Letcher Schools Open As Teachers Walk Out

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer

Teachers set up picket lines in Letcher County today but all 17 schools in the county opened anyway, Jeff Mays, deputy superintendent of the system, reported.

Mays said many of the school system's teachers were walking picket lines in front of schools this morning but he said some teachers crossed the lines. He said it was not known immediately how many teachers participated in the strike.

"We are holding school," Mays said. "We have some schools that haven't got very many teachers, but we're holding school. A lot of teachers are absent this morning."

"Some teachers are on the picket line, and some teachers I think just didn't show up today," Mays said.

Mays said it was not known immediately if the teachers' strike had affected attendance on the opening day of school in Letcher County.

The Letcher County Teachers Organization, the bargaining agent for the teachers, had threatened to strike to obtain a contract with the eastern Kentucky system.

Nearly 100 teachers and parents picketed a teachers' conference Monday at West Whitesburg Elementary School, but county school Supt. Kendall Boggs said more teachers attended the meeting.

Schools were also picketed Monday by teachers seeking collective bargaining rights in Muhlenberg County in western Kentucky.

There are 252 teachers and 17 schools in the Letcher County system, Boggs said in a telephone interview. He said 120 teachers attended the conference Monday.

"I would think they would report to the classrooms tomorrow and I would think some of the others that were not at the meeting would report," the superintendent said. "We're expecting teachers enough to operate most of the schools."

The Letcher County Teachers Organization said two-thirds "of the approximately 235 teachers in Letcher County" stayed away from the teachers conference. Atwell Turner, president of the organization, predicted that teachers who didn't attend the meeting would support a strike to win a contract.

"We feel we have won the battle up to this point," Turner said. "We refuse to work without a negotiated contract."

The board and the teachers in Letcher County have negotiated contracts for the past six years, but the board cut off negotiations for the 1976-77 school year July 13.

"There was an impasse . . . the board's position was that they were never able to reach agreement to where they could sign a contract without yielding to the demands of the teachers for higher salaries, shorter working hours and other demands that related to control of policies for operation of the school."

Local Red Cross Volunteers To Meet On Monday

The uniformed Red Cross Volunteers who have had a brief vacation during the month of August will meet Monday, August 30, to plan their next year's duties, according to Kathryn Glover, Chairman of Volunteers.

This is also the time in which new Volunteers will be recruited and trained. Acceptance of a new volunteer with the American Red Cross carries with it the obligation to see that the volunteer is provided with basic information about the ideas and concepts on which Red Cross is founded, as well as the specific duties required by the hospital and convalescent ward administration, Mrs. Glover said.

Accordingly, anyone in the community who has been thinking about offering their time and services should attend the meeting, which will be held at 1:00 p.m. in the conference room of the hospital on Monday, August 30.

For further information, persons are urged to call the chapter office, 753-1421, or Mrs. Glover at 753-5440.

Civic Music Association Bringing Villela To Town

Although Edward Villela has been dancing since he was nine years old, he was also an athlete in college with a varsity letter in baseball and a campus championship in welterweight boxing.

Today, he is considered the greatest male dancer in the world and he has danced leading roles with every great ballet company in Europe and America.

For over fifteen years, he has been Principal Dancer with the New York City Ballet. He has appeared on all the major television variety shows and Bell Telephone Hour devoted an entire program to him, "Man Who Dances: Edward Villela."

While dancing with the New York

City Ballet in Moscow's Bolshoi Theatre, Villela became the first and only American male dancer compelled to grant an encore and repeat one of his variations in response to tumultuous Russian applause.

Villela's roles in the "Rubies" section of George Balanchine's ballet "Jewels" and in Jerome Robbins' "Watermill" are but two created especially for him. His role of "Prodigal Son" is probably his most distinguished.

Clive Barnes, dance and theatre critic for the New York Times, wrote of Villela: "A great dancer dances unmistakably. Edward Villela is that extraordinary thing, a great dancer." In April, the month in which he will appear in Murray, CBS will repeat the first children's ballet ever commissioned by an American television network. This hour-long program was produced and choreographed by Villela and he also stars in the production. It was first aired in April 1974.

Villela's Murray appearance will be Saturday, April 2, in Lovett Auditorium. Admission will be by Murray Civic Music membership card only or by MSU student identity card. Members of Paducah's Community Concert Association are also admitted.

Countians Putting Dollars Into Home Improvement

In Calloway County, as in many other areas of the country, homeowners are on a fix-up, spruce-up spree.

They are spending a record amount of money on home improvements. And they are tackling much of the work themselves.

The modernization boom goes in various directions. Some families are remodeling their bathrooms and kitchens. Some are replacing old heating systems or adding wings, porches and breezeways to their houses.

Others, worried about fuel supplies and costs, are putting in storm windows and adding insulation to walls and attics.

In the past year alone, it is estimated, Calloway County homeowners spent no less than $4,052,000 on alterations, additions, repairs and replacements. That is separate and distinct from their ordinary operating costs.

The spending estimate is based upon a region-by-region survey made by the Department of Commerce as well as data from the National Home Improvement Council and others.

The findings are that the average expenditure for residential upkeep and improvement in Calloway County's general area was $402 per dwelling unit, compared with $360 in the prior year.

In general, throughout the United States, homeowners spent an average of $450 per unit for such purposes.

Some local residents — those who went in for major alterations and additions — had expenditures that were much greater than the average. Others, who may have done considerable overhauling earlier, had less to do in 1975.

All in all, it added up to a record outlay of $25.2 billion nationally. That was $4.1 billion more than in the previous year.

How did Calloway County homeowners spend their portion of this total? A breakdown, based upon the overall figures, indicates that about 44 per cent went for additions and alterations and 17 per cent for major replacements.

The remaining 39 per cent was for painting, plumbing, roofing and other refurbishing and repairs.

The decision of many people to fix up their present homes and stay put reflects the shortage of new housing at prices most families can afford.

Council Status Threatened

Girl Scouts In Need Of Funds

A fund crisis is threatening the status of the Bear Creek Girl Scout Council and its camp, Camp Bear Creek, unless additional funds are raised quickly and improvements are made at the camp.

Byron McGill, executive director of the council since February, said three representatives of Region 3, Girl Scouts, U. S. A., will be in Paducah on August 26, to evaluate the council's work relative to a one-year program established by Region 3 and accepted by the local council's board of directors.

McGill said Region 3 officials have found a 1976 deficit of $26,605 is indicated. Region 3 officials said the area council had $14,152.11 on hand at the end of 1975, but that income is predicted to decline this year. The chief downturn in revenue was foreseen in product sales, of which cookie sales are the major effort. A decline of about $8,000 is predicted.

To meet the Region 3 program, the area council has adopted a budget of $92,455. The projected deficit of $26,605 will be reduced by the $14,152 in current funds, for an expected actual deficit of $12,453.

