Wisconsin State University Promotes Robert DeZonia

Three high ranking administrators in the Wisconsin State College system received new assignments this month. One of them is Dr. Robert H. DeZonia, 33, a native Fultonian. DeZonia is the grandson of Mrs. Beas DeZonia and Mrs. W. L. Barber of Fulton. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fields DeZonia, former Fulton residents.

DeZonia, a member of the joint staff since 1959 and Co-Director since 1961, was named Assistant Director of State Colleges.

The Board of Regents of State Colleges appointed Dr. Karl Meyer to the presidency at Superior and endorsed the new assignments for Dr. Hill and Dr. DeZonia announced by Eugene R. McPhee, Madison, Director of State Colleges.

Director McPhee said that the new assignments would enable each of the administrators to make good use of his special talents and experience at a time when colleges and universities are changing rapidly to meet new educational needs. He said that Dr. DeZonia's experience on the staff would be especially helpful to the State Colleges in developing the new two-year branch campuses authorized by the Legislature.

Dr. DeZonia began his academic career 11 years ago as public relations officer at the University of Wisconsin.

Mrs. McDaniel Sells City Drug To Eddie Holts

The City Drug Company in Fulton has been sold by Mrs. C. H. McDaniel to Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Holt, former Fultonians, now residing in Paducah. They took over the management of the drug store on January 24.

Mr. Holt, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Holt of Fulton, and his wife, the former Shirley Houston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Houston of South Fulton, have three daughters, Susan, 6, Ann, 4, and Ellen, 2.

Mr. Holt graduated from the University of Kentucky School of Pharmacy in 1958. Since that time he has served 3 1/2 years in the United States Army, worked as a salesman in Tupelo, Miss., was employed in metropolitan hospitals in Memphis by the Upjohn Company and as a salesman in Paducah by that company.

The family plans to move from Paducah to Fulton in the near future.

Beadles Named To All-Stars Of West Team

Terry, a senior at Fulton High School, is an outstanding quarterback. He has been the leading scorer on the Bulldog team for the past two seasons and received a four-year grant-in-aid to play football at the University of Kentucky.

He was chosen on the All State Class A football team this year and on the Courier-Journal All State third team. He was also chosen for All WKC honors and was named All-Star for excellence in sports by the Evansville, Ind. Courier and Press.

He has been outstanding in athletics during the past three years.

Former Commissioner Rice Dies Here On Wednesday

Former City Commissioner Bill Rice, an outspoken champion of the taxpayer and a public official who was unafraid to speak out on controversial issues died Wednesday morning at the Fulton Hospital. Mr. Rice, a long time sales representative for a large paint firm was admitted to the local hospital on January 18. He was 70. He had been in failing health for several months.

Coming to Fulton from Louisville Mr. Rice immediately became active in civic, fraternal, veterans and local governmental affairs. When he made his first race for City Commissioner in 1961 he initiated an almost unheard-of policy in municipal politics by campaigning actively for the office. In a series of newspaper articles he made known the platform on which he was seeking office and held steadfast to his programs. When he was elected to office he received the third highest number of votes among the eight other candidates on the ballot.

He was unsuccessful in his bid for re-election last year.

A colorful, gregarious and energetic individual his busy life in Fulton was no less active when he lived in Louisville. He organized the volunteer fire department of Buachel, a suburb of Louisville, and was the first president of the volunteer fire department of Jefferson County. It was the experience he acquired as being Commissioner and Superintendent of the Buachel Water System that motivated Mr. Rice to wage a constant campaign to streamline the Fulton Water system.

He was married with the Armstrong Petet and Varnish Osgood for 23 years, he retired from the firm in August 1963. He was a veteran of World War One and a member of the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was a thirty-second degree Mason and held membership in the Rishph Lodge of Shriners in Madrienville. He was active in the area Shrine Club and spearheaded a promotion to bring the Roy Acuff appearance here under the auspices of the local group.

Bill Rice was a man unafraid. He was unrelenting in his frequent disagreements with public officials, newspapers, and oftentimes the general public, so long as he felt he was standing by his convictions. He was as intense in the devotion to his family as he was in the effort to make known the courage of his views. He was a loyal devotee of every school, cultural, church and civic endeavor in which he and his family participated.

