A GREAT SURGEON.

Grain of Carl Thierach—Took Root Interest in His Patients.

Thierach is reported to have said of himself that he was really an anatomist gone astray. In the interest of suffering humanity, however, it was surely well that he turned from anatomy to surgery, for he was a surgeon by the grace of God. He possessed not only the necessary firmness of eye and hand, but also a sovereign calmness that even in the most trying situations never failed him. Above all the most beautiful quality that a great physician can have was his, he was possessed of delicate sensibilities and was thoroughly humane in his disposition. The last quality was perhaps the most prominent of Thierach's many virtues, yet it was this one he endeavored most carefully to conceal. He burdened his heart with every one of his seriously sick patients; in critical cases he hurried to the hospital at the most unusual times, and if, contrary to his expectations, a serious operation resulted unsuccessfully, it was often days, and even weeks, as Landerer tells us, before he could reconcile himself to the result. He would criticize himself severely in order to determine whether he had not some mistake or neglect with which to reproach himself. Thierach's favorite resort was the

Col. Baran was just sick enough to get a furlough in time to get his vote in.

A short gun isn't an argument, but there is no doubt of its convincing qualities.

What will the Bryans do in 1900? There is no popular thunder left for them to snarl.

Ex-Gov. Altgeld would get rid of his money, his talk about the poor being walked over by the rich would be more seriously received.

The European politicians are already hunting a new wife for the emperor of Austria, and report says they may go to Spain after her.

The Kaiser is displeased because his Jerusalem tour did not make as much of a stir in the world as he expected. He probably did not get the right man for press agent.

Nebaska has gone republican! No wonder Bryan couldn't talk at St. Louis. He had already talked too much, and didn't want to increase the republican majorities.

Spain is only anxious to let herself down easy. It was announced in Madrid, several days ago, that the demands of the United States would be agreed to, but under protest.

An epidemic of small pox has been raging for three years in the Holguin district in Cuba, there being at present more than 5,000 cases. Gen. Wood is taking steps to root it out.

The epidemic among rich women of making donations to educational institutions is one with which all of our millionaires might be inoculated with benefit to themselves and to the country.

He "don't say a word," undoubtedly he must have heard. Yes, Wheeler was elected, but don't worry, you helped cause it, but didn't intend to. We all make mistakes sometimes.

France could not be coaxed, even by the promise of Russian backing, to do so foolish a thing as to fight England. France has trouble enough at home without going abroad after any.

The roosters were gotten out, but their crowing was exceedingly limited. The eagle is safely perched and views the situation with the assured satisfaction of not leaving a grass spot of the barn yard fowl in 1900.

The gentlemen who are saying that England is preparing for war as to be ready to help the United States fight for the Philippines should tell an anxious people who is to fight on the other side; Spain cannot.

Notwithstanding repeated warnings of those on the ground, it looks as though there would be an exodus of young men without means from the United States to Porto Rico and Cuba this winter. Better stay at home, boys.

There seems to be something at the bottom of the sea that especially attracts Spanish warships. We couldn't get the Maria Teresa to New York after he had raised her, although she was manned by a good American crew.

Mr. Raskin is a nice gentleman, a good speaker and an excellent campaigner, and really made as good a race as any man could have done, weighted down with popular dogmas as he was. The latch string is on the outside, and the light is still burning.

On every question of importance that has been before the public since its organization the republican party has advocated the side that stood for the betterment of the country, and consequently of the people at large, and it will continue to occupy the same position.

The Havana editor, who charged, in a violent attack upon the United States, that this country was "governed by rum and ignorance," would put in his time to better advantage if he would try to discover some method of applying a little of the same sort of "rum and ignorance" to the government of Spain.

Those European papers that speak about "other powers seeking a share of spoil in the Philippines" must be going to demand for all the Philippine islands a share. It is not. We are going to have those islands, and say "other powers" which attempt to interfere will have to fight the United States, and that is something that none of the powers want to do. Our gunners about too straight.

General Perez, who commands some Cuban insurgents in the Nautico district, was informed by General Wood, United States commander of the district, that if he allowed the massacre of death imposed by an insurgent court martial upon an insurgent, to be carried out, he and the members of the Brig party would be hanged, as quick as the words could

Three Tough Men Fined for Having a Good Time With a Colored Driver.

