IC, UK Offer Study Course For Officials

Fulton, Paducah, Louisville Named As Class Sites

WILL BEGIN SOON

Breaking new educational ground on the largest scale ever undertaken by either institution in this state, the University of Kentucky and the Illinois Central Railroad are embarking upon a course of study among the key officers and supervisory workers of that railroad in Kentucky.

The plan is being developed by W. A. Johnston, president of the railroad, in conjunction with Dr. Louis Clifton, director of the University's Department of University Extension. It will be carried on under the guidance of C. R. Young, director of personnel of the Illinois Central. In direct charge of the study periods will be Dr. James S. Calvin, assistant professor of psychology.

Group studies will be held at Louisville, Paducah and Fulton. The Louisville class begins December 8 and classes at the other points later. Officers and key supervisors will be brought to the classes from their various stations on the railroad.

The twin aims of this self-betterment course are to develop individual personality and to improve job relations. Studies are made by the men themselves of the organization of the railroad, its history and of human relations, waste, ambidexterity, responsibility, and the ability to learn and to transmit information and technique in handling the job.

The basic course will run 22 hours. Present schedules call for the course to be completed in 1946 and 1947. The Illinois Central leader and supervisor of work in Kentucky, Doctor Calvin is a graduate of the University of Kentucky. He received his Ph.D. in psychology from Yale University in 1926. From 1926 to 1934 he was employed by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in various capacities. During World War II Doctor Calvin spent two and one-half years in the Pacific theater. He has been an assistant professor of psychology with the University of Kentucky since his release from military service in 1944.

Kentucky Today

By the Associated Press

Frankfort—The Public Service Commission has authorized the Clark county Rural Electric Cooperative Corporation to make line extensions, extend lines in Clark and adjoining counties and to reduce rates. The reduction will average about 25 to 30 cents on the 1,200 rural customers in Bourbon, Clark, Fayette, Madison, Montgomery and Powell counties. Charles E. Whitaker, commission chairman, said.

Grayson—Deputy coroner Leslie Henderson has returned a verdict of suicide in the fatal shooting Tuesday night of Mrs. Thelma Withrow Swainford, 18-year-old mother of two children at nearby Hitchens. Henderson said the young woman was "dependent over her husband deserting her."

Lexington—Representatives from 16 Veterans of Foreign War Posts in 12 Central Kentucky counties last night elected Frank Trimble, Jr., Lexington attorney, district commander. Wilson Barlow, of Paris was named senior vice commander. They will be installed at a VFW conference here Dec. 14 and 15.

Frankfort—A hearing has been set for 2 p.m. today before Circuit Judge W. B. Ardery at Paris on a request for a temporary injunction to restrain the state from accepting bids on Kentucky's second class printing contract. The hearing was held yesterday against Finance Commissioner Clarence Miller and Director of Purchases John W. Croley. The bids, which would cover a four-year period from next Jan. 6, are due by noon Friday.

Fulton Cagers Play Wickliffe

Two Games Scheduled Tomorrow Night; "B" Contests To Begin 7:15

Fulton's high school basketball season opens at 7:15 tomorrow night in the new gymnasium when the local "B" tangles with Wickliffe's squad. The varsity game will follow.

Wickliffe was undefeated until a 46-38 loss to Sharpe earlier this week, and will carry the advantage of considerable 1946 experience into their game here.

Probable starters for the Fulton first team will be Billy Mac Stone and Danny Baird at forward; Tip Neims at center; Billy Joe Forrest and Eugene Figue at guard.

Other boys who have been looking good in practice sessions and who are expected to see service against Wickliffe are Don Samons, Bill Campbell and Eugene Baird.

Jimmy Collins and Mack Hall probably will be forwards in the "B" lineup; Eddie Holt or Red Holland will be at center; and guard prospects are Wayne Brasse, Adrian Mann and Johnny Holland.

