Jaycees Name Wade As Outstanding Young Man

Nathan Wade, popular and prominent furniture dealer of Fulton, was named The Outstanding Young Man Of The Year by the Junior Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night. Wade, who was chosen because of his tireless efforts in behalf of the First International Banana Festival, as well as other civic activities, is the only non-Jaycee member in seven years to receive the award. Kenneth Crews received the Distinguished Service Award and Kenneth Stanley was named Key Man of 1963.

Wade, owner of the local Wade Furniture Company, is a former president of the Civitan Club, which spearheaded many of the activities of the highly successful Banana Festival. He is currently a member of the board of directors of the organization. Cubmaster of Troop 40, Mr. Wade taught the 16-year old group at the First Baptist Church for eight years. He has also served as president of the Retail Merchants Association. Coming here from Blytheville, Ark., Wade is a member of a family that has been long established in the furniture business. He attended the University of Mississippi prior to being called to the service in World War II. He is married and the father of three boys.

Stanley, former office manager of Radio Station WFUL is associated with the Fulton Bank as assistant cashier. Crews, is associated with the City National Bank's loan department.

The banquet is held each year to honor bosses of members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and to show their appreciation for the bosses' help and cooperation during the year. Named outstanding "boss" of the year was the Fulton Bank.

Certificates of appreciation were given to the press and radio for its help in telling the Jaycee story during the year.

Guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Fred Rainey, president of the Kentucky Junior Chamber of Commerce, from Elizabethtown. Toast-master was Kentucky State External Vice President, James Butts, a member of the local organization. Out-of-town guests included Jaycee members from Murray, Benton, Paducah, Calvert City and Mayfield. Special guests from Fulton were Mayor Gilbert DeMyer, City Manager James Robey and President of the Fulton Chamber of Commerce William Scott.

Paducah police in recent months have become alert to what apparently is an increasingly serious problem in the community—the improper use of prescription drugs.

In the past three months three persons were charged with illegal possession of barbiturates in the city. The charge had in the past been so rare that when a man was arrested on the charge in October City Judge Sam Carlick was not sure his court had jurisdiction. (The judge doubted his jurisdiction because the statute designated that an offender should be sentenced to county jail rather than city jail.)

News Adds South Fulton Reporter; Another Wanted

(Ed's Note: We are pleased to add to our staff today, Bonnie Weeks who will keep us current about happenings in the South Fulton Schools. Now we'd like to have somebody come forth to write for the Fulton System. There's a little pay involved.)

By BONNIE WEEKS

Well, hello everybody. I feel very honored having been asked to write a column for this newspaper about the South Fulton High School news and activities and will try to inform the readers on the latest happenings.

South Fulton High School is planning a "Career Day" under the supervision of Mrs. Sallie Ferguson for February 12, 1964, in which all the students are to participate. Each student will attend three classes of their own choice in the particular fields in which they are interested. The guest speakers are prominent businessmen, teachers, government officials, etc. The program will begin at 8:00 P. M. with an assembly in the South Fulton gymnasium. The speakers will be introduced, and the program carried out.

The faculty at South Fulton has three new members this year. They are Mr. Ronald McAllister, a graduate of Fulton High School; Mr. Donald Stephens, a graduate of Union City High School; and Mrs. Linda Nelms, a graduate of Cloverdale High School. All three new teachers hold degrees from the University of Tennessee Martin Branch.

The winner of the D. A. R. Award this year is Lou Ella Ray. This award is given only to a senior girl. The requirements are that this girl live in Tennessee, have exceptionally high moral standards, be regarded as an outstanding student. Congratulations Lou Ella!

The concert is sponsored by the Student Organization and will be held at 8 p. m. in the College Auditorium at Murray, Kentucky. Tickets are $2.25 a piece and will be sold in the lobby of the Student Union Building and at the door of the auditorium the night of the concert.

Judge Carlick fined him $300, with $100 suspended, on the drug charge but dismissed the traffic charges. Although Hurlburt claimed he had a prescription for the "medicine," he was convicted of illegal possession since he had the drug stored in a food container described as a "bad tube."

The law states that amphetamine drugs must be kept in the original container to which they were bought by prescription.

The other case was more typical of the local problem. Howard Eugene Culp was arrested twice in a 24-hour period separate drunk charges.

The second time he was arrested on the morning he was NAMED PRESIDENT: L. M. McBride was elevated to the Presidency of the City National Bank at the annual election Tuesday, replacing N. G. Cogge, who remains Chairman of the Board. Bertie Pigeon was named Vice-President and John Daniel Cashier. Other officers retained their present positions.

Parks Weeks was re-named Vice-President and Mrs. Bonnie Asbell as assistant cashier. The office of executive Vice-President formerly held by McBride was not filled.

Fulton Commission Wants Evidence Of Law Violations

Despite protests from Commissioner Ward Johnson that the proposed ordinance for Utility refunding bonds was being drawn for $55,000 more than was needed, the Mayor and Commissioners voted to sell a refunding bond issue in the amount of $700,000 to cover refunding four current issues totalling $614,000 (plus an underwriting cost for sales amounting to $31,000) and put the $55,000 surplus in securities against the time that it may be needed for utility system improvements in the future. In the end, Johnson voted for the ordinance.

Johnson told a News reporter that his principal objection to the additional loan was because there seemed little reason to borrow money for which there was no immediate need.