The deceased was the son of the late W. J. and Emma Michals Rice. Born in Louisville he came to Fulton about six years ago and built a lovely home in Country Club Court.

He is survived by his widow Mrs. Irene Stuart Rice; one daughter Mrs. Glynn Bushart; one grand child, Gail Bushart and two step-grandchildren, Duncan and Glynn Bushart, Jr. A sister, Mrs. Walter C. Wagner, Sr., of Louisville, also survives.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 A. M. on Friday at Whitel Funeral Home Chapel. Rev. W. T. Barnes, pastor of the First Methodist Church and Rev. John Platt, pastor of Trinity Episcopal Church will officiate.

MEMORIES OF 32 YEARS AGO: Reminiscing through some old papers recently, Hubert Adams of Fulton came across this picture, taken in 1932 while he was working as a painter in Detroit. The van, pulled by a 1932 "B" Model Ford, is one of the earliest Buick-Away trucks used for moving new cars from the factory, and the White Star Transit Company, for which Adams worked as a painter, operated 199 of these. Two cars were carried inside the enclosed van, and two on top, and this was probably the first model of the currently-popular auto transits so often seen on today's highways. Adams, who worked for 15 years in Detroit, currently operates his own body shop on Broadway in South Fulton.

Dial System For Fulton Planned By Southern Bell

Plans to convert Fulton's present phone system to a modern Dial operation were announced by Jim Champion, Manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company.

The entire conversion project is expected to cost Southern Bell about $1,550,000. A major part of installing the new dial office will be the out side plant equipment, particularly the telephone cables.

Champion said, "The new system will allow Fulton subscribers to dial their own long distance calls by using the Direct Distance Dialing Network. The dial equipment will be housed in a new building that will be built directly behind Bell's present location on the corner of Main and Washington streets. The construction of the new building will begin very soon and the new dial system will be in operation within approximately eighteen months."

Mr. Champion explained that the change from manual to dial will be "smooth". An extensive customer education program will be held to explain the proper procedures in dialing your own long distance calls and Southern Bell has been installing dial phones in the Fulton area for sometime. These phones will be used in the new dial system.

Cayce Going To Dial Phones in April; Getting New Office, 7-Digit Numbers

Cayce subscribers will soon have a new telephone office and new telephone numbers. This announcement comes from Jim Champion, local Bell manager. Champion said that around the middle of April Cayce telephone subscribers will have a new dial office and a seven-digit telephone number.

These changes are being made because of the growth in that portion of Fulton County. The present Cayce office can provide service for about 200 customers and the new office will furnish one or two party service for about 200 customers.

This is just one more step in Southern Bell's plan to give Fulton County the most modern telephone service.

Billy Edd Wheeler Plans Tour For "Stars" Drama

Billy Edd Wheeler, well-known folk artist performer and song writer, will tour Appalachia April 1 through June 1. In addition to singing concerts and directing hootenanny programs throughout the region, he will spend a week of his tour (March 28-27) entertaining school children in eastern Kentucky and urging them to remain in school until graduation. Billy Edd's spring schedule is being handled by HILLWOOD PRODUCTIONS, 142 Lorraine Court, Berea, Kentucky.

In early June, Billy Edd will return to Kenlake Amphitheater on Kentucky Lake to resume his role as "Mr. Rivers" in Kermit Hunter's STARS IN MY CROWN.

The Amphitheater, near Murray, is about 40 miles from Paducah. It is a sparkling attraction in an already popular vacation area which also offers water sports, fishing, and golfing.

In his part as Mr. Rivers, "the spirit of Kentucky River," Billy Edd acts, sings, and dances. In its premiere season last summer, STARS IN MY CROWN was the most successful of the Kentucky outdoor dramas.

