Mrs. C. Omar Wins Auto In Leader Contest

Name Announced At Paper Office Saturday, 4 P. M.

DELIVERED SAME DAY

Mrs. Clyde Omar, Highlands, won the 1946 Ford sedan given as the grand prize in the Daily Leader's subscription contest Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

At 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Omar had sold their old automobile. That was pretty quick delivery on their new car, the couple agreed Saturday when the Ford was delivered to them.

Mrs. Omar subscribed to the Daily Leader for another year Friday, Dec. 20, the day before the contest closed.

Asked if she and Mr. Omar had sold their former car in the expectation of receiving the Daily Leader's Ford, Mrs. Omar declared that she had not even seriously considered being the winner.

She would like to know the name of the small boy who announced her name Saturday afternoon. The lad disappeared into the crowd immediately, and as yet Mrs. Omar has been unable to find out who he was.

Adron Doran, editor of the Leader, said that he had gathered Saturday afternoon to learn the name of the winner, but he appreciated the interest shown in the subscription contest, and the support given the newspaper since it was purchased by Harry Lee Waterfield Sept. 1.

Mr. Doran pledged the best efforts of the entire staff in publishing a community newspaper of interest to all readers and deserving of the respect and cooperation of everyone in this area.

Church Program Planned Tuesday

The Rev. K. A. Oakes, son of the minister of the Fulton Christian Church, will present "The Birth of Christ" in technicolor moving pictures at the Christmas eve service at the church Dec. 24 at 7:30 p. m.

The public is invited.

Kentucky Today

Lexington—Displays of farm and home equipment and a fashion show will be among the features at the annual Kentucky Farm and Home convention to be held by the College of Agriculture of the University of Kentucky. The event is scheduled for the last week in January.

Louisville—United States Senator-Elect John Sherman Cooper has been invited to address the Massachusetts Lincoln Day dinner of Republicans, it was announced by J. J. Ross Todd, Republican National committeeman from Kentucky. Senator-Elect Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts already has accepted a Lincoln Day invitation to Kentucky.

Louisville—Local 181 of the International Union of operating engineers (AFL) has accepted an invitation from officers of the International Union for a conference with members of the local. The meeting, set for Jan. 7, is designed to settle a plea for "home rule" by certain members of the local.

Lexington—William V. Traves, 78, noted breeder of thoroughbred horses, died at his estate near Lexington. He had been a lawyer and an oil man before becoming a horseman. Among his best known horses were Happy Thoughts, Butterbeans and Busyridge.

Chlorinator Is Installed

Will Be In Use Until New Equipment Ordered By City Is Delivered

A chlorinator is being installed at the Fulton Waterworks today, and will be in continuous use immediately after installation, city officials announced this morning.

The Lexington, Ky., branch of Wallace and Tiernan Co., Inc., Newark, N.J., is installing the equipment. The city has ordered a new chlorinator from this firm, and expects delivery within about 30 days.

The present chlorinator will be kept here until the new replacement arrives.

Jap Quake Toll Reaches 1,125; May Go Higher

Many Homeless After Quake And Wave; Yanks Safe

DAMAGE IS HUGE

Tokyo, Dec. 23.—(AP)—With the toll of dead calculated as high as 1,125 so far, thousands of wreckage, shivering Japanese tonight huddled around fires near their homes.

Their homes, damaged by an earthquake and tidal wave early Saturday.

The home ministry listed 1,026 dead, with reports still coming in from previously isolated areas in Southern Shikoku island and the Wakayama Peninsula. Kyodo news agency reported its count at 1,125 killed. Kyodo listed 2,700 killed, missing and injured.

A bitter cold wind blew steadily across Japan from the Manchurian plains, adding to the miserable discomfort of Japanese who lost their homes and their relative or friends in the tragic dawn Saturday.

The homeless—tens of thousands—were living under railroad trestles, in forests and along the beaches, stoking little fires against the biting winter weather, as relief crews sought to deliver emergency food, clothing and medical supplies.

The home ministry listed 1,026 as dead, 149 as missing and 1,035 injured, and reported that well over 100,000 persons were made homeless in one of the world's worst natural disasters.

Lt. Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, announced meanwhile that no American personnel had been killed or injured. Less than 100 Yanks in the Wakayama peninsula area—center of the quake zone—will not be evacuated immediately, army headquarters said, because they are in no danger and "have a job to do there."

Food and fresh water was dropped by air to the American garrisons.

American army pilots who flew over Shikoku said the Kochi area appeared to be the worst damaged—considerably harder hit than Wakayama peninsula of Southern Honshu, which also was battered by the six tidal waves.

Bricker Anxious For Taft Decision On '48 Candidacy

Columbus, O., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Friends of U. S. Senator-elect John W. Bricker disclosed he wanted an early decision on whether he or Sen. Robert A. Taft should step aside in the coming Presidential race.

The question should be decided quickly, a spokesman, requesting anonymity, quoted Bricker as saying.

Bricker, the 1944 Republican Vice Presidential candidate, declined to verify the report at his office here.

More Sugar Due On Stamp 53 Jan. 1 Say OPA Officials

Washington, Dec. 23.—(AP)—OPA said today spare stamp No. 53 will be good for five pounds of sugar beginning January 1 and added an additional ration may become available within 4 months.

"It is anticipated," the agency said, "that the second consumer stamp for 1947 will be validated before spare stamp 53 expires April 30."

