Golf Contest Winners Are Announced

Approximately 180 people took part in the Calvert City Lions Club Hole-In-One Contest over the July 4 weekend. The contest was held at the Kentucky Dam Village Driving Range on Highway 62.

Although there were some shots within 12 inches of the hole, no one made a hole-in-one. There were two $10 and $5 prizes given each day for the ball closest to the hole and the second closest ball to the hole.

Daily prize winners were John Downs of Calvert City and Harold Hall of Calvert City on Saturday; James Balze of Benton and Bill Franks of Gilbertsville on Sunday; and Louise Hall of Gilbertsville and Dwight Robb of Calvert City on Monday.

Harold Hall was a repeat winner from last year's contest. Proceeds from the event were estimated at $200. This money will be used toward the three scholarships given each year to North Marshall High School graduates planning to enter the fields of education, business and science.

Another land suit, that against Elmer Stokes, was settled out of court. The suits were brought to get right-of-way for Highway 95, on Route 5.

1921 Class of Benton High School in Reunion

The 1921 graduating class of Benton High School held its fifth reunion last Saturday, July 2, at the school building.

In the absence of the president, August Hayden opened the morning session. Mrs. Iva Peters, secretary, read the minutes of the last reunion meeting and letters from absent members.

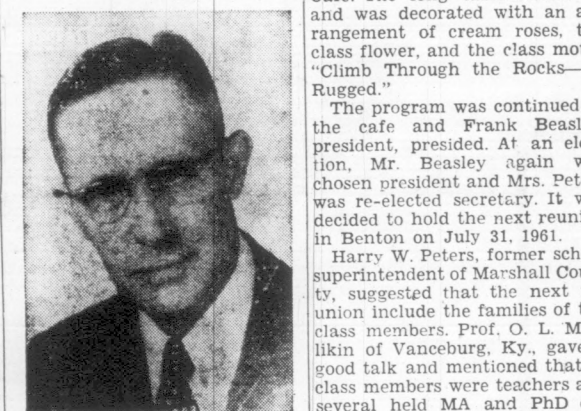

At noon, class members and visitors were served lunch family style at Mrs. Cobb's Chevrolet Cafe. The long table seated 25 and was decorated with an arrangement of cream roses, the class flower, and the class motto "Climb Through the Rocks—Be Rugged."

The program was continued at the cafe and Frank Beasley, president, presided. At an election, Mr. Beasley again was chosen president and Mrs. Peters was re-elected secretary. It was decided to hold the next reunion in Benton on July 31, 1961.

Harry W. Peters, former school superintendent of Marshall County, suggested that the next reunion include the families of the class members. Prof. O. L. Mullikin of Vanceburg, Ky., gave a good talk and mentioned that 12 class members were teachers and several held MA and PhD degrees.

Shots Fired Into Station WCBL

Radio Station WCBL in Benton was punctured with bullets Wednesday night in a new wave of vandalism in Marshall County.

Front plate glass windows at WCBL were broken by two of about a dozen shots fired into the station. Shelby McCallum, owner, said whoever did the shooting was "firing at the vital parts."

Benton city police and Sheriff George Little were investigating the shooting this Thursday morning. No bullets had been found, however, and officers did not know what type of firearms was used in the shooting.

Sheriff Little said he thought the act was "pure vandalism." The vandals did not break into the radio station.

Vandals also stole a truck at Fairdealing belonging to the operator of the Benton Standard Station, 11th and Main. The truck was driven off a cliff and wrecked.

Brown's Grocery, in the Fairdealing section, also was struck by vandals Wednesday night. The grocery was broken into and an undetermined amount of merchandise taken.

Dale Leneave Is Injured In Fatal Wreck

Dale Leneave of Benton suffered a badly bruised left leg in a highway accident last Friday that proved fatal to Rezie Johnson, 51, of Tiline, in Livingston County.

Robert Leneave, who was riding with his father in a Leneave Gulf Service wrecker, received bruises in the accident, which happened on Highway 453 a half mile south of Grand Rivers.

