Sharp Switch To GOP; Demos Claim Gains

Poll Shows Voters To Back Ike

Several major opinion polls show a sharp trend among Negro voters to the Republican Party over their relative vote in the 1952 presidential election.

A compilation of the poll results was released here by Val J. Washington, Director of the Minorities Division of the National Republican Committee.

The Gallup poll shows that as of Sept. 8 a majority of the voters (55 percent) believed that the Republican Party could best solve the nation's problems in 1956.

The same poll indicated that civil rights stood second highest among all campaign issues on a national, all-groups basis. Eighteen percent of the voters ranked it second in urgency, while foreign policy and the Suez Canal threat of war ranked first with 46 percent of those polled.

IN MEMPHIS

A cross section poll made recently of registered voters showed that at least 75 percent of the qualified Negro voters in Memphis and Shelby county will cast their ballots for the Republican nominees.

Armour Says: 'Treat Them Courteously'

Police Commissioner Claude Armour said Monday "there is no set policy" on how Memphis police officers are to address citizens but that they are instructed to "treat them with courtesy."

Commissioner Armour was asked about the matter after a Douglass High school teacher complained that two policemen objected to her signing a traffic summons ticket with a "Mrs." title before her name.

Mrs. Lonnie Briscoe, of 753 Boston, said the two officers told her they "don't call any n—r Mrs." and used other insulting language about her race and pupils, also that they threatened to jail her after she signed the ticket "Mrs."

'DOUBTED' MRS. BRISCOE

Commissioner Armour told the Tri-State Defender "I never considered it necessary to tell the police officers what to call people. They are instructed to treat citizens with courtesy. I'm sure they don't 'Mr.' or 'Mrs.' all white people."

He said he made an investigation of the matter and found that the officers did address Mrs. Briscoe as "Annie" but he said they denied saying any of the insulting things attributed to them.

Commissioner Armour said he "doubted" Mrs. Briscoe's sincerity in the matter "because she had the case tried in the newspapers" before he received a letter of complaint from her.

Mrs. Briscoe said she mailed her letters to the Commissioner and three other city officials on Monday night. The story appeared in a local daily on Wednesday. She said she wrote after a week-end in which efforts to reach officials proved futile.

Commissioner Armour agreed with the position taken by the Lieutenant who was called in on the case when it happened that a citizen can sign a ticket using "Mrs." or "Mr." as the case may be, without objections from officers.

Inaugurate New Tougaloo Prexy

The church related college will be necessary in American life so long as there is a sharp contrast between Christian teachings and their practice, Dr. Samuel C. Kincheloe said Saturday at his inauguration as seventh president of Tougaloo Southern Christian college.

But, Dr. Kincheloe warned, "they need to guard lest they be so closely identified with the general culture that they cease to be of any special influence so far as world wide Christian values are concerned."

TWO-DAY EVENT

The two-day inaugural ceremonies began Friday with services in Woodworth chapel and an address by George B. Hastings, moderator of the General Council of the Congregational Christian church.

Tougaloo Dean A. A. Branch presided Friday and members of the board of trustees were presented by Dr. Philip M. Widenhouse, chairman of the board.

Saturday morning speakers were Dr. Arthur D. Gray, president.

Thug Attacks, Robs Housewife; Warns To Keep Window Latched

Confers With President Eisenhower

EISENHOWER AND MORROW — President Eisenhower frequently confers with E. Frederic Morrow, first Negro to be appointed by any Chief Executive to an administrative post on the White House staff.

Here they chat in the White House office of the President. Morrow traveled with the President when he was campaigning in 1952, and accompanies him on all his major trips during this campaign. He sat in the President's box when Mr. Eisenhower witnessed the opening World Series game.

Believes Hoodlum A Youngster

A bold thug, believed to be a young man, robbed and raped a housewife early last Sunday morning, then warned her to "nail every window down and turn out the lights after I leave."

The victim was Mrs. Georgia O'Neal, of 255 Flynn rd. She told the Tri-State Defender and the Sheriff's office that the man entered her home in Walker Subdivision through a window whose latch was broken, and couldn't be fastened down.

"He attacked me," she said, "after coming through one of our two bedrooms—into mine."

THREATENED TO KILL

"He covered my head with the quilts and threatened to kill me if I looked up. It was dark in the room and I never got a chance to see him."

"But he had a youthful voice and from the sound of it, I believe he was just a young fellow. Before he left he said to me: 'Don't think that I'm just a boy, I'm 31.'"

Mrs. O'Neal said the man took one $10 bill, two $5s, two $1s and some change.

When he was ready to go, Mrs. O'Neal said he commanded: "Don't look at me. When I get out of here you be sure to nail down every window and turn out the lights. I won't be coming back but someone else may do the same thing I've done."

Mrs. O'Neal and her husband, a taxi driver who was away at the time, said the man left a large greasy handprint on the door. They said the deputies were unable to lift the print.

Bury Popular Young BTW High School Instructor

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at Mt. Olive Cathedral for youthful Mrs. Mabel J. Jenkins, popular Physical Education instructor at Booker T. Washington High School.

Mrs. Jenkins died last Saturday following a three-week illness resulting from a cerebral hemorrhage. She failed to rally from an operation performed at E. H. Crump Memorial hospital the Wednesday preceding her death.

members of the 70-odd member staff of Washington High school. She had headed physical education and health instruction for the girls of the huge Washington student body since 1952. She was particularly active with the girls in the Washington band with male and female student participants in the famed Washington "ballet." Evidences of esteem also stemmed from her from the principal and faculty of the institution.

FROM LARGE FAMILY

Mrs. Jenkins was a native of Jackson, Tenn., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Asbury W. Williams. She was a member of a large family, of four brothers, and four sisters. Her father's death placed much of the responsibility for the family on her shoulders and her widowed mother. She was widely known for her devotion to her family.

She received her early education in the public schools of Jackson, graduating from Merry High school. She majored in physical education and health at A and I State university, where she graduated in 1947.

After working in the clerical department of Universal Life Insurance Co., she came to Washington High.

Church Group Spurns Biased Hotel Offer

The first national meeting of chairmen of Annual Conference Television, Radio and Film commissions of the Methodist Church was switched from Nashville, Tenn., to Cincinnati, Ohio because of discrimination in Tennessee's capital city.

Special arrangements have been made in a Nashville hotel, where the meeting was to have been held, providing for interracial luncheons and dinners, and for interracial meetings in ball-room and committee rooms.

But separate toilet facilities were to have been provided for the Negro membership of the group in the hotel, with the use of a special elevator or stairway to committee rooms.

SWIFT CHANGE

The Central (Negro) Jurisdictional delegates were to have been housed at Fisk university with some of the white delegates.

The change in the meeting place was effected within a few hours after a protest had been made by Rev. C. Anderson Davis, pastor of the John Stewart Methodist church of Bluefield, W. Va., home of one of the delegates.

Under a general conference ruling national meetings conducted by the denomination's general agencies should be held in cities where all delegates will receive equal accommodations regardless of race.

Changing the meeting place from Nashville to the Sheraton-Gibson hotel in Cincinnati cost the commission approximately $1,500 extra and prevented conference chairmen from seeing the studio production facilities in Nashville, commission headquarters.

Rev. M. M. League, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., was one of the nine Negro delegates attending the annual conference.

Says Few Shift From Democrats

Negroes are still loyal to the Democratic Party, Samuel Lubell, well-known political analyst, reports in the Chicago Daily News. Mr. Lubell's study shows that although a few Negroes are shifting to the Republican Party these gains are being offset by a shift back to the Democrats by Negroes who voted for Eisenhower four years ago.

Mr. Lubell believes that the basis for the Negro's attachment to the Democratic Party is largely economic. Many Negroes when questioned about party preferences say: "...the Republicans are the rich man's party and the Democrats are for the poor people." This feeling has been intensified in places like Detroit where unemployment is a problem. In one Negro precinct there Mr. Lubell found that a third of the families interviewed has someone out of a job.

The answers were much the same from Negroes in New York and Los Angeles as well. A common complaint is: "It's easier to earn a buck under the Democrats. When the Republicans get in, the money goes somewhere. The big fellows must get it and hold on to it."

HIT BOTH PARTIES

Some Negroes interviewed in the Lubell survey grumbled about both

Court To Act On MSC Case

The Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati has taken under advisement the plea of a Memphis Negro young woman that she be admitted to Memphis State college immediately.

The plea to the high court was made by Miss Ruth Booker, 19, through her mother, Mrs. Davis Booker, of 1647 Ash.

Miss Booker is one of the only two left of the five Negro students who originally sought to enter Memphis State college. In June, 1954, the five were refused admission to the school. Last year Federal Judge Marion S. Boyd approved a gradual desegregation plan for Memphis State, formulated by MSC President J. Millard Smith and approved by the State Board of Education.

The plan permitted entrance of Negroes at the rate of a class a year, starting with graduate and seniors in this year and ending with freshmen in 1959.

Will Honor Vets In Wheel-Chairs Prexy Watkins Speaker For Laymen On Oct. 28

All present or former wheel-chair patients of Kennedy General hospital are invited to attend the special worship honoring them and their families to be held in the Kennedy chapel between 9:15 and 10 a.m., Sunday, Oct. 28.