Lambuth Quota Topped Sunday By Methodists

Cash, Individual Pledges Are $3600; Rest To Be Raised

WILL PAY BY 1948

With a large congregation present at the morning services yesterday, First Methodist Church reported out in cash and pledges on the $4300 quota for Lambuth College. There was over $3000 in cash, which, with the individual pledges, made a total exceeding $3600. The remainder was pledged by the church through action of the official board, and will be raised and paid on or before April 1, 1948.

Lambuth College is believed to be an integral part of Methodism in this area, and First Methodist Church has participated in the promotion of Christianity in West Kentucky and West Tennessee through this offering to Christian education.

At present there are over 70 Lambuth graduates serving pulpits in the Memphis Conference. In addition, there are many Lambuth graduates serving as Sunday School teachers, stewards, officers of the Woman's Society. Graduates of Lambuth carry the ideals of Christian education into their work, as well as their business and professional lives and communities.

The Lambuth Development program in the local church was led by A. C. Byits, chairman, and Abe Jolley, co-chairman, together with a corps of workers.

Woman Rescued In Hotel Fire

A woman who gave her name as Mrs. Bonnie Clifton, 38, Charlestown, Ind., was trapped by smoke on the ninth floor of the Kentucky Hotel, Louisville, Ky., when fire broke out on that floor of the midtown hotel, she is shown leaning from the hotel window. (AP Wirephoto)

No One Hurt In Hotel Fire

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23.—(AP)—Prompt action by firemen, calmness of guests and presence of proper fire escapes were given credit for the fact that no one was injured when fire broke out here yesterday in the Kentucky Hotel.

All of the 330 guests registered in the hotel who were in the building at the time, were removed to safety by firemen and hotel employees who had been given fire drills by the management.

The first fire alarm was sounded at 11:31 a. m. and Fire Chief John Krusenkius declared the blaze under control at 2:44 p. m.

The fire started in the rooms of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Mayer, Henderson, Ky., who had left the hotel a few minutes before to attend the wedding of their son. Mayer said later he had no idea what could have caused the blaze.

High point of the fire was the rescue of Mrs. Bonnie Clifton, 38, Charlestown, Ind., beauty-shop operator, from her ninth-floor room by Lt. William Cummings, aide to Chief Krusenkius, and Pvt. Eddie Branch, aide to Capt. Joe Dusch, First District battalion chief.

A crowd of several hundred persons saw the woman leaning far out of the ninth-floor window while smoke and flame poured from windows to her right. Firemen, policemen, and others in the crowd begged her not to jump (she had no intention of doing so, she said later) while members of a hook-and-ladder crew maneuvered to raise an aerial ladder under the Walnut Street trolley-coach wires.

Legion Dance Is December 26

Ray Robbins' Orchestra Will Play For Dancers From 9 P. M. To 1 A. M.

Music that is fresh and different will emanate from the bandstand of the concrete building on Fourth street, next to the American Legion, when Ray Robbins and his orchestra play here Dec. 26, 9 to 1, for the American Legion dance.

Robbins, a personable young man from California, is a triple-threat bandman—a singer whose melodic voice brings new warmth and richness to the ballads of the day, a top-flight trumpet star, and a maestro who has made his new band one of the top-ranking musical aggregations in the country in the year since it was first organized.

Already famous for his singing with such bands as Chuck Foster, Qua Arnhem, and Al Donahue, Robbins decided about a year ago to take up the baton over an orchestra of his own. The band opened at the Meadowbrook in Culver City, California, playing opposite Harry James, and scored an instantaneous success.

The Robbins orchestra then toured the country, riding on an ever-increasing wave of popularity. This fall, Robbins' band of music moved to be just what American dancers had been waiting for and highly successful engagements followed at such spots as the Club Madrid in Louisville, the Lake Club in Springfield, the Indiana Roof Ballroom, Indianapolis; Penny City in Columbia; Forts Dix, Belknap, St. Louis; Transboro Club; Georgetown and the Peabody Hotel in Memphis. Robbins also set the amazing record of playing these engagements at the Embassy within the space of a single year.

Children See Father Die

Dyersburg Man Hit By Car On Trip To Town To Buy His Family Gifts

Dyersburg, Tenn.—While his small children watched from the window of their nearby home, a Dyersburg father was struck and fatally injured by a speeding automobile that left the street and careened onto the sidewalk late Friday afternoon.

Dewey Cooper, 40-year-old employe of Dyersburg Cotton Products Co. and the father of six children, was pronounced dead when an ambulance reached the Baird-Brewer hospital with him.

He was standing at a street corner waiting to board a city bus to come to town to Christmas shop for the children.

While the children saw the accident, the visibility was so poor that they did not learn immediately that it was their father who was crushed to death by the automobile.

Funeral services were held yesterday at 2 o'clock at Curry's Chapel.

A warrant for the arrest of the driver of the automobile was expected to be issued Saturday.

Grisson Rites Set Tuesday

Pilot Oak Man Died At His Home Yesterday; Services At Bethlehem

Fern Grisson, 45, died yesterday afternoon at 5:30 at his home in Pilot Oak.

Funeral services will be held at the Bethlehem church in Pilot Oak at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, with Jackson Brothers, Dukesdon, in charge.

Mr. Grisson is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Grisson; three daughters, Mrs. Benton Ivy, Dayton, O., Mrs. J. E. Scott, Paducah, and Miss Lorraine Grisson, Akron, O.

Inflated Food Prices Now Exceed Those After W. W. I.

Washington, Dec. 23.—(AP)—Retail food prices in mid-November reached the highest point on record, 15 percent above the peak hit in June, 1920, after World War I, the bureau of labor statistics reported today.

An advance of 4.3 percent between mid-October and mid-November boosted the agency's retail food price index to 157.7 percent of the 1925-26 average—34 percent higher than a year ago.