Billy Edd has recently issued A NEW BAG OF SONGS. On this album under the KAPP label, he performs his original songs. Two of these Billy Edd originals THE

Breckinridge Heads Drive For Library

John B. Breckinridge, whose term as Kentucky attorney general ended in January, will head a fund-raising committee to aid construction of the proposed John F. Kennedy Memorial Community Library in West Liberty. Announcement of Breckinridge's acceptance was made by Mrs. Garrett Hale, Elizabethtown, president of the Friends of Kentucky Libraries, which is sponsoring the project.

Breckinridge, who now practices law in Lexington, said a goal of $20,000 has been set to defray construction costs of the library.

Morgan County has agreed to provide $10,000 toward the library project, Miss Willis said, and the County Board of Education has made available a building site, valued at $15,000.

Contributions to the memorial fund may be mailed to the Friends of Kentucky Libraries, P. O. Box 887, Frankfort, Ky.

Princess Carol "Rules" At Miami Fruit Growers Meet

With the election last week of three top officials in the International Banana Festival Association, plans for this year's second annual event are already in high gear. Tentative plans are to stage the festival during the week of September 21 through September 26 or from September 28 through October 3. Exact date of the festival will be made known when a firm commitment is received from the Miss America Pageant Committee as to when the 1965 selection can begin her public appearances.

Charles Reams, local Pepsi-Cola bottler, whose company is one of the national sponsors of the Miss America Pageant is working with Pepsi-Cola officials in Atlanta to set either September 26 or October 3 as the date when Miss America can appear here.

President Joe Trees has set February 3 as the next meeting date.

Meanwhile in Miami, Florida, Bananas Festival Princess Carol Gilson was making history among the more than 2500 members of the National Fruit Growers Association. Interviewed by newspapers, radio and television stations, Princess Carol was presented the keys to the City of Miami at the glamorous Fountainbleau Hotel where the convention was in session.

Sparkling with charm and fashion elegance, Princess Carol appeared Tuesday before the members of the National Banana Association in a private session at the hotel. "Superb" was the way her presentation of this year's festival program was described. Exhibiting the bulging scrapbook of last year's festival Princess Carol captured the hearts and imagination of her "subjects" like the queen that she is. So much so, that the National Banana Association committed itself to increased financial help for this year's festival.

Encouraged by the confidence placed in the twin cities, festival officials are considering a trip to Washington to "sell" the program to high-ranking government officials and to the Secretary of State Latin American Affairs.

Reports from Miami indicate that the National Banana Association's booth with Princess Carol in attendance had more than its share of visitors. Giving away free banana invitations to this year's festival and other information about the twin cities, the beautiful Princess also gave away a Caribbean cruise to some lucky registrant.

Accompanied by Mrs. Bob Morgan, her official chaperone, Princess Carol returned to Fulton Wednesday night after a flight on Delta Airlines to Paducah.

Louis Weak's Flying High; He Finally Gets Airplane

If plans go as scheduled, the Fulton city park will soon have a jet plane permanently displayed in it.

Following notice received from the Air Force that a surplus Air Force GT-33A jet is being made available to the city for permanent display in the park, the Commission Monday night authorized City manager Robey to proceed with arrangements for transport and delivery. Robey will meet with railroad representatives and the proceed to Chanutte Air Force Base in Illinois to arrange for delivery and other details.

Robey told the Commission Monday night that the Illinois Central has agreed to donate transportation from Rantoul to Fulton.

Steps to acquire the aircraft were begun several months ago by Louis Weak's, who contacted the Air Force to see if a surplus plane might be available, and found that one could be obtained. He then secured the cooperation of the Illinois Central railroad for transporting the plane from Chanutte field to Fulton.

A permanent concrete base for the display will be mounted somewhere in the city park, at no cost to the city, Robey stated.

Other items taken up at Monday's special call meeting included: —Okay of an amendment to the refunding bond ordinance, naming Union Planters National Bank of Memphis and Chemical Bank of New York City as paying agents, and Fulton Bank as depository for this bond issue;

—A motion, passed unanimously, to protest assessment of State Sales Tax against city purchases;

—Okay of the purchase of a new air hammer, and retention of a resident engineer here until the sewer project is completed.