Fulton's cagers had their first scrimmage with out-of-town competition yesterday when the Martin lads came to town for an un-official practice tilt.

City Buses Start Today

First Leaves Station At 6:30 A. M.; Complete Route Schedule Given

The Old Card Trick Used Again

Ramblings

By Henry Ward—Sun-Democrat

A further example of the program of some state politicians to divide sentiment in the Kentucky governor's race of 1947 and thus to destroy the hopes of at least one possible candidate is provided by a postal card which has been brought to my attention.

On one side of the card are these four names: Harry Lee Waterfield, Earle Clements, Tom Underwood and Ben Kilgore.

The card is one of those self-addressed kind. The address to which the card is to be mailed is P. O. Box 381, Frankfort, Ky.

The recipient of this card is asked to indicate by marking opposite the name of one of these four men the man he thinks would make the best nominee for the Democratic party in the 1947 election.

It's the old straw vote trick. The cards are mailed out over the state, and when the returns come in it is announced that the poll shows one man as being the leading contender for the nomination.

The sponsor probably will claim that it is all on the up and up, and that they have no control over how the cards are marked before they are returned. They will show you the cards to back up their analysis of the returns.

But the plan can be worked for the advantage of one candidate. The sponsor could send out the cards to a picked list, knowing in advance that those who would receive them would mark the card for his choice. If that sounds like a lot of organized effort, remember that considerable organization goes into a state political campaign. It would even be an easy matter to send a few men over the state dropping the cards in mail boxes as they went along, so they would be returned with different post marks.

The reason this poll seems to me to be an effort to split sentiment among prospective candidates is because the odds are strong that two of those mentioned would not even consider running for governor next year.

I am confident that Ben Kilgore will not be a candidate next year. Furthermore, I believe he will announce not only that he will not run but also that he will be an active supporter of Harry Lee Waterfield.

It is generally known over the state that Waterfield and Kilgore are close personal and political friends. Waterfield was Kilgore's state manager when the latter sought the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1943.

Waterfield and Kilgore both are not going to run. You can be sure that Waterfield and Kilgore had an understanding of what they would do before Waterfield made it known that he would be available as a candidate next year.

It also is known that a determined effort is being made by anti-Waterfield forces in the state to revive talk of Kilgore as a candidate in order to keep Waterfield off balance and divide his strength.

The other man, a most doubtful starter in the governor's race, is Tom Underwood.

It happens that I have been for Tom Underwood for office several times, but the trouble is that he won't run. (Not that I blame him for that.)

He has a pleasant and profitable position as editor of the Lexington Herald. While he has taken a keen interest in state politics and has served as chairman of the state central committee, he has never been a candidate, and has consistently rejected proposals that he run.

Last year when efforts were being made to get a strong candidate to run for the Democratic nomination for U. S. senator, an extensive campaign was conducted to get Underwood to seek the nomination. I believe he could have won it easily, even if John Young Brown had insisted on running it out in a primary.

But Underwood refused, declaring that he had no intention to run for public office.

One of my two readers may remember that I quoted a letter I had from him to that effect. He told other friends over the state the same thing.

So, I am forced to conclude that if Tom Underwood would turn down an excellent chance to be elected United States senator he is not going to get into a race in which his chances would be much slimmer to be elected governor of Kentucky.

The truth of the matter is that things have not shaped up yet sufficiently to clear up several questions regarding the state picture. After Kilgore has declared his stand and there have been some other developments, an honest Gallup-type poll would produce a better analysis of feeling concerning the prospects.

Is Moscow Turning Right?

By E. M. Eberhart, Jr., AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Russia's newest concession—that the veto shall not apply in the operation of any control machinery which the U. N. may set up—into immediate speculation at Lake Success as to whether Moscow foreign policy may be doing a "right turn."