On the average, BLS said, food prices in November were twice as high as in August, 1929. The index had risen steadily for nine months, gaining 56 percent since mid-June.

The report was based on a survey of 66 large cities. A preliminary check on 12 major cities indicated, BLS said, that food prices would decline slightly this month.

Steepest rises during the month ending Nov. 15 were reported for fats and oils, meats except poultry, and fruits and vegetables.

Prices of fats and oils as a group advanced 65 percent between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15, as price controls were lifted and scarcities continued. During the month, lard jumped more than 100 percent. In mid-November, lard cost about 53 cents per pound on the average as compared with 19 cents in June and 10 cents in August, 1939, BLS reported.

Meat prices on Nov. 15, excluding poultry and fish, were nine percent above those of mid-August, prior to the restoration of price controls. Pork prices rose more than 13 percent over mid-August and consumers paid about 30 percent more—or an average of 76 cents per pound—for sliced bacon. As supplies of meat rose during the month seasonal decline.

Compared with a year ago, the greatest food price advances occurred in southern cities—Birmingham and Knoxville more than 41 percent and Winston-Salem nearly 41 percent. The smallest increases occurred in Newark, 26.5 percent; Buffalo, 25 percent; and Portland, Ore., 29 percent.

Red Ultimatum Orders U. S. Ship To Leave Darien, Or "Accept The Consequences"

Russ Had Refused To Let American Citizens Debar

SHIP OBEYS ORDER

Dairen, Manchuria, Dec. 20.—(Delayed)—(AP)—A United States Navy ship pulled out of the port of Dairen this afternoon after receiving a verbal ultimatum from Russian military officials to the effect that "unless you leave within 20 minutes we will not be responsible for the consequences."

Previously, the Russian military commander in charge of the city had refused to permit an American businessman with full clearance from U. S. authorities to debar. Also denied permission to land were two American newspapermen, representing the combined world press.

Russian troops have occupied Dairen since the Japanese surrender. Although the Chinese-Russian treaty of 1945 called for its destination as a free port under Chinese administration, Soviet forces still are in control of the city.

(In Washington, the State Department said it had received no report of the "verbal ultimatum" and would have no immediate comment.)

The vessel, LC-3 1090, was on a second route—courier mission to Dairen carrying diplomatic mail and supplies to the U. S. Consulate there.

In view of the fact that the details of the first trip had been revealed to the press, two respondents were permitted to take passage on this trip by Admiral Charles M. Cooke, Jr., commander of the ship. Admiral Cooke had ruled that no photographs could be made without the consent of the local officials.

The ship arrived at Dairen Dec. 18, and requested permission to remain in port for 48 hours. This was accepted without comment by the Soviet authorities who met the ship at Anchorage.

The ship remained in the harbor two additional hours while U. S. Consul General H. Merrill Benninghoff attempted a last minute appeal to the Soviet military authorities to permit an American businessman, Jesse L. Poole, Atlanta, Ga., representing the Standard Vacuum Oil Co., to go ashore. It was at this point that the Soviet ultimatum was delivered.

The Soviets ordered the ship to leave despite the fact that neither the diplomatic courier nor the commanding officer of the ship were aboard. They were at the American Consulate awaiting results of Consul General Benninghoff's final appeal to the Soviet commander. They arrived on board only at the very moment of the ship's departure.

The Russian military commander of the city, Maj. Gen. V. U. Korzanoff, refused to see the American Consul General, however, and the ultimatum was delivered to the ship by one of his military aides.

When the consul called at the Soviet commander's home to appeal from the decision banning the three Americans from Dairen, he was left standing in the bitterly cold street while a sentry carried his request inside. After some time, he was told that General Korzanoff was not available.

Benninghoff had previously called on the Russian Consul General, S. N. Petrov, to inquire why American citizens were not allowed ashore. Petrov replied that the whole matter was in the hands of Soviet military authorities. He said authorization for such entries must come from Moscow.

The refusal today was the third rebuff the American Consul General had received from the Soviet military during the American ship's brief visit.

U-Tote-Em Gives Bonus

Four Employes Of Fulton Store Receive Checks; Other Stores Participate

Four employes of the Fulton U-Tote-Em Grocery store received Christmas bonus checks today, according to Johnson Hill, manager.

They were Aaron Kirby, Wayne McClure and Russell McMories, clerks, and Mr. Hill. Employes must have been with the company for three months or longer to receive Christmas checks.

The approximately 40 U-Tote-Em stores in Kentucky and Tennessee paid their employes a total of $4,280 in holiday bonuses this year.

These gifts are in addition to the regular New Year's bonus given all employes who have one year or more service with the company.

The First Christmas

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.

(And this taxing was first made when Cyprius was governor of Syria.)

And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.

And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David).

To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.

And so it was, that while they were there, the days were accomplished that she should be delivered.

And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.

And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.

And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them; and they were sore afraid.

And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.

For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,

Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

With The Fourth Estate

Humanity's hope and civilization's cry for a brave, new world is perennially strengthening by the light that shines from the eyes of children as they stand in the presence of their Christmas tree.

The wonder of these faces, untroubled and untroubled, is the greatest lesson.

For here is faith, untroubled in its simplicity, here is unselfishness, untroubled.

Here is devotion, untroubled. Here is goodness, in its glory.

The magic of this light shines outward from the world of childhood onto the pathways of our adult world—pathways sometimes darkened.

This light can pierce that darkness. And again this year, these eyes will shine, these faces glow.

Let these eyes be cast on us and warm us. Warm our hearts. Kindle the spark. Light the way.

For great things are all cradled in the land of simplicity and faith—the land of a child's face.