Chaplain Lee Thigpen has announced that music for the service will be provided by the chorus from St. James AME church, Rev. H. McDonald Nelson, minister.

He also said that an appropriate social event will take place immediately after the service.

Dr. C. C. Woods, who recently became administrator of the hospital, will be presented.

The laymen of the Mississippi Boulevard Christian church will present Levi Watkins, president of S. A. Owen Junior college as guest speaker for the 11 o'clock services Sunday morning, Oct. 28.

The event is the annual observance of National Laymen's Sunday sponsored by the laymen of the church. The entire program will be in charge of the men of the church who during the past year have presented some outstanding speakers of the Tri-state area to the church-going public, according to J. T. Chandler, an official of the church.

The observance, he said, gives the laymen an opportunity through their leadership of a morning worship service, to dramatize and bring closer home the place of men in the life of the church. President Watkins will speak on the National Laymen's theme: "Doers, Not Hearers Only."

Music will be furnished by the church choir.

A native of Kentucky, President Watkins received his masters degree at Northwestern university;

A Chance To Invest More In Youth

The Memphis Negro community has been given a splendid opportunity to invest more in the intelligence of local Negro youth.

Last week station WDIA, in cooperation with This Week Magazine and representatives of the Commercial Appeal, presented two groups of Negro high school boys and girls in a local phase of a program which has nationwide recognition, "Quiz 'Em On The Air."

The program has already been launched among local white high schools. But last week was the first time Negro youngsters had a chance to participate.

The program is designed to encourage young people to read the news and keep abreast of what's going on in the world, at home and abroad. The young people are divided into teams, representing their high schools, and competing with each other, to see which team can answer the most questions correctly. The winning team receives a special award for its school and individual prizes for each participant. All participants, win or lose, receive recognition, prizes, and the satisfaction of being members of a really important phase of school and community activity.

The suggestions here is that Negro fraternity and sorority groups, who are publicly committed to the encouragement of intelligent reading, education, and other cultural aspects of community life, should give solid and tangible backing to this project. They, along with other groups, such as churches and clubs, might well supplement the prizes the youngsters receive if it is permissible.

They surely could encourage and give public approval to the boys and girls who are members of the teams. A few cheers for a "Quiz 'Em" team would not detract a whit from the huge volume given local high school football teams every week end.

Let's invest more in our youth by backing this program morally and financially.

Tallegda college, and Dr. Everett C. Hughes, professor of sociology, University of Chicago.

Dr. Kincheoloe was presented by Robert O. Wilder, secretary of the board of trustees.

FORCE, POWER BASIS

Dr. Kincheoloe said that "if we human beings put our race relations struggle on a force and power basis we shall be destroyed. . . . It may turn out that the most practical thing on earth is that a little child who knows not prejudice shall lead us. . . ."

He said that "wherever there is segregation forced by a majority group, discrimination against the minority group is customarily found."

Dr. Kincheoloe blamed the "contrasts in opportunities" for the differences to be found in Negro and white students and teachers.

He said "most anthropologists, sociologists and psychologists have been unable to find such a difference in the races to justify such a statement as Dr. Frank C. J. McGurk made in saying 'Negroes as a group did not possess as much capacity for education as white people.'"

Dr. Kincheoloe noted that "we here in the heart of Mississippi and the Old South, are in the presence of one of the greatest problems of mankind — namely human relations."

ELECTED LAST MARCH

He suggested the Christian teachings of the church-related college be greater emphasis for a greater role in reaching a happy solution to the human relations problem.

Born near Georgetown, Ohio, Dr. Kincheoloe was named by the trustee board last March 12 as successor to retiring president Dr. Harold C. Warren. He took his college work at Drake university and received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago.

Before coming to Tougaloo he was professor of Sociology of Religion, Chicago Theological Seminary and the Federated Theological Faculty, University of Chicago.

headquarters, while the Republicans operate in an integrated one. . . . The Democrats ancient paternalism, with the Negroes outside and the whites inside.

(2) The influence wielded in the Democrat organization by the anti-civil rights group, the Citizens for Progress, even to insisting that the Democrats use the CP slogan "Keep Memphis DOWN in Dixie."

And (3) The impossible road block to civil rights that will be set up if southern congressmen and senators retain power in Congress.

Lt. George W. Lee, veteran political leader said that these are some of the factors which are swinging the voters to the Republican bandwagon.

16 TO 20 PERCENT SWITCHING

The New York Times has reported, on the basis of its polls, that the Republicans had established a month before the election a 20 percent gain among colored citizens. The Gallup Poll lists the swing away from the Democrats at 16 percent.

Congressman Adam Clayton Powell, jr., New York City Democrat, who announced his support of President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon after a White House conference with the Chief Executive on Oct. 12, declared in a Harlem speech on Oct. 13 that at least "another 10 percent of the voters will swing to the Republicans as the true facts on the issues become better known."

In a series of articles which began on Oct. 15 in the Chicago Daily Tribune, that influential publication reports that in the Chicago area, where Democrat William L. Dawson is under heavy fire for his civil rights record, "Negroes will increase by 10 percent the Republican vote in Cook County."

The series of articles written by Roi Otley, a distinguished Negro writer on social subjects, is based on a two-month political sampling among the Windy City's Negroes — from slum dweller to business leader," the paper said.

Meanwhile, another of the series of state-by-state polls of the New York Times discloses in Maryland "Many signs pointing to a sizeable shift of Negro voters from the Democratic to the Republican column in this year's Presidential election."

According to the New York paper, which had a five-man reporting team in Maryland, "the trend is particularly pronounced in Baltimore, where Negroes constitute 25 percent of the city's population and about 20 percent of its vote."

LOOK FOR NORFOLK BOLT
In another city, Norfolk, Va., the Virginian-Pilot (which has editorially announced for President Eisenhower, along with its evening counterpart, the Ledger-Dispatch) reports an impending "bolt" of Negro voters from the Democrats to the GOP-Eisenhower-Nixon standard.

Its political staff writer, George M. Kelley, in last Sunday's issue said: "The big answer to how Negroes will vote in next month's presidential election is now taking on meaningful signs with the scales tipping from Democrat in 1952 to Republican in 1956." Kelley attributes this, among other things, to three recent events: The switch from Stevenson in 1952 to Eisenhower in 1956 by the Journal and Guide, "one of the nation's leading Negro newspapers. . . published in Norfolk." He said the paper's announcement of its switch to Eisenhower-Nixon in a copy-righted eight-page supplement included with its Oct. 13 issue, and its hard-hitting expose of the Democrat record on civil rights and related matters, would be a strong influence.

OTHER VIRGINIA FACTORS
The other recent factor was the discontent stirred among Negro members of the City Democratic Committee after they were invited to, then barred from, a $10-a-plate dinner featuring Senator Lyndon Johnson (D., Texas) as speaker at a downtown Norfolk hotel, "because of state segregation laws."

The third factor was the action of the director of the Community Chest Fund in withdrawing financial support from the National Urban League, a social welfare agency with branches through the country.

This school, latest addition to the growing list of city schools, is a 7-12 grade school and serves the Binghamton and White Station communities.

World standard time is reckoned from Greenwich, England, which is regarded as the prime meridian.

Two Vanderbilt Negro Students, Just Students

Admittance of two Negro students to the Vanderbilt university law school "seems to have aroused no particular interest" among other students, the university board of trust was told Friday.

Chancellor Harvie J. Branscomb told the trustees,

"here on the campus — the law school and elsewhere — the matter seems to have aroused no particular interest."

He explained the position of the university as one wherein the institution "will enable superior local students to secure the needed training where educational opportunity is denied."

"On the other hand," he said, "the policy affirms that we shall not be forced into general program of desegregation. It is a policy which I believe can be defended now and can be defended a generation hence."

The detailed review of events leading up to admittance of two Nashville law students — Edward M. Porter and Frederick T. Work — was brought about by "a number of protests from alumni."

The chancellor said that in 1955 the Association of American Law Schools had a committee charged with drafting a proposal to require —primarily at the Navy Yard and Naval Base — on the Chest Fund because of its previous contributions to the Urban League. The league, like the NAACP, is non-partisan politically.

OUTLOOK IN MARYLAND

The New York Times review of the Maryland prospect cites three major reasons for the Negro shift to Eisenhower-Nixon:

(1) His executive action in desegregating schools, hotels, and restaurants in the capital.

(2) The substantial progress in desegregating Maryland schools under the leadership of Republican Governor Theodore Roosevelt McKeldin, who placed President Eisenhower's name in nomination in 1952.

(3) A strong suspicion that Maryland Democrats and Democrats in general are responsible for resistance to integration in many areas of the state.

Says the Times: "If the signs prove right on election day, the shift in the Negro vote in Baltimore could go a long way towards offsetting shifts from the Republican. . . in other segments of the population."

THE NATIONAL OUTLOOK
Finally, on a national, all-races basis, the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket is leading the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket by 56 percent to 44 percent of the voters who have decided how they will vote on November 6, says the Gallup poll report.

