State Baptist Convention to Consider the Sherwood Case

Kentucky Group Meets in Murray November 15-17

More Than 1,000 Delegates
Are Expected to Attend
Sessions

From the standpoint of the public if not the general assembly itself, the long-existing controversy between Dr. Henry Noble Sherwood, president of Georgetown College, and the general Baptist assembly will be the principal matter of business to come before the annual State Baptist Convention to be held in Murray November 15-17.

Dr. Sherwood, who espoused the Baptist faith after having previously been baptized into the Christian church, has refused to be rebaptized, a refusal which Baptists will not tolerate without protest.

Since the question of church policy began several years ago over the Sherwood matter, Baptist funds set aside as contributions to Georgetown college have been impounded, and will not be subject to use by the college until, or if, Sherwood is willing to make concessions.

According to the Rev. Sam P. Martin, Murray pastor, a special session will be devoted toward the clearing up of the Georgetown situation.

The program will open Monday morning, November 15, with a meeting of ministers. Election of officers and other business Tuesday afternoon will precede the address of welcome by Mr. Martin and the annual sermon by the Rev. T. J. Barksdale, Louisville. A report of state, home, and foreign missions will be heard Tuesday night. At 10:30, Wednesday morning, the delegates will hear the report of a special committee on the Constitution. Eight C. Moore will address the audience at 11:30.

General reports and addresses by various representatives will continue throughout the sessions.

More than 1,000 delegates from a majority of the 2,070 Baptist churches in Kentucky are expected to be present, according to Mr. Martin. In a statistical statement issued Tuesday, he said 14,335 persons were baptized into the Baptist faith in Kentucky last year, and declared there are now 376,000 white Baptists cooperating with the Southern Baptist convention. Gifts to the State church last year were in excess of $600,000, he said.

Seventy-three of the churches in Kentucky have a membership ranging from 500 to 1,000. Thirty-one churches have memberships ranging from 1,000 to 4,000. Twenty Sunday schools for Baptists in the State have more than 1,000 members.

Martin's figures disclosed that there are 158,761 members of junior BYPU's; 170,398 persons in the intermediate BYPU; 246,886 in senior BYPU; 120,983 in the BAUs; and 45,197 general officers.

Sunday school enrollment in the Baptist Sunday schools in the South totals 3,211,707, with 250,000 in Kentucky. The Southern Baptist Convention has a membership of 4,595,002. It has 24,884 church houses, and the value of its property is $206,668,413.00.

Midnight Play Thrills Audience

Hallowe'en Night Constitutes Setting for "Tiger House" at Murray State

Directed by Miss Helen Thornton, "Tiger House," a 3-act mystery thriller, was presented October 31, at midnight to one of the largest crowds ever to attend a dramatic production at Murray State College.

Students, faculty members, and townspeople were unanimous in their praise of Miss Thornton and the Sock and Buskin cast, not only for the individual performances of the actors but for the lighting and scenery as well.

The play was replete with the "chills and thrills" appropriate for the Hallowe'en occasion.

Members of the cast were: Peggy Cox, Kingsport, Tenn.; Palmer Corn, Murray; Redford Glass, Princeton, Ky.; Joe Fitch, Springfield, Tenn.; Maryanne Farmer, Murray; June Dixon, Dawson Springs; Maurice Adair, Russellville; Martha Beaman, Paducah; Virgil Gibson, Paducah; Pat Billington, Bruceton, Tenn.

Yum! Yum! Yam!

There are potatoes, and potatoes, but here is one potato that takes the prize. Believe it or not, H. B. Adams, Route 8, brought in a large sweet potato to our office last Saturday which weighed 7½ pounds. He dug the potato last Friday.

The potato had cracked open in places resembling a Hallowe'en face. Another small potato was growing out of the top of this one at the time of digging.

Mr. Adams is not a commercial grower of sweet potatoes having set only two rows across his garden. This large potato, indeed is a perfect specimen, and if he could raise an entire crop as large in proportion as this one, his fortune would be made. This potato and the small one growing out of the top of it were the only two in this hill. Friends may call and see this potato at his home.

Aubrey Bogard Wins Contests

Murray Schools To Display Work Throughout Week

W. J. Caplinger Urges Patrons to Visit Student Programs

Both the Murray high school and the Murray Training School began preparing today to celebrate National Education week which begins Sunday, November 6, and lasts through Friday, November 11.

The ministers of the several churches in Murray will begin the celebration Sunday with sermons dealing either directly or indirectly with cultural education. At 9:30, Max B. Hurt will address the city high school pupils on "Developing Strong Bodies and Able Minds" and the Training School will put on a physical education demonstration.

Tuesday's program will be devoted to the high school to mastering skills and knowledge. Demonstration teaching will take place in the various classrooms at the Training School. On Wednesday, the city school will put on a pageant at 9:30 showing the contrast of today's schools with those of a decade ago. The Training School's annual talent night will be at 7:30 in the college chapel. Thursday will be devoted to safety programs. On Friday, the city school will present an Armistice day program and the Training School through its sixth grade will give a dramatization of patriotism with a pro and con discussion of ideals and freedom by two members of the debating team.

According to W. J. Caplinger, all friends and patrons of the school will be most welcome to attend any of the programs to be given. The program most popular with the public, he said, will be given Wednesday.

"Let's make this week one of visitation to the schools," he urged.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL November 11-24

The 1938 Rollcall of the American Red Cross in this county will begin, Armistice Day, November 11, and will close November 24, according to present plans of the local chapter of that organization, which has completed preparations for its annual drive for members.

Last year broke all records for Calloway county.

It is the hope of the leaders in this county to have a membership of several hundred when the Rollcall closes on November 24.

Justifying continued support through membership in Murray and Calloway have been the progress made in safety, first aid, accident prevention and health activities, in addition to the continuance of relief for those in distress.

The first official meeting of the Red Cross Roll Call committee to make preparations for the drive to start a week from next Friday, November 11, has been called for 2:30 p. m. in the Courthouse by John S. Neal, Roll call membership chairman.

At that time plans for conducting the drive will be discussed as well as supplies furnished to workers. All workers, including last year's campaigners have been notified to attend this meeting.

Mrs. Bee Melugin, executive secretary will be in her office in the basement of the post office from 9 to 12 and from 1 to 3 each afternoon during the drive, so that individual workers may report their results to her. Officers elected for the year include: Zena Carter, chairman of the Chapter, succeeding the Rev. A. V. Havens; Ronald Churchill, vice-chairman; Mrs. J. D. Rowlett, recording secretary; and Mrs. R. M. Pollard, treasurer.

Roll Call Chairman John S. Neal has appointed the following officers and workers for the drive: publicity, Ed Freeman, city chairman; Mrs. H. B. Bailey, county chairman, County Superintendent of Schools; T. C. Arnett; A. B. Austin, chairman for the Young Business Men's Club; Harry Sled, chairman for the American Legion; and Dr. Hugh McElrath, chairman for the Rotary Club. Bryan Tolley and Tony Thurman have been named chairmen for the special donations.

The following ladies have been asked to serve as workers in the county: Miss Marion Crawford, Mrs. Merritt Jordan, Mrs. Lewis Harding, Mrs. Loeche Harris, Mrs. Audrey Farmer, Mrs. Loraine Puckett, Miss Charles Stubblefield, Mrs. Bodine Henkel, Mrs. Lorraine Puckett, Miss Mary Reed, Mrs. C. W. Adams, Mrs. Bun Swann, Mrs. Paul Humphreys, Mrs. Grace Wilcox, Mrs. Eva Curd, Mrs. Darwin White, and Miss Alta Davis.

Rowlett, Mrs. Ira Morgan, Mrs. John Ryan, Mrs. Thomas Banks, Mrs. J. B. Wilson, Mrs. Donald Churchill, Mrs. Manlift Miller, Mrs. John Whitnell, Mrs. A. D. Butterworth, and Mrs. Annie Wear.

Moon and Sun to Be in Eclipse for 2 Hours Monday

The sun and moon will play "hide and seek" in a total eclipse of the moon which will be visible November 7 in every section of the United States except the far west, Dr. James Stokley, director of astronomy of the Franklin Institute said Tuesday.