B. H. Frapart Is The Wheel That Keeps A Giant Undertaking Rolling For Miss America Pageant

You've heard the old saying that goes: "behind every successful man there is a devoted woman" or something like that. This week we found out with startling clarity that there aren't very many successful women unless there is some kind, patient, understanding and hard working gent behind the scenes, and close by, too!

Of course, we've known this for a long time. But not until we talked with the Miss America Pageant headquarters in Atlantic City did we realize that "the man behind the woman" gets more than a little weary of his anonymity sometimes.

The millions of Americans who watch the Miss America contest each year have come to know that Lenora S. Slaughter is the executive director of the Miss America Pageant. This dynamic woman became associated with the national contest many years ago. Through dedicated effort and constant attention this national beauty contest has become more than a competition to select a talented and lovely young lady to reign as a beauty queen from one year to the next. Miss America IS AMERICA; the image, the ideals, the hopes of peoples in all walks of life.

Behind Miss America and Lenora Slaughter there is a gentleman by the name of B. H. Frapart. Unless you have business dealings with the Miss America Pageant committee you perhaps will never know him. When you get to know "Brad" Frapart, you're going to find out that he not only is the guiding force behind one successful woman, he is counselor, guardian, protector, financier, booking agent, and perhaps Father Confessor to so many capable and beautiful women we hardly know how he stands it.

Going under the title of business manager for the Miss America Pageant, Brad can stand it pretty well until some newspaper tosses out giant bouquets of compliments to all the womenfolk in the organization, as this one did shortly after our first International Banana Festival. Scarcely a word did we say about Brad, with whom festival officials made all the financial, scheduling and travel arrangements for beauteous Donna Axum, Miss America of 1964.

We sent a copy of that editorial to all concerned, including Donna's parents in El Dorado. But did we send one to Brad? We did not! Poor thing, he had every reason to chide us when we talked with him this week about more scheduling and appearances for the present Miss America, and for the lovely beauty who will be named in Atlantic City on the night of September 12.

But, as the old saying goes, that's the way the cookie crumbles.

There must be a special place in heaven for the Brad Fraparts in this world. Brad is the "big wheel" in the Miss America Pageant, but he certainly doesn't go around in circles. He is sound, competent, shrewd, charming, tough and tender, too! If ever a true title could be bestowed upon him it would be "Mr. America of the Miss America Beauty Pageant."

Since it might be difficult to do that, out-going Banana Festival President Nathan Wade did the next best thing this week. He made B. H. Frapart the TOP BANANA of American beauty competition. In presenting the award Mr. Wade commented that the honor now puts Brad in the position of out-ranking all other people in the Miss America Pageant headquarters . . . and believe it or not . . . that includes Brad's wife . . . none other than Lenora S. Slaughter.

It couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

The High Cost Of Government Includes Free Outing At Disneyland For 12,000 Contractor's Employees

If we little people who run little newspapers out in the provinces of these United States generally don't know what's going on up in the sometimes-fat, unwieldy, cumbersome headquarters of our nation commonly known as Washington, it's not because we don't want to, or have a right to; we just don't have time to keep check on the place.

Occasionally, we are simply appalled at what we find, such as today.

Just imagine . . . with the national budget earmarking over HALF of our total income for defense even in time of relative peace, we find that this includes a free night in Disneyland (Calif) for 12,000 employees of a defense contractor, ON US. That's you and me.

The defense contractor . . . Aerojet General Corporation . . . has asked the U. S. Government to pay for the free night in Disneyland (enjoyed last October) as an employer-employee relations expenditure under its contract with the Navy. Aerojet blithely adds that Disneyland didn't even cost as much per attendee as the 1962 picnic in Pasadena.

We find this sort of thing infuriating. If the government of this country is so far removed from the people, that such absurd waste as this—on top of fantastically-high wages in California—is winked at and is permitted, we have surely gotten so top-heavy up in fat Washington that we are losing ourselves and all we enjoy, day by day.

Aerojet is bound to come back with the statement "But we have to do this to you taxpayers . . . every competitor we have out here will do the same thing, and if we don't do it we can't maintain contracts". We have a perfectly reasonable answer to that: Let's let the Navy and the Army and the Air Force begin transferring their operations back to the center of this nation, to the midwest, where even $2 an hour is considered a good working wage. Let's quit draining 75% of our midwestern college graduates who are the engineering brains of tomorrow to the West Coast.