To fill the gap, Bear Creek Council will begin a sustaining membership enrollment drive Thursday night. The kickoff gathering will be at seven p. m. at the Paducah Civic Center, with Dr. David Hoy, psychic and lecturer as the featured speaker. The business portion of the program will inform area people of the details of the membership enrollment program campaign.

The Thursday event will include a fish fry and admission is $5.

McGill added that it is apparent Region 3 will revoke Bear Creek Council charter and either close or assume control of Camp Bear Creek unless additional funds are raised. The camp is located in Marshall County and was established many years ago through contributions and efforts of area residents.

McGill said one of the complaints from Region 3 officials is that there is an insufficient number of adults to carry on the program and to help raise needed funds. McGill said regulations require that basic fund-raising has to be done by adults.

In March, Region 3 officials wrote the local council of a list of expectations to be carried out by August. Since then, McGill said the council has named Neel Carroll as the sustaining membership chairman and plans have been made for the fund drive. Various committees have been reestablished and are working, McGill said.

The sustaining membership effort will be conducted by adults who will make personal contacts to other adults in the lower 11 counties of Kentucky and Massac and Pope counties of Illinois. The goal is $15,500.

The council serves 2,400 girls. All funds except a $2 annual membership fee paid by the girls remain within the area council.

Food Prices Not Rising Fast As '75

WASHINGTON (AP) — With big harvests in prospect and more livestock to sell, 1976 farm profits are gaining while consumer food prices are rising at only one-half last year's pace, according to the Agriculture Department.

Moreover, the department's Outlook and Situation Board said Monday that retail food prices are expected to continue their modest gains through the first half of 1977, averaging 3 to 4 per cent above the first six months of this year. What happens after that depends greatly on how 1977 crops develop.

The board said that most of the increase in the first half of 1977 will be due to "wider marketing spreads and higher prices for fish, coffee and away-from-home eating."

Marketing spreads are what middlemen charge for transporting, processing and selling food after it leaves the farm.

Retail food prices also are expected to be 3 to 4 per cent higher this year

North Korea Agrees To Joint Meeting Of Armistice Panel

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korea today agreed to a meeting on Wednesday of the joint Korean Military Armistice Commission to discuss the safety of Americans in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea.

The United States demanded the meeting and proposed that it be held today. But North Korea proposed a delay until Wednesday afternoon, and the United States agreed.

The United States asked for the meeting in Panmunjom, the truce village in the demilitarized zone, to seek assurances from North Korea that there would not be a repetition of the clash last week in which North Korean guards killed two American army officers.

State Department spokesman Robert Funseth said the United States would demand assurance that "our people will not be harmed."

The American aircraft carrier Midway and four escorting warships were maneuvering off the coast of Korea. American forces in South Korea were reinforced by two fighter squadrons from Okinawa and the United States, and American, South Korean and North Korean forces on the peninsula were all on precautionary alerts.

But the State Department made a conciliatory gesture with a new comment on a statement by North Korean President Kim Il-sung terming the incident at Panmunjom "regretful."

"We recognize that the North Korean statement expresses regret over the incident and we consider this a positive step," Funseth said. "Nevertheless, this does not change the tragic fact that two American officers were brutally beaten to death without provocation."

Another State Department spokesman said on Sunday that the statement was unacceptable because it did not acknowledge responsibility for the slaying of the two Americans.

Funseth added that assurances from North Korea that Americans would be safe in the future "would improve the climate" in Korea.

White House press secretary Ron Nessen said the United States "is anxious to cooperate in relaxation of tensions, but we want to make sure there is no miscalculation concerning our firmness in the area."

The North Korean Communist party newspaper, Rodong, charged that the Midway task force had entered North Korean waters. Pentagon sources in Washington said the Midway task force was off the coast of South Korea, well south of North Korean waters.

Edward Villela, Principal Dancer with the New York City Ballet will bring his dance company to Murray in the fourth concert sponsored by Murray Civic Music Association.

Your Individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 25, 1976

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

ARIES
(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

By investigating background information you receive, you may find a good way to improve your financial set-up. But DO investigate.

TAURUS
(Apr. 21 to May 21)

A distant goal now seems to be within reach. Press on, and don't let others discourage you. GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

A new surge of energy should carry you far along the road to success and recognition. But keep your eye on the main objective. Don't go off on tangents.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Don't block opposition that could eventually be converted into support. Work diplomatically to bring it around. Some barriers aren't as impregnable as they seem.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Your morale should get a boost now. Some new light is shed on old problems and you find more persons responding to your efforts.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Be willing to give the spotlight to others now. By taking a back seat temporarily you can eventually accelerate YOUR move forward.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Your lively imagination may be running out of bounds right now. So, in trying to launch your ideas, be sure to separate the fantastic from the feasible.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

As with Libra, you also will have to dampen enthusiasm a bit. Excessive optimism could lead you to impractical extremes.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Reject the foolish notions of others. That logical mind of yours will come up with answers that are reasonable and solid.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Don't get wrought up over the spending habits of a partner — marital or business. With a little thought, compromise is possible.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

This will be one of those days when you'll have to "go it alone." Cooperation is likely to be spotty or nonexistent. But you can cope.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

You are in a mood to explore areas off the beaten path, but be careful not to wade in beyond your depth. Trends are changing.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with a lively outlook on life; are keen-minded, remarkably intuitive, perceptive and practical. You are more meticulous about handling details than those born under most Signs, and your integrity is outstanding. You have a great love of knowledge and never stop trying to accumulate more than you have. If you can curb a tendency to be overreacting with those under your supervision, you would make an excellent teacher, but many other fields are suited to your wealth of talents; notably: science, literature, music, the stage, medicine and the law.

Teen Has Trouble With Sexual Urges

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-H. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 17-year-old girl who is reasonably intelligent and quite attractive, so I'm told. My problem has to do with boys. I have no trouble getting dates with guys my age or a little older.

The problem comes when I am with some boy I like and we are out on a dark country road, or for that matter on the couch in my living room. I am not a virgin, but I'm not a tramp by any means.

I don't want to say no. I want him to go on and on, and never stop. I know I should stop him, but when I do, I feel so frustrated afterward, I want to die.

Why shouldn't I enjoy myself? I don't mean with every guy that comes along, only the one I feel something special for. "This time I'll keep it innocent," I tell myself, but kissing and cuddling build up until I am desperate to have the boy make love to me.

Is lust normal at my age? What is really wrong with going all the way if you really care for someone?

NORMAL AND HEALTHY AT 17

DEAR NORMAL: "Lust" (which is another word for sexual desire) IS perfectly normal in all healthy teenagers. but if you expect me to give you permission to go all the way, you're asking the wrong person.

When you are sufficiently mature in your judgments to make your own decisions, take full responsibility for your actions and handle the consequences, you won't ask me (or anyone else) for advice.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think this question is too dumb to answer. I am a 12-year-old Catholic girl who goes to church every Sunday and I would ask my priest, but he would be would laugh at me. I have always wanted to be an altar boy.

Is it possible for a girl to be an altar boy or not?