The sun and moon will be seen at the same time in the eastern states although the sun actually will have set, Dr. Stokley said. He explained that this would be caused by the atmosphere, "acting as a prism and bending the sun's rays around the earth."

The moon will pass through the terrestrial shadow from right to left at 2:41 p. m. and at 3:45 will be completely engulfed," Dr. Stokley said. "The edge of the moon will begin to emerge at 5:08 p. m. and the eclipse will end at 6:12."

Federal Men to Aid Growers in Selling Tobacco

To Inform Producer Just What Grade or Quality His Weed Crop is

Tobacco auctions for this year's crop are under way in the tobacco States. At more than 140 markets tobacco is being sold in lots which may weigh as little as 25 pounds—as much as 500. In this way 600,000 to 700,000 tons of tobacco about 90 per cent of the United States crop, will pass from grower to buyer in the course of a year.

At about 30 of the markets, inspection and market news service will be provided growers, under the Tobacco Inspection Act, by the United States Department of Agriculture. This act was approved in 1935 after long complaint that growers were at a disadvantage in selling because they lacked information as to the quality of their product and what it should be worth.

Government inspectors certify the grade on each lot of tobacco before it is sold. At the same time the grower has information of the current market price by grades. With this two-way information farmers are better able to decide whether to accept or reject the bid price. Under the act, this service is established for any market after favorable vote by the growers. It is estimated that more than 20 per cent of the types sold at auction will be Government inspected this season.

The auction system of selling tobacco dates back more than a century, but its foundation was laid long before that by the Virginia Assembly, which in 1712 established public warehouses at points within a mile of navigable water. Here the farmers delivered their hogheads of tobacco to be opened by bonded inspectors who issued negotiable receipts. For nearly a hundred years the sale of tobacco was based on these "hogheads."

After the Revolutionary War when inspection became lax, buyers had their own men make notes on the quality of different hogheads. It was only a step to auctioning the samples laid out on top of each barrel and then to auction sales of "loose" tobacco.

Wreck is Fatal To Mayfield Man; Others Are Hurt

Four Mayfieldians were in a critical condition today and one was dead as a result of a car wreck Friday when their car hit a Martin, Tenn. truck head-on 11 miles north of Metropolis, Ill., as the men were enroute to Chicago for the Northwestern-Minnesota football game.

Sam McAllister, 38, died after being paralyzed from the waist down with a broken back for three days.

The injured, who are improving, are Dr. J. T. Fuller, 37, G. C. Covington, Jr., 39; William S. Hunt, 37; and James E. (Buster) Seay, 36, all highly prominent Mayfield residents.

The car burned at the roadside and the five narrowly escaped the flames. Two truck drivers pulled them from the wreckage just in time.

Dr. Fuller's upper jaw was fractured, his nose injured, and his chest bruised. Seay has chest and abdominal injuries and a scalp wound. Covington's left leg was broken below the knee and he received a scald wound and bruises. Hunt's left hip was broken and he suffered a head injury.

Dr. Fuller and Hunt have been taken to St. Louis for specialist treatment.

Graves Student Dies from Injury

MAYFIELD, Ky., Nov. 3.—Harry Turner, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Turner near Meibler, was almost instantly killed late Tuesday afternoon a few seconds after he had alighted from a school bus in front of his home.

His father in a nearby cornfield saw the youngster alight from the bus, run alongside a few steps, stumble and fall under a rear wheel which passed over his body. He died of internal injuries before he could be taken to the house.

The bus driven by Onyx Ray who is also principal of the Meibler school, had stopped before the Turner home to discharge the accident victim and several of his brothers and sisters. The Turner home is near the McCracken county line.

Cornor Brown McClain empaneled a jury which absolved the bus driver of blame.

Spooks Roam Murray Streets Monday Night; Pranks Are Few

Murray was transformed into a city of spooks Monday night, with more than 2,000 out-of-town visitors supplementing the group of Murrayans on the streets.

Pranksters did little damage, but their ingenuity was amazing. There were false-faces galore, and some not so false that would have passed for 'em. The crowd was composed mostly of youngsters—many from country communities—and all had a big time. They shot firecrackers, said wise-cracks and made whoopee safe behind disguises which in many instances were hard to diagnose. You didn't have to look far for anything Monday night in Murray. There were beggars (they had gleaming eyes back of their wigs too), gypsies, ballet dancers and other types, boys whose hair was a mile long, and women who were as tall as most men and who had the biggest feet. They had coarse voices too—for women.

Election Tuesday is Full of Significance to Voters

Senate Race is Matter of Form; Not So Schools

Suiter, Donelson, Wilcox, Hale Seek Pluses Held By Hart and Galloway

Five days from tonight thousands of Kentucky voters and hundreds of Callowayans will have rendered their decision in what may prove the most significant political referendum since the world economic crash of 1929.

With Alben W. Barkley as one of the foremost Democratic contenders for Presidential nomination in 1940—thanks to his majority of more than 70,000 votes over Gov. Albert B. Chandler in the Kentucky Senatorial primary in August—much hinges on the majority he may pile up against Judge John P. Harlan, the Republican nominee. Perhaps a Kentucky Barkley may be the next president.

Who knows? But whether or not the November election is as heated as its preliminary primary in August, still many voters will be cast. Strange as it may seem, little interest is being shown in Calloway concerning the Senate race, the majority of residents taking it for granted that Barkley will be reelected without trouble.

The contention also is that Noble J. Gregory, Democratic nominee for Congress, will win easily over Alvin H. Schultz, his opponent.

Perhaps that may be true. The landslide victory he gained over Governor Chandler would testify to such a belief. Notwithstanding, however, a lackadaisical concern over the Senate race, a brief but vigorous campaign is being waged in Calloway county insofar as the school board election is concerned. There are two vacancies on the county board of education to be filled by election. Both incumbents are in the race. They are Jim Hart and Scudder Galloway. Endeavorers to oust them from their position are W. B. Suiter, Lee Donelson, Harry Wilcox and Marvin Hale, who have been waging vigorous campaigns.

Of course the city school board election is merely a matter of form since only three candidates are running and three positions are all that are to be filled. Candidates are J. W. Outland, Luther Robertson, and A. D. Butterworth.

Whatever a voter's personal convictions may be concerning the outcome of these elections, it is his duty and his privilege to vote Tuesday, November 8, as he chooses. The exercise of the right of suffrage is for both men and women a direct testimony of their support to the cause of democracy.

Racers Work On Defense For Team In Frosh Practice

Game to Be Broadcast Over Memphis Radio Station

Southwestern University's president today declared the first athletic holiday of the year for Friday, and 2,000 students and 300 Memphis residents are expected to come to Murray Friday afternoon for the first football game ever played by the Lynx of Southwestern and the Thoroughbreds of Murray State College.

From the opening kick-off, the game will be a miracle of thrills. Paced by their hard-running backfield ace, Gaylor Smith, hailed by those who have seen him play as one of the best football men in the nation, the Southwestern squad will be met by a band of Thoroughbreds who will be determined to sweep the Memphis aggression off its feet.

Murray will have a backfield ace of its own—aye, it will have six acres in its own right—but in Claude McRaven the Thoroughbreds will present a runner passer, punter, line can hold his own in any All-American event.

With Southwestern's seven in the box Friday night at Jackson, Murray played straight football to topple Union University from higher SIAA rankings by a 30-0 score, and in Murray Friday they plan to open up with all they've got to stem the tide of the Tennesseans scoring power.

Smith is the second leading scorer in the Nation today, but McRaven might easily be McRaven, a Portageville, Mo., product, weighs 181 pounds to Smith's 200, can dodge and drive and is as accurate with passes as the moon is in a hilling clouds when the sky is full of them. If more Murray triple threatening is necessary, there's Captain Charles T. Yarbrough, who would be an answer to many a coach's prayer.

And there is John Jasper, Hugh Finley, Jake Imman, Cobble Lee, Jug Mitchell, and others who know what to do with a ball when they get hold of it.