Pentecostal Women To Have Day Sunday

The women of Pentecostal Temple Church of God in Christ are observing their annual Women's Day,

Miss. Justice In One Minute Flat

"It took only one minute for a three-man court in DeSoto County, Miss., to decide last Saturday morning that a white constable was justified in killing the Negro truck-driving father of seven children during an altercation over traffic violations."

Constable W. A. Durdin, without a lawyer and in only one minute, was freed of manslaughter charges growing out of his shooting of 42-year-old Rufus Haley. The three-man court of white DeSoto County residents, decided that his story that Mr. Haley had grabbed him and tried to take his pistol when he was stopped for questioning by the constable.

There were no witnesses to testify in the court hearing. It was said that the only possible witness was a man who was not located to give his view of what happened.

According to the constable's statement, Mr. Haley was killed Tuesday, Oct. 16, when he was stopped during the constable's check on reports that gravel trucks had been speeding. He said he was about a mile south of the state line on 51 South and a mile and half east on Holly Ford Road on Tuesday morning, near the Municipal Airport.

Nearly five years ago Durdin was trying to arrest a Negro driver for drunkenness. The driver took away his gun and shot him through the chest. He is serving his second term as constable. DeSoto County Sheriff W. A. (Doc) White withheld comment prior to the court hearing.

C. L. Watts, Bull Frog Corner, Haley's employer, said the hearing was disappointing.

He said, Haley was a good Christian Negro, had never been arrested before, didn't drink went to church regularly, wasn't hard to get along with.

A Rufus Haley Fund is said to have been already launched to help the widow and seven children. Robert Weymouth of Weymouth Construction company with whom Mr. Watts has a contract concurred in Mr. Watts opinion of Haley.

He joined in saying that anyone wishing to contribute to the Rufus Haley Fund may do so by sending funds to Weymouth Construction Co., PO Box 319, Memphis, or the construction company can be called by phone regarding donations.

Sunday, Oct. 28. The distinguished guest speaker will be Miss Willa McWilliams.

Miss McWilliams, a teacher in Manassas High school and president of the Bluff Civic club, will be introduced by Miss Jewel Gentry.

Her address will be heard at 3 p. m.

Following, a reception will be held in the beautiful Virginia Gates hall of the church. Mrs. Lucille Johnson, as chairman of hospitality club, will be on hand to greet guests.

Mrs. J. O. Patterson, wife of Bishop Patterson, minister of Pentecostal, and chairman for the Woman's Day, will speak at the 11 a. m. service.

The public is invited to worship with the church on this annual observance.

Such Police Discourtesy Unfair

It is difficult enough in some places here in the South for a Negro teacher to have to stand before a class and tell her student that white law enforcement officers are their friends, that the officers have their welfare at heart and that they will protect them from harm.

Too many such students in cities, towns and villages who know the truth, such teaching is "book stuff" while his not applicable to them, at least where a bigoted white policeman is concerned.

Proof of that is in the second incident within less than six months where utmost contempt of our teachers and young folk has been shown by members of the Memphis Police department.

Last July Miss Rosa Harper, of 822 Woodlawn, a teacher at Wisconsin school, was assaulted and humiliated by a local plainclothes officer identified as James J. Isabel, without due cause. The late Emmett Till and the Negro race as a whole were tongue-lashed in a vicious lecture delivered by the officer, because according to Miss Harper, she wouldn't walk out of her business place to the street when addressed incorrectly.

Last week, Mrs. Lonnie Briscoe, a well-known and respected teacher of Douglass High school, was insulted by an officer identified as Alexander, not because she resisted arrest for allegedly driving 36 miles per hour in a 30 mile zone, but because she rightly resented the use of her name without the title "Mrs."

This officer, Mrs. Briscoe said, extended his verbal abuse to Negro students by asking: "Do you know that you teach nothing but apes, prostitutes, liars, thieves and murderers?"

The question reflects the PATHEtic attitude of the man toward Negroes. One wonders some

A Suggestion To You

We would like to suggest that you study closely the backgrounds of local and national candidates seeking election on November 6. Then make up your mind about the right choice. GO TO THE POLLS AND VOTE. Nationally, we believe from the facts, from the tangible results obtained for us under the Eisenhower and Nixon team, that their services should be continued for another four years. However, whatever your choice — VOTE, and please don't vote in a manner which will harm us in our trek toward first-class citizenship.

Douglass Student Council Hears Mrs. Coe At Installation Event

By CLAUDIA M. IVY

Friday, Oct. 19, at 9:30 a. m., was a joyous occasion for the president of the student council and his cabinet members.

The program was quite interesting and it was composed of the following: Star Spangled Banner, the assembly, scripture and prayer by Rev. A. Gladney; Lord's Prayer, from Malotte by the Douglass Glee club; greetings by Eugene Barnett of Lester Junior high; musical selection from Manassas by Albert Clark; greetings from Manassas by the president of Manassas Student council; musical selection from Lester Junior high by Anne B. Washington with Gwendolyn Williams at the piano, introduction of the speaker by our own Ralph Prater.

The speaker of the occasion was Mrs. Lawrence Coe, member Memphis Board of Education. Mrs.

Coe's subject was "Roll Along With Me, The Best Is Yet To Be."

She said "the challenge of getting along with one another is the challenge of life. Learn first what makes us tick as an individual and then you'll be able to know what makes others tick. The real axiom about things you work hardest for is of more value to you than that which has been practically placed in your hands; and last but not least every one has some type of gift and it's what we do with our gifts that God holds us accountable for."

Selection, "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God," from Luther by the Douglass male chorus; installation of officers by Rev. A. Gladney.

2 New Lawyers On NAACP Staff

NEW YORK — Thurgood Marshall has announced the addition of two lawyers to the hard-pressed staff of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. They are Miss Irma R. Robbins, 24, a native of Baltimore, attended elementary, junior and senior high schools in New York City. She is a graduate of Hunter college, 1953, and received her LL.B. from Yale Law school this year.

Madison, 32, a native of Missouri, attended elementary and high school in Marshall and Sedalia, Mo., receiving his A. B. degree from West Virginia State college in 1948 and his LL.B. at Howard university law school in 1955.

The addition was made necessary by the increasing number of school cases in the South and the continued challenges of the pro-segregationists who insist on defying federal laws outlawing segregation, Marshall said.

"Since the United States Supreme Court rendered its decision two-and-a-half years ago, we have taken legal action in more than 60 school cases alone," Marshall explained.

OTHER RIGHTS TOO

This does not include cases involving inter and intra-state travel, housing and other litigation involving other rights of Negroes, he added.

Marshall who is director-counsel of the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., said he expects the number of requests for legal assistance from Negro students and parents to increase, probably 100 per cent in the coming year.

"Our people look to us for help and we must have the staff to help them," he added.

Mrs. FDR Maps 3-Point Plan For Integration

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A three-point program to speed racial integration was outlined here last week by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt who also pointed out that Adlai E. Stevenson was the man who could put it into effect.

The former first lady of the nation proposed:

1. Desegregation in housing as a preliminary step to the integration of schools; 2. protection of every citizen's right to vote, and 3. elimination of Senate Rule 22 which permits filibustering of vital bills.

Because Mrs. Roosevelt recognizes the racial bias that exists in the North as well as the South, she explained that her plan for desegregation of housing was a means for the North as well as the South, particularly the larger cities.

Bishop Barth Here For Emmanuel Cornerstone Laying Ceremonies

The Service of the Laying of the Cornerstone to the new edifice of Emmanuel Episcopal church in the heart of Cleaborn Homes was held Sunday, Oct. 14 at 2:30 p. m., with the Right Reverend Theodore N. Barth, D. D., Bishop of Tennessee. The Right Reverend John Vander Horst, D. D., Suffragan Bishop, and the Reverend St. Julian A. Simpkins, Jr., Rector, officiating.

Other officials included the Rev. Dr. Donald S. Henning, rector of Calvary church and the Reverend Porter F. Florence, rector of Holy Trinity church, representing the Episcopal Church in the South. The solemn service was taken from the Book of Offices for Special Occasions and included Litany for the Church and Founding of a Church.

Bishop Barth delivered an impressive sermon which traced the importance of the Laying of the Corner Stone from the Biblical Code used in the building of the Temple. Highlights of the speech include the importance of the Corner Stone, imbedded in the doctrines of all Christian lives, with emphasis placed on sacred principles by which all Christians should be guided. He concluded that the laying of a Corner Stone should be symbolic of these precepts.

The special Corner Stone box contains The Cross which was presented by Layman Willie Anderson; The Holy Bible by Edward Stewart; The Book of Common Prayer by Layman Dr. O. B. Braithwaite; and the Record of founders, which includes, found-

Deny White Supremacists Voice In Suit

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — (ANP) — A pro-segregationist group, bent on challenging the validity of the 14th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution, was denied any voice in a school integration suit here last week.

The group sought intervention in opposition to a suit seeking admission of Negro children to Nashville white schools. They contended that taxpayers were "inadequately" represented by counsel for the school board.

Ruling that no proof had been entered to substantiate their charges, Judge William E. Miller told the group that "the petition, if granted, would only cause the issues in this lawsuit to be belabored and confused."

TTA BENA — Mississippi Vocational college has set a new enrollment record. The Registrar's office revealed today that the college has enrolled 1,401 students this quarter.

