Judy Goheen Chosen Shield Queen By Noted Artist Norman Rockwell

Selection Based On Two Photos,
Head, Full-Length

Judy Goheen, freshman from Benton, has been named 1957 Shield Queen by Norman Rockwell, noted magazine cover artist, according to an announcement by Shield Editor Ken Parks.

Miss Goheen, a striking blonde, is a freshman art major. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonus Goheen, of Route 7, Benton. She is a graduate of North Marshall High school.

The judge, Mr. Rockwell, was born in New York City in 1894 and quit high school at the age of 15 to study at the Art Students league. He later became known for his drawings and paintings of the American scene.

Examples of his magazine illustrations can frequently be found in the Saturday Evening Post, the Ladies Home Journal, The American, and Woman's Home Companion. He is also a member of the Society of American Illustrators and the Free Lance Artists of America.

The final round of competition was judged on the basis of two photographs (a formal head-and-shoulders pose and a semi-formal full length picture) of the finalists. The pictures were mailed to Mr. Rockwell on January 16.

Others selected for the final judging by a committee of off-campus judges on November 15 were: Pat Foley, Pembroke; Ann Smith, Sturgis; Sue Harding, Cottage Grove, Tenn.; and Sarah Ward, Paducah.

Children's Theater To Give Thurber Play, 'Many Moons'

"Many Moons" by James Thurber will be the play presented by the Children's Theater this year according to Prof. Thomas Gregory, drama director.

The play, sponsored jointly by Sock and Buskin club and the American Association of University Women, will be given March 14 and 15 with morning and afternoon performances.

The story which was dramatized by Charlotte B. Chorpennin is the story of a princess who is ill. First she wants raspberry tarts and then the moon.

Members of Sock and Buskin will appear in the cast. Mr. Gregory points out the "Many Moons" will probably have a wider range of appeal than some children's plays due to Mr. Thurber's popularity for both his writing and cartoon works.

Tryouts for the production were held last night. Announcement of the cast will be given later this week.

Last year's Children's Theater presentation was "King Midas and the Golden Touch," with Leon Bennett and Pat Kincannon in the leading roles.

Jury Show Gives 92 Top Ratings

On display now in the Mary Ed McCoy Hall gallery is the fifteenth Semi-Annual Jury show. The show which opened January 20 will continue through February 18.

Out of the 200 pieces submitted in design, drawing, painting, technical problems, and ceramics, 92 were given a "1" rating. Art work was given a "1" rating if it was superior, a "2" if it was satisfactory, or a "3" if it required more effort.

Pieces submitted were taken from student art classes. Every student was required to enter one piece from each of his or her art classes.

The jury was composed of four MSC staff members, one guest student juror, and one guest faculty juror. Representing the staff were Miss Clara M. Eagle, head of the art department, and Professors William Wamsley, William Boaz, and Richard Jackson. Mrs. Jack Frost, English instructor, and Robbie Joe Parks, MSC January graduate, were the guest jurors.

James Anderson, president of Kappa Pi, and Ralph Anderson, president of Portfolio club, acted as co-chairmen of the art club committees to assist in the show.

The "Once Upon a Time" stories will be a part of the "Youth Conservation" program of the Murray Woman's club, which is under the direction of Mrs. J. I. Hosick.

The elementary education students are doing the program as a community service for the Delta department.

Serving as the master of ceremonies and story teller for many of the shows will be Carol Jean McAnally of Paducah. Assisting her in planning and presenting stories will be Georgiane Hirst of Paducah and Janice Fisher of Benton.

Number 2

'Campus Lights' To Run February 21-23

Enrollment 1,976, Tops Spring Mark

Another record breaking enrollment for the spring semester at Murray State college was recorded as 1,976 signed for classes during the regular registration period, according to figures released by the registrar's office.

The figure of 1,976 is 132 greater than the record setting 1,844 recorded a year ago in January, and 435 greater than two years ago when 1,541 enrolled for the second semester.

Second semester enrollments usually decline about ten per cent from the fall semester, however this year's drop is less than a six per cent drop from the fall semester's 2,096.

Teachers Attend

Included in the current figures are approximately 200 in Saturday classes for teachers. The number of teachers taking Saturday work is growing in number in about the same ratio as regular students.

Enrollment during the first semester exceeded projection estimates made several years ago to the extent of about 250 students. A projection estimate is an estimate of future enrollment based on past percentages of growth.

The current figure of 1,976 does not include the Training school which has a present enrollment of 475.

Saturday Classes

Saturday morning classes include Education 338, Social Psychology (graduate students only), Education G209, Teaching of Science (open to those with 57 hours or graduate status), Education 227 (prerequisite, junior standing, Educ. 101, 127), Library Science 202A, Books for Children (prerequisite, junior standing), Geology 229, Historical Geology (Geol. 117 prerequisite), Art 203E, Art History English 105, Children's Literature (English 101, 102 prerequisite).

Afternoon classes are Geology 117, General Geology, Music 110, Music Appreciation, English 302, American Literature Since 1850 (prerequisite English 101, 102, 111 or 112), and History 224, History of Russia (six hours of history prerequisite).