HOLY IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR HOLY: Traditionally, only boys can be altar boys, but the Catholic church has made many changes this past decade, and perhaps you will live long enough to see girls serving the Mass.

DEAR ABBY: For several years now we have sent our son-in-law a check for his birthday. We used to buy him gifts, but it is so hard to pick out a gift to please a 28-year-old man, we thought a check made more sense.

We have never received a thank-you, verbal or written. He and our daughter live here in town, and we see them fairly often, so it would be a simple matter for him to say, "Thank you for the check."

The only way we know that he has received these checks is because they come back cancelled with our bank statement.

Our son-in-law is not dumb. He went to college. He has a birthday coming up soon, and I'm considering sending him a card so he won't think we've forgotten him—but no check this time. His money is easier to come by than ours. Or should I just forget his birthday altogether?

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: I would.

By MRS. W. P. WILLIAMS

Last Sunday's rain was so welcome after a long dry spell. I hope by the time this is in print, there will have been more rain, for we still need more moisture.

Plants and shrubs perked up after that shower and looked fresh and clean. The very air smelled clean. We don't realize how much we appreciate a good rain until we see the plants drooping their heads from thirst.

I have been asked to repeat a list of recipes using flowers. So here goes:

ORANGE ROSE TREAT: 2 tablespoons plain gelatin, ¼ cup water, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup finely chopped nut meats, 1 cup finely chopped rose petals, grated rind of one orange, juice of one lemon. Add ¼ cup of the water to the gelatin and soak for ten minutes. Add remaining ½ cup water to the sugar. Stir and boil over slow heat until sugar is dissolved. Add the soaked gelatin to the mixture and boil for 20 minutes in a double boiler.

Place nut meats and rose petals on a lightly greased platter. Sprinkle the orange rind and lemon juice over them. Pour the hot syrup over all the ingredients. Chill the paste for about six hours, then cut into squares and roll in confectioners sugar. This is truly a delicacy and a dainty addition to a party plate.

But there is one definite caution. If you use the SYSTEMIC poison for your roses DO NOT use the petals. The systemic poison is the sort that is worked around the roots to be absorbed through the stems. Any spray is perfectly all right. Of course the petals are to be washed thoroughly but gently before using, and dried.

ROSE PETAL DRESSING: Mix ½ cup vinegar, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon oil, ¼ teaspoon salt, and pour over two tablespoons chopped rose petals. Store in the refrigerator for 48 hours, then strain to remove petals. This is an elegant dressing for fruit salad.

NASTURTIUM PICKLES: Gather seed pods while green and tender, leaving on a bit of the stem. Put in weak brine for six days, changing the brine twice. Drain and pack in sterilized jars. Prepare enough vinegar to cover, adding for each pint, six peppercorns, one bay leaf, one tablespoon salt, a small bit of horseradish.

Any favorite spice may be added, such as one blade of mace, two tarragon leaves. Heat mixture to boiling point, simmer five minutes, strain and pour over nasturtium seeds in jars, and seal. It takes about three months for the pickles to be ready.

STUFFED NASTURTIUMS: Snip pistils and stalks from large nasturtiums. Stuff with a mixture of parsley, capers and pickles mixed with shredded tuna with enough mayonnaise to hold the mixture together. Press each petal firmly to close the flower and hide the stuffing. Place on a plate and sprinkle with French dressing. Keep in the refrigerator until ready to serve as hors d'oeuvres.

It is fun trying these various recipes. They are surprisingly good, and are certainly interesting. Hope you try some of them.

Death Taxes

By Stephen Utkus

Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, writing in the "Communist Manifesto," outlined the need for revolutionaries to abolish "all right to inheritance" if they were to wrest property from the bourgeoisie.

It is amazing that the Congress, fearing undue concentration of familial wealth, or promulgating such abstract principles as "social justice," has taken the Marxist advice to limit, if not abolish, the right of property.

Estate taxes, called inheritance or death taxes, are being used by the Congress to engender a more equitable distribution of income. In large part, they have pushed owners of large estates to non-productive spending or saddled heirs with substantial debts. Today, our national legislators are hearing cries from small businessmen, particularly farmers, who are suffering untold economic hardship because of oppressive and unnecessary taxation. Congressmen are proposing reforms; unfortunately, the so-called "reforms" are but a rebash of the need for "equitable taxation" and an affront to the right of property.

Historically, estate taxes were rarely major instruments of tax policy. Before the passage of the Sixteenth Amendment, they were usually instituted for a short while during periods of national crisis, only to be later declared unconstitutional by the courts. In 1941, the progressive rates used today were enacted: imposed on the net value of an estate, rates varied, after an exemption of $60,000, from 3 per cent on $5,000 to 77 per cent on estates in excess of $10 million. Yet even these rates, in conjunction with federal gift taxes (the incidence of estate-giving by those near death being too high), amounted to no more than 2 per cent of the federal budget. Moreover, only 1.5 cents out of every dollar spent by the government in fiscal year 1976 came from estate taxes.

Their effect on U. S. economic development, however, has not been insignificant. High estate taxation discriminates against investment, in favor of showy consumption. If substantial additions to his estate will be confiscated at his death, an individual may resign, from any productive activity, opting to spend his money profusely, pouring cash into worthless projects rather than necessary investments. Estate taxation also encourages the heavily taxed minority to hire scores of legal aides to avert the devastating consequences of confiscatory tax policies.

While many may agree that death taxes distort the consumption and investment patterns of estate owners, few realize that these laws are detrimental to the heirs of the estate. One might think that the heir is better off having received any form of inheritance, no matter how large the government's take. Estate taxes, though, force heirs to liquidate an enterprise's capital to pay the tax burden imposed. Jobs are lost, growth is stymied, because investment is diverted from productive enterprises to the government. Costly hoards of trust and foundation advisors abound, frittering away the product of years of hard work and investment on efforts to avoid the tax authorities.

Yet the cruelest consequence of these tax policies is being felt today by the average businessman. A report from the Senate Small Business Committee notes that besides being denied tax writeoffs and being hounded by paperwork, businessmen are prevented from passing their companies to their heirs without incurring enormous debts to the IRS. Small enterprises are forced to sell out to larger conglomerates to maintain financial security. So, while everyone praises the virtue of smallness or equality before the law, Congress continues policies which actively discriminate against smaller enterprises.

Hardest hit, undoubtedly, are those family farmers unable or unwilling to incorporate to avoid estate taxes. Roy Reed, in the New York Times (cited in the Congressional Record, pp. S1979-80, 2-19-76), noted that while the average value of farm assets was $51,440 in 1960, inflation has boosted that value to $169,744 today. Yet tax policies written in 1942 remain the law. A farmer with a current income of $10-$12,000 may leave an estate valued near $320,000 because of the escalating value of farmland and machinery needed for modern agriculture. Again, family farmers, rather than let their tax debts plunge their heirs into poverty, relinquish personal ownership to dependence on large agri-businesses.