In other actions at Monday night's special meeting, the Mayor and Commissioners:

—Approved an ordinance appropriating $3500 to the airport board this year and okayed a resolution for continued annual payments to the airport board for the next nine additional years to cover payment in full of a $25,000 loan from Kentucky Finance authority negotiated by the Airport Board to cover construction of the local airstrip;

—Agreed to borrow $7135 for six months to cover interim financing of Court street drive improvement, with this amount to be repaid in full at the end of that time from affected property owners on the street;

—Agreed on Feb. 10 as the date for opening bids on Collins Street bridge, and contemplate a 2-lane structure instead of the old one-lane formerly in use; (the bridge is presently closed);

—Was advised that the rodent problem in the New Yards area of the ICRR is a serious menace to the area and decided to get in touch with local railroad officials to see if an eradication program, begun last year but for some reason not apparently continued, can be resumed without delay. It was pointed out that at the start of the eradication program last year about 8000 rats were killed, and today's population equals or exceeds that of last year.

In a final item on the agenda entitled "Considering a newspaper report of law violation in Fulton," Mayor DeMyer turned to City Manager Robey for a report on this item. Robey stated that after a long talk with Police Chief Myatt "it would be naive to say that there were no violations of the law in Fulton, but there are no flagrant violations that we know of." He continued, "There is a lot of rumor and hearsay about teenagers drinking beer, and we are told that these conditions do crop up occasionally, but we have been unable to pin such rumors down, and if any citizens know of anything, they should bring it to the attention of responsible authorities in Fulton."

Following Robey's remarks, News publisher Paul Westpheling arose to contest Robey's glossing over of conditions, pointing out that in the liquor sales in Fulton alone there are a number of law-violators.

Bearing out recent newspaper reports that alcoholic beverages are being sold to minors the Fulton City Police arrested the owner of the Smoke House Liquor Store Tuesday night for selling a fifth of whiskey to a young sailor. The Smoke House is located on the by-pass in Highlands.

L. C. "Doc" Adams was fined $100 and sent to Fulton city police court Wednesday. In a routine check of the retail liquor stores Monday night, Patrolman Hassell Williams saw Adams hand the whiskey purchase over to a twenty-year old sailor. No charges were filed against the youth.

Chief of Police Richard Myatt told the News Wednesday that every retail whiskey dealer in the city has been warned repeatedly against violating the Alcoholic Beverage code. "We want to upgrade the environment of our young people, not down-grade it," Myatt said. "This is fair warning to law violators that we intend to be on the look-out constantly for whiskey-dealers violating the law."

Gov. Breathitt Proclaims State Farm Bureau Week

Gov. Edward T. Breathitt has issued a proclamation declaring the week of January 20-25 as "Farm Bureau Week" in Kentucky.

The week-long observance comes at the same time the KFB officially launches its 1964 membership campaign. The first state-wide campaign was held in 1961.

In the Governor's proclamation, agriculture is cited as the "number one industry in Kentucky, producing more total income and employing more people than any other."

The proclamation also refers to Farm Bureau as the "Voice of Agriculture" in Kentucky, and points out that more than 74,000 rural and farm families have joined the organization "for the purpose of speaking and acting for themselves through organized efforts."

During the week of January 20, every county Farm Bureau in the state will be asked to "kick-off" a membership drive. County judges around the state will probably be asked by county Farm Bureau leaders to issue a proclamation. County "kick-off" breakfasts for membership workers will be held in some counties. Other counties will have dinners throughout the state during the week.

Jack Welch, president, KFB, said, "Now is the time of year to get started on building our organization. Let's get all our membership in early, and week on other important programs during the remainder of the year."

"We want every rural and farm family to Kentucky to join with us in 1964 in building an organization that will be effective. It is only through a strong, dedicated membership that we will prosper in the difficult years ahead," Welch said.

The 1963 membership year ended with an increase of 1,064 farm families over 1962.

The stockholders of the Fulton Bank met Tuesday afternoon, January 14, for its annual meeting, with Maxwell McDade, Chairman of the Board, presiding.

The cashier's report, given by M. R. Jeffers, indicated that 1963 had been one of the most successful years in the bank's history.

The following directors were re-elected to serve for the ensuing year: Maxwell McDade, G. D. Letts, M. R. Jeffers, Frank T. Beasly, Harold Henderson, Jr. and W. S. Atkins.

The directors of the bank met for a short session following the stockholders' meeting and elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Maxwell McDade, chairman of the board; W. S. Atkins, president; Frank T. Beasly, vice-president; M. R. Jeffers, cashier; Harold D. Henderson, Jr., Ray Terrell and Kenneth Stanley, assistant cashiers.

Plans Being Made For Second Banana Festival; Dedicated Effort Can Bring Community Center

This past week-end, Larry Metcalfe, public relations director of the National Banana Association was in Fulton discussing this year's (1964) festival with us. There can be no doubt that the entire banana industry was impressed, even startled at the success of our 1963 Festival. The National Banana Association has made it known that they are 100 percent behind the local effort to stage a second festival this year. They cement their interests with offers of increased finances to help us make another festival, bigger and better than the last one.

Their interest and the respect they have for our communities is a real challenge to all of us, we are sure. Hardly anybody entertains the idea that the festival will not go on and on, with competent leadership at the helm.

In this light then, some of us have been doing some high and mighty thinking to stage a festival this year that makes the first one a rather small affair. The amazing thing about our "dreams" is that with hard work and dedicated cooperation, many of them can come true.