Overdue Book Fine Regulations Change

A change in overdue book regulations to become effective immediately has been announced by Miss Jean Wiggins, circulation librarian.

A three day grace period will be allowed for the return of overdue books. If the overdue book is returned within three days after the date due, no fine will be charged.

As the date due is clearly stamped on the date due slip in the back of the book, there will be no more notification of overdue books by postal cards. A list of overdue books will be posted daily on the bulletin board in the west entrance to the library.

These new regulations pertaining to two weeks books only. Fine regulations on reserve books have not been changed.

Work on Woods hall, new women's dormitory at Murray State college, is 98 percent complete, according to the construction superintendent, Mr. Rex Huie.

The dormitory will be ready in time for the expected March first move in day if the fabricators of the closet doors deliver them soon enough and in sufficient quantity, said the superintendent.

Other minor jobs remaining are not expected to take more than two weeks, so everything depends upon the door supplier, he said.

Interior work not completed so far is mainly in the lobby area where a general office is being prepared to take care of students, visitors and messages.

New Furniture
When the contractor, O'Brien and Padgett, finishes, the college will install venetian blinds in every room and move in all-new furniture which has been purchased for the building.

The new dormitory is a three wing masonry type building fronting on Olive boulevard and 14th street. It has a core of concrete blocks and is faced with brick on the outside.

Floors are concrete with asphalt tile surfaces. Hallways are surfaced in terrazo, stairways are metal. Window frames are aluminum, with crank out type french windows on each side of a picture window. Window sills are marble.

Door frames and doors are metal, with closet shelves and clothes poles constituting about the only wood in the building aside from some panelling in the lobby.

The annual music-comedy show, produced by Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota, will be presented in the College auditorium. It will offer 21 musical numbers from shows of former years and nine former directors.

In addition, the production will feature four new musical numbers by orchestra and chorus and a selection of old and new comedy skits.

Former directors of the shows who will be presented include Arved Larsen, 1940; Billy Shelton, 1942; Francis Seid, 1944; Mary Grace Land, 1945-46; Wayne Johnson, 1948; Vincent Perrier, 1951; Bob Beltz, 1953, and Bill Robins, 1955. Jerry Williams, '52 director, is expected back for one appearance.

Musical Hits

Some of the hits to be featured from former shows include "The Man I Love" (1940), "Deep In Your Eyes" (1941), "An Oriental Prayer" (1942), "Mr. Anthony's Boogie" (1943), and "Navy Medley" (1944). Others will be "You'll Never Walk Alone" (1946), "Lover" (1947), "Great Day" (1948), "I May Be Wrong" (1949), and "Anything Goes" (1950).

Gentlemen To Be Called 'Escorts'

"The Escorts" formerly the "Country Gentlemen" have signed a new long term contract with RCA. MSC students Gerald Nelson and Jerry Don Crutchfield are members of the vocal quartet.

The group recently spent two days at the RCA studios in Nashville where they recorded "Bad Boy" backed with "Tore Up Over You" which will be released in two weeks. "Bad Boy" is expected to be a top seller some higher than the quartet's earlier recording "A Rose and a Baby Ruth" which was tenth in nationwide popularity.

Arrangements have been made with Elvis Presley's co-agent, Bob Neal, who will begin booking the "Escorts" on package tours, TV shows, and other personal appearances designed to canvas the entire nation.

While in Nashville, the "Escorts" also recorded "The Happy One" and "A Lonely Man" to be released in the spring.

Plans are also being made to record an album.

Convocation Will Open R.E.W.

G. Ross Freeman To Give Program

Students at Murray State college will have opportunities to attend special religious meetings and to obtain personal counseling this week when the Rev. G. Ross Freeman of Emory university visits the campus for Religious Emphasis week.

The inter-denominational activity is sponsored on the campus each year by the Student Religious council. Special speakers are obtained annually to lead the programs for the three day affair.

This year's speaker will be on hand for an opening convocation program at 10 a. m. tomorrow in the main auditorium. This will be followed by a noon devotional program at 12:30 p. m. in the little chapel, and a vespers program at 6:45 at the same place.

At 10 p. m. tomorrow there will be a reception for girls in Wells hall.

On Thursday the day's activities will begin with noon devotions in the little chapel at 12:30 and vespers will be again held at 6:45. A reception for boys will be held at Ordway hall at 10 p. m.

Noon devotions and vespers will be held at the same hours at the Little chapel on Friday.

In addition, Mr. Freeman will be at the Methodist Student center each afternoon from 1 to 3 p. m. for counseling. Mr. Freeman, director of field work and administrative assistant at Candler School of Theology, Emory university, Georgia, is experienced in missionary as well as directorial duties.

City Missionary

A member of the South Georgia conference of the Methodist church, he served for four years as city missionary in Macon, and for four years as pastor of the Methodist church at Darien.

He was director of the Altamaha Larger parish of the Methodist churches in Baxley for five years, and in addition spent two years as director of the thirteen state inter-denominational Town and Country Church Development program sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck foundation and Emory university.

