

Combs Calls Session For Vote On Important Issues

The General Assembly was called Monday into special session to consider higher pay for appellate and circuit judges, a non-partisan judicial ballot and a compulsory automobile inspection law.

Gov. Bert Combs, issuing his third special session call in nine months, summoned the legislators back to Frankfort for 1 p. m. Monday.

"I would hope they would move as speedily as practical," the governor said. "I hope they could go home by Thanksgiving."

He said the question of how much pay will be asked for Court of Appeals judges, appellate commissioners and circuit judges is still open.

Appellate judges now make $12,000 annually, while circuit judges receive $8,400 annually in addition to $2,400 as special Court of Appeals commissioner. Court of Appeals commissioners draw $11,500 a year.

Combs cited a recent resolution passed by the Kentucky Bar Association recommending that appellate judges be paid $22,500, appellate commissioners $20,000 and circuit judges $17,500 a year.

"My knowledge is that compensation for appellate judges is the lowest in the nation," Combs said. The governor served on the high court at one time.

The bar association resolution said circuit judges in Kentucky are the lowest paid in the nation.

Asked if the subjects could not wait until the regular session of the General Assembly which begins next Jan. 7, the governor said he wanted to avoid a legal matter involving increasing judges' pay during their term.

The issue is whether the Constitution permits salary increases for judges during their terms of office, he said.

Circuit judges were recently elected in Kentucky, and will take office Jan. 1. Appellate judges now are in mid-term, but the governor did not touch on that fact.

Combs said pay increases were necessary to provide an adequate judicial system in Kentucky, attract competent legal talent and keep them.

Both appellate and circuit judges now are elected on a partisan basis. Many file for office under both parties. Aides noted that many circuit judges are elected in a highly partisan atmosphere.

The governor said he wants only a "moderate" automobile inspection bill. He did not elaborate on what the proposed bill would contain.

Miss America Captures Our Hearts

"Is it REALLY Miss America?" a little boy said as the giant float carrying the beautiful Donna Axum approached. When the float got nearer to him, and Miss America flashed that famous smile, the little fellow gasped . . . "it's her . . . the one that was on television."

That's the way it went, all up and down the three-mile long parade route Saturday when more than 20,000 people jammed the streets of the twin cities to see the most famous American beauty of them all. Appearing in one of the smallest towns that the Miss America Beauty Pageant has ever sent their illustrious ambassador, Donna Axum captured the hearts of young and old. Never dismissing that warm and delightful expression from her face, Donna Axum confided to this reporter that it was one of the heaviest schedules she has ever been on since she was named Miss America at Atlantic City in September.

After the enthusiastic reception given her at the airport in Union City on Friday and the short ceremonies at the Park Terrace later, this reporter, Miss Lucille Previti and Donna Axum went over the minute by minute schedule for Saturday.

Said Miss America: "I was going to tell you that some changes would have to be made in your schedule in order for me to get some rest. But after seeing the royal welcome I've gotten so far, I wouldn't change a minute of it." She didn't!

Arising early and ready to begin the day, Miss America left her suite at the Park Terrace at approximately 8:15 a. m. Saturday. Waiting briefly until the other princesses and dignitaries could be accompanied to their cars, she was accompanied to her own car by Al Bushart, her official escort for the Banana Festival. Accepting the keys to the City of South Fulton, she gave reassuring words to Festival officials when the public address system would not work and the record player didn't quite do justice to the Miss America song.

Her remarks at South Fulton set the pattern for the day. Gracious, poised and looking chic in a tweed suit of soft, bright pastel colors and a stunning green hat that she said was "way out" she made herself comfortable for the busy itinerary ahead. On to Fulton, Kentucky for another official welcome the party then went to the pancake breakfast where NBC did some extensive filming.

A short tour of the city brought her to the Pure Milk Company where the world's largest banana pudding was in the making and to the Pepsi-Cola Bottling Company where Charles Reams and the staff were out front with a refreshing Pepsi-Cola. (Miss America's suite was well stocked with Pepsi and everytime the local and national chaperones went there for a short rest, Donna said . . . "let's have a Pepsi.")

The tour then went to the Woman's Club building where the Banana Bake-off winners were given their awards. At eleven a. m. Miss America "met the press" and said in no uncertain terms that she likes bananas. Anxious to meet the contestants in the beauty pageant Saturday night she remarked: "I'm the last person in the world to relax them and give them confidence. I'd be scared to death if I was in a beauty contest as important as this one." She made a few remarks to them and you could see the contestants show their gratitude for her reassuring words.

For just thirty minutes Miss America relaxed before going on to the Home Folks Luncheon at the South Fulton High School cafeteria. There she was met again by flashing cameras and the glare of the television lights. She told here of the fact that she heard a little boy along the way say that "her hat made her look like Robin Hood." She seemed to enjoy the criticism. She wore the same hat on the plane to Memphis Sunday morning, this time with a handsome navy blue suit with a self-scarf that wrapped smartly around her neck.

When she donned this hat, made of bright green velvet and turned up on one side she said: "A girl has to wear odd hats these days to get attention." (She needn't have bothered. No matter where she is, from boarding an airplane to walking down an airport aisle, people look at her twice. Many a time the statement was made: "I'll bet that's Miss America.")

