Germs, Filth Found In City's Water Samples Health Official Warns Of Danger Of Epidemic Here

SUGGESTS A REMEDY

One-third of the State Health Department samples of Fulton's water supply during the past two years have contained polluted matter, some of it from the city's sewers, according to Dr. Paul Peterson of the Department's Louisville office.

Dr. Peterson, principal speaker at the Rotary club meeting yesterday, added that many types of disease germs obviously were in the city water.

The health officer reminded Fulton residents that at time was drawing water from an untreated well which contained the same kind of filth found in Fulton's water. One of every 10 persons in that city had an intestinal disorder of some kind, and there were 110 cases of typhoid fever reported during the month, Dr. Peterson said.

He suggested two alternatives for Fulton: 1. The city could secure a Federal Works Administration loan to employ an engineer to survey the city water system and see how it could be made sanitary and healthful; or 2. The city could purchase a chlorinator to purify its water.

The Illinois Central railroad has a chlorinator for its own private water system here at present.

Dr. Peterson will be in Fulton county the remainder of this week, working with Harry R. Ry, Fulton and Hickman county sanitarians.

Services Held For Mrs. Nora Estes, Bardwell Resident

Bardwell, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP)—Mrs. Nora Estes, 78, died Sunday afternoon following a two-week illness of pneumonia. Funeral services were held Monday morning at the Bardwell Baptist church by the Rev. Eugene Clark, assisted by the pastor, the Rev. W. W. Davidson. She was a member of the Bardwell Baptist church. Burial was in Rose Lawn cemetery, Bardwell.

Mrs. Estes is survived by four daughters: Mrs. Floyd W. Tegelhoff, Route 1, Arlington, Mrs. Oscar Cardwell and Mrs. J. Holt of Detroit, and Mrs. Lillian Bodkin of Cunningham. Two sons, Athol and Ed of Detroit, and a number of grandchildren.

London—Confined to his bed with a broken leg, Ebenezer Brittain of nearby Lily, was burned to death yesterday when fire destroyed his home. His wife, their two small children and Mrs. B. C. Botkins, who had spent the night at the Brittain home, escaped injury but were unable to save Brittain.

Louisville—Funeral services for Sister Angela Strain, 76, of the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth, who died Monday at the Mother House at Nazareth, Ky., will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow at Nazareth. She was sister superior of St. Joseph Infirmary at Louisville for nine years.

Louisville—Claude W. Boone, 60, founder of four ice and coal companies here and prominent Methodist church layman, died yesterday. He had been ill two years.

Harlan—Melvin Norworthy, assistant Harlan county superintendent of schools, said the county board of education has appealed to Harlan county ministers for part-time or full-time teachers from their ranks "to relieve one of the worst teacher shortages in history" here. The ministers have withheld an answer pending a poll of sentiment among all ministers of the county.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Haswell, Jr., are spending several weeks in Paducah.

Fulton Lady Will Join Husband In Japanese Capital

Mrs. Claude Muzzy has received instructions to report to Fort Lawton, Washington on December 16, and will sail from there to Tokyo to join her husband, who has been in Japan since July.

Mrs. Muzzy is stationed at General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters, and has an apartment ready for his wife and himself. Mrs. Muzzy plans to be in Tokyo for two or more years.

Final Results Of AAA Voting Are Announced Number Of Voters Is Disappointing, J. B. McGehee Says

COMMITTEE MEETS

AAA elections in the five communities held Friday night November 29, gave the following results by communities, starting in the east end of the county:

Community I: delegate and alternate delegate Roy Bard and R. B. Watia, respectively; community chairman, J. B. Ellick; vice-chairman, E. A. Carver; regular member, Chas. E. Wright; first and second alternates, J. B. Powell and Carl Hastings, respectively.

Community No. II: delegate and alternate delegate, E. Holly Jeffers and Samuel E. Holly, respectively; community chairman, Richard Bell; vice-chairman, A. B. Overby; regular member, N. W. Burnette; first and second alternates, Ray Moss and Harold Threlkeld, respectively.

Community No. III: delegate and alternate delegate, J. B. G. G. and S. A. Jones, respectively; community chairman, W. B. Sowell; vice-chairman, Hugh E. Garrison Jr.; regular member, J. T. Davis; first and second alternates, H. D. Bondurant and J. S. Bacon, respectively.

