First Postwar Holiday Here For Many Vets

Ex-Service Men Widely Scattered At End Of 1945

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Now that the war is over and most of the Fulton servicemen have come home, many of those who stayed here during the war have forgotten where the boys have been, and how long they were in the service.

For some of the ex-servicemen, this Christmas and New Year's holidays are the first they have spent in Fulton for three to five years. Here are some of the boys who have come home, and the places in which they spent Christmas and New Year's in 1944 or 1945:

Billy Gene Gordon—Hollandia, Humboldt Bay—New Guinea.
Henry Look—Kyoto, Japan.
Stanley Parham—Chichi Jima.

Harold Mullins—Borneo.
Dick Cummings—Guam.
L. C. Jamerson—Luzon, Philippines.
Bobby Dalton—Australia.
Archibald—England.
Paul Harwood—enroute from Naples, Italy.
Wallace McCollum—Shanghai, China.
Sugar Willingham—Manila Bay.
Johnny Sharpe—enroute to Lyman Gulf.
Will T. Lee—England.
William Humphreys—Manila, Philippines.

Billy Scruggs—Italy.
Buddy Steele—Guadalcanal.
Edgar Drysdale—Guadalcanal.
J. Mac Seaton—enroute to States (San Francisco).
Jack Snow—Tokyo, Japan.

(Note: our readers are invited to send names and addresses of other Fulton boys who were overseas at the close of 1945.)

TB Seal Sale Quota Topped

YMBC Committee Got Total Contributions Of $604; Quota Was $600

The annual Christmas seal sale campaign, sponsored by the Fulton Young Men's Business Club for the first time this year, has exceeded its quota of $600, it was announced this morning by Joe Hall, general chairman.

Total contributions of $604 had been received today, he said. This figure represents an increase of at least $100 over any previous sum collected in a TB seal sale drive in this city.

Mr. Hall thanked all members of the YMBC committee who assisted in the drive, and expressed his appreciation for the fine work done by the Fulton schools.

Students from all the schools—the high school, Carl Institute, Terry-Norman, and Milton Colored School—sold seals this year.

A complete report on county-wide campaign has not been received as yet.

He May Run If He Is Wanted

Washington Paper Says General Told Friends He Might Be Candidate

Washington, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The Times-Herald said today in a copyright story that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was reported "ready to run for president in 1948 if the people want him."

Eisenhower, the Times-Herald said, is said to have told friends during informal discussions while on a fishing trip off Miami over the holidays that "I will run for president if the people of the country want me to run."

The friends were not identified. The Times-Herald continued: "The statement was the first evidence that the General has given any attention to frequent reports that he was being felt out as a nominee by representatives of both major parties."

Attempts to reach General Eisenhower at Miami, said the papers brought the response that he had gone to Everglades City today on a fishing trip. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, went to Miami recently for a physical checkup at the Pratt Army General Hospital.

State Demos Meet Jan. 17

Party Harmony Is Goal; Donaldson Names Group To Meet, Perfect Plans

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 31.—(AP)—January 17 has been set as the date for the first 1947 session of the Democratic State Central Committee, with party harmony as the goal of the meeting.

At a meeting of the board of directors here yesterday, Harry Lee Watson, speaker of the State House of Representatives, resigned as party organization director, so as to be free to promote his candidacy for governor in next August's primaries. Congressman Earle Clements, the other announced gubernatorial aspirant, was absent.

State Chairman J. Lyter Donaldson, Carrollton, named a special committee to meet here Jan. 7 to perfect plans for the session of the full committee, 10 days later, which also was set for Louisville.

The planning committee includes: U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley, Paducah; Rep. Virgil Chapman, Paris; Mayor E. Leslie Taylor, Louisville; Mr. Leslie Goodpastor, Owensville, state president of Democratic Women's Clubs; Milton Whitworth, Elizabethtown, state president of Young Democratic Clubs; Ben Adams, Hopkinsville; John Whitaker, Russellville; and R. G. Williams, Somerset.

Fulton Has First Heavy Snow; More Cold Weather Forecast

The first heavy snow fall of the year began in Fulton at about 9 o'clock this morning, and continued cold weather was forecast for western Kentucky during the remainder of the week. 1946 started its final weather bings today and in its last climatic cocktail there were big chunks of ice, snow, and rain for most of the nation.

1947 promised to pick up where the old year finished and cool off New Year's eve celebrations with a similar concoction.

An extensive mass of cold air covered most of the country from the Rockies to the Atlantic coast. Temperatures in northern Minnesota dipped to as low as 30 degrees below zero. There were sub-zero readings eastward into Iowa and in Maine, Vermont, and New Hampshire.

Below freezing temperatures were reported as far south as Central Louisiana and Central Mississippi and sleet and rain added to the discomfort in parts of Texas, Mississippi and Arkansas. A light snow fell at Fort Worth, Tex., and the mercury dropped to 18 above at Oklahoma City.

Fair weather was forecast for the Gulf and Pacific coast states, with rain predicted in Oregon and Washington and spreading eastward into Montana as snow tomorrow.

Light snow was forecast in the Great Lakes area and in the Ohio Valley and continued below freezing was the chilly outlook for many sections of the Midwest over the holiday.

The temperatures on the federal weather map yesterday ranged from the low 80's in southern Florida to 10 below at Pembina, N. D.

Today's readings included 35 below at International Falls, Minn., at the Canadian border and at Mendota, Minn.; -18 at Presque Isle, Me.; -14 at Lebanon, N. H., and Montpelier, Vt.; -2 at Utica, N. Y.; -16 at Philadelphia, Pa.; -17 at New York City; -12 at Boston and Chicago and -26 in Washington, D. C.

Car Overturns; Two Men Hurt

Leon, Smith Stephens Of Jackson Chapel Go To Fulton Hospital Monday

Leon Stephens and Smith Stephens, brothers of the Jackson Chapel community, were painfully injured yesterday morning when the automobile they were driving left highway 307 and overturned about four miles from Fulton.

The car, owned by James Ellett, a neighbor of the two men, was badly damaged. It was reported that the steering mechanism locked causing the driver to lose control of the vehicle.