The luncheon was over at promptly one o'clock according to schedule. Arrangements were made to have her rest in her room until the parade started moving. The call was made at about 2:15 from the parade committee to have the distinguished guest-mount her float. It was here that Miss America's first and only inconvenience was witnessed. On arriving at the site of her float, it was learned that Miss America's float was there all right, but that's about all. No vehicle had been assigned to pull the float. With the frenzied effort (Continued on page ten)

Kentucky Team Beats Tennessee In Big Shooting

Kentucky, 3; Tennessee, 0. That was the final score here Friday in the world's first Banana Shoot during the fifth day of the week-long International Banana Festival.

The two five man teams from Kentucky and Tennessee shot at stalks of bananas from 50 feet. The weapons were bows and arrows. The Bluegrass team was led by Adjutant General A. Y. Lloyd, shooting for Governor Bert T. Combs, and the Volunteer team was headed by Hon. Tom Beasley, of Nashville, in the absence of Governor Frank G. Clement.

There were no casualties in the wild shooting match, but there was one indirectly connected with the Festival. A South Fulton elementary school pupil, Diana Lewis, reportedly suffered a fractured (Continued on page ten)

EXCUSE PLEASE!

If we failed to report all phases of the Festival in this issue, please excuse us. The paper was put together by super-human effort this week.

We laughingly called ourselves taking the day off Monday. But between long distance calls from newspapers, wire services, and TV and radio stations we gave it up as a lost cause.

We'll tell you more Festival news next week! Meanwhile we'd like for you to know that if plans work out we are going to print eight pages of Festival pictures next week. The supplement will sell for 25 cents a copy. It will be a wonderful souvenir for yourself and your friends.

Let us know if you want a copy, or more, so we'll know how many to print.

Carolyn Allen Is The Idol Of Her School And The Heroine Of A Proud Community

Carolyn Allen was speechless when a huge entourage of visiting dignitaries and nationally famous personalities gathered at Fulton High School last Friday. She had every reason in the world to be more than "a little shook." For sitting on the stage was Ed Neuman, the renowned NBC commentator, who earns his living by making pretty speeches 'off the cuff.' Also on the stage were other distinguished speakers. And out in the audience were hundreds of Carolyn's admiring school friends who had come to watch a presentation that conferred upon the imaginative, community-loving eighth grade student the title of "Top Banana" and Kentucky Colonel.

As only a distinguished commentator such as Mr. Neuman can do, the tense and exciting atmosphere in the auditorium was soon relaxing and enjoyable when the commentator said:

"As you know Chet Huntley and David Brinkley are top bananas (Continued on page seven)

The morning's program, along with other events of the Festival, were filmed by NBC.

The school girl, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen, brought national attention to the festival, when she had the courage to write Chet Huntley about the Festival and invite him to cover the events. The NBC coverage, which will appear in connection with the Huntley-Brinkley Report, is the result of Carolyn's letter.

At Friday's program the rafters of the auditorium fairly vibrated each time Carolyn's name was mentioned. She is the idol of her school friends and the heroine of a grateful community. Needless to say she has the admiration of a vast broadcasting network that thought enough of her request to (Continued on page seven)

COLONEL AND TOP BANANA, TOO—Carolyn Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Allen of Fulton, received commissions as a "Top Banana" and a Kentucky Colonel during festivities at the International Banana Festival Friday. Edwin Newman of NBC made the presentation of the "Top Banana" commission and Adjutant General A. Y. Lloyd, acting for Governor Bert Combs, presented Carolyn with a commission as an honorary colonel on Combs' staff.

Princess Carol Looks Forward To Exciting Reign As International Banana Ruler

The excitement of winning a beauty pageant most of the time is bundled into one great and glamorous evening when the announcement is made. But for beautiful Carol Glisson the excitement is just beginning.

Carol, 18, a student at the University of Tennessee, Martin Branch was named the First International Banana Princess Saturday night. She had the honor of accepting her crown from Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964. Poised, talented, queenly and extremely beautiful Princess Carol will meet every requirement that the National Banana Council and the International Festival Association expects of her to promote the banana industry and the twin cities of Fulton, Ky. and South Fulton, Tenn. on a nation-wide scale.

Beginning immediately, Princess Carol plans to arrange her studies at UTMB so that she can fill speaking and personal appearance engagements as they come her way.

The finals of the beauty pageant were held at the South Fulton gym on Saturday. Preliminaries of the event were held there on Friday evening. On Saturday morning, Miss America took time out from her busy schedule to stop by Fellowship Hall where the contestants, judges, Festival officials and other beauty queens were attending a "relaxing Pepsi Party."

An overflow crowd, estimated at over 2,000, were on hand to see the 11 finalists compete in swim suits and formals.

Miss Theresa Wall of Paris, Tenn., was selected as first alternate and South Fulton beauty, Linda Thorpe, winner of many beauty titles, was second alternate.

Highlight of the evening was the crowning of the princess by Miss Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964, who received deafening applause as she was introduced and walked down the ramp to the strains of the Miss America song, sung by Norman White, minister of music, at the First Baptist Church. It was an impressive sight and the lovely Arkansas beauty received a standing ovation by the great crowd.

Dick Hawley, popular emcee of WMC-TV of Memphis, was master of ceremonies.