Credit Selective Plan In Integration Success

WASHINGTON — Officials in Montgomery County, Md., are attributing their success in integrating schools in that rural area to the fact that they selected only the cream of the crop in Negro schools for integration.

The procedure followed was described at a parent-teacher association workshop in Rockville, Md., last week by Fred L. Dunn, Jr., an integration specialist.

Dunn explained that farming areas were surveyed to see which had space and suitable "programs" for Negro students in their districts.

Then the Negro school principals were checked to find out which of their pupils would fit into their neighborhood white schools without producing any burden on the white classes.

This fall, he continued, some 150 Negro students were transferred to white schools in numbers ranging from one to 20 to a school. Population of the county is made up of farmers and federal employees.

Dunn insists that if integration had been carried out suddenly like it was in Washington, they would have encountered numerous problems.

While under the selective technique, William W. Miles, principal of the high school where 20 Negroes were enrolled, said he noticed "no difference" in educational standards of his Negro students.

Dunn says the county made some mistakes in integrating 490 Negroes in white schools in September, 1955, without the selective system.

THE Pulpit SPEAKS
REV. C. THOMAS PAIGE

By REV. C. THOMAS PAIGE, President, Baptist Industrial College and Seminary, Hernando, Mississippi

"Then was Jesus led up of the spirit into the wilderness to be tempted of the devil. And when he had fasted forty days and forty nights, He was afterward an hungred. And when the tempter came to Him, he said, 'If Thou be the Son of God, command these stones be made bread.' But He answered and said, 'It is written, 'man shall not live by bread alone.'"

During the next few weeks we are going to concern ourselves in the thinking of the general theme: "Things That Prevent Us." One of the most tragic things in one's life is the realization that having grown old life has been far short of what it could have been. The unfortunate thing about the whole thing is wrapped up in the fact that in every instance we are what we have chosen to be. Our urges, our thoughts, our behavior patterns, and our concerns have made us what we are. This is not just something that has just come about.

Men in all walks of life have been the product of his personal choices. The life of Jesus is no exception. Here we find a man who had been in the wilderness for forty long days — minus the many luxuries of life we now know. Tiredness had taken its toll, thirst had taken its toll, loneliness had taken its toll, and all that life had had to offer to a degree had left him a wearied man.

The devil reasoned, now is the time for me to make my appearance. At this point he made his approach at a point that would have gotten most of us. "YOU SAY THAT YOU ARE THE SON OF GOD? IF SUCH BE THE CASE TURN THESE STONES INTO BREAD AND FILL YOUR EMPTY STOMACH" but a man whose heart was bent on fulfilling a mission reached back into the heart of moral and spiritual fortitude and cried out man needs more than bread. If such were the case man would in most cases be a contented individual. But as we look over the scene, after many men have filled their stomachs with the best the house had to offer "They'd still walk a mile for a camel."

No man by his very nature is a product of unrest. You satisfy him at one point and he breaks out at another. He always reaches out for something he doesn't have. So Jesus told the devil, "Man does not live by bread." He was only saying to him there is something in life more important than bread.

Yet, the tragic thing about the whole thing is that many of us put our stomachs in front of, over and above, and far out of reach of everything else. Now let me say, I am not saying that a person should not eat but I am saying that there are things more important than eating. I know a lady friend of mine who boasts of the fact that she eats at least one steak every day. Now I know the pros and cons of her eating her steaks — I know what many of my readers have concluded already, if she wants to eat a steak that's her business.

The world has always been full of people who have apparently majored in the minors. The world has always had its share of people who have left the most important things and concerned themselves

Map Plan To Aid Students

PRAIRIE VIEW, Tex. — Ten leading hotel men representing the Texas Hotel Association met at Prairie View A and M college recently to work out an internship program for students enrolled in the Commercial Cooking and Baking Department.

The Texas Hotel Association is cooperating with the college in a program designed to give additional practical experience to students in cooking and baking through on-the-job experience in the hotel industry.

The Division of Industrial Education at the college offers a two year trade course to prepare cooks, bakers, caterers, chefs, and supervisors of food services.

Years ago we had a group known as the Epicureans. To them life was only a matter of eating, drinking, and being merry. To many people, the same is true today. As long as many of us can keep our stomachs full and have a place to lay our heads at the end of the day nothing else really matters. But in this day and time when so many things are at stake, something else does matter.

Life reaches out beyond your stomachs. Sometimes it takes us a long time to realize it but it is true nevertheless.

Many a man has failed in life because he was too much concerned about his stomach. He could have gone to college but the college menu was not what he had at home. He could have been a great doctor, lawyer, or minister but he was too much concerned about his stomach. His concern about his stomach prevented him from being what God would have had him be. But speaking to each of us today is a voice that says, "Man shall not live by bread alone" and let me hurriedly say any man who puts bread first is doomed already. We must concern ourselves with those things that have real meaning and when and only when we do this will success be ours.

BOYCOTTERS FINED $500

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — (INS)—The Tallahassee Inter-Civic Council and 21 individual defendants were found guilty Saturday of illegally operating a car pool for Negroes boycotting city buses.

The boycott, which forced suspension of bus service in Florida's capital city for several weeks last spring, was called in protest over segregated seating.

City Judge John Rudd sentenced each defendant to a $500 fine or 60 days in jail. He also handed each a mandatory 60 day term, but suspended this judgement and ordered a year's probation for each instead.

Execution of the sentences was delayed pending a motion for a new trial, which defense attorneys said will be filed.

The jurist, handling the cases without a jury, delayed only 15 minutes after testimony was completed before announcing the verdict. He said he asked for "divine guidance" in arriving at a fair pronouncement.

The 21 car pool drivers, including the entire nine-man executive committee of the Inter Civic Council, were arrested for operating their vehicles without "for hire" tags.

The trial opened last Wednesday and dragged over three and a half days with the prosecution calling some 30 witnesses to the stand

Our Opinions

A Deserving Tribute

One of the most significant enterprises is taking place in Chicago where a band of devoted admirers of Dr. T. K. Lawless, renowned skin specialist, are engaged in establishing a clinic for skin diseases in his honor in Israel's largest and most famous hospital, the Beilinson.

The sponsoring committee which is interracial in composition, has already raised $70,000 toward its goal of $160,000 for beds, auxiliary supplies and first year maintenance of the clinic. The Beilinson hospital is in Tel Aviv, the largest population concentration of the new state and its best developed medical center.

The total cost of the T. K. Lawless Dermatology department is close to a half million dollars. Israel's health agency, the Kupat Holim has put up $280,000 toward construction costs. This unusual tribute to a great medical practitioner and humanitarian, remarkable as it is, becomes far more significant when viewed in the perspective of history.

For, it is not only a testimonial to Dr. Lawless' accomplishments, great as they are; it is the expression of gratefulness of a whole race for deeds of beneficence that might have gone unnoticed and undramatized.

In contributing generously to the support of the state of Israel and its people, Dr. Lawless was, undoubtedly, actuated by a noble desire to assist in the upbuilding of a new nation locked in a death grapple for existence.

Again, what gives this tribute a sense of history is that the youngest democracy in the world has come to the greatest democracy under the sun to find a citizen who symbolizes the hope of true human brotherhood in both nations.

And, this is being done in the formative years of the new republic as a means of establishing a healthy precedent of the fraternity of men where ability is honored regardless of racial origin.

With its dark Yemenites, Moroccans, Algerians and Tunisians interwoven into its population of Eastern Jews, Israel has solved the color question. Its people are being welded by the most fundamental of instincts, the instinct of self-preservation, into a common solidarity of feeling. In the fire of common purpose interracial differences tend to be burned away. Israel represents not merely the return of the Jews to their ancestral home, it is the return of a dedicated people to a prophetic land where they wish to establish a new way of life and where they see the need for international concord as well as interracial amity.

While Israel is inspired by the American idealism and by the spiritual forces which have swept her along the course of her history, the new nation is resolved to keep the orgy of race-hate out of the context of its democracy.

The Negro people are linked to the Jewish people by bonds of common suffering, common wounds, common denial and rejection, and common blasphemy.

Thus this recognition, which has deservedly come to Dr. T. K. Lawless, a great force in his chosen field, a man who represents the ultimate in modesty, is also a tribute to the Negro race by the people of Israel. Long live Israel!

Save Where You Can Borrow

There is much talk and much confusion in some quarters about "tight credit" and what it means. Negro families who are in the market for homes share no such confusion. "Tight credit" means there is little chance of them getting a home loan outside their own communities. It is proving the hard way that we are foolish to save where we can't borrow.

Many financial institutions base their lending policies on race. It makes no difference if the person seeking a loan has been saving with them for years. If he is a Negro, he doesn't get credit.

When the Negro prospective home buyer applies for a loan from such places and is refused, he has no place to turn but to institutions friendly to Negroes or controlled by Negroes. Every real estate broker, and every financial institution doing business in the Negro community is familiar with this kind of case. People with as much as $15,000 in biased institutions have been refused loans by them, solely because of color.

Before money was so hard to get, friendly institutions were able to provide loans for many of these people. This is not the case today. More and more, the friendly institutions are obliged to give their own customers first choice.