Most delegates seemed jubilant after Mr. Molotov's statement. Some were looking for a suspected gimmick, but didn't find it. Coming as it did on the heels of other concessions to the western viewpoint—on Trieste, on the principal of arms inspection, on speed-up demobilization among occupation forces in Germany—it began to look like Russia might be going to give the peace treaty a real push.

Observers were asking whether the time had arrived when Moscow, finding the troubled waters of the immediate postwar period about fished out was preparing to give the world a respite from excursions and alarms.

The answer apparently lies in what comes next.

Russia and the other great powers still retain the veto power in the security council under which atomic and other armaments control must be organized. If any of them use it to prevent establishment of foolproof safeguards, there will be no real progress toward disarmament.

The meaning of the recent concessions in connection with Russia's over-all policy also remains to be seen. Observers are curious over any connection between Molotov's recent moves and the statement by Stalin, just before the assembly convened, that these problems, such as arms inspection, could be worked out. For a time it seemed that Molotov was pursuing his own course without being too much influenced by what Stalin had said. Now, suddenly, he comes around.

He Learned The Hard Way

Portland, Me.—(AP)—A. L. Somers, who sold Portland's recently-installed parking meters, called on City Manager Lyman S. Moore yesterday to find out how they were working out.

He spent nearly an hour listening to Moore laud the meters, but he didn't get the whole story until he left.

On his car, beside a "time expired" meter, was a police traffic ticket.

Blue Plate Special

Chicago.—(AP)—Policeman Phillip Sylvester was just about to start eating in a Loop restaurant last night when a stranger sitting at his table reached over with a fork and speared a hot potato off his plate.

Sylvester suggested he would buy the man a meal if he was hungry, but he ignored the offer and reached again for the policeman's tray of food. This time Sylvester's coffee was dumped.

"I just don't like cops," the intruder told Sylvester.

Sylvester arrested the man, who said he was Raymond C. Chappell, 26, on a charge of disorderly conduct and took him to Central station.

SHOWER COMPLIMENTS RECENT BRIDE

Madames W. E. Flippo, Otis Biele, Russell Johnson, Robert Fry and J. A. Hemphill complimented Mrs. J. W. McKendree on her marriage to Mr. Wright, with a miscellaneous shower Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Flippo.

The bride was attractive in a beige model with gold trim and wore a corsage of white mums as a gift of the bridesmaids.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mrs. Flippo and Mrs. Fry and invited through the dining room, where Mrs. Biele and Mrs. Johnson accepted and arranged the gifts in the dining room table which was draped with a beautiful hand crocheted cloth. Mrs. Russell Johnson presided over the register where each guest made a wish for the bride.

Various games and contests were enjoyed by all. Mrs. Hoy and Mr. Hoy were winners of the "matrimonial quiz" and Mrs. Walter Voelpel "how to preserve a husband". Mrs. Rob Fry gave an interesting article on wedding traditions, after which each guest present wrote her favorite recipe for the bride.

Mrs. McKendree was asked to enter the dining room where a miniature train had been placed on the table loaded with the gifts.

The hostesses served a salad plate to the following: the honorees, Madames Arrell Sams Howard Stranges, Adrian Mann W. Z. Sharpe, Rube McKnight, H. W. Shupe, Bertie Pigue, Beatrice Valentine, Sam Ed Bradley, William Scott, R. B. Allen, John Allard, Clifford Shields, Charles Walker, Earl Collins, Sterling Bennett, J. B. Geranilo Tewel, Harrison, Wallace Shankle, Charles Gregory, Abe Jolley, Simon Holt, Luther Wright, John Reeks, Frances Rudd, Walter Voelpel, Misses Mary Moss Hales, Martha Moore and Myra Searce.

Those not attending who sent gifts were Madames Orville Smith, Robert Burrow, Emma Mann, Edna McKnight, C. W. Burrow, C. B. Roach, T. T. Boaz, R. M. Kirkland, R. L. Crockett, Clifton Hamlet, James Warren and Ellen Norman.