Finalists were: Elaine Beggs of Fulton, Margaret Butts, Dresden, Mary Alice Craig, Humboldt, Patricia C. Crawford, Mayfield, Carol Glisson, Martin, Patrice Harris, Greenfield, Nancy Latta, Fulton

Judith Ann Massengill, Union City, Helen Potts, Union City, Linda Thorpe, South Fulton, and Theresa Walls of Paris.

The entire 25 contestants appeared in formals at the beginning of the pageant, then the 11 finalists competed in swim suits and formals.

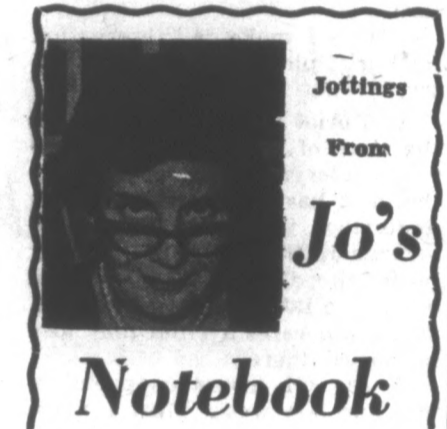

The final five selected were: Mary Alice Craig, Patricia C. Crawford, Carol Glisson, Linda Thorpe and Theresa Wall.

Miss Glisson, the winner, received a $200 cash award and a trophy. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Glisson of Martin. She is a popular student at UTMB, where she is a sophomore and a member of Chi Omega sorority. She is a cheerleader and has won many honors including being selected as Homecoming Queen at the University of the South at Seavanne, Tenn., recently. Her father is an employee of Ferry-Morse in Fulton.

Miss Wall, the runner-up, received a $75 cash award and a trophy.

The second alternate, Miss Linda Thorpe, is a South Fulton graduate and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thorpe. She has won many beauty honors including "Miss South Fulton," "Miss Obion County" and has been runner-up in numerous other contests.

By the time this newspaper reaches you, the first early shock of the success of the giant Banana Festival will have worn off and some people will start nit-picking the event just to have something else to talk about besides their neighbors and civic leaders. So . . .

LET'S STOP THIS NOISE DEPARTMENT: Governor Bert Combs did not appear at the Banana Shoot on Friday at 10:30 a. m. simply because his doctor ordered him to get out of the state for an immediate rest. When he called me from his destination and apologized profusely for his failure to appear, I explained how disappointed all of us would be. He waived his doctor's orders and planned to fly to Memphis by jet. Meanwhile, he called his old friend and ours, General Art Lloyd, to pinch-hit for him at the Banana Shoot until he could get here.

General Lloyd was routed out of bed at 2:30 a. m. Friday and goodness only knows how he got here at 9:30 a. m. without "falling out" from lack of sleep.

Failing to make jet connections to Memphis, Governor Combs chartered a plane to come to Fulton and, according to his office in Frankfort, almost lost his life in the attempt. One of the engines of the plane on which he was flying caught fire in mid-air and goodness knows what happened from there. He did not get back to Frankfort until about 3 a. m. Saturday, far more shaken by his attempt to get to Fulton than the physical ailment that his doctor was trying to cure.

GOVERNOR FRANK CLEMENT, on a tight schedule in New York to appear on the Jimmy Dean Show Thursday night, was grounded in New York Friday morning, as were thousands of others. Lucille Previti and Miss America waited two hours at Idlewild Airport in New York for the weather to clear Friday. Said Lucille: Planes were stacked a mile high. The pair arrived in Memphis two hours late, as the hundreds of people who waited at Union City Friday night for their arrival well know.

MISS AMERICA'S PLANE did not land at Fulton for one very simple reason. The local airport does not have landing lights. Take this matter up with the City Commission instead of making statements that are woven out of whole cloth.

LOCAL AIRPLANE CHARTER SERVICE for Miss America's trip to Fulton was not requested because a "valuable property" like Miss America rarely flies chartered planes. Before the Miss America Pageant Committee ever consented to have her fly in a seven-passenger Aero-Commander, with two commercial pilots at the helm, I almost had to give them the serial number of the plane and the rank, serial number and biography of the pilots. I certainly don't blame the Pageant Committee for such caution. Do you? Any local pilot will tell you they could not fill the bill.

Banana Festival Is Over! It Was The Greatest Exhibition Of Team-work Ever Shown Anywhere!

The First International Banana Festival in our twin cities is now becoming a part of our proud history. It was the greatest exhibition of team-work any community, any size, anywhere in the United States has ever seen. As we try now to get back into the pattern of living we enjoyed before the Festival, we cannot help but be startled at ourselves for accomplishing such a giant undertaking.

It was not easy! What started out to be a nice, pleasant home-town affair, grew and grew, until there were times when everybody connected with the parent organization wondered if we hadn't taken on a job bigger than we could do.

Somehow it seemed that with each problem that confronted us, there was another pleasant bit of news that came our way to spur us on to more work, more enthusiasm, more determination. As the Festival neared, nearly everybody, not just the officials of the organization, began feeling the fatigue that comes with such a Herculean task as we assumed. Minor irritations appeared major controversies; simple chores seemed insurmountable; infinitesimal details plagued us, until some of us felt in our hearts, that maybe the event wasn't worth the trouble.