He has been at his present job for three years.

Mr. Freeman was named Rural Minister of the Year for Georgia in 1953 by "The Progressive Farmer" magazine. Moreover, he is author of "Meet the Circuits," a religious press publication.

Campuswide Interest Slump May Be From Lack Of Unity

It isn't only the cheerleaders who have a hard time arousing the MSC student body to action; the faculty, administration, and organization presidents have a similar problem.

Student interest in scholarship, athletics, club activities, and campus projects seems to be at an all-time low. Call it enthusiasm, or school spirit, or whatever you wish, but Murray State college is certainly lacking in it.

Various reasons have been given for the slump in interest and participation this year.

Other Colleges Headline Tells About 'Teacher of Brutality'

These blooper headlines were recorded in the West Virginia U paper:

DENIAL MADE BY TEACHER OF BRUTALITY (Dallas Morning News).

JANITOR CHARGED WITH BATTERY (Cincinnati Times-Star).

FIVE SHADY SENIORS WILL TAKE EXAMS FOR SCHOLARSHIPS (Beckley Post-Herald).

For a spine-tingling parody on Mickey Spillane with an O. Henry-type ending, read this from the University of Minnesota's paper.

It was warm, stagnant night . . . no breeze, no moon. And very late. Silently he moved along the sidewalk past blackened dormitories. The others were all asleep; but he was restless, an annoying pang in the pit of his stomach.

After a quick glance behind, he approached the half-open doorway of a darkened building. He paused, fumbling in his pocket. Then, making no sound, he entered the gloomy interior and was enveloped in shadows. A solitary click . . . then silence.

Suddenly there were shouts from inside: "Thief! Robber!" A fist slammed out in the darkness, connecting solidly, noisily with its target. A grunt, muffled groans. The pounding blows intensified. Between thuds violent courses split the air. A foot stomped hard, driven by powerful leg muscles; and there was a short, pleading cry. Then it was over.

For a moment he lingered in the doorway, leaning on the frame for support. Then he shuffled unsteadily out into the street, his raw, skinned knuckles visible in the yellow illumination given off by the street light. Head hung low, shoulder slumped, he walked dejectedly down the street and into the night, seeming not to know where to go, what to do.

Later in the week, maintenance men arrived to adjust the faulty mechanism of the large red machine so that it would operate properly, dispensing a bottle of "Coca-Cola" whenever a dime was inserted in the coin slot.

Check this observation from Cal Tinney (University of Delaware): "There's so many 'how to live' books . . . How To Be Healthy, How To Be Happy Though Human. I liked it better when people were so busy living they didn't have time to read books on how to."

According to girls at Eureka college, "Love-making hasn't changed much in the past 2500 years. Greek maidens used to sit and listen to a lyre all evening, too."

Rifle Totin' Co-eds Give Instructors Scare

By Carolyn Holmes

Last year a new and unique course was added to the curriculum for girls attending MSC. Rifle marksmanship (P.E. W110), previously reserved for the ROTC students, was offered to the fair sex as an activity course.

"The main purpose of the course," according to the two patient, but not-too-confident instructors, "is to teach women the proper way to fire a rifle." Facing 36 armed female twice a week is all part of a job for M-Sgt. Drane Shelley and SFC Escar C. Hicks, ROTC instructors recruited to achieve the "purpose."

The most relaxing part of the course for Hicks and Shelley occurs during the first four or five class meetings. These periods are spent in the Administration building where the girls learn to adjust, hold, sight, aim, and fire an unloaded weapon. During this time the confident teachers give lectures, show movies, and harp on safety procedures.

"Buddy" System.

In the hope that some of their "shooting psychology" and "safety tips" have been taken to heart, Hicks and Shelley then herd their prospective markswomen to the rifle range. Here the "buddy" system is used, and one girl (the pupil) fires, while her "coach" loads and adjusts the rifle.

Since only nine girls can fire at a time, the rifle profs figure that they have a 50-50 chance of survival. Needless to say, both of them feel that a good humor and lots of patience are prerequisites for any brave being who would like to teach marksmanship.

Early in the course, the girls seem just about as nervous as Shelley and Hicks. However, while they soon recover, the wary instructors don't. Just like any other P.E. course, the pupils soon discover muscles they've never used. For the first few weeks, arms and shoulders are unbearably stiff. Before long, though, the female students can tote and fire a .22 with painless precision.

Annie Oakleys

By the end of the course Shelley and Hicks manage to relax just a bit. And in many cases they can point with pride to some excellent "marksmen."

Many people seem to feel that the problem hinges on a lack of leadership in student organizations; others hold that the administration isn't providing enough functions that appeal to the majority of MSC'ans.

It's also been suggested that since compulsory convocation has been discontinued, there's no way to stimulate a feeling of unity between the departments. Without this narrow connecting thread students and staff members must obtain information about events from bulletin boards, the CN, or at club meetings. However, here's the flaw—many students neither read bulletin boards nor join organizations.