Community No. IV: delegate and alternate delegate, J. W. Harper and James Sanger; community chairman, James Sanger; vice-chairman, Guy Barnett; regular member, Leo Cissell; first and second alternates, Prather Mangold and John Latuse, respectively.

Community V: delegate and alternate delegate, Russell Thomas and W. A. Nipp; community chairman, Russell Thomas; vice-chairman, Fred Lester; regular member, Kelly Conder; first and second alternates, J. O. Childers and Martin Conder, respectively.

The five delegates representing the five communities met in a county convention at the local AAA Office Saturday at 10 a. m. and re-elected the following County Committee:

H. M. Hewitt, chairman; W. H. Harrison, vice-chairman; O. L. Sutton, regular member; S. A. Jones, first alternate; E. W. Yates, second alternate.

The newly elected County Committee met on Monday, December 2, and re-elected Elizabeth Brasfield as secretary to the Association and J. B. McGehee as treasurer, chief clerk and secretary to the County Committee. Louise Wilson was retained also in the office as regular employee.

Each Thursday was designated as Committee day in which the County Committee are to be in session. Each Wednesday afternoon also was designated as the afternoon in which the office would be closed in compliance with the 5 1-2 work day week.

Mr. McGehee, when interviewed for the above report, stated that participation in the election was again disappointing, inasmuch as only 13.2 per cent of the eligible voters actually voted, (which is even less than it was last year) even though Mr. Hewitt, the chairman, made a strong appeal for a larger vote.

YMB Seal Sale Drive Will Begin Thursday At 10 A. M.

If you own or are employed in a downtown business house, you are due to have a caller tomorrow morning between 9 and 10 o'clock.

These visitors will be your fellow townsmen, and they'll have Christmas Seals which you can buy to help in the fight against tuberculosis. Part of the money you spend to purchase these seals goes into a national fund; the rest is retained in this county.

The Young Men's Business Club is sponsoring the seal sale this year, and will be in charge of the business district drive. Joe Hall is general chairman.

Seals have been distributed to all Fulton schools also, and the students will sell them in the residential districts the week of December 8-13.

Additional seals may be bought at Ford Clothing Co., and Fall & Fall Insurance Co. Thursday afternoon and thereafter.

YMB members who will call on downtown contributors are Leon Fields, Leroy Latta, James Mencham, Charles Looney, Joe Hall, Foad Homra, Sidney Rose.

H. L. Putman Dies Tuesday

Hubert L. Putman, 62, died last night at a local hospital. A farmer, Mr. Putman had made his home in the Middle Road community for 25 years. He was born in Dyersburg, Tenn., and was a member of the Mt. Carmel Baptist church, Fulton county.

Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 in the chapel of the Hornbeak Funeral Home, and burial will be at Millburn. The remains will lie in state at the funeral home until the services.

He is survived by his wife; two sons: Coy Putman of High Point, N. C., and Lloyd Putman of St. Louis; three brothers: J. H. Putman and W. L. Putman of Dyersburg and J. C. Putman of Friendship, Tenn.; three sisters: Mrs. James Williamson, Alamo, Tenn.; Mrs. Kate Price and Mrs. Charlie Golden of Dyersburg; six grandchildren, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Truman Will Give Statement Soon On Status Of Wyatt

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—The White House today promised a statement from President Truman on the controversy over the housing program which reportedly has led to a decision by Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt to resign.

Presidential Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the statement would be issued today or tomorrow.

"There is a very definite possibility it will come today, but not a certainty," he told a news conference.

Ross was asked what information he had as to whether Wyatt is quitting. There is nothing on Wyatt yet, Ross replied.

Oakland Council Gives Its Mayor Police Powers

Oakland, Calif., Dec. 4 (AP)—In the face of a general strike that tied up the city, the Oakland City Council today declared a state of emergency and placed full police and fire power in the hands of the mayor.

Mrs. Davis Dies In Oklahoma

Mrs. Judith C. Davis Succumbed Today; Rites Will Be Here Friday

Mrs. Judith C. Davis, mother of Joe D. Davis of Fulton, died at Oklahoma City, Okla., this morning.