Let us have a frank and critical appraisal of the Washington fat by our Secretary of Defense. Our Congressmen won't do it and probably can't. Our Senators are in the same shape . . . once an aroused crusade is begun by any of them he will promptly be shut up by his colleagues or ostracized from their society. ("You cut off my contracts; I'll cut off yours; you vote my projects or I'll not vote for yours", etc. etc.)

We have lived in Washington. We have worked in Washington. It has its share of dedicated people, but it wallows in fat that is appalling, and obviously we are long past the time when we should straighten it out.

Who's to do it? We don't know, but Khrushchev says he thinks he can, if we will let it alone a while longer.

FROM THE FILES:—Turning Back The Clock—

T. W. Stallins, well known by farmers and other citizens in this vicinity, has opened the Standard Service Station on Fourth Street, across from the American Legion Cabin.

Miss Nettie Shipp and Cecil W. Gardner were married in the home of the bride's mother on Friday, January 28, with C. H. Woodruff, minister of the Union City Church of Christ, officiating. They will make their home in New York City, where he is stationed with the Signal Corps Photographic Center.

Mrs. L. H. Harrison was honored with a surprise birthday dinner on January 30 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Druey Iman. The honoree was the recipient of a 42-piece dinner set and a number of other gifts.

Mrs. W. L. Joyner and Robert Burrow were hostesses to a delightful theatre party Monday, February 1, at the Malco-Fulton. After the show the guests were invited to the home of Mrs. Burrow, where refreshments were served. Those attending were: Mrs. Rogers of San Diego, Calif., Mrs. Ernest Bell, Mrs. Ernest Boez, Mrs. Lon Jones, Mrs. I. H. Read, Mrs. S. N. Matthews, Mrs. Dick Bard, Mrs. Will McDade, Mrs. J. E. Hutcheson and the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Thomas of Water Valley, Ky. announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to Pvt. William F. Harris of Clary, North Carolina. The marriage was solemnized in Union City on January 23. Pvt. Harris is stationed at Camp Breckinridge. Mr. Harris is employed at the local Five and Ten Cent Store and will remain here for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fields entertained with a hot tamale supper at their home on January 30. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rutcheson, Joan and Kenneth, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kimberline and Yandel and Joe Kimberline.

Mrs. W. T. Browning entertained the members of her afternoon club on January 27, also three welcome visitors.

Mrs. Maxwell McDade won high score prize and Mrs. Harry Buehart was high for the guests. A lovely salad plate was served at the conclusion of the games.

The Woman's Magazine Club met on January 27 at the home of Mrs. E. M. Jenkins. At one o'clock a delicious luncheon was served to six members and one visitor, Mrs. J. C. Upchurch of Eldorado, Ind. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. D. White. The program consisted of a round table discussion of current events and Mrs. Herbert Carr gave a most interesting book review.

the dining room. The sound persisted, and he arose to investigate. Found nothing. Returning to bed.

In about a half-hour he was again awakened, this time by a very determined noise in the living room, seemingly at one of the windows. Sensing trouble, for sure this time, he quietly reached for his gun and arose. The closer he got to the living room the more pronounced the noise became; it sounded as though someone was seeking to open the window.

Reaching the living room doorway, he brought his gun up to a business position, faced the window and flipped on the lights. There at the window, scratching for dear life trying to get out, was a squirrel. To this good day, he tells us, he cannot understand how the squirrel managed to get in his new house in the first place.

Which prompted Catherine Smith to tell us about the squirrel that has located the garbage can on the back porch of her apartment at 311 East State Line, and during the past two years has been a regular diner. The little fellow was an interesting visitor to sit and watch from a distance (he refused to be tamed) until one day she threw out some left-over spaghetti.

If you've never seen a squirrel eat spaghetti, Catherine says, you're in for an uproarious good time. Diligently, with great pains, he will reach down, clutch a single piece, carefully pull it out of the mass, and scamper up to a lookout point where he can eat it. She says it's the funniest sight she ever saw.