And peace in the world is the great thing we are hearing this Christmas.

And having peace must spring from those simple truths that generate this light that shines in the eyes of children.

That those who lead the world out of a period of darkness will gaze this Yuletide into the faces of little children—and gaining such the spark—is the Christmas wish and message of this newspaper. (Edwin Eberly.)

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa Claus:

Please write me a poem and some tools so I can make a work shop. I do not at a B. E. gun and I will save it till I am fourteen years old believe it or not. Bring me a sweet potato—I would like some spuds and a few pieces of double bubble.

Your friend,
Joe Johnson

Dear Santa Claus:

I am a little boy five years old and I have been a good boy for my age. Please bring me a truck, Mack truck, a tank that will run and any thing else you wish to have. I'm sure and bring me several rolls of caps. I have a cap gun.

Don't forget my mom and dad and Mr. Johnson Huddleston. Lots of love,
Master Billy Dandridge

I am a little boy seven years old. I have tried to be a good boy.

I go to Holy-Nom-an school and am in the second grade. Please bring me two cap guns and five rolls of caps and a cowboy hat and a cowboy.

Maybe We're Lucky

By Dewitt MacKenzie, AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

When one looks over the current newspaper headlines it does seem difficult to reconcile them with the idealism of "On Earth Peace, Good Will Toward Men" which the Christmas season represents, and if your correspondent were an unregenerated Scrooge he probably would try to rub in that misanthropic thought.

Strife and rumors of strife encircle the globe. There are half a dozen situations which could develop into another world war if given half a chance. Just get out your maps and take a look:

High ranking Chinese government and communist leaders in Peking agree that all-out civil war is imminent. That easily could be, and with about a fifth of the world's population in an upheaval the rest of the globe would be in a terrible danger.

French troops are engaged in fierce battles with rebels in Indochina. The situation in India between the rival Moslems and Hindus remains tense after much bloody communal conflict growing out of the search for a way of implementing Britain's offer of independence.

The Iranian (Persian) government claims to have in hand the Red revolt in Azerbaijan province on the Soviet Union border. But the situation remains tense and explosive. Palestine is aflame, and will remain so until the Jewish-Arab conflict is adjoined. Greece charges that Moscow-Dominated Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria are planning to take away Greece Macedonia by force, and Athens welcomes the decision of the United Nations Security Council to send a commission to investigate.

Then, more dangerous than any of these other threats are the great differences lying between Russia and the Western Allies. There we have involved the Big Three upon whose shoulders rests the weight of world-peace.

So goes the story, and if your correspondent were suffering from a touch of Scrooge he probably would emphasize these threats, and point out that even nature is on a rampage with disastrous earthquakes and tidal waves in the Orient. Still, while recognizing the very real dangers, I don't believe that black pessimism should be given the right of way. As we have remarked before, another great war could develop from the present unhappy set-up—but war is not inevitable. We have a right to be hopeful.

In many respects we are getting echoes of the first World War. It would be foolish, of course, to over-simplify the situation by saying that history is merely repeating itself. There are new and mighty elements which didn't follow the previous war. However, the point to note is that trials and tribulations were bound to follow, the end of the late conflict. Indeed, we are lucky that things are no worse.

Christmas Engineering

North Platte, Neb.—(AP)—The proprietor of a North Platte hotel did a little rearranging when a Christmas tree delivered for his lobby turned out to be bare on one side and exceedingly bushy on the other.

He bored holes in the bare side, but off some of the spare branches from the other, and thrust them into the holes.

It's a beautiful Christmas tree.

W. Batts and Mrs. Samantha Craig.

In a quiet ceremony read Sunday afternoon at 4:00 in the parlance of the North Side Methodist Church, Paducah, Kentucky, Miss Elsie Randle, daughter of Mrs. Ben F. Randle, and the late Mr. Randle of Fulton, became the bride of Mr. Billy Gene Dunning, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Dunning of Fulton. The ceremony was read by the Rev. W. T. Wynn.

The bride wore a street length dress of pale blue wool jersey fashioned with high scooped neckline and puffed up sleeves. Her accessories were black and at her shoulder was placed a single orchid.

Mrs. Wayne H. McClure, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor and wore a winter white and blue wool jersey dress with black accessories.

Wayne H. McClure attended the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Dunning attended Paducah and Fulton schools and has made her home in Fulton for the past two years.

Mr. Dunning attended Fulton schools and served in the Navy 36 months.

The couple will make their home in Fulton.

After the customary bride party was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Walker, Jr., sister and brother-in-law of the bridegroom with a lovely dinner at their home.

SOUTH FULTON P.T.A.
The South Fulton P. T. A. met Friday morning at 9:30. The meeting was opened with a prayer by the Rev. J. T. Drace, minister of the South Fulton Baptist Church.

The business session was presided over by Mrs. E. L. Harris, chairman. Minutes were read by Mrs. Hugh Barnes, secretary.

Treasurer's report was given by Mrs. James Palmer. Brief reports were given by the chairmen of standing committees. It was voted to buy a basketball.

for the Boy Scout troop that is sponsored by this organization.

The room award went to Miss Pepper's first grade, which had 22 parents present.

The program, The Christmas Festival, Santa's Toy Shop, Christmas in Sweden and The Night Before Christmas was presented by children selected from the first six grades. The lighting and costumes were beautiful, and the children's performances showed that they had had very fine training by their teachers. A large crowd was present.

The P. T. A. will meet next on Jan. 30.

There will be no snow for most of the nation. The word from the Chicago weather bureau, which added that any remnants of Santa Claus should be made last night, are that the snow in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia will disappear for the most part, by tomorrow evening.