The Stephens men were admitted to Fulton Hospital for treatment yesterday.

Both are overseas veterans of World War II. Smith Stephens, who now makes his home in Detroit, has been visiting his brother and other relatives here.

U. C. Packing Employees Stay Off Job Dec. 30

Production Stops As Union Men Join In Walkout

NEGOTIATIONS FAIL

Union City, Tenn.—All employees of Neuhoff, Inc. (formerly the Reynolds Packing Co.) who are members of the Local Union 168, Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America (AFL), with the exception of firemen who were left on the job to keep the boilers operating, failed to report for work yesterday morning.

Production at the plant was brought to a standstill. Office employees, the buying force, foremen and the sales staff, none of whom are members of the union, were on the job as usual.

The union opened negotiations with the company management Dec. 20, asking a retroactive wage increase under the 1946 contract and a new contract for the year beginning Jan. 1, 1947.

These negotiations broke down last Friday, when the union and management were unable to agree on a retroactive wage increase and on certain clauses to be included in the 1947 contract.

Representing the management in the negotiations have been T. J. Yarbrough, manager; Clay Barnes, plant superintendent; and Attorney Fenner Heathcock. Union representatives have been Rufus Duren, former employee who is now on a leave of absence working as a representative of the national union; Bill Buren, Lester Phillips, Sam Speed, Davis, Robert Barnes and Melvin Turner.

The company was purchased Oct. 5 by Neuhoff, Inc., of which Lorenz Neuhoff is president, from the Reynolds Packing Co.

TVA Power System, Biggest In U. S., Is Fully Converted

Knoxville, Tenn., Dec. 31.—(AP)—The electric power and other facilities of the Tennessee Valley Authority—vastly expanded during the war—are in full use for peacetime purposes, TVA declared in its thirteenth annual report delivered to the President and Congress in Washington today.

A temporary drop in power production occurred after V-J Day, but by June, 1946, the TVA system of hydroelectric and steam plants was breaking war-time peak records, the authority reported.

"For the second consecutive year," the report stated, "the TVA power system produced more electricity than any other integrated power system in the country, a total of more than 12,000,000,000 kilowatt hours."

TVA estimated that damage of $10,000,000 was averted at Chattanooga, Tenn., in January, 1946, when operation of dams reduced the crest of flood by 10 feet.

The report stated that without special efforts, TVA system operations last winter also reduced crests of two moderate

Murray College Buys Buildings

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Murray State College, Murray, Ky., has purchased two wooden buildings at the Kentucky Ordnance Works, Paducah, the war assets administration announced here.

The buildings are to be converted by the college for use as dormitories, the W. A. A. said. The structures were rated by the federal agency as worth $14,610, but it said that the college was charged only a nominal amount.

Asked whether this meant that he favors the seating of Bilbo, Ellender replied: "Unquestionably."

He said the Republican members of the committee, Senators Bridges of New Hampshire and Hickenlooper of Iowa, will file a minority report.

Both of these Senators, as well as Ellender, declined to discuss details of the reports they intend to submit.

The Republican Steering Committee is considering whether to try to bar Bilbo at the door when the Senate convenes Friday.

Frankfort, Ky., Dec. 31.—(AP)—

Belief that President Truman's proclamation issued today would not affect Kentucky's early parole law was expressed today by State Welfare Commissioner John Quarterman.

The state's wartime parole law, like most other acts of Congress, was passed by the Kentucky general assembly, provided that it ceased to be effective when the President proclaimed the end of the national emergency which President Roosevelt declared prior to Pearl Harbor.

Quarterman pointed out that Washington dispatches talking of the proclamation provided that Truman issued today said that the proclamation ended the period of hostilities, but did not end the "national emergency."

There were indications at the Pentagon that the War Department was some what surprised at the sudden announcement.

It touched off a series of top level conferences at the state headquarters to see how much of the huge machinery under which the army operated for more than five years would need resetting for peace-time operation. Pending results from these first meetings, army officials withheld comment.

The navy hastened to note that the service of naval reserve officers would not be affected. Reserve officers were on duty for the duration of the emergency plus six months.

Mr. Truman made public his proclamation at a news conference.

"Will the combined chiefs of staffs (British and American) be affected by this proclamation?" a reporter asked.

The President replied in the negative, saying the cooperation would be continued for at least six months. He did not clarify whether he meant six months after the formal end of the war.

One point was obvious: by acting now, Mr. Truman was putting pressure on the new Republican-dominated congress to speed consideration of just what emergency powers it wishes to preserve for the government.

He said he would send congress recommendations on powers which should be continued in peacetime.

More Tourists Coming

Tourist travel in Kentucky may have reached new heights during 1946, according to J. Stephen Watkins, highway commissioner. Russell Dyche, state parks director, reported that 381,761 persons visited Kentucky's state parks in 1946, and predicted more would come in 1947.

That's good news for all Kentuckians. The tourist trade is a welcome addition to any community's business. While we have no state park or other place of unusual interest in our "back yard," so to speak, we are located on heavily-traveled highways, and will benefit from an increase in the number of tourists coming into our state.

Kentucky is one of the more scenic states, and her people are noted for their hospitality. These two factors should send the tourist climbing still higher when more new automobiles are available and sightseers can take to the highways whenever they choose.

The Man Has Talent

Henry Wallace, whose public utterances sometimes remind one of the most famous orator at both major political parties at the organization meeting of the Progressive Citizens of America, which may be the nucleus of a third party movement.

The former-secretary-turned-editor lashes out against the "fake one-party system" under the guise of a bi-partisan bloc which he says is now controlling the federal government. Evidently it's whole hog or none with Wallace. Don't miss out just a few of his "cass" all out. Time was when he would confine a speech to attacking just Republicans, then he broke with the Democrats, and now he's going after both parties hammer and tongs.

However, the man does have an undeniable talent. Who else can simultaneously rub so many people's wrongs?

Thoughts while shivering: the long-unexpected war, with have been a big overcast, the long-lived unseasonably warm spell, now convinced that they had the right idea after all.

Striking St. Paul schoolteachers were expected to return to the classrooms today, and it is assumed that everybody is happy about the whole thing—with the possible exception of the 578 pupils whose extra-long holidays are a memory.