The remains will be brought to Fulton tomorrow, and funeral services will be conducted at the First Methodist church Friday morning at 10:30 with the Rev. W. E. Mischke, pastor, officiating.

Interment will be at Chapel Hill, south of Fulton. The remains will be at Hornbeak Funeral Home until time of services.

Mrs. Davis was a member of the Fulton First Methodist church. Her husband, the late Felix G. Davis, died 18 years ago.

In addition to her son here, Mrs. Davis leaves a daughter, Mrs. Thelma Russell, Oklahoma City; a step-son, W. B. Davis; two sisters: Mrs. Will Potts of Pontiac, Mich., and Mrs. Edw. Schulz of Greencastle, Ind.; eight grandchildren; Mrs. Ernest Fall, Jr. of Joe R. Davis, Ben Davis and Bud Davis, all of Fulton, Mrs. Robert Banger of Hickman, Gertrude Russell of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Gilbert Brittain of Tallahassee, Okla., George Carter Davis of Nashville, Tenn., and nine great-grandchildren.

Ed Heathcott Rites Thursday

Remains To Be At Home Of His Son, Ellis, Here Until Time Of Services

Funeral services for Ed Heathcott, 76, will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon at the home of his son, Ellis Heathcott, 120 Norman street, by the Rev. W. E. Mischke, pastor of the First Methodist church. The body will be at residence until the services.

Mr. Heathcott died this morning at Union City following an illness of several weeks. Jones and Son of Martin will be in charge of funeral arrangements. He was a lifelong resident of Weakley county, Tenn.

He is survived by four sons: Ellis of Fulton, Jeff and Smith of Detroit and Noah of Lone Oak, Ark.; two daughters: Mrs. Lee Jackson of St. Louis and Mrs. J. A. Murchison of Montgomery, Ala.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Ed Parker of Duketown.

Palbearers will be Leonard Brown, George Carter, Olive Brown, George Carter, Martin Nall and Melvin Vaughn.

Earle Combs Signs As St. Louis Browns Coach

Richmond, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP)—Earle Combs, who spent his entire major league baseball career—20 years—with the New York Yankees before retiring 3 years ago, is "very glad in a way" to return to major league baseball.

Howard (Muddy) Ruel, manager of the St. Louis Browns, announced last night that Combs had been signed as a Browns coach for next year.

Safety Programs In Schools Said Way To Save Life

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP)—Safety campaigns in the schools as a means of lessening the traffic fatalities on Kentucky's highways have been suggested to the co-ordinating committee for highway safety.

Presenting his final report to the committee at a meeting here yesterday, J. S. Brown, chairman of the education subcommittee, said the state superintendent of public instruction should appoint a member of his staff to arouse local schools to conduct intensive safety campaigns during the second semester of the school year.

He also called upon the Kentucky education association to publicize the safety drive and give it a prominent place on its program for the April meeting.

William C. Day Is Given Award For Heroic Act

Saved Boy From Death On Tracks At Elburn, Ill.

GETS RAILROAD PASS

For his heroic action in saving the life of a three-year-old boy at Elburn, Ill., August 3, Fireman William C. Day, 29, of North Lake Village was honored recently when he was presented with a white gold engraved annual pass by L. L. White, vice-president in charge of operations of the Chicago and Northwestern Line. The pass bears the gold lettering "For Meritorious Service," and is the highest ranking pass given by the line.

Mr. Day, a fireman on an extra, saw the boy standing on the westbound track at Elburn watching for the extra backing over to clear for No. 25, which was approaching the crossing. The little boy obviously didn't see the approaching train, and Mr. Day jumped from his cab, ran back alongside his train and snatched the youngster off the tracks with but seconds to spare.

It was close, and as Engineer Clarence W. Binkley told the story, the fireman "came back and his face was white."

In addition to the pass, Mr. Day's record was credited with 50 merit marks. He has been an employee of the Northwestern for 10 years, the last five of which he has been fireman. For the first five years he was employed in the commissary department.

He is the son of Mrs. W. R. Day, 610 College street, Fulton.