The Lynx are by no means wholly dependent upon Smith. They won the Tennessee game on running and passing by Ikecy Orenstein and kicking by Rex Wilson. Will Rhea Winfrey has been a big ground-gaining help all year—Others have contributed much.

Southwestern started setting its defense early this week in an effort to stop McRaven, Yarbrough, and the other fleet Murray backs.

Coach Ed Kubale announced a change in his plans, deciding to have the team spend tonight in Murray instead of Mayfield. The Lynx may take their final practice this afternoon on the Murray field.

Late yesterday when the Thoroughbreds left the field they left a mangled but valiant freshman eleven in their wake.

Using Southwestern's plays, the heavy well-trained freshmen sometimes made damaging gains, but every gain they made was a lesson to the varsity which prohibited a similar gain on a repetition of the play.

Five times during the hour's scrimmage, Andy Coglian, Carl Ferrara, and Jimmy Nannoy, carrying the ball Gaylor Smith fashion, broke into the open and ran the length of the practice field, but the Thoroughbreds had no defense beyond the scrimmage line.

Coaches Stewart and Moore considered a mass 11-man forward wall to stop Smith should the freshman backs continue to gallop through the Murray bulwarks.

McElrath predicted today Murray would beat the Memphis. He said Hardin-Simmons had three backs as good as Smith. For the first time in history, the game will be broadcast.

Murray has beaten Wisconsin State 26-0; Middle Tennessee 32-8; Morehead 14-0; Birmingham-Southern 47-14; and Union University 30-0. They lost to Hardin-Simmons 20-14. Southwestern lambasted Union University 47-0; Sewanee 47-0; Chattanooga 12-6; Birmingham-Southern 45-7; and Loyola 21-0. They lost to Centenary 6-0.

The Memphis team will carry a weight advantage into the game.

Several desirable pieces of antique furniture and old glassware collected here and there will be on display in the rummage sales near the Keys-Houston Clinic Saturday.

Roosevelt Says America Will Brook No Interference

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—President Roosevelt, in a virtually unprecedented arraignment of nations which suppress liberty, persecute Jews, and use threats of war to attain national ends, issued a warning last week that the United States would protect the western hemisphere from interference from abroad.

By radio from the oval room of the White House to the New York Herald Tribune's forum on current affairs, Mr. Roosevelt spoke as follows:

No one who lived through the grave hours of last month can doubt the longing of most of the people of the world for an enduring peace. Our business now is to utilize the desire for peace to build principles which are the only basis of permanent peace.

It is becoming increasingly clear that peace by war has no higher or more enduring quality than peace by the sword.

There can be no peace if the reign of law is to be replaced by a recurrent sanctification of sheer force.

War Threats Opposed

There can be no peace if national policy adopts as a deliberate instrument the threat of war. There can be no peace if national policy adopts as a deliberate instrument the dispersion all over the world of millions of helpless and persecuted wanderers with no place to lay their heads.

There can be no peace if humble men and women are not free to think their own thoughts, to express their own feelings, to worship God.

There can be no peace if economic resources are not free to be devoted to social and economic reconstruction are to be diverted to an intensified competition in armaments which will merely heighten the suspicions and fears and threaten the economic prosperity of each and every nation.

At no time in modern history has the responsibility which rests upon governments been more obvious or more profound.

World Is Neighbor

I speak for a United States which has "no interest in war. We covet nothing save good relations with our neighbors; and we recognize that the world today has become our neighbor.

But in the principle of the good neighbor certain fundamental reciprocal obligations are involved. There must be a deliberate and conscious will that such political changes as changing needs require shall be made peacefully.

That means a due regard for the sanctity of treaties. It means deliberate avoidance of policies which arouse fear and distrust. It means the self-restraint to refuse strident ambitions which are sure to breed insecurity and intolerance and thereby weaken the prospect of that economic and moral recovery the world so sadly needs.

You cannot organize civilization around the core of militarism and at the same time expect reason to control human destinies.

For more than 12 years the United States has been steadily seeking disarmament.

Must Be Prepared

Yet we have consistently pointed out that neither we, nor any nation, will accept disarmament while neighbor nations arm to the teeth. If there is no general disarmament, we ourselves must continue to arm. It is a step we do not like to take, and we do not wish to take. But until there is general disarmament of weapons capable of aggression, ordinary rules of national prudence and common sense require that we be prepared.

We still insist that an armament race among nations is absurd unless new territories or new controls are coveted. We are entitled, I think, to greater reassurance that can be given by words: the kind of proof which can be given, for example, by actual discussions, leading to actual disarmament. Not otherwise can we be relieved of the necessity of increasing our own military and naval establishments.

For while we refuse to accept as a permanent necessity the use of force, and reject it as an ideal of life, we must be prepared to meet with success any application of force against us.

United States do not seek to impose on any other people either our way of life or our internal form of government. But we are determined to maintain and protect that way of life and that form of government for ourselves. And we are determined to use every endeavor in order that the Western Hemisphere may work out its own interrelated salvation in the light of its own interrelated experience.

And we affirm our faith that whatever the choice or way of life a people makes, that choice must not threaten the world with the disaster of war. The impact of such a disaster cannot be confined. It releases a flood tide of evil emotions fatal to civilized living. That statement applies not to the Western Hemisphere alone but to the whole of Europe and Asia and Africa and the islands of the seas.

Faith in Democracy

In all that I have said to you I have reaffirmed the faith of the American people in democracy. The way of democracy is free discussion—as exemplified by the objectives of the forum to which I am speaking. Free discussion, it must be greatly useful when it is restrained and relates to facts. It is not useful to suggest either to the American people or to the people of other nations that the American Government, its policies, its practices and its servants are actuated by motives of dishonor or corruption. To do so is, of necessity, an attack on the American system of constitutional representative government itself.

Let us work with greater unity for peace among the nations of the world, for restraint, for negotiation and for community of effort. Let us work for the same ideals within our own borders in our relations with each other, so that we may, if the test ever comes, have that unity of will with which alone a democracy can successfully meet its enemies.

METHODIST CHURCH NOTES

November 6, 1938
This will be our closing communion service for the year and we hope our members will be present. At the evening hour the pastor will preach on "The Approved Workman."

The fourth (and last) quarterly conference of the year will be held at the church on Wednesday night, November 9, and we hope to have in hand all funds to meet our budget for the year. Murray has made a fine record for two years in our finances. This church reports more at this time on the "bencovenances" than any church in the Paris District. This has been made possible by the generosity of our people and we feel sure all will respond in this final appeal to "pay out in full by November 9."

The Annual Conference meets on Wednesday, November 16, and we want to get our business in shape before that date. Our repair and redecorating campaign moves on well and our church auditorium is beautiful. We expect every member to do his part.

Sunday-school at 9:30 and all lovers of the Lord should be in some Sunday-school. If you will not come to the Methodist Sunday-school find some one that suits you better and attend it.

The children and young people meet at 6:45, and these services are a wonderful training school for your child. After all, the church is one of the greatest training agencies of the world. Why not let the church have some of your time and talent?

The Good Lord has blessed us with the most wonderful fall in many years and we should show our gratitude to him in some substantial way. "Show me your faith without your works and I will show you my faith by my works," is a practical test of your devotion to the church and to the Master.

Every man needs the church and certainly the church needs every man if it is to do its best work in the world.

Murray Square

By JULIAN III

A Willing Worker, who lives in Murray and would like nothing better than an opportunity to prove the aptness of her pseudonym, goes so far as to suggest this city as "the cat before the horse" filling the town up with theatres before it has factories and payrolls for women. Says she: "This town is filled up with widow women who have nothing to do. I know there could be something brought here for women to do. I would be only too glad to work two or three days out of the week, but you see how it is. Nobody has a chance except the women who have husbands, and they have it plenty."

Even though we heartily agreed with the lady as to the advantages of a factory, etcetera, we didn't exactly know what we could do about it, but reading further into her letter we found all we have to do is wait. "Something is going to be done," she warns. Somebody had better get busy. There's too much money being spent here not to have something for folks to do. There's just a bunch don't care, that's all, just so they get their share. People are not going to stand for it."