Unsuitable Decision

Mr. Joseph M. (AP)—Alton Harness committed in court that he bought a suit with the pants of pants, then discovered that one of the pants didn't match the coat.

"Who expects pants to match a coat these days?" asked his tailor, the defendant.

"I do," said Justice of the Peace Tom Bruce, and awarded Harness a judgment for $14.32.

Republican Representative Knutson of Minnesota still insists we can get income taxes lower, despite the size of our national debt and the cost of operating our federal government. Last time we heard anything about Knutson's that good, we woke up the next morning with a terrible headache—but tell us more, Mr. Knutson. We like to listen.

New Air Pacts Pondered

James J. Streib, Associated Press Aviation Reporter

The United States government is watching the operation of its present commercial air agreements with 28 countries for clues to the effects of an early world-wide pact.

Experience with agreements now in effect is satisfactory, it is fair to assume that the basic principle will be offered for world adoption when the 48 member-states of the International Civil Aviation Organization (Picao) meet next May.

The goal of a free air for peaceful flight was set at a world conference at Chicago in 1944. The Chicago conference fell short of a mark, and both the United States and the British began making bilateral or two-nation agreements for air transport rights. Eventually, of course, they had to consider making one with each other.

This brought together head-on the two opposing principles: the United States belief in complete freedom to carry international traffic through the air (but not a nation's internal traffic); and the British belief in strict economic control, with a division of the business.

The two concepts were brewed into a pact that satisfied both. It was reached at Bermuda, which gave this type agreement its name. Both great nations agreed to sign no aviation pact less liberal than the Bermuda agreement.

The United States 28 agreement meet the Bermuda terms as a minimum. A dozen more agreements are on the fire. The United Kingdom has at least a score of such pacts.

With The Fourth Estate

POLITICS IN GEORGIA LIKE OURS IN 1900

Until the people of Georgia know who is to be their governor the next four years the present muddled state of affairs will continue. The perplexing situation was created by the death of the governor-elect, Eugene Talmadge, less than a month before he would have been inaugurated for the fourth term. And now a scramble for the position is on with no indication that it will end until the legislature acts. Before that time a confusing legal battle will find rival factions arrayed. And the choice of the legislature of the victor in the courts—however the chief executive is chosen—will inherit an unsettled era when he is inducted into office. Such would not have been the case had Talmadge lived until he had been sworn in as governor. For the lieutenant governor-elect automatically would have succeeded to the office upon the death of the governor.

Here in Kentucky we are not entirely unfamiliar with the situation now existing in Georgia. In the winter and spring of 1899 and 1900 we had two disputants for the governorship. On the face of the returns from the November 1899 election Attorney General William S. Taylor, Republican, of Morgantown, appeared to have been elected. The election climaxed a bitter campaign—or rather two campaigns—for State Senator William Goebel, of Covington, had won the Democratic nomination for governor in a convention marked by tumult, over former Attorney General P. Watt Hardin and a one-legged Confederate veteran and former congressman, William J. Stone. As soon as the general election count was completed, the Democrats began to charge fraud by the Republicans, and a contest before the legislature followed.

On the morning of January 30, while the contest was in progress Goebel was shot as he walked from his quarters in the Capitol to the state house. He lived four days. During that time the Democratic members of the legislature had accepted the report of the contest committee that was favorable to Goebel, and had met and declared state officials, running mates the day elected state officials. Goebel was sworn in as governor and J. C. W. Beckham, then only 36 years old, as lieutenant governor. And immediately upon the death of the Governor, the lieutenant governor took over. But Taylor held the state house and executive mansion until the latter part of the May following, when he fled to Indianapolis, Ind., after the United States Supreme Court declined to take part in an issue wholly up to the state courts.

Georgia probably will not witness such an exhibition of bitterness as Kentucky experienced 47 years ago, when the flames of civil war smoldered for a half year, and at times seemed to lack only an overt act to precipitate actual hostilities. Such strife was near when Goebel was shot and lingered four days, and a semblance of peace was kept only by the wise counsel that prevailed. Governor Ellis Arnall's statement Christmas eve that he will not attempt to hold office beyond the clearing of legal technicalities apparently means that there will be another occupant of the governor's seat soon in Georgia. We hope the matter will be settled quickly since it will reduce the danger that Georgia will be subjected to such extended controversy as were Kentuckians at the turn of the century. The Ideal Christian Life

"Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you, and learn of me; for I am meek and lowly in heart; and ye shall find rest unto your souls. For my yoke is easy, and my burden is light." Rested workers, and exchange of burdens, our weary load laid down, and His easy yoke taken up instead—this is the ideal Christian life. And this He gives. God will not oppress us with His burdens until we are rested from our own. It is not clinging to the rock with one hand while with the other we rescue the perishing; but it is being "held in His mighty arms" while, with both hands free, we serve and save. Let us exchange burdens and go forth as rested workers. —A. B. Simpson.

New Home Of UN Is Rich In History Of Young America

By Carle Hodge
AP Newsfeatures Writer
New York.—The 17 acres of slaughter houses and other drab structures where the United Nations will build their world capital on Manhattan's East Side has figured in the making of history many times since the Dutch bought that land from the Indians.

Known as Turtle Bay, from a lost inlet of the East River, the section lies between Kips Bay on the south, where Peter Stuyvesant formed his famous Bowery, and Beekman Hill to the north, site of a Colonial homestead and now a fashionable residential neighborhood.

In the very heart of the six blocks given to the United Nations by John D. Rockefeller, a famed American spy was executed by the British.

As he stood before their hangman, he shouted, "I only regret that I have but one life to lose for my country."

A fading plaque imbedded in a dingy slaughter house wall now marks the spot where Nathan Hale died.

Immigrants knew the Turtle Bay section well. In the early 1900's they crowded by the thousands around its abattoir gates to pay a nickel a glass for anti-mal blood, which they regarded highly as medicine.

History first exploded in Turtle Bay during the Revolution. Daring American guerrillas who named themselves the Liberty Boys blew up a British arms dump there. They hastily piled up breastworks but then were broken by broadsides from His Majesty's men-of-war bobbing at anchor out in the river.