But then came Festival week! Goodness knows that rain for the first two-days should have shaken our spirit. But it didn't. Came Wednesday, and the crowds started coming in. Then the giant Banan-a-rama, with its thousands of people, its hundreds of contestants, and the gay spirit that prevailed really put us over the hump.

That Hootenanny on Thursday, put everybody in a singing, toe-tapping mood as we awaited the arrival of our distinguished guests. Planes were met here and there. Reception groups were at trains and on the highways. Friday's Banana Shoot, the Lion's Club luncheon for our guests and dignitaries, and the Beauty Pageant Friday night added more verve to our spirits.

But then when Miss America arrived on Friday night, we all realized that "the team" consisting of nearly 6000 members (all of our citizens) was being given a victory celebration.

When Saturday dawned clear and sunny and the official entourage of Festival officials and that lovely, lovely Miss America started wending its way through our streets from one event to another, we knew then that nowhere, but nowhere has a community ever been so united in a feeling of justifiable pride.

Today the glamour of the Festival is gone. There remains the arduous task of putting away the decorations, cataloguing our records and making plans for next year. How can we plan another Festival on the heels of an undertaking that amounted to planning a Cotton Carnival, State Fair, and Centennial celebration all wrapped up in just six weeks? It's easy!

All we have to do is to look over our shoulders at the mistakes we made, correct them, improve and tighten up the methods of our operations and go beyond the American scene, to bring in more of the Central American color and participation.

It would be a waste of time and words to express any public appreciation to any particular person or group for the mammoth success of the First International Banana Festival. We would all be thanking each other. For the appreciation of our community efforts will come from those people who have said and are saying right now: "How does Fulton and South Fulton do the many things that they do with such success?"

We do it because we love our twin cities. We know that we have the greatest potential for development of any community in the Nation. With this as our guide, we just see our duty and we do it.

What else can we say!

Director Of Miss America Pageant Gets Our Thanks For Making Beauty The American Image

Mrs. Leonora S. Slaughter
Executive Director
Miss America Pageant
Atlantic City, N. J.
Dear Mrs. Slaughter:

A lovely young lady by the name of Donna Axum was an honored guest in our Twin Cities this past week-end. To the world she is known as Miss America of 1964. She was welcomed here as a distinguished personage. When she left us we realized that Donna Axum has learned, in a short two and a half months, an important lesson. She has learned that she has lost her identity as a person and has become the image of a country.

By her grace and charm and poise, she represents the aspirations of every American girl. In every little talk she makes, before audiences large and small, she renews our faith, she bolsters our courage, she makes us know that the convictions that lead us in our daily lives are far more important than who leads us. Donna Axum knows that she belongs to the American public and they belong to her.

It is a most happy partnership.

the thousands, upon thousands of people from every walk of life, of every age, of every race, creed and color who came to see Donna Axum, there lingered in our heart and mind the thought of the timeless effort it has taken to create this image of America in the person of a new individual each year.

We know that it did not come about by happenstance. We made it our business to learn that for the past thirty years or more, you have devoted your life to directing the Miss America Beauty Pageant. We know that, like the man who came to dinner, you joined the national group to help out in a pinch, and you have continued to make the Miss America Beauty Pageant your life's work.

From the very pleasant association we enjoyed with Donna, and with her devoted, efficient and constant companion, Miss Lucille Prevetti, we can see that you have not preoccupied yourself with personalities, but with objectives. You have concerned yourself, undoubtedly, with projecting the spirit of America in beautiful, competent and talented young ladies over the long and dedicated years. You have succeeded beyond your wildest dreams.

Donna Axum, this year's Miss America, has renewed our spirit of America. She has left us with a warm feeling inside; with a smile in our hearts. We shall never forget her. We shall never be able to thank you enough for doing for us, in these two cities, what you are doing for all of America.

With Donna Axum, we place you and your good husband in our personal Hall of Fame.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission

By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week the Maysville Eagle printed a story saying that a company of the 40th Kentucky (Union) Mounted Infantry regiment had broken open the jail at Carlisle and released two men named Oden, who had been indicted by the Nicholas County grand jury on charges of stealing horses. The newspaper said the company of soldiers, commanded by Capt. Greenbury Reed, passed through Maysville with the two men rescued from civil authorities.

The Maysville paper said it would be sorry to believe there was anything in the charges against the Odens, "especially William Oden, who has been of service to the Union cause," but if they were innocent there was no reason to think they would not be acquitted if tried in Nicholas County. It called upon Col. Clinton J. True, commander of the regiment, to take appropriate action, and said if he did not do so, an appeal would be made to Gov. Thomas E. Bramlette. The editor wrote: "Belonging to the military has no protection against the penalties of crime, or else the establishment would soon become a mere license for every description of felony."