Why doesn't he stay down in the can and gobble it up? Apparently that's not the way of a squirrel. Just one strand at a time, even if it takes all day!

Just in case you're wondering why Charles Reams emerged from his home Monday sporting a great, big black eye (a dilly-whopper!), wonder no longer: he accidentally raised his arm and knocked a picture off the wall. Knowing Charles, I believe his story.

But aren't black eyes, incurred at one's home, honestly hard to explain in a convincing manner!

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission. By JOE JORDAN

One hundred years ago this week, U. S. Senator Garrett Davis of Kentucky was vindicated when Senator Wilson of Massachusetts withdrew a motion he had made that Davis be expelled from the Senate for introducing a resolution critical of the Lincoln administration. It was generally conceded that Wilson abandoned the effort because he had learned that a majority of his fellow senators would not support it.

Prior to Wilson's withdrawing the motion, Davis had made a speech in defense of his position which the Lexington Observer and Reporter hailed as "a withering rebuke of the Abolition senator from Massachusetts, who in his eager anxiety to accomplish the unconstitutional purpose of crushing out the institution of slavery by the strong arm of military power, desires to stifle all freedom of thought or discussion on the part of those who desire to preserve the Constitution unimpaired while maintaining the Union in all its integrity."

When Wilson had withdrawn the motion, the same newspaper commented: "Mr. Davis has come out of this affair with flying colors. The action of the Senate shows that free discussion is not yet stifled in that body."

The position of the Kentucky senator and the strong support he drew from the leading newspapers of the Commonwealth in the first month of the presidential election year of 1864 were early signals that President Lincoln, running for re-election, would not get the electoral votes of his native state.

James B. Clay of Lexington, a son of Henry Clay, died at Montreal. The Observer and Reporter said cautiously: "Mr. Clay left

Kentucky Windage

Unusual-local-expressions-that-never-fail-to-amuse-me dept: WHOMPY-JAWED: something quite a bit out of kilter, like an auto fender that's not straightened out. It's whompy-jawed, which would be hard to detect, possibly, but when it's just plain whompy-jawed, it's quite obviously crooked. This applies only to objects, not people.

ANTI-GOGGLIN: something that's placed on something else in improper alignment. Example: "She's wearing that hat a little anti-goggin, it seems to me". Or, referring to a sidewalk that bends around a large tree in its path: "It runs a little anti-goggin".

KITTY-CORNER: Same as cat-a-corner, which means diagonally across an intersection with four corners. How the cat got in there I don't know, and have always wondered.

WHOP-SIDED: Same as lopsided.

DILLY-WHOPPER: Something stupendous, highly unusual, record-breaking; a superlative. Example: "That snow last month was a dilly-whopper".

One night last week I was sitting at my typewriter at the office, writing. I had been alone in the building for at least two hours. Both back doors were barred, and I could have easily heard the front door open, had it been opened, while I was there.

All of a sudden, out of the complete silence all around me, a door inside the back shop slammed.

Now things like this sort raise the hair on the back of one's neck. I'm sure mind acted accordingly. I sat there silently for several minutes, waiting for more noises. None came. Silently I arose, went to the door of the large shop and jerked it open suddenly. Nothing confronted me. Slowly I moved toward the back, pulling on lights as I went. Nothing or no one in the whole place. Well, then, how come that door to slam? I'll never know.

At one time or other I am sure we all hear noises that scare us, or make us wonder, or make us laugh at ourselves because of a wrong analysis.

One night many years ago I stayed awake in terror as I listened to the footstep of a prowler go through the fishing cabin where Dad and my brothers were sleeping. But next morning nothing was disturbed; nothing was missing. Next night in the quiet of the lighted room I again heard my footstep: the tapping of the waves against the cabin under-frame . . . ever so slowly . . . ever so deliberately.