After the bloody Battle of Long Island, bedraggled Continental soldiers retreated through Turtle Bay. Gen. Washington attempted to end the rout across Mid-Manhattan. By the time the retreat reached the present site of the New York Public Library at Fifth Ave. and 42nd St. Washington turned the mob by cutting some of the officers. The army then retired to Harlem Heights, where Columbia University now stands, and on the following day decisively turned back the British.

Early in the last century when New York still centered farther down the island, Turtle Bay was split into the sprawling country estates of the local gentry, among them Horace Greeley, who edited the Tribune and admonished young men to "go west." But by 1850 the neighborhood had become an industrial slum. A map that year showed a "manure plant" on the ground—at the foot of today's East 45th street—where a British munitions warehouse had stood hemmed in by woodlands.

In July, 1863, the city's disastrous Civil War draft riots first flared two blocks away when an angry mob set afire a draft board office.

But after that final spurt of rowdiness, Turtle Bay lapsed into the struggle to earn daily bread.

The immigrants came with their glasses and nickels, and the curious to the abattoirs to watch bellwether sheep lead other sheep, Judas-like, from pens into the slaughter rooms.

Costly apartment houses sprang up on the south and to the north—but Turtle Bay went poor and unkempt, its only distinguishing landmark a great green dome, like that of a southern courthouse, atop a building in Abattoir Row.

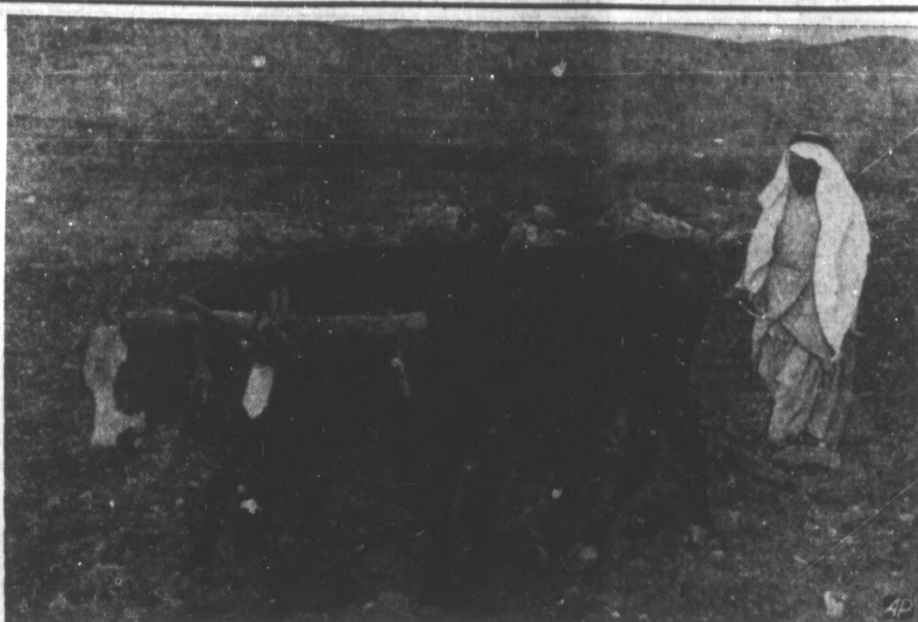

The fate of the drab little neighborhood which has rested with the Dutch, the English and the Americans now rests with the world itself.

No Income Tax For Poles—If Salaries Too Low

Warsaw.—(AP)—All workers in Poland who earn less than $60 monthly are exempt from income tax under a decree issued by the council of ministers.

The council ordered a general scaling down of income tax levies "in response to the claims of the working classes," the semi-official newspaper Rzeczpospolita reported, effective from Nov. 1, 1946.

Tax rates range upward from one percent on annual incomes of $720 to $900, to 10 percent on $2,300 to $2,500. The levy is 21 percent on all incomes from $5,000 to $6,000 annually.

FULGHAM NEWS

On a New Year's Eve, when new resolutions went in order, negro mammy's boss was explaining to her the "how's and why's" of making resolutions that could not be broken. Then he said, "The sculpector in his own, chisels his in stone; the forestor as he should, cuts his in wood; and the smithy a-firin, burns his with iron, while the jeweler of old carves his in gold." "Now mammy, what would you choose that you could neither break or bend?" After a pause and a chuckle she replied, "Just give me some elastic that will stretch and bend."

Perhaps too many of us are using elastic or else making them on paper only. I try to keep this one in mind "Do a good deed, to someone in need."

U. N. Information

Question: What nations are members of the Trusteeship Council?

Answer: That are ten nations on the Trusteeship Council: five with trust territories and five without. Australia, Belgium, France, New Zealand and Great Britain are the members with trust territories. China the Soviet Union, the United States, Mexico and Iraq are the members without trust territories.

Question: Did the General Assembly set up an international agency for food relief to replace UNRRA?

Answer: No, since it could not reconcile the position of the United States, which advocated direct relief on the part of each nation, with La Guardia's suggestion of a $400,000,000 Emergency Food Fund. However, a technical committee has been set up to study the import requirements of needy countries, and to survey their financial capacities to pay for these imports, as well as to inform the members of the UN on the action which each is taking for relief in order to avoid the duplication of effort.

Question: What are the dates of the General Assembly session and how many times did the delegates meet?

Answer: The General Assembly was held from October 23 until December 16. Meetings were held both day and night, the General Assembly considering 71 different items, meeting in 34 plenary sessions, 190 committee meetings and 159 sub-committee meetings.

Question: What action did the General Assembly take on disarmament?

Answer: The General Assembly unanimously agreed on world-wide reduction of armaments together with the elimination of the atom bomb and other weapons of war destruction. It called for a system of safeguards, including inspection within countries and a system of control backed by UN force.

NAM Insists CIO Wage Demands "Pure Guesswork"

Washington, Dec. 30.—(AP)—The National Association of Manufacturers today described

CIO arguments for a new round of wage increases as "pure guesswork" and "statistical nonsense," and reiterated that higher wages will force up prices again.