The Leneaves had been on a service call to the Presbyterian Retreat in Livingston County, where they pulled a minister's car from a mudhole. On the way home, the wrecker hit a bad place in the highway and went out of control.

The right fender of the wrecker struck Johnson, who was painting a highway guard rail and knocked him about 20 feet down a culvert. The wrecker plunged on down an embankment and struck a big white oak tree. Dale was thrown from the wrecker and Robert was flattened out in the wrecker seat.

A life ambulance happened by and took Johnson to Lourdes Hospital in Paducah, where he died a few hours later. He was buried Sunday in Iuka Cemetery.

Dale Leneave, who was driving the wrecker, has been cited on a charge of reckless driving.

West Kentucky Toll Road Plans Started

FRANKFORT—Consulting engineers were hired by the State Tuesday to begin at once planning and designing a four-lane 120-mile toll road from near Elizabethtown to near Princeton.

Highway Commissioner Earle C. Clements said the engineering phase of the work should be completed by early next spring in time for taking bids on initial construction by April 1, 1961.

Approximately two years will be required to complete the limited-access route, meaning that it should be open to traffic during 1963 at the latest.

Clements said the turnpike will be constructed in sections to make way for the fastest possible completion.

The consultants will decide a definite routing, but Clements outlined a "corridor" that indicates generally the area to be served.

It will leave the present Kentucky Turnpike either to the north or to the south of Elizabethtown and will proceed on a line toward Leitchfield, Central City, and Madisonville. Clements said it could go on either side of those three cities.

"Generally," he explained, "it will serve the area now served by U. S. 62 except that it will take a more direct route. It will be 100 per cent new location and new construction."

City Adopts New Budget Of $76,060

Benton City Council, in session Monday night at City Hall, adopted a budget of $76,060 for the new fiscal year that started July 1.

The city's budget for the past year was approximately $68,000. City Council also voted to supply water free of charge to the new swimming pool in City Park. A charge will be made, however, for electricity in operating the pool. City Park Board will be charged for electricity used.

The Council also voted to lay a six-inch water main along the Murray Highway to take care of the property in that area recently annexed to the city.

Worker Believed Drowned In Lake

A Barkley Dam worker, O. K. Bean, 30, who lived in a trailer near Collins & Marshall store at Possum trot, is believed to have drowned July 4 in Kentucky Lake. A boat he had rented from Grand Rivers Boat Dock was found capsized Tuesday morning in the Little Bear Creek area of the lake.

Marshall County Rescue Squad members dragged for the body in vain Tuesday and then gave up the search. They think the body is in the deep part of the lake. Bean, who was from Rockdale, Texas, was a heavy equipment operator at Barkley Dam. He lived alone.

Virgil Wood has been a patient at Lourdes hospital in Paducah since last Friday when he received head and shoulder injuries when a scaffold fell while he was at work at Barkley Dam.

FARMING AROUND

By Mark Welsh

Farm ponds for irrigation, livestock watering or drainage now number in the millions. Many of them are well stocked with fish. In fact, a well-managed pond can produce as much food as good land. A yield of 300 to 400 pounds of fish per acre of pond is not unusual; and getting that much beef per acre is often difficult.

Mark Welsh

Now comes Dr. Cowles of the University of California with the reason why predatory fish strike at a minnow on a hook rather than others swimming about. He says that the predator-prey relationships among fish are of the same pattern exhibited among all types of animals. The predators habitually prey on the sick, weak and abnormal that stray from the healthy in flocks, herds or schools. This wise provision of nature keeps the genetic stock strong by eliminating the weak. When crippled fish were dropped among healthy fish, they were promptly singled out by the predators.

It's the prairie wolf that gets the stray calves and slow sheep; the fox that gets the old rabbits;

Dr. Cowles has explained why fish bite but it's still the fisherman's job to lure them into doing it.