And a gentleman who lives east of Murray a number of miles is not going to stand for any monkey business with his cows, either. It seemed that every morning when he drove up his cows to be milked, he found somebody else had already beaten him to it.

"I don't mind the milk so much," he said succinctly, "but now every time I try to milk them at night myself they kick the daylight out of me. I've always been nice to 'em too, and I'm getting enough of it. If I can't handle my own cows, nobody else is going to. I'm a goner!"

We were in the notion of going a gunnin' (maybe we should have said runnin') too the other day when Mrs. C. H. Moore of South Sixth street reported she'd been hearing strange noises in her attic at night. We don't usually put much stock in ghost stories, but along about this time of the year when goblins are supposed to be running around, it's different. So when Mrs. Moore said she was going to set a steel trap to catch whatever it was we didn't say anything, but we sort of flinched she was taking a lot for granted if she thought she could catch a spirit with a steel trap. Imagine our relief when Mrs. Moore told us the next day she'd caught the marauder: an opossum. The joke was on us.

Speaking of opossums reminds us of another joke that was on us. When Mr. H. B. Adams of Murray Route 4, came staggering into the office Saturday carrying something that looked like a cross between a mammoth pumpkin and a kettle drum, we thought we'd be smart—and piped up with, "Say, where'd you get such a monstrous pumpkin?"

"Punkin' your heel!" he replied with gusto. "That's a potato, pal! Hard to believe, but true. We took our licking like a man, and put a picture of Mr. Adams and the potato in the paper. Anybody that can grow a candied sweet that big deserves it. The picture's on the front page."

But that has nothing to do with the case of the young woman in West Murray who wonders why newspapers are printed anyway, since nobody reads them. Well, they're good to wrap lunches in, and make excellent material to start fires with on cold mornings.

New Concord High School

There is an old saying that when a dog bites a man, that's just common place, but when a man bites a dog—that's news! News has been so scarce around Concord has been so scarce around Concord that we have been trying to get some obliging boy to go out and bite a dog for us, but so far we have been unsuccessful.

Concord's first team emerged with a 5-0 record being 5-0 and Saturday with Golden Pond, the score being 43-13. This Friday Concord plays Lynn Grove at Lynn Grove, and Saturday, November 5, at 2 o'clock we play Golden Pond on our outdoor court. Everyone is invited to attend this game, which will probably be the only home game this year.

Hallwren has come and gone, but oh, the remembrance! It left! Not so much damage was done this year as last, however.

We are expecting to organize a debate team in the near future. Last year Concord tied for second place in the tournament with Kirksey. We hope to do better this year.

Freshmen to Meet Bowling Green

Baby Hilltoppers Are Said to Be Strong Team Defensively

After a successful invasion of Uncle Sam's Naval Air Station at Pensacola, Fla., the Murray freshmen climb the hill at Bowling Green on November 5 to take on the future varsity Hilltoppers.

Coach John Miller has his team in the best of condition and if they come out as the coach expects, the yearlings may be able to knock the Toppers off their perch. However, from recent reports the defensive game of the Western frosh is one not to be overlooked.

In the last seven years that the two teams have met, Murray holds a slight edge with two wins to 1 for Western. There have been four scoreless ties.

The freshmen have won three games this fall having beaten the Union freshmen 28-0, Austin-Peay 13-6, and the Naval Air Station at Pensacola 19-6.

NOTICE TO TAXPAYERS

Have You Listed Your Taxable Property Yet?

All persons who have not listed their property with me for assessment should do so by all means by NOVEMBER 15. At some of the places I called upon, the owners were not present and these in some instances have failed to respond to notices I left requesting they turn in a list of their property.

This should be done at once. This is a thing which is necessary, and we want to cooperate with each other.

County and City Tax Collections Increase Over '37

only $13,431 have been collected, only 10 per cent of the county assessed $130,000 are in the coffers, according to reports released today by City Clerk Charles Grogan and County Clerk J. H. Fox.

The county already has collected $25,000 and the city $17,741.05. Where the two per cent penalty offered by the county for delinquent taxpayers in effect November 1, a 10 per cent penalty at 10 per cent per annum went into effect for city taxpayers and a 10 per cent per annum in the county will be penalized 6 per cent after March 1, 1939.

According to both Grogan and Fox, collectors thus far obtained similar collections on corresponding dates last year. Both were well pleased with the progress made thus far.

The Baptist Convention

Beginning November 15, the Baptists of Kentucky will hold their annual convention in Murray.

More than 1,000 Baptist visitors will be present in this city during that week, and they in many instances will expect and receive the hospitality which is their due while in Murray.

It is not to be supposed that the Baptist brethren of this area will be alone in the welcome they extend to the delegates who come here in the name of Christianity.

Members of other Murray congregations will be unanimous in their support of a worthy assembly in convention.

Like true Christian citizens, the residents of Murray, whether their faith is denominationally Baptist or otherwise, will welcome visitors into their homes.

Such is as it should be.

Christianity is a thing broader than any denomination. It is the soul of mankind's striving to make a better race. It is fitting that the unity of man should come as it is fitting that the rose should bloom, and dreams are the predecessors of change.

All of us are dreamers in a sense, if not in the heavy-lidded wasting of time then in the meaning of life that makes us work on. No matter to what gloomy depths one's destiny may sometimes have carried him, there yet must live the man who has not some secret dream, some hope however dim, some storied wall to look at in the dusk, some painted window leading to the soul.

And so we look upon Murray as a city of progress, civically, socially, economically, spiritually, educationally because we know we have in our citizenry qualities of good predominantly individual.

So let our visiting delegates leave with the assurance that this is a city which has welcomed them and theirs.

Next Tuesday, November 8, is a red letter day for all Americans. The right to vote is not denied in this country. Let's keep it democratic and vote your sentiments at the polls next Tuesday.

The "political battle of the century" is over. But it is important that you go to the polls and cast your vote.

In the school board election, we urge you to go vote for the man you think is best qualified to give the county schools the proper administration.

When the roll is called, will you be there? The annual Roll Call of the Red Cross has been set for November 11 to 24. Workers will start on Armistice Day. The Red Cross is really a humanitarian movement. Every dollar donated goes for relief work in this country and abroad. When disaster strikes, the Red Cross responds. Will you? A dollar isn't much, but when we all cooperate together, our funds will alleviate lots of suffering in cases of emergency.

It is a mark of distinction—the old town is having its face lifted, so many of our business buildings have been stuccoed with a white cement plaster coat. The owners of these buildings on East Main Street and West Maple Street are to be complimented on how they have improved the appearance of the town. Guests will want to linger a while and come back often. This is an inexpensive way to beautify our city, as well as add to the structural value of the buildings themselves.

The Faxon basketball team opened the season with New Concord Friday night, October 28, with a game which people enjoyed even though our boys lost by a score of 26-22. The second team defeated New Concord by a score of 25-10, this was also a good game.

Much interest is being taken in our basketball team. A new squad was organized which we believe will be a great help to the boys. The leaders of the squad are Ernestine Abbott, Imogene Farris and "Pete" Thompson. Friday night, November 4, we will meet the Almo boys on their floor.

The Future Farmers are now working on a project which is helpful to them and we believe it will be to the community, this is the mixing of a laying mash for poultry. The people of the community are going to give it a trial. We believe it will be a good economical feed.

Along with the mash we are going to make a good type feeder. The pigs we are feeding are beginning to show improvement. We are going to work out and make a good ration for them.

This is the beginning of the second half of the first semester. Miss Ida Mae Emily of Henderson, Ky., has been visiting with us. Formerly a student of Miss Fawcett and Miss Brandon, she is spending several weeks in this community. Misses Rubene and Edna Mae Roberts and Freda Wells were visitors in school last Thursday. Mrs. Q. J. Jennings was also a visitor Thursday morning.

Dallas Lancaster, principal of Dexter school, was also a caller after school hours Monday. The inspection he gave of study hall and the library were very commendable.