NAM made its position known in a statement by Dr. Ralph Robey, its chief economist. Robey is also a newspaper and magazine writer on finance and economics and served as an economic adviser to Alf M. Landon, the Republican nominee, in the 1936 presidential campaign.

Robey sharply criticized the report made for the CIO by Robert Nathan, private economist and former war production planner. Robey asserted Nathan had a "record of faulty predictions—such as that unemployment would reach 8,000,000 in the spring of 1946."

Nathan maintained in his report for the CIO that present business profits are high enough so that industry can grant pay boosts up to 25 percent without raising prices or reducing profits below wartime peaks.

New York, Dec. 31—(AP)—

One reason for the Army-Notre Dame fracture of football relations that hasn't been mentioned very loudly is that Army won't be good enough to play with those great wartime teams.

Army will be strictly "Ivy League" from here on. Look at the 47 squad and schedule.

Army built up to the Notre Dame level, the Ivy teams wouldn't play, and besides Maj. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, the academy superintendent, won't stand for any high pressure building.

You could see that a couple of weeks ago when he was decrying big time football, "professional mental attitudes," etc., and protesting that college presidents should have full charge of college athletics.

But Jones thinks he ruins athletes at West Point, he's badly mistaken," the general added.

Keeneland Plans 11 Race Days, Purse of $55,000

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 31—(AP)—

Eleven days of racing in April, with purses totaling $55,000 for five stakes events, are planned for Keeneland race course's annual spring meeting.

L. L. Haggin II, president of the track, said the association will ask the state racing commission for the period of April 10-24. Keeneland holds no races on Sundays and Mondays.

An estimated 402 wars have been fought in the past 2,500 years.

His "System" Pays Off At Race Tracks

Texas Has Way Of Training To Finish In Front

USES HORSE SENSE

San Mateo, Calif.—Texas-born Willie Molter saddled more thoroughbred winners in 1946 than any other trainer in the United States.

Does Molter have a "system" that brings the gallopers to their noses to the wire first? Sure nuff he does. But don't get excited. It is ages old, in use long before horse racing became big business.

Molter describes his formula for rounding horses into winning condition as merely the application of "common horse sense."

He puts it this way: "Every horse has to be trained differently. No two thoroughbreds are alike. Some are better feeders and can be brought to peak racing form through rugged training. Delicate horses require lighter or specialized conditioning."

Whatever the method, Molter saddled more than 120 winners on California's tracks throughout the year.

Molter trails a public stable, representing the small owner, and the thoroughbreds range from selling plasters to handicap stars.

Like most of the top trainers, Molter has grown up in racing. At 38, he is one of the youngest in his vocation. He was a jockey from 1926-36 and has been in the conditioning end for the last ten years. As a rider, he won three important Canadian stakes in one season and stripped the rigs on most of the major western tracks.

Old time starter Eddie Thomas considers Molter one of the best schoolers in the business, given to spending long periods in correcting even tiny faults or bad habits in a horse.

When the thoroughbred are right he runs them according to their class, not in higher brackets. Racing men agree this is half the battle of winning.

Incidentally, the leading trainer of the year is a native of Fredericksburg, the same small Texas town that gave Admiral Chester Nimitz to the military world, and Max Hirsch, trainer of Assault, to racing.

That's a pretty good average for Fredericksburg which can organize: "Bet on Molter horses on the west coast; Hirsch horses in the East and Nimitz in a shootin' war."

Horses Will Have Birthday Jan. 1

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 31—(AP)—

Tomorrow is the universal birthday of thoroughbred horses, and every member of the country's thoroughbred population of approximately 35,000 will become a "year older."

Out of this group, approximately 6,000 yearlings will become two-year-olds and ready for the juvenile races, their first tests on the tippy-turvy turf. Some will become big winners, other poor batburrers.

Another 5,000 to 6,000 will become three-year-olds with eyes on the Kentucky Derby and other rich races for campaigners of that age.

Puts On The Dog To Vex Neighbor

Portland, Ore.—(AP)—"Some crazy guy," the voice over the phone told the desk sergeant, "is out in my back yard barking at me." And that's what Patrolman V. L. Cavanaugh found when he responded: a man on all fours making with the vocal cords like a Great Dane.

"This bird," said the barker, indicating the barker, "has a pouch that barks all hours of the night. Complaints to the police haven't done any good. I thought maybe this would." And, the barker assured the patrolman and the barker—it did some good. After this, he promised, he'd keep his pouch in the basement at night.

Sealping, Betting May Have Caused Army-Irish Break

New York, Dec. 31—(AP)—

The meeting shadows of "kick" "scalping" and gambling generally were regarded today as factors behind the football split between Army and Notre Dame.

Indications are that the two schools will give the situation a chance to cool off before resuming relations, probably early in the 1950's.

It is expected to take about that long for big time football to get back to the point where it will once more "serve the interests" x x x of intercollegiate athletics.

That was the stipulation for resumption of the rivalry that both Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, the military academy superintendent, and the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, Notre Dame president, laid down yesterday when they announced the series would be suspended temporarily because it was getting out of hand.

Both declared conditions surrounding the annual Army-Notre Dame tilt were "escalating the control of the two colleges."

Red Cross Lists Windstorm Loss

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 31—(AP)—Red Cross officials were conducting a survey of the area, swept by a windstorm Sunday, including Camp Campbell and the southern portions of Christian and Todd counties.

Miss Anna Tobin Sugg, executive secretary of the Christian county Red Cross chapter, said she and M. G. Williams, chairman of its disaster committee, made a survey of more than a score of farms to find out the needs of the stricken area.

Miss Sugg said the Red Cross would arrange for aid for any families needing it and would seek to assist farmers in getting scarce building materials to replace or repair damaged houses and barns.

Members of homemaker clubs in Henry county have made more than 300 lamp shades.

We Heretby Resolve

This is a time for making resolutions, just as January 2 usually is a time for breaking some with a will.

We were never inclined to compile a long list of do's and don't's for a new year, and doubt if many of our readers indulge in this practice.

We like short and simple resolutions, on January 1 or any other day, and the other thing a radio star suggested one that will suffice for anybody. It was: "If I have lived right during the past year, I resolve to continue to do so; if I have not lived right, I resolve to correct the mistakes I have made."