Topping the list of vast projects for which we need united help is the establishment here of a community center with an auditorium large enough to accommodate the crowds that we know will come to our cities as our horizons for promotion and development grow. Like Mark Twain's famous weather quotation, a community center for our twin cities is something that has been long discussed, but not much has been done about it for many reasons, mostly money.

We think that now something can be done about it. Recently we read where a $2-million public facility loan by the U. S. Department of Commerce is making possible the restoration of historic Shaketown in Mercer County, Kentucky, generating 289 new jobs and establishing a major tourist attraction in the area.

A Community Center for the twin cities would not, as such, create a large number of new jobs. BUT IF A COMMUNITY CENTER were designed to incorporate a sort of museum to depict all phases of the banana industry, a sort of railroad museum and other events of interest from Kentucky and Tennessee, we could draw thousands of tourists to this area to stop with and visit with us, and in the attempt, create many new jobs.

Some discussion has been had with the proper authorities, and it is not beyond the realm of possibility to secure such a tourist attraction for our area, with financial help from two States and the Federal government.

Maybe we won't get it this year, but we have to start somewhere and sometime, so why not now? We think that some help might be forthcoming from several large industries who think our area is the ideal one to "have something different and unusual" for tourists away from the resort areas.

Can you envision a community center in our twin cities that could easily do for us what the Shaketown project will do for Harrodsburg and the central Kentucky area.

That project involves restoring and equipping the 20 buildings in the village, including the installation of water lines, sewage facilities and parking areas.

Operation of the village will include:

- (1) A central exhibition of historical and educational subjects.
- (2) Development of original crafts and industry, including furniture and hardware of the early 19th century period, and such home industries as weaving, fruit preserving and other industries for which the Shakers were renowned.
- (3) Shops for the sale of merchandise produced on the premises.
- (4) An inn offering dining and sleeping facilities.
- (5) Seasonal festivals, adult educational programs and information center.

The Community Facilities Administration of the Housing and Home Finance Agency investigated the Shaketown project for the Area Redevelopment Administration and made recommendations upon which ARA based its final approval.

Mercer County is included in the Danville labor market area which also includes Boyle, Garrard and Lincoln Counties. This area was designated as eligible to participate in the ARA program because of substantial and persistent unemployment.

Our area is designated to participate in the ARA program. Let's start working on it.

What's The Prognosis For Disease Caused From Cigarette Smoking? Few Will Take The "Cure"

What are people likely to do about their smoking in view of the new barrage of reports to the effect that cigarette smoking shortens a person's life? Landon Willis in the McLean County News says not very much. Landon makes the statement on the basis of reaction several years ago, when similar announcements were made linking smoking with lung cancer and heart ailments.

In proving his point Landon goes on to reveal some interesting statistics. Said he about the smokers in his county:

The figures show that they are puffing away at a greater rate than ever. Per smoker, local consumption is about seven per cent higher than it was 10 years ago.

The data comes from national statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture and from area reports issued by the tobacco industry.

There was considerable anxiety some years ago among smokers when the first statements about the health hazard came out.

This anxiety was removed to a large extent by prompt action on the part of tobacco manufacturers. They were on the market quickly with filter cigarettes. Since then, the use of cigarettes has risen sharply.

In McLean county, some 1,105,000 packs were consumed in the past year.

This was at the rate of 182 packs per year for every local resident over the age of 14.

It was lower than in most parts of the United States, the average being 201 packs per year. The rate in the East South Central States was 154 packs.

Except for 1953, when cigarette consumption dropped somewhat following the first lung cancer report, there has been a continuous rise in sales.

This year, it is estimated, over 523 billion cigarettes will be sold in the United States.

Taking into account the 70 million smokers in the country, some $8 billion a year is spent for cigarettes and other tobacco products.

Most public health authorities feel that the case against smoking has been clearly proved. The tobacco industry, on the other hand, argues that the evidence is only statistical and doesn't constitute proof.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission
By JOE JORDAN

Gov. Thomas E. Bramlette, who had been making a desperate but not very successful effort to rid Kentucky of guerrilla bands that were preying upon the citizens, robbing Union and Confederate sympathizers impartially, sent a discouraging message to the legislature 100 years ago this week. Eight thousand troops which he had raised "to be employed within the limits of Kentucky" had been sent outside the state by the Federal government, leaving him without armed forces to use against the guerrillas.

Bramlette, before he was elected governor, had been commander of a Union infantry regiment. When he set about enlisting volunteers to fight the guerrillas, he specified that they would be formed into cavalry units. The guerrillas were mounted, and they made hit-and-run raids, capturing a town or village, plundering it, and riding away in haste to avoid encountering troops which might be set from one of the many Union Army posts that had been established throughout the state. Plainly, infantry would have been virtually useless in a campaign against guerrillas.

The governor explained that in order to obtain horses from the Federal government he had raised the troops under the provisions of an act which the U. S. Congress had passed in February of 1863, specifically an assist Kentucky authorities. The act had used the words, "to be employed within the limits of Kentucky," but also had included the following qualification: "Provided: That at any time it may be necessary in the discretion of the President of the United States, these troops may be employed out of the limits of Kentucky against the enemies of the United States."

Bramlette told the legislators: "These troops have been ordered out of the state and none provided to supply the defense which they gave us. As it is evident that we cannot rely upon forces raised under the Act of Congress to serve in Kentucky, and as the desolation of our homes must follow upon the removal of these forces, it devolves upon you to provide for the speedy organization of a state force which will not be subject to such capricious action." He closed on a plaintive note: "To utter complaints is useless; whether it is right or wrong thus to remove these troops, is useless to inquire."