Monday afternoon a line of cleverly costumed little spooks marched through the gymnasium and study hall. The tiniest spook of them all was little Allegra Jones.

Fifth and Sixth Grade.
We take this opportunity to correct a mistake in our honor roll which was in last week's paper. Thomas Phelps' name was omitted from the fifth grade list and Sue Roberts from sixth grade.

Everyone enjoyed our Halloween party Monday afternoon. Witches and goblins visited our room, even a parade of them. Some of the boys and girls gave some good readings and then games were played.

Cole's Camp Ground

The frost that came the other night sure has made the leaves fall. The weather is pretty now for corn gathering and cotton picking. I like this time of year but the cold, frosty mornings do not suit my wardrobe very well.

Lillie Edwards left for her home in Evansville Friday where she is employed in a large cafe. Several folks from this community attended funeral services for Sam Smith last week. Mr. Smith was an uncle of Robert Edwards and Robert had stayed with his uncle for a number of years before he married. Mr. Smith will be missed by Robert as well as by many others.

Roney Wilson and daughters, Eva and Betty Ray Edwards and Ray Steele and family were visitors of the Oliver family Sunday. Reubie Fay Oliver, nose has been hurting her for a couple of months. She received an injury to her nose while at school.

Air-Conditioning to Be Year-Round Joy

University of Illinois Engineers Study Subject.

URBANA, CHAMPAIGN, ILL.—When year-around air-conditioning becomes as common as winter heating is today, many of the agencies prominent in improving heating will also be found to have been prominent in developing 12-month air-control. In the forefront of these is the University of Illinois.

Results of research by Illinois engineers is embodied in practically every new heating installation made today. This work, begun at Illinois some two decades ago, is continuing, and right along with it is going research extending air-conditioning from a winter-time job to a year-around control.

Not only are engineers working on the mechanical side of air conditioning, but physicians in the college of medicine are studying its effects upon humans and utilizing it in their studies. Likewise, college of agriculture scientists, placing animals in air-conditioned chambers, are learning facts about life processes of great value to humans.

Five Factors Involved.

Complete air conditioning, explain the University of Illinois engineers, involves five factors:

1. Summer cooling and winter warming.
2. Summer dehumidification and winter humidification.
3. Circulation of the air.
4. Removal of dust and odors.
5. Introduction and conditioning of outdoor air.

For student training and for research, they have built a special piece of apparatus in which these factors can be varied and handled in various manners. This 42-foot long apparatus, two stories high, provides several methods of either summer or winter air conditioning. The apparatus is the most complete of its kind.

Another provision for year-around air-conditioning study is a huge insulated room containing a complete portion of a house. Within this room, which has cork walls eight inches thick, coils and fans can produce winter conditions as cold as 5 below zero or summer as hot as 110 above.

With these conditions produced at will and maintained for as long as desired, the research men can make careful and accurate studies of either heating or cooling within the room of the house portion.

Says Coal, Oil and Gas Will Last for 100 Years

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—The United States need not worry about a shortage of coal, petroleum and natural gas for "at least another century," even at the present wasteful rate of consumption, according to Dr. Frank C. Whitmore, dean of the school of chemistry and physics at Pennsylvania state college.

The present supply of hydrocarbons "is sufficient for a time long enough for our chemists to devise new ways of supplying them, when they are naturally exhausted," he said.

Nature required "millions of years" in the manufacture of coal, natural gas and petroleum, and man is using up the stored supplies at an increasingly rapid rate, Doctor Whitmore said.

"In many cases," he added, "he is wasting them as well as using them. Fortunately, less natural gas is being wasted now than formerly. "Perhaps one of the biggest wastes of hydrocarbons is in imperfect combustion of automobile engines. They burn much gasoline, only partly, giving the poisonous carbon monoxide instead of carbon dioxide, which is a product of complete combustion."

Gang Center of Chicago Is Playground Area Now

CHICAGO.—Chicago's "Little Hell," where 42 men were slain in 18 months two decades ago, is a playground for youngsters today. Softball, baseball, boxing and bowling have replaced shotguns and still-ettes.

"Death Corner," hub of "Little Hell" by virtue of its high death rate, has lost its reputation in the Chicago avenue police station. But Captain Tom Harrison remembers when the half square-mile on the Near North Side was the hotbed of unsolved murders instead of the home of Seward Park, Ely Beach and numerous playing fields.

"It's all been changed now," he said. "And the greatest change has been brought about by doctors and lawyers. They have substituted active sports clubs for the street gangs that formerly provided training in car-stealing and petty thievery."

The Black Hand was the terror of the district for decades. The days in bootleg trade after prohibition. The young fellows once recruited to fill the gaps in the gunmen ranks are now more interested in Joe DiMaggio than in Al Capone.

Children Tagged
YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO.—Police decided that there had been too many missing children—lost or strayed from their parents—at parades here. So they tried out during a parade the system of "tagging" all Youngstowners. It succeeded.

Lights of New York

By L. I. STEVENSON

The more I go down to the tip end of Manhattan, the more Battery park intrigues my interest and excites my fancy. The marine panorama is never the same. It varies with every hour of the day or night. It is a truly moving picture. The harbor is never still. Along in the thin hours of the morning, the passing of lights here and there on the dark waters may be only occasional. But the harbor is not still. It is not still at dawn, at high noon or when the lights of the office buildings of Manhattan go out and the only for scrubwomen and porters. The work of the harbor never is done. It continues 24 hours a day. And so far as I have learned, there is never an hour but that it is worth observing.

Dawn is greeted with whistles. Tugs come out in fleets. They always seem to be in a hurry, churning along with a white bone in their teeth. The big ferries begin bringing over Staten Island residents along with loads of fresh vegetables from the gardens of the borough of Richmond. Or perhaps from New Jersey by the way of the Kill von Kull bridge. Coast guard sailers start polishing up the government cutters that take customs men, immigration officials, newspaper men and others down the bay to meet liners. Smoke curls lazily from the stacks of the Ellis Island ferry. The funny little Governor's Island ferry starts its trips between the military reservation and the mainland. Dredges, pile drivers and other work boats go into action. The harbor comes to life with a rush.

Along about 9 a. m., liners start coming up the bay. As they leave the Narrows, they look like stately white clouds. Suddenly they change to ships. Ships with white sides and glittering brass, with huge funnels spouting smoke streamers. Almost always the rails are lined with passengers. Home-comers and visitors. All eager for the Statue of Liberty and a close-up view of the famous skyline of New York. There is much whistling, for a big liner doesn't have a great deal of room in the harbor traffic. Smaller craft scurry out of the way and the liner passes slowly with all the majesty of a monarch. Watching the incoming liners from Battery park to me is better than any stage production. Hardly have the incoming liners docked than those abroad leave their piers and creep down the Hudson into the bay and then speed out to sea.

Every kind of craft that will float passes Battery park. Every kind of ship from the humble cargo carrier to the queens of the sea. Every private boat from extremely small ones propelled by the strength of human arms to the big yachts of Morgan of Astor, craft that can go around the world without refueling. As for the work boats, they range from scows to floating factories and from barges to grain elevators. There is even the suggestion of Noah's ark in some of the barges. Animals of various kinds form the cargo. Animals on their way to slaughter. Animals that let their presence be known by moos, baas, squeals and grunts.

Saturday night is the busy time at the Battery during the summer months. Various excursion boats depart from there. The Sandy Hook and Atlantic Highland boats. The excursion boats that go up the Hudson. The boats for Rye and other beaches. The crowds are gay and colorful. The competition of the ticket sellers is hot. Vendors do a heavy business. But whether Saturday night, or any other night, the Battery to me is attractive. So attractive, I think I'll sneak down there right away.

Houses of Glass Are Now Rapidly Nearing Reality
TOLEDO.—The glass house, a few years ago a dream of the distant future, today is almost a reality, according to an architectural survey made under the direction of John D. Biggers, Toledo glass manufacturer, who also conducted the national unemployment census for the federal government.

Houses built during 1933 are estimated to contain double the window area of those erected a generation ago.