The tragedy here is that there are millions of dollars in savings belonging to Negroes still in these biased institutions — enough money to provide the credit needed to keep our communities growing.

The money is in the wrong places, and as a result, the whole community suffers — brokers who must sell houses to live — people who have homes to sell — people who want to buy. The progress Negroes have been making in home ownership over the past 10 years is seriously threatened.

This situation can be corrected very easily. Financial institutions which base their lending policy on race do not deserve our support. As long as they keep this policy, so long must we pool our savings in institutions which we either control, or which are appreciative of our business.

We must save where we can borrow.

What The People Say

No Hoodlums

Dear Editor: The Daily Defender of Oct. 10 carried an article on "Delinquency and Public Safety." The article called the young people hoodlums. You cannot correct an evil by committing an evil. This is a human problem. God did not create such a being. If He did, there can never be any change for growth and service.

Hits Practice

Dear Editor: There has been a growing trend on the part of certain banks in the greater Chicago area, as well as the State of Illinois, to engage in an insurance business — namely, life, fire and casualty, some of which is definitely against the Federal Reserve Laws and insurance laws of the State of Illinois, and is to the detriment of the public interest. Some of these things mislead the public and serve as "gimmicks" and stunts which will ultimately undermine public confidence in the institution of insurance in our state.

Insurance Agents and Brokers have concrete proof of Bank presidents and officers engaging in the insurance business, coercing bank clients into purchasing and placing insurance through their banks or through independently owned agencies (owned by these officers) in order that these bank clients may secure loans or favorable interest rates, or both.

Since the investigation is being made by a United States Senate investigating Committee of bank practices in the State of Illinois, interest. Your cooperation is needed. I feel that it is high time that unethical and unsavory practices MANFRED S. SPINDEL, Chicago brought to light in the public go.

HOPE GOES THIS WAY

A major event took place in Memphis last Saturday morning. The occasion involved two groups of Memphis Negro high school kids. And it was something that should make the day a red-letter one in the history of Negro progress in the Delta and the so-called "cotton country."

And yet, it's a safe bet that with the exception of the handful of youngsters involved, their teachers, the sponsors of the event, and a few parents, the full significance of the event was pretty well missed among the tens of thousands of "your folks" (Negroes) who inhabit these parts. Unfortunately, too many colored folk have a way of missing the real meaning of too many of the really important happenings in their way of living.

But back to the event: Last Saturday a group of students representing Douglas High school and a group representing Hamilton, met in a unique contest. It is called a "Quiz 'Em On The Air" program. It's a nationally practiced project stemming from This Week Magazine, a supplement to many of the nation's newspapers. It has been featured in Memphis for some time now, among white high school students, being broadcast regularly over a given period and widely publicized in local newspapers, particularly the Commercial Appeal.

Well, last Saturday, thanks to the ever-expanding interest of radio station WDIA, in projects designed to improve and help the Negro community, local Negro high school boys and girls had a chance to launch out on their first "Quiz 'Em On The Air" program. There will be a whole series of such programs to follow. Each Saturday over WDIA, aired from 6:30 till 6:55, in the evening. Participating youngsters will receive attractive prizes, and at the end of the series the winning school's representative will receive a trip to Washington, D. C., nationwide publicity and prestige, and a chance at valuable college scholarships. And that's really something to write home and tell the folks about.

But over and beyond these immediate benefits to the young people taking part are the long range rewards in which the whole community will share. And that means in so many more ways than one.

In the first place, there's the great community reward contained in discovering that there are so many young Negroes who are able to answer intelligently and correctly pertinent questions about the world, the nation, the state, and the town we live in.

It was the veteran newspaperman, nationally known feature writer, and widely traveled George Sisler of the Commercial Appeal Staff who pin-pointed the real significance of what's happening with the "Quiz 'Em On The Air" project. Last Saturday, after visiting "DIA" to assist in getting the first Negro program launched, Mr. Sisler, who has spearheaded the project among the white high schools of Memphis, expressed enthusiastic and emphatic pleasure over the showing of the Negro youngsters. He had prepared the first set of questions himself. He had pulled no punches because of the kids' race. He simply covered the current news carried in his paper as he came to it, and as he felt a well-informed newspaper reader should observe it.

When the questions were put to the kids from Douglas and Hamilton, they handled them in their stride. They handled them like any other intelligent, well-guided, normal American boys and girls should handle questions about their world, nation, and community. Mr. Sisler said he could be quoted as convinced that, "These boys and girls measure up in their performance in handling the questions asked them."

It doesn't matter that Douglas came off with first honors in the first program last Saturday. . . not in the connection in which we are viewing the matter here. What matters most here is that something is being done to encourage the development of a growing group of Negro boys and girls able to measure up to the best accepted standards in an area calling for intelligent observation, reading, and study. Such a group is bound to make Memphis a better community. . . and Negroes a more efficient people. This way lies hope.

Well, here I am again after an extended vacation and after about 7,000 miles of travels which took me to the East Coast of the USA, to the West Coast and into Old Mexico.

This being an election year, I was interested in political attitudes and trends, especially among Negroes.

I found in Virginia that the greatest concern among Negroes is that section's attitude toward integration and the stand the politicians are taking in the matter. On the West Coast, the Negroes are still mad about Emmett Till and the attitudes of the South toward integration.

All over, I found too many who are still praising Roosevelt and his dole and are dead-set upon voting for his return. Too many want a return to what they call the good times of '42 to '45—the war years. They don't care what it costs or who gets killed, just give them some seemingly free and easy money.

TWO HANDICAPS

Two of the greatest handicaps to the Negro's progress in the political life of America are: (1) His political ingratitude towards those who really mean and wish him well, also work for his best interests, and (2) His inability to recognize a political insult, also his lack of manhood to do something about political insults.

The day of thumbing rides on the political highways of America, for the Negro, is over. The Negro must furnish his own transportation if he is to reach his place in the political sun.

THE VEHICLE

The vehicle for the Negro's transportation is in his ballot and his buying power. He must learn to vote against those who work against him and insult him politically. Trade with those who give him benefits and opportunities and stop spending his money with his enemies. The Negro must learn to vote for principles and not for handouts. Being a first class citizen is a great American principle and privilege. These were worth dying for surely they are worth voting for.

The only way to gain political respect, political recognition and political representation is to work for, also vote for, the principles and the persons who guarantee you respect, recognition and representation. The Negro must learn also to work and vote against those who deny him the same.

In the crisis of 1860 in which the Negro was the focal point, the national political life of America was endangered. In today's crisis, in which the Negro is again the focal point, both the national, political life of America and her world political leadership is threatened.

HAND IN HAND

When the political solidarity of a country, also its political leadership, are endangered, all of its other accomplishments and powers are equally endangered. History bears me out in this.

There are more recent examples of the truth in the statement. Look at Great Britain, France, Germany and other European countries who once were great and lost, almost all, when they lost their political prominence.

The loss of political power always follows when a nation becomes satisfied with itself. A nation you stop rowing, you begin drifting. It requires effort to remain where you are. To move forward requires more effort.

AMERICA DRIFTS

America has stopped trying to do anything except get rich—get power and to get something for nothing. America is resting upon its wars in true political, moral and spiritual values, therefore, is drifting into socialism and all other kinds of isms except Americanism.

This drifting will cause America to lose all of its great powers if its citizens don't begin paddling their own boats and quit expecting the American Government to carry them up stream.

IN LINE OF FIRE

In this crisis, the Negro is again the focal point, therefore, must paddle the harder. It is toward the Negro that the current is directed. The enemies of America both from within and from without are focusing their fires in the Negro's direction. These enemies consider the Negro America's weakest point, partly because of his seeming lack of reactions either way and partly because of the way in which he has been treated and still is being treated.

To offset these unfavorable situations and unnoticed attacks upon himself, the Negro must increase his faith in America and fight the harder for its success.

Alabama Forms Rights Group

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — (ANP) — A Negro group here, organized after the state of Alabama took injunctive action against the NAACP, was incorporated last week under the state laws of Alabama and received a charter.

The Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights became an organization last June 5 after this state outlawed the NAACP. The Negro group was incorporated last Aug. 17.

The charter states that the group was organized to "press forward persistently for freedom and democracy and the removal from our society of any form of second-class citizenship."

Autumn In New York: Nice Season In A Nice City

Autumn is just about the nicest time of year in New York, not too hot, not too cold, with the twilight beginning to come early and the lights going on in the dusk in skyscraper buildings high and distant and very pretty. New shows are opening on Broadway and the big electric signs flash with the names of stars. If you live in Harlem and take a taxi downtown at show time through Central Park in the early evening, the skyline of New York is before you and on either side as you ride, with glowing windows and lighted pent houses high, high up, and flashing signs at the downtown end of the Park. Then you come out into the canyon of lights that is Broadway. There is a big city kind of beauty about New York that few other towns have.