Notice how research has gotten potatoes back in the good graces of the homemaker? She can get them fried, frozen or otherwise prepared in a dozen new ways that take only a few minutes to get ready and serve. Farmers, too, are becoming specialists on potatoes, producing selected varieties for many uses. They use special machinery, soil types, fertilizers and storage methods. A new soil-applied insecticide, Thimet, has practically taken care of insect problems all season long in important potato growing areas.

(Editors Note: Dr. Mark Welsh is a former university instructor and state livestock sanitary service director who has spent a lifetime in agriculture. He now is agricultural consultant to American Cyanamid Company.)

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Gammell of Somerville, Tenn., visited the family of his brother, J. D. Gammell in Benton during the Fourth of July weekend.

Bluegill Supplies Good Hot Weather Fishing

During hot weather when most fish are lazy, the bluegill is active and gets the attention of many midsummer fishermen in Kentucky.

The bluegill, or bream, is caught from all types of water and in all sections of the state—rivers and creeks, farm ponds, major lakes.

As he spawns throughout the summer, the bluegill is a battler. When he is on the spawning bed, he is a voracious fellow and will hit hard and often. When the angler locates a bed, he may pull a sackful of blue gill from this one spot.

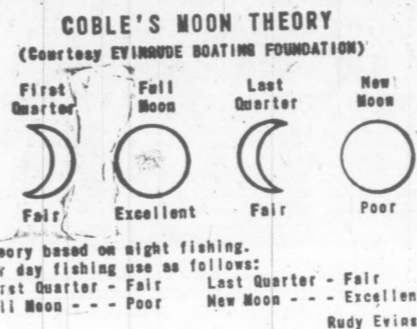

Several methods of fishing hook the bluegill. The flyrodder can find no better spot than casting flies, just after sunrise or at sunset, for this fish. He strikes with vengeance, but his fight is brief, after which he may be glided safely in.

The cane pole fisherman uses a long pole and a very light line attached to the very tip. The smaller the hook the better and the best bait is the red worm, but crawfish tails and peeled shrimp are palatable to the bluegill. A small cork is used and the very smallest sinker. A couple of hooks may be used.

Also rods and reels and spinning outfits obtain big catches of this fish. The lighter the tackle, the more fight the bluegill will offer. Avoid slashing the water too much to prevent scaring the bluegill away; move lures slowly.

The bluegill is lots of fun and is good to eat.

Stripes are biting extra well now, too, at Kentucky Lake. Among the big catches lately by Charles Copeland and Hugh local folks fishing at Fisherman's Carraway. Did they have fun!

Social Justice

Lesson for July 10, 1969

THE CHRISTIAN religion is said to be a religion of love. It is love that makes it beautiful and gives it meaning. As the beauty and meaning of the human race is built on the human condition of the alphabet, just as a beauty and security of a nation go down to the common people, so a love for a nation is built on the foundation of justice. Without justice, a nation is sloppy and its identity, it is double-talk.

Social Justice. The prophets, whose writings are part of the Christian Bible, were interested in social justice. They were interested because God is interested. People who think that social justice is no affair of theirs, that it is not their business, are really not believing in the prophets, or really don't believe in justice. Let us get straight what justice is. It is not a word with socialism, or with socialism as written up for the socialists. It is different from socialism or legal justice. (There is, of course, should also be a term of Christians.) An example of political justice would be giving major parties equal time on the radio and TV. An example of legal justice would be getting a fair price for land the government has taken for a highway. Social justice is broader and more basic than that. In a word, it is fair treatment of all people. It is not mean treating everybody alike, because people are not always the same. It does mean giving everybody their share, "an honest deal," it does not handicapping people for no reason that make no difference. It means giving every one a chance to develop all he's got.