United Mine Workers Fined $3,500,000, John L. Draws Personal Fine Of $10,000 In U. S. Court; Mine Leader Escapes Threatened Jail Sentence

Defense Counsel Files Notice Of Plan To Appeal Sentence As Soon As Fines Are Ordered; Lewis Warned By Judge

LAWYERS SEE NO POINT IN JAILING LEWIS

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—Striking soft coal miners were fined $3,500,000 and John L. Lewis $10,000 personally today for contempt of court in ignoring an order to observe their government contract.

The fines were imposed by Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough after an uproaring court session in which union lawyers assailed the government's recommendations that the miners be fined $250,000 a day for the 14 days of the walkout.

Lewis himself arose at one point to take issue with the government and drew a warning from Goldsborough lest he risk another contempt action.

Defense counsel served notice of appeal as soon as the fines were ordered.

They moved that the judgment be suspended pending appeal.

Lewis heard the sentences impassively, although his face muscles twitched.

Government counsel said it would not object to a stay if the union would post bond and file appeal papers by tomorrow morning.

The fine against the union represents $250,000 a day for the duration of the coal strike thus far.

In passing sentence after a tense round of behind-the-scenes conferences with lawyers for both government and union Judge Goldsborough said:

"This (the coal strike) is one of the most serious threats that has ever developed in this country."

"I don't think anyone wants to see the unions kicked a mortal blow nor any blow which would turn back the conditions of labor."

"I can't see either party here as a greater friend in this country than I am."

Goldsborough said the court "does not see in the recommendations of the government a desire to strike at the miners."

Describing the coal crisis as "an evil, a monstrous thing," the jurist said:

"It means hunger and cold and destitution. It's a threat to democratic government itself."

"A spectacle of this kind tends to turn the government of this country, the social fabric of Democratic peoples, into ridicule in the minds of the peoples of the world," Goldsborough stated.

Goldsborough said he personally believed that Lewis should be imprisoned but felt bound to follow the government's contrary view, calling for a fine only.

"The court doesn't feel it should disregard the recommendations of the government," he said. "In this situation the government speaks for the people."

Assistant Attorney General John F. Sweeney said nothing could be gained, as far as ending the coal strike is concerned, by putting Lewis in jail.

Reds Agree On Arms Proposal

Russia Accepts General Principles U. S. Asked, Including Dropping Veto

Lake Success, N. Y., Dec. 4 (AP)—The United Nations moved swiftly toward concrete action on world arms reduction today after Soviet Russia agreed to accept the general principles laid down by the United States, including a provision that inspection should be free of the big power veto.

Shortly after Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had tossed this new surprise factor into the political committee of the general assembly, the delegates of the 54 nations agreed unanimously to create a 28-member sub-committee to reconcile the various proposals before them.

These were principally the United States plan for giving first priority to atomic control and for setting up "practical and effective" control and inspection agencies, and two Soviet amendments offered this morning.

There was an air of optimism in all the speeches as the delegates gave the question into the hands of the sub-committee and turned again to debate on proposed action against Franco Spain.

The members of the sub-committee on arms reduction are the United States, Russia, Great Britain, France, China, Norway, the Netherlands, Poland, Canada, India, Czechoslovakia, Mexico, Egypt, Australia, Brazil, Colombia, Belgium, Syria, the Soviet Ukraine and Argentina.

Molotov's agreements were not considered as offering serious obstacles to ultimate agreement.

GOP Leaders Wait Chance To Probe Army In Germany

Washington, Dec. 4 (AP)—Senate Republicans bided their time today for a chance to explore charges that immorality, venereal disease, dishonesty and incompetence in the armed forces jeopardize success of the occupation of Germany.

The Republicans will have control when the new congress is organized Jan. 3 and there seemed no doubt of their determination to investigate the allegations despite:

(1) A denial by the War Department that conditions are as bad as described.

(2) President Truman's statement at a news conference yesterday that he does not think an investigation is necessary.

It was the four Republican members of the Senate investigating committee who made public over objection of the six-man Democratic majority, a report by committee counsel George Meader detailing the charges.

Prices Drop, But Sales Of Burley Are Heavier Today

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 4 (AP)—Prices dropped slightly but volume of sales was heavier on Kentucky's burley tobacco markets yesterday compared with Monday's opening-day sales, according to the report of the state department of agriculture.