And what about athletics? Anyone who has attended a recent ballgame in the New gym will agree that the cheerleaders' valiant efforts to provoke pep is a futile battle. Remember: a little support by a strong pep section might produce a more enthusiastic ball team.

The lack of interest seems to cover everything from classes to athletics, from participation in few activities to complete non-participation. There is a definite need to get the entire college behind campus-wide projects.

Are the small student groups on the campus content behaving like cultures of amoebas swimming around in their own little ponds? What's the matter anyway? This is 1957, isolationism is a thing of the past.

Words 'Room Check' Set Stage for Frantic Work

The word is passed along the "grapevine" from room to room on the second floor of Wells Hall. "Room check! Mrs. D. is making the rounds."

Then the general panic begins and the halls are cleared of every inhabitant in two seconds flat. Doors slam, locks click, and more activity can be found in the humble abodes of the MSC co-eds during these few hurried minutes than during the remainder of the day. At first there is a wild scramble within each room with each roommate knocking down the other. Then after a few bruises are acquired, the work begins.

Bedsprings are thrown over beds. It makes no difference if the bed is presently being occupied. Just to get it covered up is the main objective. Shoes, skirts, sweaters, coats, and anything else in sight are thrown into the closets. (What a relief to know the closets aren't checked!)

Candy papers, soft drink bottles and a varied assortment of rotten fruit are thrown into the wastepaper basket and shoved under the bed. Another sigh of relief is given because the bedsprings aren't lifted and the space under the bed inspected!

Things are shaping up now. Clicking heels are heard in the hall and a polite knock on the door. This is it! One girl opens the door as the others collapse on the beds exhausted from their frenzied endeavor. Then those three wonderful, little words are heard, "Looks fine, girls" and the door is quietly closed.

Each little housekeeper looks at the other and each removes herself from the bed. Now the work begins. The real cleaning up is after the cleaning up!

—C.H.

men." For instance, last semester a five-girl team fired against Tarleton State college (Shepherdsville, Texas). Each girl shot ten rounds at a target fifty feet away. Although the Texas team won the match by three points, the contest proved that Hicks and Shelley are turning out some modern Annie Oakleys.

Recent Books Bluegrass Like Texas In Its Pride of Area

By Frank Steely

Next to Texans there are few individuals as given to pride in their native locales as are the people of the Bluegrass Region of Kentucky. The story of Daniel's Boone's first viewing of that section is told in the same tenor as is related the account of Moses' viewing of the Promised Land.

As Kentucky was the first state west of the Alleghenies to be settled extensively it has a long and rich history. Its role in national affairs has always been significant. And of Kentucky the Bluegrass Region is the heart. (Those of us from the Purchase can find consolation in the fact that ours is the up and coming section.)

Dr. Thomas D. Clark, distinguished professor of history at the University of Kentucky and one of the most outstanding historians of the Frontier and of the New South, has edited a collection of writings on the subject of the Bluegrass which from the point of view of sheer entertainment are most readable. Everyone from John Filson and Harriet Beecher Stowe to Irvin S. Cobb and A. B. Guthrie is quoted.

There is an article by Clark himself on Sally Ward, the "Belle of the Elkhorn," an excerpt from his book The Kentucky. It was Sally who, not content with one fancy dress for a ball, would rush out from time to time during an evening to change her attire.

Bits of Kentuckiana political history are recorded in Bluegrass Cavalcade. There is the story by three newspapermen of the assassination of Governor William Goebel in 1900. Henry Watterson's "The Bottom of the Glass," a diatribe against the prohibitionists, recalls a political battle that was national as well as state wide in scope.

Watterson argues of this movement, "It is the entering wedge to a sumptuary fanaticism which will not stop with the attempt at the denial of drink, but, given its bent and license, will set up a tyrannous supervision over every affair of private life and personal conduct, substituting, for self-determination, the will and rule of conventicle."

Most interesting of all the articles in this book, however, are those dealing with descriptions of the region itself. Charles Dudley Warner believed that the limestone soil was responsible for the unique topography and no less for the character and appearance of the people.

As a geologist was testing the soil to determine the borders of the Bluegrass Region he is supposed to have looked up and discontinued his testing; the appearance of a "blue-grass girl" assured him that he was already in the section: "There was no mistaking the neat dress, the style, the rounded contours, the gracious personage. A few steps farther on the geologists found the outcropping of the blue limestone."

You will enjoy Bluegrass Cavalcade if you are at all familiar with the section or with Kentucky as a whole. You will find it most delightful if you are one of those who, with Timothy Flint, think that the Bluegrass is "a heaven of a place."

From Duluth We Learn Engineering, Alphabet

A couple of shorties, picked up from the Statesman, published at the University of Minnesota Duluth Branch. You might try the first one-out on the girl friend:

Adam was the first electronic engineer, mainly because he furnished spare parts for the world's first loud speaker.

The young man who just received his college degree rushed out and said: "Here I am world; I have an AB!" And the world replied: "Sit down, son, and I'll teach you the rest of the alphabet."

"Now does anybody else want to change channels in the middle of a program?"