Attempts to alleviate the plight of small businessmen and farmers have been made. Among them has been the often-mentioned reform of raising the estate tax exemption to $200,000. None, it seems, have considered the consequence in ten years time if inflation continues. Another reform calls for the IRS to appraise a farmer's land value for its agricultural or open-air, rather than commercial, value. Proponents fail to realize that they are opening another "loophole," which will undoubtedly evoke reaction against the rich "escaping" estate taxes by nominally farming large tracts of land.

Unfortunately, reform has bogged down in ideological disputes over the right to dispose of one's property as one sees fit. Sen. Kennedy, (D-Mass.), a frequent critic of attempts to raise exemption ceilings, calls for higher taxes and the closing of "loopholes" to reduce the size of estates. Testimony before House and Senate committees indicates that many witnesses advocate the complete confiscation of all estates since they regard the inheritances as the revenue of the government. Relief is blocked by moves to decrease that concentration of wealth to which estate taxation has contributed.

Perhaps, then, it is fortunate that such opinions have come forth. The view of many is that one really has no right of property; it is, rather, the government's. In a letter (3-15-76) to the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, Sen. Kennedy declared that "the ultimate thrust of tax reform should be to broaden the scope of the estate tax, not to restrict it." Karl Marx similarly asserted that the extinction of the bourgeoisie necessitated "despotic inroads on the rights of property." The Senator and others who share his viewpoint, far from being interested in equitable taxation in a free society, have adopted an authoritarian position which is incompatible with liberty.

A friend who was feeling very low confided to Augustus John that he was contemplating suicide.

The painter, who was in the habit of working of his tensions, by driving his car at breakneck speed, suggested a ride in the country. Once on the open road, John pressed his foot down on the accelerator. They hurtled down the highway, passing other cars in a blur.

The painter maintained speed even on hairpin turns. Twice, they nearly skidded off the road and once they missed a head-on collision by inches. The friend was frozen with terror, finally, John slowed down.

"Well, do you feel any better now?" he asked.

"No," replied the other, his face drained of color, "but I've lost my taste for suicide."

An English sculptor had just finished a large marble statue of Queen Elizabeth and was showing it to a representative of the British Museum. "An amazing likeness," said the curator, "did Her Highness pose for it?" "Of course not," replied the sculptor. "But how could you get such a perfect likeness?" "It was easy," the sculptor replied. "I just kept chipping off the pieces that didn't look like her."

In debt to every tradesman in London, James M. Whistler treated them all with scrupulous impartiality. Once when a creditor came to collect a bill, the painter pleaded poverty, then to placate the man he offered him a glass of champagne. "Champagne!" exploded the other. "You can run up a bill with me you don't pay, and then you can afford to drink champagne?" "My dear fellow," Whistler explained, "I can assure you, it's not paid for either."

Garrott's Galley Getting The Ice Cream Off The 12:40 From Nashville

By M. C. Garrott

When I wrote about Wallis' Drug Store and its soda fountain a couple of weeks ago, I struck a nerve in Ronald Churchill when I said Gingles Wallis installed the first fountain in the store in 1935. That was the first "electric" fountain they had, I'm now told.

Ronald doesn't know exactly when a fountain was first installed in the store, which before Gingles bought it in 1935, was the Wear Drug Store, but he says it was long before 1935. Mrs. Churchill is the former Rebecca Wear, and it was her uncle, H. P. Wear, who had the store something like 49 years before Gingles bought it.

The fountain they had before the electric-powered one was installed took some doing to operate. The ice cream would come in on the 12:40 p.m. train from Nashville packed in ice and salt and brought to the store on an express wagon. As soon as they got it, they had to repack it in ice and salt again before it was dipped out for cones and sundaes.

Everybody came by at one time or another for ice cream or a Coke, Mrs. Churchill recalls. Her brother, John, was the pharmacist. Another brother, Elliott, worked the soda fountain and a cousin, Joe Wear, was the manager.

This was about 1920 when she and Ronald were courting. She was teaching second grade at what is now Middle School, which at the time was the only school in town, and Ronald was in Nashville studying embalming so he could join with his father, J. H. Churchill, in the funeral home business.

"We'd all stop by for ice cream after school," Mrs. Churchill recalls. Some of the regulars, she said, were: Callis and Amanda Wear, daughters of the owner, Mr. H. P. Wear, Anna Hood (Mrs. Herman) Doran, Virginia Hay, Hattie Laura Holton McConnell, and Elizabeth Higgins Hale.

If they didn't come by Wear's Drug Store, they'd gather at the Bon Ton Cafe, which was located in part of the area where the new Bank of Murray is today. It was run by Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith, whose daughter, Mrs. Ivan Rudolph, and her husband just observed their 50th wedding anniversary on August 8.

Ronald, who is a walking encyclopedia of Murray history, went on to tell me how his grandfather, John Churchill, and his uncle, Guthrie, had put the first floor down in the drug store. Until that the floor was simply dirt.

Big logs were put down and the tops of them leveled off with a foot adz, an early-day woodworking tool. The floor was laid on top of them. They are there today as well as under some of the other stores along the north side of the

Federal Reserve System Considering New Measures

By LOUISE COOK

Associated Press Writer

The Federal Reserve System is considering new rules to implement laws prohibiting bankers, merchants and others from denying credit solely because of age, race, color, religion, national origin or receipt of welfare benefits.

A key section of the rules is designed to prevent discrimination against the elderly. Such discrimination was banned by Congress earlier this year when it amended the Equal Credit Opportunity Act. Supporters of the legislation said that elderly people — who grew up before the advent of the "charge-it" society and are used to paying cash — often are rejected when they do apply for credit late in life.

(The Equal Credit Opportunity Act itself banned discrimination based on sex or marital status and Federal Reserve regulations implementing those provisions took effect last October.)

The amendments to the law permit creditors to take age into account — if they can show statistics to prove that it "represents a pertinent element of credit-worthiness." Creditors are not allowed to set a mandatory cut-off age, however.

Here's what that means, according to a spokesman for the Fed's Office of Saver and Consumer Affairs:

A creditor who can show statistically that people aged 40 to 50 are better credit risks than those aged 50 to 60 is allowed to use that information to give a 45-year-old applicant a better rating than a 55-year-old applicant. If statistics showed that the older age group paid more promptly and defaulted less often, the 55-year-old would have the advantage.

What the creditor cannot do, is set an arbitrary limit — say 65 — and refuse to give credit to anyone over that age.

Among the problems involved in implementing the law are deciding exactly what is meant by elderly and figuring out whether the age provision protects the young as well as the old.

The Fed is seeking comments from the public on the subject. The deadline is Sept. 1 and anyone who has an opinion should write to Secretary, Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, Washington, D.C. 20551. The finalized regulations will take effect next March.

In another area, the Federal Reserve System is trying to define what's meant by the phrase "adverse action" as it is used in the law. This is important because the legislation requires creditors who take adverse action against an applicant to let him or her know within a reasonable period of time and to give the reason, if asked.