Pinkey Childers, a volunteer in the army who claims to be off on a furlough, was arrested in the police court this morning on a charge of slapping a boy named Donn. Two witnesses swore that the boy struck Childers on the head with a rock, and that the latter turned around and slapped the boy in the mouth. Childers swore he didn't; that the boy threw a second rock which bounced back and hit him in the mouth. He then introduced two witnesses in his own behalf, and there was considerable amusement when both of the witnesses swore that he did strike the boy in the mouth. Judge Sanders said there was considerable provocation, and that if the boy had been a little larger, he would have dismissed the case. He fined Childers one cent and costs.

George Augustus, George Berger and John Mix were charged with throwing coal at Bud Dubson, who was driving a coal wagon. The trouble originated over Mix catching the wheels of the darkey's wagon and stopping it as it passed. They all then threw coal at each other, punctuated by a whiskey bottle and shovel. One was hurt, and the young men were fined $1 and cost each.

All Davidson, for being drunk, was fined $1 and costs.

The case against Peyton Harris for slapping his wife was dismissed.

SALE OF PADUCAH R. E. COMPANY STOCK.

On Monday, the 14th day of November, at the Citizens' Savings Bank, corner of Broadway and Third streets, in Paducah, Kentucky, at or about the hour of ten o'clock, a. m. I will sell at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, the following certificates of stock in the Paducah R. E. Company, to-wit: Certificate numbered 15, 37 and 46; the first and second certificates representing FOUR SHARES EACH and the last certificate represents and calls for two shares of stock in said Paducah R. E. Company, of the face value of Five Dollars each making a total of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

The certificates will be offered separately and then as a whole, and the offer for same representing the greatest sum or number of dollars will be accepted. Said three certificates of stock, representing ten shares, were pledged by the late T. H. Puryear to secure the payment of a certain note for five thousand dollars, which note is now past due. Said certificates are dated as follows: No. 15, February 8th, 1898; No. 37, December 7th, 1892; and No. 46, May 31st, 1893, respectively, and will be transferred on the books of said Paducah R. E. Company, and delivered to the purchaser or purchasers; and this sale is by virtue of a judgment and order of the McCracken Circuit Court, in case of B. H. Scott, administrator, against E. A. Puryear, et al.

If you want to get even with a man, give his daughter a kodak. She will love you for it, and it will break her father up. It costs as much to run a kodak as to keep a horse, or better on the road. The amounts are small, but they are very numerous. Before a girl has learned enough to take and develop a single picture, her father will have paid out a sum sufficient to have paid for photography by a professional of the entire family, the cow and dog included. ## WAYS OF WOODPECKERS.

One of the Most Easily Distinguished Groups of Birds.

Woodpeckers as a class form one of the most striking and easily distinguished groups of birds, the entire family conforming to a certain type to a remarkable degree. Probably each of the 300 species could be described as a vigorous, muscular, heavily bodied bird, with long wings, a fitting plumage, and a strong, sickle-shaped beak. Their legs and feet, like those of the parrots, etc., etc., formerly placed in the same order, are short and stout, and the outer toe turned backward, parallel with the hind toe as an aid in climbing. In certain species, however, the outer toe is entirely wanting.

Our peculiar method of gaining food has developed a tongue perfectly adapted to their requirements. It is pointed and barbed at the tip for securing the larger insects, and is constantly coated with a mucous substance to which the smaller insects adhere. At the back of the mouth it divides, and passing each side of the neck at the base of the skull is carried up over the top of the head, where the two portions join and are inserted in the right nostril. In the common hairy woodpecker, and possibly in some others, it curves downward, and is a sound about the bony case which protects the right eye, the latter projecting more than the left for its accommodation. This double lower enables the bird to shoot forward and contract the barbed tip with wonderful velocity, while the mucus is applied each time from two large glands at each side of the throat.—W. E. Cram, in Appleton's Popular Science Monthly

The Northwest Passage

Efforts were made to discover the Northwest passage by early navigators for the purpose of opening up a short route between Europe and Asia. By looking at a map of the world you can easily understand the advantage of such a route. Really there is such a route, but, so far as commerce is concerned, it is useless, because a passage through it might consume years, on account of the dangers and stoppage in that region of perpetual ice. The only advantage gained from the numerous explorations was a knowledge of the animal and vegetable life, the topography and electrical conditions of the polar regions.—Golden Days.

Things That Cost Little

Everything useful or necessary is cheapest; making is the most wholesome exercise, water the best drink, and plain food the most nourishing and healthy diet—even knowledge, the most useful is the least acquired.