"Angel Street" To Be Presented By Murray Club

Sock and Buskin, dramatics club of Murray State College will present the Victorian thriller,
 "Angel Street", December 5, 6, in the auditorium of the college at 8:15 p. m.

"Angel Street" was written by Patrick Hamilton and first produced in London. Following its success there it was produced in this country under the sponsorship of various university and semi-professional groups. It was later seen on the road and was also the basis for the motion picture "Gaslight."

Don Davis, East Liverpool,
 Ohio, is in the role of Mr. Man-ningham, a patient-appearing husband but in reality a cold-blooded murderer who is trying to drive his wife insane in order to carry on his search for priceless gems that he believes to be hidden in the neighborhood.

In Kentucky

One-Sucker Leaf Market Will Declare A Holiday

Russellville, Ky., Dec. 5—(AP)—
 The One-Sucker Tobacco
 Board of Trade decided at a called meeting here today to declare a sales holiday on the one-sucker markets here, at Franklin, Ky., and Westmoreland, Tenn., because of conditions resulting from the coal strike.

The holiday will become effective as soon as floors of warehouses that have not held a sale are cleared.

Louisville UMW Won't Comment About Fines

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 5—(AP)— District United Mine Workers officials today would make no comment regarding the action of a Federal judge in Washington yesterday in fining the union and its president, John L.
 Lewis, in a contempt of court action as a result of the coal strike.

Many of the miners who walked out of the pits two weeks ago had not heard of the fine last night and those who had also would make no comment.

Washington Letter

By Jane Eads
 Washington (AP)— Washington is voteless but nevertheless will be able to cast ballots right along now—for music, the kind of music it wishes its own National Symphony Orchestra to play.

The Young Peoples League, formed several months ago with the cooperation of Dr. Hans Knudsen, director of the Symphony is launching what is called "The Symphony Hit Parade."

This series of concerts will be given at Constitution Hall. The orchestra will present compositions chosen by popular ballot. Jane Lingo, young friend of Margaret Truman, is a leading spirit in the movement.

Beginning immediately, a continuous poll will be taken. Thousands of ballots have been printed for the purpose. These will be distributed throughout the city in government departments and agencies, recording newspaper counters, radio stations and elsewhere.

The Young Peoples League
 will scatter the ballots around and pick them up and count them. At least three, and possibly four, works on each program will be the public's choice.

P. Hayes, general manager of the National Symphony Orchestra, says so many requests for Gershwin's music are expected that the orchestra is already concentrating on one entire Gershwin program, for Dec. 19.

"It has been interesting to watch over the past few years the development of more and more interest in good music, based on the invasion of this field by the boys of Tin Pan Alley," says Mr. Hayes.

Popularizing of the classics by Tin Pan Alley he believes is a good thing in the long run.

"If someone who has never paid attention to good music and has never gone to a concert suddenly finds himself whistling music by Rachmaninoff, Tchaikovsky, Chopin, or Grieg in a slightly different tempo from the original and under the label of 'Full Moon and Empty Arms' and so on, then he is intrigued, or inspired to go and hear these composers in the original."

Thus Mr. Hayes believes that the "idea and plan of a Symphony Hit Parade is 'tailor-made' for this fellow."

Mrs. Leslie Douglas, daughter of Henry Wallace, former Secretary of Commerce, is also a member of the Young Peoples League.

She says she is going to cast a ballot for two herself. She says she's very fond of Beethoven and would like to hear the orchestra play his "Emperor" piano concerto.

Another active member in the movement is pretty little Mrs.
 Lucille Butler. She works in the Bureau of Internal Revenue and is president of the Government Girls' Club.

Press Group Gives Reasons For Endorsing Waterfield

Statement By The West Kentucky Press Association adopted at a Meeting in Paducah, Ky., Nov. 30, 1946.

As members of the West Kentucky Press Association who have known him over a period of many years, we feel that we are in a position to recommend Harry Lee Waterfield for consideration by the people of Kentucky for the high position of Governor.