A Job Well Done

The Young Men's Business Club, city schools, and all citizens who had a part in the successful Christmas Seal sale campaign, just closed are to be congratulated for a job well done.

The generosity of Fulton citizens enabled the YMBC to exceed by $4 the quota of $800 set at the beginning of the drive.

The cause was worthy, and the response was highly satisfactory.

Another Walter Mitty

Pvt. James M. Hill of Robinson, Ill., has our sympathy.

His story of foiling an attempted burglary at Hamilton, Calif., by engaging in a gun battle with six desperadoes until Mrs. Hill arrived was indeed thrilling, and was in the best tradition of the lone, courageous defender of right and justice risking life and limb against overwhelming odds. The story had only one fault. It wasn't true.

Pvt. Hill confessed, after receiving nationwide publicity and coming within an inch of receiving a decoration from the camp commander, that he accidentally broke a window pane with his rifle barrel while on guard duty. He invented the tale of the season in an attempt to cover up his clumsiness. So authentic was his story of the holdup that another soldier swore he saw one of the gunmen stumble as he fled.

Walter Mitty's secret life was hardly more exciting than Pvt. Hill's—but the bubble has burst and he is just another soldier today, albeit a sadder and wiser.

However, his fiancée says she is still willing to marry him, whether the rest of the world thinks he is a hero or a heel. Love, fortunately, is blind on occasion.

General Eisenhower may be a presidential candidate in 1948 if the people insist, says a news story from Washington. Perhaps the general, an excellent military strategist, has forgotten the story of the doctor who fell in the well, because he forgot to "attend to the sick and let the well alone."

Radiant Living

Devotional for training the individual life.—By Rev. J. C. Matthews.

Scripture for the day: "Be strong and of good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed: for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." (Joshua 1:9).

A New Year

Each New Year we should take an inventory of ourselves in order to find out what we have accomplished or in what ways we have improved during the preceding year. We should ask ourselves a few questions besides desiring to do better in the next year. Let us ask ourselves these questions: Have I deepened in love for Christ and others? Have I learned better to serve my fellowmen? Have I lived as a better example for others to follow?

Place a copy under the glass of your table or in the mirror of your dresser at the following resolutions and ask God to help you follow them.

A little less impatient with those we deem too slow;
A little less of arrogance because of all we know;
A little more of humility, seeing our worth is slight;
We are such trivial cadies compared to stars at night;
A little more forgiving and swifter to be kind;
A little more desirous the word of praise to find;
The word of praise to utter and make a heart rejoice;
A little more careful to speak with gentle voice;
A little more true eagerness to understand each other;
A little more zeal, striving to help a shipwrecked brother;
A little more high courage to each that must be done;
Where be our resolutions—and did they ever come!

—Author Unknown.

With The Fourth Estate

LEAVE IT TO THE PEOPLE

Senator Johnson of Colorado would amend the Constitution to limit United States Senators to two terms regardless of whether their constituents might wish them to serve longer. He sets no value on older statesmen whose horizons lift from provincial to national scope. He says tenure beyond two years compels a Senator out of touch with his constituents and frustrates the ambitions of worthy aspirants for his seat.

But the Senator can lean the equality list of the Old Guard after the popular-election amendment was adopted and be assured that the people attend to retirement of their servants who get too far out of touch. Limitation of tenure would guarantee nothing the best selection in the first place nor a better one next time.

Constitutional restrictions, as Kentuckians have learned, more often than not restrict the people in attainment of their desires. (Louisville Times).

NO SPEEDING

Some of Dyersburg's residential streets have been turned into speedways, apparently because motorists feel that they are right and out of reach of police officers.

When drivers lose control of their cars on highways there is chance little other results than injury to the occupants of the automobile and damage to the machine itself.

It has been learned from one recent unfortunate accident that result from the loss of control of an automobile on a city street can be entirely different.

Residential can be injured or killed even when they are not in the streets but on the sidewalk, the only place set aside as a place of safety for them from vehicles.

However, they are not safe even there when automobiles are driven along streets at high speed where the traffic is so heavy automobiles may be forced off or lost control of by the drivers.

Driving on city streets, whether in the downtown business section where traffic is more congested, or on those where the opportunities for speeding are better, at rates of speed that exceed the limit should not be tolerated.

It is up to those responsible for enforcement of the law—for the safety of the public to whom they look for employment and wages—to put an end to it. (Dyersburg State Gazette).

Evidence that people really do have more money nowadays—or that more folks are convinced that honesty is the best policy—is seen in Madisonville. The Messenger says that only one slug was found in the city's newly-installed parking meters on the second collection, and none was used during the first week of meter operation.

Calendar Says '47, But Stars Disagree

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 1.—(AP)—This may be New Year's Day by the calendar, but it isn't new year's by the stars.

Charles Strull, educational director of the Louisville Astronomical Society, says the year won't arrive actually until 6:44 p. m. (CST) Friday.

The difference is caused by the fact that the earth does not complete its circuit about the sun in an even 365 days, he explained. Even the makeshift device of Leap year's extra day "one year in four" doesn't quite compensate, Strull said.

Dog Saves Master After 75-Ft. Fall

Troy, N. Y., Jan. 1.—(AP)—

James H. Connell, Jr., 25, does not doubt today that his seeing-eye dog, Durvock, is loyal.

Connell, who is blind, slipped on an ice-coated street atop an embankment last night and slid with the dog down a 75-foot embankment, dropping from a "shot" retaining wall to a side walk.

Durvock's barking brought persons in the neighborhood to the rescue. The dog stayed with Connell in a police ambulance and followed him into an emergency hospital room.