Need For Fraternity Funds Begins Entertainment Tradition At Murray

About twenty years ago a group of financially embarrassed Murray music majors not only turned an impending monetary disaster into a prosperous enterprise, but they started a campus tradition.

The hullabaloo all began back in 1938 when MSC's chapter of Phi Mu Alpha professional music fraternity mailed a check for $434 to pay their national dues. The check bounced back. A tally with bank book figures confirmed suspicions that Gamma Delta was in the red.

What to do? With nary a coin in the checking account, people with less imagination and ingenuity than the cultural set might have turned tail and fled. But instead of evading their creditors, all energy was steered toward finding some way to reimburse a very empty bank account.

Limited Stock

Within a short time the fraternity had evaluated its assets. Their only capital stock was "talent." Mindful of this, the Phi Mu's decided to clamor out of their predicament by staging a musical variety show to built around the theme "Campus Lights."

Like the modern success story, hard work and planning resulted in a laudable performance. On opening night 2,500 spectators sat spellbound as the music majors plumed the haunting beauty and depth of the musical spectrum. Hearty applause and praising reviews persuaded the "Lights" cast to make the show an annual event.

The following year large band and several new and different acts were added to the musical revue. "Pop" singing sensation, 12 year-old Danny

From A to MSC Ice Covered Campus Melts For Valentines

"Old Mr. Sun" certainly wasn't around to greet the new freshmen and transfer students during the three-day spring semester registration period.

If the newcomers were unfortunate to arrive on Sunday, they got a glimpse of a cloud-covered campus decked in icy splendor. Sleet covered everything, including the ground, the buildings, the trees, and the walkways.

At 8 a. m. the next morning things looked even bleaker. Not a ray of sunlight penetrated the clouds, nor did one electric bulb on campus come forth with light. Conclusion: there was no electricity. An enlightened attitude was hard to maintain.

For those students who had anticipated sliding to registration, a surprise was in store. A thaw during the night had transformed the sleet into endless puddles of water. Never has the "South's Most Beautiful Underwater Campus" looked more uninviting.

Let's hope that by the time of this writing, these dismal days will have been forgotten. Looking on the brighter side, can you think of any other college where students can dine and watch TV by candlelight?

Since Thursday is Valentine's day, let's compare our modern holiday with the ancient version.

Today, to quote an MTS twelve-year old, "It's a rather mushy custom." Perhaps he's right. The "hearts and flowers" stuff is all right for florists, candy companies, and heart-shaped box-making concerns, but it's certainly a headache for the P.O. Of course, the custom of sending valentines to "sweethearts" can be a very nice gesture. However, complications often arise when there's more than one "sweetheart" in the picture.

Probing into the past we find that the mid-February holiday has a very serious meaning. In earlier times this day was set aside to honor two martyrs, both named St. Valentine.

Maybe the sentimental angel crept in when the ancient Roman gentleman selected his lady fair by drawing her name from a box. Regardless of whose name he drew, the lady automatically became his "valentine" for a year.

The history lesson is over. Excuse me, while I rush down to mail my valentines before the P.O. closes. Silly old custom, isn't it.

Quertermous gave an outstanding performance.

As 1940 rolled around, "Campus Lights" was unchallenged as the outstanding event of the school year. The production centered around a Grecian theme and it sorely taxed the overworked directors' imaginations to construct a Greek temple in the heart of the Jackson purchase.

Jolly Time

Members of the production crew and cast had a jolly time getting props for this show. An unorganized and probably unorthodox scavenger hunt secured the necessary equipment: 200 tomato cans, 25 five gallon lard cans, a barber chair, an "invisible" dog, and a file of Esquire magazines.

The early forties found "Campus Lights" billed as "Kentucky's Outstanding Musical Show." But as the United States entered World War II, the international crisis demanded conformity. In 1942, short blackouts were interspersed in the show in the interest of national defense.

In 1944 more drastic measures had to be taken. With most of the fraternity members in service, the show was temporarily turned over to the women's professional music group, Sigma Alpha Iota. By this time the girls had been co-producers for several years, but now they were faced with the sole responsibility of promoting and producing the show.

Under the able direction of Frances Sledd, the again invaded the Fine Arts department. Returning war veterans with service show experience helped to to members of Phi Mu everywhere.

Best One Yet

Things looked much brighter in 1946. Men once invaded the Fine Arts department. Returning war veterans with services show experience helped to keep the publicity promise that this show would be "the best in history."

Along about '52 someone estimated that 150 participants put a total of 20,000 man hours into one "Campus Lights" production.

Among the recent additions to the musical-variety program have been the "Murray Men," a four-voice singing group; a few serious musical numbers; more comedy skits; and the introduction of a central plot for the theme in each production.

A review in the CN complimented an exceptionally good dancing chorus in 1955. "Lights" show you can entertain without recourse to bad taste. It deserves a big hand."

And as for 1957? Perhaps the best way to sum up "Lights" is to quote a former CN writer, Paul Abel. "Confucius say: 'Those who see lights won't be in dark.' I say: 'Those who are in dark better see "Lights".'"