You can best judge the type of public official a man will make by the kind of man he has been in his own profession or business, we believe. The record that Harry Lee Waterfield has made in this respect would stand up well under any degree of the light of publicity or investigation, for, while he has taken a keen interest in public affairs and has served the people of his own district and of the state well as a member of the Kentucky General Assembly, he has been first of all, a newspaperman, and a successful one.

His love for newspaper work began as a student at Murray State College, when he was active on the student paper. Following graduation, he went immediately into the field as a country editor. He went to the Weekly Advance, at LaCenter, and then, in 1934, he became the editor of the Hickman County Gazette at Clinton. Through his energy and initiative, he became the owner of that paper. He broadened his interests and published newspapers at Bardwell and Arlington, in Carlisle county. Within the last year he has entered the daily field by purchasing the Fulton Daily Leader at Fulton, but also continues as the publisher of the Hickman County Gazette.

His success as a newspaperman is evidence of his business ability, something highly essential as a qualification for governor of this great state. And he has not limited his business abilities to the newspaper field. He purchased and is now the operator of a highly successful farm in Hickman county, and is a partner in another business enterprise in Clinton.

Yet he has not permitted such attention to the building of a success in business to cause him to lose sight of his obligations as a citizen. His keen interest in serving the public caused him to become a candidate for the state legislature in 1937, and the people of Hickman and Fulton counties elected him as their state representative. That he has satisfied them is evidenced by the fact that he has been continued as their representative since that time.

Harry Lee Waterfield has made an enviable record in the General Assembly. It is a record that testifies to his honesty, to his sincerity, to his devotion to duty and his deep interest in the welfare of the people of Kentucky. His fellow members of the House of Representatives learned that he was a man they could trust, a man who would be fair with them, and so in 1944 they elected him speaker of the House without opposition, and he was re-elected speaker in 1946 without opposition.

As a state legislator he has been progressive, has worked for the advancement of Kentucky. He was the sponsor of many measures designed to advance the interests of the entire state and of the people of the rural areas in particular. He has given special attention to seeking improvements of the rural roads and of education.

Mr. Waterfield has gained a keen insight into the problems of Kentucky government during the years he has served in the state legislature. He knows that if Kentucky is to take its rightful place among the states of the nation, our own state government must play an important part, and as governor, we are confident he would be an aggressive champion of a modern and progressive state government for Kentucky.

For these and many other reasons, we believe Harry Lee Waterfield would make an outstanding governor of Kentucky.

OPENING DAY

Saturday, December 7th

We are pleased to announce that beginning Saturday, December 7th, we shall be open to serve you.

We want all our friends to come in and see us. Just come by at your convenience for a friendly visit. While you are here take a look at our new stock of home furnishings. In these trying times we have been able to secure many scarce and badly needed articles. These are now on display and for sale. Very soon we shall receive others. In the very near future we hope to have everything for you home—from the mat at the front door to the garbage pail at the back door—with emphasis on fine furnishings for your living room, dining room, bed rooms and kitchen.

We look forward to many years of pleasant relations with our customers here. We give you our promise that we will strive diligently to serve and please you.

Again—Come in and see us on Saturday. We will make you welcome, and we are sure we already have enough furniture in stock to make your visit profitable to you, if you are looking for home furnishings at reasonable prices.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Dec. 5—(AP)—Ever hear of a "formation" in basketball? Well, Loen Ellis, Ingelious Va-paraiso U. coach, plan to spring one on the Garden Court fans against Long Island tonight and while he says he didn't borrow the formation from football, the two are comparable. Ellis diagrams show a one-man "lineup" under the basket, a quarterback in the free-throw circle and two halves and a full outside. . . he doesn't explain how they assume those fixed positions when most basketball systems seem to be grab-the-ball-and-run-like-heck. . . The day after the Pittsburgh Steelers concluded their season, Coach Jack Sutherland had seven scouts aboard trains for various parts of the country looking for big league football players. . . he probably would swap the total find for another year of Bill Dudley's performances.