Temperatures in the midwest, which have been higher than seasonal, peaked by a reading of 50 in Kansas City last midnight, were expected to be pushed down to normal by a cold front spreading south and east from the Dakotas.

Volume Up But Price Down On Burley Market

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23—(AP)—Volume of burley tobacco sales in Kentucky held up well last week, but the price average dropped 54 cents a hundredweight, compared with the figure for the preceding three-day sales week, the state department of Agriculture reported.

Sales are scheduled to be resumed Jan. 6, after the usual Christmas holidays, on a three-hour daily schedule. Markets last week auctioned 59,926,017 pounds for a total of $24,595,837.17, an average of $41.04 a hundred. Sales totals for the season are 153,370,705 and $62,946,995.07, making an average to date of $41.04, same as for the past week.

Talmadge Lies Near Neighbors

Georgia Governor-Elect Is Buried Today At M'Rae 'Where He Wished To Be'

McRae, Ga., Dec. 23—(AP)—They buried Eugene Talmadge here today, among the neighbors he loved. The red-suspended campaigner for "White Supremacy," who won a fourth term as governor of Georgia but did not live to begin it, will rest on a windswept knoll in Oak Grove cemetery—just as he wished. Funeral services were set for 1 p. m. (CST) in the First Baptist church, of which he was a member.

The governor-elect died early Saturday in Atlanta after a three-month bout with a stomach ailment and subsequent complications. Talmadge's wife, known to thousands as "Miss Mitt," selected the site, saying "here is where he wished to be—here among his friends." The cemetery is not far from his rambling McRae farm.

Yesterday the body lay in state for five hours in the State Capitol, while more than 10,000 Georgians shuffled past in silent respect. Today it was brought from Atlanta in a funeral procession which arranged a detour to pass through his birthplace at Portway, Ga.

Floral tributes came from family, friends, political associates and such divergent organizations as the Women's Republican Club of Georgia and

Legs Too Long—He'd Rather Walk

Syracuse, N. Y. —(AP)—If the Syracuse Transit Company had to depend on persons like Gordon R. Johnson for patronage, it would go broke. During the 13 years Johnson has been a license clerk at City Hall, he reports, he has taken the bus only twice. Both times it was raining hard. Buses are uncomfortable for his six-foot-two-inch frame. "If I get a seat my knees are jammed up against the seat in front and if I have to stand up my head is bouncing off the ceiling," he added.

The flood was choked off abruptly in midsummer, but not before scores of concerns had refunded securities at lower cost and acquired funds for post-war expansion programs. At the year-end signs multiplied that new financing, often termed a barometer of national economic well-being, was on the uptick again. The early-1946 climb in bond prices was accompanied by a cat-and-dog fight between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board over the question of allowing interest rates to drop still further or to call a turn in a decade-long trend. The Treasury wanted the rate to remain low in order to pay as little as possible in interest charges on a huge public debt. The Federal Reserve saw low rates as highly combustible inflation fuel. When the smoke cleared away government bond prices were on the way down—and interest rates on the way up. The price pattern followed by government bonds more or less established the route taken by corporate issues through the year. Governments reached a peak in April, slid steadily downward for nearly two months, steadied briefly before dropping to a low for the year in September and then again steadied. Government financing policy seems a remote affair to the man in the street. Sooner or later though, the farmer with a mortgage, the widow with a pension, the businessman with money to invest, the owner of an insurance policy, the tax payer all feel the impact of what the government decides to do about interest rates. Government issues held by banks form the basis for tremendous credit expansion and policy now revolves about the problem of shifting the debt as much as possible from the banks to individuals and other investors. Such a process would kill two birds with one stone—the banks would be deprived of the means of undue credit expansion and some of the excess funds in the hands of the public would be copped up. The First Christmas

And it came to pass in those days that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed.
 (And this taxing was first made when Cyrenus was governor of Syria.)
 And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city.
 And Joseph also went up from Galilee, out of the city of Nazareth, into Judaea, unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; (because he was of the house and lineage of David).
 To be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child.
 And so it was, that, while they were there, the days were accomplished, that she should be delivered.
 And she brought forth her first-born son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn.
 And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night.
 And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shined about them; and they were sore afraid.
 And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people.
 For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord.
 And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.
 And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying,
 Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.

With The Fourth Estate

Humanity's hope and civilization's cry for a brave, new world is perennially strengthened by the light that shines from the eyes of children as they stand in the presence of their Christmas tree—Santa Claus.
 The greater the times, the more the children's wonder.
 For here is faith rekindled in its simplicity.
 There is unselfishness, unadorned.
 There is devotion, unfeigned.
 There is goodness, in its glory.
 The magic of this light shines outward from the world of childhood onto the pathways of our adult world—pathways sometimes darkened.
 This light can pierce that darkness.
 And again this year, these eyes will shine, these faces glow.
 Let these eyes be cast on us and warm us, warm our hearts. Kindle the spark. Light the way.
 For great things are all cradled in the land of simplicity and faith—the land of a child's face.
 And peace in the world is the great thing that our hearts this Christmas.
 And lasting peace must spring from those basic truths that generate this light that shines in the eyes of children.
 That those who lead the world out of a period of darkness will gaze this Yuletide into the faces of little children—and gaze which the spark—in the Christmas wish and message of this newspaper. (Dresden Epitaph.)