The increased use of glass has made the art of "bringing the outdoors in" a dominating note in modern architecture. "Picture windows"—windows of plate glass built especially to frame a desired view—are component parts of homes being designed today, the report says.

Recent perfection of structural glasses like vitrolite is extending the interior use of glass too. This new type of glass is being used to make gleaming, cheerful all-glass kitchens, the report continues.

Almo School News

School has been going along very nicely this week even though the sports did roam around. When we returned to school Tuesday morning we found only a few things had been carried away by witches and ghosts.

The Almo Blue Warriors were defeated by Hazel Friday night, October 28, by a score of 15-13. Hazel had the advantage of playing on their home floor. The lineup was as follows: Edwards, rf, 7 points; Puckett, lf, Herndon, c, 5; Walston, rg, 1; and Lampkins, lg. Substitutes were J. R. Beale and Hildewell. The second team was also defeated by Hazel with the score of 26-3.

Maybe luck will be with us next Friday night when the Blue Warriors meet Faxon on the Almo hardwood. A small admission will be charged. This is our first home game and a large crowd is expected to cheer our boys on.

All enjoyed the Halloween party Saturday night at the school. Prizes for best costumes were awarded J. B. Jenkins first, R. L. Cooper, our basketball coach, second, and Loudean Washburn third. The short play, "The Haunted Gate" presented by the freshmen, closed the evening's entertainment.

A Halloween program was given Halloween night at this school. The first feature of the program was the costume parade in which prizes were given for different type costumes. James Potts and Thelma Dale Marine were awarded the prize for being the most appropriately dressed couple for Halloween; the prize for the tackiest couple was given to Mrs. Adie Marine and Mr. Ogie Greenfield. Tommy Lassiter and Janette Walston were proclaimed the cutest couple. The judges were Buford Hurt, Lucille Potts and Leon Burken. Prizes were awarded by Miss Jones, our first and second grade teacher. The parade was followed by a general program which consisted of musical numbers, readings and a short 3-act play presented by the sophomore class. The most popular feature of the night was the bing game which was followed by a basketball shooting contest, Country Store, House of Horrors, and Negro Minstrel (in order of their popularity). We had a very orderly Halloween crowd and everyone enjoyed themselves immensely.

Work on the opera has been going on steadily. Most of the cast know their parts and songs. The name of the opera is "The Gypsy Troubadour." It has a very interesting plot and many beautiful songs. It is to be given Wednesday night before Thanksgiving.

F. F. A.

The FFA chapter completed the initiation ceremonies Friday night and conferred the green hand degree upon the 24 candidates, raising the enrollment to 56, the largest in the history of the Kirksey Chapter, and at present, the largest in the county. The boys already have next summer's tour in mind and are looking forward to the thinking of Greeley's famous words: "Go west, young man, go west."

Richard Mills and Joe Jones have evidently been thinking too much about the West, they appeared at the Halloween Carnival with pistols in their belts. The fund-raising plans call for feeding out two bunches of pigs, a fiddler's contest, and an ice cream supper.

"Use Phosphate" Is Agent's Request

The county agricultural office today requested county farmers to use such phosphate as they have ordered in compliance with a provision of the new farm program and report such use to the county agent, since no applications may be approved or accepted by the State office until all phosphate is used.

The information came in a special message from the State office today.

MEMORIAL BAPTIST CHURCH 10th and Main

The pastor will speak morning and evening, at 10:50 a. m. and 7:15 p. m.

The sermon subjects will be, "MISSIONS OUR MISSION" and "CHRIST AND THE SCRIPTURES."

In the morning message the pastor will be dealing with one of the most fundamental doctrines in all the Bible—the doctrine of missions. For "how shall they believe in Him of whom they have not heard?" and how shall they hear without a preacher? The Scriptures make it clear that the lost of this earth will never be saved unless and until the gospel is preached to them. We are MISSIONARY Baptists, and yet we must all be quick to admit that we are not doing what we ought to carry out our Lord's commission. Many important phases of the subject of missions will be presented in this message.

The evening message will be based upon John 3:16, and will deal with the following points: Christ's whole-hearted approval of the Old Testament Scriptures, Christ's encouragement of a universal study of the Scriptures, Christ's declaration of the lofty end of Scripture, Christ's interpretation of the pre-eminent theme of Scripture, His own finished work, and, finally, Christ's rebuke of those who read the Scriptures and yet reject the Savior which they present.

You are cordially invited to worship with us next Sunday morning and evening.

Prayer meeting each Wednesday evening at 7:15. Teachers' meeting at the conclusion of prayer service.

All are always invited to all of our services. You will find a warm welcome when ever you come. Those who know the Lord already will get spiritual sustenance and strength by going to God's house, and those who are yet in sin will be taught the way of life.

This thought for your meditation: If multitudes of the American people, particularly those in the East, were literally thrown into a panic last Sunday evening by the broadcast of a dramatization of a part of H. G. Wells' fiction, what will be the effect upon the world "when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ?"

Manual Arts Course at the High School Teaches Pupils in Rudiments of Carpentry

A training course in manual arts teaching such departments in the larger cities of the nation perhaps is that which has been installed in the Murray high school during the past two years under the direction and supervision of Wilburn Cavitt, instructor, and Superintendent W. J. Caplinger.

Last year was the first year for the manual arts course at Murray, with two classes being taught—one under the supervision of Professor Caplinger, the other under Professor Cavitt. There were 20 pupils enrolled at that time.

This year, nineteen students are taking the study—divided into two classes—both of which are taught by Cavitt.

The most recent example of the youths' handwork is a standard sized business desk to be used by the WPA home aid project, supervised by Mrs. J. R. Oury. The desk, perfectly finished and morticed, is a beautiful bit of craftsmanship, both in the fitting of timbers and the plans from which it was made. Professor Cavitt drew the plans and directed the work while the boys carried the program out.

The intricate work of establishing the joints and tendons in proportionate conformity was carried on by the boys as if they were masters of the handcraft profession. Charles Mason-Baker was responsible for most of such work on the desk; Curtis Hays and Kay Rudolph cut all the mortices for the tendons to fit in; Garnett Jones, Joe Parker, Curtis Hays, Nelson Blacklock, and Bob Jones varnished the table; Tom Cable stained it; James Miller scraped the top, and Bill Harrison and Dan Hutson aided in morticing the top, etc., and all others in the class helped sand the table.

The desk has a wide top made of four planks, but so closely are the planks fitted it is by no means noticeable—even under apparently close scrutiny—where the timbers come together. The top is made of red gum, as also are the fronts of the drawers. The rest is made of pine.

Approximate cost of the materials for the table plus all other incidental expense in constructing it, Cavitt said, would amount to around $7.00. The table itself, he said, if purchased from a furniture store or some other such retailer, would cost in the neighborhood of $20.

The boys spent 18 class periods working on the project, with only two or three boys being allowed to work on the table, per period. Others busied themselves with projects of their own.

The shop itself is well-equipped, with each boy having a special compartment with essential handtools of his own. Each furnishes the materials with which he works, and the completed bit of furniture is his own. The shop contains power tools, electric planers, wheel presses, hand saws, lathes, bench saws, and other requisite tools. Each dangerous instrument such as the electric saws or the planers have safety devices with which the pupils' hands are guarded from the sharp blades.

Several of the boys now are working on lamp stands. Kay Rudolph, Nelson Blacklock, and Curtis Hays are making such, and the latter is also constructing a smoking stand. Billy Harrison has already finished a bookcase, Charles Mason is working on one, Garnett Jones has a new radio desk, Albert Crider recently completed a taboret, and Dan Hutson is putting the finishing touches on a magazine rack.

The young workmen sharpen their own tools and haven't lost a single implement since they began. Few have been injured at all, the casualty of any significance being that sustained last year by Garnett Jones, who let his hand come in contact with one of the saws while the current was on. The wound healed up nicely, however, and left little indication of the seriousness of its nature at the time.