Trainer On The Track

The most serious casualty of the Auburn-Florida football game last Saturday was Wilbur Russell, the Auburn trainer. Russell leaped from the bench so suddenly when a player was hurt that he pulled a muscle. He had to be helped from the field and given attention instead of helping the player.

It Wouldn't Work

Ernie Lanigan, the bigball historian, suggests an all-time ball team composed of former coal miners and nominees. Hughes Jennings and Mordecai Brown to start. . . but wouldn't they strike out too often?

SEC Teams In 2nd Spot Race

All Concede Kentucky Wildcats First Place; League Is Stronger

Atlanta, Dec. 4—(AP)—Southern conference basketball teams, Kentucky excepted, are getting set for their annual scramble for second place.

First place, as usual, is being reserved for the Wildcats, who have won the title so many times that most clubs feel like they have won it if they themselves finish in the runnerup position.

During the 14 year-old history of the conference, Kentucky has won eight of 13 tournaments, the last three in a row, and in 1935 claimed half the title with LSU. No tournament was held that year and the Wildcats were undefeated in 11 league games while LSU won 12 without a setback. In the last eight years, Kentucky has won the tournament six times and lost to Tennessee in the finale the two other years, each time by three points.

Generally, the conference will be stronger than last year with many prewar stars returning to action. Here again the Wildcats seem to have an edge. For one thing, they've got a pair of centers, Bob Bramham and Alex Groza, back from the wars who could make any team in the league with ease.

Bramham Jars Baseball Men On Gambling

Says Players Are Guilty Of Betting, Throwing Games

MAJORS MEET TODAY

Los Angeles, Dec. 5—(AP)—Major League baseball executives swung into session today as minor circles still buzzed over outgoing President W. G. Bramham's parting blast at gambling in the national pastime.

Both American and National League representatives opened confabs expected to cover such matters as 1947 playing schedules, possible action to curb player raids by the Mexican League, a player's pension plan, and the Major-Minor League agreement. The smaller leagues grouped in the national baseball association prepared to elect a successor to Bramham, whose final report yesterday struck savagely at the general decadence in baseball.

George Trautman, vice president of the Detroit Tigers and former American Association head, reportedly held the inside track for the Minor Czar post, but support was seen growing for President Billy Evans of the Southern Association.

Bramham, whose retirement after 16 years was officially voted by 42 Minor League leaders, was named life time consultant to the incoming president at $10,000 yearly salary.

Bramham, Durham, N. C., former judge, leveled charges that: For the first time since the so-called Black Sox scandal, there has been strong circumstantial evidence this past season of players throwing games, betting against their own clubs (and) being in collusion with gamblers and bookmakers.

Investigators hired by disgruntled club owners, Bramham declared, reported gamblers were so thick in some parks they blocked aisles and "got out their odds like auctioneers." Despite preventive measures, the situation has grown worse, he said. The major circuit bosses were believed ready to draw up customary 154 game schedules, following an informal mail vote indicating a swing away from the 136-game card tentatively approved earlier.

SFHS Splits With Hornbeak

Visiting Girls Win By 35-28; South Fulton's Boys In Front 25-22

Hornbeak's undefeated girls basketball team maintained the spotlight record here Tuesday night at the expense of the South Fulton girls. The visitors won 35-28.

South Fulton boys beat the Hornbeak five 25-22 in the second game of the evening.

Both South Fulton teams won over Oblon in their first contests this year. Their next games will be at Dixie high school December 6.

BROADWAY

By Jack O'Brian

New York—(AP)—The other evening some really authentic culture was presented at the International Theater. It drew a crowd of well behaved stage zealots who put to shame the flid characters who turned the premiere a few nights before of Noel Coward's "Present Laughter" into a silly shambles of nonsense.

