts to offset the damage, a job for which she had more than a year to prepare while we have been carrying the major burden of European rehabilitation.

THE grain is garnered from our shining acres, fruit from our rich orchards. After years of war, our land is still ours, unscarred, beneficent. Our children are fed.

Few of us are intimate with hunger. But to the people of many lands, hunger is a constant companion. In the midst of our bounty, we give thanks. We have much. Surely we can spare a little to share with those who have none. A crust of bread to a well-fed man may be another day's life to a child in some far-distant land.