Eyeing the Breds

Thanks to the members of the student body who cooperated in suggesting names for the new gym. The names have been turned over to President Woods and the matter will be taken up at the next meeting of the Board of Regents.

An additional thanks to Miss Bobbie Nelson who provided the attractive sign for the CN office to advertise the project.

Big Don Helms, captain of last year's football squad, was picked by the Chicago Bears in the annual National Football league draft held on January 31 in Philadelphia. He was the Bear's 17th choice.

Don has been the main stay at end for the Breds for the past four years. He will report to the Bears in July when the pro team will begin practice for the 1957 season.

Our basketballing Thorobreds are now on the short end of a 9-11 season, but with any luck at all in the final four games they should wind up with an even 12-12 year. (See other story.)

One thing to think about is the fact that the only two teams that have piled up a large score on the Racers have accomplished the same feat on many other teams. Only Morehead and Memphis State handed the Breds losses and both teams have been ranked in the top twenty all year.

One big factor in most of the Racers losses has been the foul line. Excluding the Western game, the Breds have hit 414 of 591 foul shots while their opponents have put in 477 of 708 from the charity line. The Racers committed 432 fouls while the opposition collected 348 personels.

Coach Waldo Sauter got the baseball year underway last Tuesday night with a meeting of pitchers and catchers. Fifteen hurlers and nine receivers were present with only one letterman at each position.

The pitcher, Frank Haviland, may not be able to play due to a bad arm. His arm was operated on last summer and unless it improves a great deal he will not be able to pitch.

Last year's pitching ace, Chico Reyes, will not play this year due to scholastic difficulties. The only veteran catcher back from last year is Cy Bradley. Cy is a senior from Leadwood, Mo. The pitchers and catchers will work out on their own until official practice begins on February 25.

Breds Try To Reach .500 Mark

In the final two weeks of basketball season the Murray Thorobreds will be out to bring this year's record up to the .500 mark.

The Racers, who now have a 9-11 mark, must pick up at least three victories in their last four games against three OVC contenders and a non-conference outfit.

Tomorrow night the Thorobreds host the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders, an Ohio Valley conference foe. The Breds defeated the Raiders early this year 98-68 in Murfreesboro.

Coach Ed Diddle Jr. in his first year at Middle Tennessee is in the process of rebuilding. Their record so far this year has not been very impressive, but they are capable of surprising any team in the OVC on a given night. The Western Hilltoppers, the number one team in the OVC coached by Coach Diddle's father, Ed Diddle Sr., defeated the Blue Raiders only 79-72.

Racers' Edge

Looking at the all-time standing we find that the Racers hold a large edge over the Raiders with thirty-five wins and only three losses. Also a Middle Tennessee team has never beaten a Rex Alexander coached Murray team.

Tomorrow night the Breds will rack up another victory over the Middle Tennessee Blue Raiders.

Eastern Ky. Maroons, another OVC foe, will invade the new Murray gym Saturday night. The Maroons will be out to avenge the 86-66 defeat the Racers handed them at Eastern.

Eastern has only six returning lettermen. The loss of forward Jack Adams by graduation, who was one of the nation's top scorers last year, left a large gap in the Maroons scoring attack. Although they are inexperienced, the Easterners have OVC victories over Middle Tennessee and Tennessee Tech. Since the series began between the two teams Murray has won 17 but the Maroons have racked up 22 victories. Prediction: Murray over Eastern by twelve points.

February 20 will see the University of Louisville's high flying Cardinals come to town.

Top Rebounder

The Cardinals have been ranked in the nation's top twenty teams for the entire year. They are led by All American center Charley Tyra who is one of the nation's top rebounders. The Cardinals hold a 10-6 series edge and the Breds have not beaten them in the last two years. It looks like a Louisville victory.

The Thorobreds bring down the curtain on the 1956-57 basketball year February 23 when they travel to Cookeville, Tenn. for a battle with the Tennessee Tech Golden Eagles.

The Racers defeated the Eagles 78-67 in the early part of January. They are always very hard to beat at home due to their terrific school spirit and backing. The Eagles scoring attack will be centered around their two great guards Noble Patton and Kenny Sidwell which gives the Tennesseans a fine scoring punch.

Tennessee Tech will be tough but not tough enough for the Thorobreds.

Bad Weather Slows Spring Football Drills; 70 Report

Bad weather, which changed the scheduled opening of Murray State's football practice to Monday, Feb. 4, has allowed only limited practice so far.

The 70 man squad which greeted Coach Jim Cullivan the first day is the largest spring practice group in recent years, according to the coach.

Included in the squad are about 20 men who have never played with the Thorobreds before. Cullivan indicated that about half of these are transfers.

Among the varsity men who reported for duty were Phil Chesser, second-team All Conference center, Jere Stripling, first team All-Conference quarterback, and J. D. Burdin, a starter for three years in the tackle spot.

Others included Don Johnson, halfback; Richard Utley, halfback; Benny Bradley, halfback; Dick Stout, halfback; guards Marlin Henley, Cleatus Cagle, Ab Davis and Jim Mills.

"Right now it looks like we're short at center, quarterback, and tackle and strongest at guard," said Coach Cullivan in looking over the material situation.