If your vacation comes late this year, and you are planning to spend it in New York, you will find many interesting things to do. Or if you live in New York, pleasant things to repeat doing, such as the boat ride all around the island of Manhattan, under the Brooklyn Bridge and up the Harlem River and then around the North end of the island, past the Cloisters and under the long George Washington Bridge and down the Hudson to the Battery again, passing the docks and the great ocean liners on the way. Or you can take a Fifth Avenue bus for a wonderful ride up that street of hand-some shops and fine apartments and mansions facing Central Park all the way to Harlem and the Hotel Theresa. Or take the other bus that goes up Riverside Drive where the leaves on the trees are turning and there's a lovely view of the river below and Grant's Tomb and Columbia university and rows of tall apartment houses where formerly colored people did not live, but where some do and some don't now — but among those who do are Judge Rivers and the singer, Betty Allen, and the writer, Ralph Ellison.

In the theatre this season in New York there is, of course, "Mr. Wonderful" which is the top money maker on Broadway with the dynamic Sammy Davis as its star. And the grinning singing guitar-playing Tiger Haynes is in "New Faces" and Charles Blackwell is dancing in "Fanny" along with the white girls and boys, and recently I hear they have added to a Negro chorus boy to "Damn Yankees" without racial emphasis, thus indicating that integration proceeds apace along the Great White Way. Off Broadway at the Jan Hus House there is an interesting revival of that interesting play by Louis Peterson "Take a Giant Step" about the problems of an adolescent colored boy in a white neighborhood. It is distinctly worth seeing if you missed it when it was done a few years ago on Broadway, and there's a stunning scene at the beginning of the third act between the boy and a maid played by Rosetta Lenoire, in which Miss Lenoire almost walks off with the casting honors, although she appears nowhere else in the show. But when she is on the stage, the theatre really lights up.

Of course, if you have a lot of money to spend, plus a generous tip for the waiter, you can go to the Waldorf-Astoria to hear Harry Belafonte, or to the Persian Room to see Eartha Kitt. But I wouldn't advise you to try either on a shoestring, as these downtown rooms are not run for the poor in pocket. If your budget is modest and you just want to have fun, Nipsey Russell and his surrounding entertainment at the cool, man, cool! That's Harlem.

Baby Grand in Harlem are one of the best night club buys in Manhattan and Nipsey one of the top comic M. C. jokers in the country, equalled only by the old master, Willie Bryant, who has opened up a club in the Bronx, which, I hear, is jumping. Then there is the ever popular Small's Paradise, having taken a new lease on life under the management of a newer and younger Smalls — Tommy Smalls — the Dr. Jive of radio and Rock and Roll fame who is in charge these days, and where about the best combo-jazz in Harlem is to be heard. At Small's you can take a table or sit at the bar — the musicians are visible and hearable from anywhere — and the prices are most reasonable. Celebrities and pretty girls are all dropping in and out. And you had better not go home from a vacation in New York without being able to tell folks you've been to Small's. Like the Apollo Theatre or the Savoy Ballroom, in Harlem Small's is an institution.

And speaking of the Savoy, you had better visit it soon, because in a little while that whole block is being torn down to make room for a housing project. Then Harlem's most famous ballroom where the Lindy Hop originated will be no more, at least not in that venerable location where for so long it has been an attraction for people from all over the world who wanted to hear the best of our hands and see — or participate in — the happiest of dancing. The Savoy is running full blast this fall, Lenox Avenue is still Lenox Avenue and Seventh is Seventh, and from the Shalimar to Sugar Hill, Harlem these autumn nights is as invigorating as the tany autumn air. Not muggy as in August, or freezing as in December — just the cool, man, cool! That's Harlem.

DOPE and DATA

by Louis E. Martin

Adam Powell's switch to President Eisenhower did not come as a big surprise to the Democratic wisecracks. Back in 1952, the New York Congressman gave the Tammany Hall brass a splitting headache with an article friendly to Eisenhower which was scheduled to break in the Readers Digest around election time.

The Democratic chieftains at the Hall in midtown Manhattan quickly got Adam to agree to explain his position to a reporter and this explanation was supposed to take the edge off the Readers Digest article. An appointment for the interview was set up and at the appointed hour, the reporter was on hand and on time, only to learn, that Adam had left town. The "explanation" of the Ike article never came off.

Many regular "organization Democrats," better known as Tammanyites, never forgave Adam for flirting with the "enemy on the eve of the battle." The charges against Adam most often made by the top drawer Democrats in New York are threefold.

They argue that Adam is fundamentally a political opportunist that he is a prima donna and that he has a congenital inability to tell the truth. There has been "bad blood" between the Congressman and the regular district leaders in Harlem for a long time. Their grievances against Powell, if laid end to end, would probably reach from the Abyssinia Baptist church in Harlem to Tammany Hall at 43rd and Madison.

For almost two decades now Adam has been a controversial figure in Harlem. When he entered politics, he found a field that was made to order for his special talents. As a young minister succeeding his distinguished father in the largest Protestant church in the world, Powell quickly demonstrated that he was not going to be bound by any traditions which did not please his fancy.

Whatever discontent his actions provoked in his church, nothing ever came of it. With unmatched eloquence and suavity, the dramatic parson completely routed the opposition and won the unflinching loyalty of his ever-growing flock. The ugly stories of Adam's love life which gained currency when he divorced his first wife and married Hazel Scott may have shocked Harlem's upper crust but they were ignored by the faithful at Abyssinia.

One of the reasons why so many rank and file Harlemites seem willing to forgive any of Adam's antics lies in his reputation for militancy. Beginning with bus boycotts in the thirties and all during the period of "militant demonstrations" in Harlem, the New York Congressman won a great reputation for fearlessness and militancy. He prized that reputation.

He is a masterful publicist and propagandist and he employed all his skill in strengthening this reputation for militancy at home and abroad. Even the leaders in Harlem who are fully convinced that Adam is a gold-plated phony have been known to give him applause for some show of militancy.

Many of the leaders of the N. A. A. C. P., for instance, thoroughly disapprove of Powell as a leader yet they gave him solid support on the amendment to the education bill calling for integration. This paradox can be found in many other areas. Those who don't believe him and don't trust him somehow tolerate him because they know he will "raise hell" on the race issue with the slightest provocation. The moral is that there are a lot of Negroes who feel more hell ought to be raised by the top leadership of the race.

It is obvious that under these circumstances the question of whether or not Congressman Powell is a phony is really academic. As long as he can be counted upon to flay the enemy and tell the lynchers where to go, his followers will probably continue to support him. They love his verbal fireworks and rabble-raising eloquence.

Now that he has switched openly to Ike, many Democrats in Harlem believe that they have him where they have wanted him for a long time, out on a limb. Although Adam has been on limbs before, he has always managed to climb back before anyone could saw it off. This time, things may be different.

A Report...

THE CIVIL RIGHTS ISSUES IN 1956 AS THE UAW FAIR PRACTICES DEPARTMENT SEES THEM

We in the UAW are proud that in the past four years we have made progress in collective bargaining, in the day-to-day operation of contracts in the plants and in states and hundreds of local communities. Practical steps AGAINST discrimination and FOR the establishment of fair practices on the job and in the community have been made.

Our Union has acted to support the Supreme Court decisions providing for integration of the Nation's public schools.

The progress we have made in strengthening our contracts with employers has meant a higher standard of living, better health, better housing, more security, more dignity and longer lives for our members and the members of their families.

In cooperation with the NAACP and other organizations, our Union has continued the fight for the enjoyment of full civil rights by all Americans in all parts of our Nation. That fight is still to be won.

The veto power of the filibuster continues to strangle civil rights.

The Senate continues to be the graveyard of civil rights legislation. The grave-digger is still Rule 22.

The filibuster weakens, delays and blocks other social, labor and economic legislation essential for stable prosperity and world peace.

Together with the NAACP and other national organizations participating in the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, UAW representatives went to both the Democratic and Republican National Conventions to urge civil rights platform pledges, including a pledge to kill filibuster rule and substitute majority rule by changing Rule 22 so as to make it possible to limit debate.

The unbossed Democratic Convention adopted a pledge to end filibuster rule.

The managers of the completely bossed Republican Convention refused to adopt such a pledge. That refusal makes all other Republican pledges on civil rights meaningless.

WE FIND that in Congress, as in many State Legislatures and local governing bodies, civil rights generally have received more support from liberal Democrats than from Republicans. Specifically, we find that—

A. Three times as many Democrats as Republicans (16 and 5) voted January 7, 1953, to get rid of the filibuster by adopting a new Rule 22;

B. 41 Republicans voted with 29 Democrats for the Taft motion to keep Rule 22 and thereby keep the filibuster;

C. The 1956 Republican Convention, acting on Eisenhower's orders to please Southern delegates, softened its civil rights planks and refused to adopt any pledge to change Rule 22;

D. The 1956 Democratic Convention gave meaning to its civil rights pledges by pledging action January 7, 1957, to get rid of the filibuster and establish majority rule by changing Rule 22;

E. Stevenson spoke up before and after the Democratic Convention in support of civil rights, for the Supreme Court decision ending school segregation, and to urge use of the powers of the Presidency in support of the Court, saying the same things in Little Rock, Ark. that he says in the North.

WE CONCLUDE that in 1956

a vote for Republican control of the Presidency and Congress is a vote FOR Eastland, for continued filibuster rule and against civil rights;

a vote for Stevenson, Kefauver and other liberal Democrats:

* is a vote AGAINST Eastland and the Dixie Republican coalition;

* is a vote to get rid of the filibuster;

* is a vote for Majority Rule and for enactment of Federal Civil Rights legislation.