A court martial at Louisville found a Union Army first lieutenant guilty of violating the Articles of War and dishonored him from the service dishonorably, forfeiting his pay and allowances. In order to obtain a commission, he had undertaken to raise a company of volunteers. When the day came to muster his company into the service, he still lacked fifteen of having the required number. He induced fifteen civilians of the community to stand in the ranks and answer to their names, which he had added to the muster roll. Thereafter, in order to make the books balance, he had reported all fifteen of the helpful non-joiners as deserters.

PADUCAH POLICE—

tinued until Jan. 4.

Police said it is common knowledge that many of the persons arrested for being drunk are actually under the influence of drugs. Usually the "pop-pills," "happy pills," "bennies" or "yellow jackets," as they are variously termed, are taken in conjunction with some alcoholic beverage. The combination of the two gives a stronger, longer-lasting intoxication than just normal drinking, police say.

Unless some of the pills are found on the persons arrested it is difficult to tell whether they are drunk on alcohol or pills. Often in the past the defendants' claims that pills were just "medicine" were accepted at face value. But more frequently now the "medicine" is being sent off for a laboratory opinion.

In court recently one habitual drunkard volunteered some information when called forward to answer a drunk charge. "I have a confession to make," he said, "I'm as much a dope fiend as a drunk." He said he had been taking drugs for some time. Court officials expressed the opinion that his case was far from being unusual.

Another aspect of the pill-taking is offering a headache to court and law officials. There is no traffic law to punish a person for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of drugs though such a person is as much a menace to safety on the highway, if not more so, than alcohol-impaired drivers, according to experts.

For instance, in the case of the truck driver mentioned earlier, if he had not been caught with the drug in his possession, it would have been nearly impossible to determine whether or not he had been taking drugs.

"It is unfortunate," City Prosecutor Bill Howerton said, "that there is no law to charge persons for driving drugged." Obviously angered by the offense, Howerton told the tractor-trailer driver "You may slaughter people on the highways in Michigan. But we are not going to let you get away with it here."

Howerton has expressed the opinion that the State Legislature should amend the drunken driving law to include "not only alcohol and narcotics, but also tranquilizers and barbiturates, hypnotics and any drug that impairs one's driving ability."

A top state drug investigator, on a routine visit recently, said sufficient complaints have not been received from this section of the state to indicate a severe problem. But he said massive amounts of the prescription drugs are known to be on the market illegally all over the state.

Mr. and Miss South Fulton High School: James Faulkner and Farria Finch, both seniors.

Patsy Ann Babb, Jimmy Lee Green, Married In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Patsy Ann Babb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Babb, and Jimmy Lee Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Green, were married on Friday, December 27, 1963, in the Smith Street Church of Christ. Brother Kenneth Hoover, minister of the church, performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

The bride's dress was white chiffon over taffeta, with a full skirt and long sleeves, and she wore a purple throat orchid at her shoulder. Her only attendant, Miss Jania Taylor, wore a red velvet dress and a white carnation corsage. The best man was Charles Willingham.

The bride is a 1961 graduate of South Fulton High School and has completed two years of Elementary Education at Freed-Hardeman College in Henderson, Tenn., and UTMB at Martin.

The groom graduated from Fulton High School in 1961 and is now a junior at Murray State College.

The couple will make their home in Murray, where they will continue their studies at Murray State College.

SCATTERED PATTERN

About People and Things

By the time the next beauty pageant in connection with the Banana Festival rolls around, the organization will have more entrants than they can handle. The reason is that the reign of our Banana princess is just about as glamorous as that of Miss America.

Next week Princess Carol Gilson will go by jet to Miami to represent the local festival before the 2500 member National Fruit Growers Association. She will tell something of the giant plans in store for this year's Banana Festival and be feted during her whole visit there. Before going to Miami she will stop over in Memphis for an appearance on the Russ Hodges Show on WREC-TV and also pick up a handsome wardrobe for that wonderful Florida climate.

Carol, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Gilson of Martin, will be accompanied to Memphis by Mrs. Nelson Tripp and Mrs. Bob Morgan. Mrs. Morgan, who has been selected as Carol's official chaperone will go on to Miami with our lovely, brunette princess.

Carol will visit in New Orleans en route to Miami where she will be the guest of the National Banana Association. Knowing the hospitable characteristics of those folks, we can say with the greatest authority that Princess Carol has a fabulous trip in store. Carol is a student at UTMB, and a mighty popular and good one, we might add. That girl has Miss America possibilities, you just wait and see!

OVER THE BACK FENCE DEPARTMENT: John Sullivan, one of the most popular and energetic civic leaders we have ever had around these parts, is reportedly looking for a home in Fulton. The report is that John and Elaine and their lovely youngsters are being transferred back to Fulton from Mountain View, California. And, so the story goes, the van bringing back John's belongings will be shared by the George Albritton's, other former Fultonians who have been living on the West Coast while being associated with Ferry-Morse Seed Company, as is John Sullivan.

You think we've been having cold weather? Linnie (Mrs. Ted) Clark said weather in Ohio has been as cold as 16 degrees below. When she wrote the note she said they were having a "hot spell." The temperature was 14 above. Linnie asked that we send her back copies of the News and current copies until she comes home. She gets mail from Fulton, but nothing does it like a copy of our little ole newspaper, says she.