Yesterday's average price was $40.64 a hundredweight on sales of 12,070,174 pounds, for which growers received $4,905,170.50, the department reported. These figures were based on reports from all but two of the state's 23 markets. Monday's advance price was $41.56.

The Mt. Sterling market reported the day's highest average price—$44.55—on sale of 399,260 pounds for $177,248.53.

Dowagiac, Mich., Will Cut Wood To Heat Its Homes

Dowagiac, Mich., Dec. 4 (AP)—This southwestern Michigan city went back to the forests today to meet its fuel crisis.

Mayor J. L. Black, acting with the approval of the city council, hired 30 wood choppers and dispatched them to surrounding areas to fell trees and cut the timber into furnace lengths.

He said an output of 30 cords daily is anticipated and will be piled in a downtown lot where it will be available to coal dealers as rapidly as they exhaust other fuel supplies.

Mississippi Cop Says He Struck Unruly Negro Voter

Jackson, Miss., Dec. 4 (AP)—A Gulfport, Miss., policeman today testified he struck Richard E. Daniel, negro, "two or three times" in the county jail after Daniel had been arrested on the day of the Democratic senatorial primary, July 2.

Daniel testified yesterday before a senate committee investigating Senator Theo. G. Bilbo's primary campaign that the policeman, Robert L. Williams, had beaten him insensate in the jail after he tried unsuccessfully to vote.

However, Williams today said Daniel had been arrested for creating a disturbance outside the city hall where a voting booth was established, and that he knew nothing of the preliminaries to the disturbance.

$10,000 Question Still Unanswered

Well-organized opposition by businessmen and farmers has killed, temporarily at least, plans to install parking meters in Fulton on a six-month trial basis.

Monday night, the city council listened to nearly two hours of argument against parking meters, then decided not to call for a vote on the meter ordinance.

The chief goal of the five councilmen who advocated meters was, we believe, to increase the city's revenue enough to build new bridges, repair streets, keep the city clean, pay old debts, and meet other city obligations. Councilmen say the city needs at least $10,000 right now. A secondary reason for advocating meters was to correct some of the undesirable parking conditions now existing.

The council's decision Monday night to investigate the possibility of the state highway department's taking over city streets as highways may be the first step toward solving one of the traffic problems. If this plan does agree to maintain these streets, it is probably will insist that there be no more double-parking down the center of Lake street.

The question of where the city is to get additional revenue, however, remains unanswered. If we want the city to continue to operate on a "pauper basis," as one councilman termed it, possibly we will need no more money. If we want to clean up our city, to make it safer and more attractive for those who live here now and those who might make their homes here in the future, the additional revenue must be forthcoming from some source.

We hear conflicting stories on hopes for Fulton's future. Some of those who opposed parking meters based their arguments on this premise: "We have a nice, quiet little country town. Let's keep it that way." We've opposed to this theory. We'd like to see the town grow—keep pace with other West Kentucky and West Tennessee towns.

Others, the Young Men's Business Club for example, say they are interested in attracting new capital to Fulton, preferably businesses or industries that will employ men. If we want new business and new industries we'd better be doing something to make Fulton more attractive to out-of-town entrepreneurs—and this will take money which the city doesn't have.

We believe the time to increase the city revenue is at hand. For the moment, at least, there is money in circulation. Whether or not this money will be available a year, five years, or ten years from now nobody can say. But we do not subscribe to the theory advanced by some parking meter opponents that we should wait to collect money for new bridges, new streets, and other improvements until building materials are more plentiful. The city which has the money now will be in position to start immediately on necessary projects no matter when materials are available. Fulton, by needless procrastination, may be left far behind.

Several of the meter opponents who attended the council meeting said they would be willing to pay an occupational tax on their businesses. If they prefer to do this to help city finances, well and good. And if the city council puts such a tax into effect, we hope those same people who advocated it Monday night will pay cheerfully for as long as necessary, remembering that it was their own suggestion.

The occupational tax may be the answer to the revenue question. If it is adopted, this newspaper will be assessed just like any other business. If the occupational tax isn't satisfactory, maybe there will be higher real estate taxes, and we'll pay our share of them, too. Those who forced the stalemate in the parking meter proposal have had the ball tossed into their hands. We hope they make a touchdown.