"SUPPORT THE COURT"—STEVENSON, Feb. 27, 1956

"IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE"—EISENHOWER, Sept. 5, 1956

LAST FEB. 27, ADLAI STEVENSON SAID:

"The office of the President of the United States has great moral influence and I think the time has come when that influence should be used by calling together white and Negro leaders from the areas concerned in the South to explore ways and means of allaying these rising tensions."

If President Eisenhower had acted then, he could have put out white supremacy fires that were being lighted all over the South by professional race and labor baiters.

BUT INSTEAD, ON MAR 7, when asked what the role of the Federal Government should be in enforcing the Supreme Court decision, Eisenhower said:

"Well, of course, you have asked a very great question that is filled with arguments on both sides. You have particularly brought up the question of whether the Supreme Court is the last word we have in the interpretation of our Constitution. Now this is what I say: there are adequate legal means of determining all these factors. We will make progress and I am not going to attempt to tell them now how it is going to be done."

AND AGAIN, ON SEPT. 5, when schools were opening and efforts were being made throughout the South to comply with the Supreme Court's decision calling for school integration, Eisenhower offered the alibi that he couldn't move until the State had failed to act.

He said Texas "had moved in and order was restored, so the question became unimportant."

At this point, the transcript of his news conference draws this portrait of a President who doesn't know and won't lead:

"SARAH MCCLENDON of The El Paso Times—Mr. President, in doing so, Governor Allan Shivers sent Rangers to defy the court order, reassign out the Negro pupils, and said in a public statement which was carried in the newspapers:

"I defy the Federal Government," he said, "Tell the Federal courts if they want to come after anyone, to come after me and cite me in this matter."

"I wonder if you have discussed this with anyone in the Department of Justice?"

"A—I have not discussed it because you are quoting both an order that I have not read and a statement that I have not seen."

"Now, I have—we have actually sent for the District Court order to know what it says. I don't know what it says. And, remember, that the Supreme Court placed in the hands of the District judges the primary responsibility for insuring that progress in every sector was made."

"Now, just exactly what Governor Shivers said I don't know. This is the first I have heard of it."

A few minutes later, asked if he endorsed or merely accepted the Court's decision, Eisenhower shocked civil rights supporters by saying:

"I think it makes no difference whether or not I endorse it."

ON THE OTHER HAND, STEVENSON, against the advice of local politicians, chose Little Rock, Ark. to speak out again. There, and before an interracial audience on Sept. 25, he said:

"The Supreme Court of the United States has determined unanimously that the Constitution does not permit segregation in the schools. As you know, for I have made my position clear on this from the start, I believe that decision to be right."

"But what is most important is that we agree that, once the Supreme Court has decided this constitutional question, we accept that decision as law abiding citizens."

"Our common goal is the orderly accomplishment of the result decreed by the Court."

"I said long ago, and I stand now squarely on the plain statement, adopted in the Democratic platform, that we reject all proposals for the use of force to interfere with the orderly determination of these matters by the courts."

"I have repeatedly expressed the belief, however, that the office of the Presidency should be used to bring together those of opposing views in this matter—to the end of creating a climate of peaceful acceptance of this decision."

A VOTE FOR REPUBLICAN CONTROL IS A VOTE FOR

Democratic 1956 Convention

Pledged Fight to Break Filibusterers' Rule

Senator Paul Douglas (D., Ill.) and other liberal Democrats are going to carry out the pledge made by the unbossed 1956 Democratic Convention to establish the majority rule at the opening of the 85th Congress January 7, 1957, by changing Rule 22 so as to break the power of the filibuster.

Here is the text of that pledge:

"In order that the will of the American people may be expressed upon all legislative proposals, we urge that action be taken at the beginning of the 85th Congress to improve congressional procedures so that majority rule prevails and decisions can be made after reasonable debate without being blocked by a minority in either House."

RULE 22 IS A REPUBLICAN RULE

Senator Eastland and other Dixiecrats can use the filibuster to talk Civil Rights legislation to death only because northern Republicans continually vote for Senate Rule 22.

If the 41 Republicans who voted FOR Filibuster Rule 22 on January 7, 1953, had voted with liberal Democrats AGAINST it, Congress could have passed legislation AGAINST poll taxes, against interference with the right to vote, FOR fair employment practices, and a federal anti-lynching statute as well.

Here are the Republicans who joined with Senator Eastland and other southern Democrats to keep the filibuster and kill Civil Rights:

FILIBUSTER

Republican 1956 Convention
REFUSED to Pledge Fight to Break Filibuster Rule

Senator Prescott Bush (R., Conn.), Chairman of the Republican Platform Committee, told civil rights supporters point-blank that Rule 22 is the business of members of the Senate, not the business of the American people.

No pledge to establish majority rule was even recommended to the completely bossed 1956 Republican Convention that catered to Eisenhower Southern Democrats. Refusal to make this pledge made Republican 1956 civil rights pledges meaningless.

If Republican Senators support majority rule, they will do so as individuals, AGAINST the position taken by Republican Senate Leaders Taft and Knowland that the Senate is "eternal" and can change its rules only by unanimous consent.

IMPORTANT: Now, before Election Day, urge your Senators and the candidates of both parties for the Senate to pledge themselves to vote at the start of the 85th Congress next January for a new Rule 22 providing that a majority of the Senators present and voting can break a filibuster by moving to limit debate and proceed to a vote on any motion or bill, including civil rights bills now trapped and strangled in the dead end of Filibuster Alley. This is the main event in the civil rights fight of the next two years; it will be won or lost in the first days of the new Congress.

A Dream Comes True For Three Teachers

HOWALTON DAY SCHOOL in Chicago is the "dream come true" for three civic minded public school teachers who sought to do something other than worry about the excessive demands upon public and parochial schools brought on by the increased birth rate of the war years. In 1946 they organized a summer vacation school offering remedial work and recreational activities for a limited number of children. In 1947 a Board of Directors was formed and a State Charter was obtained. The Howalton Day school opened its doors as a Primary school. In 1949 the school was visited by representatives of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and a Certificate of Full Recognition was issued. In less than a decade the Howalton Day school has expanded services, increased enrollment, and is now a well organized educational unit covering the span of the elementary school years. Its founders are Mrs. June Howe Currin, Mrs. Doris Allen Anderson, and Mrs. Charlotte B. Stratton. Its philosophy includes the firm belief that the interests, abilities, and potentialities of children are the determining factors in planning and executing a sound program of learning activities—that a good school provides a frame work in which children may operate democratically on their own levels of performance.

THE STORY is told here in pictures.

Stars Join Models; It's $1 Per Step, Men Learn

NEW YORK — Guy who wrote there's nothing new under the sun wasn't speaking of New York or the political season it would seem.

Friday night a galaxy of top stars and models gathering at 1710 Broadway of first in a series of "Stevenson Open House Parties." Among the hostesses were Faye Emerson, Marlene Dietrich and Tallulah Bankhead. The models were the top dress paraders and fashioners in Harlem and along Park avenue.

There was a catch to the party — for men that is — that was financially taxing. After putting $5 on the line for admission there was the little matter of dancing with the stars and models. This could be accomplished by laying $1 on the line for each dance. Needless to say there were quite a few dollars in the till when the dance was over. Surprised? Certainly not. What other bait could one use to attract the males to the dance floor than such "meaty" ones as Tallulah, Faye, Marlene and the cuties of Harlem and Park avenue?

The guys from Harlem and Broadway were all there and participating. Only things they missed were aiding Emerson in her mistress of ceremonies role and the ribbon cutting chores that were relegated to Tallulah and Marlene.

But who cared? The guys who toted the financial freight Friday night came to see and dance. Most of them danced at $1 per step and all of them saw at $5 a look. Yes there was something new under the sun Friday night. Something at from $5 to $15.00 per person pending on how many times a fellow chose to trek around the ballroom.

Roy 'Digs' Ink Spots; Tears Erase 'Em

Combination Of Old Missed And Needed, He Says

By ROY ROY

The Ink Spots, for years the nation's favorite singing four, have grown numerically, unit wise, but that bell ringing potency that once was has dimmed.

There will always be an Ink Spots, in memory. And there is reason to suggest the story should end here. When oldtimers in baseball ask where is Babe Ruth, current crop will present Mickey Mantle. Red Grange is gone, so is Big Jim Thorpe but there are others provided with helmet and footballs and the alistar performances continue. Nor is Mantle deprived of a bat same wood that Ruth propelled for distance clouts.

In case of the Ink Spots the story is different. Gone are Bill Kenny, his ring; his 'enor voice and the hesso of "Poppy" Jones as a combination that made the singing group masters of their trade.

What remains of this once great combination is scattered to the winds and moving solo wise in an effort to keep alive the name that was once magic. There are a trio of "Spots" now. One each directed and starred in by Bill Kenny, Deek Watson and Charles Fuquay, respectively. Not one of them can match in individual brilliance what the trio offered as part of a combination that included them.