Mrs. Newton Ruddle entertained her son Eddie with a party on January 9, the occasion being his sixth birthday.

Games were played during the afternoon and movies were made of the group. Ice cream, cup cakes and cold drinks were served. Balloons, bubble gum, candy and party blow-outs were given the guests, also each received a gift from a "fishing pond."

Those attending were Brenda Craven, Eddie Greer, Ronnie Mac Fields, Randy Henderson, Danny Kimbell, Wanda Loney, Joey Neeley, Tony Otano, Barbara Sams, Sheila Scott, Debbie Scott, Debbie Steele, Curt and David White and the guest of honor.

We hope we don't bore you too much with teen-age doings. In writing about them as much as we do, we rationalize with ourselves this way: If you have a teen-ager in the house, you can commiserate with us; if you don't, you should be amused and startled at the funny things these youngsters do.

This week's revelation to us is the new Caesar hair-do, for males only. Sunday we looked up and saw some kind of an apparition coming down the stairs all dressed up in his Sunday clothes. We hardly recognized him. It was our son with the new Caesar hair-do. Well, you can imagine the conversation that followed. He was back upstairs in a flash combing his hair like a human being.

But Monday morning we had no control over the coiffure. "It's the latest thing," he says. "Everybody's wearing it that way!" So, as parents we're trapped again. If you don't believe it, just take a look at the photo on this page.

Ward Johnson was in the office Tuesday when we were discussing the ridiculous fad. He was extremely comforting. Said he: "Wait 'til he gets in college, then you'll have something to get really exasperated about."

Ward says that fads differ with the geographic location of the college. For instance, Ward advises at the University of Tennessee a student wouldn't be caught dead with a pair of shoes that had shoe laces. They've simply got to be those miserable looking things, called loafers. Wearing ties for anything but formal wear and church is strictly "square" at UT.

At Murray, on the other hand, a student has just gotta have a boot type shoe with single holes for shoe laces. At Murray we've also seen boys that are so casual we've wondered whether they were going to classes or to bed.

We'll never live through it, that's for sure.

Jean Brockwell, James Bright Wed In Corinth

On December 20, 1963, Mrs. Jean Mann Brockwell became the bride of James E. (Jim) Bright of Arlington. The ceremony was held in the home of the bride's brother, A. A. Mann, in Corinth, Mississippi. Rev. Malters performed the double ring ceremony.

The only attendants were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mann, Don Mann, Miss Marjory Wilson and Johnny Mann.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Mann, Route 1, Fulton, and is employed by Atkins Insurance Agency as a bookkeeper.

Mr. Bright is the son of Mrs. Lottie Bright and the late T. C. Bright of Arlington, Ky. He is employed as a telegraph operator by the Illinois Central Railroad.

The couple are now at home at 405 Norman Street in Fulton, after a brief honeymoon.

Davis - Lessley Wedding Held December 29th

The wedding of Miss Betty Lou Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Davis, Fulton, Ky., to Donald Eugene Lessley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Lessley, Sr., Paducah, was solemnized in the parsonage of the Immanuel Baptist Church, Paducah. The Rev. T. L. McSwain performed the private double ring ceremony Sunday, December 29, 1963.

The bride was attired in a street length dress of white embroidered satin with fitted bodice and matching jacket. She wore a small white hat with flowers, satin bow and short veil. Her accessories were white. The bridal corsage was white roses.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Bob McClellan, was the matron of honor. She wore a sheath dress of red wool.

Charles V. Boarman, Owensboro, Ky., was Mr. Lessley's best man.

Miss Stephenson Reveals Plans For Her Wedding To Mr. Joe K. Johnson

Miss Sandra Mae Stephenson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billie Stephenson of Fulton, bride-elect of Mr. Joe Kemp Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thomas Johnson of Hickman, has announced plans for her wedding.

The ceremony will take place in the First Christian Church in Fulton, Kentucky at four o'clock in the afternoon on Sunday, January 26, 1964. Rev. William O. Beard, minister of the church, will officiate. Mrs. L. C. Logan, organist, and Mr. Vyron Mitchell, soloist, will present a program of nuptial music.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father, Miss Bonnie Helms of Arkadelphia, Arkansas has been chosen as her maid of honor. Bridesmaids will be Mrs. Robert Stephenson, sister-in-law of the bride of Fulton, and Miss Dolly Johnson, sister of the groom, of Hickman.

Thomas Adams of Hickman will serve the groom as best man. Ushers will be Robert Stephenson, brother of the bride, of Fulton; Dean Parnell, brother-in-law of the groom, Joe Lattus, Jr. and Jerry Gray, all of Hickman.

The parents of the bride will entertain with an informal reception in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony.

Graves Countians File Suit For Fiscal Court's Actions

Graves Fiscal Court, composed of Judge Allen Cloar and eight magistrates, Monday was asked in a "taxpayer" lawsuit to account for furnishings taken from a motel bought by the county for a home for the aged and to pay back funds allegedly spent on private roads and driveways.

Benton Attorney Joe Asher, filed the suit in Graves Circuit Court.

The action came, said Asher, after Judge Cloar and the magistrates failed to respond to a written demand to produce the motel furnishings and reimburse the road fund.

The lawsuit demands:
1. The Judge and magistrates be required to "disgorge and restore to Graves County any and all personal property acquired from the Mayfield Motel property" and that it be sold at auction.