The Fed has proposed defining "adverse action" as the refusal to grant credit or increase an applicant's credit limit when requested. The refusal to authorize a point-of-sale transaction that exceeds a previously established credit limit would be an "adverse action."

What does all this mean? Suppose you apply for a bank credit card. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and ask to have the limit raised to $700. You are turned down. That's adverse action.

Suppose you have a bank credit card with a limit of $500 and go to a store and try to make a purchase for $550. You are turned down. That's not adverse action.

Consumer Comments Health 'Quacks' Deceive Millions Of Consumers

By Robert F. Stephens
Attorney General

A recent ad cautions, "When you've got your health, you've got just about everything." Consumers today are extremely concerned about health. Unfortunately, some consumers deal with health quacks, who misinform and deceive consumers out of millions of dollars yearly.

Medical fraud hasn't changed much from the medicine shows of the 1800's. The early quack appealed to people's fears and wishful thinking in selling bottles of potions to cure everything from dandruff to tired blood. Modern medical quackery makes false claims for drugs and cosmetics, promotes unnecessary food supplements, and endorses devices which don't work.

Can you recognize medical quackery? Ask these questions if you suspect medical quackery:

- (1) Is the product or service being offered a "secret remedy?"
- (2) Does the sponsor claim that he is battling the medical profession, which is attempting to suppress his wonderful discovery?
- (3) Is the remedy being sold from door to door, by a self-styled health advisor or being promoted in lectures to the public from town to town?
- (4) Is this miracle drug, device or diet being promoted in a sensational magazine or by a faith healer's group?
- (5) Does the promoter show you testimonials on the wonderful miracles his product or services have performed for others?

(6) Is the product or service good for a variety of illnesses, real or fancied?

If the answer to any of these questions is "yes," you should beware of the product and service and investigate before you buy. Remember that medical quackery is dangerous and should be avoided. Always check with your physician and buy drugs only from reputable, licensed pharmacists.

If you have a consumer complaint, write to the Office of the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, Frankfort, Ky., 40601. The office has found that it can most effectively deal with written complaints and encourages you to write when you have a complaint. However, if you have an emergency situation, call the consumer hotline. The number is 1-800-372-2960.

My neighbor down the road, the old Wyoming cowboy, has decided to sit this one out. He will vote for neither Mr. Ford nor Mr. Carter because election officials won't let him hitch his horse in front of the polling place. He is convinced that anybody who doesn't think that the horse is making a comeback isn't modern-thinking enough to lead the body politic to safer, richer and friendlier pastures where the fences are no higher than a man can climb.

that infancy and childhood obesity predispose to excess weight during adult life. While diet is the principal means for limiting weight, regular exercise is also helpful.

Good exercise habits also develop latent physical capabilities that are a source of satisfaction in adult years.

The American Academy of Pediatrics has established a Committee on the Pediatric Aspects of Physical Fitness, Recreation and Sports. In a formal statement published recently in Pediatrics, the academy's monthly scientific journal, the committee stated that "achieving fitness is a way of life, not a fad or a brief change in one's way of doing things. And, an early start is imperative."

The committee noted too that nearly half of the adult American population does not engage in physical activity for exercise and that normal play activities of children can form the basis for a lifelong habit of exercise. Recent studies have shown

These practices can offset the temptation to spend an excessive amount of time in sedentary recreation of watching television, listening to the radio, reading and riding in cars.

Physical education at school, group sports during summer vacation and participation in scouting and similar activities maintain good habits and encourage physical health of the muscles, joints, heart and lungs and emotional and mental well-being.

Q: Ms. G.A. asks how an intrauterine device works to prevent pregnancy.

A: While the exact effects are not known, experimental work done on animals points to the probability that the device acts as a foreign body and stimulates muscular contractions of the uterus. These speed up the passage of the ovum through the uterine canal before fertilization and attachment can occur.

Also, the foreign body effect on the uterine lining may be such as to interfere with it being properly prepared for attachment of the product of conception.

Q: Mr. W.E. wants to know if the quinine in tonic water can be dangerous.

A: An answer to a similar question was given recently in the Journal of the American Medical Association in which it was pointed out that the quinine content in so-called tonic water is low, usually less than 30 mg. to 500 ml. of water.

The acute fatal dose in a child has been reported at one gram of quinine, and the adult fatal dose at about 18 grams — so the margin of safety is great. However, certain persons are hypersensitive, and even the small amounts present in tonic water may produce reactions which vary from ringing in the ears, dizziness and mild mental depression.

Signings Announced

VANCOUVER (AP) — After announcing the trade with the Minnesota North Stars that brought veteran goaltender Cesare Maniago to their National Hockey League club, the Vancouver Canucks also announced the signings of three players to contracts Monday.

Cowboy Shifts

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys made two position shifts Monday, switching running back Jim Jensen to tight end and cornerback Beasley Reece to wide receiver.

Jensen, 6 feet 3 and 230 pounds, had been mentioned previously as tight end material, so the move by Coach Tom Landry was no great surprise.

Reece, from North Texas State, had been burned a couple of times in preseason games, but Landry had also singled him out for praise. His switch came as a surprise, especially in view of the large number of wide receivers on the roster.

It's possible to go into an annual checkup feeling terrific. And come out knowing something's wrong. It happened to me. The doctor found what I couldn't even feel... a little lump under my arm. If I had put off the appointment for one reason or another, I probably wouldn't be here today. Because that little lump I couldn't feel was a melanoma, a highly aggressive form of cancer that spreads very quickly. It's curable — but only if found in time.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Wichita State University is offering season ticket holders a refund for each college football game the Shockers lose in 1976.

Refund slips will be given out at the games and people buying full-price season tickets will be refunded half the price they paid for attending that game, the school said.

Season ticket sales dropped to 7,600 in 1975 after the Shockers turned in a 1-9-1 season. Athletic Director Ted Bredehoff said he hoped the new plan would enable him to sell 11,500 season tickets this year.

15-Year-Old To Face Dr. Richards Today

By RICHARD T. PIENCIK
AP Sports Writer

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — A 15-year-old New Jersey high school junior hopes the current heat wave holds up for her match today against 42-year-old transsexual Dr. Renee Richards at the Tennis Week Open.

Caroline Stoll of Livingston, N.J., who says she doesn't consider Dr. Richards a woman, said she expected the age difference to be a key factor in the match if the thermometer once again reached 90 degrees.

Miss Stoll, who finished fifth in the national 16-and-under championship this year, beat Susan Maharaj of Sarasota, Fla., Monday, 6-1, 6-0, in 37-degree heat.

"She's bound to get tired if I keep wearing her down," she said. "Besides, I'm really ready for the heat. I've been playing all summer."

In two of nine men's first-round matches scheduled today at the $60,000 tournament, defending champion Ilie Nastase of Romania will face John Lloyd of Great Britain in the evening, while hard serving, second-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., takes on Henry Bunis of Cincinnati in the key afternoon matchup on the clay-like stadium court.