In the time of the prophet Amos, people who needed social justice and were not getting it were poor. He speaks of them, and the Israelites' mistreatment of the poor and over. They were mistreated out of justice in the courts, because they could not afford to pay the handsome bribes. The poor people gave, they were in the marketplace because the merchants used dishonest weights and measures. They had no one to speak for them, but the God who spoke through the prophets. Social justice now also is often called by the poor: Discrimination. A fancy word for unfairness. It is noticed also against racism—Negroes, Puerto Ricans, and others. But the poor, the races, always need help. For people housing the taxpayers' money. They are a way of helping people live in humanly decent surroundings. There is a city which the capital of one of the states can be seen by any visitor to the city. The city has had a slum clearance authorized now for some years, but they are doing little to move a family out of the slum house. But most of the people who live in that particular slum can't afford to move. So there it is.

Amos told his people that unless they paid more attention to the poor, the bottom layers of society, the whole country would only suffer—it would be destroyed. Social injustice is always destructive. Consider only one example. Here in America, educated leadership—doctors, teachers, men of trained minds and skills. One of the reasons we do not get enough of them (as studies have demonstrated) many capable young people do not have the money for education. Some who have the money never show it, for the simple reason that their homework in high schools has to be done in crowded, leaky, insanitary "bunkers" where you could hardly see a prize pig, let alone a prize person. Every time we in America, for reasons of poverty, or race or any other reason, deny a good education to young people who could help us, we are weakening our country by just that much.

Social Justice

Lesson for July 10, 1960

THE CHRISTIAN religion is said to be a religion of love, and it is. It is love that makes it beautiful and gives it meaning. But as the beauty and meaning of nature is built on the humble foundation of the alphabet, just as beauty and security of a house go down to unseen foundations, so love is a standing firm on the foundation of justice. Without it, it is sloppy sentimentality, it is double-talk, it is evil.

Justice, whose writings are part of the Christian Bible, interested in social justice, interested because God interested. People who think social justice is no affair of God at all, either haven't read prophets, or really don't believe. Let us get straight about "social justice" in its nothingness with socialism, or with social as written up for the sociologists. It is different from social or legal justice. (These of course, should also be terms of Christians.) An example of political justice would be major parties equal time on radio and TV. An example of legal justice would be getting a fair price for land the government has taken for a highway. Social justice is broader and basic than that. In a word, it is fair treatment all around. It does not mean treating everybody alike, because people's needs are always different. It does mean giving everybody a fair shake, an honest deal; it filled with not handicapping people for "foam" that make no difference. $1.89 value giving every one a chance to develop all he's got.

At the time of the prophet Amos, people who needed social justice were not getting it. They were poor. He speaks of them, and the Israelites' mistreatment of them, and over. They were out of justice in the courts, they could not afford to the handsome bribes that people gave. They were in the marketplace being treated by the merchants as dirt weights and measures. They were one to speak for them—no but the God who spoke through the prophets.

Social justice now also is often attacked by the poor. Discrimination, ANKLEBANDY word for unfairness—is noticed also against racial lines—Negroes, Puerto Ricans, and others. But the poor, in fact, always need help. For people, housing projects are not of wasting the taxpayers' money. They are a way of helping live in humanly decent surroundings. There is a city which is capital of one of the states, Union. In it there is a slum can be seen by any visitor to the city. The city has had a slum since authorized now for some time but they are doing little about it. Why? It is against the law to move a family out of the rotten tenement except into a house. But most of the who live in that particular slum can't afford to move. So there it is.

People of injustice told his people that unless they paid more attention to the needs of the bottom layers of the whole country would suffer—it would be disastrous. Social justice is always constructive. Consider only one example. Here in America, we have educated leadership—idealists, statesmen, men of trained thought, and skills. One of the reasons we do not get enough of them is that we do not get enough of them (as studies have demonstrated) many capable young people do not have the money for education. Some who have the money never show it, for the reason that their homework in schools has to be done in a leaky, insanitary place where you could hardly find a price tag, let alone a price tag. In case after case, while relieving pain, social justice, relieving pain, social justice, relieving pain. Most of all—justice was so thorough in its nature that it has caused a revolution. The concept is a new concept. (The Bible says—discovery of a world-famous research. This substance is now available in a convenient form. Prepared by Dr. E. A. All drug stores—money back guarantee.