2. Each defendant "be required to pay to Graves County the value of equipment use, material and labor wrongfully and illegally used and expended upon the private properties, if any, and that the defendants be required to furnish a detailed and itemized statement of the value of said equipment use, materials and labor so expended and used."

3. An audit of all Fiscal Court records during the terms of the judge and magistrates. The plaintiffs called for an audit by a firm "with residence outside Graves County" and at the expense of Graves County.

Judge Cloar reportedly was out of town Monday.

DUKEDOM NEWS

By Mrs. Hillman Westbrook

Funeral services for Bill Clark were held at Jackson Funeral Home on January 9. Burial was at Good Springs. He passed away at Fulton Hospital, where he had been a patient. He had made his home with his twin sister, Mrs. Bill Brown, of this community, but more recently had been living in Fulton. Other sisters are Mrs. Maude Joyner and Mrs. Etta Dickerson, both of Fulton.

Rev. and Mrs. Ronald Bynum and John visited friends in the community while on a visit with home folks near Gleason. They are now located in Waynesboro, Tennessee with the Cumberland Presbyterian Church there.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Crawford of Murray visited their sister, Mrs. T. L. Ainley, and Mr. Ainley last Monday.

The two saw mills which have been operating around here recently are in the process of moving to a location near Camden. Many acres of timber have been sold throughout the community.

Miss Mabel Cavender entertained the prayer meeting group of Dukedom Methodist Church last Thursday night at the cafe in Dukedom. Fifteen attended and all reported a delightful evening.

We would like to make the following announcements for the Dukedom Church. Regular preaching services are the third Sunday at 11 a. m. and the second Sunday at 7 p. m., with the pastor, Bro. Thomas D. Stone, in charge. The Sunday School meets every Sunday at 10 a. m., with prayer meeting each Wednesday night at 7. They welcome anyone who can attend any of these services with them.

OTHER KEEPER!

England's King James I appointed a "Keeper of the King's Otters" to look after the pack of tame aquatic mammals trained to catch fish for his table.

It seems that, as we look at business all over the country, the byword is efficiency in management. Many new ideas and innovations are being placed on the preferred list of changes wherever business men meet. Most every publication we read has something to say regarding more efficient and better management of personnel. Mergers are frequently mentioned and has become a very popular subject to talk about.

All these subjects and discussions are also being applied to the farmer and his farm. He is no longer a 'one gallop' operator but he is also in the same classification as any other successful business man. He is the more executive type today, rather than just the man who follows the plow and puts in 10 to 12 hours of hard work in the field. He is one who reads important subject matter about his business and related industries. The farmer has his radio and T. V. tuned to stations that beam market reports and weather forecasts as well as other important news development that could affect his business. He is up to date attending the important conference and meetings that will help shape his destiny. He is among the leaders of his community who are interested in trying to bring about practical changes for both rural and city alike.

There are things today that separate the efficient farmer from the man who simply continues to follow the plow of yesterday. The successful farmer of today is the one who has sold his dairy bull and is now using the services of nearby artificial insemination associations which in most cases are farmer owned. He also uses electric milking machines and coolers and is planning to milk more cows in the elevated barn. The modern efficient farmer does not guess at plant food needs, a soil test will tell him what to do. All of these and many more from other livestock enterprises will determine the success and the efficiency of the farmer of today and the future.

The pattern is going to change even more in the future. The economy of tomorrow will require both farmers and industries to adopt measures and introduce practices that allow fewer mistakes to be made. It is not easy to begin making plans for the year and see if some alteration could possibly make the operation more efficient, thereby resulting in more profit for your labor.

OBION COUNTY FARM NEWS

By Narvel Seale—Chairman

Conservation practices which will help farmers establish permanent vegetative cover will be emphasized even more strongly under the 1964 Agricultural Conservation Program.

Practices approved for 1964 ACP cost-sharing assistance in Obion County include:

- A-2 Permanent Vegetative Cover
- A-3 Rotation Cover
- A-4 Improvement & Protection of Soil By Liming For Legumes & Grasses
- A-5 Contour Stripcropping
- A-7 Tree Planting
- B-1 Improvement of an Established Vegetative Cover For Soil or Watershed Protection
- B-7 Ponds for Livestock Water
- B-8 Pipelines for Livestock Water
- B-10 Woodland Improvement
- C-1 Sod Waterways
- C-5 Constructing Diversion Terraces
- F-1 Constructing Walls for Livestock Water (B-5)
- F-1 Establishment of Permanent Vegetation on Gullied Areas as Protection Against Erosion (C-2)
- F-1 Constructing Parallel Terraces (C-4)
- F-1 Constructing Erosion Control, Water Detention, or Sediment Retention Dams To Prevent or Heal Gullying or to retard or reduce runoff of excess water (C-6)
- F-1 Shaping or Land Grading (C-11).

Farmers are encouraged to call at the ASCS County Office to discuss their conservation problems and the possibility of obtaining 1964 ACP cost-sharing assistance in conserving their soil and water resources. Cost-share requests are being accepted at the local office NOW and will continue thru FEBRUARY 17th, 1964.

U. S. Department of Agriculture economists have pointed to a need for shifting millions of acres of land that are now producing row crops and small grains into other uses—from intensive crop production to forestry, grass and legume pasture, cover for wildlife habitat, and other noncrop uses.

Each year ACP cooperates with farmers and ranchers throughout the country in sharing the cost of establishing about 2 1-2 million acres of permanent vegetative cover of grasses and legumes. Among other conservation practices, they also plant about 350,000 acres of trees, construct nearly 700,000 acres of terraces to prevent soil erosion, and build about 50,000 farm ponds for water-resource management.