Many Kentucky supporters of the Union had nothing but contempt for the abolitionists who were also supporting the Union effort, and they did not hesitate to say so. One of these was George D. Prentice, editor of the Louisville Journal; another was the aging Gen. Leslie Combs, who had been a hero of the War of 1812. Prentice had printed in the Journal a letter in which Combs said: "The North has not felt this war as we have done. Kentucky has been overrun by both armies. We have, however, never faltered in our devotion to the Union. Our children have fought on every battlefield and never one fled as Carl Schurz and his gang of freedmen-shriekers did at Chancellorsville." Brig. Gen. Carl Schurz, a native of Germany and an ardent abolitionist, had commanded a division of the XI Corps of the Union Army at Chancellorsville, the corps that had been struck and driven from the field by Confederates under Lt. Gen. T. J. (Stonewall) Jackson. During the week under review, Prentice reluctantly printed in the Journal a letter in which Schurz said: "I wish to say that in asserting 'Carl Schurz fled at Chancellorsville,' Mr. Leslie Combs lies." In an editorial note, Prentice said he was publishing the Schurz letter "in compliance with the request of the author, though we can but regret that he has thought fit to couch his denial in terms so exceedingly unbecomingly and unwarranted."

A Louisville detective, Capt. Edwards, returned from Caseyville and reported that he had killed "Nat Horton, of Quantrell's band of guerrillas." The account said Horton fired from behind a tree and hit the detective in a shoulder. "The captain then closed upon him and when within good range returned the fire, killing him instantly."

Questions And Answers For

VETERANS AFFAIRS

Q—My husband was recently discharged from a VA hospital because of what the hospital said was "MHB." What does this mean?

A—The letters stand for "Maximum Hospital Benefit." This means that hospital officials believe that the patient's condition has improved to the point that additional time in the hospital would bring about no further improvement.

Q—When I enter a VA hospital next month, may I continue to draw my disability pension?

A—Veterans with dependents will not have their disability pensions reduced while in a VA hospital. Veterans without dependents who draw their pension under Public Law 211 will have it adjusted to $30 per month at the end of the second full calendar month of hospitalization. At their discharge from the hospital the full pension will be resumed. Veterans without dependents who draw their pension under the Old Pension Law will have it reduced at the end of six months to 50 percent or $30 whichever is the greater amount. The full amount will be resumed upon discharge from the hospital. Payments of amounts withheld under the Old Pension Law may be made on termination of hospitalization.

Q—Can a veteran obtain a GI loan to buy a home in Mexico?

A—No. The property must be located in the United States, its territories or possessions.

Q—I am a Korean Conflict veteran who was released from active duty in May, 1957. May I still be entitled to educational benefits under Public Law 550, the Korean GI Bill?

A—Public Law 550 requires that the veteran enter training within three years after release from active duty. Since you have passed this deadline you are no longer eligible for the benefit.

Q—I want to convert my term insurance to a permanent plan but I've put it off for years because it costs too much to convert $10,000. What can I do?

A—You can convert part of your insurance in any multiple of $500 after the first $1,000. Convert what you can budget now; retain the balance as term insurance until you are able to convert it.

Q—In a short time, I will retire after twenty years of military service. I desire to go to school under the GI Bill. Am I eligible?

A—It depends on when you received your first unconditional discharge after January 31, 1955. If less than three years have passed since that clear discharge, you are eligible; if more than three years, you are not.

Q—Does the date of my discharge count as far as rehabilitation training is concerned if I have a service-connected disability?

A—Servicemen discharged for physical disability may have eligibility for vocational rehabilitation training. Approval of such training depends on a number of factors and should be investigated. Ask the Veterans Administration.

Q—A veteran has asked me as his personal physician to get a report of the VA x-ray and laboratory studies made at a recent examination. How can I get this information from the VA?

A—You may secure Form 3288 from the Veterans Administration which will authorize the release of information from the veteran's records. Or the veteran concerned may send to the VA a written statement granting permission to release the information to the doctor.

Q—Are members of my immediate family eligible for VA hospitalization?

A—Veterans only are eligible to receive care in a VA hospital. First priority goes to veterans with service-connected disabilities; after that service men without service-connected disabilities who are unable to pay for hospital care.

Q—Can I make a reservation for burial plot in a national cemetery?

A—Burial plots are assigned at the time of the funeral. No advance reservations are made. Once the plot has been assigned it is understood that the wife (or the veteran if the wife is already buried there) will be buried there when the later death takes place. In certain cases a child may also be buried there.

Q—My GI insurance premium was due last week. Must I make formal application for reinstatement?

A—No. You have 31 days of grace from the date your premium was due to make payment and avoid a policy lapse.

Q—If I should die, what must my wife do in order to qualify for a VA pension?

A—She should write, telephone or visit the nearest VA office (there is at least one in every state) to see if she is eligible for pension under the statutory income limitation. The VA will explain this to her and send her the necessary application forms.

Q—What is the final date of entitlement of World War II veterans for a GI loan?

A—In no case will the entitlement of an eligible World War II veteran extend beyond July 25, 1967.

Q—I have no dependents and will be retired next month at age 65. My retirement income from Social Security and a pension to which I contributed will be more than $1800 a year. Is there any point in my filing for disability pension?

A—No point. Since you are over the income limitation, VA could not approve your claim.

South Fulton School Passes Thousand - Pupil Mark Monday

South Fulton Schools' total enrollment reached 1,000 Monday Morning, November 8, 1963 as Miss Maudie Pepper, second grade teacher, enrolled Norma Sue Wiggins, who had moved from Water Valley, Kentucky. Of this number, 436 are transported by eight buses and the remainder live in South Fulton.

