EAVES GOES TO THE GRAND JURY

WARRANT CHARGES HIM WITH SHOOTING AT PATROLMEN.

Jim Osgood, 23, of Detroit, was brought before Magistrate Frank O. Smith yesterday on a warrant issued last month by Police Commissioner John E. O'Sullivan, charging Osgood with the murder of Patrolman James A. Vesey.

Osgood, who is said to have been a frequent associate of Patrolman Vesey, was taken into custody at his home last month and held incommunicado until yesterday when he was brought before Judge Smith for trial.

The charges against Osgood are based on the theory that he was present on the night of the murder and that he was the person who shot and killed Patrolman Vesey.

The warrant, which was issued by the police commissioner, charges Osgood with first degree murder and with the commission of a crime of violence.

The trial of Osgood will be held in the Court of Common Pleas, and is expected to be a long one due to the nature of the charges and the evidence against the defendant.

Osgood is accused of shooting and killing Patrolman Vesey in cold blood, and of having previously attempted to shoot the patrolman with a .32 caliber pistol.

The warrant charges that Osgood had been seen in the vicinity of the patrolman's home on the night of the murder, and that he had been observed in the company of Patrolman Vesey on several previous occasions.

The trial will be held in the Court of Common Pleas, and is expected to be a long one due to the nature of the charges and the evidence against the defendant.
Politics and Politicians

A bill giving the voters of the state an opportunity to express their opinions upon certain primary questions was submitted to the people of the state yesterday. The bill was a measure taken by the state legislature to prevent the election of public officials by the party on the ballot, and to make it necessary for the candidates to be elected by the people who voted for them.

The bill, as it stands, provides that the candidates for public office shall be elected by the people who voted for them. The measure was introduced by the Republican legislature, and was opposed by the state legislature. The bill was passed by the state legislature, and was submitted to the people of the state for their approval.