Charles Robert Bennett had a little bit different kind of experience with an unknown noise. He was awakened one night by a scratching noise inside his house, sounding like it was coming from

Miss Rosemary Clark Pledges Vows To Stephen Chasten At Baptist Church

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Chasten

On Wednesday, January twenty-second at four o'clock in the afternoon, Miss Rosemary Elizabeth Clark became the bride of Stephen Matthew Chasten in the lovely parlor of the First Baptist Church in Fulton, Kentucky.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Clark of Fulton and the groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. Stephen M. Chasten of Lancaster, California.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Kenneth Duncan before an improvised altar of fern interspersed with giant white gladioli, while white tapers burned in matching candelabras. Traditional nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Atilia Hemphill, pianist, and Mr. Norman White, soloist. The candles were lighted by Mark Austin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length sheath of wool jersey sheer in winter white. Her hat was a matching wedding-ring style with nose veil. She carried a Bible topped with a white orchid surrounded by baby carnations and lilies of the valley. Her only jewelry was a single strand of heirloom pearls.

Miss Charlotte Lynn Clark attended her sister as bridesmaid. She wore a street length dress of soft blue velvet, with matching bandeau in her hair. Her corsage was of white baby mums.

Dr. Chasten served his son as best man. James Carlton Clark, brother of the bride, was usher.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Clark chose a pencil blue dress with brown accessories and her corsage was of white carnations. The groom's mother was attired in a meadow green knit suit, with accessories of gold, and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, an informal reception was held. Mrs. Clyde Fields, Mrs. Elmer Shaw, Mrs. Leon Hutchens and Mrs. Atilia Hemphill assisted at the serving table.

Mr. and Mrs. Chasten are now at home at 324 Boeing Street, Midwest City, Oklahoma.

Saturday evening Mrs. Maurer, Mrs. Turner and I went to Fairhaven, Mich. and took part in installing new officers in the Anchor Bay Square Club. A delicious supper was served and then we were entertained by the Glee Club from Anchor Bay High School, with an old-fashioned song fest. It was enjoyed by everyone there.

Mrs. Essie Turner spent Saturday night at our house and went to church with us Sunday morning. We had 25 in class for Sunday School.

We have some folks on the sick list. Ralph Kirby is in St. Joseph Hospital, 2300 East Georgia Blvd., Room 817, Detroit, Mich. 88211. Cards please. Mrs. Euna Rodgers is in Henry Ford Hospital, room 104, has arthritis very bad. Harry Rodgers, % Vanderbilt Hospital, Nashville, Tenn. He is improving nicely after his serious operation.

Mr. and Mrs. James Garland had Mrs. Garland's parents, the Jack Austins of Mayfield, Ky., and his brother-in-law, J. M. Crouch, also of Mayfield, as guests for a week and all attended church last Sunday.

Mrs. Maurer and I attended a party demonstration at the home of Mrs. Grace Mohler in Warren, with 12 ladies and children - me in the kitchen, as usual, serving coffee, punch and cake.

Mrs. Alta Rowland was there. Looks pretty good after her long illness. She cannot do much as yet.

Rev. Terrance McCain moved into the new house last week.

Mrs. Massey, son Gerry and David Bowden were dinner guests at my house Sunday. David goes on his new job at the Michigan Bank Monday with a pay increase and closer to his home.

See you in church Sunday. I will be there, will you? If you are not, call me with news. How can I tell anybody else? I'll be listening for a call at 888-9074.

Get-well wishes are extended to Read Douthitt, who suffered a heart attack a few weeks ago. He was under treatment in Fuller-Morgan Hospital and later transferred to Memphis.

Much of the dark-fired tobacco was taken from barns here last week and is now in bulk, ready for classing and stripping. Those whose crops are ready were put on market Monday, January 17, for first sales of the dark-fired.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Donoho made a recent visit to Atlanta, Ga., where they were house guests of their children, Mr. and Mrs. Don Laws, instead of the Bynum family as reported by your writer a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Burton Lassiter has been indisposed, due to severe chest cold for the past several days.

Mrs. Robert Rickman has been suffering from a sinus ailment the past week.

At the present, your writer is a patient in the Fulton Hospital and reports are that I have "shingles." I'm hoping to get well very soon.