In solo efforts to satisfy the appetite oldtimers still have for the past performances of the original Ink Spots the present singers reach back for the old numbers like "If I Didn't Care." The effort is there. The perfection isn't. It is a game attempt to do the best one can with what one has. The best either of the several groups, Kenny's Ink Spots, Deek Watson's Ink Spots and Charles Fuquay's "New Ink Spots" hardly compares with performances of the original.

The current groups of Ink Spots are tuned, have the know how and combine several capable artists in their quartets. Kenny's "Spots" still present the singing voice of Bill; Deek Watson's soloing in "Don't Get Around" is same as when he performed it with original group and Fuquay is the same artist who made up one fourth of the original.

However lacking is the smoothness of perfection that maintained in the original. Rock 'N' Roll wasn't born in the days of the original Ink Spots and as a result there can be no comparison made of efforts of the groups with this style.

Perhaps this explains the success the Deek Watson group has with such numbers as Hound Dog in which they excel. There can be no comparison with the groups rendition of Rock 'N' Roll numbers in its presentation as a first timer, since this story deals with Ink Spots past and present.

There have been other great quartets to pass for the scene when Father Time set in. Not so with the Ink Spots who are still in their prime. What happened? They decided to split and in doing so cut short the reign of a kingly crew that should only be minus the late "Poppy" Jones.

There is territory enough to field a trio of Ink Spots. And there is always a chance that talented groups such as the trio of current "Spots" will hit upon right trail up the ladder, with the new trends in singing. But comparisons are odorous and that is the position the "newly formed Ink Spots" put themselves in when they attempt to recapture fame individually what was once theirs collectively using original tunes.

Playwright Authors 6 New Plays

The author, a student of poetry and drama when he was younger, began his writing career in 1920, and his work since that time has been published in anthologies and magazines.

Call Chicago Hotbed Of Saxophone Talent; Ammons, Griffin Top Lists

Talent agents, the nation over, are referring to Chicago as "Sax town" and with a good reason. The Windy City has fielded the tops in saxational sidemen.

Several seasons ago Fess Williams who was first bandleader in the Regal's 25 year history discovered Sax Brown, a mean artist on the instrument, to add to his Harlem organized band and Brown became the aggregation's star.

Some years later another touring band came across Gene Ammons and the world knows well the later accomplishments of Gene. He has been known as one of the better sax players and frequently mention as a rival to Ellington's Johnny Hodges and Harry Carney and the Great Arnett Cobb.

And what about Illinois Jaquette? California and Texas may wish to claim Jaquette but fact remains he still refers to Chicago as "home."

One of the better sax aces is little Johnny Griffin, who like Lionel Hampton is a product of Chicago high school music source. Johnny was a member of the DuSable band when Lionel Hampton heard him, signed the youth to a contract and featured his talents with the Hampton band.

In the same high school band was another "hopeful." Tom Archia who was to go on to greater heights. Archia soon became a favorite with the "bugs" and a much bud after gentleman. The bidders of course, were talent agents contract hunting.

There have been greats of many instruments to get their start in Chicago but the Windy City boasts most of its sax aces. Certainly Lionel Hampton rates with the tops on vibes, drums and piano; Earl Hines who although born in Pittsburgh got his big push in Chicago as pianist and Red Saunders, ace of drummers, to name a few. And of course there is Billy Eckstine, who although considered a top vocalist also rates on horn including the sax.

Yes, just as New Orleans is considered the original bed for jazz, especially the trumpet as played by Kid Ory, Louis Armstrong and the late Joe Oliver, Chicago is rated for its sax contributions to musicdom.

Proof of this is the numerous greats of the horn who have gone on to better things and national ratings. So much so that Broadway agents keep a constant watch over Chicago's amateur musical circles for possible Griffins, Archias, Jaquettes, Ammons and Browns.

And what this group has meant along sax row is a tuncful story. Evidence of the power of the sax so far as Chicago is concerned may be found on publicity sheets for local dances and concerts as well as along tavern row. The sheets that beckon patrons to the concerts and taverns usually feature a local find. Invariably this "find" is a sax star. Such artists of the sax as Johnny Griffin, Gene Ammons, Sonny Stitt and other local products will be found listed in the feature spots.

There are of course a number of artists of other instruments. King Cole is one, who have gone on to greater things. But inspection of the records will show most of the Chicago "names" that have gone on to greater things, nationally and locally, belong to the sax group.

New FHA Rules Boost Slum Drive

Allow Builders More Profit

WASHINGTON — The government's drive to clean out the nation's slums and build anew in old urban areas will be given a lift by new Federal Housing Administration regulations published last week, FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason declared.

The new rules, he said, carry out the will of Congress as expressed by the Housing Act of 1937 by making possible increased "profit and risk" allowances for the builders of urban renewal housing projects financed by privately advanced, federally insured mortgage loans.

At the same time, Commissioner Mason said, the rules give assurance of adequate equity investment by sponsor of the projects. A permanent cash investment amounting to at least three percent of the actual cost will henceforth be required of sponsors of an urban renewal project financed under the terms of Section 220 of the National Housing Act. This provision, coupled with requirements for cost certification and the use of independent cost accountants, will serve to assure the integrity of Section 220 operations.

Section 220 is described as the heart of the Eisenhower Administration's broad scale approach to urban renewal which brings the resources of private investment to the fore as previously untapped arsenal in the war to wipe out slums and blight.

Mason pledged the FHA to see to it that this free enterprise approach to urban renewal would be supervised to avoid the possibility of questionable practices. "This approach," Mason said, "is one of the brightest hopes held forth to the nation's communities striving to blot out the evils of urban decay and to rebuild for a promising future."

He's EVERYBODY'S President!

BACKED BY A FAVORITE—Lionel Hampton, famed band leader, is a prime favorite of the President. The buttons he wears and holds tell his sentiments. Hampton sailed Saturday for England with credentials as President Eisenhower's "ambassador of good-will." (Robert Lavelle—Indianapolis News)

CENTENARIAN A VISITOR—A former slave, James Winn, born in Missouri 106 years ago, is greeted by President Eisenhower in Sept., 1954, when he was 104. In the background, Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado (left) and Mayor John D. Gillespie of Boulder, Colo., Mr. Winn's home. (International)

LOOK at the RECORD

"The Republican Party's record on social justice rests, not on words and promises, but on accomplishment. The record shows that a wide range of quietly effective actions, conceived in understanding and good will for all, has brought about more genuine—and often voluntary—progress toward equal justice and opportunity in the last three years than was accomplished in all the previous twenty years together."

—PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

- The Eisenhower Administration has established a new climate of equality, under which real civil rights gains are continually being made.
- In all areas of Federal responsibility, President Eisenhower has worked quietly but effectively to advance the rights of minority groups.
- Integration of the Armed Forces has been completed.
- In the District of Columbia, equal access to eating establishments and to places of amusement has been realized, along with integration of the schools, the Fire Department, and public housing.
- New job opportunities in the Federal Government and in private companies holding Federal contracts have been opened to members of minority groups.
- An end has been put to segregated interstate bus and train travel.
- The Supreme Court has ruled in favor of integration in the public schools and in various other areas of Federal concern.
- The Eisenhower Administration proposed a six-point legislative program to provide added safeguards against possible deprivations of civil rights, which the Democrat-controlled 84th Congress failed to approve.
- A new climate of equality now pervades the United States after nearly four years under the Eisenhower Administration. Although great gains in civil rights have always taken place under the Republican Party, the progress since President Eisenhower took office has been especially outstanding in both depth and breadth.
- In all areas of federal responsibility, the President has effectively advanced equality of treatment.

"Our prosperity must be shared fully by the 17 million Negro Americans. They have made great progress in recent years. We are proud of our splendid record, but we will not rest secure until every Negro has proper housing, decent medical care, better educational opportunities, and unlimited chance for employment according to his ability. Here we do not offer mere promises; we can show performance. We will not rest content until we achieve the full realization . . ."

— VICE-PRESIDENT RICHARD M. NIXON

NOW, COMPARE THIS WITH THE DEMOCRAT RECORD BELOW:

A Vote for STEVENSON Is A Vote for EASTLAND

Estes Kefauver, Democrat Vice-Presidential candidate, and his wife, Mrs. Nancy Kefauver, signed a property deed in Washington, D. C., on January 4, 1949, which contained a restrictive covenant barring sale, rental, or occupancy of the property by "Negroes, (or) those of the Semitic race (including) Armenians, Jews, Hebrews, Persians, and Syrians." The property was purchased from another Democrat senator, Carl Hatch, of New Mexico, and his wife. Kefauver said in Congress on July 29, 1948, as reported in The Congressional Record: "Most of the matters embraced in the President's civil-rights program cannot be dealt with by legislation. I have always opposed, and will continue to vigorously oppose, the FEPC, the anti-lynch bill, and any non-segregation provisions. . . . It simply would not work—especially in the South. The anti-lynch bill has been before the Judiciary Committee, of which I am a member, and I have always opposed it. There is no real demand for anti-segregation laws in the South. The Negroes of the South are not interested in this kind of legislation. . . . It would not be in the interest of their own welfare to fan the fires of passion and disunity by espousal of Federal Non-Segregation Laws."

And THESE are the men that Congressman William L. Dawson and other Negro Democrats are asking YOU to support!