The Elementary section has enrolled 690 while the High School section has enrolled 310. These figures were released by Mr. Lester Betty, Principal of the High School and Mr. K. M. Winston, Principal of the Elementary School. These 1,000 enrolled on the Hill makes South Fulton the largest School in Obion County. There are 22 teachers in the Elementary School and 13 in the High School.

Even though South Fulton enjoyed a large building program in 1961, the school is now bursting at the seams. Not a single room is available and if the trend continues, the total enrollment for the year will probably reach 1,050. The scarcity of room makes it impossible for the schools to carry out a full program. With such an enrollment, and only one gym, half of the Junior High School and all of the lower Elementary must have their P. E. classes outside. The Elementary school secures the gym two periods with only four remaining periods in the school day, so the High School must crowd large numbers in each period. The building facilities are not sufficient, even though it is in use until 5:30 P. M. most days. P. E. is required by the State Department of Education for all students and State efforts are being made to enforce it. Also the High School and Elementary School need additional classrooms now not including the pressing need for a Junior High Study Hall.

The South Fulton High School faculty include the following: Mr. Lester Betty, Principal; Mr. Ronnie McAllister, Boys' Basketball coach; Mr. Roland Bell, Football coach; Mrs. Catherine Roberts, Girls' Basketball coach; Mr. Don Stevens, English; Mrs. Sallie Ferguson, English; Mrs. Mamie Ennis, English; Mr. Clifford Wright, Chemistry and Science; Mrs. Virginia Cannon, Biology and Science; Mrs. Linda Nelms, Mathematics; Miss Cammella Cunningham, Latin and Library; Mrs. Catherine Thompson, Home Economics; Mr. Ual Killebrew, manual science.

The South Fulton Elementary faculty include the following: Mr. K. M. Winston, Principal; Mr. Allen Ferguson, Jr., P. E. and Social Science; Mr. Guy Finch, Jr. Science; Mr. Robert Ward, Jr. English and P. E.; Mrs. Jeanette Burrow, Jr. Hi. English; Mrs. Mildred Anderson, Jr. Hi. Science and P. E.; Mrs. Sara Beth Martin, Jr. Hi. Mathematics; Mrs. Dessie Coltharp and Mrs. Pauline Schwerdt, 6th grade; Mrs. Mary Hawes, 5th and 6th grade; Mrs. Virginia Hancock and Mrs. Erlene Holladay, 5th grade; Miss Katherine Bradshaw, and Mrs. Carlene Jolley, 4th grade; Mrs. Margaret Gray, 3rd and 4th grade; Mrs. Martha Fowlkes and Mrs. Dorothy Smith, 3rd grade; Mrs. Mozelle

Crafton and Miss Maudie Pepper, 2nd grade; Miss Myrtle Brann, 1st and 2nd grade; Mrs. Kenneth Houston and Mrs. Doris Milner, 1st grade.

The town of South Fulton is growing by leaps and bounds and with a peak National School Enrollment expected by experts in 1970, all predictions point to South Fulton receiving more than their share.

Miss Dunavent, Mr. Stephens Wed In Beautiful Oak Grove Ceremony

The marriage of Miss Waynell Dunavent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dunavant of Fulton, and Jimmie Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernestine Stephens of Wingo, was solemnized in the Oak Grove Church of Christ near Dukedom at two o'clock in the afternoon on November 2. Rev. Thomas Y. Smithmier of Clinton performed the ceremony.

Bethyl Gilliland, Jimmy Matheny Married Here

Miss Bethyl Gilliland became the bride of Jimmy Matheny at four o'clock in the afternoon on November 2 in the home of Rev. and Mrs. William King in South Fulton. Rev. King officiated at the double ring ceremony in a lovely setting of white glads and white candles in tall candelabras, entwined in greenery.

The bride is the daughter of David Gilliland of Cayce and Mrs. Gladys Clark of Chicago. Mr. Matheny's parents are James Matheny and Mrs. Maxine Matheny of Fulton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length sheath dress of white brocade with long sleeves. Her corsage was of roses. Her only attendant was Miss Marlene King of Fulton. Bill Dawson of Mayfield attended the bridegroom as best man.

Mrs. Carl Beh, organist, played "O Promise Me" and the traditional wedding marches were used.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held, after which the couple left for a short wedding trip. They are now at home at 200 Laurel Street in Fulton.

India, Nepal Sign Treaty

KATMANDU, Nepal — Indian President Sarvepalli Radharishnan ended a four-day visit to Nepal by joining Nepalese King Mahendra in a communique pledging the mutual interdependence and integrity of their two nations.

The sanctuary of the church was decorated with white gladioli, centered by a huge fern ball. White tapers burned in wrought iron Grecian stands, with satin roping connecting the candelabra and the gladioli. The pews were marked with white satin bows.

Preceding the ceremony a musical program was presented by Mrs. Mackey Ward and Mrs. Neddie Pillow.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of white bridal satin, fashioned with a Sabrina neckline. The fitted bodice featured lace appliques of white flowers and petals which spilled onto the bell-shaped skirt. Her fingertip veil fell from a headpiece fashioned of a silk rose surrounded by satin petals. She carried a cascade bouquet consisting of a white orchid surrounded by satin petals and puffs of illusion.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Wayne Newsome of Cuba and bridesmaids were Miss Phyllis Pigue and Miss Judy Green, both of Fulton. They wore identical sheath dresses of baby blue satin brocade, with square necklines and obi bows. Their headpieces fell from self-fabric bows and each carried a cascade bouquet of white mums.