In men's play Monday, third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis of Kings Point, N.Y., defeated Marty Riessen of Amelia Island, Fla., 6-1, 6-3, and fourth-seeded Vijay Amritraj of India, bested Colin Dowdeswell, of Rhodesia, 7-6,

Boston's Bill Lee Hurls Team To Win Over Angels

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

Philadelphia Manager Danny Ozark claims he is not yet thinking about the Phils' "magic number" for clinching the National League East pennant, but if he were to do some fast arithmetic he would know the figure is 26.

The Phils, the East leaders since May 9, moved closer toward winning their first championship since the 1950 "Whiz Kids" captured the NL crown, beating the Atlanta Braves 4-2 Monday night. The victory was the Phils' sixth in their last seven games and gave them an 81-41 record for a 14½-game lead over runner-up Pittsburgh.

The Pirates, East champions five of the past six years, bowed to the San Diego Padres 5-4, and fell to 67-56.

For the Phils to win only their third pennant in history — their first was in 1915 — they need a combination of 26 more victories or Pittsburgh defeats. Philadelphia has 40 games remaining and the Pirates have 39.

In other NL games, the St. Louis Cardinals battered Cincinnati's West Division leaders 9-5 in a game televised in most of the country, and the Los Angeles Dodgers saddled the Montreal Expos with their ninth consecutive loss, 6-3.

"This is a good way to start the road trip," Ozark mused after the Phils had overcome a 2-0 deficit with four runs in the eighth inning against former teammate Dick Ruthven. "I have not even thought about a magic number yet."

Atlanta held a 2-0 lead on Ken Henderson's second-inning homer and Rod Gilbreath's run-scoring single in the seventh before the Phils rallied. A walk to Bob Boone and singles by Bobby Tolan and pinch hitter Tim McCarver filled the bases, then Dave Cash's two-run single tied the score. Larry Bowa followed with a sacrifice fly and Greg Luzinski singled in the final run.

Padres 5, Pirates 4
"As it stands at the moment, unless I falter, I don't see how I can't win the Rookie of the Year Award (in the National League)," said San Diego's unbeaten rookie Butch Metzger after pitching three perfect innings against the Pirates for his 13th save.

San Diego won the game with two runs in the sixth, the first on Tito Fuentes' single and the other on a bases-loaded walk to Dave Winfield by reliever Dave Giusti.

Cardinals 9, Reds 5
"Age has nothing to do with it. That kid can play," Cincinnati's Joe Morgan said about Garry Templeton — the NL's youngest player at 20 — after St. Louis' swift rookie had helped wreck the Reds by scoring four runs and driving in two.

Players Charged

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP) — Three hockey players charged with assault following a bench-clearing brawl during a junior league game March 23 were remanded until Jan. 18 for trial when they appeared in provincial court Monday.

The incident, involving Ron Roscoe, Warren Skinner and Donald Laurance, took place in an Ontario Hockey Association Major Junior A playoff game. Roscoe has also been charged with causing a disturbance.

Alabama Favored To Hold On To Southeastern Title

By ED SHEARER
AP Sports Writer

ATLANTA (AP) — "I don't expect this team to want to be the one to break the string," says Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant of Alabama.

The string is five straight Southeastern Conference football championships. And despite the loss of eight defensive starters, Bryant's Crimson Tide still looks like the class of the South again in 1976.

"As always, it will depend to a great extent on schedule luck and injuries," Bryant said.

"People keep writing about what great personnel we have, and we do, but I wish they would tell me who's going to play in the secondary," he said.

Alabama's role as the favorite, however, isn't as clear cut as it's been during the last four years. There are pretenders to the throne, all quite capable of unseating the Tide. That list includes Florida, Georgia and Mississippi, with once mighty Tennessee looming as a darkhorse threat. And, Alabama meets all except Florida, each on the road.

Elsewhere in Dixie, Maryland is creating its own little dynasty in the Atlantic Coast Conference and is expected to garner its third straight title this fall, although North Carolina State and Duke could change that.

Appalachian State and East Carolina appear headed for a showdown in the Southern Conference and the top area independent should come from a group including Georgia Tech, Miami of Florida, Virginia Tech and South Carolina.

Alabama, which won on defense last year, appears to have enough offensive muscle to carry on until the defense matures around returning starters linemen Bob Baumhower, Charles Hannah and Gus White.

Bryant has the runners for the wishbone, headed by quarterbacks Jeff Rutledge and Jack O'Rear, and running backs Johnny Davis, Calvin Culliver and Tony Nathan.

Ole Miss returns three starting backs, including quarterback Tim Ellis, but must rebuild its line. There are seven starters back on defense, the club's strength.

Both Florida and Georgia have 42 letter-winners on hand, 15 starters at Florida and 17 at Georgia. These two loom as the most serious threats to Alabama.

Tennessee, down last year, has 16 starters back, including two of the area's top players — split end Larry Seivers and tailback Stanley Morgan.

Mississippi State heads the second division cast and could break through behind tailback Walter Packer. But the team is on probation and ineligible for the league title.

Auburn and Louisiana State should be better, but not good enough to crack the top five. Vanderbilt and Kentucky are fighting to avoid the cellar.

Doug Barfield has assumed command at Auburn where Ralph "Shug" Jordan retired after a 25-year career.

Coach Jerry Claiborne lost a dozen starters from last year's championship team in the ACC. But Maryland had rolled through 15 straight conference foes and easily could go unbeaten again.

Larry Dick and Mark Angles are two exceptional quarterbacks for the Terps.

Explosive North Carolina State features talented running backs Ted Brown and Ralph Stringer and Duke returns 14 starters. North Carolina is probably the best of the rest, followed by Wake Forest, Clemson and Virginia.

The Southern Conference faces a stormy year. Richmond, last year's champion, has withdrawn to the ranks of the independents. East Carolina, Virginia Military, William & Mary and Davidson leave the conference next June.

Davidson isn't eligible for the title this year because it is a college division team. Marshall, an independent, and two college division teams — Western Carolina and Tennessee-Chattanooga — become eligible for the football title in the SC next season.

East Carolina has nine starters back on defense, headed by safety Jim Bolding, end Gary Godette and linebacker Harold Randolph.

Appalachian, operating out of the wishbone, has such outstanding backs as quarterback Robbie Price, Emmitt Hamilton and Calvin Simon.

The Citadel could challenge, featuring second team All-American linebacker Brian Ruff, last year's SC player of the year, and fullback Andrew Johnson, the player of the year in 1974 when he ran for 1,373 yards.

Furman returns 48 lettermen, including 19 starters, and is the league darkhorse.

Georgia Tech is loaded with outstanding running backs but has no proven quarterback to run the wishbone with the departure of Danny Myers. The top Tech players are center Leo Tierney, linebacker Lucius Sanford and halfback David Sims.