Letters To Santa Claus

Dear Santa Claus:
 Please bring me a drum and some tools so I can make a work shop. I do not want a B. B. gun and I will save it till I am fourteen years old believe it or not. Bring me a sweet potato—I would like some spuds and a few pieces of double bubble.
 Your friend,
 Joe Johnson

Dear Santa Claus:
 I am a little boy five years old and I have been a good boy for my age. Please bring me a try-die, black beard, a tank that will run and any thing else you happen to have. Be sure and bring me several rolls of cigs. I have a cap gun.
 Don't forget my mom and dad and Mr. Johnson Huddleston.
 Lots of Love,
 Master Billy Sensing

I am a little boy seven years old. I have tried to be a good boy.
 I go to Perry Normal school and am in the second grade.
 Please bring me two cars guns and pins. I want a bicycle and a book and candy and a tower. I want it all.
 Eddie Allins

Maybe We're Lucky

When one looks over the current newspaper headlines it does seem difficult to reconcile them with the idealism of "On Earth Peace, Good Will Toward Men" which the Christmas season represents, and if your correspondent were an unregenerated Scrooge he probably would try to rub in that misanthropic thought.
 Brife and rumors of strife encircle the globe. There are half a dozen situations which could develop into another world war if given half a chance. Just get out your maps and take a look:
 High ranking Chinese government and communist leaders in Peking agree that all-out civil war is imminent. That easily could be, and with about a fifth of the world's population in an upheaval the rest of the globe would be in a terrible danger.
 French troops are engaged in fierce battles with rebels in Indochina. The situation in India between the rival Moslems and Hindus remains tense after much bloody communal conflict growing out of the search for a way of implementing Britain's offer of independence.
 The Iranian (Persian) government claims to have in hand the Red revolt in Azerbaijan province on the Soviet Union border. But the situation remains tense and explosive. Palestine is aflame, and will remain so until the Jewish-Arab conflict is adjected. Greece charges that Moscow-Dominated Yugoslavia, Albania, and Bulgaria are planning to take away Greece Macedonia by force, and Athens welcomes the decision of the United Nations Security Council to send a commission to investigate.
 Then, more dangerous than any of these other threats are the great differences lying between Russia and the Western Allies. There we have involved the Big Three upon whose shoulders rests the weight of world-peace.
 As goes the story, and if your columnist were suffering from a touch of Scrooge he probably would emphasize these threats, and point out that even nature is on a rampage with disastrous earthquakes and tidal waves in the Orient. Still, while recognizing the very real dangers, I don't believe that black pessimism should be given the right of way. As we have remarked before, another great war could develop from the present unhappy set-up—but was is not inevitable. We have a right to be hopeful.
 In many respects we are getting echoes of the first World War. It would be foolish, of course, to over-simplify the situation by saying that history is merely repeating itself. There are new and mighty elements which didn't follow the previous war. However, the point to note is that trials and tribulations were bound to follow, the end of the late conflict. Indeed, we are lucky that things are no worse.

Christmas Engineering

North Platte, Neb.—(AP)—The proprietor of a North Platte hotel did a little rearranging when a Christmas tree delivered for his lobby turned out to be bare on one side and exceedingly bushy on the other.
 He bored holes in the bare side, but off some of the spare branches from the other, and thrust them into the holes.
 It's a beautiful Christmas tree.

Georgia Governor-Elect Is Buried Today At M'Rae 'Where He Wished To Be'

McRae, Ga., Dec. 23—(AP)—They buried Eugene Talmadge here today, among the neighbors he loved.

The red-suspended campaigner for "White Supremacy," who won a fourth term as governor of Georgia but did not live to begin it, will rest on a windswept knoll in Oak Grove cemetery—just as he wished. Funeral services were set for 1 p. m. (CST) in the First Baptist church, of which he was a member.

The governor-elect died early Saturday in Atlanta after a three-month bout with a stomach ailment and subsequent complications. Talmadge's wife, known to thousands as "Miss Mitt," selected the site, saying "here is where he wished to be—here among his friends." The cemetery is not far from his rambling McRae farm.

Yesterday the body lay in state for five hours in the State Capitol, while more than 10,000 Georgians shuffled past in silent respect. Today it was brought from Atlanta in a funeral procession which arranged a detour to pass through his birthplace at Forsyth, Ga.

Floral tributes came from family, friends, political associates and such divergent organizations as the Women's Republican Club of Georgia and for months suddenly discovered they were being left high and dry with large blocks of unsold new securities.

Not until late fall did investors show signs of loosening up. But the pickup was accompanied by a rise in the rate of return offered to new investors.

GOP Congressman Asks Tariff Check

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—A searching investigation of the Democratic foreign trade and tariff policies by the new, Republican-dominated Congress was proposed today by Rep. Gearhart (R-Calif.).

The Californian, a member of the tariff-framing House Ways and Means Committee, suggested the inquiry shortly after commissioners of agriculture the Ku Klux Klan.

Gov. Ellis Arnall and five former chief executives arranged to attend the funeral.

of 13 southern states issued a statement opposing any further reduction in protective tariff rates.

Your Chances For New Car In 1947 Still Aren't Too Good

By David J. Wilkie
Detroit—Bored by materials shortages and labor troubles in its own plants and those of its suppliers, the nation's automobile industry struggled through one of its unhappiest years in 1946.

And, at the moment, the outlook for 1947 is not very bright. Sheet steel will continue a major worry and production volume during the first six months of the year probably will not exceed that of the last half of 1946. The one thing the car manufacturers know positively about 1947 is that whatever new models are introduced early in the year will differ only slightly from those produced in 1946. The changes will be confined to the radiator grilles, hub caps and instrument panels—just enough alteration to distinguish the 1947 from the 1946 model.

What will be done about prices remains the manufacturers' own secret.