Reds Made Concession On Trieste

J. M. Roberts, Jr. AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Although Yugoslavia is still making motions toward Italy in the hope of a better deal on Trieste, it appears that the four-power agreement actually will go through, internationalizing the port on terms which represent one of Russia's major postwar concessions.

Trieste under the Hapsburgs was the third port in the Mediterranean. It gradually declined after World War I but becomes increasingly important when that area is once again more or less unified, economically, under Soviet Russia. And the port would mean the difference between leaving Yugoslavia with virtually no important outlets and making her an important link between the world and Soviet Europe.

Why, then, have the Russians failed to support a satellite in this case where, probably above all others, they had some real justification?

There is no evidence that Russia intends to withdraw from the outpost she has established. Although Tito may have embarrassed Moscow by some of his embroilments with the western powers, there is no indication that he is out of favor. The reparations which will be paid into the Russian sphere by Italy, once the treaty is signed, are too inconsequential to have hurried the decision. There is no evidence so far of any real quid pro quo, such as a U.S. promise to relax her intention of putting the screws on what she considers unhealthy governments, such as those of Yugoslavia and Poland, through withholding relief supplies and credits.

The cynical view is that Russia, realizing the possibilities of future trouble in the internationalization plan, is deliberately leaving a time-bomb in the territory of the western bloc to explode later, when it might prove of more value to her than while American and British occupation troops remain. Holders of this view point out that maintenance of a general disturbance, pending the opportunity for more direct action, is familiar communist technique.

But to take this view is to reject the general belief that Russia, regardless of how she may hope one day to spread her ideologies, wants peace for now.

Coming simultaneously with the beginning of her demobilization in Germany, with agreement on the principles of inspection to further disarmament, and with admission of international interests in the Danube, the Russian concession on Trieste seems more than a mere temporary maneuver.

OUR READERS SAY

He Shudders To Drink

Today I went to the county health office and got a typhoid shot. That is one precaution that I could take right now. But I will take every time I take a drink of water in Fulton. For today I learned that our water is contaminated with fecal matter from our sewerage.

A typhoid shot may be 99 pct. protection against typhoid, but it cannot remove the nastiness from the water. And who knows what other germs may be lurking at the water faucet?

This is not a rumor that I heard. It is a substantiated fact. A representative of our State Health department, speaking to the Rotary Club this Tuesday noon, said that one out of three samples of Fulton water received by the State department has been contaminated. My fellow Rotarians heard him say it, and I think the public should know about it. For typhoid germs are no respecter of persons. A town's water supply is vital to the public health.

LOTTE MOON CIRCLE

MEETS AT BRADLEY HOME
The Lotte Moon Circle met Monday at the home of Mrs. Sam Ed Bradley. A delicious pot luck supper was enjoyed by 22 members.

After supper the business session was opened with prayer by Mrs. Jack Burton. Routine business was transacted. A report on the Thanksgiving basket was given and plans were announced for the annual Christmas party.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. Charles Walker, who gave a very interesting report of prayer program, her subject being "Good News from Far Countries". After the devotional Miss Mary Moss Hale led in special prayer. Others assisting Mrs. Walker were Mrs. J. B. Goran, Mrs. Kenneth Watt, Miss Willette Cook, Mrs. Earl Collins and Mrs. Joe Cochran.

The meeting was closed by sentence prayer and each member making her special Lotte Moon Christmas offering.

CIRCLE 4 MEETS

Circle 4 of the First Baptist Church met Monday at the home of Mrs. B. L. Austin. Mrs. J. W. Elledge, chairman, presided over the meeting.

The roll was called and minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Herman Sams, secretary. A personal service report was given by Mrs. Tani Hart. The opening prayer was led by Mrs. Foster Edwards. Mrs. Carl Wetzel, program leader for the afternoon was assisted by Mesdames Tani Hart, George Winters and Charles Cook.

During the hour delicious refreshments were served.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB HAS POT LUCK SUPPER

The Junior Woman's Club held its regular meeting at the club home last night at 8:30 with a pot luck supper in honor of the new members. Hostesses for the evening were Miss Josephine Shankle, Mrs. M. E. Etheridge and Mrs. Ralph Winstead. Twenty-five members and six visitors, Mesdames Elizabeth Snow, J. C. Scruggs, Richard Rose, Jack Snow, William Heaslet, and Billy Valentine were present.