Miss Wanda Dunavant, sister of the bride, served as flower girl. Her dress was similar to those worn by the bridesmaids. Her basket contained petals, which she scattered in the path of the bride. Mr. Mackey Ward of Wingo served as best man and groomsmen were Terry Outland of Fulton and Robert Bone of Wingo. Eugene Dunavant, brother of the bride, and Harold Dunavant, cousin of the bride, served as acolytes.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held. Assisting in serving were Miss Sheila McClure of Wingo, Mrs. Joan Lacey of Fulton, Miss Beverly Turbeville and Mrs. Garry Turbeville of Dukedom.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Stephens

Attitude... OF PRAYER

"Give ear to my words, O Lord, consider my meditation. Harken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God: for unto thee will I pray."
Psalms 5:1-2

God hears and answers prayers, but not everyone knows how to pray. Even the Lord's disciples asked that he teach them how to pray.

Attitude of the individual is important in prayer. Prayer is the opportunity that we have to tell God of our blessings and give thanks. It is an opportunity to petition for help, but above all, our hearts should be willing that God's will be done.

Prayer should be offered individually and in groups.

ATTEND CHURCH
AND
PRAY WITH OTHERS

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mrs. Robbins Came To Fulton A Good Cook, Goes Home A Celebrity

A lady from Henry County, Tenn. came to Fulton last Friday to enter her favorite banana recipe in the Banana Bake-off competition. She went home on Saturday a celebrity. It was all because she baked an "out-of-this-world" Banana Delight cake with Banana nut frosting.

Mrs. Lloyd Robbins was named the Grand Champion Banana Baker of the highly successful event and what's more got her award from America's most beautiful and famous lady, Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964. Mrs. Robbins was presented with a $100 cash award and a colorful sash indicating her honor. In making the presentation Miss America, as only she can do, made a few remarks commending all the ladies on their prowess in the kitchen.

Mrs. Hendon Wright served as master of ceremonies for the Saturday morning gathering. She paid due credit to all those who made the Bake-off a success, and paid special tribute to Mrs. Nathan Wade and Mrs. Robert Rudolph who worked untiringly to make the Bake-off the great success that it was. Mrs. Wright also introduced Miss America to the audience. The American Dairy Princess, Miss Sue Ann Godderidge presented the awards to the other winners.

Judging the winners from over 125 entrants were: Mrs. Walt Apperson, society editor of the Mayfield Messenger; J. Roy Wynne of Memphis, head researcher of Humko and Mrs. June Cressy, of Jackson, Tenn., nutritionist for the Model Milling Company of that city.

Second honors in the Bake-off went to Mrs. J. R. Green of Fulton, with a Banana layer cake. She received a $10 cash prize as Fulton County first place winner and a red ribbon and sash as Championship Runner-Up.

Third honors were won by Mrs. Curtis Boyd, second runner-up, who entered a Banana Birthday cake.

Open house was held Friday afternoon and attended by a large crowd. NBC commentator Ed Newman was present, with the NBC filming crew.

Miss America's Luncheon Breaks Record For Timing; 400 Served in 27 Minutes

"It's impossible to do," a group of Festival planners told Mrs. David Phelps when she insisted that 400 people could be served buffet style in about 20 minutes. Even her husband disagreed. He was co-chairman with her of that perfectly delightful luncheon last Saturday for Miss America and other visiting beauties and dignitaries.

But Martha (Mrs. David) Phelps held tenaciously to the earlier plan she had made to have Miss America serve herself first while that festive board of delicious foods "was untouched by any others." Knowing the tremendous amount of work all the ladies had put forth to have the luncheon go off as they had planned, the Festival officials gave her the "go-ahead" sign.

Martha knew exactly what she was talking about. All 400 people at the luncheon were served in exactly 27 minutes, according to time clocks held by Glenn Hays the now famous caterer who served the luncheon, and one doubtful Festival official who said it could not be done.

Moreover, in spite of the fact that the honored guests were detained a little while to appear before a "live" television broadcast by KFVS-TV, the program was over and the guests were leaving at one o'clock sharp. Master of Ceremonies Bill Scott joined in superbly with the time schedule for the luncheon. The event was held at the South Fulton High School cafeteria. Charles McMorris, with the vivid imagination of a score of area florists transformed the dining area into an autumn wonderland. As far as the eye could see Fall flowers in abundance, with their bright and vivid hues matched the outside countryside, all aglow in a panorama of Fall beauty.

Assisting Mr. and Mrs. Phelps with the arrangements were Mrs. Richard Bodker, ticket chairman, Mrs. Oden Fowler and Mrs. E. K. Alexander, tables and seating, Mrs. C. A. Boyd, cloak room, and a number of other members of the South Fulton PTA.