In 1963, ACP assisted farmers in Obion County to 2,046 acres seeded in pasture and/or hay; 11,740 acres liming for legumes and grasses; 27 Livestock ponds; 13,080 linear feet for Livestock Pipelines; 9 acres Sod Waterways; 2,615 acres seeded to Winter Cover Crops and 875 acres seeded to Summer Cover.

Hickman County Meets Quota For 125 Pts. Blood

Hickman county easily met its quota of 125 pints to keep blanket coverage for its blood bank when the mobile unit of the regional bank in Nashville, Tennessee, was in Clinton last week.

Jerrald Chandler, director of the blood bank, said that 131 pints were donated for the Hickman county bank, and that an additional 39 pints were donated by Carlisle countians for a Carlisle county girl who is hospitalized in New York City where great quantities of blood are needed in her treatment.

Chandler said that 174 Hickman countians presented themselves as donors, but that 43 were rejected. Of the Carlisle countians only five of a total of 44 were rejected.

Henry Hilliard Is Seed Group Officer

Henry David Hilliard of Clinton route 3 was named vice president of the Kentucky Seed Improvement Association at a recent meeting of the association in Lexington.

E. F. Powers of Louisville was named president, succeeding Smith D. Broadbent, Jr., of Cadiz who had served since 1949 as president.

B. W. Fortenberry of Lexington was reelected manager and secretary-treasurer.

NEIGHBORLY!

Though people of North America tend to think of all South America countries as close neighbors, Washington is nearer to Moscow than to Buenos Aires, the National Geographic says.

Mars, at one time, may have had an abundant supply of oxygen that literally rusted away. Astronomers speculate that the oxygen combined with iron in rocks to produce the vivid red deserts of the planet.

DETROIT NEWS

By Roy Hanner

The weather here is cold and lots of snow.

This news is a little late, but it is still news. On December 30, 1963 at 6:30 p. m. in candlelight services, Robert Morris was united in marriage to Miss Ethel McMahon in Christ Church on East Seven Mile Route 1, with a reception following in the hall. Robert Morris is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Angus Gregory, formerly of Fulton.

Mrs. Al Cruse of Cayce, Ky. was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ferguson over the weekend and attended church with them.

Last Tuesday morning I was host to the ministers who belong to the Warren Ministerial Association. How they can eat! A good many attended.

Tuesday evening Rev. Lovelace was our speaker and showed film slides of South America and where he is pastor, which was enjoyed by everyone who was there. After services we served lunch in the Fellowship Hall.

Rev. McCain, Faith Church, will be moving into the new manse shortly.

Mr. and Mrs. Kleeman were guests at my home before leaving for Florida.

Ralph Kirby is in St. Joseph's Hospital, Room 617. His home address is 21465 Panama, Warren, Michigan. Cards will help.

Mrs. Lookie Foster left last week end for Kentucky to visit her nephew, who is very sick. We wish him a speedy recovery.

It is nice to see Ann McDonald up and around again, after her long illness.

Mrs. Francis McAllister is feeling some better, after her long illness following an operation, and says thanks for all cards.

Received a nice letter from Mrs. Govie Wright in Clinton, Ky. She asked Elmer Murchison, tax man, if he had any relatives in Detroit and he said no. My wife is a Murchison, daughter of A. B. and Eselle of Route 1. I guess he forgot.

See you in church Sunday. Call me with your news at 8393074.

Postal Service Seeking Site At Clinton

This week the US post office department through its building agency is asking for a building site in Clinton for a new post office to be constructed there in the future.

The advertisement asking for site offers, either as contributions or sales.

The request asks for a site approximately 185 feet square which should be located in the business section of Clinton.

US Senator John S. Cooper informed The Hickman County Gazette Christmas week of last year that President Johnson had signed a bill appropriating $104,000 for site and planning of the post office and federal building in Clinton.

MEN WORKING

This is the sign that should be lifted high in our beloved country — "Men Working." Men working with all they have and are, for a country that must show the world how to live in brotherhood and love and peace under God.

Let us resolve to dedicate anew our lives and our talents to our country and our God when we attend church this Sunday.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT WORKING

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which are held so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

to one here but me. They've taken the government to the people today."

Using a quip that was off-remembered in Frankfort and which amused Governor Combs, I said: "Can you tell me when Governor Combs is going to bring the government to Frankfort?"

Whereupon the relief employee said:

"Wait just a minute! I'll look on his schedule."

When I die, if I go to the Valley of beat-up editors I'll still get the creeps when I think of the headline I wrote which had the bride marrying her brother-in-law. Exercising extra caution in subsequent news stories I thought I had vindicated myself for the error when I gave the account of her wedding an extra special position on the society page, with the most careful attention to make-up, etc. My blood still runs cold when I think of how I took such care the next day, to look at the completely finished, completely printed paper, only to notice that the outline under the bride's wedding picture said MR. SO AND SO.

Who will ever forget the classic story brought to mind each year when the radio auctions begin for fund-raising. It goes that the auctioneer was chanting along furiously and people were bidding the same way. Final bid went to Elizabeth Joyner.

When her purchase was delivered to her she nearly flipped in a macaroni. A sweet little ole parakeet was presented to her.

"Why in the world are you bringing me that bird?" Elizabeth shrieked.

"You just bought it on the radio auction," she was told.