After supper a short business session was held. Plans were discussed for a Christmas party for underprivileged children to be held December 19 at the club home. Anyone wishing to donate a new toy or a used toy in good condition or clothing for children ten years of age or under may call Mrs. M. E. Etheridge at Western Union or any member of the club by December 13.

The program leader for the evening was Miss Martha Jean Brown. She presented Mrs. J. C. Scruggs who gave a most interesting talk on "Community Service". Mrs. Scruggs made each member realize the many useful and educational facilities in our town that we take for granted.

SHOWER COMPLIMENTS BRIDE-ELECT MONDAY

Mrs. E. C. Myers and Mrs. Howard Shaw were hostesses Monday night to a delightful shower given in honor of Miss Jane Bynum, bride-elect of Mr. John B. Hamilton, Jr. The room was attractively decorated in greenery and winter plants.

Miss Bynum was attired in a gray suit with black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of red carnations, a gift of the hostesses.

Games of bingo were enjoyed throughout the evening with Miss Josephine Pickle winning the prize. After the games Miss Bynum was led to the seat of honor where the gifts were presented.

The hostesses then served a delightful plate to the following guests: Mesdames Roy Fields, J. O. Anderson, E. L. Rawls, George Speight, Jewel Council, Edna Earl McCollum, Alice V.

Mack, Palmer Downay, B. H. Edwards, C. J. Black, Drue Black, Jr., Will Pasamore, J. B. Hamilton, Sr., I. M. New York, Dec. 3—(AP)—Ed McKeever, retiring Cornell Coach, insists he hasn't done anything about finding a new job (though he has had a few offers) and he won't make a move until after he spends Christmas at Ithaca with his children. Maybe he expects to find a contract in his stocking.

At any rate Ed hasn't heard from either Michigan or Michigan State, which were reported after him. A couple of months ago Judge W. G. Brannham told Ithaca that he did not intend to resign as head of the minor leagues. Now he says he expects to retire.

Apparently that means he'll be tossed out on the seat of his pants.

Purdue's Cecil Isbell quotes the football team's trainer as saying he has seen more bad knees this fall than a fiddler at a burlesque show. That ought to qualify as the best or worst gag of the season.

screened" about 100 candidates and turned up several prospects—without scholarships. Harvey Hester, owner of the Miami Seahawks, follows Georgia's Charley Trippi around to every game, juggling a check for about $30,000 he hopes Trippi will accept some time.

Yale's Howie Odell says he offered—and paid from his own pocket—50 cents for each pass interception by his players this season. Wait until the Ivy League heads get to work on that!

Perfect Service Hotel space in Athens, Ga. for the Georgia-Georgia Tech game last weekend was sold out last Friday. That didn't keep late arrivals away and many of them spent Friday night slumbering in hotel bunks. One hostelry provided the final touch on the morning of the game when a bellboy tapped each sleeping lobbyist on the shoulder and said courteously: "It's seven a.m., sir. Do you wish to get up?"

The cranberry originally was called the cranberry after the pink and white woman that resembles the bird, head and curved neck of the wading crane.

Davis, Blanchard Named As All-American Third Season

Ted Smith, New York, Dec. 3—(AP)—Oleth Davis and Felix Blanchard, Army's irresistible backs, became today the first pair of teammates ever to achieve the All-American football team for three consecutive years.

His gave Army two places on the 1946 Associated Press team, a distinction also won by Notre Dame.

Starting with Walter Camp's first All-American selection in 1889, and continuing through the AP team, only 15 men previous to Davis and Blanchard won first team honors for three or more consecutive years. The last was Red Orange, Illinois backfield of 1933, 1934, and 1935.

Never before have teammates accomplished this feat.

Notre Dame's finest were John Elway, crafty quarterback, and George Connor, towering tackle.

whereas in 1945 Army so completely overpowered all collegiate competition as to place five men on the first team, this year found the Cadets much closer pressed.

Geographical distribution of men on the first three teams reflects a swing of football's wartime center of gravity in the east towards the west and south.