Cavitt himself said he gained the information he possesses about woodcraft and manual arts, not from school but from actual experience. He feels, he said—and Professor Caplinger complemented his statement with a similar one of his own—that the students will learn more by actually doing the work than they would merely from learning the essentials without application.

Professor Caplinger believes the school has one of the best equipped workrooms in the State. Both he and Cavitt praised the marvelous cooperative qualities of the students and the apparent interest they took in turning out worthy pieces of furniture.

The public will receive a cordial reception at any time any of its members care to look over the work the boys are doing, they said.

Murray State's Thoroughbreds ran and passed to a 30-0 victory over the Union University Bulldogs at Jackson, Tenn., Friday night, earning their fifth victory of the season over varied opposition.

The Thoroughbreds took the lead early, as John Jasper plucked the opening kickoff from the air and loped behind marvelous downfield blocking for the touchdown. Pete Gudauskas converted from placement.

Early in the second quarter, Jug Mitchell unreeling some fancy running, making 18 yards on one occasion and following it up with seven yards over tackle for a touchdown. He made the extra point himself. Just before the half ended Jake Inman passed to Bill McRaven for 18 yards and a touchdown. Gudauskas' try for extra point was low. Up until that time he had kicked 29 consecutive extra points.

A pass, Inman to Thomas Wray, helped advance the ball 52 yards early in the fourth quarter. Cobble Lee tried the line twice, making the three yards necessary for Murray's fourth touchdown, and Gudauskas was good for the extra point.

Dale Deibert's field goal in the waning minutes ran Murray's score to 30 points as the game closed.

A. C. "Bub" Vinson of East Murray will take orders now for Christmas apples or cherries.

Murray High Has Ire Up For Tilt With Dresden High

Tigers Are Ready to Annex
Second Victory of Season Tonight

When Murray high school's Tiger football team goes up against the Dresden Lions here tonight, they will be seeking their second win in seven games. They have been defeated five times this year, being victorious only once when they surprised Dawson Springs with a 13-7 shellacking.

The majority of Murray's losses have been by small margins, with only Hopkinsville's great team polishing them off by a more-than-two touchdown majority. The Hoptowners won out 32-0.

Dresden has a team which is worthy of the calibre of any team in the West Kentucky Conference, displaying their merit Friday night when they lambasted Bruceton high school's heavier eleven by a 32-0 walkaway. With Captain Crawford, right end, and Hutcherson, freshman halfback, starring, Dresden scored 12 points in the first quarter.

In losing their fifth consecutive game Friday night, Murray showed remarkable staying power with its sophomore team slashing for wide gains through Fulton's line in the last half. They could not score, however.

In the last quarter, Murray clawed to the Fulton 5-yard tick; but Fulton recovered a fumble and the scoring threat was over. The game ended with the ball on Murray's 40-yard stripe.

Murray attempted eight passes and completed five for a gain of 47 yards. It was penalized 25 yards, Fulton 35. Murray made six first downs and punted four times; Fulton made 11 first downs and punted three times.

The probable starting lineup will be:

Murray	Pos.	Dresden
Phillips	LE	Crawford (C)
Brumley	LT	Westbrooks
Huie	LG	Rawls
McNutt	C	Malone
Baker	RG	Cooper
Crider (C)	RT	Smith
Hart	RE	Melfton
Gingles	LH	Hutcherson
Robertson	RH	Maiden
Patterson	QB	Turner
Buchanan	FB	Brooks

The game will start promptly at 7:30. One of the principal reasons for the game's being held tonight

New Ford to Be on Display Here

Latest Models Will Include Mercury 8, A Brand New Auto

The New Mercury 8, the Ford Motor Company's newly-announced entry in the lower medium-price field, will be assembled at the Louisville Branch plant, it was announced today by F. S. Reinhardt, branch manager.

The Louisville Branch plant is one of five of the sixteen Ford Motor Company branch assembly plants in the United States where the new car will be assembled. These plants are located at Dearborn, Mich.; Edgewater, N. J.; Kansas City, Mo.; Louisville Ky.; and Richmond, Calif.

During the last few months, Mr. Reinhardt said, workmen have been engaged in installing new fixtures and other equipment for the assembly of the new Mercury bodies. Operations to be conducted here also include the painting and trimming of the bodies, chassis assembly, and the final assembly of the car.

Production of 1939 models is now under way and will be, he said, stepped up as rapidly as possible in order to supply cars to dealers in the territory to be served from this city.

The Louisville Branch is scheduled to assemble 2650 units during the month of November, of which approximately 650 will be new Mercury cars.

The New Ford models will be on display in Murray Friday, November 4, at Stokes-Smith Motor Company.

Fire Does Damage In Murray Vicinity

A virtually new bungalow between Midway and Hazel on the highway—a building belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Roberts—was totally destroyed by fire Sunday night. The building was a 3-room cottage with porch. Little was saved, and the origin of the fire was not determined.

Fire Friday damaged the roof and kitchen of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nat Gibbs on West Poplar when a blaze caught from a laundry stove. The flames were extinguished by the Murray fire department.

IN MEMORY

In loving memory of my dear brother, Robert Mason Boggess, who was taken away from us October 30, 1934. Four years ago since my dear brother was taken away.

It was so sad to give him up, our hearts were made so sad and sore and are still so sad and sore, but we all hope to meet him some day where parting will be no more. We miss you dear Robert, also your dear footsteps. We see your vacant place in our home which never can be filled. Our home is so lonely without you since you were taken away from us. You are gone from us but not forgotten dear brother.

Mrs. Lela Holloway.

I favor every one and two teacher school having a trustee to select its teacher or teachers.

In selecting high school teachers, I shall be guided by the will of the majority. And the same is true with regard to consolidations. Fairness is my motto.

Behind the Scenes in American Business

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—BUSINESS.—While the current recovery movement has featured prosperity headlines for big industries such as steel, factory machinery, public utilities, and engineering construction, some of the less spectacular industries have also been chalking up rosy records of their own. Retail furniture sales are booming again, and manufacturers shipped $40,000,000 worth of merchandise in September, the highest this year. September was also notable for the fact that it was the first 1933 month in which shipments to local dealers by cash, door and frame manufacturers exceeded the similar month last year. Rug sales, which started the year off poorly, will probably come within 10 per cent of the 1932 volume, as mills speed up production to meet rapidly rising demand.

WASHINGTON.—The 20th anniversary of Armistice Day is a reminder that the world was not "made safe for democracy" by the world war. Officials here, though, aren't wasting time crying over spilt milk. Believing they read correctly the country's sentiment, they are pushing a broad program of national defense preparedness. Behind all preparedness mechanisms, military experts say, lies the problem of raw materials. America lacks, in whole or in part, 21 strategic raw materials, according to the War Department. Many we now import have to cross thousands of miles of ocean. Rubber comes from Malaya and the Dutch East Indies. Bauxite, to make aluminum, from South America. Manganese from Russia, Africa, India and Brazil. Tungsten from China. Plenty of manganese, indispensable in steel making, exists in the U. S., with deposits in at least 20 states. But it requires costly equipment to concentrate the ores. Holding back development of a going domestic manganese industry, which would serve as wartime "insurance," strategists point out, is the fact the tariff was cut in half in 1933, thereby giving the market almost exclusively to far-off nations where the ore is mined by cheap labor. Recent developments have crystallized sentiment here in favor of legislation such as was introduced in the last congress designed to solve the raw materials problem by building emergency reserves exclusively from domestic sources. This would include Cuba, in the case of manganese, it is felt, since the Army is recommending continued development of Cuban mines to keep available this accessible source in case of emergencies.

The Fords Tell Their Plans for 1939

IF WE KNEW anything better we could do for the country than make good motor cars, we would do it.

By every one doing his best in the job he thinks most useful, this country is going to regain its momentum. We have tried to do our best in our job.

When business was suddenly halted in its recovery more than a year ago, we determined that we should keep going anyway, if not at full-volume motor car production, then at getting ready for greater motor car values that would help future production.

EXPANDING FOR THE FUTURE

We began to build 34 million dollars' worth of new plants and equipment. We felt that if we could not employ all our men building motor cars, we would employ as many as we could building better production facilities.