"My Gosh," said Elizabeth, "I thought I was bidding on a pair of sheets."

There are dozens more, but I think this one during the Banana Festival will wind it up for today. A newspaper friend of ours who went all out to publicize the festival called us one day in a plaintive voice.

"Jo," said he, "I ran that picture you sent me yesterday of the ladies and the legs. A 'cheesecake' picture is good anytime for a second look, but Jo anybody could see those knock-knees didn't belong to any spring chickens."

(Cheesecake art is what photographers call those pictures that are you know, sort of, well, leggy, shall we say.)

BONNIE WEAKS—

The South Fulton gymnasium was the scene for the basketball homecoming, held January 4. Patricia Lowe was crowned queen, Freida Mansfield was first alternate and Judy Neely was second alternate. The ball game provided thrilling entertainment as the Red Devils defeated the Fulton County Pilots, by the score 87-88 in three overtimes.

The Girls and Boys State Award goes to Mary Elizabeth Fields and Charles Colley this year. Girls State is held in June at Murfreesboro, Tennessee, and Boys State is held at the same time at Lebanon, Tennessee. The first alternates were Karen Frieleds and Corkey Stinnett. Sure hope you have a good time because this is a very rewarding experience.

Mr. and Miss South Fulton this year are Fairrs Finch and James Faulkner. Fairrs is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Beecher Finch of the Chestnut Glade Community. Fairrs is very active in school activities. She was an alternate to the 1964 football queen and was chosen a senior class favorite. James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Faulkner of the Harris community. James was a co-captain of the 1964 football team and was chosen a senior class favorite.

The South Fulton Devilettes are without one of their high scoring forwards, Judy Neely. Judy injured herself in the previous Atwood game. Judy is being hospitalized at this time, and we hope she will be well soon. Everyone will be glad to see her back playing ball.

South Fulton played Obion County Central January 14 at Central; Union City, January 17 at South Fulton; and Palmersville, January 18 at Palmersville. Both teams have their work cut out for them this week, and are looking forward to three big victories.

The last shipment of the South Fulton annual will be sent off soon. All the South Fulton seniors are glad of this because the annual staff has worked hard this year to have a very good annual.

a general assembly at 10:15 a. m. on her recent two year teaching experience in Liberia.

Other features of the three-day meeting are: the annual junior clubwomen's meeting at 10:00 a. m. on Jan. 22 with Mrs. Gene Williams, Elizabethtown, presiding; a style show narrated by Mrs. Ethel Nagel Brock, courtesy of Stewart's, on Jan. 22 at 12:15; and a show of exact replicas of museum pieces will be shown in a Kentucky Cultural Heritage hat show by Maxine Stromsen, Cincinnati, at the banquet on Jan. 22.

A program of Kentucky music will be presented by Don and Jan Hendrickson, Richmond, at the Wednesday banquet, and the Thursday morning program will feature piano music by Mrs. Bruce Hartsell, Louisville. Mrs. Homer V. Rouse, Dry Ridge, will be the organist for the meeting.

1963 Heart Fund Drive Shows Gain Over 1962

Final audited results of the 1963 Heart Fund drive, just released by the Kentucky Heart Association, show a total of $370,341 for the fiscal year ending last June 30.

State campaign chairman William T. Hockensmith, Frankfort, pointed out that this figure represents an increase of slightly more than $5,000 over the 1962 total and a new high for the state. Louisville and Jefferson County raised $144,993 this year as compared with $145,236 for the previous 12-month period.

As in past years, Hockensmith said, Kentucky this year kept intact its record of exceeding the fair share goal assigned annually to each state by the American Heart Association. He added that only a handful of other states have maintained this level of contributions, based on population and per capita wealth.

Although 25 per cent of all Kentucky contributions go to AMA, Hockensmith said, the national heart agency this year actually returned to the state in the form of research grants more money than it received. These grants were awarded to research scientists at both the University of Louisville and the University of Kentucky medical schools.

Both medical schools also receive sizeable financial support for research from KHA and its local branches, particularly the Heart Association of Louisville and Jefferson County. This year the state heart association established a Chair of Heart Research at U. of K. The Louisville chapter and KHA have supported a similar Chair at U. of L. since 1952.

Extensive educational and community service projects are carried on throughout the state. These include two permanent heart clinics for indigents and a continuing network of itinerant clinics that visit all parts of Kentucky. One of the permanent clinics is conducted twice weekly at Children's Hospital in Louisville.

stores that are, and have for a long time, permitted package goods to be opened and consumed on the premises. He further pointed out that at least one drive-in restaurant operator has complained bitterly about teen-agers consuming various types of alcoholic beverages on his premises, and that numerous times in recent weeks he has been obliged to go out to his parking lot and make them leave; and that this condition leads to great suspicion that liquor is being sold to minors. He also pointed out that the State ABC Board has a number of rules that the local ABC administrator should seek to keep continually enforced, and wonders if they are as rigidly enforced as they should be, such as all employees being residents of the State, and the maximum possession limit, and tip-offs to local stores when out-of-area inspectors are about to enter the city.

It was pointed out, and justifiably so, that some of the regulations are State law and perhaps some of them are not, and that they are more in the enforcement domain of the local ABC agent than the city police.

When questioned by Miss Odella Jewell about another part of last week's editorial in The News which stated that "the twin cities harbor an unhampered bootlegging, pep-pills pushers and even an organized burglary ring," both Mayor DeMyer and Manager Robey denied knowledge of any such existences.