Miami has an outstanding performer in defensive tackle Eddie Edwards. The Hurricane will be strong, but could have a losing record because of a rugged schedule that includes Colorado, Nebraska, Pittsburgh, Penn State, Notre Dame and Florida.

South Carolina returns two 1,000-yard runners, Kevin Long and Clarence Williams, and VPI has one of their own, too, Roscoe Coles.

Mercury Morris Placed On Waivers By Miami Dolphins

MIAMI (AP) — "I really can't see them paying $135,000 for me to run two plays every other series," an unruffled Mercury Morris says of his being placed on waivers by the Miami Dolphins.

But Morris, a running back second only to Larry Csonka in career rushing for the Dolphins, may be alone in not being surprised by Coach Don Shula's move Monday.

The action capped a dizzying week of roster activity brought about by — or sometimes forced upon — Shula.

It came a few hours after All-Pro safety Jake Scott was taken off suspension and while apparently successful talks were under way to bring back the retired Nick Buoniconti to beef up an injury-riddled linebacking corps.

Morris, a third-round draftee out of West Texas State in 1969, led the Dolphins' ground attack last year with 875 yards and three 100-yard games. His career yardage of 3,877 includes the 1,000-yard 1972 season, when the Dolphins first went to the Super Bowl.

Shula evidently believes he can do without Morris because of other backs the club has acquired. But his only comment about the waiver came in a prepared announcement.

"Mercury Morris has had a great career here," he said. "But as we analyze the running-back situation, we like the young backs we have."

The only "young back" Shula mentioned was Benny Malone, a speedy third-year man from Arizona State. He may have also been thinking of rookies Don Testerman from Clemson and Clayton Heath from Wake Forest.

Shula also said he had explored for possible trades for Morris but did not say with whom.

"We're hopeful Mercury can catch on with another team," he added.

Morris said that should be easy enough.

"There's 28 teams (in the National Football League) and this is just one of them.

There's 27 more ... 27 more opportunities."

Morris has had past differences with Shula and demanded hotly last year that he be traded, saying he wasn't being used to his full ability. But he showed no rancor about being put up for grabs.

"I'm sure it was a tough decision for Shula to have to make," he said. Then he laughed, and added: "I'm definitely going to come back to be somebody's nemesis."

Scott, whose stormy relationship with Shula appeared to be calming earlier this preseason, returned to camp Monday after a week's suspension for refusing to take a pain-killer in order to play in an exhibition game.

He said it was a legal decision, not Shula's, that brought him back.

Buoniconti, who retired to a blossoming legal practice this summer after missing last season with a severe thumb injury, could not be reached for comment about a report on Miami television station WTVJ that he would rejoin the club.

Second Time Charm

ATLANTA (AP) — Stephanie Nilson didn't need her cue card when she tried for the second time to sing the national anthem at a major league baseball game.

Miss Nilson, 19, the reigning Miss Bloomington, Minn., who forgot the words last time, never glanced at the lyrics she held in her hand Monday night as she completed the song at the Atlanta Braves-Philadelphia Phillies National League game.

Last Tuesday night before the Baltimore Orioles-Minnesota Twins game, she stopped when she came to "the rockets' red glare" and said, "Aw, rats," apparently forgetting the lyrics in frustration over the delay of the stadium's electronic system.

She received generous applause for her flawless performance Monday night and waved to the crowd.

Explosive North Carolina State features talented running backs Ted Brown and Ralph Stringer and Duke returns 14 starters. North Carolina is probably the best of the rest, followed by Wake Forest, Clemson and Virginia.

Open Records Law Does Not Apply To State Park Lodges

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The state attorney general's office has said the Kentucky Open Records Law does not apply to guest registration records at state park lodges.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Carl Miller said Monday that the records are personal and are not open to inspection under the statute.

The opinion was issued in response to a request from Jon L. Fleischaker, attorney for the Louisville Courier-Journal and Louisville Times.

Fleischaker appealed to the attorney general after state Parks Commissioner Bruce Montgomery refused to allow a newspaper reporter to inspect guest records at Jenny Wiley State Park resort lodge.

Miller said the newspaper's attorney told him the reporter wished to learn whether certain persons were registered at the lodge at the same time a specific meeting was said to have taken place—sometime between mid-April, 1975 and mid-May, 1975.

State law prohibits the disclosure of "public records" containing information of a personal nature where the public disclosure thereof would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.

"Regardless of the intention of the person making the inspection," Miller said the lodge guest registration records were personal and should not be open to public inspection.

Miller pointed out there is no state law that requires hotels to register guests or keep registration records.

The opinion has the force of law unless reversed by a circuit court, Miller said.

The attorney general's office also issued an opinion in response to a query by Woodford County Atty. Mark Gormley, who wanted to know if a warrant could be issued for a misdemeanor after a year from the date of the offense.

Gormley cited a case in which law enforcement officials discovered a misdemeanor had been committed more than a year later.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Runyan advised that prosecutions for misdemeanors must be commenced within a year after the commission of the crime.

Runyan said the fact that the law enforcement officials did not learn of the crime until a year later did not affect the time limit.

In response to a query from Bracken County Atty. Joseph B. Hennessey, Runyan said that while county road fund money must be spent on roads and bridges within county boundaries, the fiscal court could appropriate money from the county's general fund to repair a bridge in another county.

The problem revolved around a bridge in Robertson County which needed repairs. The bridge leads to a road which dead ends in Bracken County, but which serves several Bracken County families.

Runyan said because the bridge is vital to the health, education, welfare and convenience of the Bracken County families, who otherwise would be cut off from a county road, the fiscal court could act under the home rule statute to appropriate money from the General Fund for the bridge repair.

The Kansas Nebraska Act of 1854 abrogated the Missouri Compromise and permitted Kansas and Nebraska local option on the slavery question.

Deaths and Funerals

Private Funeral Rites Wednesday For Dr. Tuttle

Private funeral services for Dr. Charles L. Tuttle of 1005 South 16th Street, Murray, will be held on Wednesday. In charge of arrangements will be the J. H. Churchill Funeral

Home where visitation will be from six to eight p.m. tonight (Tuesday).

Pallbearers will be Richard Masoq, Dr. James Hart, Dr. Hugh Houston, Dr. A. H. Tishworth, Dr. C. C. Lowry, and Dr. Conrad Jones.

Dr. Tuttle, age 61, died Sunday at 7:30 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. He was a practicing physician in the fields of obstetrics and gynecology with offices at the Houston-McDevitt Clinic, Inc., but had retired from the field of obstetrics on August 1, 1975.

The Murray doctor graduated from Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, and the University of Boston, Boston, Mass. He came to Murray in 1954 after having served twelve years in the U. S. Air Force as a lieutenant colonel in charge of gynecology at the base at Lake Charles, La. He was a member of state and local medical societies and was a diplomat of the National Gynecological Board.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sue Miller Tuttle, Murray, and three sons — Charles H. Tuttle, Tehran, Iran, William C. Tuttle, Fairbanks, Alaska, and Marcus S. Tuttle, Atlanta, Ga. Dr. Tuttle was born July 23, 1915, in Maine and was the son of the late Chester and Lillian Small Tuttle.

