State Dimout Is In Effect
At 5 Tonight
Cooperation Of All Electricity Users Is Asked

OUTDOOR LIGHTS HIT
A dimout affecting all of Kentucky was put into effect at 5 tonight. The move was made to conserve electric power for use in industry today. A presidential message, as follows, was sent to Governor Clinton:

To the Governor of the State of Kentucky:

I am authorized to inform you that the President of the United States has declared a national emergency by reason of the fact that the national defense of the United States is endangered by reason of a general crisis in the supply of coal.

I hereby declare that a national emergency exists, and, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of the United States, including the National Emergencies Act, as amended, do hereby order and direct that materials essential to national defense shall be produced in such quantities, quality, and place as required by the defense mobilization plan.

All persons intersecting the national emergency declared by this executive order are hereby directed to take all measures necessary to carry out the full intent and purpose of this executive order, including but not limited to, the full cooperation and assistance of individuals, businesses, and organizations in the production and distribution of such materials.

The Secretary of Commerce is directed to take such actions as may be necessary to ensure that all persons and organizations subject to this executive order comply fully with the provisions hereof.

I hereby order that this executive order shall take effect immediately.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the United States of America.