Sports Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
New York, Jan. 1.—(AP)—The basketball season must be in full swing—the coaches already are beefing about the rules.
That's what makes it the middle of the season for a sport which seldom got going before Christmas a few years back.
Some of the complaints registered at this week's scrambled eggs and scrambled words session of the metropolitan basketball writers: by Floyd Millot, Brigham Young—something ought to be done about the rule on fouls, maybe a penalty like they have in hockey. . . . By Don Kell, Penn.—when a player inadvertently touches the basket but doesn't actually interfere with the ball going in, a field goal shouldn't be awarded. I'd leave it to the judgment of the referee. . . . By Dave Walsh, chief of eastern officials—the idea that a player is "in control" of the ball when it rebounds from the board into the back court is ridiculous. . . . Chair Boe—I agree, and he isn't in control when he bats the ball back from under the basket. . . . Walsh: There are too many men on the bench and in front of it. The boys jump up and excite the crowd. The coaches shouldn't allow it. . . . The coaches are becoming too offensive-minded since we eliminated the tipoff. I am going to spend more time on defense than in the past.

Sportspourri
Asa Bushnell, Eastern Conference commissioner, is in the Princeton, N. J., hospital recovering from an operation. . . . Mike Rodden, veteran Kingston,

Out, sports editor and hockey official, recently refereed his 2,708th hockey game. Wonder how many names he's been called in that string? . . . Brooklyn's Glenn Dobbs drew the only unanimous vote for a place on the All-America conference team, 41 first place ballots and one for second team. . . . Houston, Tex., is readying an announcement about harness racing on a new half mile track that is said to be the last word in such plants. . . . We always thought the last words were "also ran."

Clean The Cuff
Barney Ross likely will be released from the hospital within the next six weeks.
Branch Rickey will be the principal speaker at next week's meeting of the College Baseball Coaches' Association. And maybe he'll sign a couple of them for Montreal. . . . Moan of the week: North Carolina's Carl Snavely (at a Sugar Bowl session)—"Carolina is lucky just to be here—and I guess two hours against Georgia is what we have to pay for this fine weather and golf down here."

Golden Gloves Dates Are Set

Fights Will Be Held At Louisville Male High On January 23-27-29-30

Kentucky's annual amateur boxing tournament—the District Golden Gloves—is to be conducted at the Louisville Male high gymnasium Jan. 23-27-29-30, 1947, under auspices of the city Division of Recreation, the Jefferson County Council of the American Legion and the Big Five Optimist Clubs.

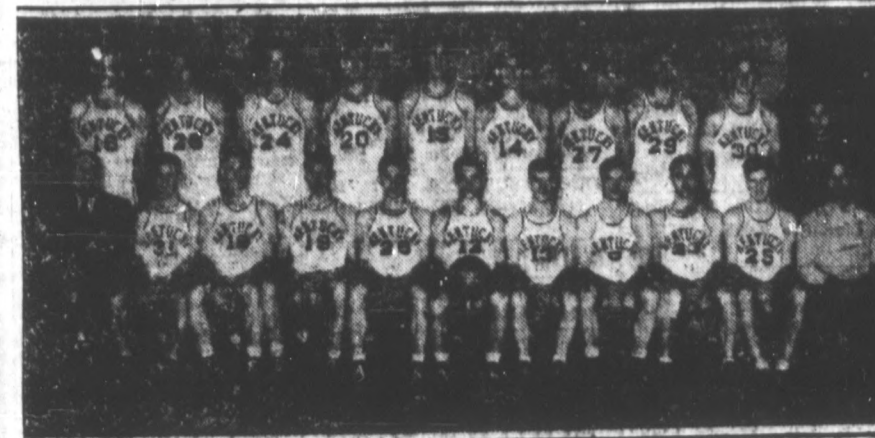

As in former years, competition is planned in the Open Division and every weight classification from the speedy 112 pounds flyweights to the heavyweights will be contested. Any boy may compete as long as he is a bona fide amateur and possesses an Amateur Athletic Union Membership Card, which may be obtained at the weighing-in ceremonies or from the Recreation Division, Central Park.

A new division has been added this year with the 15 year old boys fighting in the Novice Division, same prizes, same trip as the Open Division.

One third of net proceeds go to the Sports Polo Fund and the rest for the promotion of activities among the youth of this community.

Attractive awards await all divisional champions. A trip with all expenses paid to the Regional Championships in Evansville, Indiana, will be given to all titleholders in both the white open and the negro open divisions, and the white novice

Hilltoppers Top Nebraska 74-56

Bowling Green, Ky., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Western Kentucky State Teachers College rang out the old year last night with a 74-56 victory over the University of Nebraska's traveling basketball squad.

It was a fast game, in which the lead changed hands several times. It was tied twice, at 16-16 in the first half and 44-44 in the second, and it wasn't until six minutes before the game ended that Western captured the final lead at 53-52 and kept control until the final whistle.

The score at half-time was 32-31 in favor of Western. . . . Odie Spears, Chalmers Embrey and Don Ray were the leading point-getters for the Western Hilltoppers.

Cadiz Ice Plant, Hotel Damaged By $25,000.00 Blaze

Hopkinsville, Ky., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Fire today destroyed the Cadiz ice plant and seriously damaged the Cadiz Hotel at Cadiz, Ky., about 20 miles west of here.
First reports to the Hopkinsville fire department, which sent equipment to Cadiz in response to a call for help, said all guests escaped from the hotel and no one was injured although all men in Cadiz were called upon to help fight the flames in 24 degree temperature and snow.
Unofficial estimates placed the damage to the ice plant and the hotel at $25,000 or more.

Kentucky Oaks Pledge Has $25,000 Added

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 1.—(AP)—Pledge for the Kentucky Oaks May 2 at Churchill Downs this spring has been increased from $10,000 to $25,000 added money, Col. Matt Winn, Downs president, announced.

Don Diego de Vargas headed the reconquest of New Mexico in 1693 after the Pueblo Rebellion of 1680.

CLUBHOUSE
Baseball, Basketball, Football, Golf, Tennis

By Milton Berle
New York—AP—Reviewing this year in retrospect brings to mind many outstanding milestones. For example:

The Army-Navy game. . . . For this one, I had a seat on the 50-yard line. . . . Took me 10 minutes to brush the chalk off my trousers. Navy complained that the officials should have stopped the clock when the M-jidies were on the four-yard line. . . . But the way I saw it, they should have tried to stop Davis and Blanchard. . . . and as Pat O'Brien remarked. . . . "There's only one way to stop Davis and Blanchard. . . . graduate them."