48 OLD COINS FOUND

LOOKING BACK...

There is a need to look back occasionally to get our bearings for the future. Past experiences often guide future action. What has proved good and profitable in the past will often prove to be the same in the days ahead. Serving God and our country through our churches and through civil and community service has always elevated us as a people and contributed to our image as a free and just country. We will not go wrong in adhering to these practices. Attend the church of your choice this Sunday and receive inspiration and courage for the future.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for men and of His demand for men to respond to that love by loving His neighbor. Without this knowledge in our hearts or in our government or in our society or in our way of life we are lost persons and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, we should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The Central Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Parnell Garrigan recently with twelve members and four visitors present. The visitors were Mrs. J. E. Logan, Mrs. Elsie Taylor, Mrs. S. G. Sandlin and Mrs. Paul Garrigan.

The lesson for the day, "Recognizing Symptoms of Illness" was given in the afternoon by Mrs. Paul Shaw and Mrs. Bret Prather. They emphasized the use of PKU tests for newborn babies which is made available by the Kentucky Health Department. This is a disease that can result in mental retardation if not diagnosed and treatment begun soon after birth. A kit is sent to parents with the baby's birth certificate with instructions on how to get a sample to test the baby's urine. This then is returned to the Health Department for diagnosis.

Mrs. McLeod gave the group some information on the cost, etc. of the national meeting in Honolulu next October. Registration closes July 15.

The club will meet with Mrs. Forrest McMurry in February.

BEEF COW HERD OWNERS GIVEN HANDLING TIPS

Watch beef cows for nutritional deficiencies at this time of year. Such deficiencies can occur easily this year because of prolonged drought conditions.

Brood cows ought to get 6 to 10 pounds of green, leafy legume hay per day, if such feed is available. If the cows are nursing calves, they may need some grain; corn silage is excellent but a protein supplement should be added. If poor quality roughage is being fed, protein supplement and vitamin A feeding are important.

Remember that calves born in July, August and September are at a disadvantage compared to spring-born calves. Their dams generally milk poorly, the calves don't have the capacity for roughage, and living condition stresses have more pronounced effects. To avoid such summer calves, bulls should not be run with the cow herd until mid-January, or even later.

If calves are dropped in September and October (or if calves are expected between November and January) they and the dams need additional care. Such fall and winter calves will need concentrates (both energy and protein) and some supplemental Vitamin A generally fed in a fortified supplement.

It isn't a paying proposition to feed an open cow until spring, particularly if she missed dropping a calf previously.

OBION COUNTY FARM NEWS

Plans to combat serious waste of soil and water resources in Obion County by means of the Agricultural Conservation Program in 1964 were developed by farm leaders and experts in a meeting recently.

Every dollar available for conservation, must be put to best possible use, the development group recognized, if the county is to stop the waste of resources needed for preservation of farming and business and the feeding of future generations.

Flooding from springtime water runoff, stream-bank erosion, wind erosion, silting up of reservoirs, and compaction of soil are among the destructive actions that still take place despite program in use of good vegetative cover on the land and construction of terraces, dams and other mechanical measures. It was brought out in reports and discussion.

The ACP development group is made up of the ASC county and community committees, supervisors of the county soil conservation district, and representatives of the agricultural agencies—Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service, Extension Service, State Game Department.

Public funds are provided through ACP for a share of the cost of conservation work that would not be feasible for farmers to carry out by themselves in their own interest. Much conservation work requires heavy outlay of cash and offers more benefit to the general public than to the land owner or operator.

However, farmers participating in the Agricultural Conservation Program bear a large part (averaging about 50 percent) of the cost of the approved practices. Most farmers also do a great deal of conservation work without any cost-sharing assistance just as a matter of good farming.

ACP helps carry out objectives of the soil conservation districts and has the technical and educational assistance of the Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service, Extension Service, State Game and Fish Commission, and Farmers Home Administration.

In Obion County last year, farmers signed up for conservation work costing roughly $680,406, with about half of the cost to be borne by farmers themselves and half by public funds through ACP.

Cost-share request for 1964 ACP program will be accepted at the local office thru February 17th, 1964.