The invocation was asked by Rev. Kenneth Duncan, pastor of First Baptist Church, and the Master of Ceremonies was Bill Scott, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

A delicious meal, featuring country ham, fried chicken, and barbecue was served buffet style. During lunch, music was furnished by Mrs. L. C. Logan at the organ and Norman White, tenor. Mr. White sang "Here Comes Our Dairy Princess" and "Here She Comes, Miss America," at the appropriate moment. He also introduced each of the visiting princesses as she arrived in the dining room.

Just prior to the serving of the meal, a bouquet of red roses was presented to Miss America, Miss Donna Axum, by Carolyn Allen, who earlier in the week had been named "Miss Top Banana." Miss Axum made a brief talk, in which she expressed gratitude for the hospitality shown her. She also compared her experiences as Miss America with that of college education as she shared with the audience many of the facts she was learning about America in her travels throughout the nation.

Miss America's table was decorated by Killebrew's Flower Shop. Other tables were: The Dairy Princesses by Mac and Fay's Flower Shop, Miss Tennessee's by Joy Lynn Flower and Gift Shop, Miss Kentucky's by Scott's Floral Shoppe; also tables were decorated by Owens Florist, Doug Murphy Flower Shop of Martin, Jeanette Flower Shop of Mayfield and the Flower Box of Hickman.

A pecan show is being planned at Hickman for Saturday, December 14, to help locate outstanding pecan seedling trees so that they might be propagated next year. Any one having a pecan tree which produces a good yield of high quality pecans should save one pint to enter in the seedling show.

Entries are due at County Agent John Watts' office by Friday, December 13.

FALL IS THE TIME TO PLANT SHRUBS, TREES

Fall, rather than spring, is the best time to plant most shrubs and trees in Kentucky.

The planting season starts in October and continues through most of November. With proper care, shrubs and trees can also be planted in December if the weather is mild and the ground remains unfrozen.

Most of these plants have soil balled about their roots during the early part of the planting season. However, plants which naturally lose their leaves often may be transplanted in the fall without soil on their roots.

How deep should the shrub or tree be planted? Dig the hole deep enough so the plant can be put in at about the same depth, or slightly deeper than it grew in the nursery.

The only fertilizer which should be mixed with the soil at this time is a small amount of superphosphate. How much superphosphate to use depends on the size of the plants. Generally, from about 2 tablespoonfuls for small plants on up to 8 or 10 tablespoonfuls for large shrubs — and about twice this much for large trees—is sufficient.

Do not place any other commercial fertilizer in the soil at this time. Fertilizers containing nitrogen and potash can be placed on top of the soil later. In the spring, just before growth starts, usually is the best time to add this fertilizer, however, small amounts can be applied to the soil surface a month after the plant has been set.

The newly-set plant should be thoroughly firmed into the soil. A thorough soaking with water is one of the best ways to do this; soaking with water is even more effective than tamping down the soil with your feet.

Plants such as trees, which have long stems, should have these stems staked to keep them from swinging in the winter wind. Swaying in the wind may loosen the plant in the soil.

Never allow newly-set shrubs or trees to dry out. Be prepared to water them thoroughly if natural rainfall does not keep them moist. This usually means a thorough soaking at least once a week if enough rain has not fallen to do the job for you. Under very dry conditions, watering as often as every four or five days may be necessary. However, too much water is just as bad as too little water; excess water can smother the roots and cause them to die.

SHEEP BROOMSEDGE FROM YOUR FIELDS

Broomsedge is a pest that invades pastures and completely covers old fields. In order to find broomsedge growing, in case you are not familiar with the weed, merely requires a drive through the country.

Today, I would like to relate some work that has been done on broomsedge by University experiments and farmers. First of all, do not confuse broomsedge with sedgegrass, because they are of different families. Sedgegrass and Threadleaf sedge are both grown in more northern areas and do supply a fair quality roughage at certain seasons of the year.

Mr. Ray Follis, of Crockett County in West Tennessee has done much to conquer broomsedge. In a field that has been covered with the weed for ten years, after three years he now has pasture. Here is what he did: In 1960 he applied 2 1/2 tons of agricultural limestone per acre and plowed the field. His soil test called for 1200 pounds 6-12-12 per acre also. He then prepared an extra fine seedbed and drilled 1 pound ladino clover and 18 pounds fescue per acre. His results were, in 1961 he had to mow the fescue to control growth and keep it in grazing condition. This last year the field has supplied ample grazing, and a seed crop. Mr. Follis reports that there is not a sprig of broomsedge in the field today. Now we cannot just say this is all we have to do, he will have to top dress this pasture often when grazing or removing a seed crop. This is very important, because as long as we have competition for the weeds and especially the broomsedge, chances are very good that it will not come back soon.

According to Joe D. Burns, Associate Extension Agronomist, University of Tennessee, "We have observed that broomsedge is a pest in pastures which are low in at least one of the following, agriculture limestone (Calcium), Potash, or Phosphate. Heavy grazing which retards grass and legume growth leaves the ground bare and encourages the entrance of broomsedge and other weeds.

Dr. George E. Smith, Agronomist for the University of Missouri says that he believes high fertility in a key to getting rid of broomsedge. Dr. Smith said, "Flowing and reseeding alone just will not eliminate broomsedge."

Research and experimentation proves that burning is not the answer either since this destroys the few desirable plants and opens the door for more weeds.