We were told, of course, that this was no time for expansion, that a wiser business policy would be to "hold everything"—which means, stop everything. But no one ever got anywhere standing still.

Besides, we are not defeatists. We do not believe this country has seen its best days. We believe this country is yet in the infancy of its growth. We believe that every atom of faith invested in our Country and our People will be amply justified by the future. We believe America is just beginning. Never yet have our People seen real Prosperity. Never yet have we seen adequate Production. But we shall see it! That is the assurance in which we have built.

Business is not just coming back. It will have to be brought back. That is now becoming well understood in this country; for that reason 1939 will be a co-operative year. Manufacturers, sellers and buyers will co-operate to bring back the business that is waiting to be brought back.

This construction program is almost completed. It has increased activity and payrolls in a number of related industries. It has given us better facilities for building better cars and trucks, and eventually our new tractor which is being perfected.

THIS MEANS MORE VALUE

The current program has provided a new plant, which will turn out a part of our requirements... a new tool and die plant that will help us cut the cost of dies... and a steel-press plant that will enable us to make more of our own automobile bodies. These are in addition to the plants we already had for producing glass, iron, steel, plastics, and many other things.

We don't supply all our own needs, of course, and never expect to. The Ford engine is one thing that no one's hand touches but ours. Of nearly everything else we use we build some quantity ourselves, to find, if possible, better and more economical ways of doing it. The experience and knowledge we gain are freely shared with our suppliers, and with other industries.

Henry and Edsel Ford, on the occasion of the 35th anniversary of the founding of the Ford Motor Company, June 16, 1938

We take no profit on anything we make for ourselves and sell to ourselves. Every operation, from the Ford ships which first bring iron ore to the Rouge, is figured at accurate cost. The only profit is on the finished result—the car or truck as it comes off the line. Some years, there is no profit for us. But we see to it that our customers always profit. A basic article of our business creed is that no sale is economically constructive unless it profits the buyer as much as or more than the seller.

Our new plants have helped us build more value into all our cars for 1939. That means more profit on the car to the purchaser. We have not cut quality to reduce costs. We simply will not build anything inferior.

NEW TESTING EQUIPMENT

While we were putting up new plants to produce cars, we constructed new equipment to test them. The first weather tunnel of its kind ever built for automobile research went into operation at our laboratories this year.

It makes any kind of weather to order. The weather it delivers every day would take months to find in Nature. Our cars are weather-tested to give you good service in any climate anywhere.

In other tests, every part of the car is punished unmercifully. Then our engineers tear it down to see if they can find abnormal wear or any sign of weakness.

The money we spend on tests saves you money on repairs. And your family car is safer and more dependable when we put it in your hands.

THE NEW CARS

We have two new Ford cars for 1939—better cars and better looking—but we also have an entirely new car.

It's called the Mercury 8. It fits into our line between the De Luxe Ford and the Lincoln-Zephyr. It is larger than the Ford, with 116-inch wheelbase, hydraulic brakes, and a new 95-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine.

We know that our 1939 cars are cars of good quality. We think they're fine values in their price classes.

With new cars, new plants, new equipment, the whole Ford organization is geared to go forward.

The subject of the Sunday School Lesson for November 6 is "Honoring Our Parents." "The Teacher" for November shows how a thoughtless boy changed attitude to his mother after presenting the following items: "Mother Owe Bradley; for running errands, 25c; for being good, 10c; for taking music lessons, 15c; for extras, 5c—total 55c." Mother smiled but did not say anything.

At church, with the money was another bill: "Bradley Owe Mother—for being good, $.00; for nursing him through his long illness of scarlet fever, .00; for clothes, shoes, games, playthings, .00; for all his meals and beautiful room, .00." Tears came into Bradley's eyes and he gave back the money and asked his mother that he might do things for nothing for her who had cared so lovingly for him. "Children obey your parents in the Lord: this is right." Eph. 6:1.

County Farmers Sow Cover Crops

Six Men Head Honor Roll for All Cultivated Land Already Planted

In compliance with a move sponsored by County Agent J. T. Cochran, certain farmers in Calloway county are planting all their cultivated land in cover crops during the winter.

The move was started by Cochran early in October when he placed in his office an honor roll on which were written names of persons who would sow all cultivated land to such crops. A meadow-style meter, graduating upward, was to designate how many acres each had sown.

Six farmers already have planted all their designated acres in cover crops, and the thermometer shows 140 acres on the six farms.

Men who lead the honor list are Walter S. Trevelyan, 30 acres; B. W. Edmonds, 35 acres; J. H. Dunn, 14.5 acres; Otis Patton, 10; and Duncan Ellis, 25.

Cochran said today he expected the acreage to climb 100 per cent between now and November 15.

There will be a pie supper at this school Saturday night, November 5. Come and have a good time with us.

The honor roll for the fourth month is as follows: first grade, Fay Fowler and Nancy Douglas; second grade, Mary Kathryn Parker and Tex Douglas; third grade, Euel Lee Kimbro, Maxine Elkins and Ruby Cunningham; fifth grade, Brent Scarborough.

Most of the farmers finished cutting tobacco in 1938 in August, and gathering corn in October which never before has ever happened. Corn is going at 40 cents a bushel—who'll give 50c? Sweet potatoes are not worth digging and hauling off and are being fed to hogs, cattle and chickens. That's the way "taters" go. Pop goes the weasel!

Last 4th Monday a blind woman played some fine music on a small organ in front of Douglass. Douglas Gridders Defeat Lincoln Hornets of Paducah

The Lincoln Hornets, of Paducah, a colored football team considered for years as tops among negro football teams in this section, proved only another ball club here this week as Murray's Douglas high school for colored Tigers won their fifth consecutive game by a score of 16-0.

The Murray eleven scored on a forward pass in the first quarter to hold a 6-0 lead at the half. The Calloway countians then counted a touchdown in each of the last two quarters.

The Hornets made their best showing in the second quarter, but lacked the necessary punch to score.

The Douglas squad has only 16 men available for play, but they play for all that's in it.

Across the River

Now haven't we been having some lovely days! Here it is November and we haven't had any real cold weather yet.

Mrs. Bryant Jones' tomatoes are bearing their second crop of tomatoes and petunias are coming up in porch boxes as if it were spring.

Farmers are beginning to gather corn and of course hope this appropriate weather continues.

Linus Spiceland conveyed some of the teachers, Mrs. Cornelia Kirks, Miss Ida Lorene Vincent, Messrs Carmen Greenup and Clyde Spiceland and of course Mrs. "Chatterbox" to Nashville Friday to attend the Education Association held in the War Memorial Building.

Maston Cook came in from Akron, O. this week and left again Saturday with his bride, formerly Miss Orla Vincent, of this county.

Raymond B. Kirks, spent the week-end at home after traveling for the past four weeks as far as the Gulf of Mexico in Texas. He left Monday to travel in other southern states including Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Loy Spiceland of Tolu spent the week-end at Mrs. Gertrude Spiceland's. They were accompanied by a Miss Croft from Tolu who visited her classmate, Miss Ruth Cathey.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Spiceland were hosts to a party of young men and women of the Poplar Spring Sunday school Saturday night. Don't know why, but I can't enjoy parties with the old fashioned games of "social" and "slap out" and such and the other more modern games like I used to. I guess age must be creeping on when one prefers the fireside and a magazine on these lovely nights, but now instead of feeling so soulfully romantic when strolling home through the moonlight I'm wondering if it might frost or if the fruit or potatoes or something as prosaic may chill. Yes, "time changes things."

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Cathey and family were among the other dinner guests at Mrs. Gertrude Spiceland's Sunday. Mr. Cathey, a born plumber seemingly, is employed in Murray at present.

I heard about that homecoming at the Methodist church in Providence a few Sunday ago. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lovins and Rainey and Mr. and Mrs. Porter McCulston and Sanford McCullore attended. I know it was worth traveling through the rain of that day to hear such talks as that one-time teacher of mine, Mr. Max Hurt, can make, besides hearing the Dover quartet and the others who sang and played.