Prices may well be influenced, however, by the measure of success of the CIO United Automobile Workers in gaining their 1947 contract demands. The UAW already has announced that in addition to a basic wage increase a demand will be made for an equalization fund to standardize rates of pay throughout the industry. Social Security and retirement clauses also will be pressed. In their planning for 1946—the first full calendar year after the war—the car makers scheduled something like 1,800,000 passenger and 1,000,000 commercial vehicles for production. They made approximately 2,000,000 passenger cars and around 900,000 trucks.

Biggest obstacle was the shortage of sheet steel. The truck production program was less severely affected because trucks use relatively little sheet steel.

There were other shortages, of course, like bumper steel and spring wire, that forced manufacturers to deliver vehicles minus bumpers and rear seat backs and cushions.

In the main, however, the industry's major problem was sheet steel and manufacturers trace its scarcity back to the basic industry strikes of early 1946.

Removal of government controls was followed by price increases for most cars. But production throughout the year was costly and actual earnings for all car builders. In most instances large tax credits carried over from last year were needed to show only modest net profits.

The price increases tightened up demand somewhat but the industry will start 1947 with a larger bank of unfilled orders than it had on hand at the start of this year. The most conservative estimates of the extent of the backlog place the total at about 5,000,000, allowing for the fact that many would-be buyers placed as many as three and four different orders.

Additionally, something like 5,000,000 cars now in operation will not survive the winter. Not all of these, of course, are in the indispensable classification; perhaps half of them will not have to be replaced immediately. They do, however, represent potential demand that the industry will not overlook when it catches up with orders on hand.

Wall Street Report

By Victor Eubank
New York, Dec. 23—(AP)—

Individual stocks managed to record further modest recoveries in today's market but many leaders limped into losing territory.

Mild support was accorded Bethlehem, Western Union, A. J. I. Case, International Harvester, Northern Pacific, Allied Chemical, Texas Co., American Can and Distillers Corp. Backward was N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Sears Roebuck and Westinghouse. Bonds and cotton futures were narrow.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23—(AP)—Louisville dealers buying prices averaged by members of the Louisville Merchants Exchange follows:

Eggs—Current receipts 55 lbs. up 38; standards 28; extras 42; small eggs 23.
Broilers 1-2 lbs. up 36.00; hens 9 lb. up 25.00; Leghorn hens 17.00; old roosters 17; stags 20.00; geese 8 lbs. 25.00; ducks pound 25; turkeys each (old) 40.
Young toms, 12 lbs. up 30.00; young hens 9 lb. up 26.00; No 2 turkeys 20.00; old toms 25, old hens 30.

Gifford Praises Bell System On Postwar Record

AT & T President Notes Progress In Annual Message

"A GOOD JOB"

Walter S. Gifford, president of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., New York City, of which Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. is a subsidiary, sent the following Christmas message to all connected with the Bell System:

"A little over a year ago on the Telephone Hour, I congratulated the men and women of the Bell System on the superb job they did in meeting the nation's communication needs during the war. There were 460,000 of them then and there are more than 625,000 of them now. Tonight I am sure you would all join me, if you were as familiar as I am with their extraordinary accomplishments in the face of great difficulties, in extending sincere appreciation to them for the record-breaking job they have done since V-J Day. "It is 16 months since Japan surrendered. They have been months full of challenge to those of us in the Bell System. After nearly four years of concentrating on war V-J Day found us seriously short of trained personnel and of equipment and facilities to meet the backed-up civilian demand for telephone service. There is perhaps less glory but certainly there is real satisfaction in peacetime accomplishments, and the accomplishments of the last sixteen months have been the most striking in the history of the system. In spite of shortage of critical materials and other difficulties beyond their control, the Bell Telephone Companies have installed more than twice as many telephones as they ever did before. They have added the record number of 3,800,000 telephones, almost equal to the total number of telephones in Great Britain, which country ranks next to the United States in number of telephones. They have added more than $750,000,000 to their telephone equipment and facilities and they have employed every ingenious device that could be thought of to provide the maximum amount and best possible quality of telephone service. Their slogan has been to find out how the impossible can be done. This is our American way in peacetime as well as wartime—it is the spirit that inspired the founders of our country and has made our country great.

"With demands for telephone service greater than they have ever been and with long distance calls more than three times what they were before the war, the service has been surprisingly good. But in spite of record achievements and in spite of doing our level best, we are greatly concerned that there are still over 2,000,000 people waiting for telephone service and many who are not getting the kind of service they want.

The first missionary to New Zealand, Samuel Marsden, arrived in 1814.

ORDINANCE

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF FULTON, KENTUCKY ANNEXING CERTAIN PROPERTY TO THE CITY; PROVIDING FOR ITS PUBLICATION AND FILING A PETITION IN COURT FOR ANNEXATION.

BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of Council of the City of Fulton, Kentucky:

Section 1. That the property lying within the following boundaries shall be and is hereby annexed to the City of Fulton, Kentucky, and the corporate limits of such city is hereby extended to include the said property to-wit:

Beginning at the point of intersection of the east line of the right of way of the Illinois Central Railroad Company (Cairo-Jackson line) and the north line of Theford Street; running thence east along the north line of Theford Street twenty-five (25) poles and eleven (11) links to a stake; thence northerly one hundred and twenty-one (121) poles and four and one-half (4 1/2) links, more or less, to a stake in the south line of the land formerly owned by Mrs. Gertrude Davis; thence westerly along the south line of the said Davis land fifty-four (54) poles to a stake; thence southerly fifty-four (54) poles and sixteen (16) links to the said east line of the right of way of the Illinois Central Railroad Company thence southerly along the east line of said railroad right of way sixty-four (64) poles and ten (10) links, more or less, to the point of beginning containing thirty-four and nine-tenths (34 and 9/10) acres, more or less. Section 2. This ordinance shall be in full force and effect on and after its passage, approval and publication in one issue each week for three consecutive weeks in the Fulton Daily Leader, a daily newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Fulton, Kentucky, which is hereby ordered.