The first opening was the initial program of the new American Repertory Theater, Inc., a firm whose initials read "ART," and whose ambitions are exactly that. The first drama was "Henry VIII," and the troupe plans to swing into a schedule which also includes Ibsen, Shaw, Sheridan, Barrie and a new American play the directors haven't yet decided upon.

The International Theater is a little off Broadway's beaten path, or at least at the northernmost edge, for it is located at Columbus Circle, and is by way of getting a reputation for cultural cutups.

Last year Mike Todd, an unlikely candidate as a producer of Shakespeare, presented Maurice Evans in a fine production of "Hamlet." The ART's decision to follow Mike's lead into this somewhat removed show place proves that the management, as had Mike, has a deep confidence in the loyalty of the fans. It is a fact on Broadway that plays which prosper most are the ones located in the center of the bright lights. The Winter Garden, now dedicated to the movies, was once considered to be the proud possessor of the biggest "walk-by" business in town. This meant it could gather in on almost any evening enough casual theater goers to make a full house, even toward the end of a Broadway run.

If the fans will go to Columbus Circle, they'll find a fine troupe working there. It brought out a first night mob of serious stage admirers, not the least well known among them being that famous believer in things Shakespearean, Gene Tunney.

To get back to the Noel Coward premiere, George Jean Nathan aimed a rather stiff journalistic uppercut at the latest Coward frippery.

"Present Laughter," according to Nathan, "grimly adheres to his established pattern, which consists of blowing soap bubbles through an upturned nose."

"This is quite a trick, no one will deny," adds the veteran aisle seat occupant, "particularly no one who is likely to mistake an upturned nose for an upturned mind and a studiously acquired attitude for a born superior air."

Girls In Revue

Chicago, Dec. 5—(AP)—Forty-four 4-H club girls winners in state competition, appeared in a dress revue today at the club's national dressmaking contest, one of the event's at the 25th anniversary congress.

Representing Kentucky was Nancy Heid, 17, of LeGrange. The girls, ranging in age from 15 to 20 years, modelled their own dress creations, which ranged in total costs from $2 to $77.95.

Sign Men Can't Be Sentimental

When They're Through With J. Russell And V. Leigh, They Must Go

By Saul Pett

New York—(AP)—Outside they were curving up 30 feet of Jane Russell and loading it into a truck.

Inside, gray-haired, practical minded Jacob Starr observed: "In my business, you can't be sentimental. When we're through with 'em, we just throw 'em away."

Starr's business is signs. He is secretary of the Artcraft Strauss Sign Corp., which claims to be the birthplace and graveyard for 90 percent of the spectacular outdoor display signs blinking on Broadway—the ones that make the tourists stare.

Elsewhere in the firm's plant at 57th St., facing the Hudson river, were the grotesque remains of a 140-foot picture of Vivien Leigh as Cleopatra, a yard-wide head of Paul White-man, man-sized letters and other ghosts of the White Way's synthetic glamor, all awaiting the scrap heap.

Little Worth Saving
If you've got the room, here's the place to get huge pictures of your favorite movie star for nothing. As Starr explained, it costs more to remake an old sign than to build a new one. About all that's saved is some wiring, sockets and other metal.

Starr's firm designs, manufactures, operates, sells and rents signs that idea men think up. Rentals range from $5,000 to $15,000 a month. The company's biggest project is 75 by 250 feet, with one letter 40 feet high.

The most complex and most expensive sign in the Strauss stable hangs over the Palace theater on Broadway. It's worth a quarter of a million, uses 27,000 bulbs in four colors and can be changed completely every 20 seconds. The light bill for this averages about $500 a month.

The company's biggest new project destined for Broadway is a girl made out of plexiglass. She will stand four stories high and display a leg two and a half stories long. The lady will advertise slips.

The Dominican Republic's University of Santo Domingo was authorized by Papal Bull in 1538 and was established by the Dominican Order of Predicadores.