The squad has been divided into two working groups. One group contains the experienced men from last year's varsity; the other transfers, members of last year's squad not included in the first group, and those wanting to try out from the student body.

"Little time will be spent in conditioning," said Coach Cullivan. "We encourage the boys to stay in condition during the off season. The squad will get into contact within a few days."

The Thorobreds are allowed 20 days of actual practice in spring by the NCAA rules. The 20 days must be a part of 30 days (excluding Saturday and Sunday) following the opening of practice.

Spring practice will be concluded with the annual Blue-White game, which is expected to be played in Cutchin stadium in the middle of March.

Roberts Presents Clarinet Recital

David L. Roberts, clarinet major from Paducah, presented his senior recital in the Fine Arts Recital hall February 7 at 8:15 p. m. Mr. Roberts was assisted by Barbara Pike, soprano, and Millicent King, mezzo-soprano.

Selections on the program were Concerto for Clarinet, K. 107 by Mozart, "On a Faded Violet" by Arthur Farwell, "Mexican Serenade" by John Sacco, and "My Johann" by Greig. He was accompanied by Joyce Tummins.

This recital by Roberts was in partial fulfillment of the requirements for a degree in music education.

Mrs. Anderson, wife of Professor Vernon Anderson of the business department, previously held the position of circulation librarian here.

Five new student assistants have also joined the library staff this semester.

The new assistants are: George Luckey, senior; Bill Litchfield, senior; and freshman, Joyce Rudolph, Margaret Kincannon and Libby Farris.

Coach Jim Cullivan starts practice early

MSC Wins Third OVC Game 85-66 Against Eastern

Coach Rex Alexander's Murray State Thorobreds defeated the Eastern Maroons 85-66 on the Maroons home court January 26. The victory was the Racers' third OVC win against 2 losses.

The Breds were in command throughout the game. At the end of the first half the Breds held an impressive 43-26 lead.

Although out-rebounded by the Maroons 58-65, the Breds hit better than 35 per cent of their field goal attempts. The Maroons only hit 26 per cent of their field goal tries. The Breds also hit 72 per cent of their free throw attempts compared to Eastern's 55 per cent.

Terry Darnell was high man for the Racers with 21 points. Sophomore Frank Waggoner from Wingo was second high with 21 points. Waggoner hit 55 per cent of his field goal attempts, and tied Gerald Tabor for rebounding honors with 13 rebounds.

Quittman Sullins tallied 17 points and Tabor was also in the two figure margin with 14 points. Fran Watrous scored 6 points, Sherril Marginet had 3 points, and Ken Wray hit one field goal for 2 points.

One Basket Lead Gives Toppers Win

After having a two point half-time lead in the Little Red Barn at Bowling Green Saturday, the Murray State Thorobreds lost a thriller by two points to the Western Hilltoppers 60-58.

Dale Alexander was a surprise starter for the Breds. He started at guard and Terry Darnell the regular guard started at the forward position in place of captain Fran Watrous.

Tom Darnell was the only substitute used by the Racers. Tom relieved his brother Terry with 13 minutes remaining in the first half. Terry picked up his fourth foul at this point, but played the entire second half without fouling out.

With a 40-38 lead the Breds started out the second half with a freeze. The Breds successfully froze the ball for six and one half minutes, before the Hilltoppers gained control of the ball and scored. The Hilltoppers scored two quick baskets putting them ahead 42-40. The Racers tied the score five times before going down in defeat by a two point margin.

Quittman Sullins and Gerald Tabor were tied for high honors for the Breds with 16 points each. Terry Darnell tallied 10 points. Sherril Marginet and Tom Darnell had 6 points each, and Dale Alexander accounted for 4 points.

Anderson To Head Dept. of Business; Hogancamp To Study

Hogancamp, who will attend Indiana's spring session, will return to Murray State this summer. During his absence Mrs. Ophie Steele has been employed to teach full time in the department.

Hogancamp received his B. S. degree from Murray State and his M. A. from Indiana university. He began teaching at MSC in 1948 and became head of the business department in 1952.

Morehead Eagles Take Pair From MSC by 68-65, 104-90

The Morehead Eagles, who are tied for the number one spot in the OVC with the Western Hilltoppers, recently picked up two victories over the Murray Thorobreds.

The Eagles topped the Breds 68-65 at Murray in a thriller and romped to a 104-90 victory when the two teams clashed at Morehead.

In the game played on the local floor, Eagles forward Dave Kelcher drove in and dropped it through the net just as the final horn sounded.

Morehead had stalled for two minutes before Kelcher drove through for his game winning basket. He was also fouled which allowed him to lengthen the victory to three points.

Score Deadlocked
A 15-foot jump shot by reserve guard John Brooks, with two minutes remaining, had deadlocked the score at 65-65 which was the first time the Breds were even with the powerful Eagles.

Morehead grabbed a 4-0 lead in the opening minutes and led four to eight points throughout the game. The Eagles largest lead was 11 points (41-30) in the first minute of the final half. The Eagles led by 10 points at one time in the first half, but the Racers stayed within striking distance for most of the game.