I flew down to Kentucky where I saw Assault win the Derby. . . . As usual I bet on the loser, Lord Boswell. . . . What a horse! He was so weak I didn't know whether to bet him to win, place or LIVE.

Naturally, I went to see the Louis-Conn fight at the Yankee Stadium. . . . Had a seat in the first row—as you enter the Stadium, suddenly everything went dark for Conn. . . . You know the same thing happened a few weeks ago in the Lewis-Truman fight. . . . the lights went out again.

Coming to tennis recalls the fact that the American girls trimmed the British lasses seven on matches to none in Wimbledon Cup competition. . . . With that kind of score they should have called it the White-wash Cup. . . . No wonder the English girls didn't win. . . . It's a little tough playing tennis with a crumple in one hand and a cup of tea in the other.

Ben Hogan won over $40,000 during the past year as a golf wizard. . . . Spoke to Hogan after one of the matches and asked him to give me a few tips on my form. . . . I play a little golf myself. . . . Maybe a 72. . . . On the second hole I blew up. . . . I play Civil War golf. . . . In at 61. . . . only at 65.

The Zulu-Germano fight was the bloodiest battle of the year. . . . But it didn't make any difference because now they shoot everything in technicolor. . . . After witnessing this fight there was no doubt that the title was "For Zulu."

I couldn't make the Cardinal-Red Sox World Series. But I listened to the broadcast. . . . Arch McDonald described the games. . . . Boy, was he lucky! . . . He reached millions of

Will Discuss Farm Problems

Farm Bureau Convention Will Include Meetings On 6 Major Commodities

A most important feature of the annual convention of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, Jan. 8-10 in Louisville, is the six commodity conferences. In them the farmers attempt to find a solution to the particular problems affecting each farm commodity.

Each county Farm Bureau divides its delegates among the five conferences, scheduled to be held at the same time Jan. 8. The sixth, on tobacco, has been set for 4:30 p. m. that afternoon, and well over 1,000 growers are expected to attend because of the tremendous interest in this major cash crop. The other conferences are on livestock, dairy, field crops, fruits and vegetables and poultry. Interest has grown rapidly in all of them since they were started three years ago.

Herman C. Aaberg, Chicago director of the American Farm Bureau livestock department, Wilfred Shaw, Chicago, director of American Farm Bureau dairy department, and Porter R. Taylor, Washington, director of and vegetable department, as well as other national leaders in various commodity fields, are scheduled on the program.

Vernor Day's of Lee county sold lambs and wool from 25 sheep for $385, or more than $16 per ewe.

Boston Surprised By Mayor's Bid For Irish Game

Boston, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Mayor James M. Curley's bid for a spot for Boston College to replace Army on the Notre Dame 1948 football schedule came as a surprise today to officials of the local sports institution.

In a letter to the Rev. John A. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., president of Notre Dame, the Mayor asked that Boston College be considered as a replacement for Army, which goes off the Irish schedule after this year's game.

Boston College's faculty director of Athletics, John Cavanaugh, no relation to the city's chief executive—said he appreciated "the mayor's interest in our behalf, but I have had no communication with Notre Dame at all."

Kentucky Today

By The Associated Press
 Frankfort—Attorney General
 Eldon S. Dummit has ruled that a county attorney is entitled to 10 percent of the amount collected on back taxes, not including penalties and interest.
 The opinion was sent to Assistant County Attorney Andrew Hyman of Jefferson county.

Frankfort—Governor Simeon Willis has remitted the state's share of a $750 fine imposed on George Clark in Monroe county for involuntary manslaughter.

County officials had offered to forego their share of the fine after learning that Clark had been in jail 288 days unable to pay his fine and his family has been dependent on charity, the governor's office said.

Middlesboro—The Callison
 Funeral Home, established here

 vention here.

 He had been connected with the

Washington
 Letter

By Jane Eads

Washington—(AP)—While the tempest over the resignation of Miss Marion Martin steamed in the Republican teapot, Miss Martin's successor as assistant chairman of the National committee was honeymooning out of town.

Good-looking Mrs. Jane Hamilton Macauley, who is also director of the Women's Division, was married a little over a month ago to Robert W. Macauley of Madison, Wis., after his return from several years overseas during the war.

The ceremony, a small one,
 took place in an Episcopal church here, with John D. M.
 Hamilton, a cousin and a former national committee chairman, giving the bride away. The newlyweds reside in a small sub-leased apartment off 16th St.

The new GOP headliner was originally chosen by Miss Martin as her own assistant and had served in that role for a year. In her early thirties, she is probably the youngest woman to hold a position of such importance in any political party.

 Born in Fort Madison, Ia., the daughter of the late Judge J.
 M. Casey, she attended public schools there and was graduated from St. Katharine's school at Davenport, Ia., in 1934.

She came into the national political picture in 1936 working for the Chicago Republican headquarters during the campaign of that year.

In announcing her appointment, Chairman B. Carroll Reece said she played "an important and aggressive" role in the 1946 congressional elections, filling speaking engagements in 15
 western and nine eastern states.

She was also active in developing the National Federation of Women's Republican clubs. There are now 4,000 such organizations in 42 different states.

Co-workers say she is a tactiful politician, has her feet on the ground, is prodigious in organizing and keeps a neat desk.

She also has a pleasing radio voice and a decided flair for writing. She is internationally-minded, a prolific reader of history and public affairs and is a good "mixer."

Blue-eyed, a natural blonde, she is five feet, five and weighs about 130 pounds. She generally wears suits, but they are the dressmaker-type rather than strictly tailored and with them she wears feminine hats—pretty feathered or be-flowered concoctions.

She has a sophisticated manner, is witty and likes the theater and dancing. Bridge games bore her, and she isn't too fond of cooking, though she has talent in whipping up certain dishes, especially those made with curry.

Tells Whole World
Where To Head In

Philadelphia, Jan. 1—(AP)—

Helene Bradley, 42, left a 29-word last testament in the gas-filled kitchen of her apartment.

Detective Alexander Starrett said the gas was turned on in the oven and near the woman's body was this note:

"I am leaving my body to science. I think they will find it interesting.

"As for the rest of the world,
 they can all go to Hell."