Section 3. Following the publication as set forth in Section 2 a petition shall be filed in the Circuit Court of Fulton County in the name and on behalf of the city for the annexation of the property described in Section 1 and as provided by Section 81.210 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes.

Section 4. Notice of the filing of the petition as set forth in Section 3 shall be given in the same manner as notice of the passage of the ordinance as set forth in Section 4.

Section 5. All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are as to such conflict hereby repealed.

Section 6. If any clause, sentence, part of section hereof is invalid, then such invalidity shall not affect the remaining portions hereof.

Sheriff Killed In Monticello

Monticello, Ky., Dec. 23—(AP)—State Highway Police today were assisting Wayne county officials in investigating the slaying of Sheriff J. J. Gibson, fatally shot here last night, county Judge S. E. Anderson said. Judge Anderson said he was told Sheriff Gibson was shot through the mouth while "trying to arrest some drunks." The judge telephoned Capt. G. S. Blaydes of the State Highway Patrol in Frankfort and Blaydes left immediately for Monticello.

Lewis, UMW Get Hearing, Appeal

Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—The Supreme Court granted John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers a hearing on a new appeal questioning the validity of the preliminary injunction issued against them during the recent soft coal strike.

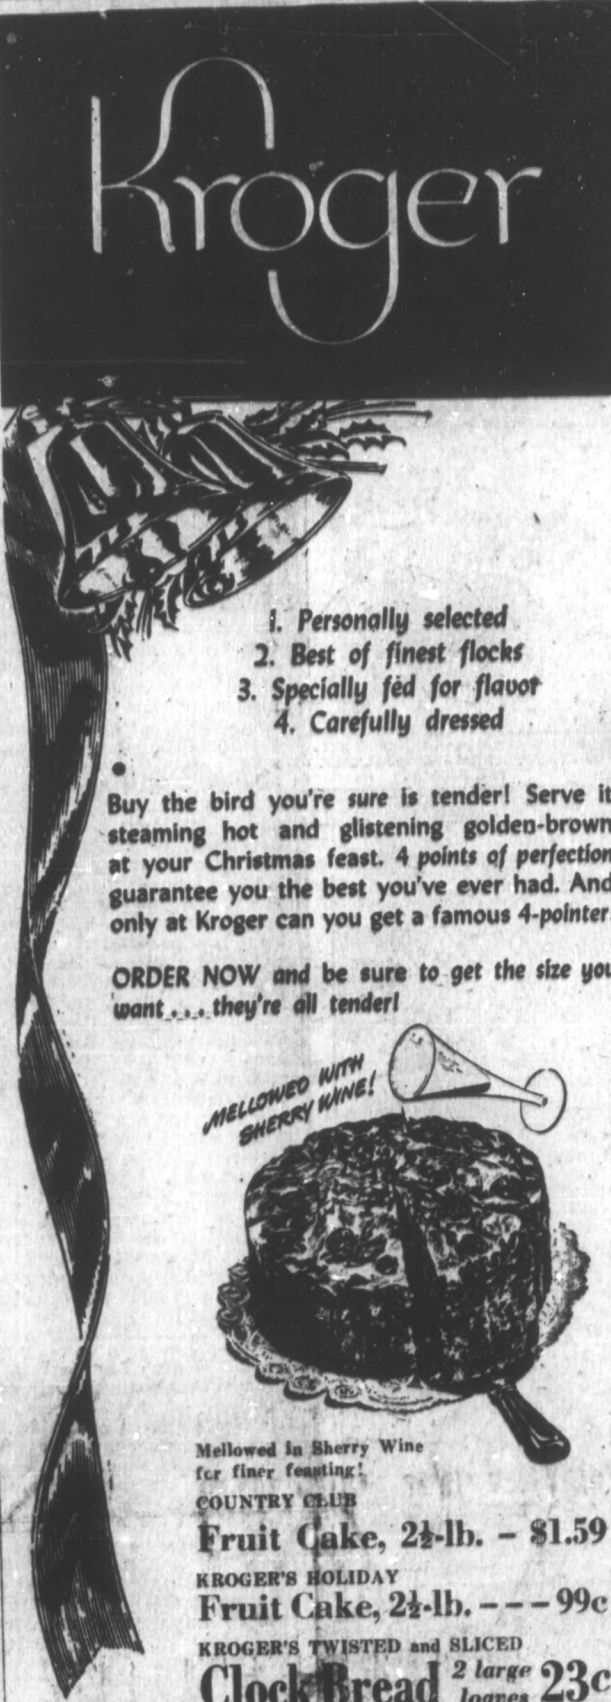

The effect is to broaden the issues of law before the court in Lewis' appeal from the $10,000 fine imposed on him and the $3,500,000 fine on the union for contempt of court.

In earlier petitions, Lewis and the union challenged the validity of temporary restraining orders issued in the same case by U. S. District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough here.

The Supreme Court, in accepting the latest appeal, consolidated it with the appeals granted earlier.

30 Construction Projects Approved By CPA In Week

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 23—(AP)—Thirty construction projects in Kentucky with a total value of $506,732 were approved by the Civilian Production Administration last week, Marcus Greer, district manager of the CPA, announced yesterday. Seven projects with a value of $88,926 were denied during the same period, Greer added.