Quitman "Skeeter" Sullins was the Breds big point producer with 22 markers. Reserve forward Frank Weggoner added 12. Final score: Murray 65-Morehead 68.

Different Story
When the Big Blue traveled up to Morehead the game was a different story. The Eagles jumped out to a 13-4 lead early in the first half and were never in trouble.

The contest was marred by over fifty personal fouls with most of them being called on the Breds who were using a pressing defense in an attempt to slow the torrid Eagles.

Sherrill Marginet led the Murray scoring with 18 points, all coming in the last half. Terry Darnell was close behind with 17 markers and substitute guard Dale Alexander collected 16 points.

Final score: Murray 90-Morehead 104.

Intramural Hoop Playoffs Begin Tomorrow at 4

Intramural basketball playoffs swing into action tomorrow afternoon, kicking off an exciting post-season program which will feature an all-star game and a clash between the girls' teams of Wells Hall.

Fighting for the coveted intramural trophy will be Swann Dorm and Orchard Heights, representing the National League; Best Brotherhood No. 1 and Industrial Arts of the American League; and the Losers and the winners, who finished 1-2 in the International League.

Tomorrow's games will begin at 4 p. m. in the old big gym. The semi-finals will be played on Friday evening with the first game starting at 7 p. m.

The finals will be held on February 18 and will feature a preliminary North-South game between the girls of Wells Hall. Game time is 7 p. m.

The highlight of the season will be the big challenge game on February 25 when the Intramural All-stars clash headon with the MSC freshman. The Frosh should have their hands full in this tilt, as the all-star aggregation will include many former varsity high school performers.

A meager "donation" of ten cents will be charged for the semi-finals, finals, and the all-star game. Students are urged to attend, as the proceeds will go toward the tennis court fund and the intramural program.

Memphis Tigers Claw Breds By Scores of 105-92, 93-72

The Memphis State Tigers made a clean sweep of the two games against the Murray Thorobreds this year. The Tigers downed the Breds 105-92 on January 16 in Memphis and turned the trick 93-72 two weeks later in Murray.

In the game played in Memphis, the Racers, trailing by only four points (44-40) at the half-time intermission, were cold in the opening stages of the second half and the Memphis five quickly built up a 10 point lead.

After rolling out to a ten point lead early in the second half the Tennesseans upped the score to 80-60 midway in the final half and continued to hold a 13 to 20 point lead during the last ten minutes of play.

Hit Only 18
The game was lost by the Breds at the foul line. The Tigers connected on 29 of 37 free tosses while the Breds hit only 18 out of 23. Both teams had great field goal shooting percentages with 45 for the Tigers and 43 for the Racers.

Terry Darnell and Quitman "Skeeter" Sullins tied for scoring honors for the Thorobreds with twenty points each. Gerald Tabor and Fran Watrous each tallied 15.

In the encounter at Murray, the Tigers led all the way in routing the Racers 93-72.

Tied Once
The score was tied only one time. Early in the first half the score was 4-4; after that it was all Memphis State. The Tigers widened the margin to 30-19 within ten minutes and went on to lead 51-40 at the intermission.

Memphis quickly ran the count to 15 points (55-40) as the final half got underway. Murray sputtered to cut the gap to nine points (55-46) with 16 minutes left in the contest. Then the Tigers put on another scoring burst to pull into a 76-59 lead and had no trouble thereafter.

Sullins once again was the Breds number one point producer with 21. Final score: Murray 72-Memphis State 93.

the same sequence again and again.

Halls are painted green, except in the central portion where they are brown.

Each room has a six foot closet for each girl, and in addition there is a lavatory. Furniture will be light finish modern with hard-surfaced tops to eliminate damage.

Each floor of each wing has a centrally located bathroom with stall showers, lavatories, a tub, and other facilities including a dressing counter. The bathrooms are in ceramic tile; shower stalls are marble.

An apartment is provided on each floor for the house director of that floor. Each director has a sitting room with a kitchenette, a small bedroom and bath.

Study rooms are provided on the first floor, and a washing and ironing room is provided for each floor. The washing-ironing room for the first floor is in the basement.

A lobby area about 90 feet wide has a semi-circular expanse of floor-to-ceiling windows set between panels faced by marble together with a large number of doors.

The Murray State Racers, hitting a high 53 per cent from the field, lost a thriller to Marshall college in Huntington, W. Va., Saturday, Feb. 2. The high scoring Marshall five defeated the Breds 97-88.

The Breds were trailing 40-51 at half time, but were able to tie the score at 66-66 with nine minutes remaining in the game. The defeat was Murray's ninth of the season against nine wins.

Quitman Sullins and Sherrill Marginet were the big guns for the Racers. Sullins tallied 20 points and Marginet hit the nets for 18.

The rest of the Racer scoring was evenly distributed with Gerald Tabor contributing 11 points; Ken Wray, 10; Tom Darnell, 10; Terry Darnell, 9; Fran Watrous, 4; John Brooks, 2; and Dale Alexander was scoreless.