The family requests that expressions of sympathy take the form of donations to the Calloway County Cancer Society or the Calloway County Heart Fund.

Demonstration Air Assault Is Planned

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (AP) — Members of the 101st Airborne Division are in Germany this week to take part in a demonstration air assault operation.

Seven U.S. Air Force C141s left here Monday loaded with 658 soldiers with M-16 rifles.

The 10-day maneuver is called Reforger '76 and is being staged for the benefit of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) countries to demonstrate the United States' ability to reinforce its 300,000 American troops in Europe.

Foreign News Roundup

CAIRO (AP) — Three Arab hijackers whose attempt to pirate an Egyptian jetliner to neighboring Libya as foiled by disguised paratroopers said Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy promised them $250,000, Egypt's prime minister reported. The Libyan government denied the accusation and counter-charged that the Egyptian intelligence service staged the hijacking in an attempt to discredit Libya. Officials said two of the three armed hijackers were injured Monday when the soldiers, dressed as mechanics, overpowered them and freed passengers and crew members of the Boeing 737 at the airport in the southern city of Luxor.

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — North Korea agreed to a meeting Wednesday of the joint Korean Military Armistice Commission to discuss the safety of Americans in the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea. The United States demanded the meeting and proposed that it be held today. But North Korea proposed a delay until Wednesday afternoon, and the United States agreed. The United States asked for the meeting to seek assurances from North Korea that there would not be a repetition of the clash last week in which North Korean guards killed two American army officers in the demilitarized zone.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A surge in the fighting in Beirut and nearby mountain towns and villages sent the death toll in Lebanon's civil war soaring today. Many of the casualties were noncombatants in residential areas of the capital. Hospital officials estimated more than 180 persons were killed and 360 wounded during the night. More than 200 were reported killed and 350 wounded in the 24 hours before. A Christian radio station said the death toll among non-combatants was one of the highest in several months.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Thousands of black workers stayed home from their jobs in Johannesburg today on the second day of a three-day work boycott in the Soweto township protesting the South African government's racial policies. Police officials said they were determined to protect workers who wanted to get to work in the metropolis eight miles north of Soweto. But despite police gunfire which killed at least one black Monday, spokesmen for the city's commercial establishments and industries said the absentee rate was only slightly less than the 30 to 100 per cent reported by employers Monday.

Carter Continues Speechmaking Swing Through West, Midwest

By The Associated Press

President Ford prepared for campaign strategy sessions today while Jimmy Carter, the man he wants to beat, continued a speechmaking swing through the West and Midwest.

Ford called aides to Vail, Colo., for the first of a series of meetings. No one was saying very much about the sessions. "We're just not going to stand up and announce our strategy to Jimmy Carter," said Press Secretary Ron Nessen.

The Democratic presidential candidate discussed domestic issues on Monday in a Los Angeles speech. Today's schedule included an appearance at the American Legion national convention in Seattle and a speech on pardons for draft dodgers, international terrorism and the need to restore respect for the military.

Carter criticized Ford for vetoes of social legislation. He said the vetoes contributed to "needless human suffering" and "demonstrate a degree of negativism, dormancy and a fear of action that can only be harmful to this country."

The former Georgia governor deleted one line from his prepared text. It dealt with politicians, cut off from the people, riding in "limousines too long."

Carter was driven around Los Angeles in a black Cadillac limousine and said he changed his speech because "I felt kind of guilty about it." He said he had told the Secret Service to make sure he rode in a "regular automobile" from now on.

Carter won't be the only candidate at the American Legion meeting. Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, Ford's running mate, is scheduled to appear there on Wednesday. Dole also will follow Carter by a day at another event — the Iowa State Fair in Des Moines. Carter speaks Wednesday, Dole Thursday.

Dole, who will fly to Vail late Thursday to meet with Ford, said Monday that he expects to help in "keeping the record straight" by examining Carter's positions. "If there are inconsistencies, I'd like to point them out," he said.

Dole also said that he had urged GOP moderates and liberals to play an active role in the campaign. "We've got to get everybody into the campaign," he said at a Washington news conference. "We have a big tent and we're trying to broaden it."

The senator said he had asked Sen.

than in 1975, unchanged from an earlier forecast, the board said.

Food prices gained 8.5 per cent in 1975 and soared 14.5 per cent in each of the two previous years. The increase was 4.3 per cent in 1972.

The report did not spell out details of 1976 net farm income, but a spokesman indicated that it might total around $25 billion against $22.7 billion in 1975. That would make 1976 the third best year on record for net farm income.

It soared from $17.3 billion in 1972 to a record $29.9 billion in 1973 and then dropped to $27.8 billion in 1974.

Not all farmers are sharing equally, of course. Those whose crops have been reduced by drought or other causes, as well as many cattle producers and others who have lost money because of sagging markets, are exceptions.

If this fall's corn crop is as large as USDA forecasts, farmers can expect grain prices to be "somewhat lower" than last year, the report said. Soybean prices may be up, but that could be tempered next year by competition in world markets from Brazilian soybeans.

Looking to the first half of 1977, officials said that beef output may drop from current levels but that "pork production is rising and may run 15 to 20 per cent above" the first six months of 1976.

Charles McC. Mathias of Maryland, a liberal Republican, to participate. Mathias said earlier that liberal Republicans would look for "other alternatives" if they were excluded from the campaign.

school system," Boggs said.

The board indicated it would negotiate no further but issued a "policy statement" that gave teachers "90 per cent of the provisions of the contract last year," he said.

Boggs said the policy statement includes a basic salary increase of $1,073 for each teacher, but Turner said pay is not the issue.

"The refusal of the school board to negotiate with us is the reason for the strike, not the money," Turner said. He added that the teachers "are willing to sit down with the board at any time."

In western Kentucky, picket lines were set up by the Muhlenberg County Education Association.

Teachers were to report for work Monday and Tuesday and students are scheduled to begin classes Wednesday in the Muhlenberg County schools.

Teachers formed the Muhlenberg County Education Association in May and asked the county board of education to recognize it as their bargaining agent.

The board refused. The 204-member association voted to strike unless an agreement was reached.

Teachers picketed Monday at the county's five high schools — Graham, Bremen, Hughes-Kirk, Drakeboro and Muhlenberg Central — and two elementary schools — Dummor and Longest.

About 30 teachers picketed the Muhlenberg County Board of Education offices at Powderly.

Jefferson Schools Adopt Measures

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Jefferson County Board of Education has adopted measures that Supt. Ernest Grayson said could reduce a projected $5.1 million deficit by $1.3 million.

The school system is under a state order to balance its budget by Oct. 26.

More than half the savings in the measured adopted Monday would come from increasing the ratio of pupils per teacher from 25 pupils to 26.

About 40 central office officials would be reassigned to school jobs and 45 television teaching aides and would be eliminated.