The east placed two men on the first team—Blanchard and Davis; the south three, the midwest four, the southwest one and the far west one. Taking into account the full squad of three teams, the east had six, the south nine, the southwest three, the midwest 10, and the far west five.

Standing in the front rank in the midwest with Notre Dame's Lujack and Connor are Elmer Madson, Michigan's powerful defensive end, and Alex Agase, guard on a strong Illinois team.

Southern Contributions The south's contributions to the first team are Dick Huffman, 230-pound Tennessee tackle; Paul Duke, Georgia Tech center acclaimed by many as the greatest collegiate center of recent years; and Charles Trippi, the Georgia back who is a worthy running mate to Blanchard and Davis.

From the southwest came Weidon Humble, mighty Rice guard, and from the far west Burr Baldwin, UCLA end who was such a great factor in his team's victories.

It was fitting that the 1946 season, which broke all collegiate attendance records and sent football surging back into the sunlight after being shadowed by war for five years, brought out backfield competition of the highest order.

The 1946 second team backfield was almost on a par with the first, and one in particular—Bobby Layne of Texas—stands out as among the finest of recent years.

If it were possible to expand the first team to include five backfield men, Layne would be on it, and almost as much could be said of the others who were placed on the second team—Herman Wedemeyer of St. Mary's, a 1945 first teamer whose demolition was due to the year-level of play; Ernie Case, 26-year-old UCLA quarterback who was equally good on offense and defense; and Ben Raimondi, Indiana's phenomenal passer.

Fulton Methodist Church Explains Work Of Lambuth

Members of the First Methodist Church of Fulton are making plans for their campaign to raise $4,300.00 as their quota in the present program to secure $225,000.00 for Lambuth College, Jackson, Tenn. The institution is headed by Dr. R. E. Womack, president.

The following information about the Methodist school is supplied by the local Methodist church:

The first objective of Lambuth College is to prepare students for effective participation in the life of the modern world. It is realized such participation must have a religious motivation, hence the emphasis upon religion in the individual life of the student and in all activities of the college community. Lambuth strives to give its students special preparation in one or more of these areas: social welfare, business, religious work, teaching, family life, recreation.

"Fifty percent of the graduates of Lambuth have engaged in teaching. Seventy of the present ministers of the Memphis Conference are Lambuth graduates. Social welfare, business, and Christian home-making have enlisted the services of others. "Although a young college and not accredited because of lack of endowment, Lambuth students stand high in preparation and scholarship. According to a recent study Lambuth stands at the head of all institutions in seven southeastern states in its preparation for medical students; 91.7 per cent of first year medical students who received pre-medical training at Lambuth passed first year of medicine. Lambuth has had a difficult time. When it was only five years old, it ran into the greatest depression of modern times. Then came the World War to further increase the difficulties facing the College. Ten years ago Lambuth owed $220,000.00. Today it

1 Dead, 4 Hurt In Auto Wreck

Leo Jackson, Bardwell, Is Killed Near Paducah—When Three Cars Collide

Leo Jackson, 60-year-old Bardwell resident, was killed instantly and four other persons were injured seriously last night in a three-car wreck five miles west of Paducah on the Blandville road.

Those injured were C. C. (Shorty) Stacey of Paducah, R. E. (Dick) Fairhurst, also of Paducah, W. H. Underwood, former Carlisle county sheriff and Homer Rudolph, tenant on Underwood's farm near Bardwell. G. E. Ellis of Paducah, who operates the Ellis Lock Co., Clinton, was not injured in the accident.

State patrolman William H. Barrett and McCracken Sheriff Barkley Graham said a car driven by Underwood and occupied by the other two Carlisle men first swerved into Ellis' auto, then smashed head-on into the car occupied by Stacey and Fairhurst.

Ellis reported that he was driving toward Paducah when he saw the Carlisle car swerving toward him. He pulled to his right and as his car hit the shoulder of the road the Carlisle car smashed into his left rear fender.

Shortly afterward, Ellis said, the car which Underwood reportedly was driving crashed into the car of the Paducahans, which was about 100 feet behind Ellis' auto.

Barrett said Jackson's body was jammed under the dashboard. He was dead when the officer reached the wrecked auto. Jackson is survived by his wife, Edna Jackson and a brother, Elbert, of Bardwell. His only son was killed in Europe during World War II.