Uncle Ned . . . From Dogtown

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I was reading where it took Jefferson 18 days to write the Declaration of Independence. But in them days we had statesmen that was thinking of the next generation. Today we got mostly politicians that is thinking about the next election and voters that is thinking about what their old lady is going to have for supper.

I see where the American Institute of Bakers has recommended that the hole in the doughnut be reduced from 7-8 of an inch to 3-3 of an inch. That's the first break the eating public has got in several years. And it's worthy of note that it didn't come from the Congress.

And I was looking at some pictures in one of them slick magazines showing night gowns that the women can use the next day for street clothes. You wear 'em to bed at night and the next day wear 'em to the grocery store. That might be alright for them city women, but if my old lady would ever wear that contraption she calls a night gown to the grocery store they'd either lock her up or lock up the grocery store. Maybe both.

While it ain't world-shaking news, since I'm mentioning my old lady, I might report that her and them wimmen in her circle at the church is having another squabble. Every since I've knowned that bunch they've fought among themselves six days a week and praised the Lord together on Sunday. This time it's over some of 'em wanting to put a kitchen in the church basement and some being again it. I don't know which side my old lady is on and I shore ain't gitting her started by asking her. But from what I hear tell, a heap of churches has now got kitchens. Maybe that's the reason I ain't heard in the last few years that old saying "pore as a church mouse," with all them kitchens, I reckon a church mouse is now as fat and sassy as the rest of 'em.

On the international front, I see where a Russian in East Germany claims that Russia invented the steam engine. Sounds reasonable. I was brung up to believe Fulton invented it, but the Russians shore invented hot air, and steam comes from hot air. From that point it would be easy to hook a engine to it. Any day now, them Russians is going to invent a beer that foams from the bottom.

I see where the Kremlin is sending out instructions to teach public speakers in some of their slave countries how to pronounce Khrushchev's name with just the right accent and reverence. I don't imagine ole Khrushchev will ever hang nobody for mispronouncing his name so long as the speaker bends his knee and bows low enough when he says it.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ned

WOODSON CROSS
News of last week for Kentuckians was the announcement in Frankfort that a new road, on which bids were asked next spring, will be the first real super-highway in the area. Nearest thing to a highway we now have in Kentucky is the four-lane road from Hopkinsville to Paducah.
Kentucky toll road, one announced earlier for East Kentucky, will be a metropolitan Louisville area. Nearest thing to a toll road also will make more accessible to tourists and dollars in the economic future of the state.
Governor Combs does nothing to build these two highways in West and Kentucky, his administration have been worthwhile. He has a far-reaching plan for poor highways. He does not like to travel on dangerous roads.

SHOW of this week — on TV, radio, stage or in Los Angeles — was the Democratic convention. That is something that everybody can participate in if merely by voting. It has broad appeal. The Democratic convention audience must have been in the many millions.

television people did a great job of making a rather spectacle into an interesting and colorful show.
VISION, with its nationwide audience, also can make an unknown person into a convention keynote. Sen. Church of Idaho, for instance, was not widely known before the convention. And his well-delivered oration was a single emotion, he was a national figure. All of television, a politician drive for years to gain fame and publicity suffer for his name and face familiar in millions of homes. With TV's help, he can become a household name in a matter of days.

AMERICAN people, television's efforts, also bring "for sure" that politicians are "rigged." They are becoming more and more of the long-established fact that they have little to say who is to be a candidate — professional politicians are candidates with the course, that they will be a winner and reap the rewards.
winner of a political race, is not necessarily the capable man, any more winner of a horse race is a horse.
The senators and congressmen criticized TV and radio shows, will have to get political conventions "rigged" as a gambling blackjack game.

LAUGH—Six-year-old explained to his parents poor grades at school due to the fact that he "see the black (green)." Suspecting parents took to an eye specialist, who gave exhaustive tests and find anything wrong in his eyes.
asked the doctor of "can't you see the eye," said Johnny, "a big in front of me." Apparently had "rigged" show.

THOUGHT—A lot of already are working a week, although it takes six or six days to do it.
